1 Joshua exhorteth before his death to obedience by the remembrance of former benefits, 5 by the prospect of future blessings, 12 and by threatenings in case of disobedience.

1427. AND it came to pass a long time after that the LORD had given rest unto Israel from their enemies round about, that Joshua waxed old and stricken in age.

¶ And Joshua called for all Israel, and for their elders, and for their heads, and for their judges, and for their officers, and said unto them, I am old and stricken in age:

3 And ye have seen all that the LORD your God hath done unto all these nations because of you; for the LORD your God is he that hath fought for you.

4 Behold, I have divided unto you by lot these nations that remain, to be an inheritance for your tribes, from Jordan, with all the nations that I have cut off, even unto the great sea westward.

5 ¶ And the LORD your God, he shall expel them from before you, and drive them from out of your sight; and ye shall possess their land, the LORD your God hath promised unto you.

28 Behold the pattern of the altar, &c.] Which they could not have exactly imitated, if they had not been acquainted with, and had not worshipped God there, with their brethren.

33 Did not intend, &c.] Laid aside that intention.

34 Called the altar Ed, &c.] That is, A witness.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXII.

It appears from this history, that the Israelites of the two tribes and a half, and those of the other tribes, were all of them equally addicted to the worship of the true God; and their example teaches us, that we should not turn away from the purity of religion, and the service which God has prescribed in his word.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXIII.

2 I am old and stricken in age.] Joshua insinuates to them, that this, in all probability, would be the last time he should be able to speak to them, in order to engage their attention more perfectly to what he was going to say: he was now in the one hundred and tenth year of his age.

6 Be ye therefore very courageous to keep and to do all that is written in the book of the law of Moses, that ye turn not aside therefrom to the right hand or to the left;

7 That ye come not among these nations, these that remain among you; neither make mention of the name of their gods, nor cause to swear by them, neither serve them, nor bow yourselves unto them:

8 But cleave unto the LORD your God, as ye have done unto this day.

9 For the LORD hath driven out from before you great nations and strong: but as for you, no man hath been able to stand before you unto this day.

10 One man of you shall chase a thousand: for the LORD your God, he it is that fighteth for you, as he hath promised you.

11 Take good heed therefore unto yourselves, that ye love the LORD your God.

12 ¶ Else if ye do in any wise go back, and cleave unto the remnant of these nations, even these that remain among you, and shall make marriages with them, and go in unto them, and they to you:

13 Know for a certainty that the LORD your God will no more drive out any of these nations from before you; but they shall be snares and traps unto you, and scourges in your sides, and thorns in your eyes, until ye perish from off this good land, which the LORD your God hath given you.

14 And, behold, this day I am going the way of all the earth: and ye know in all your hearts and in all your souls, that not one thing hath failed of all the good things which the LORD your God spake concerning you; all are come to pass unto you, and not one thing hath failed thereof.

15 Therefore it shall come to pass, that as all good things are come upon you, which the LORD your God promised you; so shall the LORD bring upon you all evil things, until he have destroyed you from off this good land which the LORD your God hath given you.

16 When ye have transgressed the covenant of the LORD your God, which he commanded you, and have gone and served other gods, and bowed yourselves to them; then shall the anger of the Lord be kindled against you, and ye shall perish quickly from off the good land which he hath given unto you.

5 The Lord your God, he shall expel them, &c.] This verse relates to those who remained yet unsubdued.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXIII.

The discourse, and the remonstrances of Joshua, contained in this chapter, teach us that an adherence to the service of God, and his laws, constitute the security and happiness of nations; and, on the contrary, that disobedience and ungodliness will deprive us of the blessings of God, and bring his judgments upon us.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXIV.

1 And Joshua gathered all the tribes.] It is likely that Joshua, living longer than he expected when he made the foregoing speech to them, called the people together once more, to give them good advice before he died; in like manner as Moses made great many speeches to them, before his departure from them.

To Shechem, &c.] In the confines of Shechem there was a large and open country, extending, perhaps, as far as Shiloh, and very commodious for their reception: we have the attestation of holy writ.

¶ On the other side of the flood.] That is, Of the river Euphrates.

of Abraham, and the father of Nachor : and they served other gods.

3 And I took your father Abraham from the other side of the flood, and led him throughout all the land of Canaan, and multiplied his seed, and gave him Isaac.

4 And I gave unto Isaac Jacob and Esau ; and I gave unto Esau mount Seir, to possess it ; but Jacob and his children went down into Egypt.

5 I sent Moses also and Aaron, and I plagued Egypt, according to that which I did among them : and afterward I brought you out.

6 And I brought your fathers out of Egypt : and ye came unto the sea ; and the Egyptians pursued after your fathers with chariots and horsemen unto the Red sea.

7 And when they cried unto the LORD, he put darkness between you and the Egyptians, and brought the sea upon them, and covered them ; and your eyes have seen what I have done in Egypt : and ye dwelt in the wilderness a long season.

8 And I brought you into the land of the Amorites, which dwelt on the other side Jordan ; and they fought with you : and I gave them into your hand, that ye might possess the land ; and I destroyed them from before you.

9 Then Balak the son of Zippor, king of Moab, arose and warred against Israel, and sent and called Balaam the son of Beor to curse you :

10 But I would not hearken unto Balaam ; therefore he blessed you still : so I delivered you out of his hand.

11 And ye went over Jordan, and came unto Jericho : and the men of Jericho fought against you, the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Girgashites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites ; and I delivered them into your hand.

12 And I sent the hornet before you, which drove them out from before you, even the two kings of the Amorites ; but not with thy sword, nor with thy bow.

13 And I have given you a land for which ye did not labour, and cities which ye built not, and ye dwell in them ; of the vineyards and oliveyards which ye planted not do ye eat.

14 ¶ Now therefore fear the LORD, and serve him in sincerity and in truth : and put away the gods which your fathers served on the other side of the flood, and in Egypt ; and serve ye the LORD.

15 And if it seem evil unto you to serve the LORD, choose you this day whom ye will serve ; whether the gods which your fathers served that were on the other side of the flood, or the gods of the Amorites, in whose land ye dwell : but as for me and my house, we will serve the LORD.

16 And the people answered and said, God forbid that we should forsake the LORD to serve other gods ;

17 For the LORD our God, he it is that brought us up and our fathers out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage, and which did those great signs in our fight, and preserved us in all the way wherein we went, and among all the people through whom we passed :

18 And the LORD drove out from before us all the people, even the Amorites which dwelt in the land : therefore will we also serve the LORD ; for he is our God.

19 And Joshua said unto the people, Ye cannot serve the LORD : for he is an holy God ; he is a jealous God ; he will not forgive your transgressions nor your sins.

20 If ye forsake the LORD, and serve strange gods, then he will turn and do you hurt, and consume you, after that he hath done you good.

21 And the people said unto Joshua, Nay ; but we will serve the LORD.

22 And Joshua said unto the people, Ye are witnesses against yourselves that ye have chosen you the LORD, to serve him. And they said, We are witnesses.

23 Now therefore put away, said he, the strange gods which are among you, and incline your heart unto the LORD God of Israel.

24 And the people said unto Joshua, The LORD our God will we serve, and his voice will we obey.

25 So Joshua made a covenant with the people that day, and set them a statute and an ordinance in Shechem.

26 ¶ And Joshua wrote these words in the book of the law of God, and took a great stone, and set it up there under an oak, that was by the sanctuary of the LORD.

27 And Joshua said unto all the people, Behold, this stone shall be a witness unto us ; for it hath heard all the words of the LORD which he spake unto us : it shall be therefore a witness unto you, lest ye deny your God.

28 So Joshua let the people depart, every man unto his inheritance.

29 ¶ And it came to pass after these things, that Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of the LORD, died, being an hundred and ten years old.

30 And they buried him in the border of his inheritance in Timnath-erah, which is in mount Ephraim, on the north side of the hill of Gaash.

31 And Israel served the LORD all the days of Joshua, and all the days of the elders that overlived Joshua, and which had known all the works of the LORD, that he had done for Egypt.

32 ¶ And the bones of Joseph, which the children of Israel brought up out of Egypt, buried they in Shechem, in a parcel of ground which Jacob bought of the sons of Hamor the father of Shechem for an hundred pieces of silver : and it became the inheritance of the children of Joseph.

33 ¶ And Eleazar the son of Aaron died ; and they buried him in a hill that pertained to Phinehas his son, which was given him in mount Ephraim.

The

They served other gods.] It is agreed on all hands, that Terah was an idolater, and lived in the country where the worship of images is supposed to have had its origin ; even Abraham himself is thought to have been brought up in the same way of worship.

Your eyes have seen, &c.] Their elders, who had seen them lie dead on the sea-shore, were all then there, and were not only men of great dignity, but (many of them at least) of great age.

If it seem evil unto you to serve the Lord, &c.] He was unwilling to suppose that they would prefer any other God to him, who had obliged them by such benefits, and had so miraculously conducted, supported, and defended them.

The strange gods that are among you, &c.] Joshua knew, by the spirit of prophecy, that they had their penates, the Romans called them, their household gods, which they worshipped secretly in their closets.

Under an oak that was by the sanctuary, &c.] Meaning a profecha, a praying place, which, in memory of Jacob, was here at Shechem.

It hath heard all the words, &c.] How bold and beautiful is the figure, when the stone, before which the covenant was renewed, and which was set up as a witness of the promises and declarations of the Israelites, is said to have heard what was spoken.

And the bones of Joseph, &c.] It may reasonably be thought that the bodies of the rest of the sons of Jacob, from whom the twelve tribes were descended, were brought into Canaan, to be there interred ; as Josephus relates from ancient tradition, and as St. Stephen confirms it, Acts vii. 16.

Which was given him, &c.] This hill was most probably given to Eleazar, he being the high priest at the time of the division of the land. The Jews are of opinion that the 29th, 30th, 31st, and 32d verses, were written by Eleazar, and the 33d by Phinehas ; or else that all the five last verses were written by Samuel, who, being a prophet, was moved and directed by God to continue the history of the Israelites, from the death of Joshua to his own time.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXIV.

The repeated promises and answers made by the Israelites, of their fidelity, should put us in mind that we have also engaged ourselves, by solemn and repeated promises, and upon pain of being rejected and forsaken of God, to serve and to be faithful to him. God grant us his grace, that we may always set these promises before our eyes, and that we may inviolably observe them.

The Book of J U D G E S.

THE ARGUMENT.

This book is called by the name of Judges, because it treats principally of the great things done by those illustrious persons, who, after the death of Joshua, until the days of Eli, were raised up by God, upon special occasions, to rule the people Israel, and deliver them from their several oppressions. The most general opinion is, that (not Hezekiah or Ezra, but) that the prophet Samuel, who was the last of the judges, wrote it by the direction of God, and brought down their history to his own days. This book contains an history of about three hundred years.

Before
CHRIST
1425.

NOW after the death of Joshua it came to pass, that the children of Israel asked the LORD, saying, Who shall go up for us against the Canaanites first, to fight against them?

2 And the LORD said, Judah shall go up: behold, I have delivered the land into his hand.

3 And Judah said unto Simeon his brother, Come up with me into my lot, that we may fight against the Canaanites; and I likewise will go with thee into thy lot. So Simeon went with him.

4 And Judah went up; and the LORD delivered the Canaanites and the Perizzites into their hand: and they slew of them in Bezek ten thousand men.

5 And they found Adoni-bezek in Bezek: and they fought against him, and they slew the Canaanites and the Perizzites.

6 But Adoni-bezek fled; and they pursued after him, and caught him, and cut off his thumbs and his great toes:

7 And Adoni-bezek said, Threescore and ten kings, having their thumbs and their great toes cut off, gathered their meat under my table: as I have done, so God hath requited me. And they brought him to Jerusalem, and there he died.

8 ¶ Now the children of Judah had fought against Jerusalem, and had taken it, and smitten it with the edge of the sword, and set the city on fire.

9 And afterward the children of Judah went down to fight against the Canaanites, that dwelt in the mountain, and in the south, and in the valley.

10 ¶ And Judah went against the Canaanites that dwelt in Hebron: (now the name of Hebron before was Kirjath-arba:) and they slew Shefhai, and Ahiman, and Talmi.

11 ¶ And from thence he went against the inhabitants of Debir: and the name of Debir before was Kirjath-sepher:

12 And Caleb said, He that smiteth Kirjath-sepher, and taketh it, to him will I give Achsah my daughter to wife.

13 And Othniel the son of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother, took it, and he gave him Achsah his daughter to wife.

14 And it came to pass, when she came to him, that she moved him to ask of her father a field: and she lighted from off her ass; and Caleb said unto her, What wilt thou?

15 And she said unto him, Give me a blessing: for thou hast given me a south land; give me also springs of water. And Caleb gave her the upper springs and the nether springs.

16 ¶ And the children of the Kenite, Moses' father in law, went up out of the city of palm trees with the children of Judah into the wilderness of Judah, which lieth in the south of Arad; and they went and dwelt among the people.

17 ¶ And Judah went with Simeon his brother, and they slew the Canaanites that inhabited Zephath, and utterly destroyed it. And the name of the city was called Hormah.

18 Also Judah took Gaza with the coast thereof, and Askelon with the coast thereof, and Ekron with the coast thereof.

19 And the LORD was with Judah; and he drave out the inhabitants of the mountain; but could not drive out the inhabitants of the valley, because they had chariots of iron.

20 And they gave Hebron unto Caleb, as Moses said: and he expelled thence the three sons of Anak.

21 ¶ And the children of Benjamin did not drive out the Jebusites that inhabited Jerusalem; but the Jebusites dwell with the children of Benjamin in Jerusalem unto this day.

22 ¶ And the house of Joseph, they also went up against Beth-el: and the LORD was with them.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. I.

1 Now after the death of Joshua, &c.] We do not read that any person succeeded Joshua in the government. The most probable opinion is, that every tribe was governed by their respective heads or elders; which form of government subsisted about thirty years.

4 In Bezek, &c.] Near to Bezek, which was a city in the tribe of Judah, not far, some think, from Bethlehem.

6 Cut off his thumbs and his great toes.] Thus making him incapable of war. As this had been his own practice, (which he confesses in the next verse) it was not unreasonable to retaliate this treatment upon him; as he had done, so God requited him.

7 So God hath requited me, &c.] From this acknowledgement of Adoni-bezek, some have been induced to think he was a penitent, and became a convert to the true religion, which might possibly be the reason why they spared his life.

8 Against Jerusalem, &c.] Jerusalem, by this, appears to have been in the possession of the children of Judah.

10 Shefhai, and Ahiman, and Talmi.] These were the three sons of Anak.

11 Debir, &c.] This city was re-inhabited by the Canaanites; and they were not expelled again till after the death of Joshua.

12 And Caleb said, &c.] Who was their general on this occasion, is not expressly mentioned, and yet it is hardly to be questioned but that Caleb was the person.

19 Could not drive out the inhabitants of the valley, &c.] Dr. Waterland thinks this should be rendered, He proceeded not to drive out, &c.

24 And

23 And the house of Joseph sent to descry Beth-el. (Now the name of the city before was Luz.)

24 And the spies saw a man come forth out of the city, and they said unto him, Shew us, we pray thee, the entrance into the city, and we will shew thee mercy.

25 And when he shewed them the entrance into the city, they smote the city with the edge of the sword; but they let go the man and all his family.

26 And the man went into the land of the Hittites, and built a city, and called the name thereof Luz: which is the name thereof unto this day.

27 ¶ Neither did Manasseh drive out the inhabitants of Beth-shean and her towns, nor Taanach and her towns, nor the inhabitants of Dor and her towns, nor the inhabitants of Ibleam and her towns, nor the inhabitants of Megiddo and her towns: but the Canaanites would dwell in that land.

28 And it came to pass, when Israel was strong, that they put the Canaanites to tribute, and did not utterly drive them out.

29 ¶ Neither did Ephraim drive out the Canaanites that dwelt in Gezer; but the Canaanites dwelt in Gezer among them.

30 ¶ Neither did Zebulun drive out the inhabitants of Kitron, nor the inhabitants of Nahalol; but the Canaanites dwelt among them, and became tributaries.

31 ¶ Neither did Asher drive out the inhabitants of Accho, nor the inhabitants of Zidon, nor of Ahlab, nor of Achzib, nor of Helbah, nor of Aphik, nor of Rehob:

32 But the Asherites dwelt among the Canaanites, the inhabitants of the land: for they did not drive them out.

33 ¶ Neither did Naphtali drive out the inhabitants of Beth-sheMesh, nor the inhabitants of Beth-anath; but he dwelt among the Canaanites, the inhabitants of the land: nevertheless the inhabitants of Beth-sheMesh and of Beth-anath became tributaries unto them.

34 ¶ And the Amorites forced the children of Dan into the mountain: for they would not suffer them to come down to the valley.

35 But the Amorites would dwell in mount Heres in Aijalon, and in Shaalbim: yet the hand of the house of Joseph prevailed, so that they became tributaries.

36 And the coast of the Amorites was from the going up to Akkrabbim, from the rock, and upward.

CHAP. II.

¶ An angel rebuketh the people at Bochim for their disobedience to God's command. 6 During the life of Joshua and of the elders who survived him, the people serve the Lord; 10 but in the next generation fall away to grievous idolatry. 14 God's anger against them. 16 His pity toward them in their distress, and their ungrateful behaviour. 20 The Canaanites are therefore left to prove Israel.

AND an angel of the Lord came up from Gilgal to Bochim, and said, I made you to go up out of Egypt, and have brought you unto the land which I

24 Shew us—the entrance into the city, &c.] The weakest part, where the walls were lowest, or most out of repair, or had the least guard.

28 They put the Canaanites to tribute, and did not utterly drive them out.] They were surely blameable in disregarding the command of God, and not making the right use of their victories, who, either through a misplaced lenity or covetousness, instead of destroying them, as they were commanded, suffered them to live promiscuously among them, and contented themselves with making them become tributary.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. I.

In this chapter we have pointed out to us, in the case of Adonibezek, the avenging hand of God in the punishment of wicked and merciless men, in their own kind; and by the neglect of the Israelites to obey God's command in driving out the Canaanites, who proved thorns in their sides, we may see the evil consequences of disregarding God's declarations in scripture, respecting sin in general.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. II.

¶ An angel of the Lord came up from Gilgal, &c.] The opinion of No. 21.

sware unto your fathers; and I said, I will never break my covenant with you.

¶ And ye shall make no league with the inhabitants of this land; ye shall throw down their altars: but ye have not obeyed my voice: why have ye done this?

3 Wherefore I also said, I will not drive them out from before you; but they shall be as thorns in your sides, and their gods shall be a snare unto you.

4 And it came to pass, when the angel of the Lord spake these words unto all the children of Israel, that the people lifted up their voice, and wept.

5 And they called the name of that place Bochim: and they sacrificed there unto the Lord.

6 ¶ And when Joshua had let the people go, the children of Israel went every man unto his inheritance to possess the land.

7 And the people served the Lord all the days of Joshua, and all the days of the elders that outlived Joshua, who had seen all the great works of the Lord, that he did for Israel.

8 And Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of the Lord, died, being an hundred and ten years old. 1426.

9 And they buried him in the border of his inheritance in Timnath-heres, in the mount of Ephraim, on the north side of the hill Gaash.

10 ¶ And also all that generation were gathered unto their fathers; and there arose another generation after them, which knew not the Lord, nor yet the works which he had done for Israel.

11 And the children of Israel did evil in the sight of the Lord, and served Baalim:

12 And they forsook the Lord God of their fathers, which brought them out of the land of Egypt, and followed other gods, of the gods of the people that were round about them, and bowed themselves unto them, and provoked the Lord to anger.

13 And they forsook the Lord, and served Baal and Ashtaroth.

14 ¶ And the anger of the Lord was hot against Israel, and he delivered them into the hands of spoilers that spoiled them, and he sold them into the hands of their enemies round about, so that they could not any longer stand before their enemies.

15 Whithersoever they went out, the hand of the Lord was against them for evil, as the Lord had said, and as the Lord had sworn unto them: and they were greatly distressed.

16 ¶ Nevertheless the Lord raised up judges, which delivered them out of the hand of those that spoiled them. 1406.

17 And yet they would not hearken unto their judges, but they went a whoring after other gods, and bowed themselves unto them: they turned quickly out of the way which their fathers walked in, obeying the commandments of the Lord; but they did not so.

18 And when the Lord raised them up judges, then the Lord was with the judge, and delivered them out of the hand of their enemies all the days of the judge: for most christian interpreters is, that it was the Son of God, who is frequently in scripture called "the Angel of the covenant." The angel's coming up from Gilgal, is mentioned in a very pertinent circumstance, to upbraid the Israelites with their base ingratitude to God, and with their sloth in not endeavouring to expel the Canaanites.

5 Bochim, &c.] Bochim signifies Weepers, and was given it on account of the lamentations of the people.

6 When Joshua had let the people go, &c.] When Joshua had broke up that great assembly which he held when he cast lots, and divided the land among them.

11 Baalim.] The gods of the nations whose land they possessed, and who were called by that general name, which signifies Lords. Their gods were great men deified.

13 Ashtaroth.] By Ashtaroth, some understand Venus.

14 He sold them, &c.] By selling them, is meant, that their enemies carried away their persons, as well as their goods, and made them slaves.

16 The Lord raised up judges, &c.] Extraordinary rulers and governors, whose authority was chiefly in time of war, they being called up (by a particular inspiration of God) to deliver them out of the hand of those that spoiled them.

Before CHRIST 1406. for it repented the LORD because of their groanings by reason of them that oppressed them and vexed them.

19 And it came to pass, when the judge was dead, that they returned, and corrupted themselves more than their fathers, in following other gods to serve them, and to bow down unto them; they ceased not from their own doings, nor from their stubborn way.

20 ¶ And the anger of the LORD was hot against Israel; and he said, Because that this people hath transgressed my covenant which I commanded their fathers, and have not hearkened unto my voice;

21 I also will not henceforth drive out any from before them of the nations which Joshua left when he died:

22 That through them I may prove Israel, whether they will keep the way of the LORD to walk therein, as their fathers did keep it, or not.

23 Therefore the LORD left those nations, without driving them out hastily; neither delivered he them into the hand of Joshua.

CHAP. III.

1 The nations which were left to prove Israel. 5 By intercourse with them the Israelites are seduced into idolatry. 8 They are sold into the hand of Chushan-rishathaim, but delivered by Othniel; 12 and into the hand of Eglon king of Moab, but delivered by Ehud. 31 Shamgar slayeth six hundred Philistines with an ox goad, and delivereth Israel.

NOW these are the nations which the LORD left, to prove Israel by them, even as many of Israel as had not known all the wars of Canaan;

2 Only that the generations of the children of Israel might know, to teach them war, at the least such as before knew nothing thereof;

3 Namely, five lords of the Philistines, and all the Canaanites, and the Sidonians, and the Hivites that dwelt in mount Lebanon, from mount Baal-hermon unto the entering in of Hamath.

4 And they were to prove Israel by them, to know whether they would hearken unto the commandments of the LORD, which he commanded their fathers by the hand of Moses.

5 ¶ And the children of Israel dwelt among the Canaanites, Hittites, and Amorites, and Perizzites, and Hivites, and Jebusites:

6 And they took their daughters to be their wives, and gave their daughters to their sons, and served their gods.

7 And the children of Israel did evil in the sight of the LORD, and forgot the LORD their God, and served Baalim and the groves.

¶ Therefore the anger of the LORD was hot against Israel, and he sold them into the hand of Chushan-rishathaim king of Mesopotamia: and the children of 1402. Israel served Chushan-rishathaim eight years.

9 And when the children of Israel cried unto the LORD, the LORD raised up a deliverer to the children of Israel, who delivered them, even Othniel the son of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother.

10 And the spirit of the LORD came upon him, and he judged Israel, and went out to war: and the LORD delivered Chushan-rishathaim, king of Mesopotamia into his hand; and his hand prevailed against Chushan-rishathaim.

11 And the land had rest forty years. And Othniel the son of Kenaz died.

12 ¶ And the children of Israel did evil again in the sight of the LORD: and the LORD strengthened Eglon the king of Moab against Israel, because they had done evil in the sight of the LORD.

13 And he gathered unto him the children of Ammon and Amalek, and went and smote Israel, and possessed the city of palm trees.

14 So the children of Israel served Eglon the king of Moab eighteen years.

15 But when the children of Israel cried unto the LORD, the LORD raised them up a deliverer, Ehud the son of Gera, a Benjamite, a man lefthanded: and by him the children of Israel sent a present unto Eglon the king of Moab.

16 But Ehud made him a dagger which had two edges, of a cubit length; and he did gird it under his raiment upon his right thigh.

17 And he brought the present unto Eglon king of Moab: and Eglon was a very fat man.

18 And when he had made an end to offer the present, he sent away the people that bare the present.

19 But he himself turned again from the quarries that were by Gilgal, and said, I have a secret errand unto thee, O king: who said, Keep silence. And all that stood by him went out from him.

20 And Ehud came unto him; and he was sitting in a summer parlour, which he had for himself alone. And Ehud said, I have a message from God unto thee. And he rose out of his seat.

22 And the haft also went in after the blade; and the fat closed upon the blade, so that he could not draw the dagger out of his belly; and the dirt came out.

23 Then Ehud went forth through the porch, and shut the doors of the parlour upon him, and locked them.

24 When he was gone out, his servants came; and when they saw that, behold, the doors of the parlour were locked, they said, Surely he covereth his feet in his summer chamber.

25 And they tarried till they were ashamed: and, behold, he opened not the doors of the parlour; therefore they took a key, and opened them: and, behold, their lord was fallen down dead on the earth.

26 And Ehud escaped while they tarried, and passed beyond the quarries, and escaped unto Seirath.

27 And

19 They returned, &c.] That is, to their idolatry.

20 Hath transgressed my covenant, &c.] By making leagues with the Canaanites, and not throwing down their altars.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS III Chap. II.

By the corruption of the Jews after the death of Joshua, we may learn what misfortune it is to a people, when God removes their pious magistrates and ministers; and that God withdraws his protection from those nations that forsake him. By the angel being sent to rebuke the Israelites, we may perceive that God only seeks the salvation of sinners, and waits to be gracious; and from the apostasy of the people of Israel, and their chastisements for it, we may gather this lesson, that God doth in mercy correct and afflict his people, lest they should be corrupted and ruined by their prosperity.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. III.

¶ To teach them war, &c.] To awaken and exercise their courage, and keep up martial discipline among them; and also that they might, by having powerful enemies so near them, constantly betake themselves to God, and depend upon his help and succour.

7 And the groves.] It is very probable there were several goddesses under the name of Ashtaroth worshipped in them. Baalim was the general name for idols of the male kind; and Ashtaroth for those of the female.

10 The Spirit of the Lord came upon him, &c.] He had an extraordinary motion from God to take upon him the government of the people; which none durst presume to do, but such were appointed of God, who were their king.

12 The Lord strengthened Eglon the king of Moab against Israel, &c.] As the Israelites worshipped the gods of the people round about them, it was but fit they should be punished by those very people.

15 A present, &c.] A voluntary present above their ordinary payments, by which they hoped to mollify him, and make him favourable to them.

16 Upon his right thigh.] Either to avoid suspicion he wore it on the wrong side, or, being a left-handed man, that he might more readily draw it out.

19 The quarries that were by Gilgal, &c.] Some translations render it, Graven images, which is, indeed, the meaning of the Hebrew word in several places of scripture.

20 He rose out of his seat.] Out of reverence to God, whose words he supposed, he was to hear.

22 And the dirt came out.] The Syriac and Arabic translations say, And he went out hastily.

24 He covereth his feet in his summer chamber.] The most probable sense of this chapter is, that he had retired to sleep, as was usual in those hot countries.

27 And it came to pass, when he was come, that he blew a trumpet in the mountain of Ephraim, and the children of Israel went down with him from the mount, and he before them.

28 And he said unto them, Follow after me: for the LORD hath delivered your enemies the Moabites into your hand. And they went down after him, and took the fords of Jordan toward Moab, and suffered not a man to pass over.

29 And they slew of Moab at that time about ten thousand men, all lusty, and all men of valour; and there escaped not a man.

30 So Moab was subdued that day under the hand of Israel. And the land had rest fourscore years.

31 ¶ And after him was Shamgar, the son of Anath, which slew of the Philistines six hundred men with an ox goad: and he also delivered Israel.

CHAP. IV.

1 Israel is oppressed by Jabin and Sisera. 4 Deborah stirreth up Barak to their deliverance. 10 Deborah and Barak go up with an army to mount Tabor. Sisera is defeated. 17 He fleeth to the tent of Jael, who killeth him. 23 Jabin is totally subdued.

AND the children of Israel again did evil in the sight of the LORD, when Ehud was dead.

2 And the LORD sold them into the hand of Jabin king of Canaan, that reigned in Hazor; the captain of whose host was Sisera, which dwelt in Harosheth of the Gentiles.

3 And the children of Israel cried unto the LORD: for he had nine hundred chariots of iron; and twenty years he mightily oppressed the children of Israel.

4 ¶ And Deborah, a prophetess, the wife of Lapidoth, she judged Israel at that time.

5 And she dwelt under the palm tree of Deborah between Ramah and Beth-el in mount Ephraim: and the children of Israel came up to her for judgment.

6 And she sent and called Barak the son of Abinoam out of Kedesh-naphtali, and said unto him, Hath not the LORD God of Israel commanded, saying, Go and draw toward mount Tabor, and take with thee ten thousand men of the children of Naphtali and of the children of Zebulun?

7 And I will draw unto thee to the river Kishon Sisera, the captain of Jabin's army, with his chariots and his multitude; and I will deliver him into thine hand.

8 And Barak said unto her, If thou wilt go with me, then I will go: but if thou wilt not go with me, then I will not go.

9 And she said, I will surely go with thee: notwithstanding the journey that thou takest shall not be for thine honour; for the LORD shall sell Sisera into the hand of a woman. And Deborah arose, and went with Barak to Kedesh.

10 ¶ And Barak called Zebulun and Naphtali to 28 And took the fords of Jordan, &c.] He proceeded prudently, as well as valiantly, and therefore led them directly to the ford of Jordan, of which they possessed themselves.

31 After him was Shamgar.] That is, he succeeded him in the office of a judge, for that is the general sense of the words.

With an ox goad, &c.] The goads used in this country, were of enormous size; several were near eight feet long, and six inches in circumference.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. III.

From the tenor of this Chapter, we may see our condition in this life, wherein we are exposed to divers temptations and trials; how profitable it is to men that they should be afflicted, and how great the mercy of the Lord is towards them whom he enables to make a right use of their afflictions.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. IV.

2 Jabin king of Canaan, that reigned in Hazor, &c.] Jabin was probably a general name of all the kings of this country, like that of Pharaoh among the Egyptians.

4 A prophetess, &c.] The words "prophet, and prophetess," are sometimes used for persons endued with special, though not mira-

Kedesh; and he went up with ten thousand men at his feet: and Deborah went up with him. Before CHRIST 1296.

11 Now Heber the Kenite, which was of the children of Hobab the father in law of Moses, had severed himself from the Kenites, and pitched his tent unto the plain of Zaanaim, which is by Kedesh.

12 And they shewed Sisera that Barak the son of Abinoam was gone up to mount Tabor.

13 And Sisera gathered together all his chariots, even nine hundred chariots of iron, and all the people that were with him, from Harosheth of the Gentiles unto the river of Kishon.

14 And Deborah said unto Barak, Up; for this is the day in which the LORD hath delivered Sisera into thine hand: is not the LORD gone out before thee? So Barak went down from mount Tabor, and ten thousand men after him.

15 And the LORD discomfited Sisera, and all his chariots, and all his host, with the edge of the sword before Barak; so that Sisera lighted down off his chariot, and fled away on his feet.

16 But Barak pursued after the chariots, and after the host, unto Harosheth of the Gentiles: and all the host of Sisera fell upon the edge of the sword; and there was not a man left.

17 ¶ Howbeit Sisera fled away on his feet to the tent of Jael the wife of Heber the Kenite: for there was peace between Jabin the king of Hazor and the house of Heber the Kenite.

18 And Jael went out to meet Sisera, and said unto him, Turn in, my lord, turn in to me; fear not: And when he had turned in unto her into the tent, she covered him with a mantle.

19 And he said unto her, Give me, I pray thee, a little water to drink; for I am thirsty. And she opened a bottle of milk, and gave him drink, and covered him.

20 Again he said unto her, Stand in the door of the tent, and it shall be, when any man doth come and enquire of thee, and say, Is there any man here? that thou shalt say, No.

21 Then Jael Heber's wife took a nail of the tent, and took an hammer in her hand, and went softly unto him, and smote the nail into his temples, and fastened it into the ground: for he was fast asleep and weary. So he died.

22 And, behold, as Barak pursued Sisera, Jael came out to meet him, and said unto him, Come, and I will shew thee the man whom thou seekest. And when he came into her tent, behold, Sisera lay dead, and the nail was in his temples.

23 ¶ So God subdued on that day Jabin the king of Canaan before the children of Israel.

24 And the hand of the children of Israel prospered and prevailed against Jabin the king of Canaan, until they had destroyed Jabin the king of Canaan.

culous gifts and graces, for the better understanding and explaining the word of God.

5 She dwelt under the palm tree of Deborah, &c.] The Septuagint understand it, She sat under the palm tree, where she administered judgment.

6 Mount Tabor, &c.] Which is a very remarkable mountain in Galilee, not far from Kedesh, in the tribe of Zebulun, and in the confines of Issachar and Naphtali.

7 And I will draw unto thee, &c.] These are the words of God, which Deborah pronounced in his name, signifying that he would, by his secret providence, incline Sisera to come within his power to destroy him.

15 Sisera lighted down off his chariot, and fled away, &c.] His alighting from his chariot might be, not that he could run faster on foot, but that he could sooner escape, by mixing with the crowd of common soldiers.

21 A nail of the tent.] Or one of the great pins, wherewith the tent was fastened to the ground.

So he died.] Nothing but an authority from God, of which she was certain, could warrant such a fact as this, which seemed a breach of hospitality, and to be attended with several other crimes; but was not so when God, the Lord of men's lives, ordered her to execute his sentence upon him.

The song of Deborah and Barak.

THEN sang Deborah and Barak the son of Abinoam on that day, saying,

■ Praise ye the LORD for the avenging of Israel, when the people willingly offered themselves.

3 Hear, O ye kings; give ear, O ye princes; I, even I, will sing unto the LORD; I will sing praise to the LORD God of Israel.

4 LORD, when thou wentest out of Seir, when thou marchedst out of the field of Edom, the earth trembled, and the heavens dropped, the clouds also dropped water.

5 The mountains melted from before the LORD, even that Sinai from before the LORD God of Israel.

6 In the days of Shamgar the son of Anath, in the days of Jael, the highways were unoccupied, and the travellers walked through byways.

7 The inhabitants of the villages ceased, they ceased in Israel, until that I Deborah arose, that I arose a mother in Israel.

8 They chose new gods; then was war in the gates: was there a shield or spear seen among forty thousand in Israel?

9 My heart is toward the governors of Israel, that offered themselves willingly among the people. Bless ye the LORD.

10 Speak, ye that ride on white asses, ye that sit in judgment, and walk by the way.

11 They that are delivered from the noise of archers in the place of drawing water, there shall they rehearse the righteous acts of the LORD, even the righteous acts toward the inhabitants of his villages in Israel: then shall the people of the LORD go down to the gates.

12 Awake, awake, Deborah: awake, awake, utter a song: arise, Barak, and lead thy captivity captive, thou son of Abinoam.

13 Then he made him that remaineth have dominion over the nobles among the people: the LORD made me have dominion over the mighty.

14 Out of Ephraim was there a root of them against Amalek; after thee, Benjamin, among thy people; out of Machir came down governors, and out of Zebulun they that handle the pen of the writer.

15 And the princes of Issachar were with Deborah; even Issachar, and also Barak: he was sent on foot into the valley. For the divisions of Reuben there were great thoughts of heart.

16 Why abodest thou among the sheep-folds, to hear the bleatings of the flocks? For the divisions of Reuben that were great searchings of heart.

17 Gilead abode beyond Jordan: and why did Dan remain in ships? After continued on the sea shore, and abode in his breaches.

18 Zebulun and Naphtali were a people that jeoparded their lives unto the death in the high places in the field.

19 The kings came and fought, then fought the kings of Canaan in Taanach by the waters of Megiddo; they took no gain of money.

20 They fought from heaven; the stars in their courses fought against Sisera.

21 The river of Kishon swept them away, that ancient river, the river Kishon. O my soul, thou hast trodden down strength.

22 Then were the horsehoofs broken by the means of the prancings, the prancings of their mighty ones.

23 Curse ye Meroz, said the angel of the LORD, curse ye bitterly the inhabitants thereof; because they came not to the help of the LORD, to the help of the LORD against the mighty.

24 Blessed above women shall Jael the wife of Heber the Kenite be, blessed shall she be above women in the tent.

25 He asked water, and she gave him milk; she brought forth butter in a lordly dish.

26 She put her hand to the nail, and her right hand to the workmen's hammer; and with the hammer she smote Sisera, she smote off his head, when she had pierced and stricken through his temples.

27 At her feet he bowed, he fell, he lay down: at her feet he bowed, he fell: where he bowed, there he fell down dead.

28 The mother of Sisera looked out at a window, and cried through the lattice, Why is his chariot so long in coming? why tarry the wheels of his chariots?

29 Her wise ladies answered her, yea, she returned answer to herself,

30 Have they not sped? have they not divided the prey; to every man a damsel or two; to Sisera a prey of divers colours, a prey of divers colours of needlework, of divers colours of needlework on both sides, meet for the necks of them that take the spoil?

31 So let all thine enemies perish, O LORD: but let them that love him be as the sun when he goeth forth in his might. And the land had rest forty years.

1 The Israelites for their sin are oppressed by Midian. 7 They cry to God; a prophet is sent to reprove them. 11

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. IV.

This history shews us, that when men are not humbled by the evils they have suffered, they often draw new ones upon themselves, by returning to their sins; and the choice God made of Deborah, was to shew the Israelites that their deliverance was to be ascribed to him alone, who can make the weakest instruments subservient to the effecting his designs.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. V.

■ Praise ye the Lord, &c.] The expressions of this hymn are so majestic, and it abounds with such a variety of elegant figures, that it has been ever justly admired, and allowed not to be equalled by any of the ancient Greek and Latin poets.

When the people willingly offered themselves.] She incites the people to give thanks to God, for moving the hearts of so many to enlist themselves to fight against the enemies of the Lord.

5 The mountains melted, &c.] A poetical expression, for the inhabitants of the mountains.

6 In the days of Jael, &c.] Jael is here mentioned, not as a judge, but as a woman of a brave and valiant spirit.

7 The inhabitants of the villages ceased, &c.] They forsook the villages, which were open and defenceless, and fled for safety to the walled towns, and fortified cities.

8 Then was war in the gates, &c.] The enemies had seized upon, and possessed themselves of their cities and fortresses.

9 Bless ye the Lord.] Having commended the governors of Israel, she here carries up their thoughts to God, who had inspired them with that courage, and favoured them with that good success.

10 Awake, awake, Deborah, &c.] Having called upon all often to praise the Lord, she now excites herself, with the most earnest and zealous affection, to celebrate his wonderful works.

14 Out of Ephraim.] Here Deborah enumerates the tribes and families that any ways assisted in this war.

After thee, Benjamin.] The Ephraimites followed the example of Benjamin, in engaging in this quarrel, and assisting Barak.

Out of Machir, &c.] An eminent family in Manasseh, settled on the other side Jordan.

17 Gilead abode beyond Jordan, &c.] Under Gilead are comprehended the Gadites, who had half of Gilead, as the other half was given to the children of Machir.

19 The kings came.] When the Israelites conquered Canaan, Hazor had several kingdoms subject to it, or depending on it. See Josh. xi. 10.

In Taanach by the waters of Megiddo, &c.] Taanach and Megiddo were two cities, belonging to the Manassites, but situated in the tribe of Issachar. See Josh. xvii. 11.

21 O my soul, thou hast trodden down strength.] This is a most beautiful apostrophe to herself, whose happiness she applauds, in beholding such powerful enemies vanquished by the commission which she gave from God to Barak, and by her prayers to God for his success.

27 At her feet he bowed, &c.] The reduplication of the words in this verse, is inimitably beautiful.

31 So let all thine enemies perish, O Lord, &c.] Deborah addresses herself to God, concluding this beautiful poem with a solemn prayer, that all his enemies may be thus disappointed of their vain hopes, and that all who love him, may increase in power and force, as the sun does, from its first rising, till it arrives at his meridian height.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. V.

We are to learn from this song, to refer to the power and goodness of God, all the success that happens to us, and to render to him the most public and solemn thanks for it.

COMMENTARY

An angel sendeth Gideon to deliver them. 17 Gideon asketh a sign; he bringeth flesh, broth, and bread, to the angel, which are all miraculously consumed with fire. 25 Gideon destroyeth Baal's altar and grove, and sacrificeth upon an altar which he built unto the LORD. 28 The men of his city require him to be put to death; his father defendeth him, and giveth him the name of Jerub-baal. 33 Gideon gathereth an army to fight the Midianites. 36 The double sign granted according to his prayer.

AND the children of Israel did evil in the sight of the LORD: and the LORD delivered them into the hand of Midian seven years.

2 And the hand of Midian prevailed against Israel: and because of the Midianites the children of Israel made them the dens which are in the mountains, and caves, and strong holds.

3 And so it was, when Israel had sown, that the Midianites came up, and the Amalekites, and the children of the east, even they came up against them;

4 And they encamped against them, and destroyed the increase of the earth, till thou come unto Gaza, and left no sustenance for Israel, neither sheep, nor ox, nor ass.

5 For they came up with their cattle and their tents, and they came as grass-hoppers for multitude; for both they and their camels were without number: and they entered into the land to destroy it.

6 And Israel was greatly impoverished because of the Midianites; and the children of Israel cried unto the LORD.

7 ¶ And it came to pass, when the children of Israel cried unto the LORD because of the Midianites,

8 That the LORD sent a prophet unto the children of Israel, which said unto them, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, I brought you up from Egypt, and brought you forth out of the house of bondage;

9 And I delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of all that oppressed you, and drave them out from before you, and gave you their land;

10 And I said unto you, I am the LORD your God; fear not the gods of the Amorites, in whose land ye dwell: but ye have not obeyed my voice.

11 ¶ And there came an angel of the LORD, and sat under an oak which was in Ophrah, that pertained unto Joash the Abi-ezrite: and his son Gideon threshed wheat by the winepress, to hide it from the Midianites.

12 And the angel of the LORD appeared unto him, and said unto him, The LORD is with thee, thou mighty man of valour.

13 And Gideon said unto him, Oh my lord, if the LORD be with us, why then is all this befallen us? and where be all his miracles which our fathers told us of, saying, Did not the LORD bring us up from Egypt? but now the LORD hath forsaken us, and delivered us into the hands of the Midianites.

14 And the LORD looked upon him, and said, Go in this thy might, and thou shalt save Israel from the hand of the Midianites: have not I sent thee?

15 And he said unto him, Oh my Lord, wherewith shall I save Israel? behold, my family is poor in Manasseh, and I am the least in my father's house.

16 And the LORD said unto him, Surely I will be with thee, and thou shalt smite the Midianites as one man.

17 And he said unto him, If now I have found grace in thy sight, then shew me a sign that thou talkest with me. Before CHRIST 1249

18 Depart not hence, I pray thee, until I come unto thee, and bring forth my present, and set it before thee. And he said, I will tarry until thou come again.

19 And Gideon went in, and made ready a kid, and unleavened cakes of an ephah of flour: the flesh he put in a basket, and he put the broth in a pot, and brought it out unto him under the oak, and presented it.

20 And the angel of God said unto him, Take the flesh and the unleavened cakes, and lay them upon this rock, and pour out the broth. And he did so.

21 Then the angel of the LORD put forth the end of the staff that was in his hand, and touched the flesh and the unleavened cakes; and there arose up fire out of the rock, and consumed the flesh and the unleavened cakes. Then the angel of the LORD departed out of his sight.

22 And when Gideon perceived that he was an angel of the LORD, Gideon said, Alas, O LORD God! for because I have seen an angel of the LORD face to face.

23 And the LORD said unto him, Peace be unto thee; fear not: thou shalt not die.

24 Then Gideon built an altar there unto the LORD, and called it Jehovah-shalom: unto this day it is yet in Ophrah of the Abi-ezrites.

25 ¶ And it came to pass the same night, that the LORD said unto him, Take thy father's young bullock, even the second bullock of seven years old, and throw down the altar of Baal that thy father hath, and cut down the grove that is by it:

26 And build an altar unto the LORD thy God upon the top of this rock, in the ordered place, and take the second bullock, and offer a burnt sacrifice with the wood of the grove which thou shalt cut down.

27 Then Gideon took ten men of his servants, and did as the LORD had said unto him: and so it was, because he feared his father's household, and the men of the city, that he could not do it by day, that he did it by night.

28 ¶ And when the men of the city arose early in the morning, behold, the altar of Baal was cast down, and the grove was cut down that was by it, and the second bullock was offered upon the altar that was built.

29 And they said one to another, Who hath done this thing? And when they enquired and asked, they said, Gideon the son of Joash hath done this thing.

30 Then the men of the city said unto Joash, Bring out thy son, that he may die: because he hath cast down the altar of Baal, and because he hath cut down the grove that was by it.

31 And Joash said unto all that stood against him, Will ye plead for Baal? will ye save him? he that will plead for him, let him be put to death whilst it is yet morning: if he be a god, let him plead for himself, because one hath cast down his altar.

32 Therefore on that day he called him Jerubbaal, saying, Let Baal plead against him, because he hath thrown down his altar.

33 ¶ Then all the Midianites and the Amalekites and the children of the east were gathered together, and went over, and pitched in the valley of Jezreel.

34 But the Spirit of the LORD came upon Gideon, and he blew a trumpet: and Abi-ezer was gathered after him.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES on Chap. VI.

4 Till thou come unto Gaza, &c.] They made a universal devastation, from one end of the country to the other, for they came from the east, and destroyed all till they came to the western coast, where Gaza was.

8 Sent a prophet, &c.] To put them in mind of their duty, and to call them to repentance when they forsook him. This prophet gave the Israelites no hopes of divine assistance, but only upbraided them with their sins; however, when he tells them that their calamities were occasioned by their idolatry, he plainly intimates, that if they would return to the worship of the true God, he would again look graciously upon them, and not destroy them.

No. 21,

15 Wherewith shall I save Israel? &c.] He doth not reject the commission, but modestly declines it, considering his own meanness, in comparison with many others.

20 Take the flesh, &c.] He did not take it, intending to turn it into a sacrifice.

24 Jehovah-shalom, &c.] That is, the Lord here pronounced peace to him.

31 Joash said unto all that stood against him, Will ye plead for Baal, &c.] Will you take upon you to avenge his quarrel? If Baal be a real God, he will doubtless take care to vindicate his honour.

32 He called him Jerubbaal, &c.] He called his son Jerubbaal, an opposer of Baal.

37 Behold, I will put a fleece of wool in the floor; and if the dew be on the fleece only, and it be dry upon all the earth beside, then shall I know that thou wilt save Israel by mine hand, as thou hast said.

38 And it was so: for he rose up early on the morrow, and thrust the fleece together, and wringed the dew out of the fleece, a bowl full of water.

39 And Gideon said unto God, Let not thine anger be hot against me, and I will speak but this once: let me prove, I pray thee, but this once with the fleece; let it now be dry only upon the fleece, and upon all the ground let there be dew.

40 And God did so that night: for it was dry upon the fleece only, and there was dew on all the ground.

C H A P. VII.

1 Gideon's army of two and thirty thousand is by God's direction reduced to three hundred. 9 He is sent into the enemy's camp by night, where he is encouraged by hearing a dream told with its interpretation. 16 He divideth his army into three companies, giving to each man a trumpet, and a lamp in a pitcher. 19 On his approach the Midianites are thrown into confusion and put to flight. 24 The Ephraimites take Oreb and Zeeb, and put them to death.

THEN Jerubbaal, who is Gideon, and all the people that were with him, rose up early, and pitched beside the well of Harod: so that the host of the Midianites were on the north side of them, by the hill of Moreh, in the valley.

2 And the LORD said unto Gideon, The people that are with thee are too many for me to give the Midianites into their hands, lest Israel vaunt themselves against me, saying, Mine own hand hath saved me.

3 Now therefore go to, proclaim in the ears of the people, saying, Whosoever is fearful and afraid, let him return and depart early from mount Gilead. And there returned of the people twenty and two thousand; and there remained ten thousand.

4 And the LORD said unto Gideon, The people are yet too many; bring them down unto the water, and I will try them for thee there: and it shall be, that of whom I say unto thee, This shall go with thee, the same shall go with thee; and of whomsoever I say unto thee, This shall not go with thee, the same shall not go.

5 So he brought down the people unto the water: and the LORD said unto Gideon, Every one that lapped of the water with his tongue as a dog lappeth, him shalt thou set by himself; likewise every one that boweth down upon his knees to drink.

6 And the number of them that lapped, putting their hand to their mouth, were three hundred men: but all the rest of the people bowed down upon their knees to drink water.

7 And the LORD said unto Gideon, By the three hundred men that lapped will I save you, and deliver the Midianites into thine hand: and let all the other people go every man unto his place.

8 So the people took victuals in their hand, and their trumpets: and he sent all the rest of Israel every man unto his tent, and retained those three hundred men: and the host of Midian was beneath him in the valley.

9 ¶ And it came to pass the same night, that the LORD said unto him, Arise, get thee down unto the host; for I have delivered it into thine hand.

10 But if thou fear to go down, go thou with Phurah thy servant down to the host:

11 And thou shalt hear what they say; and afterward shall thine hands be strengthened to go down unto the host. Then went he down with Phurah his servant unto the outside of the armed men that were in the host.

12 And the Midianites and the Amalekites and all the children of the east lay along in the valley like grasshoppers for multitude; and their camels were without number, as the sand by the sea side for multitude.

13 And when Gideon was come, behold, there was a man that told a dream unto his fellow, and said, Behold, I dreamed a dream, and, lo, a cake of barley bread tumbled into the host of Midian, and came unto a tent, and smote it that it fell, and overturned it, that the tent lay along.

14 And his fellow answered and said, This is nothing else save the sword of Gideon the son of Joash, a man of Israel: for into his hand hath God delivered Midian, and all the host.

15 And it was so, when Gideon heard the telling of the dream, and the interpretation thereof, that he worshipped, and returned into the host of Israel, and said, Arise, for the LORD hath delivered into your hand the host of Midian.

16 ¶ And he divided the three hundred men into three companies, and he put a trumpet in every man's hand, with empty pitchers, and lamps within the pitchers.

17 And he said unto them, Look on me, and do likewise: and, behold, when I come to the outside of the camp, it shall be that, as I do, so shall ye do.

18 When I blow with a trumpet, I and all that are with me, then blow ye the trumpets also on every side of all the camp, and say, The sword of the LORD, and of Gideon.

19 ¶ So Gideon and the hundred men that were with him, came unto the outside of the camp in the beginning of the middle watch; and they had but newly set the watch: and they blew the trumpets, and brake the pitchers that were in their hands.

20 And the three companies blew the trumpets, and brake the pitchers, and held the lamps in their left hands, and the trumpets in their right hands to blow withal: and they cried, The sword of the LORD, and of Gideon.

21 And they stood every man in his place round about the camp: and all the host ran, and cried, and fled.

22 And the three hundred blew the trumpets, and the LORD set every man's sword against his fellow, even throughout all the host: and the host fled to Beth-shittah in Zererath, and to the border of Abel-meholah, unto Tabbath.

36 If thou wilt save Israel by mine hand, &c.] This did not arise from any doubt of God's intentions, for Gideon had already both seen and done enough to be assured of the divine assistance; but he was moved to make the following request, perhaps for the sake of those who were to go with him, who possibly might be timorous.

37 If the dew, &c.] These two miracles, opposite to each other, display the state of the Jewish nation, which was for some time moistened with the dew of heaven (the knowledge and favour of the Almighty) when the rest of the world knew no such refreshment; and is now deprived of that blessing, when great part of the world is blessed with the light of the gospel.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. VI.

From God's raising up Gideon for the deliverance of his people, we may perceive, that though he suffers his people sometimes to be reduced to great extremities for their sins, yet he will never forsake them; and from the great zeal of Gideon, we may gather, that God protects those who do their duty, since no evil happened to Gideon for destroying the altar.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VII.

11 The outside of the armed men, &c.] To the out-guards, who seem to have consisted of fifty, so the LXX. think the original word signifies, and translate it τῶν περὶ τοὺς ὅπλους.

16 He put a trumpet in every man's hand, &c.] By the sound of so many trumpets, Gideon would make the appearance of a large and numerous army.

19 In the beginning of the middle watch, &c.] The reasons why Gideon chose this part of the night to do it in, are obvious; because the trumpets then would seem to sound louder, and the lights to shine brighter, and so both increase the consternation of the enemy, and conceal the smallness of his own army.

24 Take

23 And the men of Israel gathered themselves together out of Naphtali, and out of Asher, and out of all Manasseh, and pursued after the Midianites.

24 ¶ And Gideon sent messengers throughout all mount Ephraim, saying, Come down against the Midianites, and take before them the waters unto Beth-barah and Jordan. Then all the men of Ephraim gathered themselves together, and took the waters unto Beth-barah and Jordan.

25 And they took two princes of the Midianites, Oreb and Zeeb; and they slew Oreb upon the rock Oreb, and Zeeb they slew at the winepresses of Zeeb; and pursued Midian, and brought the heads of Oreb and Zeeb to Gideon on the other side Jordan.

C H A P. VIII.

1 The Ephraimites are offended with Gideon: he pacifieth them. 4 The men of Succoth and Penue! insolently refuse relief to Gideon's army. 10 Zebah and Zalmunna are taken prisoners. 13 Succoth and Penue! are chastised. 18 Gideon revengeth the death of his brethren on Zebah and Zalmunna. 22 He refuseth the government which the people offer him, but asketh for the earrings of their prey, whereof he maketh an ephod: which becometh a cause of idolatry. 28 Midian is totally subdued. 29 Gideon's children. 32 His death, and the subsequent idolatry and ingratitude of the Israelites.

AND the men of Ephraim said unto him, Why hast thou served us thus, that thou calledst us not, when thou wentest to fight with the Midianites? And they did chide with him sharply.

2 And he said unto them, What have I done now in comparison of you? Is not the gleanings of the grapes of Ephraim better than the vintage of Abi-ezer?

3 God hath delivered into your hands the princes of Midian, Oreb and Zeeb: and what was I able to do in comparison of you? Then their anger was abated toward him, when he had said that.

4 ¶ And Gideon came to Jordan, and passed over, he, and the three hundred men that were with him, faint, yet pursuing them.

5 And he said unto the men of Succoth, Give, I pray you, loaves of bread unto the people that follow me; for they be faint, and I am pursuing after Zebah and Zalmunna, kings of Midian.

6 And the princes of Succoth said, Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna now in thine hand, that we should give bread unto thine army?

7 And Gideon said, Therefore when the LORD hath delivered Zebah and Zalmunna into mine hand, then I will tear your flesh with the thorns of the wilderness and with briers.

8 And he went up thence to Penue!, and spake unto them likewise: and the men of Penue! answered him as the men of Succoth had answered him.

9 And he spake also unto the men of Penue!, saying, When I come again in peace, I will break down this tower.

10 ¶ Now Zebah and Zalmunna were in Karkor, and their hosts with them, about fifteen thousand men, 24 Take before them the waters, &c.] He would have them make such haste as to possess themselves of the fords before the Midianites could reach them.

25 Brought the heads of Oreb and Zeeb to Gideon, &c.] Thus Pompey's head, in after-times, was offered to Cæsar, and Cicero's to Marc Antony.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. VII.

From this chapter we have visible tokens of the power of God, who often does his work by means that appear very weak; that he destroys the wicked, and the enemies of his church, by themselves; and that, after having chastened and afflicted it for a time, he never fails to come to its assistance.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VIII.

Is not the gleanings of the grapes of Ephraim better than the vintage of Abi-ezer? As if he had said, These scattered parties, that you have gleaned and picked up at the fords of Jordan, are far more than those which I and my men have destroyed.

all that were left of all the host of the children of the east: for there fell an hundred and twenty thousand men that drew sword. Before CHRIST 249.

11 And Gideon went up by the way of them that dwelt in tents on the east of Nobah and Jogbehah, and smote the host: for the host was secure.

12 And when Zebah and Zalmunna fled, he pursued after them, and took the two kings of Midian, Zebah and Zalmunna, and discomfited all the host.

13 ¶ And Gideon the son of Joash returned from battle before the sun was up,

14 And caught a young man of the men of Succoth, and enquired of him: and he described unto him the princes of Succoth, and the elders thereof, even threescore and seventeen men.

15 And he came unto the men of Succoth, and said, Behold Zebah and Zalmunna with whom ye did upbraid me, saying, Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna now in thine hand, that we should give bread unto thy men that are weary?

16 And he took the elders of the city, and thorns of the wilderness and briers, and with them he taught the men of Succoth.

17 And he beat down the tower of Penue!, and slew the men of the city.

18 ¶ Then said he unto Zebah and Zalmunna, What manner of men were they whom ye slew at Tabor? And they answered, As thou art, so were they; each one resembled the children of a king.

19 And he said, They were my brethren, even the sons of my mother: as the LORD liveth, if ye had saved them alive, I would not slay you:

20 And he said unto Jether his firstborn, Up, and slay them. But the youth drew not his sword: for he feared, because he was yet a youth.

21 Then Zebah and Zalmunna said, Rise thou, and fall upon us: for as the man is, so is his strength. And Gibeon arose, and slew Zebah and Zalmunna, and took away the ornaments that were on their camels' necks.

22 ¶ Then the men of Israel said unto Gideon, Rule thou over us, both thou, and thy son, and thy son's son also: for thou hast delivered us from the hand of Midian.

23 And Gideon said unto them, I will not rule over you, neither shall my son rule over you: the LORD shall rule over you.

24 And Gideon said unto them, I would desire a request of you, that ye would give me every man the earrings of his prey. (For they had golden earrings, because they were Ishmaelites.)

25 And they answered, We will willingly give them. And they spread a garment, and did cast therein every man the earrings of his prey.

26 And the weight of the golden earrings that he requested was a thousand and seven hundred shekels of gold; beside ornaments, and collars, and purple raiment that was on the kings of Midian, and beside the chains that were about their camels' necks.

27 And Gideon made an ephod thereof, and put it in his city, even in Ophrah: and all Israel went thither a whoring

3 What was I able to do in comparison of you? &c.] Gideon's modesty and prudence was as conspicuous in this instance, his faith and courage had been in the former: these qualities constitute a truly great man, who never rises so high, or shines so bright, as when he treats insolence with humility, and anger with meekness.

15 Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna, &c.] Gideon here repeats their own words, to reproach them with their inhuman usage when he was in distress, and had done such wonders for their preservation.

17 And slew the men of the city.] By the men of the city, very probably, are meant only the principal persons in it, who fled into the tower perhaps for safety, (knowing their own guilt, and the danger they were in of suffering for it) and were there slain.

19 I would not slay you.] As they were not of the race of Canaan, he was not obliged by the law to cut them off.

24 Because they were Ishmaelites.] The Ishmaelites and the Midianites were so near neighbours, and so mixed together, that the scripture speaks of them as one people.

Before a whoring after it: which thing became a snare unto CHRIST Gideon, and to his house.

28 ¶ Thus was Midian subdued before the children of Israel, so that they lifted up their heads no more. And the country was in quietness forty years in the days of Gideon.

29 ¶ And Jerubbaal the son of Joash went and dwelt in his own house.

30 And Gideon had threescore and ten sons of his body begotten: for he had many wives.

31 And his concubine that was in Shechem, she also bare him a son, whose name he called Abimelech.

32 ¶ And Gideon the son of Joash died in a good old age, and was buried in the sepulchre of Joash his father, in Ophrah of the Abi-ezrites.

33 And it came to pass, as soon as Gideon was dead, that the children of Israel turned again, and went a whoring after Baalim, and made Baal-berith their god.

34 And the children of Israel remembered not the LORD their God, who had delivered them out of the hands of all their enemies on every side:

35 Neither shewed they kindness to the house of Jerubbaal, namely, Gideon, according to all the goodness which he had shewed unto Israel.

C H A P. IX.

1 Abimelech conspiring with the Shechemites, murdereth his brethren, and is made king. 7 Jotham's parable of the trees, whereby he reproacheth the men of Shechem with ingratitude, and foretelleth their ruin. 22 The Shechemites conspire with Gaal against Abimelech. 30 Zebul sendeth Abimelech notice thereof; 34 who overcometh them, and soweth their city with salt. 46 The Shechemites retire to an hold of the god Berith, and are burned therein. 50 Abimelech is slain at Thebez by a woman with a piece of a millstone. 56 Jotham's curse is fulfilled.

AND Abimelech the son of Jerubbaal went to Shechem unto his mother's brethren, and communed with them, and with all the family of the house of his mother's father, saying,

2 Speak, I pray you, in the ears of all the men of Shechem, Whether is better for you either that all the sons of Jerubbaal, which are threescore and ten persons, reign over you, or that one reign over you? remember also that I am your bone and your flesh.

3 And his mother's brethren spake of him in the ears of all the men of Shechem all these words: and their hearts inclined to follow Abimelech; for they said, He is our brother.

4 And they gave him threescore and ten pieces of silver out of the house of Baal-berith, wherewith Abimelech hired vain and light persons, which followed him.

5 And he went unto his father's house at Ophrah, and slew his brethren the sons of Jerubbaal, being threescore and ten persons, upon one stone; notwithstanding yet Jotham the youngest son of Jerubbaal was left; for he hid himself.

6 And all the men of Shechem gathered together, and all the house of Millo, and went, and made Abimelech king, by the plain of the pillar that was in Shechem.

7 ¶ And when they told it to Jotham, he went and stood in the top of mount Gerizim, and lifted up his voice, and cried, and said unto them, Hearken unto me, ye men of Shechem, that God may hearken unto you.

8 The trees went forth on a time to anoint a king over them; and they said unto the olive tree, Reign thou over us.

9 But the olive tree said unto them, Should I leave my fatness, wherewith by me they honour God and man, and go to be promoted over the trees?

10 And the trees said to the fig-tree, Come thou, and reign over us.

11 But the fig-tree said unto them, Should I forsake my sweetness, and my good fruit, and go to be promoted over the trees?

12 Then said the trees unto the vine, Come thou, and reign over us.

13 And the vine said unto them, Should I leave my wine, which cheereth God and man, and go to be promoted over the trees?

14 Then said all the trees unto the bramble, Come thou and reign over us.

15 And the bramble said unto the trees, If in truth ye anoint me king over you, then come and put your trust in my shadow: and if not, let fire come out of the bramble, and devour the cedars of Lebanon.

16 Now therefore, if ye have done truly and sincerely, in that ye have made Abimelech king, and if ye have dealt well with Jerubbaal and his house, and have done unto him according to the deserving of his hands;

17 (For my father fought for you, and adventured his life for you, and delivered you out of the hand of Midian:

18 And ye are risen up against my father's house this day, and have slain his sons, threescore and ten persons, upon one stone, and have made Abimelech, the son of his maidservant, king over the men of Shechem, because he is your brother;)

19 If ye then have dealt truly and sincerely with Jerubbaal and with his house this day, then rejoice ye in Abimelech, and let him also rejoice in you:

20 But if not, let fire come out from Abimelech, and devour the men of Shechem, and the house of Millo; and let fire come out from the men of Shechem, and from the house of Millo, and devour Abimelech.

21 And Jotham ran away, and fled, and went to Beer, and dwelt there, for fear of Abimelech his brother.

22 ¶ When Abimelech had reigned three years over Israel,

23 Then God sent an evil spirit between Abimelech and the men of Shechem; and the men of Shechem dealt treacherously with Abimelech:

24 That the cruelty done to the threescore and ten sons of Jerubbaal might come, and their blood be laid upon Abimelech their brother, which slew them; and upon the men of Shechem, which aided him in the killing of his brethren.

25 And the men of Shechem set liers in wait for him in the top of the mountains, and they robbed all that came along that way by them: and it was told Abimelech.

26 And Gaal the son of Ebed came with his brethren, and went over to Shechem: and the men of Shechem put their confidence in him.

27 And they went out into the fields, and gathered their vineyards, and trode the grapes, and made merry; and went into the house of their god, and did eat and drink, and cursed Abimelech.

28 And Gaal the son of Ebed said, Who is Abimelech, and who is Shechem, that we should serve him?

33 Baal-berith, &c.] This is taken for the god who presides over covenants and councils, to whom it belongs to maintain them, and to punish all those who violate them.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. VIII.

In this chapter we not only see the happy success God granted to Gideon; his piety and humility; but also his fault in making an ephod, which proved an occasion of idolatry, and the ruin of his family. Let him that thinketh he standeth, take heed lest he fall.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. IX.

8 The trees went forth on a time, &c.] This is the first fable that we find any where upon record; and from hence it appears, that such fictions as these, wherein the most serious truths are represented, were in use among the Jews (as they are still in the eastern countries) long before the time of AEsop, or any other author that we know of.

9 Wherewith by me they honour God and man, &c.] Oil was offered in sacrifice to God, it fed the lamps of his house, and priests and kings were anointed with it.

is not he the son of Jerubbaal? and Zebul his officer? serve the men of Hamor the father of Shechem: for why should we serve him?

29 And would to God this people were under my hand! then would I remove Abimelech. And he said to Abimelech, Increase thine army, and come out.

30 ¶ And when Zebul the ruler of the city heard the words of Gaal the son of Ebed, his anger was kindled.

31 And he sent messengers unto Abimelech privily, saying, Behold, Gaal the son of Ebed and his brethren be come to Shechem; and, behold, they fortify the city against thee.

32 Now therefore up by night, thou and the people that is with thee, and lie in wait in the field:

33 And it shall be, that in the morning, as soon as the sun is up, thou shalt rise early, and set upon the city: and, behold, when he and the people that is with him come out against thee, then mayest thou do to them as thou shalt find occasion.

34 And Abimelech rose up, and all the people that were with him, by night, and they laid wait against Shechem in four companies.

35 And Gaal the son of Ebed went out, and stood in the entering of the gate of the city: and Abimelech rose up, and the people that were with him, from lying in wait.

36 And when Gaal saw the people, he said to Zebul, Behold, there come people down from the top of the mountains. And Zebul said unto him, Thou seest the shadow of the mountains as if they were men.

37 And Gaal spake again and said, See there come people down by the middle of the land, and another company come along by the plain of Meonenim.

38 Then said Zebul unto him, Where is now thy mouth, wherewith thou saidst, Who is Abimelech, that we should serve him? is not this the people that thou hast despised? go out, I pray now, and fight with them.

39 And Gaal went out before the men of Shechem, and fought with Abimelech.

40 And Abimelech chased him, and he fled before him, and many were overthrown and wounded, even unto the entering of the gate.

41 And Abimelech dwelt at Arumah: and Zebul thrust out Gaal and his brethren, that they should not dwell in Shechem.

42 And it came to pass on the morrow, that the people went out into the field; and they told Abimelech.

43 And he took the people, and divided them into three companies, and laid wait in the field, and looked, and, behold, the people were come forth out of the city; and he rose up against them, and smote them.

44 And Abimelech, and the company that was with him, rushed forward, and stood in the entering of the gate of the city: and the two other companies ran upon all the people that were in the fields, and slew them.

45 And Abimelech fought against the city all that day; and he took the city, and slew the people that was therein, and beat down the city, and sowed it with salt.

46 ¶ And when all the men of the tower of Shechem heard that, they entered into an hold of the house of the god Berith.

47 And it was told Abimelech, that all the men of the tower of Shechem were gathered together.

48 And Abimelech gat him up to mount Zalmon, he and all the people that were with him; and Abimelech took an ax in his hand, and cut down a bough from the trees, and took it, and laid it on his shoulder, and said unto the people that were with him, What ye have seen me do, make haste, and do as I have done. Before CHRIST 1206.

49 And all the people likewise cut down every man his bough, and followed Abimelech, and put them to the hold, and set the hold on fire upon them; so that all the men of the tower of Shechem died also, about a thousand men and women.

50 ¶ Then went Abimelech to Thebez, and encamped against Thebez, and took it.

51 But there was a strong tower within the city, and thither fled all the men and women, and all they of the city, and shut it to them, and gat them up to the top of the tower.

52 And Abimelech came unto the tower, and fought against it, and went hard unto the door of the tower to burn it with fire.

53 And a certain woman cast a piece of a millstone upon Abimelech's head, and all to break his scull.

54 Then he called hastily unto the young man his armourbearer, and said unto him, Draw thy sword, and slay me, that men say not of me, A woman slew him. And his young man thrust him through, and he died.

55 And when the men of Israel saw that Abimelech was dead, they departed every man unto his place.

56 ¶ Thus God rendered the wickedness of Abimelech, which he did unto his father, in slaying his seventy brethren:

57 And all the evil of the men of Shechem did God render upon their head: and upon them came the curse of Jotham the son of Jerubbaal.

CHAP. X.

1 Tola judgeth Israel; 3 and after him Jair, whose thirty sons had thirty cities. 6 The children of Israel fall again into idolatry, and are oppressed by the Philistines and Ammonites. 10 They cry unto God, and are sent by him for help unto their false gods. 15 Upon their repentance he pitieth them. 17 They assemble and consult about choosing a head.

AND after Abimelech there arose to defend Israel Tola the son of Puah, the son of Dodo, a man of Issachar; and he dwelt in Shamir in mount Ephraim.

And he judged Israel twenty and three years, and died, and was buried in Shamir. 1183.

3 ¶ And after him arose Jair, a Gileadite, and judged Israel twenty and two years.

4 And he had thirty sons that rode on thirty ascs colts, and they had thirty cities, which are called Havoth-jair unto this day, which are in the land of Gilead.

5 And Jair died, and was buried in Camon.

6 ¶ And the children of Israel did evil again in the sight of the LORD, and served Baalim, and Ashtaroth, and the gods of Syria, and the gods of Zidon, and the gods of Moab, and the gods of the children of Ammon, and the gods of the Philistines, and forsook the LORD, and served not him. 1161.

7 And the anger of the LORD was hot against Israel, and he sold them into the hands of the Philistines, and into the hands of the children of Ammon.

8 And that year they vexed and oppressed the children of Israel eighteen years, all the children of Israel that were on the other side Jordan in the land of the Amorities, which is in Gilead.

9 Moreover the children of Ammon passed over Jordan to fight also against Judah, and against Benjamin,

God overtakes unjust and cruel men, and how he brings them at last to an evil end, after having granted them good success, and made use of them for the chastisement of other persons.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. X.

1 After Abimelech, &c.] We are to look upon Abimelech, not as a judge or king, but in his true character, as an usurper, who took upon him to alter the divine government, making himself king.

7 He sold them into the hands of the Philistines, and into the hands of the children of Ammon.] The Ammonites distressed them in the east, and the Philistines attacked them in the west. Their idolatry being increased, their punishment was increased also.

29 Would I remove Abimelech. And he said, &c.] All this was said in the absence of Abimelech, at a drunken feast, when Gaal boasted how he would challenge him.

38 Where is now thy mouth, &c.] Now Zebul pulls off the mask, and upbraids him with the brags and boastings he had made.

44 And stood in the entering of the gate of the city, &c.] By this politic conduct, Abimelech prevented those who were in the fields from getting into the city, and those who were in the city from coming out to their assistance.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. IX.

This chapter shews us, in the case of Abimelech, how the curse of No 22.

Before CHRIST 1161. jamin, and against the house of Ephraim; so that Israel was fore distressed.

10 ¶ And the children of Israel cried unto the LORD, saying, We have sinned against thee, both because we have forsaken our God, and also served Baalim.

11 And the LORD said unto the children of Israel, Did not I deliver you from the Egyptians, and from the Amorites, from the children of Ammon, and from the Philistines?

12 The Zidonians also, and the Amalekites, and the Maonites, did oppress you; and ye cried to me, and I delivered you out of their hand.

13 Yet ye have forsaken me, and served other gods: wherefore I will deliver you no more.

14 Go and cry unto the gods which ye have chosen; let them deliver you in the time of your tribulation.

15 ¶ And the children of Israel said unto the LORD, We have sinned: do thou unto us whatsoever seemeth good unto thee; deliver us only, we pray thee, this day.

16 And they put away the strange gods from among them, and served the LORD: and his soul was grieved for the misery of Israel.

17 ¶ Then the children of Ammon were gathered together, and encamped in Gilead. And the children of Israel assembled themselves together, and encamped in Mizpeh.

18 And the people and princes of Gilead said one to another, What man is he that will begin to fight against the children of Ammon? he shall be head over all the inhabitants of Gilead.

C H A P. XI.

¶ Jephthah, the son of Gilead by a strange woman, is thrust out from home by his brethren. 4 At the breaking out of the war the elders of Gilead sue to him to command them, and covenant to make him their head. 12 His embassy to the king of Ammon, which proveth fruitless. 29 His vow. 32 He overcometh the Ammonites. 34 His daughter cometh to meet him, with whom he doeth according to his vow.

NOW Jephthah the Gileadite was a mighty man of valour, and he was the son of an harlot: and Gilead begat Jephthah.

2 And Gilead's wife bare him sons; and his wife's sons grew up, and they thrust out Jephthah, and said unto him, Thou shalt not inherit in our father's house; for thou art the son of a strange woman.

3 Then Jephthah fled from his brethren, and dwelt in the land of Tob: and there were gathered vain men to Jephthah, and went out with him.

4 ¶ And it came to pass in process of time, that the children of Ammon made war against Israel.

5 And it was so, that when the children of Ammon made war against Israel, the elders of Gilead went to fetch Jephthah out of the land of Tob:

6 And they said unto Jephthah, Come, and be our captain, that we may fight with the children of Ammon.

7 And Jephthah said unto the children of Gilead, Did not ye hate me, and expel me out of my father's house? and why are ye come unto me now when ye are in distress?

8 And the elders of Gilead said unto Jephthah, Therefore we turn again to thee now, that thou mayest go with us, and fight against the children of Ammon, and be our head over all the inhabitants of Gilead.

16 His soul was grieved for the misery of Israel.] The divine nature is not capable of grief properly so called: the meaning is, he quite altered his former intentions, and in much mercy resolved, upon their repentance, to deliver them.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. X.

This proceeding of the Lord towards the Jews evinces, that though God corrects those who offend him; yet the first motions of repentance which sinners feel in their affliction, are not always sincere, therefore God does not hear them immediately, nor pardon them till he sees they are truly humbled.

9 And Jephthah said unto the elders of Gilead, If ye bring me home again to fight against the children of Ammon, and the LORD deliver them before me, shall I be your head?

10 And the elders of Gilead said unto Jephthah, The LORD be witness between us, if we do not so according to thy words.

11 Then Jephthah went with the elders of Gilead, and the people made him head and captain over them: and Jephthah uttered all his words before the LORD in Mizpeh.

12 ¶ And Jephthah sent messengers unto the king of the children of Ammon, saying, What hast thou to do with me, that thou art come against me to fight in my land?

13 And the king of the children of Ammon answered unto the messengers of Jephthah, Because Israel took away my land, when they came up out of Egypt, from Arnon even unto Jabbok, and unto Jordan: now therefore restore those lands again peaceably.

14 And Jephthah sent messengers again unto the king of the children of Ammon:

15 And said unto him, Thus said Jephthah, Israel took not away the land of Moab, nor the land of the children of Ammon:

16 But when Israel came up from Egypt, and walked through the wilderness unto the Red sea, and came to Kadesh;

17 Then Israel sent messengers unto the king of Edom, saying, Let me, I pray thee, pass through thy land: but the king of Edom would not hearken thereto. And in like manner they sent unto the king of Moab: but he would not consent: and Israel abode in Kadesh.

18 And they went along through the wilderness, and compassed the land of Edom, and the land of Moab, and came by the east side of the land of Moab, and pitched on the other side of Arnon, but came not within the border of Moab: for Arnon was the border of Moab.

19 And Israel sent messengers unto Sihon king of the Amorites, the king of Heshbon; and Israel said unto him, Let us pass, we pray thee, through thy land into my place.

20 But Sihon trusted not Israel to pass through his coast: but Sihon gathered all his people together, and pitched in Jahaz, and fought against Israel.

21 And the LORD God of Israel delivered Sihon and all his people into the hand of Israel, and they smote them: so Israel possessed all the land of the Amorites, the inhabitants of that country.

22 And they possessed all the coasts of the Amorites, from Arnon even unto Jabbok, and from the wilderness even unto Jordan.

23 So now the LORD God of Israel hath dispossessed the Amorites from before his people Israel, and shouldest thou possess it?

24 Wilt not thou possess that which Chemosh thy god giveth thee to possess? So whomsoever the LORD our God shall drive out from before us, them will we possess.

25 And now art thou any thing better than Balak the son of Zippor king of Moab? did he ever strive against Israel, or did he ever fight against them,

26 While Israel dwelt in Heshbon and her towns, and in Aroer and her towns, and in all the cities that be along by the coasts of Arnon, three hundred years? why

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XI.

1 The son of an harlot, &c.] By this word some understand a stranger; others an hostess, as Rahab was.

7 Why are ye come unto me now when ye are in distress?] What reason have you to expect that I should hearken unto you, since I know it is only your distress which moves you to recal me?

17 Israel abode in Kadesh.] Bore with the affronts, and abstained from all violence.

21 Israel possessed all the land of the Amorites, &c.] Did not dispossess the Moabites, but the Ammonites.

why therefore did ye not recover them within that time?

27 Wherefore I have not sinned against thee, but thou dost me wrong to war against me: the LORD the Judge be judge this day between the children of Israel and the children of Ammon.

28 Howbeit the king of the children of Ammon hearkened not unto the words of Jephthah which he sent him.

29 ¶ Then the Spirit of the LORD came upon Jephthah, and he passed over Gilead, and Manasseh, and passed over Mizpeh of Gilead, and from Mizpeh of Gilead he passed over unto the children of Ammon.

30 And Jephthah vowed a vow unto the LORD, and said, If thou shalt without fail deliver the children of Ammon into mine hands, 31 Then it shall be, that whatsoever cometh forth of the doors of my house to meet me, when I return in peace from the children of Ammon, shall surely be the LORD's, and I will offer it up for a burnt offering.

32 ¶ So Jephthah passed over unto the children of Ammon to fight against them; and the LORD delivered them into his hands.

33 And he smote them from Aroer, even till thou come to Minnith, even twenty cities, and unto the plain of the vineyards, with a very great slaughter. Thus the children of Ammon were subdued before the children of Israel.

34 ¶ And Jephthah came to Mizpeh unto his house, and, behold, his daughter came out to meet him with timbrels and with dances: and she was his only child; beside her he had neither son nor daughter.

35 And it came to pass, when he saw her, that he rent his cloaths, and said, Alas, my daughter! thou hast brought me very low, and thou art one of them that trouble me: for I have opened my mouth unto the LORD, and I cannot go back.

36 And she said unto him, My father, if thou hast opened thy mouth unto the LORD, do to me according to that which hath proceeded out of thy mouth; forasmuch as the LORD hath taken vengeance for thee of thine enemies, even of the children of Ammon.

37 And she said unto her father, Let this thing be done for me: let me alone two months, that I may go up and down upon the mountains, and bewail my virginity, I and my fellows.

38 And he said, Go. And he sent her away for two months: and she went with her companions, and bewailed her virginity upon the mountains.

39 And it came to pass at the end of two months, that she returned unto her father, who did with her according to his vow which he had vowed: and she knew no man. And it was a custom in Israel,

40 That the daughters of Israel went yearly to lament the daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite four days in a year.

29 He passed over Gilead, and Manasseh, &c.] Levied what men he could in the country of Reuben and Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh.

31 Cometh forth of the doors of my house—and I will offer it up, &c.] The word First is understood. Read or, instead of and, thus: It shall be consecrated to the Lord, if it be not fit for a burnt-offering; or, if it be fit for it, it shall be offered for a burnt-offering.

36 Do to me according to, &c.] A striking instance of religion, fortitude, obedience to her parent, and love to her country.

39 Who did with her according to his vow, &c.] The most probable opinion is, that Jephthah's daughter did not fall a sacrifice, but was consecrated to God and his service; that is, devoted to a single life, and to remain a recluse all her days: and this will also account for the great grief and trouble which her father expressed on this occasion: because by this ~~means~~ his family became extinct, and himself destitute of issue to inherit his estate, and perpetuate his name.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XI.

This chapter affords us instruction and examples from the sage and moderate conduct of Jephthah, and also his zeal, which are laudable; but his rash vow was imprudent. The noble resolution and piety of his daughter teaches us to sacrifice our private interest, and all that is dearest to us, to the glory of God, and the public welfare.

C H A P. XII.

Before CHRIST 1143.

1 The Ephraimites quarrel with Jephthah; are smitten by the Gileadites, and, being discerned by the word Shibboleth, are slain in great numbers. 7 Jephthah dieth. 8 Ibzan, who had thirty sons and thirty daughters, judgeth Israel; 11 after him Elon; 13 and Abdon, who had forty sons and thirty nephews.

AND the men of Ephraim gathered themselves together, and went northward, and said unto Jephthah, Wherefore passedst thou over to fight against the children of Ammon, and didst not call us to go with thee? we will burn thine house upon thee with fire.

2 And Jephthah said unto them, I and my people were at great strife with the children of Ammon; and when I called you, ye delivered me not out of their hands.

3 And when I saw that ye delivered me not, I put my life in my hands, and passed over against the children of Ammon, and the LORD delivered them into my hand: wherefore then are ye come up unto me this day, to fight against me?

4 Then Jephthah gathered together all the men of Gilead, and fought with Ephraim: and the men of Gilead smote Ephraim, because they said, Ye Gileadites are fugitives of Ephraim among the Ephraimites, and among the Manassites.

5 And the Gileadites took the passages of Jordan before the Ephraimites: and it was so, that when those Ephraimites which were escaped said, Let me go over; that the men of Gilead said unto him, Art thou an Ephraimite? If he said, Nay;

6 Then said they unto him, Say now Shibboleth: and he said Sibboleth: for he could not frame to pronounce it right. Then they took him, and slew him at the passages of Jordan: and there fell at that time of the Ephraimites forty and two thousand.

7 ¶ And Jephthah judged Israel six years. Then died Jephthah the Gileadite, and was buried in one of the cities of Gilead.

8 ¶ And after him Ibzan of Beth-lehem judged Israel.

9 And he had thirty sons, and thirty daughters, whom he sent abroad, and took in thirty daughters from abroad for his sons. And he judged Israel seven years.

10 Then died Ibzan, and was buried at Beth-lehem.

11 ¶ And after him Elon, a Zebulonite, judged Israel; and he judged Israel ten years.

12 And Elon the Zebulonite died, and was buried in Aijalon in the country of Zebulun.

13 ¶ And after him Abdon the son of Hillel, a Pirathonite, judged Israel.

14 And he had forty sons and thirty nephews, that rode on threescore and ten ass colts: and he judged Israel eight years.

15 And Abdon the son of Hillel the Pirathonite died, and was buried in Pirathon in the land of Ephraim, in the mount of the Amalekites.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XII.

1 Wherefore passedst thou over to fight, &c.] They do not mean over Jordan, (for there he was already) but from thence to the coasts of the Ammonites.

2 I and my people, &c.] How mildly does he reply to their furious and menacing language!

5 Took the passages of Jordan, &c.] Possessed themselves of the passages, and secured the fords of the river.

6 He could not frame to pronounce it right] There were doubtless many other words which they could not frame their mouths to speak as the Gileadites did; but this one was chosen, because it was set for their purpose; for as Shibboleth signifies "floods of water," the Gileadites, when they saw any Ephraimite appear, might put this test to him, and bid him say, Let me pass over the water.

Forty and two thousand] This was a terrible slaughter for one tribe to make of another. But the Ephraimites seem to have deserved it, as a just punishment of their pride and insolence.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XII.

The account at the end of this chapter shews us God's protection of the Israelites, notwithstanding their frequent rebellions, by sending them from time to time judges and captains to govern and deliver them from such oppressors.

COMMENTARY

C H A P. XIII.

- 1 Israel serveth the Philistines forty years. 2 An angel appeareth to Manoah's wife, who was barren, and telleth her that she shall bear a son. 6 She informed her husband of it. 8 At Manoah's prayer the angel appeareth to him, and instructeth him what they must do. 15 Manoah's sacrifice, whereby the angel is discovered. 24 Samson is born.

AND the children of Israel did evil again in the sight of the LORD; and the LORD delivered them into the hand of the Philistines forty years.

¶ And there was a certain man of Zorah, of the family of the Danites, whose name was Manoah; and his wife was barren, and bare not.

3 And the angel of the LORD appeared unto the woman, and said unto her, Behold now, thou art barren, and bearest not: but thou shalt conceive, and bear a son.

4 Now therefore beware, I pray thee, and drink not wine nor strong drink, and eat not any unclean thing:

5 For, lo, thou shalt conceive, and bear a son; and no razor shall come on his head: for the child shall be a Nazarite unto God from the womb: and he shall begin to deliver Israel out of the hand of the Philistines.

6 ¶ Then the woman came and told her husband, saying, A man of God came unto me, and his countenance was like the countenance of an angel of God, very terrible: but I asked him not whence he was, neither told he me his name:

7 But he said unto me, Behold, thou shalt conceive, and bear a son; and now drink no wine nor strong drink, neither eat any unclean thing: for the child shall be a Nazarite to God from the womb to the day of his death.

¶ ¶ Then Manoah intreated the LORD, and said, O my LORD, let the man of God which thou didst send come again unto us, and teach us what we shall do unto the child that shall be born.

9 And God hearkened to the voice of Manoah; and the angel of God came again unto the woman as she sat in the field: but Manoah her husband was not with her.

10 And the woman made haste, and ran, and shewed her husband, and said unto him, Behold, the man hath appeared unto me, that came unto me the other day.

11 And Manoah arose, and went after his wife, and came to the man, and said unto him, Art thou the man that spakest unto the woman? And he said, I am.

12 And Manoah said, Now let thy words come to pass. How shall we order the child, and how shall we do unto him?

13 And the angel of the LORD said unto Manoah, Of all that I said unto the woman let her beware.

14 She may not eat of any thing that cometh of the vine, neither let her drink wine or strong drink, nor eat any unclean thing: all that I commanded her let her observe.

15 ¶ And Manoah said unto the angel of the LORD, I pray thee, let us detain thee, until we shall have made ready a kid for thee.

16 And the angel of the LORD said unto Manoah,

Though thou detain me, I will not eat of thy bread: and if thou wilt offer a burnt offering, thou must offer it unto the LORD. For Manoah knew not that he was an angel of the LORD.

17 And Manoah said unto the angel of the LORD, What is thy name, that when thy sayings come to pass we may do thee honour?

18 And the angel of the LORD said unto him, Why askest thou thus after my name, seeing it is secret?

19 So Manoah took a kid with a meat offering, and offered it upon a rock unto the LORD: and the angel did wonderously; and Manoah and his wife looked on.

20 For it came to pass, when the flame went up toward heaven from off the altar, that the angel of the LORD ascended in the flame of the altar. And Manoah and his wife looked on it, and fell on their faces to the ground.

21 But the angel of the LORD did no more appear to Manoah and to his wife. Then Manoah knew that he was an angel of the LORD.

22 And Manoah said unto his wife, We shall surely die, because we have seen God.

23 But his wife said unto him, If the LORD were pleased to kill us, he would not have received a burnt offering and a meat offering at our hands, neither would he have shewed us all these things, nor would as at this time have told us such things as these.

24 ¶ And the woman bare a son, and called his name Samson: and the child grew, and the LORD blessed him.

25 And the spirit of the LORD began to move him at times in the camp of Dan between Zorah and Eshtaol.

C H A P. XIV.

- 1 Samson desireth to take one of the daughters of the Philistines to wife. 5 In his journey to Timnath he killeth a lion. 8 In a second journey thither he findeth honey in the lion's carcase. 10 Samson's marriage feast. 12 His riddle, which his wife prevaileth upon him to unfold to her, and she discovereth to the guests. 19 He slayeth thirty Philistines, and giveth their spoil to those who had expounded his riddle; he leaveth his wife in anger, who is given to another.

AND Samson went down to Timnath, and saw a woman in Timnath of the daughters of the Philistines:

2 And he came up, and told his father and his mother, and said, I have seen a woman in Timnath of the daughters of the Philistines: now therefore get her for me to wife.

3 Then his father and his mother said unto him, Is there never a woman among the daughters of thy brethren, or among all my people, that thou goest to take a wife of the uncircumcised Philistines? And Samson said unto his father, Get her for me; for she pleaseth me well.

4 But his father and his mother knew not that it was of the LORD, that he sought an occasion against the Philistines: for at that time the Philistines had dominion over Israel.

5 ¶ Then went Samson down, and his father and his mother, to Timnath, and came to the vineyards of Timnath,

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XIII.

1 The Lord delivered them into the hand of the Philistines forty years.] This was the sixth oppression, and the longest they yet lay under.

3 Thou art barren, and bearest not: but thou shalt conceive and bear a son.] The greatest number of the nation were born of barren women; to instance only a few, Isaac, Joseph, Samson, Samuel, and John the Baptist.

4 Drink not wine nor strong drink, &c.] Because he was to be a perpetual Nazarite to God, from his conception to his death, which he could not have been, if he had drunk wine or strong drink, the child in the womb living by the same nourishment with the mother.

5 He shall begin to deliver Israel, &c.] He did not perfectly deliver the Israelites from the yoke of the Philistines, but was done after his death, by Samuel.

18 Seeing it is secret.] Or rather, It is wonderful, as in the margin; the Septuagint also read it, Admirable. This is a proper style for Jehovah, whose essence we must admire, but cannot comprehend.

25 In the camp of Dan, &c.] In which, perhaps, Samson lived.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XIII.

We learn from hence, that Samson was a man miraculously raised by God, dedicated to him, that God had designed him for great things, and that whatever he did in an extraordinary way, proceeded from the Spirit and power of God.

Timnath : and, behold, a young lion roared against him.

6 And the Spirit of the LORD came mightily upon him, and he rent him as he would have rent a kid, and he had nothing in his hand : but he told not his father or his mother what he had done.

7 And he went down, and talked with the woman ; and she pleased Samson well.

8 ¶ And after a time he returned to take her, and he turned aside to see the carcase of the lion : and, behold, there was a swarm of bees and honey in the carcase of the lion.

9 And he took thereof in his hands, and went on eating, and came to his father and mother, and he gave them, and they did eat : but he told not them that he had taken the honey out of the carcase of the lion.

10 ¶ So his father went down unto the woman : and Samson made there a feast ; for so used the young men to do.

11 And it came to pass, when they saw him, that they brought thirty companions to be with him.

12 ¶ And Samson said unto them, I will now put forth a riddle unto you : if ye can certainly declare it me within the seven days of the feast, and find it out, then I will give you thirty sheets and thirty change of garments :

13 But if ye cannot declare it me, then shall ye give me thirty sheets and thirty change of garments. And they said unto him, Put forth thy riddle, that we may hear it.

14 And he said unto them, Out of the eater came forth meat, and out of the strong came forth sweetness. And they could not in three days expound the riddle.

15 And it came to pass on the seventh day, that they said unto Samson's wife, Entice thy husband, that he may declare unto us the riddle, lest we burn thee and thy father's house with fire : have ye called us to take that we have ? is it not so ?

16 And Samson's wife wept before him, and said, Thou dost but hate me, and lovest me not : thou hast put forth a riddle unto the children of my people, and hast not told it me. And he said unto her, Behold, I have not told it my father nor my mother, and shall I tell it thee ?

17 And she wept before him the seven days, while the feast lasted : and it came to pass on the seventh day, that he told her, because she lay fore upon him : and she told the riddle to the children of her people.

18 And the men of the city said unto him on the seventh day before the sun went down, What is sweeter than honey ? and what is stronger than a lion ? And he said unto them, If ye had not plowed with my heifer, ye had not found out my riddle.

19 ¶ And the Spirit of the LORD came upon him, and he went down to Ashkelon, and slew thirty men of them, and took their spoil, and gave change of garments unto them which expounded the riddle. And his anger was kindled, and he went up to his father's house.

6 He told not his father, &c. Being afraid lest it might come to the ears of the Philistines, and make them jealous of him.

11 They brought thirty companions to be with him. The young men were generally of the bridegroom's relations and acquaintance ; but at Samson's marriage, they belonged to his wife's family ; and were sent, as is supposed, not so much to do him honour at his nuptials, as to be a guard over him, lest he should make any disturbance.

14 Out of the eater came forth meat, and out of the strong came forth sweetness, &c. The antithesis of the words is, Food came from the devourer, and sweetness from what is eager and sharp, that is, violent and fierce.

15 On the seventh day, &c. The Septuagint read, On the fourth day, which is certainly right.

20 Samson's wife was given to his companion, &c. Looking upon herself as forsaken by him, she was easily persuaded to marry one of his bridemen.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XIV.

CHAP. XV.

1 Samson returning to visit his wife is denied admittance to her. 3 He setteth fire to the corn of the Philistines with foxes and firebrands : his wife and her father are burned by the Philistines. 7 Samson smiteth them, and retireth to the rock Etam. 9 The Philistines come up against him : the men of Judah with his consent deliver him bound to the Philistines. 14 He killeth a thousand of the Philistines with the jawbone of an ass. 18 God openeth a fountain in Lehi, to relieve his thirst.

BUT it came to pass within a while after, in the time of wheat harvest, that Samson visited his wife with a kid ; and he said, I will go in to my wife into the chamber. But her father would not suffer him to go in.

2 And her father said, I verily thought that thou hadst utterly hated her ; therefore I gave her to thy companion : is not her younger sister fairer than she ? take her, I pray thee, instead of her.

3 ¶ And Samson said concerning them, Now shall I be more blameless than the Philistines, though I do them a displeasure.

4 And Samson went and caught three hundred foxes, and took firebrands, and turned tail to tail, and put a firebrand in the midst between two tails.

5 And when he had set the brands on fire, he let them go into the standing corn of the Philistines, and burnt up both the shocks, and also the standing corn, with the vineyards and olives.

6 Then the Philistines said, Who hath done this ? And they answered, Samson, the son in law of the Timnite, because he had taken his wife, and given her to his companion. And the Philistines came up and burnt her and her father with fire.

7 ¶ And Samson said unto them, Though ye have done this, yet will I be avenged of you, and after that I will cease.

8 And he smote them hip and thigh with a great slaughter : and he went down and dwelt in the top of the rock Etam.

9 ¶ Then the Philistines went up, and pitched in Judah, and spread themselves in Lehi.

10 And the men of Judah said, Why are ye come up against us ? And they answered, To bind Samson are we come up, to do to him as he hath done to us.

11 Then three thousand men of Judah went to the top of the rock Etam, and said to Samson, Knowest thou not that the Philistines are rulers over us ? what is this that thou hast done unto us ? And he said unto them, As they did unto me, so have I done unto them.

12 And they said unto him, We are come down to bind thee, that we may deliver thee into the hand of the Philistines. And Samson said unto them, Swear unto me, that ye will not fall upon me yourselves.

13 And they spake unto him, saying, No ; but we will bind thee fast, and deliver thee into their hand : but surely we will not kill thee. And they bound him with two new cords, and brought him up from the rock.

14 ¶ And

the means ; and that Samson's great strength, and all that he did against the Philistines, proceeded from the assistance of the Spirit of the Lord.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XV.

4 Samson went and caught three hundred foxes, &c. We may suppose that Samson did not perform this by himself, in a day and night's time ; but that being assisted by his servants and neighbours, he might be some weeks in accomplishing his design ; and therefore conclude, that the collecting such a number of foxes, in order to burn up the Philistines corn, was not an impracticable thing, supposing Samson was at liberty to prosecute his revenge in this manner.

¶ The rock Etam. This was a strong place in the tribe of Judah, being accessible only by one path, and that not wide enough for two men to pass abreast, and therefore easily defensible.

9 Lehi. This place was not named so till afterwards, from the jaw-bone wherewith Samson smote the Philistines.

13 Brought him up from the rock. Out of the cave in the top of the rock, in which he was.

15 And he found a new jawbone of an ass, and put forth his hand, and took it, and slew a thousand men therewith.

16 And Samson said, With the jawbone of an ass, heaps upon heaps, with the jaw of an ass have I slain a thousand men.

17 And it came to pass, when he had made an end of speaking, that he cast away the jawbone out of his hand, and called that place Ramath-lehi.

18 ¶ And he was fore athirst, and called on the LORD, and said, Thou hast given this great deliverance into the hand of thy servant: and now shall I die for thirst, and fall into the hand of the uncircumcised?

19 But God clave an hollow place that was in the jaw, and there came water thereout; and when he had drunk, his spirit came again, and he revived: wherefore he called the name thereof En-hak-kore, which is in Lehi unto this day.

3 And Samson lay till midnight, and arose at midnight, and took the doors of the gate of the city, and the two posts, and went away with them, bar and all, and put them upon his shoulders, and carried them up to the top of an hill that is before Hebron.

4 ¶ And it came to pass afterward, that he loved a woman in the valley of Sorek, whose name was Delilah.

5 And the lords of the Philistines came up unto her, and said unto her, Entice him, and see wherein his great strength lieth, and by what means we may prevail against him, that we may bind him to afflict him: and we will give thee every one of us eleven hundred pieces of silver.

seven green withs that were never dried, then shall I be weak, and be as another man.

8 Then the lords of the Philistines brought up to her seven green withs which had not been dried, and she bound him with them.

9 Now there were men lying in wait, abiding with her in the chamber. And she said unto him, The Philistines be upon thee, Samson. And he brake the withs, as a thread of tow is broken when it toucheth the fire. So his strength was not known.

10 And Delilah said unto Samson, Behold, thou hast mocked me, and told me lies: now tell me, I pray thee, wherewith thou mightest be bound.

11 And he said unto her, If they bind me fast with new ropes that never were occupied, then shall I be weak, and be as another man.

12 Delilah therefore took new ropes, and bound him therewith, and said unto him, The Philistines be upon thee, Samson. And there were liers in wait abiding in the chamber. And he brake them from off his arms like a thread.

13 And Delilah said unto Samson, Hitherto thou hast mocked me, and told me lies: tell me wherewith thou mightest be bound. And he said unto her, If thou weavest the seven locks of my head with the web.

14 And she fastened it with the pin, and said unto him, The Philistines be upon thee, Samson. And he awaked out of his sleep, and went away with the pin of the beam, and with the web.

15 ¶ And she said unto him, How canst thou say, I love thee, when thine heart is not with me? thou hast mocked me these three times, and hast not told me wherein thy great strength lieth.

16 And it came to pass, when she pressed him daily with her words, and urged him, so that his soul was vexed unto death;

17 That he told her all his heart, and said unto her, There hath not come a razor upon my head; for I have been a Nazarite unto God from my mother's womb: if I be shaven, then my strength will go from me, and I shall become weak, and be like any other man.

18 And when Delilah saw that he had told her all his heart, she sent and called for the lords of the Philistines, saying, Come up this once, for he hath shewed me all his heart. Then the lords of the Philistines came up unto her, and brought money in their hand.

19 And she made him sleep upon her knees; and she called for a man, and she caused him to shave off the seven locks of his head; and she began to afflict him, and his strength went from him.

20 And she said, The Philistines be upon thee, Samson. And he awoke out of his sleep, and said, I will go out as at other times before, and shake myself. And he wist not that the LORD was departed from him.

21 ¶ But the Philistines took him, and put out his eyes, and brought him down to Gaza, and bound him with fetters of brass; and he did grind in the prison house.

3 Took the doors of the gate of the city, &c.] He plucked up the posts out of the ground, with the doors hanging upon them fast bound; which so astonished the guards, that they had no heart to follow him.

4 Sorek, &c.] This was a place in the land of Judea, famous for choice wines, and about a mile and a half from Ethcol, where the spies brought a bunch of grapes, for a sample of the fruitfulness of the country.

7 If they bind me, &c.] He amuses her with several fictions, either in jest, or from some suspicion of her having a design against him.

9 Men lying in wait, abiding with her in the chamber, &c.] In another room of the house, near to that where Samson lay.

17 If I be shaven, then my strength will go from me, &c.] His hair was no natural cause of his strength, but a supernatural and miraculous gift; not, perhaps, always inherent in him, but only dispensed at certain times, when the Spirit of God came upon him.

23 Dagon, &c.] The word Dagon is taken from the Phœnician root "dag," which signifies a fish.

their god, and to rejoice: for they said, Our god hath delivered Samson our enemy into our hand.

24 And when the people saw him, they praised their god: for they said, Our god hath delivered into our hands our enemy, and the destroyer of our country, which slew many of us.

25 And it came to pass, when their hearts were merry, that they said, Call for Samson, that he may make us sport. And they called for Samson out of the prison house: and he made them sport: and they set him between the pillars.

26 ¶ And Samson said unto the lad that held him by the hand, Suffer me that I may feel the pillars whereupon the house standeth, that I may lean upon them.

27 Now the house was full of men and women; and all the lords of the Philistines were there; and there were upon the roof about three thousand men and women, that beheld while Samson made sport.

28 And Samson called unto the LORD, and said, O Lord God, remember me, I pray thee, and strengthen me, I pray thee, only this once, O God, that I may be at once avenged of the Philistines for my two eyes.

29 And Samson took hold of the two middle pillars upon which the house stood, and on which it was borne up, of the one with his right hand, and of the other with his left.

30 And Samson said, Let me die with the Philistines. And he bowed himself with all his might; and the house fell upon the lords, and upon all the people that were therein. So the dead which he slew at his death were more than they which he slew in his life.

31 Then his brethren and all the house of his father came down, and took him, and brought him up, and buried him between Zorah and Eshtaol in the burying-place of Manoah his father. And he judged Israel twenty years.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Of the money that Micah had stolen, and afterward restored, his mother maketh images. 5 Micah's idolatry.

7 He hireth a Levite to be his priest.

AND there was a man of mount Ephraim, whose name was Micah.

2 And he said unto his mother, The eleven hundred shekels of silver that were taken from thee, about which thou cursedst, and spakest of also in mine ears, behold, the silver is with me; I took it. And his mother said, Blessed be thou of the LORD, my son.

3 And when he had restored the eleven hundred shekels of silver to his mother, his mother said, I had wholly dedicated the silver unto the LORD from my hand for my son, to make a graven image and a molten image: now therefore I will restore it unto thee:

4 Yet he restored the money unto his mother; and his mother took two hundred shekels of silver, and gave them to the founder, who made thereof a graven image and a molten image: and they were in the house of Micah.

5 ¶ And the man Micah had an house of gods, and made an ephod, and teraphim, and consecrated one of his sons, who became his priest.

28 That I may be at once avenged of the Philistines, &c.] This desire proceeded from God, who intended to punish the Philistines for their oppressing Israel, as well as abusing Samson.

30 Let me die with the Philistines—and the house fell, &c.] Samson, in this, is not to be deemed a self-murderer, but rather a person moved by an heroic spirit from God himself, to make himself a sacrifice for the good of his country. The fabric is conceived to be an oval amphitheatre, the scene in the middle, where a vast roof of cedar beams, resting upon the walls, centered all upon one short architrave, that united two cedar pillars in the middle; so that as one pillar would not be sufficient to unite the ends of at least one hundred beams that tended to the centre, therefore there must have been a short architrave resting on two pillars, upon which all the beams tending to the centre of the amphitheatre, might be supported.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XVI.

We may learn from this chapter, that God will protect us while we serve and obey him: but vicious and immoral courses, without repentance, bring on the ruin both of body and soul.

6 In those days there was no king in Israel, but every man did that which was right in his own eyes. Before CHRIST 1406.

7 ¶ And there was a young man out of Beth-lehem-judah of the family of Judah, who was a Levite, and he sojourned there.

8 And the man departed out of the city from Beth-lehem-judah to sojourn where he could find a place: and he came to mount Ephraim to the house of Micah, as he journeyed.

9 And Micah said unto him, Whence comest thou? And he said unto him, I am a Levite of Beth-lehem-judah, and I go to sojourn where I may find a place.

10 And Micah said unto him, Dwell with me, and be unto me a father and a priest, and I will give thee ten shekels of silver by the year, and a suit of apparel, and thy victuals. So the Levite went in.

11 And the Levite was content to dwell with the man; and the young man was unto him as one of his sons.

12 And Micah consecrated the Levite; and the young man became his priest, and was in the house of Micah.

13 Then said Micah, Now know I that the LORD will do me good, seeing I have a Levite to my priest.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The Danites send five men to seek out for them an inheritance, who come to the house of Micah, and are encouraged by the Levite to proceed on their way. 7 They search Laish, and bring back news of good hope. 11 Six hundred men are sent to surprize the place. 14 On the way they rob Micah of his consecrated things, and carry off his priest. 22 Micah pursueth them, but is obliged to return for fear of violence. 27 Laish is surprized, taken possession of, and called Dan. 30 Idolatry is set up in Dan, where Jonathan the Levite and his sons have the priesthood.

IN those days there was no king in Israel: and in those days the tribe of the Danites sought them an inheritance to dwell in; for unto that day all their inheritance had not fallen unto them among the tribes of Israel.

2 And the children of Dan sent of their family five men from their coasts, men of valour, from Zorah, and from Eshtaol, to spy out the land, and to search it; and they said unto them, Go, search the land: who when they came to mount Ephraim, to the house of Micah, they lodged there.

3 When they were by the house of Micah, they knew the voice of the young man the Levite: and they turned in thither, and said unto him, Who brought thee hither? and what makest thou in this place? and what hast thou here?

4 And he said unto them, Thus and thus dealeth Micah with me, and hath hired me, and I am his priest.

5 And they said unto him, Ask counsel, we pray thee, of God, that we may know whether our way which we go shall be prosperous.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XVII.

1 And there was a man, &c.] Between the death of those elders who survived Joshua, and the first opposition of Israel by Cushan, the Israelites fell from the worship of God, and polluted themselves with idolatry.

6 No king in Israel, &c.] The name of king was given to the judges, just as it was to Moses, who was their supreme governor, but not properly their king.

12 Micah consecrated the Levite, &c.] Such was the confusion of those times, in that state of anarchy, that Micah's superstition had no check upon it, and the Levite's poverty, added to his ambition, tempted him to accept of the preferment offered him.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XVII.

From this history of Micah, we may learn how dangerous it is to turn aside from the true worship of God; and that we ought to have a high esteem for the divine service, and a holy and pure ministry, and consider such advantages as the spring of all our happiness.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XVIII.

1 In those days there was no king in Israel, &c.] These words seem to be repeated, to suggest the reason of such enormous practices.

6 Before

Before
CHRIST
1406,

6 And the prieſt ſaid unto them, Go in peace: before the LORD is your way wherein ye go.

7 ¶ Then the five men departed, and came to Laiſh, and ſaw the people that were therein, how they dwelt careleſs, after the manner of the Zidonians, quiet and ſecure; and there was no magiſtrate in the land, that might put them to ſhame in any thing; and they were far from the Zidonians, and had no buſineſs with any man.

8 And they came unto their brethren to Zorah and Eſhtaol: and their brethren ſaid unto them, What ſayye?

9 And they ſaid, Ariſe, that we may go up againſt them: for we have ſeen the land, and, behold, it is very good: and are ye ſtill? be not ſlothful to go, and to enter to poſſeſs the land.

10 When ye go, ye ſhall come unto a people ſecure, and to a large land: for God hath given it into your hands; a place where there is no want of any thing that is in the earth.

11 ¶ And there went from thence of the family of the Danites, out of Zorah and out of Eſhtaol, fix hundred men appointed with weapons of war.

12 And they went up, and pitched in Kirjath-jearim, in Judah: wherefore they called that place Mahanehdan unto this day: behold, it is behind Kirjath-jearim.

13 And they paſſed thence unto mount Ephraim, and came unto the houſe of Micah.

14 ¶ Then answered the five men that went to ſpy out the country of Laiſh, and ſaid unto their brethren, Do ye know that there is in theſe houſes an ephod, and teraphim, and a graven image, and a molten image? now therefore conſider what ye have to do.

15 And they turned thitherward, and came to the houſe of the young man the Levite, even unto the houſe of Micah, and ſaluted him.

16 And the fix hundred men appointed with their weapons of war, which were of the children of Dan, ſtood by the entering of the gate.

17 And the five men that went to ſpy out the land went up, and came in thither, and took the graven image, and the ephod, and the teraphim, and the molten image: and the prieſt ſtood in the entering of the gate with the fix hundred men that were appointed with weapons of war.

18 And theſe went into Micah's houſe, and fetched the carved image, the ephod, and the teraphim, and the molten image. Then ſaid the prieſt unto them, What do ye?

19 And they ſaid unto him, Hold thy peace, lay thine hand upon thy mouth, and go with us, and be to us a father and a prieſt: is it better for thee to be a prieſt unto the houſe of one man, or that thou be a prieſt unto a tribe and a family in Iſrael?

20 And the prieſt's heart was glad, and he took the ephod, and the teraphim, and the graven image, and went in the miſt of the people.

21 So they turned and departed, and put the little ones and the cattle and the carriage before them.

22 ¶ And when they were a good way from the houſe of Micah, the men that were in the houſes near to Micah's houſe were gathered together, and overtook the children of Dan.

23 And they cried unto the children of Dan. And they turned their faces, and ſaid unto Micah, What aileth thee, that thou comest with ſuch a company?

24 And he ſaid, Ye have taken away my gods which I made, and the prieſt, and ye are gone away: and what have I more? and what is this that ye ſay unto me, What aileth thee?

25 And the children of Dan ſaid unto him, Let not thy voice be heard among us, leſt angry fellows run upon thee, and thou loſe thy life, with the lives of thy houſhold.

26 And the children of Dan went their way: and when Micah ſaw that they were too ſtrong for him, he turned and went back unto his houſe.

27 ¶ And they took the things which Micah had made, and the prieſt which he had, and came unto Laiſh, unto a people that were at quiet and ſecure: and they ſmote them with the edge of the ſword, and burnt the city with fire.

28 And there was no deliverer, becauſe it was far from Zidon, and they had no buſineſs with any man; and it was in the valley that lieth by Beth-rehob. And they built a city, and dwelt therein.

29 And they called the name of the city Dan, after the name of Dan their father, who was born unto Iſrael: howbeit the name of the city was Laiſh at the firſt.

30 ¶ And the children of Dan ſet up the graven image: and Jonathan, the ſon of Gerſhom, the ſon of Manaſſeh, he and his ſons were prieſts to the tribe of Dan until the day of the captivity of the land.

31 And they ſet them up Micah's graven image, which he made, all the time that the houſe of God was in Shiloh.

C H A P. XIX.

1 A Levite of mount Ephraim goeth to Beth-lehem to fetch home his concubine, and on his return cometh to Gibeah in the evening. 16 An old man entertaineth him. 22 The men of the city beſet the houſe with a vile intent; to prevent which the man yieldeth up his concubine, who is abuſed by them to death. 29 He divideth her into twelve parts, which he ſendeth to the twelve tribes of Iſrael.

AND it came to paſs in thoſe days, when there was no king in Iſrael, that there was a certain Levite ſojourning on the ſide of mount Ephraim, who took to him a concubine out of Beth-lehem-judah.

2 And his concubine played the whore againſt him, and went away from him unto her father's houſe to Beth-lehem-judah, and was there four whole months.

3 And her huſband aroſe, and went after her, to ſpeak friendly unto her, and to bring her again, having his ſervant with him, and a couple of aſſes: and he brought him into her father's houſe: and when the father of the damſel ſaw him, he rejoiced to meet him.

4 And his father in law, the damſel's father, retained him; and he abode with him three days: ſo they did eat and drink, and lodged there.

5 And it came to paſs on the fourth day, when they aroſe early in the morning, that he roſe up to depart: and the damſel's father ſaid unto his ſon in law, Comfort thine heart with a morſel of bread, and afterward go your way.

6 And

6 Before the Lord is your way, &c.] The meaning of their way being before the Lord, is, that they were under his eye, under his providence and care, who would diſpoſe all things for their good ſuccesſs.

7 No magiſtrate in the land that might put them to ſhame, &c.] That might puniſh them for their faults.

24 And what have I more? &c.] He thought theſe ſtrange queſtions to aſk, when they had taken away what he valued above all things in the world.

25 Left angry fellows run upon thee, &c.] This is an inſolent ſneer, and argues the moſt conſummate arrogance; they would intimidate the man from making any diſturbance or reſiſtance, under the pretence of kindneſs, and would be thought to conſult his ſafety, at the ſame time that they were detaining his property, and perſiſting in their robbery.

30 Until the day of the captivity of the land.] By the captivity of the land," is here meant the taking of the ark by the Philiftines, and carrying it captive into the temple of Dagon.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS Chap. XVIII.

This chapter points out to us, that war may be juſtly undertaken in defence of our rights and true religion; that we ſhould prefer above all things, the advantage of ſerving God in the way he has ordained; but that though God does not approve of the worſhip, that is mixed with idolatry; yet he will preſerve the knowledge of himſelf among thoſe that fear and obey him.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XIX.

1 Who took him a concubine, &c.] A wife of the ſecondary ſort, without ſuch ſolemn eſpouſals, a dowry, a ſervant, &c. 2 Went away from him, &c.] To eſcape the puniſhment which ſhe was liable to as an adultereſs.

6 And they sat down, and did eat and drink both of them together: for the damsel's father had said unto the man, Be content, I pray thee, and tarry all night, and let thine heart be merry.

7 And when the man rose up to depart, his father in law urged him: therefore he lodged there again.

8 And he arose early in the morning on the fifth day to depart: and the damsel's father said, Comfort thine heart, I pray thee. And they tarried until afternoon, and they did eat both of them.

9 And when the man rose up to depart, he, and his concubine, and his servant, his father in law, the damsel's father, said unto him, Behold, now the day draweth toward evening, I pray you tarry all night: behold, the day groweth to an end, lodge here, that thine heart may be merry; and to morrow get you early on your way, that thou mayest go home.

10 But the man would not tarry that night, but he rose up and departed, and came over against Jebus, which is Jerusalem; and there were with him two asses saddled, his concubine also was with him.

11 And when they were by Jebus, the day was far spent; and the servant said unto his master, Come, I pray thee, and let us turn in into this city of the Jebusites, and lodge in it.

12 And his master said unto him, We will not turn aside hither into the city of a stranger, that is not of the children of Israel; we will pass over to Gibeah.

13 And he said unto his servant, Come, and let us draw near to one of these places to lodge all night, in Gibeah, or in Ramah.

14 And they passed on and went their way; and the sun went down upon them when they were by Gibeah, which belongeth to Benjamin.

15 And they turned aside thither, to go in and to lodge in Gibeah: and when he went in, he sat him down in a street of the city: for there was no man that took them into his house to lodging.

16 ¶ And, behold, there came an old man from his work out of the field at even, which was also of mount Ephraim; and he sojourned in Gibeah: but the men of the place were Benjamites.

17 And when he had lifted up his eyes, he saw a wayfaring man in the street of the city: and the old man said, Whither goest thou? and whence comest thou?

18 And he said unto him, We are passing from Beth-lehem-judah toward the side of mount Ephraim; from thence am I: and I went to Beth-lehem-judah, but I am now going to the house of the LORD; and there is no man that receiveth me to house.

19 Yet there is both straw and provender for our asses; and there is bread and wine also for me, and for thy handmaid, and for the young man which is with thy servants: there is no want of any thing.

20 And the old man said, Peace be with thee; howsoever let all thy wants lie upon me; only lodge not in the street.

21 So he brought him into his house, and gave provender unto the asses: and they washed their feet, and did eat and drink.

22 ¶ Now as they were making their hearts merry, behold, the men of the city, certain sons of Belial, beset the house round about, and beat at the door, and spake to the master of the house, the old man, saying,

11 Let us turn in unto this city of the Jebusites, &c. The famous city of Jerusalem, antiently called Jebus.

24 Them I will bring out now, &c. His earnest desire to preserve the laws of hospitality from violation, (which was a thing very sacred in those days) made him forget the care he ought to have had to preserve his daughter's purity. He must be considered as in confusion of thoughts, and thence not to have minded so much what was right, as what was least wrong.

28 But none answered. Then the man took her up, &c. When he saw that she was dead, he made an outcry, but prudently carried her away, as fast as he could, to his own home.

29 Into twelve pieces, &c. That every tribe might have a part of her, Benjamin not excepted; among whom, it was to be hoped, No. 22.

Bring forth the man that came into thine house, that we may know him. Before CHRIST 1406.

23 And the man, the master of the house, went out unto them, and said unto them, Nay, my brethren, nay, I pray you, do not so wickedly; seeing that this man is come into mine house, do not this folly.

24 Behold, here is my daughter a maiden, and his concubine; them I will bring out now, and humble ye them, and do with them what seemeth good unto you: but unto this man do not so vile a thing.

25 But the men would not hearken to him: so the man took his concubine, and brought her forth unto them; and they knew her, and abused her all the night until the morning: and when the day began to spring, they let her go.

26 Then came the woman in the dawning of the day, and fell down at the door of the man's house where her lord was, till it was light.

27 And her lord rose up in the morning, and opened the doors of the house, and went out to go his way: and, behold, the woman his concubine was fallen down at the door of the house, and her hands were upon the threshold.

28 And he said unto her, Up, and let us be going. But none answered. Then the man took her up upon an ass, and the man rose up, and gat him unto his place.

29 ¶ And when he was come into his house, he took a knife, and laid hold on his concubine, and divided her, together with her bones, into twelve pieces, and sent her into all the coast of Israel.

30 And it was so, that all that saw it said, There was no such deed done nor seen from the day that the children of Israel came up out of the land of Egypt unto this day: consider of it, take advice, and speak your minds.

CHAP. XX.

1 The children of Israel assemble at Mizpeh, before whom the Levite declareth his wrong. 8 The resolution of the assembly to punish the Gibeathites. 12 The Benjamites, being required to deliver up the offenders, instead of complying make head against the other tribes. 18 By the direction of God Judah goeth up first against them; but the Israelites are repulsed with great loss. 22 They renew the fight the second day, and are again defeated with a great slaughter. 26 They seek to God with fasting and sacrifices, and are promised success. 29 They make use of a stratagem, and destroy all the Benjamites with all that belonged to them, except six hundred men, who flee to the rock Rimmon.

THEN all the children of Israel went out, and the congregation was gathered together as one man, from Dan even to Beer-sheba, with the land of Gilead, unto the LORD in Mizpeh.

2 And the chief of all the people, even of all the tribes of Israel, presented themselves in the assembly of the people of God, four hundred thousand footmen that drew sword.

3 (Now the children of Benjamin heard that the children of Israel were gone up to Mizpeh.) Then said the children of Israel, Tell us, how was this wickedness?

4 And the Levite, the husband of the woman that was slain, answered and said, I came into Gibeah that belongeth to Benjamin, I and my concubine, to lodge.

5 And the men of Gibeah rose against me, and beset there were some who would resent so foul an act, though committed by their own brethren.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XIX. We may learn from this and the following chapter, that the wickedness of a few individuals frequently involves a whole nation in the punishment of sin, which is the source of all evil and contention for the apostle James thus appeals, "Whence come wars and fightings among you? Even from the lusts which war in your members."

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XX.

1 From Dan even to Beer-sheba, with the land of Gilead] That is, all Israel, on both sides Jordan. In Mizpeh.] It stood on the confines of Judah and Benjamin.

Before
1406.

set the house round about upon me by night, and thought to have slain me: and my concubine have they forced, that she is dead.

6 And I took my concubine, and cut her in pieces, and sent her throughout all the country of the inheritance of Israel: for they have committed lewdness and folly in Israel.

7 Behold, ye are all children of Israel; give here your advice and counsel.

8 ¶ And all the people arose as one man, saying, We will not any of us go to his tent, neither will we any of us turn into his house:

9 But now this shall be the thing which we will do to Gibeah: we will go up by lot against it;

10 And we will take ten men of an hundred throughout all the tribes of Israel, and an hundred of a thousand, and a thousand out of ten thousand, to fetch victual for the people, that they may do, when they come to Gibeah of Benjamin, according to all the folly that they have wrought in Israel.

11 So all the men of Israel were gathered against the city, knit together as one man.

12 ¶ And the tribes of Israel sent men through all the tribe of Benjamin, saying, What wickedness is this that is done among you?

13 Now therefore deliver us the men, the children of Belial, which are in Gibeah, that we may put them to death, and put away evil from Israel. But the children of Benjamin would not hearken to the voice of their brethren the children of Israel:

14 But the children of Benjamin gathered themselves together out of the cities unto Gibeah, to go out to battle against the children of Israel.

15 And the children of Benjamin were numbered at that time out of the cities twenty and six thousand men that drew sword, beside the inhabitants of Gibeah, which were numbered seven hundred chosen men.

16 Among all this people there were seven hundred chosen men lefthanded; every one could sling stones at an hair breadth, and not miss.

17 And the men of Israel, beside Benjamin, were numbered four hundred thousand men that drew sword: all these were men of war.

18 ¶ And the children of Israel arose, and went up to the house of God, and asked counsel of God, and said, Which of us shall go up first to the battle against the children of Benjamin? And the LORD said, Judah shall go up first.

19 And the children of Israel rose up in the morning, and encamped against Gibeah.

20 And the men of Israel went out to battle against Benjamin; and the men of Israel put themselves in array to fight against them at Gibeah.

21 And the children of Benjamin came forth out of Gibeah, and destroyed down to the ground of the Israelites that day twenty and two thousand men.

22 ¶ And the people the men of Israel encouraged themselves, and set their battle again in array in the place where they put themselves in array the first day.

23 (And the children of Israel went up and wept before the LORD until even, and asked counsel of the LORD, saying, Shall I go up again to battle against the children of Benjamin my brother? And the LORD said, Go up against him.)

24 And the children of Israel came near against the children of Benjamin the second day.

25 And Benjamin went forth against them out of Gibeah the second day, and destroyed down to the ground of the children of Israel again eighteen thousand men: all these drew the sword.

26 ¶ Then all the children of Israel, and all the people, went up, and came unto the house of God, and wept, and sat there before the LORD, and fasted that day until even, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before the LORD.

27 And the children of Israel enquired of the LORD, (for the ark of the covenant of God was there in those days, 28 And Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron, stood before it in those days,) saying, Shall I yet again go out to battle against the children of Benjamin my brother, or shall I cease? And the LORD said, Go up; for to morrow I will deliver them into thine hand.

29 ¶ And Israel set liers in wait round about Gibeah.

30 And the children of Israel went up against the children of Benjamin on the third day, and put themselves in array against Gibeah, as at other times.

31 And the children of Benjamin went out against the people, and were drawn away from the city; and they began to smite of the people, and kill, as at other times, in the highways, of which one goeth up to the house of God, and the other to Gibeah in the field, about thirty men of Israel.

32 And the children of Benjamin said, They are smitten down before us, as at the first. But the children of Israel said, Let us flee, and draw them from the city unto the highways.

33 And all the men of Israel rose up out of their place, and put themselves in array at Baal-tamar: and the liers in wait of Israel came forth out of their places, even out of the meadows of Gibeah.

34 And there came against Gibeah ten thousand chosen men out of all Israel, and the battle was sore: but they knew not that evil was near them.

35 And the LORD smote Benjamin before Israel: and the children of Israel destroyed of the Benjamites that day twenty and five thousand and an hundred men: all these drew the sword.

36 So the children of Benjamin saw that they were smitten: for the men of Israel gave place to the Benjamites, because they trusted unto the liers in wait which they had set beside Gibeah.

37 And the liers in wait hastened, and rushed upon Gibeah; and the liers in wait drew themselves along, and smote all the city with the edge of the sword.

38 Now there was an appointed sign between the men of Israel and the liers in wait, that they should make a great flame with smoke rise up out of the city.

39 And when the men of Israel retired in the battle, Benjamin began to smite and kill of the men of Israel about thirty persons: for they said, Surely they are smitten down before us, as in the first battle.

40 But when the flame began to arise up out of the city with a pillar of smoke, the Benjamites looked behind them, and, behold, the flame of the city ascended up to heaven.

41 And when the men of Israel turned again, the men of Benjamin were amazed: for they saw that evil was come upon them.

42 Therefore they turned their backs before the men of Israel unto the way of the wilderness; but the battle overtook them; and them which came out of the cities they destroyed in the midst of them.

43 Thus

10 We will take ten men of an hundred, &c.] One man took care that nine of his brethren wanted nothing; and ten took care of ninety, &c. so that in the whole there were forty thousand out of the four hundred thousand who went out to forage for the army.

16 Every one could sling stones at an hair breadth, and not miss.] They were excellent marksmen; and their warlike disposition was foretold by Jacob, when he said, "Benjamin shall ravine as a wolf," which is an undaunted and ferocious creature.

18 Went up to the house of God, &c.] In Shiloh, which was not far from Mizpeh.

25 And destroyed down to the ground of the children of Israel again eighteen thousand men, &c.] The most probable reason that has been assigned for this second slaughter, is, because they did not previously apply to God, as they should have done.

26 And fasted that day until even, and offered burnt offerings, &c.] They now afflicted their souls for their sins, which they had not done before, at least not with such seriousness; neither had they made such supplications to God, as they now did by these offerings.

28 Or shall I cease? &c.] They now leave it (as they should have done at first) wholly to God's pleasure; declaring, they would desist, if he did not think good to accompany them with his blessing.

43 Thus they inclosed the Benjamites around about, and chased them, and trode them down with ease over against Gibeah toward the sunrising.

44 And there fell of Benjamin eighteen thousand men; all these were men of valour.

45 And they turned and fled toward the wilderness unto the rock of Rimmon: and they gleaned of them in the highways five thousand men; and pursued hard after them unto Gidom, and slew two thousand men of them.

46 So that all which fell that day of Benjamin were twenty and five thousand men that drew the sword; all these were men of valour.

47 But six hundred men turned and fled to the wilderness unto the rock Rimmon, and abode in the rock Rimmon four months.

48 And the men of Israel turned again upon the children of Benjamin, and smote them with the edge of the sword, as well the men of every city, as the beast, and all that came to hand: also they set on fire all the cities that they came to.

CHAP. XXI.

1 The people bewail the desolation of Benjamin, and seek to repair it. 8 By the destruction of Jabesh-gilead they provide wives for four hundred of those who had taken shelter in the rock. 16 The elders consult how to find wives for the remainder consistently with an oath that had been taken, and advise the Benjamites to carry off by surprise the virgins that danced at Shiloh.

NOW the men of Israel had sworn in Mizpeh, saying, There shall not any of us give his daughter unto Benjamin to wife.

And the people came to the house of God, and abode there till even before God; and lifted up their voices, and wept sore;

3 And said, O LORD God of Israel, why is this come to pass in Israel, that there should be to day one tribe lacking in Israel?

4 And it came to pass on the morrow, that the people rose early, and built there an altar, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings.

5 And the children of Israel said, Who is there among all the tribes of Israel that came not up with the congregation unto the LORD? For they had made a great oath concerning him that came not up to the LORD to Mizpeh, saying, He shall surely be put to death.

6 And the children of Israel repented them for Benjamin their brother, and said, There is one tribe cut off from Israel this day.

7 How shall we do for wives for them that remain, seeing we have sworn by the LORD that we will not give them of our daughters to wives?

¶ And they said, What one is there of the tribes of Israel that came not up to Mizpeh to the LORD? and, behold, there came none to the camp from Jabesh-gilead to the assembly.

44 There fell of Benjamin eighteen thousand men, &c.] In the wilderness, eastward of Gibeah.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XX.

This chapter holds out to us these remarks: that God does not display his strength, nor fulfil his promises, till men have sincerely humbled themselves before him; neither does he spare even his own church and people, when they provoke him to wrath against them.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXI.

¶ And lifted up their voices, and wept sore.] Their joy and triumph for the victory was soon turned into mourning and lamentation, for the loss of so many of their brethren; for instead of a feast, they seem to have kept a fast, as they did before the last battle.

10 Go and smite the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead, &c.] Jabesh-gilead was a city on the other side Jordan, in the tribe of Manasseh.

14 Yet so they sufficed them not.] For still two hundred wanted wives.

19 There is a feast of the Lord in Shiloh yearly, &c.] Supposed to be the feast of tabernacles, which was a time of exceeding great joy, because they had newly gathered their vintage.

9 For the people were numbered; and, behold, there were none of the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead there. Before CHRIST 1406.

10 And the congregation sent thither twelve thousand men of the valiantest, and commanded them, saying, Go and smite the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead with the edge of the sword, with the women and the children.

11 And this is the thing that ye shall do, Ye shall utterly destroy every male, and every woman that hath lain by man.

12 And they found among the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead four hundred young virgins, that had known no man by lying with any male: and they brought them unto the camp to Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan.

13 And the whole congregation sent some to speak to the children of Benjamin that were in the rock Rimmon, and to call peaceably unto them.

14 And Benjamin came again at that time; and they gave them wives which they had saved alive of the women of Jabesh-gilead: and yet so they sufficed them not.

15 And the people repented them for Benjamin, because that the LORD had made a breach in the tribes of Israel.

16 ¶ Then the elders of the congregation said, How shall we do for wives for them that remain, seeing the women are destroyed out of Benjamin?

17 And they said, There must be an inheritance for them that be escaped of Benjamin, that a tribe be not destroyed out of Israel:

18 Howbeit we may not give them wives of our daughters: for the children of Israel have sworn, saying, Cursed be he that giveth a wife to Benjamin.

19 Then they said, Behold, there is a feast of the LORD in Shiloh yearly in a place which is on the north side of Beth-el, on the east side of the highway that goeth up from Beth-el to Shechem, and on the south of Lebonah.

20 Therefore they commanded the children of Benjamin, saying, Go and lie in wait in the vineyards;

21 And see, and, behold, if the daughters of Shiloh come out to dance in dances, then come ye out of the vineyards, and catch you every man his wife of the daughters of Shiloh, and go to the land of Benjamin.

22 And it shall be, when their fathers or their brethren come unto us to complain, that we will say unto them, Be favourable unto them for our sakes: because we reserved not to each man his wife in the war: for ye did not give unto them at this time, that ye should be guilty.

23 And the children of Benjamin did so, and took them wives, according to their number, of them that danced, whom they caught: and they went and returned unto their inheritance, and repaired the cities, and dwelt in them.

24 And the children of Israel departed thence at that time, every man to his tribe and to his family, and they went out from thence every man to his inheritance.

25 In those days there was no king in Israel: every man did that which was right in his own eyes.

The

21 Then come ye out of the vineyards, and catch you every man his wife, &c.] This rape was ordered for the preservation of a rash and justifiable oath; but though the act was wrong, yet their intent was just and honest, and devoid of that brutal lust which is incident to common ravishers. Thus we find, the sacred author of this book, a faithful historian, did not omit to mention many of the grossest enormities, yet he has taken care to assign a reason for these unrighteous proceedings, when, in four different places of the book of Judges, he tells us, that in those days there was no king in Israel; and that for want of such a supreme authority, every tribe and every city, nay, which is more, every private man, committed many horrid things, which were not publicly allowed.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXI.

This history recommends to us, never to abandon ourselves to revenge, how just soever it may appear; nor to chastise the guilty with too great severity; and that we should contribute all in our power towards the re-establishment and consolation of the miserable, especially if they be our brethren; and that the glory of God, and the honour of religion, require those things at our hands.

COMMENTARY

The Book of R U T H.

THE ARGUMENT.

This book is an appendix to that of Judges, and most probably was written by the same author, who is generally allowed to be Samuel. It concludes with the genealogy of David, from Pharez the son of Judah, that it might evidently appear the Messiah sprung out of that tribe, according to the prediction of Jacob, Gen. xlix. 10. and (that all nations may have hope in his mercy) to make it appear that he descended from a Gentile woman.

CHAP. I.

1 Elimelech driven by famine into Moab dieth there, as do also his sons Mahlon and Chilion, who had married Moabitish wives. 6 Naomi the wife of Elimelech prepareth to return, but dissuadeth her daughters in law from going with her; of whom Orpah leaveth her, but Ruth with great constancy accompanieth her. 19 They two come to Beth-lehem, where the inhabitants flock round about with enquiries concerning them.

Before
1322.

NOW it came to pass in the days when the judges ruled, that there was a famine in the land. And a certain man of Beth-lehem-judah went to sojourn in the country of Moab, he, and his wife, and his two sons.

2 And the name of the man was Elimelech, and the name of his wife Naomi, and the name of his two sons Mahlon and Chilion, Ephrathites of Beth-lehem-judah. And they came into the country of Moab, and continued there.

3 And Elimelech Naomi's husband died; and she was left, and her two sons.

4 And they took them wives of the women of Moab; the name of the one was Orpah, and the name of the other Ruth: and they dwelled there about ten years.

5 And Mahlon and Chilion died also both of them; and the woman was left of her two sons and her husband.

1312. 6 ¶ Then she arose with her daughters in law, that she might return from the country of Moab: for she had heard in the country of Moab how that the LORD had visited his people in giving them bread.

7 Wherefore she went forth out of the place where she was, and her two daughters in law with her; and they went on the way to return unto the land of Judah.

8 And Naomi said unto her two daughters in law, Go, return each to her mother's house: the LORD deal kindly with you, as ye have dealt with the dead, and with me.

9 The LORD grant you that ye may find rest, each of you in the house of her husband. Then she kissed them; and they lifted up their voice, and wept.

10 And they said unto her, Surely we will return with thee unto thy people.

11 And Naomi said, Turn again, my daughters: why will ye go with me? are there yet any more sons in my womb, that they may be your husbands?

12 Turn again, my daughters, go your way; for I am too old to have an husband. If I should say, I have hope, if I should have an husband also to night, and should also bear sons;

13 Would ye tarry for them till they were grown? would ye stay for them from having husbands? nay, my daughters; for it grieveth me much for your sakes, that the hand of the LORD is gone out against me.

14 And they lifted up their voice, and wept again: and Orpah kissed her mother in law; but Ruth clave unto her.

15 And she said, Behold, thy sister in law is gone back unto her people, and unto her gods: return thou after thy sister in law.

16 And Ruth said, Intreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee: for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge: thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God:

17 Where thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried: the LORD do so to me, and more also, if ought but death part thee and me.

18 When she saw that she was stedfastly minded to go with her, then she left speaking unto her.

19 ¶ So they two went until they came to Beth-lehem. And it came to pass, when they were come to Beth-lehem, that all the city was moved about them, and they said, Is this Naomi?

20 And she said unto them, Call me not Naomi, call me Mara: for the Almighty hath dealt very bitterly with me.

21 I went out full, and the LORD hath brought me home again empty: why then call ye me Naomi, seeing the LORD hath testified against me, and the Almighty hath afflicted me?

22 So Naomi returned, and Ruth the Moabitess, her daughter in law, with her, which returned out of the country of Moab: and they came to Beth-lehem in the beginning of barley harvest.

CHAP. II.

1 Ruth goeth by chance to glean in the fields of Boaz. 4

Boaz taketh notice of her, and sheweth her great favour.

18 She returneth with what she had gotten to her mother in law, and telleth her what had happened.

AND Naomi had a kinsman of her husband's, a mighty man of wealth, of the family of Elimelech; and his name was Boaz.

2 And Ruth the Moabitess said unto Naomi, Let me now go to the field, and glean ears of corn after him in whose sight I shall find grace. And she said unto her, Go, my daughter.

3 And

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. I.

■ Go, return each to her mother's house, &c.] It seems it was usual in Moab, as well as in Israel, for widows to dwell with their parents.

11. Are there yet any more sons, &c.] The custom of a man's marrying his brother's widow when he left no issue, was so antient, that it was derived into other nations who were not sprung from Abraham, see Gen. xxxviii. 8.

16 Thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God.] This is a resolution to embrace the Jewish religion intirely, so as to be incorporated with the Israelites, as if she had been a native among them. 20 Call me not Naomi, call me Mara, &c.] She intimated that her old name was not suitable to her present condition, which required she should have a contrary one, Mara signifying bitter.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. I.

From this chapter we may discover, that the heathens, and islanders should one day be admitted into the divine covenant, as it happened since the manifestation of Jesus Christ our Lord, as foretold by the prophets.

RUTH, Chap. II. Ver. 8.

Go not to glean in another field, neither go from hence, but abide here by my maids.

3 And she went, and came, and gleaned in the field after the reapers: and her hap was to light on a part of the field belonging unto Boaz, who was of the kindred of Elimelech.

4 ¶ And, behold, Boaz came from Beth-lehem, and said unto the reapers, The LORD be with you. And they answered him, The LORD bless thee.

5 Then said Boaz unto his servant that was set over the reapers, Whose damsel is this?

6 And the servant that was set over the reapers answered and said, It is the Moabitish damsel that came back with Naomi out of the country of Moab:

7 And she said, I pray you, let me glean and gather after the reapers among the sheaves: so she came, and hath continued even from the morning until now, that she tarried a little in the house.

8 Then said Boaz unto Ruth, Hearest thou not, my daughter? Go not to glean in another field, neither go from hence, but abide here fast by my maidens:

9 Let thine eyes be on the field that they do reap, and go thou after them: have I not charged the young men that they shall not touch thee? and when thou art athirst, go unto the vessels, and drink of that which the young men have drawn.

10 Then she fell on her face, and bowed herself to the ground, and said unto him, Why have I found grace in thine eyes, that thou shouldest take knowledge of me, seeing I am a stranger?

11 And Boaz answered and said unto her, It hath fully been shewed me, all that thou hast done unto thy mother in law since the death of thine husband: and how thou hast left thy father and thy mother, and the land of thy nativity, and art come unto a people which thou knewest not heretofore.

12 The LORD recompense thy work, and a full reward be given thee of the LORD God of Israel, under whose wings thou art come to trust.

13 Then she said, Let me find favour in thy sight, my lord; for that thou hast comforted me, and for that thou hast spoken friendly unto thine handmaid, though I be not like unto one of thine handmaidens.

14 And Boaz said unto her, At mealtime come thou hither, and eat of the bread, and dip thy morsel in the vinegar. And she sat beside the reapers: and he reached her parched corn, and she did eat, and was sufficed, and left.

15 And when she was risen up to glean, Boaz commanded his young men, saying, Let her glean even among the sheaves, and reproach her not:

16 And let fall also some of the handfuls of purpose for her, and leave them, that she may glean them, and rebuke her not.

17 So she gleaned in the field until even, and beat out that she had gleaned: and it was about an ephah of barley.

18 ¶ And she took it up, and went into the city: and her mother in law saw what she had gleaned: and she brought forth, and gave to her that she had reserved after she was sufficed.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. II.

4 The Lord be with you, &c.] This is the first time that we meet with this religious salutation: it was afterwards familiar, and continued even to our Saviour's time, when the angel saluted the blessed virgin after this manner.

7 She tarried a little in the house.] The meaning is, she went and stood awhile in the tent which was pitched in the fields, for such ■ were weary to refresh themselves in.

10 That thou shouldest take knowledge of me, &c.] To take knowledge, in scripture-language, is to shew kindness.

12 Under whose wings thou art come to trust.] To seek for protection, and commit thyself unto his care and good providence.

17 An ephah of barley.] About ■ bushel of our measure.

21 All my harvest.] The present barley harvest, and the wheat harvest which followed it.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. II.

From this chapter we may remark, that the kindness which Boaz shewed unto Ruth, was the effect of the providence of God, who No. 23.

19 And her mother in law said unto her, Where hast thou gleaned to day? and where wroughtest thou? blessed be he that did take knowledge of thee. And she shewed her mother in law with whom she had wrought, and said, The man's name with whom I wrought to day is Boaz.

Before CHRIST 1312.

20 And Naomi said unto her daughter in law, Blessed be he of the LORD, who hath not left off his kindness to the living and to the dead. And Naomi said unto her, The man is near of kin unto us, one of our next kinsmen.

21 And Ruth the Moabitess said, He said unto me also, Thou shalt keep fast by my young men, until they have ended all my harvest.

22 And Naomi said unto Ruth her daughter in law, It is good, my daughter, that thou go out with his maidens, that they meet thee not in any other field.

23 So she kept fast by the maidens of Boaz to glean unto the end of barley harvest and of wheat harvest; and dwelt with her mother in law.

CHAP. III.

■ By Naomi's instruction, 6 Ruth layeth herself in the night at the feet of Boaz; who acknowledgeth the duty of a kinsman, but telleth her of one who had a prior claim. 14 He sendeth her home in the morning with six measures of barley.

THEN Naomi her mother in law said unto her, My daughter, shall I not seek rest for thee, that it may be well with thee?

2 And now is not Boaz of our kindred, with whose maidens thou wast? Behold, he winnoweth barley to night in the threshingfloor.

3 Wash thyself therefore, and anoint thee, and put thy raiment upon thee, and get thee down to the floor: but make not thyself known unto the man, until he shall have done eating and drinking.

4 And it shall be, when he lieth down, that thou shalt mark the place where he shall lie, and thou shalt go in, and uncover his feet, and lay thee down; and he will tell thee what thou shalt do.

5 And she said unto her, All that thou sayest unto me I will do.

6 ¶ And she went down unto the floor, and did according to all that her mother in law bade her.

7 And when Boaz had eaten and drunk, and his heart was merry, he went to lie down at the end of the heap of corn: and she came softly, and uncovered his feet, and laid her down.

8 And it came to pass at midnight, that the man was afraid, and turned himself: and, behold, ■ woman lay at his feet.

9 And he said, Who art thou? And she answered, I am Ruth thine handmaid: spread therefore thy skirt over thine handmaid: for thou art a near kinsman.

10 And he said, Blessed be thou of the LORD, my daughter: for thou hast shewed more kindness in the latter end than at the beginning, inasmuch as thou followedst not young men, whether poor or rich.

11 And will never fail to reward the duty paid by children to their pious parents and relations.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. III.

4 And thou shalt go in, &c.] This design of Naomi's seems, at first sight, not very modest; but ■ it had no other object than what was agreeable to the word of God, it prospered accordingly.

5 All that thou sayest unto me I will do.] She put great confidence in her mother's prudence and piety, and trusted God would give good success to her design.

7 Came softly, and uncovered his feet, and laid her down.] The intention of Ruth most certainly was, only that of giving Boaz ■ opportunity to consider what the law required of him.

9 Spread therefore thy skirt over thine handmaid, &c.] From hence, at this day, when two persons are married among the Jews, the man throws the skirt of his talith over his spouse, and covers her head with it.

10 As thou followedst not young men, &c.] This is an high commendation, that she did not seek ■ husband to satisfy any loose desires, but ■ preserve the memory of him who was dead,

Before
1312.

11 And now, my daughter, fear not; I will do to thee all that thou requirest: for all the city of my people doth know, that thou art a virtuous woman.

12 And now it is true that I am thy near kinsman: howbeit there is a kinsman nearer than I.

13 Tarry this night, and it shall be in the morning, that if he will perform unto thee the part of a kinsman, well; let him do the kinsman's part: but if he will not do the part of a kinsman to thee, then will I do the part of a kinsman to thee, as the LORD liveth: lie down until the morning.

14 ¶ And she lay at his feet until the morning: and she rose up before one could know another. And he said, Let it not be known that a woman came into the floor.

15 Also he said, Bring the vail that thou hast upon thee, and hold it. And when she held it, he measured six measures of barley, and laid it on her: and she went into the city.

16 And when she came to her mother in law, she said, Who art thou, my daughter? And she told her all that the man had done to her.

17 And she said, These six measures of barley gave he me; for he said to me, Go not empty unto thy mother in law.

18 Then said she, Sit still, my daughter, until thou know how the matter will fall: for the man will not be in rest, until he have finished the thing this day.

C H A P. IV.

¶ Boaz propoeth to the nearest of kin the redemption of Elimelech's land, and the marriage of Ruth. 6 The kinsman declineth both according to the manner in Israel. 9 Boaz buyeth the inheritance, and accepteth Ruth for his wife before the people. 13 Ruth beareth Obed the grandfather of David. 18 The generations of Pharez unto David.

THEN went Boaz up to the gate, and sat him down there: and, behold, the kinsman of whom Boaz spake came by; unto whom he said, Ho, such a one! turn aside, sit down here. And he turned aside, and sat down.

¶ And he took ten men of the elders of the city, and said, Sit ye down here. And they sat down.

3 And he said unto the kinsman, Naomi, that is come again out of the country of Moab, selleth a parcel of land, which was our brother Elimelech's:

4 And I thought to advertise thee, saying, Buy it before the inhabitants, and before the elders of my people. If thou wilt redeem it, redeem it: but if thou wilt not redeem it, then tell me, that I may know: for there is none to redeem it beside thee; and I am after thee. And he said, I will redeem it.

5 Then said Boaz, What day thou buyest the field of the hand of Naomi, thou must buy it also of Ruth 14 Before one could know another] Before it was light. Let it not be known, &c.] He would have her be careful both of her own fame and of his.

16 Who art thou, my daughter? &c.] It was so early in the morning, that Naomi could not well discern who it was.

18 The man will not be in rest, &c.] She knew him so well to be a man of his word, that he would immediately go about the business, according to his promise.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. III.

We may from the above chapter perceive the virtuous simplicity of those times; and that when God has any end to accomplish, he will in the mean time preserve the heart and hand of the instrument from evil.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. IV.

3 Selleth a parcel of land] He intimates that Naomi's poverty constrained her to sell her estate, which her husband left her.

Our brother Elimelech's.] He calls Elimelech their brother, because he was near of kin to them.

the Moabites, the wife of the dead, to raise up the name of the dead upon his inheritance.

6 ¶ And the kinsman said, I cannot redeem it for myself, lest I mar mine own inheritance: redeem thou my right to thyself; for I cannot redeem it.

7 Now this was the manner in former time in Israel concerning redeeming and concerning changing, for to confirm all things; a man plucked off his shoe, and gave it to his neighbour: and this was a testimony in Israel.

8 Therefore the kinsman said unto Boaz, Buy it for thee. So he drew off his shoe.

9 ¶ And Boaz said unto the elders, and unto all the people, Ye are witnesses this day, that I have bought all that was Elimelech's, and all that was Chilion's and Mahlon's, of the hand of Naomi.

10 Moreover Ruth the Moabites, the wife of Mahlon, have I purchased to be my wife, to raise up the name of the dead upon his inheritance, that the name of the dead be not cut off from among his brethren, and from the gate of his place: ye are witnesses this day.

11 And all the people that were in the gate, and the elders, said, We are witnesses. The LORD make the woman that is come into thine house like Rachel and like Leah, which two did build the house of Israel: and do thou worthily in Ephratah, and be famous in Bethlehem:

12 And let thy house be like the house of Pharez, whom Tamar bare unto Judah, of the seed which the LORD shall give thee of this young woman.

13 ¶ So Boaz took Ruth, and she was his wife: and when he went in unto her, the LORD gave her conception, and she bare a son.

14 And the women said unto Naomi, Blessed be the LORD, which hath not left thee this day without a kinsman, that his name may be famous in Israel.

15 And he shall be unto thee a restorer of thy life, and a nourisher of thine old age: for thy daughter in law, which loveth thee, which is better to thee than seven sons, hath born him.

16 And Naomi took the child, and laid it in her bosom, and became nurse unto it.

17 And the women her neighbours gave it a name, saying, There is a son born to Naomi; and they called his name Obed: he is the father of Jesse, the father of David.

18 ¶ Now these are the generations of Pharez: Pharez begat Hezron,

19 And Hezron begat Ram, and Ram begat Amminadab,

20 And Amminadab begat Nahshon, and Nahshon begat Salmon,

21 And Salmon begat Boaz, and Boaz begat Obed,

22 And Obed begat Jesse, and Jesse begat David.

The

5 To raise up the name of the dead upon his inheritance.] By the conduct of Boaz and Ruth, they stood intirely vindicated from any wantonness of desire; neither of them being swayed by any other motive than that of regard to virtue, piety, and the law of God.

8 He drew off his shoe.] And gave it to Boaz, in token that (by this rite) he parted with all his claim to him.

17 Called his name Obed, &c.] That is, one who should be very serviceable to her; for Obed signifies a servant, or one that is serviceable: Obed was the grandfather of David.

18 Now these are the generations of Pharez, &c.] He begins no higher, because every one knows that Pharez was the grandson of Jacob, and he the son of Isaac, &c.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. IV.

From this chapter it further appears, that this book was principally written for the sake of this genealogy; it being necessary to trace the family to its origin, as the Messiah was to spring from it; and accordingly it is traced, in the following verses, from Pharez to David, of whom Christ was both the root and offspring.

COMMENTARY

The First Book of SAMUEL,

OTHERWISE CALLED

The First Book of the KINGS.

THE ARGUMENT.

The two books of Samuel are public histories of the transactions under the two last judges, Samuel and Eli, and under the two first kings, Saul and David, comprizing the compass of one hundred years. The books of Samuel and Kings, being a continued history of the reigns of the kings of Israel and Judah, are therefore called the First, Second, Third, and Fourth books of Kings.

CHAP. I.

Elkanah a Levite hath two wives; he goeth yearly to worship at Shiloh. 4 He favoureth Hannah, and comforteth her, when insulted on account of her barrenness by Peninnah. 9 Hannah in grief prayeth for a child, and voweth to give him unto the LORD. 12 Eli mistaking at first rebuketh, but afterward blesteth her. 19 God remembereth Hannah; she beareth Samuel, and stayeth at home till he is weaned. 24 She presented him to the LORD according to her vow.

NOW there was a certain man of Ramathaim-zophim, of mount Ephraim, and his name was Elkanah, the son of Jeroham, the son of Elihu, the son of Tohu, the son of Zuph, an Ephraimite:

2 And he had two wives; the name of the one was Hannah, and the name of the other Peninnah: and Peninnah had children, but Hannah had no children.

3 And this man went up out of his city yearly to worship and to sacrifice unto the LORD of hosts in Shiloh. And the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, the priests of the LORD, were there.

4 ¶ And when the time was that Elkanah offered, he gave to Peninnah his wife, and to all her sons and her daughters, portions:

5 But unto Hannah he gave a worthy portion; for he loved Hannah: but the LORD had shut up her womb.

6 And her adversary also provoked her sore, for to make her fret, because the LORD had shut up her womb.

7 And as he did so year by year, when she went up to the house of the LORD, so she provoked her; therefore she wept, and did not eat.

8 Then said Elkanah her husband to her, Hannah, why weepest thou? and why eatest thou not? and why is thy heart grieved? am not I better to thee than ten sons?

9 ¶ So Hannah rose up after they had eaten in Shiloh, and after they had drunk. Now Eli the priest sat upon a seat by a post of the temple of the LORD.

10 And she was in bitterness of soul, and prayed unto the LORD, and wept sore. Before CHRIST 1171.

11 And she vowed a vow, and said, O LORD of hosts, if thou wilt indeed look on the affliction of thine handmaid, and remember me, and not forget thine handmaid, but wilt give unto thine handmaid a man child, then I will give him unto the LORD all the days of his life, and there shall no razor come upon his head.

12 ¶ And it came to pass, as she continued praying before the LORD, that Eli marked her mouth.

13 Now Hannah, she spake in her heart; only her lips moved, but her voice was not heard: therefore Eli thought she had been drunken.

14 And Eli said unto her, How long wilt thou be drunken? put away thy wine from thee.

15 And Hannah answered and said, No, my lord, I am a woman of a sorrowful spirit: I have drunk neither wine nor strong drink, but have poured out my soul before the LORD.

16 Count not thine handmaid for a daughter of Belial: for out of the abundance of my complaint and grief have I spoken hitherto.

17 Then Eli answered and said, Go in peace: and the God of Israel grant thee thy petition that thou hast asked of him.

18 And she said, Let thine handmaid find grace in thy sight. So the woman went her way, and did eat, and her countenance was no more sad.

19 ¶ And they rose up in the morning early, and worshipped before the LORD, and returned, and came to their house to Ramah: and Elkanah knew Hannah his wife; and the LORD remembered her.

20 Wherefore it came to pass, when the time was come about after Hannah had conceived, that she bare a son, and called his name Samuel, saying, Because I have asked him of the LORD.

21 And the man Elkanah, and all his house, went up to offer unto the LORD the yearly sacrifice, and his vow.

22 But Hannah went not up; for she said unto her husband, I will not go up until the child be weaned, and then

COMMENTARY AND NOTES on Chap. I.

4 He gave to Peninnah his wife, and to all her sons and her daughters, &c.] The males only were bound to appear before God at these festivals; but devout persons were wont to bring their wives with them, and their daughters as well as sons.

5 A worthy portion, &c.] A double portion.

10 She was in bitterness of soul, and prayed unto the Lord, &c.] Sterility was looked upon by the Jews, as one of the greatest misfortunes that could befall any woman; and the having a child was esteemed a great blessing, though it cost the life of the mother. See Gen. xxxv. 17.

11 There shall no razor come upon his head.] She vowed he should be a Nazarite.

17 Go in peace: and the God of Israel grant thee thy petition, &c.] Her sober and respectful answer, convinced Eli of his error, and moved him to dismiss her with his blessing, and a solemn prayer to God, that he would grant her request.

20 Samuel, &c.] "Asked of God." It is computed he was born in the time when the Philistines oppressed Israel for forty years together.

Before CHRIST 1171. then I will bring him, that he may appear before the LORD, and there abide for ever.

23 And Elkanah her husband said unto her, Do what seemeth thee good; tarry until thou have weaned him; only the LORD establish his word. So the woman abode, and gave her son suck until she weaned him.

24 ¶ And when she had weaned him, she took him up with her, with three bullocks, and one ephah of flour, and a bottle of wine, and brought him unto the house of the LORD in Shiloh: and the child was young.

25 And they slew a bullock, and brought the child to Eli.

1165. 26 And she said, Oh my LORD, as thy soul liveth, my lord, I am the woman that stood by thee here, praying unto the LORD.

27 For this child I prayed; and the LORD hath given me my petition which I asked of him:

28 Therefore also I have lent him to the LORD; as long as he liveth he shall be lent to the LORD. And he worshipped the LORD there.

■ Hannah's song in thankfulness to God. 12 The sin of Eli's sons. 18 Samuel's ministry. 20 Eli blesteth Elkanah and his wife, who beareth more children. 22 Eli reproveth his sons. 27 A prophecy against Eli's house.

AND Hannah prayed, and said, My heart rejoiceth in the LORD, mine horn is exalted in the LORD; my mouth is enlarged over mine enemies; because I rejoice in thy salvation.

2 There is none holy as the LORD: for there is none beside thee: neither is there any rock like our God.

3 Talk no more so exceeding proudly; let not arrogancy come out of your mouth: for the LORD is God of knowledge, and by him actions are weighed.

4 The bows of the mighty men are broken, and they that stumbled are girded with strength.

5 They that were full have hired out themselves for bread; and they that were hungry ceased: so that the barren hath born seven; and she that hath many children is waxed feeble.

6 The LORD killeth, and maketh alive: he bringeth down to the grave, and bringeth up.

7 The LORD maketh poor, and maketh rich: he bringeth low, and lifteth up.

8 He raiseth up the poor out of the dust, and lifteth up the beggar from the dunghill, to set them among princes, and to make them inherit the throne of glory: for the pillars of the earth are the LORD's, and he hath set the world upon them.

9 He will keep the feet of his saints, and the wicked shall be silent in darkness; for by strength shall no man prevail.

10 The adversaries of the LORD shall be broken to pieces; out of heaven shall he thunder upon them: the LORD shall judge the ends of the earth; and he shall give strength unto his king, and exhort the horn of his anointed.

11 And Elkanah went to Ramah to his house. And the child did minister unto the LORD before Eli the priest.

12 ¶ Now the sons of Eli were sons of Belial; they knew not the LORD.

28 I have lent him to the Lord, &c.] Or, Restored him to the Lord, from whose gift she received him.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. I.

By this example we may see the reward of faith and prayer; also the behaviour and conduct of those fathers and mothers that fear God; and that their chief concern is to devote the children to the Lord, and to his service.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. II.

1 Hannah prayed] The word "prayer," is often used for Thanksgiving.

My mouth is enlarged over mine enemies, &c.] She was now furnished with a full answer to Peninnah, who had upbraided her with sterility.

13 And the priest's custom with the people was, that, when any man offered sacrifice, the priest's servant came, while the flesh was in seething, with a fleshhook of three teeth in his hand;

14 And he struck it into the pan, or kettle, or caldron, or pot; all that the fleshhook brought up the priest took for himself. So they did in Shiloh unto all the Israelites that came thither.

15 Also before they burnt the fat, the priest's servant came, and said to the man that sacrificed, Give flesh to roast for the priest; for he will not have sodden flesh of thee, but raw.

16 And if any man said unto him, Let them not fail to burn the fat presently, and then take as much as thy soul desireth; then he would answer him, Nay; but thou shalt give it me now: and if not, I will take it by force.

17 Wherefore the sin of the young men was very great before the LORD: for men abhorred the offering of the LORD.

18 ¶ But Samuel ministered before the LORD, being a child, girded with a linen ephod.

19 Moreover his mother made him a little coat, and brought it to him from year to year, when she came up with her husband to offer the yearly sacrifice.

20 ¶ And Eli blessed Elkanah and his wife, and said, The LORD give thee seed of this woman for the loan which is lent to the LORD. And they went unto their own home.

21 And the LORD visited Hannah, so that she conceived, and bare three sons and two daughters. And the child Samuel grew before the LORD.

22 ¶ Now Eli was very old, and heard all that his sons did unto all Israel; and how they lay with the women that assembled at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

23 And he said unto them, Why do ye such things? for I hear of your evil dealings by all this people.

24 Nay, my sons; for it is no good report that I hear: ye make the LORD's people to transgress.

25 If one man sin against another, the judge shall judge him: but if a man sin against the LORD, who shall intreat for him? Notwithstanding they hearkened not unto the voice of their father, because the LORD would slay them.

26 And the child Samuel grew on, and was in favour both with the LORD, and also with men.

27 ¶ And there came a man of God unto Eli, and said unto him, Thus saith the LORD, Did I plainly appear unto the house of thy father, when they were in Egypt in Pharaoh's house?

28 And did I choose him out of all the tribes of Israel to be my priest, to offer upon mine altar, to burn incense, to wear an ephod before me? and did I give unto the house of thy father all the offerings made by fire of the children of Israel?

29 Wherefore kick ye at my sacrifice and at mine offering, which I have commanded in my habitation; and honourest thy sons above me, to make yourselves fat with the chiefest of all the offerings of Israel my people?

30 Wherefore the LORD God of Israel saith, I said indeed that thy house, and the house of thy father, should walk before me for ever: but now the LORD saith, Be it far from me; for them that honour me I will 12 They knew not the Lord.] They minded not the divine service, nor took any care to honour God.

15 Before they burnt the fat, &c.] The fat entirely belonged to God.

17 Men abhorred the offering of the Lord.] Nothing brings religion so much into the contempt of the people, as the immorality and profaneness of the ministers of it.

will honour, and they that despise me shall be lightly esteemed.

31 Behold, the days come, that I will cut off thine arm, and the arm of thy father's house, that there shall not be an old man in thine house.

32 And thou shalt see an enemy in my habitation, in all the wealth which God shall give Israel: and there shall not be an old man in thine house for ever.

33 And the man of thine, whom I shall not cut off from mine altar, shall be to consume thine eyes, and to grieve thine heart: and all the increase of thine house shall die in the flower of their age.

34 And this shall be a sign unto thee, that shall come upon thy two sons, on Hophni and Phinehas; in one day they shall die both of them.

35 And I will raise me up a faithful priest, that shall do according to that which is in mine heart and in my mind: and I will build him a sure house; and he shall walk before mine Anointed for ever.

36 And it shall come to pass, that every one that is left in thine house shall come and crouch to him for a piece of silver and a morsel of bread, and shall say, Put me, I pray thee, into one of the priest's offices, that I may eat a piece of bread.

CHAP. III.

1 The manner in which the word of the Lord was first revealed to Samuel. 11 God sheweth to Samuel the destruction of Eli's house. 15 Samuel adjured by Eli telleth him the vision. 19 Samuel is favoured by God, and acknowledged for a prophet in Israel.

AND the child Samuel ministered unto the LORD before Eli. And the word of the LORD was precious in those days; there was no open vision.

And it came to pass at that time, when Eli was laid down in his place, and his eyes began to wax dim, that he could not see;

3 And ere the lamp of God went out in the temple of the LORD, where the ark of God was, and Samuel was laid down to sleep;

4 That the LORD called Samuel: and he answered, Here am I.

5 And he ran unto Eli, and said, Here am I; for thou calledst me. And he said, I called not; lie down again. And he went and lay down.

6 And the LORD called yet again, Samuel. And Samuel arose and went to Eli, and said, Here am I; for thou didst call me. And he answered, I called not, my son; lie down again.

7 Now Samuel did not yet know the LORD, neither was the word of the LORD yet revealed unto him.

8 And the LORD called Samuel again the third time. And he arose and went to Eli, and said, Here am I; for thou didst call me. And Eli perceived that the LORD had called the child.

9 Therefore Eli said unto Samuel, Go, lie down: and it shall be, if he call thee, that thou shalt say, Speak, LORD; for thy servant heareth. So Samuel went and lay down in his place.

reign of Solomon, who deposed Abiathar, the last of Eli's line, from the priesthood, and set up Zadok in his stead.

32 Thou shalt see an enemy in my habitation, &c.] He saw the tabernacle deprived of the ark which was the glory of it; and lived to hear the ark was taken by the Philistines.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. II.

This chapter affords us an awful lesson, namely, that an improper indulgence of parents to their children is a very great sin; that God punishes such parents by the children themselves; that it often causes the destruction of families, and draws upon them the curse of God.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. III.

1 The word of the Lord was precious, &c.] In those days God very rarely revealed his will to any man.

7 Samuel did not yet know the Lord, &c.] Did not know how God was wont to teach and instruct men in his will.

12 When I begin I will also make an end.] Meaning that he would persevere in his punishments, and not desist after he began, till all his threatenings were fulfilled.

10 And the LORD came, and stood, and called as at other times, Samuel, Samuel. Then Samuel answered, Speak; for thy servant heareth. Before CHRIST 1165.

11 ¶ And the LORD said to Samuel, Behold, I will do a thing in Israel, at which both the ears of every one that heareth it shall tingle.

12 In that day I will perform against Eli all things which I have spoken concerning his house: when I begin, I will also make an end.

13 For I have told him that I will judge his house for ever for the iniquity which he knoweth; because his sons made themselves vile, and he restrained them not.

14 And therefore I have sworn unto the house of Eli, that the iniquity of Eli's house shall not be purged with sacrifice nor offering for ever.

15 ¶ And Samuel lay until the morning, and opened the doors of the house of the LORD. And Samuel feared to shew Eli the vision.

16 Then Eli called Samuel, and said, Samuel, my son. And he answered, Here am I.

17 And he said, What is the thing that the LORD hath said unto thee? I pray thee hide it not from me: God do so to thee, and more also, if thou hide any thing from me of all the things that he said unto thee.

18 And Samuel told him every whit, and hid nothing from him. And he said, It is the LORD: let him do what seemeth him good.

19 ¶ And Samuel grew, and the LORD was with him, and did let none of his words fall to the ground.

20 And all Israel from Dan even to Beer-sheba knew that Samuel was established to be a prophet of the LORD.

21 And the LORD appeared again in Shiloh: for the LORD revealed himself to Samuel in Shiloh by the word of the LORD. 1141.

CHAP. IV.

1 The Israelites are smitten by the Philistines at Eben-ezer.

3 They fetch the ark to the terror of their enemies; 10 but are smitten again, the ark taken, and the two sons of Eli slain. 12 Upon hearing the news Eli falleth backward, and breaketh his neck. 19 The wife of Phinehas through grief falleth in labour, is delivered of I-chabod, and dieth.

AND the word of Samuel came to all Israel. Now Israel went out against the Philistines to battle, and pitched beside Eben-ezer: and the Philistines pitched in Aphek.

2 And the Philistines put themselves in array against Israel: and when they joined battle, Israel was smitten before the Philistines: and they slew of the army in the field about four thousand men.

3 ¶ And when the people were come into the camp, the elders of Israel said, Wherefore hath the LORD smitten us to day before the Philistines? Let us fetch the ark of the covenant of the LORD out of Shiloh unto us, that, when it cometh among us, it may save us out of the hand of our enemies.

4 So

18 Samuel told him every whit—It is the Lord, &c.] This sentence being denounced by a child, had a greater effect on Eli, than the message of the prophet: he humbly acknowledged the justice of God, and submitted to his sentence with a truly penitent heart.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. III.

From this chapter we learn that God manifests himself to those that fear him; particularly such who devote themselves to him in their tender age, and hearken to his voice. The answer of Eli teaches us to submit in all things to the will of God with perfect resignation, and humbly to adore the righteousness of his judgments.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. IV.

1 The word of Samuel came to all Israel, &c.] Samuel set up colleges of the prophets, who in time were settled in divers parts of the country, for the better preserving and spreading the knowledge of God among the people.

3 Let us fetch the ark of the covenant, &c.] This expedient and the foregoing expression were equally ridiculous, to confide in God's help when they lived in open disobedience to him.

Before
2141.

4 So the people sent to Shiloh, that they might bring from thence the ark of the covenant of the LORD of hosts, which dwelleth between the cherubims: and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were there with the ark of the covenant of God.

5 And when the ark of the covenant of the LORD came into the camp, all Israel shouted with a great shout, so that the earth rang again.

6 And when the Philistines heard the noise of the shout, they said, What meaneth the noise of this great shout in the camp of the Hebrews? And they understood that the ark of the LORD was come into the camp.

7 And the Philistines were afraid, for they said, God is come into the camp. And they said, Woe unto us! for there hath not been such a thing heretofore.

8 Woe unto us! who shall deliver us out of the hand of these mighty Gods? these are the Gods that smote the Egyptians with all the plagues in the wilderness.

9 Be strong, and quit yourselves like men, O ye Philistines, that ye be not servants unto the Hebrews, as they have been to you: quit yourselves like men, and fight.

10 ¶ And the Philistines fought, and Israel was smitten, and they fled every man into his tent: and there was a very great slaughter; for there fell of Israel thirty thousand footmen.

11 And the ark of God was taken; and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were slain.

12 ¶ And there ran a man of Benjamin out of the army, and came to Shiloh the same day with his clothes rent, and with earth upon his head.

13 And when he came, lo, Eli sat upon a seat by the wayside watching: for his heart trembled for the ark of God. And when the man came into the city, and told it, all the city cried out.

14 And when Eli heard the noise of the crying, he said, What meaneth the noise of this tumult? And the man came in hastily, and told Eli.

15 Now Eli was ninety and eight years old; and his eyes were dim, that he could not see.

16 And the man said unto Eli, I am he that came out of the army, and I fled to day out of the army. And he said, What is there done, my son?

17 And the messenger answered and said, Israel is fled before the Philistines, and there hath been also a great slaughter among the people, and thy two sons also, Hophni and Phinehas, are dead, and the ark of God is taken.

18 And it came to pass, when he made mention of the ark of God, that he fell from off the seat backward by the side of the gate, and his neck brake, and he died: for he was an old man, and heavy. And he had judged Israel forty years.

19 ¶ And his daughter in law, Phinehas' wife, was with child, near to be delivered: and when she heard the tidings that the ark of God was taken, and that her father in law and her husband were dead, she bowed herself and travailed; for her pains came upon her.

20 And about the time of her death the women that stood by her said unto her, Fear not; for thou hast born a son. But she answered not, neither did she regard it.

4 They sent to Shiloh that they might bring from thence the ark, &c.] This being done without any warrant from God, provoked him rather than procured his presence among them.

7 God is come into the camp, &c.] The symbol of God's presence, which, perhaps, they imagined the Israelites worshipped as their God.

15 His eyes were dim that he could not see.] He was not able to discern the sadness which was in the countenances of the people, but only heard their shrieks and lamentations.

18 When he made mention of the ark of God, that he fell from off, &c.] He was not so much affected with the loss of his sons, and the slaughter of the people, as with the loss of the ark of God; for he kept up his courage, and did not fall till he heard that misfortune.

21 She named the child I-chabod, &c.] "I-chabod" is No glory, or Without glory.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. IV.

This chapter teaches us that the threats of the Lord never failed to be executed upon a guilty and impenitent people; and by the taking of the ark and the defeat of the Israelites by the Philistines, we 21 And she named the child I-chabod, saying, The glory is departed from Israel: because the ark of God was taken, and because of her father in law and her husband.

22 And she said, The glory is departed from Israel: for the ark of God is taken.

C H A P. V.

1 The Philistines bring the ark into the house of Dagon at Ashdod. 3 Dagon is cast down and broken in pieces before the ark. 6 The men of Ashdod are smitten with emerods. ¶ The ark being carried to Gath, the men of Gath are smitten with the like plague; 10 as also the men of Ekron, when the ark is brought thither.

AND the Philistines took the ark of God, and brought it from Eben-ezer unto Ashdod.

2 When the Philistines took the ark of God, they brought it into the house of Dagon, and set it by Dagon.

3 ¶ And when they of Ashdod arose early on the morrow, behold, Dagon was fallen upon his face to the earth before the ark of the LORD. And they took Dagon, and set him in his place again.

4 And when they arose early on the morrow morning, behold, Dagon was fallen upon his face to the ground before the ark of the LORD; and the head of Dagon and both the palms of his hands were cut off upon the threshold; only the stump of Dagon was left to him.

5 Therefore neither the priests of Dagon, nor any that come into Dagon's house, tread on the threshold of Dagon in Ashdod unto this day.

6 ¶ But the hand of the LORD was heavy upon them of Ashdod, and he destroyed them, and smote them with emerods, even Ashdod and the coasts thereof.

7 And when the men of Ashdod saw that it was so, they said, The ark of the God of Israel shall not abide with us: for his hand is sore upon us, and upon Dagon our god.

8 ¶ They sent therefore and gathered all the lords of the Philistines unto them, and said, What shall we do with the ark of the God of Israel? And they answered, Let the ark of the God of Israel be carried about unto Gath. And they carried the ark of the God of Israel about thither.

9 And it was so, that after they had carried it about, the hand of the LORD was against the city with a very great destruction: and he smote the men of the city, both small and great, and they had emerods in their secret parts.

10 ¶ Therefore they sent the ark of God to Ekron. And it came to pass, as the ark of God came to Ekron, that the Ekronites cried out, saying, They have brought about the ark of the God of Israel to us, to slay us and our people.

11 So they sent and gathered together all the lords of the Philistines, and said, Send away the ark of the God of Israel, and let it go again to his own place, that it slay us not, and our people: for there was a deadly destruction throughout all the city: the hand of God was very heavy there.

may learn, that neither the covenant of God, nor the marks and seals of that covenant, will secure from divine vengeance those who provoke him by their sins.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. V.

3 Dagon was fallen upon his face to the earth, &c.] In a posture of the most humble adoration (which was prostration) acknowledging the God of Israel to be above all gods.

6 Even Ashdod and the coasts thereof.] The people in general were smitten with this plague.

7 When the men of Ashdod saw that it was so, &c.] Now their eyes were opened to see; that though they had vanquished the Israelites, they could not stand before the God of Israel.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. V.

We may from this chapter remark that God takes care of his glory and though he sometimes suffers his enemies to get the better, in events to fall out apparently contrary to his purpose, he soon or later exerts his power and vengeance, to the confusion of those who violate it, and to the honour of his most holy name.

COMMENTAR

12 And the men that died not were smitten with the emerods: and the cry of the city went up to heaven.

CHAP. VI.

1 After seven months the Philistines take counsel how to send back the ark. 10 They bring it on a new cart with an offering unto Beth-shemesh. 19 The Beth-shemites are smitten for looking into the ark. 21 They send to the inhabitants of Kirjath-jearim to fetch it.

AND the ark of the LORD was in the country of the Philistines seven months.

2 And the Philistines called for the priests and the diviners, saying, What shall we do to the ark of the LORD? tell us wherewith we shall send it to his place.

3 And they said, If ye send away the ark of the God of Israel, send it not empty; but in any wise return him a trespass offering: then ye shall be healed, and it shall be known to you why his hand is not removed from you.

4 Then said they, What shall be the trespass offering which we shall return to him? They answered, Five golden emerods, and five golden mice, according to the number of the lords of the Philistines: for one plague was on you all, and on your lords.

5 Wherefore ye shall make images of your emerods, and images of your mice that mar the land; and ye shall give glory unto the God of Israel: peradventure he will lighten his hand from off you, and from off your gods, and from off your land.

6 Wherefore then do ye harden your hearts, as the Egyptians and Pharaoh hardened their hearts? when he had wrought wonderfully among them, did they not let the people go, and they departed?

7 Now therefore make a new cart, and take two milch kine, on which there hath come no yoke, and tie the kine to the cart, and bring their calves home from them:

8 And take the ark of the LORD, and lay it upon the cart; and put the jewels of gold, which ye return him for a trespass offering, in a coffer by the side thereof; and send it away, that it may go.

9 And see, if it goeth up by the way of his own coast to Beth-shemesh, then he hath done us this great evil: but if not, then we shall know that it is not his hand that smote us; it was a chance that happened to us.

10 ¶ And the men did so; and took two milch kine, and tied them to the cart, and shut up their calves at home:

11 And they laid the ark of the LORD upon the cart, and the coffer with the mice of gold and the images of their emerods.

12 And the kine took the straight way to the way of Beth-shemesh, and went along the highway, lowing as they went, and turned not aside to the right hand or to the left; and the lords of the Philistines went after them unto the border of Beth-shemesh.

13 And they of Beth-shemesh were reaping their wheat harvest in the valley: and they lifted up their eyes, and saw the ark, and rejoiced to see it.

14 And the cart came into the field of Joshua, a

Beth-shemite, and stood there, where there was a great stone: and they clave the wood of the cart, and offered the kine a burnt offering unto the LORD. Before CHRIST 1146.

15 And the Levites took down the ark of the LORD, and the coffer that was with it, wherein the jewels of gold were, and put them on the great stone: and the men of Beth-shemesh offered burnt offerings and sacrificed sacrifices the same day unto the LORD.

16 And when the five lords of the Philistines had seen it, they returned to Ekron the same day.

17 And these are the golden emerods which the Philistines returned for a trespass offering unto the LORD; for Ashdod one, for Gaza one, for Ashkelon one, for Gath one, for Ekron one;

18 And the golden mice, according to the number of all the cities of the Philistines belonging to the five lords, both of fenced cities, and of country villages, even unto the great stone of Abel, whereon they set down the ark of the LORD: which stone remaineth unto this day in the field of Joshua, the Beth-shemite.

19 ¶ And he smote the men of Beth-shemesh, because they had looked into the ark of the LORD, even he smote of the people fifty thousand and threescore and ten men: and the people lamented, because the LORD had smitten many of the people with a great slaughter.

20 And the men of Beth-shemesh, said, Who is able to stand before this holy LORD God? and to whom shall he go up from us?

21 ¶ And they sent messengers to the inhabitants of Kirjath-jearim, saying, The Philistines have brought again the ark of the LORD; come ye down, and fetch it up to you.

CHAP. VII.

1 The ark is brought into the house of Abinadab at Kirjath-jearim, where it is kept by one of his sons, and abideth twenty years. 3 At the exhortation of Samuel the Israelites solemnly repent at Mizpeh. 7 The people are alarmed with an irruption of the Philistines. 9 While Samuel prayeth and sacrificeth, the Lord discomfitteth the Philistines with thunder at Eben-ezer. 13 The Philistines are subdued. 15 Samuel peaceably and religiously judgeth Israel.

AND the men of Kirjath-jearim came, and fetched up the ark of the LORD, and brought it into the house of Abinadab in the hill, and sanctified Eleazar his son to keep the ark of the LORD.

2 And it came to pass, while the ark abode in Kirjath-jearim, that the time was long; for it was twenty years: and all the house of Israel lamented after the LORD. 1120.

3 ¶ And Samuel spake unto all the house of Israel, saying, If ye do return unto the LORD with all your hearts, then put away the strange gods and Ashtaroth from among you, and prepare your hearts unto the LORD, and serve him only: and he will deliver you out of the hand of the Philistines.

4 Then the children of Israel did put away Baalim and Ashtaroth, and served the LORD only.

5 And Samuel said, Gather all Israel to Mizpeh, and I will pray for you unto the LORD.

6 And

that were guilty, but only seventy of them; observing this proportion, that he smote only a twentieth part.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ■ Chap. VI.

This chapter shews, that the triumph of the Philistines was of very short duration: since God forced them soon to bring back his ark with an offering; which shews the dread they had of the God of Israel, and was a solemn acknowledgment of his power, and a monument of the plagues with which God had smitten them: thus God always maintains the interest of his glory, and obliges his enemies to do homage to his power.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VII.

■ It was twenty years: and all the house of Israel, &c. It may be rendered, It was twenty years, then all the house of Israel lamented, &c. the meaning of which is, that it was twenty years before the house of Israel lamented, &c.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VI.

2 And the diviners, &c. They were a kind of prophets, pretending to know the will of God, and to foretel future events.

4 Five golden emerods, and five golden mice, &c. The Philistines, in hopes shortly to be delivered from the emerods and mice wherewith they were sorely afflicted, sent the images of them unto that God from whom they expected deliverance.

7 Make a new cart, &c. They would employ nothing about the ark that had served for any other use.

14 And stood there, &c. This was another miracle added to that of the kine going directly towards Beth-shemesh, lowing all the way after their calves; namely, that they should stand still as soon as they were come into a territory of a city of the priests, whose duty it was to take care of the ark of God.

19 Fifty thousand and threescore and ten men, &c. Some interpret this place thus. He smote threescore and ten men, fifty out of a thousand men; that is, say they, God was so indulgent as not to slay all

6 And they gathered together to Mizpeh, and drew water, and poured it out before the LORD, and fasted on that day, and said there, We have sinned against the LORD. And Samuel judged the children of Israel in Mizpeh.

7 ¶ And when the Philistines heard that the children of Israel were gathered together to Mizpeh, the lords of the Philistines went up against Israel. And when the children of Israel heard it, they were afraid of the Philistines.

8 And the children of Israel said to Samuel, Cease not to cry unto the LORD our God for us, that he will save us out of the hand of the Philistines.

9 ¶ And Samuel took a sucking lamb, and offered it for a burnt offering wholly unto the LORD: and Samuel cried unto the LORD for Israel; and the LORD heard him.

10 And as Samuel was offering up the burnt offering, the Philistines drew near to battle against Israel: but the LORD thundered with a great thunder on that day upon the Philistines, and discomfited them; and they were smitten before Israel.

11 And the men of Israel went out of Mizpeh, and pursued the Philistines, and smote them, until they came under Beth-car.

12 Then Samuel took a stone, and set it between Mizpeh and Shen, and called the name of it Eben-ezer, saying, Hitherto hath the LORD helped us.

13 ¶ So the Philistines were subdued, and they came no more into the coast of Israel: and the hand of the LORD was against the Philistines all the days of Samuel.

14 And the cities which the Philistines had taken from Israel were restored to Israel, from Ekron even unto Gath; and the coasts thereof did Israel deliver out of the hands of the Philistines. And there was peace between Israel and the Amorites.

15 ¶ And Samuel judged Israel all the days of his life.

16 And he went from year to year in circuit to Beth-el, and Gilgal, and Mizpeh, and judged Israel in all those places.

17 And his return was to Ramah; for there was his house; and there he judged Israel; and there he built an altar unto the LORD.

CHAP. VIII.

I By occasion of the ill government of Samuel's sons the Israelites desire a king. 6 Samuel is displeased, and prayeth; he is comforted by God, but withal admonished to hearken unto the people's request. 10 He setteth before them by God's command the manner in which they must expect a king to rule over them. 19 The people still continue their importunity, and God directeth Samuel to yield to them.

112. AND it came to pass, when Samuel was old, that he made his sons judges over Israel.

2 Now the name of his firstborn was Joel: and the name of his second, Abiah: they were judges in Beer-sheba.

6 And drew water, and poured it out before the Lord, &c.] The most probable opinion is, that this water was, upon this occasion, poured out by way of libation before God.

9 And offered it for a burnt offering, &c.] Though he was not a priest, nor this place appointed for sacrifice, yet, as a prophet, he had authority from God to build an altar any-where, and to make his supplication in this manner; and we know that his offering was accepted, because it is said in this verse, that "the Lord heard him."

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. VII.

We learn from this chapter, that the prayers of good men are of great efficacy; and that the care Samuel took to administer justice to the people yearly, should induce magistrates to discharge the duties of their office with application and integrity.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VIII.

1 He made his sons judges, &c.] When he could not well sustain all the labour himself, he took his sons to assist him.

7 Hearken unto the voice of the people in all that they say unto thee,

3 And his sons walked not in his ways, but turned aside after lucre, and took bribes, and perverted judgment.

4 Then all the elders of Israel gathered themselves together, and came to Samuel unto Ramah,

5 And said unto him, Behold, thou art old, and thy sons walk not in thy ways: now make us a king to judge us like all the nations.

6 ¶ But the thing displeased Samuel, when they said, Give us a king to judge us. And Samuel prayed unto the LORD.

7 And the LORD said unto Samuel, Hearken unto the voice of the people in all that they say unto thee: for they have not rejected thee, but they have rejected me, that I should not reign over them.

8 According to all the works which they have done since the day that I brought them up out of Egypt even unto this day, wherewith they have forsaken me, and served other gods, so do they also unto thee.

9 Now therefore hearken unto their voice: howbeit yet protest solemnly unto them, and shew them the manner of the king that shall reign over them.

10 ¶ And Samuel told all the words of the LORD unto the people that asked of him a king.

11 And he said, This will be the manner of the king that shall reign over you: He will take your sons, and appoint them for himself, for his chariots, and to be his horsemen; and some shall run before his chariots.

12 And he will appoint him captains over thousands, and captains over fifties; and will set them to ear his ground, and to reap his harvest, and to make his instruments of war, and instruments of his chariots.

13 And he will take your daughters to be concubines, and to be cooks, and to be bakers.

14 And he will take your fields, and your vineyards, and your oliveyards, even the best of them, and give them to his servants.

15 And he will take the tenth of your feed, and of your vineyards, and give to his officers, and to his servants.

16 And he will take your menservants, and your maidservants, and your goodliest young men, and your asses, and put them to his work.

17 He will take the tenth of your sheep: and ye shall be his servants.

18 And ye shall cry out in that day because of your king which ye shall have chosen you; and the LORD will not hear you in that day.

19 ¶ Nevertheless the people refused to obey the voice of Samuel; and they said, Nay; but we will have a king over us;

20 That we also may be like all the nations; and that our king may judge us, and go out before us, and fight our battles.

21 And Samuel heard all the words of the people, and he rehearsed them in the ears of the LORD.

22 And the LORD said to Samuel, Hearken unto their voice, and make them a king. And Samuel said unto the men of Israel, Go ye every man unto his city.

CHAP.

&c.] These are the words of an angry sovereign, being as much as to say, Let them have their will.

12 He will appoint him captains, &c.] Some he will appoint to military employments; some to agriculture and husbandry; and others he will make artificers.

14 And give them to his servants.] Bestow them as such of his courtiers as he shall think proper.

19 Nay; but we will have a king over us.] Samuel's description of the government of the eastern kings did not deter them from persisting in their desires; they peremptorily demanded a king, though Samuel told them that this demand was a rejection of the government of God.

22 Go ye every man unto his city.] He bade them leave the business unto him, and God, he doubted not, would set a king over them.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. VIII.

We may learn from this chapter, that God always makes known to men his will, and their duty; and forewarns them of the misfortunes that threaten them, and which they draw upon themselves, after having refused to follow his counsel.

COMMENTARY

C H A P. IX.

1 Saul the son of Kish is sent to seek his father's asses which were lost, and despairing to find them is counselled by his servant to apply to Samuel. 11 He is directed by some young maidens where to meet with him. 15 Samuel, having been told by God both of his coming, and of his appointment to the kingdom, entertaineth him at a feast with great respect; 25 and on the morrow, after a private conversation, bringeth him on his way.

NOW there was a man of Benjamin, whose name was Kish, the son of Abiel, the son of Zeror, the son of Bechorath, the son of Aphiah, a Benjamite, a mighty man of power.

And he had a son, whose name was Saul, a choice young man, and a goodly: and there was not among the children of Israel a goodlier person than he: from his shoulders and upward he was higher than any of the people.

3 And the asses of Kish Saul's father were lost. And Kish said to Saul his son, Take now one of the servants with thee, and arise, go seek the asses.

4 And he passed through mount Ephraim, and passed through the land of Shalisha, but they found them not: then they passed through the land of Shalim, and there they were not: and he passed through the land of the Benjamites, but they found them not.

5 And when they were come to the land of Zuph, Saul said to his servant that was with him, Come, and let us return; lest my father leave caring for the asses, and take thought for us.

6 And he said unto him, Behold now, there is in this city a man of God, and he is an honourable man; all that he saith cometh surely to pass: now let us go thither; peradventure he can shew us our way that we should go.

7 Then said Saul to his servant, But, behold, if we go, what shall we bring the man? for the bread is spent in our vessels, and there is not a present to bring to the man of God: what have we?

8 And the servant answered Saul again, and said, Behold, I have here at hand the fourth part of a shekel of silver: that will I give to the man of God, to tell us our way.

9 (Beforetime in Israel, when a man went to enquire of God, thus he spake, Come, and let us go to the seer: for he that is now called a Prophet was beforetime called a Seer.)

10 Then said Saul to his servant, Well said; come, let us go. So they went unto the city where the man of God was.

11 ¶ And as they went up the hill to the city, they found young maidens going out to draw water, and said unto them, Is the seer here?

12 And they answered them, and said, He is; behold, he is before you: make haste now, for he came to day to the city; for there is a sacrifice of the people to day in the high place:

13 As soon as ye be come into the city, ye shall straightway find him, before he go up to the high place to eat: for the people will not eat until he come, because he doth bless the sacrifice; and afterwards they eat that he bidden. Now therefore get you up; for about this time ye shall find him.

14 And they went up into the city: and when they were come into the city, behold, Samuel came out against them, for to go up to the high place. Before CHRIST 1095.

15 ¶ Now the LORD had told Samuel in his ear a day before Saul came, saying,

16 To morrow about this time I will send thee a man out of the land of Benjamin, and thou shalt anoint him to be captain over my people Israel, that he may save my people out of the hand of the Philistines: for I have looked upon my people, because their cry is come unto me.

17 And when Samuel saw Saul, the LORD said unto him, Behold the man whom I spake to thee of! this same shall reign over my people.

18 Then Saul drew near to Samuel in the gate, and said, Tell me, I pray thee, where the seer's house is.

19 And Samuel answered Saul, and said, I am the seer; go up before me unto the high place; for ye shall eat with me to day, and to morrow I will let thee go, and will tell thee all that is in thine heart.

20 And as for thine asses that were lost three days ago, set not thy mind on them; for they are found. And on whom is all the desire of Israel? Is it not on thee, and on all thy father's house?

21 And Saul answered and said, Am not I a Benjamite, of the smallest of the tribes of Israel? and my family the least of all the families of the tribe of Benjamin? wherefore then speakest thou so to me?

22 And Samuel took Saul and his servant, and brought them into the parlour, and made them sit in the chiefest place among them that were bidden, which were about thirty persons.

23 And Samuel said unto the cook, Bring the portion which I gave thee, of which I said unto thee, Set it by thee.

24 And the cook took up the shoulder, and that which was upon it, and set it before Saul. And Samuel said, Behold that which is left! set it before thee, and eat: for unto this time hath it been kept for thee since I said, I have invited the people. So Saul did eat with Samuel that day.

25 ¶ And when they were come down from the high place into the city, Samuel communed with Saul upon the top of the house.

26 And they arose early: and it came to pass about the spring of the day, that Samuel called Saul to the top of the house, saying, Up, that I may send thee away. And Saul arose, and they went out both of them, he and Samuel, abroad.

27 And as they were going down to the end of the city, Samuel said to Saul, Bid the servant pass on before us, (and he passed on,) but stand thou still a while, that I may shew thee the word of God.

C H A P. X.

1 Samuel anointeth Saul, and giveth him three signs in confirmation of what he had told him. 9 Saul's heart is changed: the signs come to pass according to Samuel's prediction; Saul prophesieth. 14 On his return he concealeth from his uncle the matter of the kingdom. 17 The people are called together by Samuel to Mizpeh, where Saul is chosen king by lot. 26 He is honourably attended by part of his subjects, but despised by others.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. IX.

1 A mighty man of power.] Referring to his great strength, valour, and fortitude.

4 And he passed through the land of the Benjamites, &c.] Or, he had passed through, &c.

5 The land of Zuph, &c.] A territory in the tribe of Ephraim.

8 The fourth part of a shekel of silver, &c.] About nine-pence: a small present, but acceptable as the widow's mite, being all they had left.

12 In the high place.] It is the opinion of some learned men, that this appointment of a private or inferior place of worship (while the ark and tabernacle were in being) by so great an authority as that of Samuel, gave rise to the institution of synagogues and parishes in so many places of the kingdom afterwards.

No. 23.

17 Shall reign over, &c.] Rule them with an absolute, uncontrollable power, sternly and rigidly, after the manner of the eastern monarchs.

24 And that which was upon it] The breast.

Behold that which is left! &c.] Reserved on purpose for his entertainment.

27 Bid thy servant pass on before us, &c.] To let Saul understand, that what he was going to do was by divine order and appointment.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. IX.

This history shews us, that Providence presides over all events; that from God, kings rule; and therefore we ought to submit ourselves to them, in his fear.

COMMENTARY

Before
1095.

THEN Samuel took a vial of oil, and poured it upon his head, and kissed him, and said, Is it not because the LORD hath anointed thee to be captain over his inheritance?

■ When thou art departed from me to day, then thou shalt find two men by Rachael's sepulchre in the border of Benjamin at Zelzah; and they will say unto thee, The asses which thou wentest to seek are found: and, lo, thy father hath left the care of the asses, and sorroweth for you, saying, What shall I do for my son?

3 Then shalt thou go on forward from thence, and thou shalt come to the plain of Tabor, and there shall meet thee three men going up to God to Beth-el, one carrying three kids, and another carrying three loaves of bread, and another carrying a bottle of wine:

4 And they will salute thee, and give thee two loaves of bread; which thou shalt receive of their hands.

5 After that thou shalt come to the hill of God, where is the garrison of the Philistines: and it shall come to pass, when thou art come thither to the city, that thou shalt meet a company of prophets coming down from the high place with a psaltery, and a tabret, and a pipe, and a harp, before them; and they shall prophesy:

6 And the Spirit of the LORD will come upon thee, and thou shalt prophesy with them, and shalt be turned into another man.

7 And let it be, when these signs are come unto thee, that thou do as occasion serve thee; for God is with thee.

8 And thou shalt go down before me to Gilgal; and, behold, I will come down unto thee, to offer burnt offerings, and to sacrifice sacrifices of peace offerings: seven days shalt thou tarry, till I come to thee, and shew thee what thou shalt do.

9 ¶ And it was so, that when he had turned his back to go from Samuel, God gave him another heart: and all those signs came to pass that day.

10 And when they came thither to the hill, behold a company of prophets met him; and the Spirit of God came upon him, and he prophesied among them.

11 And it came to pass, when all that knew him beforetime saw that, behold, he prophesied among the prophets, then the people said one to another, What is this that is come unto the son of Kish? Is Saul also among the prophets?

12 And one of the same place answered and said, But who is their father? Therefore it became a proverb, Is Saul also among the prophets?

13 And when he had made an end of prophesying, he came to the high place.

14 ¶ And Saul's uncle said unto him and to his servant, Whither went ye? And he said, To seek the asses: and when we saw that they were no where, we came to Samuel.

15 And Saul's uncle said, Tell me, I pray thee, what Samuel said unto you.

16 And Saul said unto his uncle, He told us plainly that the asses were found. But of the matter of the kingdom, whereof Samuel spake, he told him not.

17 ¶ And Samuel called the people together unto the LORD to Mizpeh;

18 And said unto the children of Israel, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, I brought up Israel out of Egypt, and delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of all kingdoms, and of them that oppressed you:

19 And ye have this day rejected your God, who himself saved you out of all your adversities and your tribulation; and ye have said unto him, Nay, but set a king over us. Now therefore present yourselves before the LORD by your tribes, and by your thousands.

20 And when Samuel had caused all the tribes of Israel to come near, the tribe of Benjamin was taken.

21 When he had caused the tribe of Benjamin to come near by their families, the family of Matri was taken, and Saul the son of Kish was taken: and when they sought him, he could not be found.

22 Therefore they enquired of the LORD further, if the man should yet come thither. And the LORD answered, Behold, he hath hid himself among the stuff.

23 And they ran and fetched him thence: and when he stood among the people, he was higher than any of the people from his shoulders and upward.

24 And Samuel said to all the people, See ye him whom the LORD hath chosen, that there is none like him among all the people? And all the people shouted, and said, God save the king.

25 Then Samuel told the people the manner of the kingdom, and wrote it in a book, and laid it up before the LORD. And Samuel sent all the people away, every man to his house.

26 ¶ And Saul also went home to Gibeah; and there went with him a band of men, whose hearts God had touched.

27 But the children of Belial said, How shall this man save us? and they despised him, and brought him no presents. But he held his peace.

C H A P. XI.

1 Nahash the Ammonite making war against Jabesh-gilead propoeth very reproachful terms to the inhabitants, who petition for a respite of seven days. 4 They send to Saul, who bringeth them succours, and smiteth the Ammonites. 12 The people call for the death of those who had vilified Saul, to which Saul will by no means consent. 14 His kingdom is joyfully renewed to him at Gilgal.

THEN Nahash the Ammonite came up, and encamped against Jabesh-gilead: and all the men of Jabesh said unto Nahash, Make a covenant with us, and we will serve thee.

2 And Nahash the Ammonite answered them, On this condition will I make a covenant with you, that I may thrust out all your right eyes, and lay it for a reproach upon all Israel.

3 And the elders of Jabesh said unto him, Give us seven

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. X.

1. A vial of oil, &c.] This rite of unction was so much the divine care, that we find God giving Moses a prescription how to make the consecrated oil.

2. When thou art departed from me to day, then thou shalt find, &c.] What Samuel foretold to Saul concerning the asses, was an argument that he was a prophet, and therefore was to be believed in what he said to him from God concerning the kingdom.

5. They shall prophesy.] Shall sing the praises of God; for so the word "prophesy" sometimes signifies. See 1 Chron. xxv. 3.

6. Be turned into another man.] Endued with extraordinary prudence and courage, and such qualities as fitted him for the government of God's people.

8. Behold, I will come down unto thee, &c.] These words, and the remainder of the verse, should have been pointed in the following manner: Thou shalt go before me to Gilgal, and behold, I will come unto thee to offer burnt-offerings, and to sacrifice sacrifices of peace offerings, seven days—Thou shalt tarry till I come to thee, and shew thee what thou shalt do.

9. God gave him another heart, &c.] He was no sooner gone from Samuel, but he felt another spirit come into him of wisdom and fortitude, to qualify him for the government.

14. When we saw that they were nowhere, &c.] In no place where they sought them.

21. He could not be found.] Out of modesty he had withdrawn himself, as declining so high an authority.

22. Among the stuff.] Among the carriages.

27. But he held his peace.] In this Saul acted a very wise and politic part, being unwilling to begin his reign with any disorder or tumult, which his just resentment of such an affront might perhaps have occasioned.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. X.

From this chapter we learn, that when God calls any one to an important charge, he grants him the necessary gifts for discharging the duties thereof; and that if Saul had not fallen into disobedience, he would have continually enjoyed the favour of God.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XI.

1. Nahash the Ammonite came up, and encamped against Jabesh-gilead, &c.] This siege is supposed to have been commenced about a month after Saul was chosen king.

2. That I may thrust out all your right eyes, and lay it for a reproach upon all Israel.] This barbarous king was too politic to propose the putting seven days' respite, that we may send messengers unto all the coasts of Israel: and then, if there be no man to save us, we will come out to thee.

4 ¶ Then came the messengers to Gibeah of Saul, and told the tidings in the ears of the people: and all the people lifted up their voices, and wept.

5 And, behold, Saul came after the herd out of the field; and Saul said, What aileth the people that they weep? And they told him the tidings of the men of Jabez.

6 And the Spirit of God came upon Saul when he heard those tidings, and his anger was kindled greatly.

7 And he took a yoke of oxen, and hewed them in pieces, and sent them throughout all the coasts of Israel by the hands of messengers, saying, Whosoever cometh not forth after Saul and after Samuel, so shall it be done unto his oxen. And the fear of the LORD fell on the people, and they came out with one consent.

8 And when he numbered them in Bezek, the children of Israel were three hundred thousand, and the men of Judah thirty thousand.

9 And they said unto the messengers that came, Thus shall ye say unto the men of Jabez-gilead, To-morrow, by that time the sun be hot, ye shall have help. And the messengers came and shewed it to the men of Jabez; and they were glad.

10 Therefore the men of Jabez said, To-morrow we will come out unto you; and ye shall do with us all that seemeth good unto you.

11 And it was so on the morrow, that Saul put the people in three companies; and they came into the midst of the host in the morning watch, and slew the Ammonites until the heat of the day: and it came to pass, that they which remained were scattered, so that two of them were not left together.

12 ¶ And the people said unto Samuel, Who is he that said, Shall Saul reign over us? bring the men, that we may put them to death.

13 And Saul said, There shall not a man be put to death this day: for to-day the LORD hath wrought salvation in Israel.

14 ¶ Then said Samuel to the people, Come, and let us go to Gilgal, and renew the kingdom there.

15 And all the people went to Gilgal; and there they made Saul king before the LORD in Gilgal; and there they sacrificed sacrifices of peace offerings before the LORD; and there Saul and all the men of Israel rejoiced greatly.

CHAP. XII.

1 Samuel calleth upon the people, and receiveth from them an ample justification of his integrity. 6 He chargeth them with ingratitude in rejecting God's government, and warneth them against future disobedience. To convince them of their offence in asking a king, 18 he calleth for thunder and rain in the time of harvest to their great dismay; 20 but encourageth them with the assurance of divine favour, if they will but fear the Lord, and serve him heartily.

AND Samuel said unto all Israel, Behold, I have hearkened unto your voice in all that ye said unto me, and have made a king over you.

putting out both their eyes, for then would he have made them utterly incapable of doing him the service, or acquiring the tribute for him which he expected from them.

4 Gibeah of Saul, &c.] So called, because Saul was there born, bred, and dwelt.

12 Who is he that said, Shall Saul reign over us? &c.] What great alterations success is apt to make in the affections of the people! But a little while ago they quietly saw Saul slighted and despised, but now are zealous that enquiry should be made after those sons of Belial who spake so opprobriously of him!

13 For to-day the Lord hath wrought salvation in Israel.] Besides the policy he exercised in pardoning offenders, it was pious in him to imitate that God who had been so good to them all.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XII.

The clemency and moderation of Saul should be a lesson to every

2 And now, behold, the king walketh before you: and I am old and grayheaded; and, behold, my sons ^{Before CHRIST 1095.} are with you: and I have walked before you from my childhood unto this day.

3 Behold, here I am: witness against me before the LORD, and before his anointed: whose ox have I taken? or whose ass have I taken? or whom have I defrauded? whom have I oppressed? or of whose hand have I received any bribe to blind mine eyes therewith? and I will restore it you.

4 And they said, Thou hast not defrauded us, nor oppressed us, neither hast thou taken ought of any man's hand.

5 And he said unto them, The LORD is witness against you, and his anointed is witness this day, that ye have not found ought in my hand. And they answered, He is witness.

6 ¶ And Samuel said unto the people, It is the LORD that advanced Moses and Aaron, and that brought your fathers up out of the land of Egypt.

7 Now therefore stand still, that I may reason with you before the LORD of all the righteous acts of the LORD, which he did to you and to your fathers.

8 When Jacob was come into Egypt, and your fathers cried unto the LORD, then the LORD sent Moses and Aaron, which brought forth your fathers out of Egypt, and made them dwell in this place.

9 And when they forgot the LORD their God, he sold them into the hand of Sisera, captain of the host of Hazor, and into the hand of the Philistines, and into the hand of the king of Moab, and they fought against them.

10 And they cried unto the LORD, and said, We have sinned, because we have forsaken the LORD, and have served Baalim and Ashtaroth: but now deliver us out of the hand of our enemies, and we will serve thee.

11 And the LORD sent Jerubbaal, and Bedan, and Jephthah, and Samuel, and delivered you out of the hand of your enemies on every side, and ye dwelled safe.

12 And when ye saw that Nahash the king of the children of Ammon came against you, ye said unto me, Nay; but a king shall reign over us: when the LORD your God was your king.

13 Now therefore behold the king whom ye have chosen, and whom ye have desired! and, behold, the LORD hath set a king over you.

14 If ye will fear the LORD, and serve him, and obey his voice, and not rebel against the commandment of the LORD; then shall both ye and also the king that reigneth over you continue following the LORD your God:

15 But if ye will not obey the voice of the LORD, but rebel against the commandment of the LORD, then shall the hand of the LORD be against you, as it was against your fathers.

16 Now therefore stand and see this great thing, which the LORD will do before your eyes.

17 Is it not wheat harvest to-day? I will call unto the LORD, and he shall send thunder and rain; that ye may perceive and see that your wickedness is great, which ye have done in the sight of the LORD, in asking you a king.

18 ¶ So Samuel called unto the LORD; and the LORD body, especially those in authority, to lay aside their resentments and revenge, and to pardon the offences committed against them.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XII.

4 And they said, Thou hast not defrauded us, &c.] They acknowledge him to be an upright judge, who could not be charged with injuring any one.

9 And when they forgot the Lord their God, he sold them, &c.] This is a short history of the calamities which befel them for their idolatry, after they came into Canaan; some few of which only he mentions, without observing the exact order in which they came upon them.

11 Jerubbaal, and Bedan, and Jephthah, and Samuel, &c.] The LXX. Syriac, and Arabic versions, instead of Bedan, read Barak, the two latter read Samson, as the last deliverer mentioned, where the Hebrew has Samuel. See Heb. xi. 32.

Before LORD sent thunder and rain that day: and all the people greatly feared the LORD and Samuel.

1095.

19 And all the people said unto Samuel, Pray for thy servants unto the LORD thy God, that we die not: for we have added unto all our sins this evil, to ask us a king.

20 ¶ And Samuel said unto the people, Fear not: ye have done all this wickedness: yet turn not aside from following the LORD, but serve the LORD with all your heart;

21 And turn ye not aside: for then should ye go after vain things, which cannot profit nor deliver; for they are vain.

22 For the LORD will not forsake his people for his great name's sake: because it hath pleased the LORD to make you his people.

23 Moreover as for me, God forbid that I should sin against the LORD in ceasing to pray for you: but I will teach you the good and the right way:

24 Only fear the LORD, and serve him in truth with all your heart: for consider how great things he hath done for you.

25 But if ye shall still do wickedly, ye shall be consumed, both ye and your king.

CHAP. XIII.

■ Saul's select band. 3 Jonathan smiteth the Philistines' garrison, whereupon the people are called together to Gilgal. 5 The Philistines bring a great host into the field. 6 The distress of the Israelites. 8 Saul weary of staying for Samuel offereth a burnt offering. 11 His excuse to Samuel, who sharply reproveth him. 17 The Philistines send out three bands of spoilers. 19 The policy of the Philistines in suffering no smith in Israel.

SAUL reigned one year; and when he had reigned two years over Israel, 1093. 2 Saul chose him three thousand men of Israel; whereof two thousand were with Saul in Michmash and in mount Beth-el, and a thousand were with Jonathan in Gibeah of Benjamin: and the rest of the people he sent every man to his tent.

3 ¶ And Jonathan smote the garrison of the Philistines that was in Geba, and the Philistines heard of it. And Saul blew the trumpet throughout all the land, saying, Let the Hebrews hear.

4 And all Israel heard say that Saul had smitten a garrison of the Philistines, and that Israel also was had in abomination with the Philistines. And the people were called together after Saul to Gilgal.

5 ¶ And the Philistines gathered themselves together to fight with Israel, thirty thousand chariots, and six thousand horsemen, and people as the sand which is on the seashore in multitude: and they came up, and pitched in Michmash, eastward from Beth-aven.

6 ¶ When the men of Israel saw that they were in a strait, (for the people were distressed,) then the people did hide themselves in caves, and in thickets, and in rocks, and in high places, and in pits.

7 And some of the Hebrews went over Jordan to the land of Gad and Gilead. As for Saul, he was yet in Gilgal, and all the people followed him trembling.

8 ¶ And he tarried seven days, according to the set time that Samuel had appointed: but Samuel came not to Gilgal; and the people were scattered from him.

9 And Saul said, Bring hither a burnt offering to me, and peace offerings. And he offered the burnt offering.

10 And it came to pass, that as soon as he had made an end of offering the burnt offering, behold, Samuel came: and Saul went out to meet him, that he might salute him.

11 ¶ And Samuel said, What hast thou done? And Saul said, Because I saw that the people were scattered from me, and that thou camest not within the days appointed, and that the Philistines gathered themselves together at Michmash;

12 Therefore said I, The Philistines will come down now upon me to Gilgal, and I have not made supplication unto the LORD: I forced myself therefore, and offered a burnt offering.

13 And Samuel said to Saul, Thou hast done foolishly: thou hast not kept the commandment of the LORD thy God, which he commanded thee: for now would the LORD have established thy kingdom upon Israel for ever.

14 But now thy kingdom shall not continue: the LORD hath fought him a man after his own heart, and the LORD hath commanded him to be captain over his people, because thou hast not kept that which the LORD commanded thee.

15 And Samuel arose, and gat him up from Gilgal unto Gibeah of Benjamin. And Saul numbered the people that were present with him, about six hundred men.

16 And Saul and Jonathan his son, and the people that were present with them, abode in Gibeah of Benjamin: but the Philistines encamped in Michmash.

17 ¶ And the spoilers came out of the camp of the Philistines in three companies: one company turned unto the way that leadeth to Ophrah, unto the land of Shual:

18 And another company turned the way to Beth-horon: and another company turned to the way of the border that looketh to the valley of Zeboim toward the wilderness.

19 ¶ Now there was no smith found throughout all the land of Israel: for the Philistines said, Lest the Hebrews make them swords or spears:

20 But all the Israelites went down to the Philistines, to sharpen every man his share, and his coulter, and his ax, and his mattock.

21 Yet they had a file for the mattocks, and for the coulters, and for the forks, and for the axes, and to sharpen the goads.

22 So it came to pass in the day of battle, that there was neither sword nor spear found in the hand of any of the people that were with Saul and Jonathan: but with Saul and with Jonathan his son was there found.

23 And the garrison of the Philistines went out to the passage of Michmash.

CHAP.

20 Fear not, &c.] He would not have them despair of recovering God's favour; and directs them the best way to it, by continuing so sensible of their wickedness, as to be moved to true repentance and stedfast obedience.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XII.

From this chapter we may observe, that God blesses those states and governments where justice and pure religion prevail, but that those princes and their people, who provoke him by their offences, shall at last, if they repent not, be utterly consumed.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XIII.

■ Saul reigned one year; and when he had reigned two years, &c.] The best interpretation of this verse seems to be this: After the Philistines were subdued by Samuel, a year passed, when Saul began to reign; and after this, he reigned two years free from their yoke.

5 Thirty thousand chariots, &c.] The Syriac and Arabic versions make no more than three thousand. Some suppose that these thirty thousand chariots were not chariots of war, but most of them carriages only, for the conveyance of the baggage belonging to such a multitude of men, or for the deportation of the plunder they hoped to obtain by conquering the country.

8 And he tarried seven days, &c.] Saul mistook Samuel's meaning, who told him, he would come and offer sacrifice seven days; and then adds, "thou shalt tarry till I come."

13 Thou hast done foolishly] In this behaviour of Saul, there were all the signs of pride, ingratitude, impatience, distrust, neglect of God, contempt of his prophet, and an apparent invasion of the priestly office.

For ever.] "For ever" signifies in this, as in many other places of scripture, no more than a long time.

18 The valley of Zeboim, &c.] It may be rendered the valley of vipers: it abounded with a sort of speckled serpents.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XIII.

The rejecting of Saul shews, that those whom God has chosen, and on whom he has bestowed particular favours, may lose all those advantages, if they render themselves unworthy thereof, and may be at last rejected by God; which ought to keep within the bounds of a continual fear and humility.

COMMENTARY

C H A P. XIV.

Jonathan, without the knowledge of his father or any of the people, attended by his armourbearer only, smiteth the Philistine garrison. 15 The Philistines seized with a panic beat down one another. 17 Saul perceiving the tumult enquireth of God, but without waiting for the priest's answer setteth upon the enemy, and is joined by the Hebrews who were before with the Philistines, and by the Israelites out of their hiding places. 24 His unadvised adjuration is a hindrance of the victory. 31 The people, faint for want of food, fly upon the spoil, and are hardly restrained from eating the blood. 35 Saul buildeth an altar; 37 he asketh council of God, but receiveth no answer. 38 Jonathan taken by lot, and sentenced to die, is rescued by the people. 47 Saul's victories. 49 His family.

NOW it came to pass upon a day, that Jonathan the son of Saul said unto the young man that bare his armour, Come, and let us go over to the Philistines' garrison, that is on the other side. But he told not his father.

2 And Saul tarried in the uttermost part of Gibeah under a pomegranate tree which is in Migron: and the people that were with him were about six hundred men;

3 And Ahiah, the son of Ahitub, I-chabod's brother, the son of Phineas, the son of Eli, the LORD's priest in Shiloh, wearing an ephod. And the people knew not that Jonathan was gone.

4 And between the passages, by which Jonathan sought to go over unto the Philistines' garrison, there was a sharp rock on the one side, and a sharp rock on the other side: and the name of the one was Bozez, and the name of the other Seneh.

5 The forefront of the one was situate northward over against Michmash, and the other southward over against Gibeah.

6 And Jonathan said to the young man that bare his armour, Come, and let us go over unto the garrison of these uncircumcised: it may be that the LORD will work for us, for there is no restraint to the LORD to save by many or by few.

7 And his armourbearer said unto him, Do all that is in thine heart: turn thee; behold, I am with thee according to thy heart.

8 Then said Jonathan, Behold, we will pass over unto these men, and we will discover ourselves unto them.

9 If they say thus unto us, Tarry until we come to you; then we will stand still in our place, and will not go up unto them.

10 But if they say thus, Come up unto us; then we will go up: for the LORD hath delivered them into our hand: and this shall be a sign unto us.

11 And both of them discovered themselves unto the garrison of the Philistines: and the Philistines said, Behold, the Hebrews come forth out of the holes where they had hid themselves.

12 And the men of the garrison answered Jonathan and his armourbearer, and said, Come up to us, and we will shew you a thing. And Jonathan said unto his armourbearer, Come up after me: for the LORD hath delivered them into the hand of Israel.

13 And Jonathan climbed up upon his hands and upon his feet, and his armourbearer after him: and they fell before Jonathan; and his armourbearer flew after him.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XIV.

12 Come up to us, and we will shew you a thing, &c.] They mocked at them, thinking they durst not attempt to climb up to them.

13 They fell before Jonathan; and his armourbearer flew after him.] This extraordinary act by two men may be ascribed to God's sending a panic upon them, which is enough to make the stoutest heart to tremble, and the most heroic spirit to betake themselves to flight.

14 About twenty men, within as it were an half acre of land, No. 24.

14 And that first slaughter, which Jonathan and his armourbearer made, was about twenty men, within as it were an half acre of land, which a yoke of oxen might plow. Before CHRIST 1063.

15 ¶ And there was trembling in the host, in the field, and among all the people: the garrison, and the spoilers, they also trembled, and the earth quaked: so it was a very great trembling.

16 And the watchmen of Saul in Gibeah of Benjamin looked; and, behold, the multitude melted away, and they went on beating down one another.

17 ¶ Then said Saul unto the people that were with him, Number now, and see who is gone from us. And when they had numbered, behold, Jonathan and his armourbearer were not there.

18 And Saul said unto Ahiah, Bring hither the ark of God. For the ark of God was at that time with the children of Israel.

19 And it came to pass, while Saul talked unto the priest, that the noise that was in the host of the Philistines went on and increased: and Saul said unto the priest, Withdraw thine hand.

20 And Saul and all the people that were with him assembled themselves, and they came to the battle: and, behold, every man's sword was against his fellow, and there was a very great discomfiture.

21 Moreover the Hebrews that were with the Philistines before that time, which went up with them into the camp from the country round about, even they also turned to be with the Israelites that were with Saul and Jonathan.

22 Likewise all the men of Israel which had hid themselves in mount Ephraim, when they heard that the Philistines fled, even they also followed hard after them in the battle.

23 So the LORD saved Israel that day: and the battle passed over unto Beth-aven.

24 ¶ And the men of Israel were distressed that day: for Saul had adjured the people, saying, Cursed be the man that eateth any food until evening, that I may be avenged on mine enemies. So none of the people tasted any food.

25 And all they of the land came to a wood; and there was honey upon the ground.

26 And when the people were come into the wood, behold, the honey dropped; but no man put his hand to his mouth: for the people feared the oath.

27 But Jonathan heard not when his father charged the people with the oath: wherefore he put forth the end of the rod that was in his hand, and dipped it in an honeycomb, and put his hand to his mouth; and his eyes were enlightened.

28 Then answered one of the people, and said, Thy father straightly charged the people with an oath, saying, Cursed be the man that eateth any food this day. And the people were faint.

29 Then said Jonathan, My father hath troubled the land: see, I pray you, how mine eyes have been enlightened, because I tasted a little of this honey.

30 How much more, if haply the people had eaten freely to day of the spoil of their enemies which they found? for had there not been now a much greater slaughter among the Philistines?

31 ¶ And they smote the Philistines that day from Michmash to Aijalon: and the people were very faint.

32 And the people flew upon the spoil, and took sheep, which a yoke of oxen might plow.] The LXX. read it thus: That first slaughter was about twenty men, with darts and stones, and flints of the field.

16 Beating down one another.] Not being able, in this confusion, to distinguish their friends from their enemies.

18 Bring hither the ark of God, &c.] The LXX. translate it, Bring hither the ephod.

23 The battle passed over unto Beth-aven.] These words seem to imply, that the fight continued until they came to this place.

25 There was honey upon the ground.] That is, wild honey, which is to be found in great plenty in the deserts in the Holy Land.

Before sheep, and oxen, and calves, and flew them on the ground: and the people did eat them with the blood.

33 Then they told Saul, saying, Behold, the people sin against the LORD, in that they eat with the blood. And he said, Ye have transgressed: roll a great stone unto me this day.

34 And Saul said, Disperse yourselves among the people, and say unto them, Bring me hither every man his ox, and every man his sheep, and slay them here, and eat; and sin not against the LORD in eating with the blood. And all the people brought every man his ox with him that night, and flew them there.

35 ¶ And Saul built an altar unto the LORD: the same was the first altar that he built unto the LORD.

36 And Saul said, Let us go down after the Philistines by night, and spoil them until the morning light, and let us not leave a man of them. And they said, Do whatsoever seemeth good unto thee. Then said the priest, Let us draw near hither unto God.

37 ¶ And Saul asked counsel of God, Shall I go down after the Philistines? wilt thou deliver them into the hand of Israel? But he answered him not that day.

38 ¶ And Saul said, Draw ye near hither, all the chief of the people: and know and see wherein this sin hath been this day.

39 For, as the LORD liveth, which saveth Israel, though it be in Jonathan my son, he shall surely die. But there was not a man among all the people that answered him.

40 Then said he unto all Israel, Be ye on one side, and I and Jonathan my son will be on the other side. And the people said unto Saul, Do what seemeth good unto thee.

41 Therefore Saul said unto the LORD God of Israel, Give a perfect lot. And Saul and Jonathan were taken: but the people escaped.

42 And Saul said, Cast lots between me and Jonathan my son. And Jonathan was taken.

43 Then Saul said to Jonathan, Tell me what thou hast done. And Jonathan told him, and said, I did but taste a little honey with the end of the rod that was in mine hand, and, lo, I must die.

44 And Saul answered, God do so and more also: for thou shalt surely die, Jonathan.

45 And the people said unto Saul, Shall Jonathan die, who hath wrought this great salvation in Israel? God forbid: as the LORD liveth, there shall not one hair of his head fall to the ground; for he hath wrought with God this day. So the people rescued Jonathan, that he died not.

46 Then Saul went up from following the Philistines: and the Philistines went to their own place.

47 ¶ So Saul took the kingdom over Israel, and fought against all his enemies on every side, against Moab, and against the children of Ammon, and against Edom, and against the kings of Zobah, and against the Philistines: and whithersoever he turned himself, he vexed them.

48 And he gathered an host, and smote the Amalekites, and delivered Israel out of the hands of them that spoiled them.

49 ¶ Now the sons of Saul were Jonathan, and Ishui, and Melchi-shua: and the name of his two daughters were these; the name of the firstborn Merab, and the name of the younger Michal:

32 Did eat them with the blood.] Raw, or but half roasted or boiled.

33 Roll a great stone, &c.] Wherewith to build an altar.

36 Let us draw near hither unto God.] The priest reminded them that it was dangerous to undertake any thing without God's advice.

47 The kings of Zobah, &c.] Those who ruled in that part of Syria which is called Aram Zobah.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XIV.

We may from hence learn, that God sometimes grants his favours to persons that are unworthy of them; nor for their own sakes, but because of his covenant, and of the love that he bears to those that fear him.

50 And the name of Saul's wife was Ahinoam, the daughter of Ahimaaz: and the name of the captain of his host was Abner, the son of Ner, Saul's uncle.

51 And Kish was the father of Saul; and Ner the father of Abner was the son of Abiel.

52 And there was fore war against the Philistines all the days of Saul: and when Saul saw any strong man, or any valiant man, he took him unto him.

CHAP. XV.

■ Saul is sent to destroy Amalek. 6 He favoureth the Kenites; 7 smiteth the Amalekites; but spareth Agag and the best of the spoil. 10 His disobedience displeaseth the LORD. 12 Samuel denounceth unto him God's rejection of him. 24 Saul's fruitless humiliation. Samuel beweth Agag in pieces. 34 He and Saul part, and meet no more.

SAMUEL also said unto Saul, The LORD sent me to anoint thee to be king over his people, over Israel: now therefore hearken thou unto the voice of the words of the LORD.

2 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, I remember that which Amalek did to Israel, how he laid wait for him in the way, when he came up from Egypt.

3 Now go and smite Amalek, and utterly destroy all that they have, and spare them not; but slay both man and woman, infant and suckling, ox and sheep, camel and ass.

4 And Saul gathered the people together, and numbered them in Telaim, two hundred thousand footmen, and ten thousand men of Judah.

5 And Saul came to a city of Amalek, and laid wait in the valley.

6 ¶ And Saul said unto the Kenites, Go, depart, get you down from among the Amalekites, lest I destroy you with them: for ye shewed kindness to all the children of Israel, when they came up out of Egypt. So the Kenites departed from among the Amalekites.

7 ¶ And Saul smote the Amalekites from Havilah until thou comest to Shur, that is over against Egypt.

8 And he took Agag the king of the Amalekites alive, and utterly destroyed all the people with the edge of the sword.

9 But Saul and the people spared Agag, and the best of the sheep, and of the oxen, and of the fatlings, and the lambs, and all that was good, and would not utterly destroy them: but every thing that was vile and refuse, that they destroyed utterly.

10 ¶ Then came the word of the LORD unto Samuel, saying,

11 It repenteth me that I have set up Saul to be king: for he is turned back from following me, and hath not performed my commandments. And it grieved Samuel; and he cried unto the LORD all night.

12 ¶ And when Samuel rose early to meet Saul in the morning, it was told Samuel, saying, Saul came to Carmel, and, behold, he set him up a place, and is gone about, and passed on, and gone down to Gilgal.

13 And Samuel came to Saul: and Saul said unto him, Blessed be thou of the LORD: I have performed the commandment of the LORD.

14 And Samuel said, What meaneth then this bleating of the sheep in mine ears, and the lowing of the oxen which I hear?

15 And Saul said, They have brought them from the

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XV.

3 Now go and smite Amalek, and utterly destroy, &c.] This heavy sentence was pronounced on them long ago, Exod. xvii. 14. It was renewed at their entrance into Canaan, Deut. xxv. 19. and it is here ordered to be put in execution.

7 From Havilah until thou comest to Shur, &c.] Their whole country, of which this was the extent, from Havilah in the north-east, to Shur in the south-west.

13 I have performed the commandment of the Lord.] He was so insensible of any fault he had committed, that he boasts of his performance.

Before
1063.

14 ¶ But the spirit of the LORD departed from Saul, and an evil spirit from the LORD troubled him.

15 And Saul's servants said unto him, Behold now, an evil spirit from God troubleth thee.

16 Let our lord now command thy servants, which are before thee, to seek out a man, who is a cunning player on an harp: and it shall come to pass, when the evil spirit from God is upon thee, that he shall play with his hand, and thou shalt be well.

17 And Saul said unto his servants, Provide me now a man that can play well, and bring him to me.

18 Then answered one of the servants, and said, Behold, I have seen a son of Jesse the Beth-lehemite, that is cunning in playing, and a mighty valiant man, and a man of war, and prudent in matters, and a comely person, and the LORD is with him.

19 Wherefore Saul sent messengers unto Jesse, and said, Send me David thy son, which is with the sheep.

20 And Jesse took an ass laden with bread, and a bottle of wine, and a kid, and sent them by David his son unto Saul.

21 And David came to Saul and stood before him: and he loved him greatly; and he became his armour-bearer.

22 And Saul sent to Jesse, saying, Let David, I pray thee, stand before me: for he hath found favour in my sight.

23 And it came to pass, when the evil spirit from God was upon Saul, that David took an harp, and played with his hand: so Saul was refreshed, and was well, and the evil spirit departed from him.

C H A P. XVII.

1 The armies of the Israelites and Philistines being drawn out to battle, 4 Goliath cometh forward with a proud challenge. 12 David, sent by his father to the army to visit his brethren, 20 heareth the challenge, and expresseth indignation thereat. 28 Eliab his eldest brother chideth him. 30 His words cause him to be brought before Saul; 32 he accepteth the challenge, and sheweth the grounds of his confidence. 38 He refuseth Saul's armour, and armed only with a sling and a stone slayeth the giant. The Philistines are routed. 54 David bringeth back the head of Goliath. 55 Saul enquireth and taketh notice of him.

NOW the Philistines gathered together their armies to battle, and were gathered together at Shochoh, which belongeth to Judah, and pitched between Shochoh and Azekah, in Ephes-dammim.

And Saul and the men of Israel were gathered together, and pitched by the valley of Elah, and set the battle in array against the Philistines.

3 And the Philistines stood on a mountain on the one side, and Israel stood on a mountain on the other side: and there was a valley between them.

4 ¶ And there went out a champion out of the camp of the Philistines, named Goliath, of Gath, whose height was six cubits and a span.

5 And he had an helmet of brass upon his head, and he was armed with a coat of mail; and the weight of the coat was five thousand shekels of brass.

6 And he had greaves of brass upon his legs, and a target of brass between his shoulders.

14 An evil spirit from the Lord troubled him.] He grew melancholy, timorous, and suspicious, indisposed and unfit for business; being sometimes furious and distracted, full of anxiety and solicitude of mind, sighing and trembling like a man in the dark; his blood and spirits thick and heavy, having lost their usual purity and liveliness.

23 David took an harp, and played with his hand: so Saul was refreshed, and was well, &c.] Besides the natural effects of music, the cure of Saul may doubtless be attributed to God, who certainly blessed the means used to effect it.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XVI.

This example of Saul reminds us, that when men who have been once enlightened, afterwards do despite to the spirit of grace, the unclean spirit again enters into them, and, as our Lord says, their last state becomes worse than the first.

7 And the staff of his spear was like a weaver's beam; and his spear's head weighed six hundred shekels of iron: and one bearing a shield went before him.

8 And he stood and cried unto the armies of Israel, and said unto them, Why are ye come out to set your battle in array? am not I a Philistine, and ye servants to Saul? choose you a man for you, and let him come down to me.

9 If he be able to fight with me, and to kill me, then will we be your servants: but if I prevail against him, and kill him, then shall ye be our servants, and serve us.

10 And the Philistine said, I defy the armies of Israel this day; give me a man that we may fight together.

11 When Saul and all Israel heard those words of the Philistine, they were dismayed and greatly afraid.

12 ¶ Now David was the son of that Ephrathite of Beth-lehem-judah, whose name was Jesse; and he had eight sons: and the man went among men for an old man in the days of Saul.

13 And the three eldest sons of Jesse went and followed Saul to the battle: and the names of his three sons that went to the battle were Eliab the first-born, and the next unto him Abinadab, and the third Shamamah.

14 And David was the youngest: and the three eldest followed Saul.

15 But David went and returned from Saul to feed his father's sheep at Beth-lehem.

16 And the Philistine drew near morning and evening, and presented himself forty days.

17 And Jesse said unto David his son, Take now for thy brethren an ephah of this parched corn, and these ten loaves, and run to the camp to thy brethren:

18 And carry these ten cheeses unto the captain of their thousand, and look how thy brethren fare, and take their pledge.

19 Now Saul, and they, and all the men of Israel, were in the valley of Elah, fighting with the Philistines.

20 ¶ And David rose up early in the morning, and left the sheep with a keeper, and took, and went, as Jesse had commanded him; and he came to the trench, as the host was going forth to the fight, and shouted for the battle.

21 For Israel and the Philistines had put the battle in array, army against army.

22 And David left his carriage in the hand of the keeper of the carriage, and ran into the army, and came and saluted his brethren.

23 And as he talked with them, behold, there came up the champion, the Philistine of Gath, Goliath by name, out of the armies of the Philistines, and spake according to the same words: and David heard them.

24 And all the men of Israel, when they saw the man, fled from him, and were sore afraid.

25 And the men of Israel said, Have ye seen this man that is come up? surely to defy Israel is he come up: and it shall be, that the man who killeth him, the king will enrich him with great riches, and will give him his daughter, and make his father's house free in Israel.

26 And David spake to the men that stood by him, saying, What shall be done to the man that killeth this Philistine,

4 Of Gath.] When the Anakims were driven out of Canaan by Joshua, they fled to Gath, and there propagated a race of giants. Whose height was six cubits and a span.] About twelve feet and a half: a stature about twice as tall as usual.

8 Why are ye come out to set your battle in array, &c.] He charges them with presumption, in offering to make war with the Philistines.

18 Look how thy brethren fare, and take their pledge.] Some translate the word not "pledge," but "business," and take the sense to be "Bring me word what they do, how they behave themselves, and with whom they associate."

24 All the men of Israel, when they saw the man, fled from him, &c.] It is supposed, they could not endure to hear his opprobrious words against them, and his blasphemous words against God.

Philistine, and taketh away the reproach from Israel? for who is this uncircumcised Philistine, that he should defy the armies of the living God?

27 And the people answered him after this manner, saying, So shall it be done to the man that killeth him.

28 And Eliab his eldest brother heard when he spake unto the men; and Eliab's anger was kindled against David, and he said, Why camest thou down hither? and with whom hast thou left those few sheep in the wilderness? I know thy pride and the naughtiness of thine heart; for thou art come down that thou mightest see the battle.

29 And David said, What have I now done? Is there not a cause?

30 ¶ And he turned from him toward another, and spake after the same manner: and the people answered him again after the former manner.

31 And when the words were heard which David spake, they rehearsed them before Saul: and he sent for him.

32 ¶ And David said to Saul, Let no man's heart fail because of him; thy servant will go and fight with this Philistine.

33 And Saul said to David, Thou art not able to go against this Philistine to fight with him: for thou art but a youth, and he a man of war from his youth.

34 And David said unto Saul, Thy servant kept his father's sheep, and there came a lion, and a bear, and took a lamb out of the flock:

35 And I went out after him, and smote him, and delivered it out of his mouth: and when he arose against me, I caught him by his beard, and smote him, and slew him.

36 Thy servant slew both the lion and the bear: and this uncircumcised Philistine shall be as one of them, seeing he hath defied the armies of the living God.

37 David said moreover, the LORD that delivered me out of the paw of the lion, and out of the paw of the bear, he will deliver me out of the hand of this Philistine. And Saul said unto David, Go, and the LORD be with thee.

38 ¶ And Saul armed David with his armour, and he put an helmet of brass upon his head; also he armed him with a coat of mail.

39 And David girded his sword upon his armour, and he assayed to go; for he had not proved it. And David said unto Saul, I cannot go with these; for I have not proved them. And David put them off him.

40 And he took his staff in his hand, and chose him five smooth stones out of the brook, and put them in a shepherd's bag which he had, even in a scrip; and his sling was in his hand: and he drew near to the Philistine.

41 And the Philistine came on and drew near unto David; and the man that bare the shield went before him.

42 And when the Philistine looked about, and saw David, he disdained him: for he was but a youth, and ruddy, and of a fair countenance.

43 And the Philistine said unto David, Am I a dog, that thou comest to me with staves? And the Philistine cursed David by his gods.

44 And the Philistine said to David, Come unto me, and I will give thy flesh unto the fowls of the air, and to the beasts of the field.

45 Then said David to the Philistine, Thou comest to me with a sword, and with a spear, and with a shield, but I come to thee in the name of the LORD of hosts: the God of the armies of Israel, whom thou hast defied.

46 This day will the LORD deliver thee into mine hand; and I will smite thee, and take thine head from thee; and I will give the carcases of the host of the Philistines unto the fowls of the air, and to the wild beasts of the earth; that all the earth may know that there is a God in Israel.

47 And all this assembly shall know that the LORD faveth not with sword and spear: for the battle is the LORD's, and he will give you into our hands.

48 And it came to pass, when the Philistine arose, and came and drew nigh to meet David, that David hastened, and ran toward the army to meet the Philistine.

49 And David put his hand in his bag, and took thence a stone, and flung it, and smote the Philistine in his forehead, that the stone sunk into his forehead; and he fell upon his face to the earth.

50 So David prevailed over the Philistine with a sling and with a stone, and smote the Philistine, and slew him; there was no sword in the hand of David.

51 Therefore David ran, and stood upon the Philistine, and took his sword, and drew it out of the sheath thereof, and slew him, and cut off his head therewith. And when the Philistines saw their champion was dead, they fled.

52 ¶ And the men of Israel and of Judah arose, and shouted, and pursued the Philistines, until thou come to the valley, and to the gates of Ekron. And the wounded of the Philistines fell down by the way to Shaarim, even unto Gath, and unto Ekron.

53 And the children of Israel returned from chasing after the Philistines, and they spoiled their tents.

54 ¶ And David took the head of the Philistine, and brought it to Jerusalem; but he put his armour in his tent.

55 ¶ And when Saul saw David go forth against the Philistine, he said unto Abner, the captain of the host, Abner, whose son is this youth? And Abner said, As thy soul liveth, O king, I cannot tell.

56 And the king said, Enquire thou whose son the stripling is.

57 And as David returned from the slaughter of the Philistine, Abner took him, and brought him before Saul, with the head of the Philistine in his hand.

58 And Saul said to him, Whose son art thou, thou young man? And David answered, I am the son of thy servant, Jesse the Beth-lehemite.

CHAP. XVIII.

- 1 Jonathan loveth David. 5 David's wife conduct ingratiateth him with the people, and with Saul's servants.
- 6 The women's song in honour of his victory exciteh Saul's envy; 10 who in his fury seeketh to kill him.
- 12 Saul feareth David for his wisdom and good success.
- 17 He promiseth him his eldest daughter by way of a snare, but giveth her to another. 20 He promiseth him Michal his younger daughter. 22 Saul setteth his servants to persuade David to be the king's son in law upon condition of bringing a hundred foreskins of the Philistines; David bringeth two hundred, and hath Michal given him to wife. 28 Saul's hatred increaseth, and David's glory.

AND

26 That he should defy the armies of the living God.] He would not have them think that he was instigated by the hope of the reward, so much as by an holy zeal for God, and a generous love for his country.

28 Why camest thou down hither, &c.] Passion had made him forget that he had come down by his father's order.

37 He will deliver me out of the hand of this Philistine, &c.] He declares, that he was fully persuaded God would deliver the Philistine into his hands, as he had done the lion and the bear, for he felt himself full of that Spirit which then assisted him.

44 Come to me, and I will give thy flesh unto the fowls, &c.] This hyperbolical speech not only proceeded from the disdain and haughtiness of Goliath, but was agreeable to the manners of those times, and especially of the Orientals.

51 And drew it out of the sheath, &c.] He was strong, not merely by nature, but by the power of God; otherwise he could not have well managed the sword of the giant.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS. on Chap. XVII.

We see from hence how God took vengeance, for his own honour, in punishing the wicked; and helps those who trust in him, by making use of means, apparently very weak, to bring down the pride of his enemies, and destroy the most formidable powers.

Before
1063.

AND it came to pass, when he had made an end of speaking unto Saul, that the soul of Jonathan was knit with the soul of David, and Jonathan loved him as his own soul.

2 And Saul took him that day, and would let him go no more home to his father's house.

3 Then Jonathan and David made a covenant, because he loved him as his own soul.

4 And Jonathan stripped himself of the robe that was upon him, and gave it to David, and his garments, even to his sword, and to his bow, and to his girdle.

5 ¶ And David went out whithersoever Saul sent him, and behaved himself wisely: and Saul set him over the men of war, and he was accepted in the sight of all the people, and also in the sight of Saul's servants.

6 ¶ And it came to pass as they came, when David was returned from the slaughter of the Philistine, that the women came out of all the cities of Israel, singing and dancing to meet king Saul, with tabrets, with joy, and with instruments of music.

7 And the women answered one another as they played, and said, Saul hath slain his thousands, and David his ten thousands.

8 And Saul was very wroth, and the saying displeased him; and he said, They have ascribed unto David ten thousands, and to me they have ascribed but thousands: and what can he have more but the kingdom?

9 And Saul eyed David from that day and forward.

10 ¶ And it came to pass on the morrow, that the evil spirit from God came upon Saul, and he prophesied in the midst of the house: and David played with his hand, as at other times: and there was a javelin in Saul's hand.

11 And Saul cast the javelin: for he said, I will smite David even to the wall with it. And David avoided out of his presence twice.

12 ¶ And Saul was afraid of David, because the LORD was with him, and was departed from Saul.

13 Therefore Saul removed him from him, and made him his captain over a thousand; and he went out and came in before the people.

14 And David behaved himself wisely in all his ways; and the LORD was with him.

15 Wherefore when Saul saw that he behaved himself very wisely, he was afraid of him.

16 But all Israel and Judah loved David, because he went out and came in before them.

17 ¶ And Saul said to David, Behold my elder daughter Merab, her will I give thee to wife: only be thou valiant for me, and fight the LORD's battles. For Saul said, Let not mine hand be upon him, but let the hand of the Philistines be upon him.

18 And David said unto Saul, Who am I? and what is my life, or my father's family in Israel, that I should be son in law to the king?

19 But it came to pass at the time when Merab Saul's daughter should have been given to David, that she was given unto Adriel the Meholathite to wife.

20 ¶ And Michal Saul's daughter loved David: and they told Saul, and the thing pleased him.

21 And Saul said, I will give him her, that she may be a snare to him, and that the hand of the Philistines may be against him. Wherefore Saul said to David,

Thou shalt this day be my son in law in the one of the twain.

22 And Saul commanded his servants, saying, Commune with David secretly; and say, Behold the king hath delight in thee, and all his servants love thee: now therefore be the king's son in law.

23 And Saul's servants spake those words in the ears of David. And David said, Seemeth it to you a light thing to be a king's son in law, seeing that I am a poor man, and lightly esteemed?

24 And the servants of Saul told him, saying, On this manner spake David.

25 And Saul said, Thus shall ye say to David, The king desireth not any dowry, but an hundred foreskins of the Philistines, to be avenged of the king's enemies. But Saul thought to make David fall by the hand of the Philistines.

26 And when his servants told David these words, it pleased David well to be the king's son in law: and the days were not expired.

27 Wherefore David arose and went, he and his men, and slew of the Philistines two hundred men; and David brought their foreskins, and they gave them in full tale to the king, that he might be the king's son in law. And Saul gave him Michal his daughter to wife.

28 ¶ And Saul saw and knew that the LORD was with David, and that Michal Saul's daughter loved him.

29 And Saul was yet the more afraid of David; and Saul became David's enemy continually.

30 Then the princes of the Philistines went forth: and it came to pass after they went forth, that David behaved himself more wisely than all the servants of Saul; so that his name was much set by.

C H A P. XIX.

1 Jonathan discloseth to David his father's purpose to kill him. 4 He persuadeth his father to a reconciliation.

¶ Saul jealous of David's good success in a new war again seeketh to slay him; he saveth himself by flight.

11 Saul's messengers come to David's house to slay him; Michal favoureth his escape, and deceiveth her father by an image in the bed. 18 David cometh to Samuel to Natioth; he is pursued; the spirit of prophecy cometh upon Saul's messengers, 23 and upon Saul.

AND Saul spake to Jonathan his son, and to all his servants, that they should kill David.

¶ But Jonathan Saul's son delighted much in David: and Jonathan told David, saying, Saul my father seeketh to kill thee: now, therefore, I pray thee, take heed to thyself until the morning, and abide in a secret place, and hide thyself:

3 And I will go out and stand beside my father in the field where thou art, and I will commune with my father of thee; and what I see, that I will tell thee.

4 ¶ And Jonathan spake good of David unto Saul his father, and said unto him, Let not the king sin against his servant, against David; because he hath not sinned against thee, and because his works have been to thee-ward very good:

5 For he did put his life in his hand, and slew the Philistine, and the LORD wrought a great salvation for all Israel: thou sawest it, and didst rejoice: wherefore thou

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XVIII.

3 Then Jonathan and David made a covenant, because he loved him as his own soul.] Jonathan, through the whole story, shews towards David such a greatness of soul, such a constancy of mind, and disinterestedness of heart, few romances can produce examples of.

5 David setteth out.] Upon military expeditions.

9 Saul set him over the men of war, &c.] Not over all, for Abner was commander in chief of his forces.

Saul eyed David, &c.] That is, narrowly observed him, whether he was aspiring to the crown.

10 He prophesied in the midst of the house, &c.] Before the whole court.

18 Who am I, &c.] This was not a refusal of the honour, but an acknowledgment how unworthy he was of it.

19 She was given unto Adriel, &c.] This was an high affront to David, and one of the greatest injuries that could be done him.

27 Two hundred men, &c.] The LXX read one hundred, which is not improbable, Saul having covenanted for no more.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XVIII.

From the tenor of this chapter is evidently shewn, that nothing can hurt those whom God loves; and that whatever the wicked devise against them, turns to their advantage.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XIX.

1 Saul spake to Jonathan, &c.] Whatever Saul's reasons might be for desiring Jonathan's assistance in so vile a fact, it is plain that there was a peculiar providence of God in his disclosing himself so freely on this head; since, by that means, David came to right information of his danger.

The Women answered one another as they played, & said, David hath slain his Ten Thousands, &c.

then wilt thou sin against innocent blood, to slay David without a cause?

6 And Saul hearkened unto the voice of Jonathan: and Saul sware, As the LORD liveth, he shall not be slain.

7 And Jonathan called David, and Jonathan shewed him all those things. And Jonathan brought David to Saul, and he was in his presence, as in times past.

8 ¶ And there was war again: and David went out, and fought with the Philistines, and slew them with a great slaughter; and they fled from him.

9 And the evil spirit from the LORD was upon Saul, as he sat in his house with his javelin in his hand: and David played with his hand.

10 And Saul sought to smite David even to the wall with the javelin; but he slipped away out of Saul's presence, and he smote the javelin into the wall: and David fled, and escaped that night.

11 ¶ Saul also sent messengers unto David's house, to watch him, and to slay him in the morning: and Michal David's wife told him, saying, If thou save not thy life to night, to morrow thou shalt be slain.

12 ¶ So Michal let David down through a window: and he went, and fled, and escaped.

13 And Michal took an image, and laid it in the bed, and put a pillow of goats' hair for his bolster, and covered it with a cloth.

14 And when Saul sent messengers to take David, she said, He is sick:

15 And Saul sent the messengers again to see David, saying, Bring him up to me in the bed, that I may slay him.

16 And when the messengers were come in, behold, there was an image in the bed, with a pillow of goats' hair for his bolster.

17 And Saul said unto Michal, Why hast thou deceived me so, and sent away mine enemy, that he is escaped? And Michal answered Saul, He said unto me, Let me go; why should I kill thee?

18 ¶ So David fled, and escaped, and came to Samuel to Ramah, and told him all that Saul had done to him. And he and Samuel went and dwelt in Naioth.

19 And it was told Saul, saying, Behold, David is at Naioth in Ramah.

20 And Saul sent messengers to take David: and when they saw the company of the prophets prophesying, and Samuel standing as appointed over them, the Spirit of God was upon the messengers of Saul, and they also prophesied.

21 And when it was told Saul, he sent other messengers, and they prophesied likewise. And Saul sent messengers again the third time, and they prophesied also.

22 Then went he also to Ramah, and came to a great well that is in Sechu: and he asked and said, Where are Samuel and David? And one said, Behold, they be at Naioth in Ramah.

23 ¶ And he went thither to Naioth in Ramah: and the Spirit of God was upon him also, and he went on, and prophesied, until he came to Naioth in Ramah.

24 And he stripped off his clothes also, and prophfied before Samuel in like manner, and lay down naked all that day and all that night. Wherefore they say, Is Saul also among the prophets?

CHAP. XX.

1 David consulteth with Jonathan how to provide for his safety. 1 The friendly league between them confirmed by oath. 18 They agree upon a token. 24 David absenting himself from the king's table is excused by Jonathan; Saul being enraged seeketh to kill Jonathan. 35 Jonathan informeth David of his danger by the token agreed on. 41 The two friends take a loving leave of each other.

AND David fled from Naioth in Ramah, and came and said before Jonathan, What have I done? what is mine iniquity? and what is my sin before thy father, that he seeketh my life?

2 And he said unto him, God forbid; thou shalt not die: behold, my father will do nothing either great or small, but that he will shew it me: and why should my father hide this thing from me? it is not so.

3 And David sware moreover, and said, Thy father certainly knoweth that I have found grace in thine eyes; and he saith, Let not Jonathan know this, lest he be grieved: but truly as the LORD liveth, and as thy soul liveth, there is but a step between me and death.

4 Then said Jonathan unto David, Whatsoever thy soul desireth, I will even do it for thee.

5 And David said unto Jonathan, Behold, to morrow is the new moon, and I should not fail to sit with the king at meat: but let me go, that I may hide myself in the field unto the third day at even.

6 If thy father at all miss me, then say, David earnestly asked leave of me that he might run to Bethlehem his city: for there is a yearly sacrifice there for all the family.

7 If he say thus, It is well; thy servant shall have peace: but if he be very wroth, then be sure that evil is determined by him.

8 Therefore thou shalt deal kindly with thy servant; for thou hast brought thy servant into a covenant of the LORD with thee: notwithstanding, if there be in me iniquity, slay me thyself; for why shouldest thou bring me to thy father?

9 And Jonathan said, Far be it from thee: for if I knew certainly that evil were determined by my father to come upon thee, then would not I tell it thee?

10 Then said David to Jonathan, Who shall tell me? or what if thy father answer thee roughly?

11 ¶ And Jonathan said unto David, Come, and let us go out into the field. And they went out both of them into the field.

12 And Jonathan said unto David, O LORD God of Israel, when I have founded my father about to morrow any time, or the third day, and, behold, if there be good toward David, and I then send not unto thee, and shew it thee;

13 The LORD do so and much more to Jonathan: but if it please my father to do thee evil, then I will shew it thee, and send thee away, that thou mayest go in

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XIX.

From the example of Jonathan, here set before us, we should learn to take the part of the innocent when persecuted unjustly, never to be backward in our good offices towards others, and to use all sort of means to soften those that are in wrath.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XX.

3 He saith, Let not Jonathan know this, &c.] He was willing to believe that Saul might conceal his intentions from Jonathan, on account of the affection which his son had for David.

5 To morrow is the new moon, &c.] The Israelites performed solemn sacrifices every new moon, and after the sacrifices feasted together.

11 Jonathan said unto David, O Lord God of Israel, when I have founded, &c.] The first words of Jonathan seem to be an exclamation; after which he recovers himself, and proceeds to declare his sincerity in the most affectionate manner.

8 David went out, and fought with the Philistines, &c.] These were only skirmishes between small parties.

11 Michal David's wife told him, &c.] Michal, it is probable, had received information either from her brother Jonathan, or from some other friend at court.

13 Took an image, &c.] Not such an image as was made for a superstitious use, but only a simple image, representing a man.

17 Let me go; why should I kill thee? This was a fiction of Michal's; for it is not likely either that she would endeavour to detain him, or that he would threaten to kill her if she did.

18 He and Samuel went and dwelt at Naioth.] Naioth was a place near or belonging to Ramah, where the sons of the prophets had their ordinary residence.

20 Saul sent messengers to take David, &c.] Such was Saul's implacable hatred to David, that it had abolished not only all respect and reverence to Samuel, (under whose protection David then was) but all regard likewise to the college of the prophets, which in those days had obtained the privilege of a sanctuary.

24 He stripped off his clothes, &c.] His royal robes, appearing like an ordinary man, or perhaps in the prophetic habit.

Before CHRIST 1062. in peace: and the LORD be with thee, as he hath been with my father.

14 And thou shalt not only while yet I live shew me the kindness of the LORD, that I die not:

15 But also thou shalt not cut off thy kindness from my house for ever: no, not when the LORD hath cut off the enemies of David every one from the face of the earth.

16 So Jonathan made a covenant with the house of David, saying, Let the LORD even require it at the hand of David's enemies.

17 And Jonathan caused David to swear again, because he loved him: for he loved him as he loved his own soul.

18 ¶ Then Jonathan said to David, To morrow is the new moon: and thou shalt be missed, because thy seat will be empty.

19 And when thou hast stayed three days, then thou shalt go down quickly, and come to the place where thou didst hide thyself when the business was in hand, and shalt remain by the stone Ezel.

20 And I will shoot three arrows on the side thereof, as though I shot at a mark.

21 And, behold, I will send a lad, saying, Go, find out the arrows. If I expressly say unto the lad, Behold, the arrows are on this side of thee, take them; then come thou; for there is peace to thee, and no hurt: as the LORD liveth.

22 But if I say thus unto the young man, Behold, the arrows are beyond thee; go thy way: for the LORD hath sent thee away.

23 And as touching the matter which thou and I have spoken of, behold, the LORD be between thee and me for ever.

24 ¶ So David hid himself in the field: and when the new moon was come, the king sat him down to eat meat.

25 And the king sat upon his seat, as at other times, even upon a seat by the wall: and Jonathan arose, and Abner sat by Saul's side, and David's place was empty.

26 Nevertheless Saul spake not any thing that day: for he thought, Something hath befallen him, he is not clean; surely he is not clean.

27 And it came to pass on the morrow, which was the second day of the month, that David's place was empty: and Saul said unto Jonathan his son, Wherefore cometh not the son of Jesse to meat, neither yesterday nor to day?

28 And Jonathan answered Saul, David earnestly asked leave of me to go to Beth-lehem:

29 And he said, Let me go, I pray thee; for our family hath a sacrifice in the city; and my brother, he hath commanded me to be there: and now, if I have found favour in thine eyes, let me get away, I pray thee, and see my brethren. Therefore he cometh not unto the king's table.

30 Then Saul's anger was kindled against Jonathan, and he said unto him, Thou son of the perverse rebellious woman, do not I know that thou hast chosen the son of Jesse to thine own confusion, and unto the confusion of thy mother's nakedness?

31 For as long as the son of Jesse liveth upon the ground, thou shalt not be established, nor thy kingdom.

19 When thou hast stayed three days, then thou shalt go down, &c.] The meaning seems to be, that if Jonathan did not come the first day, it should be taken for granted that he knew nothing, and David therefore was to come again the second day; and if Jonathan brought him no news on that day, David was to come once more on the third.

25 Jonathan arose, &c.] Bishop Patrick interprets it, that he arose out of respect, when his father came into the room.

30 Thou son of the perverse rebellious woman, &c.] Or, as it is in the Hebrew, Thou son of perverse rebellion! that is, thou very perverse rebel.

33 Saul cast a javelin at him, &c.] Spears were the sceptres of those ages, which kings always carried in their hands.

40 His artillery, &c.] His bow, arrows, and quiver.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XX.

From these instances of the strict and very tender friendship between Wherefore now send and fetch him unto me, for he shall surely die.

32 And Jonathan answered Saul his father, and said unto him, Wherefore shall he be slain? What hath he done?

33 And Saul cast a javelin at him to smite him: whereby Jonathan knew that it was determined of his father to slay David.

34 So Jonathan arose from the table in fierce anger, and did eat no meat the second day of the month: for he was grieved for David, because his father had done him shame.

35 ¶ And it came to pass in the morning, that Jonathan went out into the field at the time appointed with David, and a little lad with him.

36 And he said unto his lad, Run, find out now the arrows which I shoot. And as the lad ran, he shot an arrow beyond him.

37 And when the lad was come to the place of the arrow which Jonathan had shot, Jonathan cried after the lad, and said, Is not the arrow beyond thee?

38 And Jonathan cried after the lad, Make speed, haste, stay not. And Jonathan's lad gathered up the arrows, and came to his master.

39 But the lad knew not any thing: only Jonathan and David knew the matter.

40 And Jonathan gave his artillery unto his lad, and said unto him, Go, carry them to the city.

41 ¶ And as soon as the lad was gone, David arose out of a place toward the south, and fell on his face to the ground, and bowed himself three times: and they kissed one another, and wept one with another until David exceeded.

42 And Jonathan said to David, Go in peace, forasmuch as we have sworn both of us in the name of the LORD, saying, The LORD be between me and thee, and between my seed and thy seed for ever. And he arose and departed: and Jonathan went into the city.

1 David cometh to Nob, and obtaineth of Ahimelech hallowed bread: Doeg is present. 8 David asketh for a sword, and receiveth the sword of Goliath. 10 He fleeth to Gath, where to save his life he feigneth himself mad.

THEN came David to Nob to Ahimelech the priest: and Ahimelech was afraid at the meeting of David, and said unto him, Why art thou alone, and no man with thee?

2 And David said unto Ahimelech the priest, The king hath commanded me a business, and hath said unto me, Let no man know any thing of the business whereabout I send thee, and what I have commanded thee: and I have appointed my servants to such and such a place.

3 Now therefore what is under thine hand? give me five loaves of bread in mine hand, or what there is present.

4 And the priest answered David, and said, There is no common bread under mine hand, but there is hallowed bread; if the young men have kept themselves at least from women.

5 And David answered the priest, and said unto him, Of a truth women have been kept from us about these three

Jonathan and David, we see what are the duties of that endearing connection; and that true friends, whose friendship is founded upon piety, esteem, and virtue, are a treasure never to be sufficiently valued.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXI.

1 Nob, &c.] The generality of interpreters will have the city here specified to be that which stood on the west side, and in the tribe of Benjamin.

3 What is under thine hand? &c.] That is, what food hast thou ready to be eaten?

4 If the young men, &c.] The priest is there to be understood as only taking notice that no such persons were with him, as usually he knew attended him, and were the constant guards of one of David's quality.

three days, since I came out, and the vessels of the young men are holy, and the bread is in a manner common, yea, though it were sanctified this day in the vessel.

6 So the priest gave him hallowed bread: for there was no bread there but the shewbread, that was taken from before the LORD, to put hot bread in the day when it was taken away.

7 Now a certain man of the servants of Saul was there that day, detained before the LORD; and his name was Doeg, an Edomite, the chiefest of the herdmen that belonged to Saul.

8 ¶ And David said unto Ahimelech, And is there not here under thine hand a spear or sword? for I have neither brought my sword nor my weapons with me, because the king's business required haste.

9 And the priest said, The sword of Goliath the Philistine, whom thou slewest in the valley of Elah, behold, it is here wrapped in a cloth behind the ephod: if thou wilt take that, take it: for there is no other save that here. And David said, There is none like that; give it me.

10 ¶ And David arose, and fled that day for fear of Saul, and went to Achish the king of Gath.

11 And the servants of Achish said unto him, Is not this David the king of the land? did they not sing one to another of him in dances, saying, Saul hath slain his thousands, and David his ten thousands?

12 And David laid up these words in his heart, and was sore afraid of Achish the king of Gath.

13 And he changed his behaviour before them, and feigned himself mad in their hands, and scrabbled on the doors of the gate, and let his spittle fall down upon his beard.

14 Then said Achish unto his servants, Lo, ye see the man is mad: wherefore then have ye brought him to me?

15 Have I need of mad men, that ye have brought this fellow to play the mad man in my presence? shall this fellow come into my house?

1 David's kindred and others resort unto him at Adullam.

3 At Mizpeh he commendeth his parents to the protection of the king of Moab. 5 Admonished by Gad he removeth to Hareth. 6 Saul complaineth of the unfaithfulness of his servants. 9 Doeg accuseth Ahimelech.

11 Ahimelech is sent for with the priests, and answereth the charge. 11 The footmen refusing to slay the priests at the king's command, Doeg executeth it: their city Nob is destroyed. 20 Abiathar escaping bringeth David the news.

DAVID therefore departed thence, and escaped to the cave Adullam: and when his brethren and all his father's house heard it, they went down thither to him.

7 Detained before the Lord, &c.] Not by force or constraint, but by some vow he had upon him, or some religious performance to which he had obliged himself.

9 The sword of Goliath the Philistine, &c.] In conformity to antient custom, the sword with which David cut off Goliath's head he dedicated to the Lord, and delivered it to the priest, to be kept as a monument of his victory, and of the Israelites' deliverance.

13 He changed his behaviour before them, and feigned himself mad, &c.] Self-preservation is one of the first laws of nature. David, therefore, being in manifest danger, chose to personate the fool, because he presumed that Achish would readily conclude that the troubles he had suffered under Saul's persecution of him had stupified his senses, and turned his brain.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XXI.

David's conduct, as here related, shews that he did not sufficiently rely on the promises of the Lord; and should be a warning to us, never to have recourse to evil means, nor do any thing unworthy of our calling, to avoid the dangers which threaten us.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXII.

1 Adullam, &c.] This was a town in the tribe of Judah, where there was a rock of the same name, in which was a cave naturally strong and well fortified, to which David retreated.

2 And every one that was in distress, &c.] These refugees were called in the Gallic language foldarii, from whence the word, soldier, No. 24.

And every one that was in distress, and every one that was in debt, and every one that was discontented, gathered themselves unto him; and he became a captain over them: and there were with him about four hundred men. Before CHRIST 1062.

3 ¶ And David went thence to Mizpeh of Moab: and he said unto the king of Moab, Let my father and my mother, I pray thee, come forth, and be with you, till I know what God will do for me.

4 And he brought them before the king of Moab: and they dwelt with him all the while that David was in the hold.

5 ¶ And the prophet Gad said unto David, Abide not in the hold; depart, and get thee into the land of Judah. Then David departed, and came into the forest of Hareth.

6 ¶ When Saul heard that David was discovered, and the men that were with him, (now Saul abode in Gibeah under a tree in Ramah, having a spear in his hand, and all his servants were standing about him;)

7 Then Saul said into his servants that stood about him, Hear now, ye Benjamites; will the son of Jesse give every one of you fields and vineyards, and make you all captains of thousands, and captains of hundreds;

That all of you have conspired against me, and there is none that sheweth me that my son hath made a league with the son of Jesse, and there is none of you that is sorry for me, or sheweth unto me that my son hath stirred up my servant against me, to lie in wait, as at this day?

9 ¶ Then answered Doeg the Edomite, which was set over the servants of Saul, and said, I saw the son of Jesse coming to Nob, to Ahimelech the son of Ahitub.

10 And he enquired of the LORD for him, and gave him victuals, and gave him the sword of Goliath the Philistine.

11 ¶ Then the king sent to call Ahimelech the priest, the son of Ahitub, and all his father's house, the priests that were in Nob: and they came all of them to the king.

12 And Saul said, Hear now, thou son of Ahitub. And he answered, Here I am, my lord.

13 And Saul said unto him, Why have ye conspired against me, thou and the son of Jesse, in that thou hast given him bread, and a sword, and hast enquired of God for him, that he should rise against me, to lie in wait, as at this day?

14 Then Ahimelech answered the king, and said, And who is so faithful among all thy servants as David, which is the king's son in law, and goeth at thy bidding, and is honourable in thine house?

15 Did I then begin to enquire of God for him? be it far from me: let not the king impute any thing unto his servant, nor to all the house of my father: for thy servant knew nothing of all this, less or more.

16 And

is derived; and as they might be honest and good men, though they had the misfortune to be in debt, or could not submit to tyrannical treatment, so in all probability David's companions were, though in debt, men of good characters.

3 David went thence to Mizpeh of Moab, &c.] The king of Moab was then at enmity with Saul.

5 Get thee into the land of Judah, &c.] He would have him publicly appear, as one that confided in God, and his own innocence.

6 Under a tree in Ramah, &c.] Or, Under a grove in a high place.

9 I saw the son of Jesse, &c.] Meanly to ingratiate himself with Saul, how contemptuously does Doeg speak here of David, not vouchsafing to call him by his name!

10 And he enquired of the Lord for him, &c.] Doeg's conduct is artful, mean, and malicious: misrepresenting some things, and wholly suppressing others; discovering every thing that might be construed to the prejudice of Ahimelech, and concealing every circumstance that would plead in his favour. A conduct characteristic of a wicked man.

12 Here I am, my lord.] Notwithstanding the king forgot the respect due to the priest, the priest did not forget his duty to the king.

15 Did I then begin to enquire of God for him? &c.] He had before done the same thing for him, without any imputation of guilt, and therefore urges that what he had now done should not be an argument against him.

Before
1062.

16 And the king said, Thou shalt surely die, Ahimelech, thou, and all thy father's house.

17 ¶ And the king said unto the footmen that stood about him, Turn, and slay the priests of the LORD; because their hand also is with David, and because they knew when he fled, and did not shew it to me. But the servants of the king would not put forth their hand to fall upon the priests of the LORD.

18 And the king said to Doeg, Turn thou, and fall upon the priests. And Doeg the Edomite turned, and he fell upon the priests, and slew on that day fourscore and five persons that did wear a linen ephod.

19 And Nob, the city of the priests, smote he with the edge of the sword, both men and women, children and sucklings, and oxen, and asses, and sheep, with the edge of the sword.

20 ¶ And one of the sons of Ahimelech the son of Ahitub, named Abiathar, escaped, and fled after David.

21 And Abiathar shewed David that Saul had slain the LORD's priests.

22 And David said unto Abiathar, I knew it that day, when Doeg the Edomite was there, that he would surely tell Saul: I have occasioned the death of all the persons of thy father's house.

23 Abide thou with me, fear not: for he that seeketh my life seeketh thy life: but with me thou shalt be in safeguard.

C H A P. XXIII.

I The Philistines fight against Keilah; David, enquiring of the Lord by Abiathar, smiteth them, and saveth Keilah. 7 Saul purposeth to besiege him at Keilah. 9 God sheweth him of Saul's coming, and the treachery of the Keilites. 13 He escapeth to Ziph, whither Jonathan cometh and comforteth him. 19 The Ziphites discover him to Saul, who pursueth him closely in Maon, 27 but is called off by an invasion of the Philistines. 29 David dwelleth at En-gedi.

THEY told David, saying, Behold, the Philistines fight against Keilah, and they rob the threshing-floors.

2 Therefore David enquired of the LORD, saying, Shall I go and smite these Philistines? And the LORD said unto David, Go, and smite the Philistines, and save Keilah.

3 And David's men said unto him, Behold, we be afraid here in Judah: how much more then if we come to Keilah against the armies of the Philistines?

4 Then David enquired of the LORD yet again. And the LORD answered him and said, Arise, go down to Keilah; for I will deliver the Philistines into thine hand.

5 So David and his men went to Keilah, and fought with the Philistines, and brought away their cattle, and smote them with a great slaughter. So David saved the inhabitants of Keilah.

6 And it came to pass, when Abiathar the son of Ahimelech fled to David to Keilah, that he came down with an ephod in his hand.

1061. 7 ¶ And it was told Saul that David was come to Keilah. And Saul said, God hath delivered him into mine hand; for he is shut in, by entering into a town that hath gates and bars.

8 And Saul called all the people together to war, to go down to Keilah, to besiege David and his men.

17 The servants of the king would not put forth their hand to fall upon the priests of the Lord.] In this they were to be commended; but to stand wringing their hands, while they saw so many innocent creatures murdered, was much the same as to betray all divine and human rights merely to please a tyrant.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXII.

In this chapter we see what evil calumnies occasion; which should strike us with horror for that sin, and also at the impiety and injustice of Saul, as well as the cruelty and wickedness of Doeg, in slaying the priests of the Lord.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXIII.

1 They told David, &c.] More properly, they had told David.

9 ¶ And David knew that Saul secretly practised mischief against him; and he said to Abiathar the priest, Bring hither the ephod.

10 Then said David, O LORD God of Israel, thy servant hath certainly heard that Saul seeketh to come to Keilah, to destroy the city for my sake.

11 Will the men of Keilah deliver me up into his hand? will Saul come down, as thy servant hath heard? O LORD God of Israel, I beseech thee, tell thy servant. And the LORD said, He will come down.

12 Then said David, Will the men of Keilah deliver me and my men into the hand of Saul? And the LORD said, They will deliver thee up.

13 ¶ Then David and his men, which were about six hundred, arose and departed out of Keilah, and went whithersoever they could go. And it was told Saul that David was escaped from Keilah; and he forbore to go forth.

14 And David abode in the wilderness in strong holds, and remained in a mountain in the wilderness of Ziph. And Saul sought him every day, but God delivered him not into his hand.

15 And David saw that Saul was come out to seek his life: and David was in the wilderness of Ziph in a wood.

16 And Jonathan Saul's son arose, and went to David into the wood, and strengthened his hand in God.

17 And he said unto him, Fear not: for the hand of Saul my father shall not find thee; and thou shalt be king over Israel, and I shall be next unto thee; and that also Saul my father knoweth.

18 And they two made a covenant before the LORD: and David abode in the wood, and Jonathan went to his house.

19 ¶ Then came up the Ziphites to Saul to Gibeah, saying, Doth not David hide himself with us in strong holds in the wood, in the hill of Hachilah, which is on the south of Jeshimon?

20 Now therefore, O king, come down according to all the desire of thy soul to come down; and our parts shall be to deliver him into the king's hand.

21 And Saul said, Blessed be ye of the LORD; for ye have compassion on me.

22 Go, I pray you, prepare yet, and know and see his place where his haunt is, and who hath seen him there: for it is told me that he dealeth very subtilly.

23 See therefore, and take knowledge of all the lurking places where he hideth himself, and come ye again to me with the certainty, and I will go with you: and it shall come to pass, if he be in the land, that I will search him out throughout all the thousands of Judah.

24 And they arose, and went to Ziph before Saul: but David and his men were in the wilderness of Maon, in the plain on the south of Jeshimon.

25 Saul also and his men went to seek him. And they told David: wherefore he came down into a rock, and abode in the wilderness of Maon. And when Saul heard that, he pursued after David in the wilderness of Maon.

26 And Saul went on this side of the mountain, and David and his men on that side of the mountain: and David made haste to get away for fear of Saul; for Saul and his men compassed David and his men round about to take them.

27 ¶ But

3 We be afraid here in Judah: how much more then if, &c.] His men argued against this expedition, because they did not think themselves safe in their own country, where they hoped they had some friends; and therefore they thought they should be in still greater danger if they made the Philistines their enemies.

4 Enquired of the Lord yet again, &c.] Not for his own satisfaction, but theirs.

10 Then said David, O Lord, &c.] The high-priest was the person appointed by God, to ask council of him for the supreme governor; therefore David spoke these words by the mouth of Abiathar.

13 And went whithersoever they could go, &c.] Sometimes to one place, sometimes to another, according to they found any hope of safety.

GENERA

27 ¶ But there came a messenger unto Saul, saying, Haste thee, and come; for the Philistines have invaded the land.

28 Wherefore Saul returned from pursuing after David, and went against the Philistines: therefore they called that place Sela-hammahlekoth.

29 ¶ And David went up from thence, and dwelt in strong holds at En-gedi.

CHAP. XXIV.

David in a cave at En-gedi cutteth off Saul's skirt, but spareth his life: 8 He urgeth this as a proof of his innocency. 16 Saul acknowledgeth his fault, taketh an oath of David, and departeth.

AND it came to pass, when Saul was returned from following the Philistines, that it was told him, saying, Behold, David is in the wilderness of En-gedi.

2 Then Saul took three thousand chosen men out of all Israel, and went to seek David and his men upon the rocks of the wild goats.

3 And he came to the sheepcotes by the way, where was a cave; and Saul went in to cover his feet: and David and his men remained in the sides of the cave.

4 And the men of David said unto him, Behold the day of which the LORD said unto thee, Behold, I will deliver thine enemy into thine hand, that thou mayest do to him as it shall seem good unto thee. Then David arose, and cut off the skirt of Saul's robe privily.

5 And it came to pass afterward, that David's heart smote him, because he had cut off Saul's skirt.

6 And he said unto his men, The LORD forbid that I should do this thing unto my master, the LORD's anointed, to stretch forth mine hand against him, seeing he is the anointed of the LORD.

7 So David stayed his servants with these words, and suffered them not to rise against Saul. But Saul rose up out of the cave, and went on his way.

8 ¶ David also arose afterward, and went out of the cave, and cried after Saul, saying, My lord the king. And when Saul looked behind him, David stooped with his face to the earth, and bowed himself.

9 And David said to Saul, Wherefore hearest thou men's words, saying, Behold, David seeketh thy hurt?

10 Behold, this day thine eyes have seen how that the LORD had delivered thee to day into mine hand in the cave: and some bade me kill thee: but mine eye spared thee; and I said, I will not put forth mine hand against my lord; for he is the LORD's anointed.

11 Moreover, my father, see, yea, see the skirt of thy robe in my hand: for in that I cut off the skirt of thy robe, and killed thee not, know thou and see that there is neither evil nor transgression in mine hand, and I have not sinned against thee; yet thou huntest my soul to take it.

12 The LORD judge between me and thee, and the LORD avenge me of thee: but mine hand shall not be upon thee.

13 As faith the proverb of the ancients, Wickedness proceedeth from the wicked: but mine hand shall not be upon thee.

14 After whom is the king of Israel come out? after whom dost thou pursue? after a dead dog, after a flea.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXIII.

In the case of David, it evidently appears, that God preserves his children, sometimes by warning them of dangers wherewith they are threatened, and sometimes in casting obstacles in the way of their enemies, to hinder them from executing their unjust designs.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXIV.

3 To cover his feet, &c.] This may be understood of laying down to sleep.

5 Because he had cut off Saul's skirt] Because he had offered such an indignity to his prince.

6 The Lord forbid that I should do this thing unto my master, &c.] This one example of David's, under all the provocations which he received, evidently shews that the persons of kings are sacred.

22 David and his men gat them up unto the hold.] Knowing the inconsistency of Saul's temper, he was fearful of trusting him.

15 The LORD therefore be judge, and judge between me and thee, and sec, and plead my cause, and deliver me out of thine hand. Before CHRIST 1061.

16 ¶ And it came to pass, when David had made an end of speaking these words unto Saul, that Saul said, Is this thy voice, my son David? And Saul lifted up his voice, and wept.

17 And he said to David, Thou art more righteous than I: for thou hast rewarded me good, whereas I have rewarded thee evil.

18 And thou hast shewed this day how that thou hast dealt well with me: forasmuch as when the LORD had delivered me into thine hand, thou killedst me not.

19 For if a man find his enemy, will he let him go well away? wherefore the LORD reward thee good for that thou hast done unto me this day.

20 And now, behold, I know well that thou shalt surely be king, and that the kingdom of Israel shall be established in thine hand.

21 Swear now therefore unto me by the LORD, that thou wilt not cut off my seed after me, and that thou wilt not destroy my name out of my father's house.

22 And David swore unto Saul. And Saul went home; but David and his men gat them up unto the hold.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Samuel dieth: David goeth to Paran. 2 The characters of Nabal and Abigail. 4 David sendeth a message to Nabal. 10 Provoked by Nabal's churlish answer, he setteth forth to destroy him. 14 Abigail is informed thereof: 18 she meeteth David with a present, and intreateth his pardon. 32 David bleisseth God and her for so timely an interposition, and dismisseth her courteously. 36 Nabal, stricken with her relation of the matter, dieth. 39 David again bleisseth God, and marrieth Abigail and Ahinoam. 44 His wife Michal is given to Phalti.

AND Samuel died; and all the Israelites were gathered together, and lamented him, and buried him in his house at Ramah. And David arose, and went down to the wilderness of Paran. 1060.

2 ¶ And there was a man in Maon, whose possessions were in Carmel; and the man was very great, and he had three thousand sheep, and a thousand goats: and he was shearing his sheep in Carmel.

3 Now the name of the man was Nabal; and the name of his wife Abigail: and she was a woman of good understanding, and of a beautiful countenance: but the man was churlish and evil in his doings; and he was of the house of Caleb.

4 ¶ And David heard in the wilderness that Nabal did shear his sheep.

5 And David sent out ten young men, and David said unto the young men, Get you up to Carmel, and go to Nabal; and greet him in my name:

6 And thus shall ye say to him that liveth in prosperity, Peace be both to thee, and peace be to thine house, and peace be unto all that thou hast.

7 And now I have heard that thou hast shearers: now thy shepherds which were with us, we hurt them not, neither was there aught missing unto them, all the while they were in Carmel.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXIV.

The example teaches us, to be gentle and moderate, even to those who do us the greatest mischief; never to avenge ourselves, but rather to return good for evil.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXV.

1 Samuel died.] About two years before the death of Saul, and in the ninety-eighth year of his age, twenty of which he had spent in the government of Israel.

The wilderness of Paran.] This lay on the south side of Judea, bordering upon Arabia.

3 He was of the house of Caleb.] Descended, but degenerated, from a worthy ancestor.

6 Peace be both to thee, &c.] There could not well be an higher compliment; peace, in the sacred language, implying all manner of blessings.

Before
1060.

8 Ask thy young men, and they will shew thee. Wherefore let the young men find favour in thine eyes: for we come in a good day: give, I pray thee, whatsoever cometh to thine hand unto thy servants, and to thy son David.

9 And when David's young men came, they spake to Nabal according to all those words in the name of David, and ceased.

10 ¶ And Nabal answered David's servants, and said, Who is David? and who is the son of Jesse? there be many servants now a days that break away every man from his master.

11 Shall I then take my bread, and my water, and my flesh that I have killed for my shearers, and give it unto men, whom I know not whence they be?

12 So David's young men turned their way, and went again, and came and told him all those sayings.

13 And David said unto his men, Gird ye on every man his sword. And they girded on every man his sword; and David also girded on his sword: and there went up after David about four hundred men; and two hundred abode by the stuff.

14 ¶ But one of the young men told Abigail, Nabal's wife, saying, Behold, David sent messengers out of the wilderness to salute our master; and he railed on them.

15 But the men were very good unto us, and we werenot hurt; neither missed we any thing, as long as we were conversant with them, when we were in the fields:

16 They were a wall unto us both by night and day, all the while we were with them keeping the sheep.

17 Now therefore know and consider what thou wilt do; for evil is determined against our master, and against all his household: for he is such a son of Belial, that a man cannot speak to him.

18 ¶ Then Abigail made haste, and took two hundred loaves, and two bottles of wine, and five sheep ready dressed, and five measures of parched corn, and an hundred clusters of raisins, and two hundred cakes of figs, and laid them on asses.

19 And she said unto her servants, Go on before me; behold, I come after you. But she told not her husband Nabal.

20 And it was so, as she rode on the asses, that she came down by the covert of the hill, and, behold, David and his men came down against her; and she met them.

21 Now David had said, Surely in vain have I kept all that this fellow hath in the wilderness, so that nothing was missed of all that pertained unto him: and he hath requited me evil for good.

22 So and more also do God unto the enemies of David, if I leave of all that pertain to him by the morning light any that pisseth against the wall.

23 And when Abigail saw David, she hastened, and lighted off the asses, and fell before David on her face, and bowed herself to the ground.

24 And fell at his feet and said, Upon me, my lord, upon me let this iniquity be: and let thine handmaid, I pray thee, speak in thine audience, and hear the words of thine handmaid.

25 Let not my lord, I pray thee, regard this man of Belial, even Nabal: for as his name is, so is he; Nabal is his name, and folly is with him: but I thine handmaid saw not the young men of my lord, whom thou didst send.

26 Now therefore, my lord, as the LORD liveth, and as thy soul liveth, seeing the LORD hath withholden thee from coming to shed blood, and from avenging thyself with thine own hand, now let thine enemies, and they that seek evil to my lord, be as Nabal.

27 And now this blessing which thine handmaid hath brought unto my lord, let it even be given unto the young men that follow my lord.

28 I pray thee, forgive the trespasses of thine handmaid: for the LORD will certainly make my lord a sure house; because my lord fighteth the battles of the LORD, and evil hath not been found in thee all thy days.

29 Yet a man is risen to pursue thee, and to seek thy soul: but the soul of my lord shall be bound in the bundle of life with the LORD thy God; and the souls of thine enemies, them shall he sling out, as out of the middle of a sling.

30 And it shall come to pass, when the LORD shall have done to my lord according to all the good that he hath spoken concerning thee, and shall have appointed thee ruler over Israel;

31 That this shall be no grief unto thee, nor offence of heart unto my lord, either that thou hast shed blood causeless, or that my lord hath avenged himself: but when the LORD shall have dealt well with my lord, then remember thine handmaid.

32 ¶ And David said to Abigail, Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, which sent thee this day to meet me:

33 And blessed be thy advice, and blessed be thou, which hast kept me this day from coming to shed blood, and from avenging myself with mine own hand.

34 For in very deed, as the LORD God of Israel liveth, which hath kept me back from hurting thee, except thou hadst hastened and come to meet me, surely there had not been left unto Nabal by the morning light any that pisseth against the wall.

35 So David received of her hand that which she had brought him, and said unto her, Go up in peace to thine house; see, I have hearkened to thy voice, and have accepted thy person.

36 ¶ And Abigail came to Nabal; and, behold, he held a feast in his house, like the feast of a king; and Nabal's heart was merry within him, for he was very drunken: wherefore she told him nothing, less or more, until the morning light.

37 But it came to pass in the morning, when the wine was gone out of Nabal, and his wife had told him these things, that his heart died within him, and he became as a stone.

38 And it came to pass about ten days after, that the LORD smote Nabal, that he died.

39 ¶ And when David heard that Nabal was dead, he said, Blessed be the LORD, that hath pleaded the cause of my reproach from the hand of Nabal, and hath kept his servant from evil: for the LORD hath returned the wickedness of Nabal upon his own head. And David sent and communed with Abigail, to take her to him to wife.

40 And when the servants of David were come to Abigail to Carmel, they spake unto her, saying, David sent us unto thee, to take thee to him to wife.

41 And she arose, and bowed herself on her face to the earth, and said, Behold, let thine handmaid be a servant to wash the feet of the servants of my lord.

42 And Abigail hastened, and arose, and rode upon an ass, with five damsels of her's that went after her; and she went after the messengers of David, and became his wife.

43 David also took Ahinoam of Jezreel; and they were also both of them his wives.

44 ¶ But Saul had given Michal his daughter, David's wife, to Phalti the son of Laish, which was of Gallim.

corrupt custom of those days, wherein they had perverted the law of nations.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXV.

From hence we may learn, never to suffer ourselves to be carried away by passion; that wise and moderate counsels are the most wholesome; and that oaths made in anger, and to perform evil things, ought not be kept.

COMMENTARY

12. 21. So David's young men turned their way, &c.] After so rude and brutish an answer, they disdained any farther conversation.

18. Two bottles of wine, &c.] These bottles have been explained by bags of leather, two skins or borachios, wherein wine was carried on asses or camels.

C H A P. XXVI.

1 Saul, informed by the Ziphites of David's abode, cometh against him to Hachilah. 5 David coming into the trench findeth Saul and his servants asleep; he stayeth Abishai from killing Saul, but taketh his spear and cruse. 13 David reproveth Abner's negligence, protesteth his own innocency, and exhorteth Saul to desist from pursuing him. 21 Saul acknowledgeth his sin, and returneth home.

AND the Ziphites came unto Saul to Gibeah, saying, Doth not David hide himself in the hill of Hachilah, which is before Jeshimon?

Then Saul arose, and went down to the wilderness of Ziph, having three thousand chosen men of Israel with him, to seek David in the wilderness of Ziph.

3 And Saul pitched in the hill of Hachilah, which is before Jeshimon, by the way. But David abode in the wilderness, and he saw that Saul came after him into the wilderness.

4 David therefore sent out spies, and understood that Saul was come in very deed.

5 ¶ And David arose, and came to the place where Saul had pitched: and David beheld the place where Saul lay, and Abner the son of Ner, the captain of his host: and Saul lay in the trench, and the people pitched round about him.

6 Then answered David and said to Ahimelech the Hittite, and to Abishai the son of Zeruiah, brother to Joab, saying, Who will go down with me to Saul to the camp? And Abishai said, I will go down with thee.

7 So David and Abishai came to the people by night: and, behold, Saul lay sleeping within the trench, and his spear stuck in the ground at his bolster: but Abner and the people lay round about him.

¶ Then said Abishai to David, God hath delivered thine enemy into thine hand this day: now therefore let me smite him, I pray thee, with the spear even to the earth at once, and I will not smite him the second time.

9 And David said to Abishai, Destroy him not: for who can stretch forth his hand against the LORD's anointed, and be guiltless?

10 David said furthermore, As the LORD liveth, the LORD shall smite him; or his day shall come to die; or he shall descend into battle, and perish.

11 The LORD forbid that I should stretch forth mine hand against the LORD's anointed: but, I pray thee, take thou now the spear that is at his bolster, and the cruse of water, and let us go.

12 So David took the spear and the cruse of water from Saul's bolster; and they gat them away, and no man saw it, nor knew it, neither awaked: for they were all asleep; because a deep sleep from the LORD was fallen upon them.

13 ¶ Then David went over to the other side, and stood on the top of an hill afar off; a great space being between them:

14 And David cried to the people, and to Abner the son of Ner, saying, Answerest thou not, Abner? Then Abner answered and said, Who art thou that criest to the king?

15 And David said to Abner, Art not thou a valiant man? and who is like to thee in Israel? wherefore then hast thou not kept thy lord the king? for there came one of the people in to destroy the king thy lord.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXVI.

¶ The Ziphites came unto Saul, &c.] Probably they were afraid that if he came to be king, he would remember and revenge the attempt they had before made to deliver him into the hand of Saul. See chap. xix. 20.

2 Saul arose and went down, &c.] The inconstancy, falseness, and implacable rage, of this prince, is inconceivable.

5 In the trench, &c.] The LXX translate it, "In his chariot."

19 Let him accept an offering, &c.] God is not implacable, but ready to be reconciled if I have offended him.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXVI.

This chapter affords instruction to us, to avoid revenge, to reverence

16 This thing is not good that thou hast done. As the LORD liveth, ye are worthy to die, because ye have not kept your master, the LORD's anointed. And now see where the king's spear is, and the cruse of water that was at his bolster.

17 And Saul knew David's voice, and said, Is this thy voice, my son David? And David said, It is my voice, my lord, O king.

18 And he said, Wherefore doth my lord thus pursue after his servant? for what have I done? or what evil is in mine hand?

19 Now therefore, I pray thee, let my lord the king hear the words of his servant. If the LORD have stirred thee up against me, let him accept an offering: but if they be the children of men, cursed be they before the LORD: for they have driven me out this day from abiding in the inheritance of the LORD, saying, Go serve other gods.

20 Now therefore, let not my blood fall to the earth before the face of the LORD: for the king of Israel is come out to seek a flea, as when one doth hunt a partridge in the mountains.

21 ¶ Then said Saul, I have sinned: return, my son David: for I will no more do thee harm, because my soul was precious in thine eyes this day: behold, I have played the fool, and have erred exceedingly.

22 And David answered and said, Behold the king's spear! and let one of the young men come over and fetch it.

23 The LORD render to every man his righteousness and his faithfulness: for the LORD delivered thee into my hand to day, but I would not stretch forth mine hand against the LORD's anointed.

24 And, behold, as thy life was much set by this day in mine eyes, so let my life be much set by in the eyes of the LORD, and let him deliver me out of all tribulation.

25 Then Saul said to David, Blessed be thou, my son David: thou shalt both do great things, and also shalt still prevail. So David went on his way, and Saul returned to his place.

C H A P. XXVII.

1 Saul heareth that David was fled to Gath seeketh no more for him. 5 David beggeth Ziklag of Achish. 8 He invadeth some other countries, but persuaded Achish that he warred against Judah.

AND David said in his heart, I shall now perish one day by the hand of Saul: there is nothing better for me than that I should speedily escape into the land of the Philistines; and Saul shall despair of me, to seek me any more in any coast of Israel: so shall I escape out of his hand.

2 And David arose, and he passed over with the six hundred men that were with him unto Achish, the son of Maach, king of Gath.

3 And David dwelt with Achish at Gath, he and his men, every man with his household, even David with his two wives, Ahinoam the Jezreelitess, and Abigail the Carmelitess, Nabal's wife.

4 And it was told Saul that David was fled to Gath: and he sought no more again for him.

5 ¶ And David said unto Achish, If I have now found grace in thine eyes, let them give me a place in some town in the country, that I may dwell there: for why should thy servant dwell in the royal city with thee?

6 Then

kings, and behave ourselves with meekness, moderation, and gentleness towards those who treat us with the greatest injustice.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXVII.

1 I shall perish one day by the hand of Saul, &c.] These words must have been spoken in a melancholy fit, when David was under some great depression of spirit, and for a moment lost his proper confidence in God.

5 Let them give me a place in some town or the country, &c.] To avoid the envy of others, secure his people from idolatry, enjoy the free exercise of his religion, and gain opportunity of enterprising something against the enemies of God, without the knowledge or observation of the Philistines.

6 Then Achish gave him Ziklag that day : wherefore Ziklag pertaineth unto the kings of Judah unto this day.

7 And the time that David dwelt in the country of the Philistines was a full year and four months.

8 ¶ And David and his men went up, and invaded the Geshurites, and the Gezrites, and the Amalekites: for those nations were of old the inhabitants of the land, as thou goest to Shur, even unto the land of Egypt.

9 And David smote the land, and left neither man nor woman alive, and took away the sheep, and the oxen, and the asses, and the camels, and the apparel, and returned, and came to Achish.

10 And Achish said, Whither have ye made a road to day? And David said, Against the south of Judah, and against the south of the Jerahmeelites, and against the south of the Kenites.

11 And David saved neither man nor woman alive, to bring tidings to Gath, saying, Lest they should tell on us, saying, So did David, and so will be his manner all the while he dwelleth in the country of the Philistines.

12 And Achish believed David, saying, He hath made his people Israel utterly to abhor him; therefore he shall be my servant for ever.

C H A P. XXVIII.

1 Achish putteth confidence in David. 3 Saul, who had before destroyed the workers with familiar spirits, 4 afraid of the host of the Philistines, and forsaken of God, 7 hath recourse to a witch at Endor, whom he persuadeth to raise up Samuel. 15 Saul being informed by Samuel of his approaching ruin, fainteth. 21 The woman and his servants prevail upon him to take some food for his refreshment.

1056. AND it came to pass in those days, that the Philistines gathered their armies together for warfare, to fight with Israel. And Achish said unto David, Know thou assuredly, that thou shalt go out with me to battle, thou and thy men.

¶ And David said to Achish, Surely thou shalt know what thy servant can do. And Achish said to David, Therefore will I make thee keeper of mine head for ever.

3 ¶ Now Samuel was dead, and all Israel had lamented him, and buried him in Ramah, even in his own city. And Saul had put away those that had familiar spirits, and the wizards, out of the land.

4 ¶ And the Philistines gathered themselves together, and came and pitched in Shunem: and Saul gathered all Israel together, and they pitched in Gilboa.

5 And when Saul saw the host of the Philistines, he was afraid, and his heart greatly trembled.

6 And when Saul enquired of the LORD, the LORD answered him not, neither by dreams, nor by Urim, nor by prophets.

7 ¶ Then said Saul unto his servants, Seek me a woman that hath a familiar spirit, that I may go to her, and enquire of her. And his servants said to him, Be-

6 Ziklag, &c.] Situated in the extreme parts of the tribe of Judah southwards, not far from Hormah, where the Israelites received a defeat while they sojourned in the wilderness.

¶ The Amalekites, &c.] To reconcile this with ver. 8. of ch. xv. the meaning of the latter passage must be, that Saul destroyed many of them fell into his hands; for several of them might make their escape from Saul into the deserts towards Arabia, and upon his retreat, return and possess their old habitations.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXVII.

In this chapter is exhibited God's care of David, and that he was pleased to make use of him in diminishing the power of the enemies of his people; but his conduct, respecting the dissimulation he practised, cannot be justified, neither should it be imitated.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXVIII.

¶ Thou shalt know what thy servant can do, &c.] David answers him ambiguously.

4 Shunem.] This was a city in the borders of the tribe of Issachar, about five miles to the south of mount Hermon.

Gilboa.] A mountain in the valley of Jezreel, not far from Shunem.

hold, there is a woman that hath a familiar spirit at Endor.

8 And Saul disguised himself, and put on other raiment, and he went, and two men with him, and they came to the woman by night: and he said, I pray thee, divine unto me by the familiar spirit, and bring me him up, whom I shall name unto thee.

9 And the woman said unto him, Behold, thou knowest what Saul hath done, how he hath cut off those that have familiar spirits, and the wizards, out of the land: wherefore then layest thou a snare for my life, to cause me to die?

10 And Saul sware to her by the LORD, saying, As the LORD liveth there shall no punishment happen to thee for this thing.

11 Then said the woman, Whom shall I bring up unto thee? And he said, Bring me up Samuel.

12 And when the woman saw Samuel, she cried with a loud voice: and the woman spake to Saul, saying, Why hast thou deceived me? for thou art Saul.

13 And the king said unto her, Be not afraid: for what sawest thou? And the woman said unto Saul, I saw gods ascending out of the earth.

14 And he said unto her, What form is he of? And she said, An old man cometh up; and he is covered with a mantle. And Saul perceived that it was Samuel, and he stooped with his face to the ground, and bowed himself.

15 ¶ And Samuel said to Saul, Why hast thou disquieted me, to bring me up? And Saul answered, I am sore distressed; for the Philistines make war against me, and God is departed from me, and answereth me no more, neither by prophets, nor by dreams: therefore I have called thee, that thou mayest make known unto me what I shall do.

16 Then said Samuel, Wherefore then dost thou ask of me, seeing the LORD is departed from thee, and is become thine enemy?

17 And the LORD hath done to him, as he spake by me: for the LORD hath rent the kingdom out of thine hand, and given it to thy neighbour, even to David:

18 Because thou obeyedst not the voice of the LORD, nor executedst his fierce wrath upon Amalek, therefore hath the LORD done this thing unto thee this day:

19 Moreover the LORD will also deliver Israel with thee into the hand of the Philistines: and to morrow shalt thou and thy sons be with me: the LORD also shall deliver the host of Israel into the hand of the Philistines.

20 Then Saul fell straightway all along on the earth, and was sore afraid, because of the words of Samuel: and there was no strength in him; for he had eaten no bread all the day, nor all the night.

21 ¶ And the woman came unto Saul, and saw that he was sore troubled, and said unto him, Behold, thine handmaid hath obeyed thy voice, and I have put my life into my hand, and have hearkened unto thy words thou spakest unto me.

22 Now therefore, I pray thee, hearken thou also unto

7 Seek me a woman that hath a familiar spirit, &c.] Strange infatuation this in Saul, who had banished all wizards and forcerers out of his kingdom, a dangerous set of people, who made profession of a wicked and unwarrantable art.

8 They came to the woman by night, &c.] It was a common opinion among the Greeks, and perhaps then among the Hebrews, that none of the terrestrial demons appeared in the day-time.

13 I saw gods, &c.] It should have been rendered in the singular number, God, or a great person, for so the word God often signifies in the sacred language.

14 Saul perceived that it was Samuel, &c.] The surprise the woman discovered on Samuel's sudden appearing, that it was not the effect of her magic, but of some superior hand. She saw an object so terrible, so majestic, in short, so contrary to any thing she had ever raised, that she could not forbear being terrified.

15 Why hast thou disquieted me, to bring me up, &c.] It is most rational to think, that the scripture here expresses itself in a manner suitable to the prejudices of the vulgar, among whom it was a common notion, that these incantations gave trouble to the souls that were at rest.

17 To him, &c.] To David.

19 To-morrow, &c.] Or, very shortly.

23 Compelled

unto the voice of thine handmaid, and let me set a morsel of bread before thee; and eat, that thou mayest have strength, when thou goest on thy way.

23 But he refused, and said, I will not eat. But his servants, together with the woman, compelled him; and he hearkened unto their voice. So he arose from the earth, and sat upon the bed.

24 And the woman had a fat calf in the house; and she hasted, and killed it, and took flour, and kneaded it, and did bake unleavened bread thereof:

25 And she brought it before Saul, and before his servants; and they did eat. Then they rose up, and went away that night.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 David marcheth with the Philistines: their princes are offended therewith. 6 Achish dismisseth him with commendations of his fidelity.

NOW the Philistines gathered together all their armies to Aphek: and the Israelites pitched by a fountain which is in Jezreel.

2 And the lords of the Philistines passed on by hundreds, and by thousands: but David and his men passed on in the reeward with Achish.

3 Then said the princes of the Philistines, What do these Hebrews here? And Achish said unto the princes of the Philistines, Is not this David, the servant of Saul the king of Israel, which hath been with me these days, or these years, and I have found no fault in him since he fell unto me unto this day?

4 And the princes of the Philistines were wroth with him; and the princes of the Philistines said unto him, Make this fellow return, that he may go again to his place which thou hast appointed him, and let him not go down with us to battle, lest in the battle he be an adversary to us: for wherewith should he reconcile himself unto his master? should it not be with the heads of these men?

5 Is not this David, of whom they sang one to another in dances, saying, Saul slew his thousands, and David his ten thousands?

6 ¶ Then Achish called David, and said unto him, Surely, as the LORD liveth, thou hast been upright, and thy going out and thy coming in with me in the host is good in my sight: for I have not found evil in thee since the day of thy coming unto me unto this day: nevertheless the lords favour thee not.

7 Wherefore now return, and go in peace, that thou displease not the lords of the Philistines.

8 And David said unto Achish, But what have I done? and what hast thou found in thy servant so long as I have been with thee unto this day, that I may not go fight against the enemies of my lord the king?

9 And Achish answered and said to David, I know that thou art good in my sight, as an angel of God: notwithstanding the princes of the Philistines have said, He shall not go up with us to the battle.

10 Wherefore now rise up early in the morning, with thy master's servants that are come with thee: and as soon as ye be up early in the morning, and have light, depart.

23 Compelled him, &c.] Pressed and importuned him so much that he yielded to them.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXVIII.

We discover in the person of Saul, how sad the condition of those is, who are forsaken of God, and how fearful we should be of falling into the like, through impiety or hardness of heart.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXIX.

3 These days, or these years, &c.] The meaning is, I may say years, not days.

4 Wherewith should he reconcile himself unto his master? should it not be with the heads of these men? &c.] Namely, of the Philistines.

¶ That I may not go fight against the enemies of my lord the king.] If in any case what they call a finesse in policy were allowable, it was in this of David's, when he had unhappily brought himself into these circumstances.

11 So David and his men rose up early to depart in the morning, to return into the land of the Philistines. And the Philistines went up to Jezreel.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The Amalekites spoil Ziklag. 3 David on his return is greatly distressed, but asking counsel of God is encouraged to pursue them. 9 He setteth forward, and finding an Egyptian receiveth intelligence of the enemy. 16 Being conducted to them, he smiteth them, and recovereth the spoil. 22 David's law of dividing the spoil. 26 He sendeth presents to his friends.

AND it came to pass, when David and his men were come to Ziklag on the third day, that the Amalekites had invaded the south, and Ziklag, and smitten Ziklag, and burned it with fire;

2 And had taken the women captives, that were therein: they slew not any, either great or small, but carried them away, and went on their way.

3 ¶ So David and his men came to the city, and, behold, it was burned with fire; and their wives, and their sons, and their daughters, were taken captives.

4 Then David and the people that were with him lifted up their voice and wept, until they had no more power to weep.

5 And David's two wives were taken captives, Ahinoam the Jezreelitess, and Abigail the wife of Nabal the Carmelite.

6 And David was greatly distressed; for the people spake of stoning him, because the soul of all the people was grieved, every man for his sons and for his daughters: but David encouraged himself in the LORD his God.

7 And David said to Abiathar the priest, Ahimelech's son, I pray thee, bring me thither the ephod. And Abiathar brought thither the ephod to David.

8 And David enquired at the LORD, saying, Shall I pursue after this troop? shall I overtake them? And he answered him, Pursue: for thou shalt surely overtake them, and without fail recover all.

9 ¶ So David went, he and the six hundred men that were with him, and came to the brook Besor, where those that were left behind stayed.

10 But David pursued, he and four hundred men: for two hundred abode behind, which were so faint that they could not go over the brook Besor.

11 And they found an Egyptian in the field, and brought him to David, and gave him bread, and he did eat; and they made him drink water;

12 And they gave him a piece of a cake of figs, and two clusters of raisins: and when he had eaten, his spirit came again to him: for he had eaten no bread, nor drunk any water, three days and three nights.

13 And David said unto him, To whom belongeth thou? and whence art thou? And he said, I am a young man of Egypt, servant to an Amalekite; and my master left me, because three days ago I fell sick.

14 We made an invasion upon the south of the Cherethites, and upon the coast which belongeth to Judah, and upon the south of Caleb; and we burned Ziklag with fire.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXIX.

From this chapter we are led to consider that providence disposes of events for the good of those whom God loves; and the Lord delivers them; and gives them a favourable escape from their most troublesome circumstances.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXX.

2 They slew not any, either great or small, but carried them away, &c.] Though their design herein might be cruel and brutish, yet the act is principally to be ascribed to God's over-ruling providence, who restrained and set bounds to their rage.

6 For the people spake of stoning him, &c.] As the cause of this calamity.

14 The south of the Cherethites, &c.] They are the same as the Philistines: the Arabians call their country Keritha.

Before
CHRIST

15 And David said to him, Canst thou bring me down to this company? And he said, Swear unto me by God, that thou wilt neither kill me, nor deliver me into the hands of my master, and I will bring thee down to this company.

16 ¶ And when he had brought him down, behold, they were spread abroad upon all the earth, eating and drinking, and dancing, because of all the great spoil that they had taken out of the land of the Philistines, and out of the land of Judah.

17 And David smote them from the twilight even unto the evening of the next day: and there escaped not a man of them, save four hundred young men, which rode upon camels, and fled.

18 And David recovered all that the Amalekites had carried away: and David rescued his two wives:

19 And there was nothing lacking to them, neither small nor great, neither sons nor daughters, neither spoil, nor any thing that they had taken to them: David recovered all.

20 And David took all the flocks and the herds, which they drove before those other cattle, and said, This is David's spoil.

21 And David came to the two hundred men, which were so faint that they could not follow David, whom they had made also to abide at the brook Besor: and they went forth to meet David, and to meet the people that were with him: and when David came near to the people, he saluted them.

22 ¶ Then answered all the wicked men and men of Belial, of those that went with David, and said, Because they went not with us, we will not give them ought of the spoil that we have recovered, save to every man his wife and his children, that they may lead them away, and depart.

23 Then said David, Ye shall not do so, my brethren, with that which the LORD hath given us, who hath preserved us, and delivered the company that came against us into our hand.

24 For who will hearken unto you in this matter? but as his part is that goeth down to the battle, so shall his part be that tarrieth by the stuff: they shall part alike.

25 And it was so from that day forward, that he made it a statute and an ordinance for Israel unto this day.

26 ¶ And when David came to Ziklag, he sent of the spoil unto the elders of Judah, even to his friends, saying, Behold a present for you of the spoil of the enemies of the LORD.

27 To them which were in Beth-el, and to them which were in south Ramoth, and to them which were in Jattir.

28 And to them which were in Aroer, and to them which were in Siphmoth, and to them which were in Eshtemoa,

29 And to them which were in Rachel, and to them which were in the cities of the Jerahmeelites, and to them which were in the cities of the Kenites,

21 He saluted them.] He enquired after their welfare, for he had left them very weak.

24 For who will hearken unto you] He was confident that no impartial person would be of their opinion, if the matter was referred to them.

They shall part alike.] In some places, a single portion was given to a footman, a double to a centurion, and a treble to a horseman: in other places they varied from this.

26 He sent of the spoil unto the elders of Judah, even to his friends, &c.] Not only to those of his own tribe, but to the inhabitants of the city of Beth-el, which belonged to the tribe of Ephraim, in acknowledgment of their shelter and support, and in prospect of their future favour and interest.

31 Where David himself and his men were wont to haunt.] Either to live secretly among them, or to get provisions or intelligence from them.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXX.

From this chapter we perceive, that the evil which befel David turned to his advantage, and to his greater glory; and so those who in their troubles ask counsel of the Lord, never fail of meeting with good success.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXXI.

2 The Philistines slew Jonathan, &c.] There appears plainly a direction of Providence in suffering him to be slain, that David might more easily come to the throne.

30 And to them which were in Hormah, and to them which were in Chor-ashan, and to them which were in Athach, 31 And to them which were in Hebron, and to all the places where David himself and his men were wont to haunt.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 The battle at Gilboa; wherein Saul's army being defeated, and his sons slain, he and his armourbearer kill themselves. 7 The Philistines take possession of the towns deserted by the Israelites. 8 They insult over the dead bodies of Saul and his sons. 11 The men of Jabesh-gilead recover the bodies by night, burn them, and bury their bones at Jabesh.

NOW the Philistines fought against Israel: and the men of Israel fled from before the Philistines, and fell down slain in mount Gilboa.

2 And the Philistines followed hard upon Saul and upon his sons; and the Philistines slew Jonathan, and Abinadab, and Melchi-shua, Saul's sons.

3 And the battle went fore against Saul, and the archers hit him; and he was fore wounded of the archers.

4 Then said Saul unto his armourbearer, Draw thy sword, and thrust me through therewith; lest these uncircumcised come and thrust me through, and abuse me. But his armourbearer would not; for he was fore afraid. Therefore Saul took a sword, and fell upon it.

5 And when his armourbearer saw that Saul was dead, he fell likewise upon his sword, and died with him.

6 So Saul died, and his three sons, and his armourbearer, and all his men that same day together.

7 ¶ And when the men of Israel that were on the other side of the valley, and they that were on the other side Jordan, saw that the men of Israel fled, and that Saul and his sons were dead, they forsook the cities, and fled; and the Philistines came and dwelt in them.

8 And it came to pass on the morrow, when the Philistines came to strip the slain, that they found Saul and his three sons fallen in mount Gilboa.

9 And they cut off his head, and stripped off his armour, and sent into the land of the Philistines round about, to publish it in the house of their idols, and among the people.

10 And they put his armour in the house of Atharoth: and they fastened his body to the wall of Beth-shan.

11 ¶ And when the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead heard of that which the Philistines had done to Saul;

12 All the valiant men arose, and went all night, and took the body of Saul and the bodies of his sons from the wall of Beth-shan, and came to Jabesh, and burnt them there.

13 And they took their bones, and buried them under a tree at Jabesh, and fasted seven days.

The

3 The archers hit him, &c.] When David came to the throne, he taught the Israelites the use of the bow, as we read 2 Sam. i. 18. that they might not be inferior to the Philistines, nor fall into the like disaster that Saul had experienced.

4 Saul took a sword, and fell upon it] Suicide is the sure effect of a weak and pusillanimous temper of mind, since true greatness of soul consists in supporting the evils of adversity, and not in shuffling them off, which is a mark of a poor impatient spirit.

5 When his armourbearer saw that Saul was dead, he fell likewise upon his sword, and died with him.] The Jews assert, that this armourbearer was Doeg the Edomite, who slew such a number of priests in one day, 1 Sam. xxii. 18.

11 And when the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead, &c.] The inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead hearing of this indignity, and retaining a grateful sense of the services Saul had done them at the beginning of his reign, sent a party of their best soldiers by night, to take down their bodies, and bring them away to Jabesh.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXXI.

We are here taught, that those who abuse God's favours are made examples of his indignation; that the innocent are sometimes involved with the guilty in temporal punishments; and as God sends his judgments upon the people as well as upon princes, in which we have cause to adore the justice, the wisdom, and the goodness of God.

THE ARGUMENT.

This book contains the accomplishment of God's promise in raising David to the throne of Israel; it comprehends an history of about forty years; relating, among other things, his administration of the government when he was settled in the kingdom.

CHAP. I.

1 An Amalekite bringeth to David the news of the Israelites' defeat, and chargeth himself with Saul's death. 11 David and his men mourn thereat. 13 The Amalekite is slain by David's command. 17 David's lamentation over Saul and Jonathan.

NOW it came to pass after the death of Saul, when David was returned from the slaughter of the Amalekites, and David had abode two days in Ziklag;

■ It came even to pass on the third day, that, behold, ■ man came out of the camp from Saul with his clothes rent, and earth upon his head: and so it was, when he came to David, that he fell to the earth, and did obeisance.

3 And David said unto him, From whence comest thou? And he said unto him, Out of the camp of Israel am I escaped.

4 And David said unto him, How went the matter? I pray thee, tell me. And he answered, That the people are fled from the battle, and many of the people also are fallen and dead; and Saul and Jonathan his son are dead also?

5 And David said unto the young man that told him, How knowest thou that Saul and Jonathan his son be dead?

6 And the young man that told him said, As I happened by chance upon mount Gilboa, behold, Saul leaned upon his spear; and, lo, the chariots and horsemen followed hard after him.

7 And when he looked behind him, he saw me, and called unto me. And I answered, Here am I.

8 And he said unto me, Who art thou? And I answered him, I am an Amalekite.

9 He said unto me again, Stand, I pray thee, upon me, and slay me: for anguish is come upon me, because my life is yet whole in me.

10 So I stood upon him, and flew him, because I was sure that he could not live after that he was fallen: and I took the crown that was upon his head, and the bracelet that was on his arm, and have brought them hither unto my lord.

11 ¶ Then David took hold on his c'lothes, and rent them; and likewise all the men that were with him: Before CHRIST 1056.

12 And they mourned, and wept, and fasted until even, for Saul, and for Jonathan his son, and for the people of the LORD, and for the house of Israel; because they were fallen by the sword.

13 ¶ And David said unto the young man that told him, Whence art thou? And he answered, I am the son of ■ stranger, an Amalekite.

14 And David said unto him, How wast thou not afraid to stretch forth thine hand to destroy the LORD's anointed?

15 And David called one of the young men, and said, Go near, and fall upon him. And he smote him that he died.

16 And David said unto him, Thy blood be upon thy head; for thy mouth hath testified against thee, saying, I have slain the LORD's anointed.

17 ¶ And David lamented with this lamentation over Saul and over Jonathan his son:

18 (Also he bade them teach the children of Judah the use of the bow: behold, it is written in the book of Jasher.)

19 The beauty of Israel is slain upon thy high places: how are the mighty fallen!

20 Tell it not in Gath, publish it not in the streets of Askelon; lest the daughters of the Philistines rejoice, lest the daughters of the uncircumcised triumph.

21 Ye mountains of Gilboa, let there be no dew, neither let there be rain, upon you, nor fields of offerings: for there the shield of the mighty is vilely cast away, the shield of Saul, as though he had not been anointed with oil.

22 From the blood of the slain, from the fat of the mighty, the bow of Jonathan turned not back, and the sword of Saul returned not empty.

23 Saul and Jonathan were lovely and pleasant in their lives, and in their death they were not divided: they were swifter than eagles, they were stronger than lions.

24 Ye daughters of Israel, weep over Saul, who clothed you in scarlet, with other delights, who put on ornaments of gold upon your apparel.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. I.

1 When David was returned from the slaughter of the Amalekites, &c.] The engagement between Saul and the Philistines happened just at the time when David was in pursuit of the Amalekites. See 1 Sam. xxx. 9.

■ And the young man that told him said, As I happened by chance, &c.] The whole story of this Amalekite was ■ fiction of his own inventing, on purpose to ingratiate himself with David, the presumptive successor to the throne. As to Saul's crown and bracelet, it is presumed they were carried into the field of battle by some of his attendants, in order to be put on, in case he had obtained the victory, and returned in triumph.

No. 25.

18 He bade them teach the children of Judah the use of the bow, &c.] This passage is variously understood: the LXX. read, David sung this mourning song—also he bade them teach it to the children of Judah: the Alexandrian copy and the Vulgate read, He bade them teach the children of Judah the bow.

19 The beauty of Israel, &c.] The flower of the nation, together with Saul and his sons.

22 From the blood of the slain, &c.] Without the blood of the slain, without the blood of the mighty, &c.

23 Saul and Jonathan, &c.] That David should lament and praise his friend Jonathan, is not at all surprising, but that he should speak so highly in commendation of his bitterest enemy, argues true greatness of soul.

Before
CHRIST
1056.

25 How are the mighty fallen in the midst of the battle! O Jonathan, thou wast slain in thine high places.

26 I am distressed for thee, my brother Jonathan: very pleasant hast thou been unto me: thy love to me was wonderful, passing the love of women.

27 How are the mighty fallen, and the weapons of war perished!

C H A P. II.

1 By God's direction David goeth up with his company to Hebron, where he is made king over Judah. 5 He commendeth the men of Jabesh-gilead for their kindness to Saul. 8 Abner maketh Ish-bosheth king over Israel. 12 A deadly skirmish between twelve of Abner's men and twelve of Joab's bringeth on a battle, wherein the men of Israel are worsted. 18 Asahel refusing to desist from pursuing Abner is slain by him. 25 At Abner's motion Joab soundeth a retreat. 30 The loss in the action. 32 Asahel's burial.

AND it came to pass after this, that David enquired of the LORD, saying, Shall I go up into any of the cities of Judah? And the LORD said unto him, Go up. And David said, Whither shall I go up? And he said, Unto Hebron.

2 So David went up thither, and his two wives also, Ahinoam the Jezreelitess, and Abigail Nabal's wife the Carmelite.

3 And his men that were with him did David bring up, every man with his household: and they dwelt in the cities of Hebron.

1055. 4 And the men of Judah came, and there they anointed David king over the house of Judah. And they told David, saying, That the men of Jabesh-gilead were they that buried Saul.

5 ¶ And David sent messengers unto the men of Jabesh-gilead, and said unto them, Blessed be ye of the LORD, that ye have shewed this kindness unto your lord, even unto Saul, and have buried him.

6 And now the LORD shew kindness and truth unto you: and I also will requite you this kindness, because ye have done this thing.

7 Therefore now let your hands be strengthened, and be ye valiant: for your master Saul is dead, and also the house of Judah have anointed me king over them.

8 ¶ But Abner the son of Ner, captain of Saul's host, took Ish-bosheth the son of Saul, and brought him over to Mahanaim;

9 And made him king over Gilead, and over the Ashurites, and over Jezreel, and over Ephraim, and over Benjamin, and over all Israel.

10 Ish-bosheth Saul's son was forty years old when he began to reign over Israel, and reigned two years. But the house of Judah followed David.

11 And the time that David was king in Hebron over the house of Judah was seven years and six months.

12 ¶ And Abner the son of Ner, and the servants of Ish-bosheth the son of Saul, went out from Mahanaim to Gibeon.

1053. 13 And Joab the son of Zeruiah, and the servants of David, went out, and met together by the pool of Gibeon: and they sat down, the one on the one side of the pool, and the other on the other side of the pool.

14 And Abner said to Joab, Let the young men now arise, and play before us. And Joab said, Let them arise.

15 Then there arose and went over by number twelve of Benjamin, which pertained to Ish-bosheth the son of Saul, and twelve of the servants of David.

16 And they caught every one his fellow by the head, and thrust his sword in his fellow's side; so they fell down together: wherefore that place was called Helkath-hazzurim, which is in Gibeon.

17 And there was a very sore battle that day; and Abner was beaten, and the men of Israel, before the servants of David.

18 ¶ And there were three sons of Zeruiah there, Joab, and Abishai, and Asahel: and Asahel was as light of foot as a wild roe.

19 And Asahel pursued after Abner; and in going he turned not to the right hand nor to the left from following Abner.

20 Then Abner looked behind him, and said, Art thou Asahel? And he answered, I am.

21 And Abner said to him, Turn thee aside to thy right hand or to thy left, and lay thee hold on one of the young men, and take thee his armour. But Asahel would not turn aside from following of him.

22 And Abner said again to Asahel, Turn thee aside from following me: wherefore should I smite thee to the ground? how then should I hold up my face to Joab thy brother?

23 Howbeit he refused to turn aside: wherefore Abner with the hinder end of the spear smote him under the fifth rib, that the spear came out behind him; and he fell down there, and died in the same place: and it came to pass, that as many as came to the place where Asahel fell down and died stood still.

24 Joab also and Abishai pursued after Abner: and the sun went down when they were come to the hill of Ammah, that lieth before Giah by the way of the wilderness of Gibeon.

25 ¶ And the children of Benjamin gathered themselves together after Abner, and became one troop, and stood on the top of an hill.

26 Then Abner called to Joab, and said, Shall the sword devour for ever? knowest thou not that it will be bitterness in the latter end? how long shall it be then, ere thou bid the people return from following their brethren?

27 And Joab said, As God liveth, unless thou hadst spoken, surely then in the morning the people had gone up every one from following his brother.

28 So Joab blew a trumpet, and all the people stood still, and pursued after Israel no more, neither fought they any more.

29 And Abner and his men walked all that night through the plain, and passed over Jordan, and went through all Bithron, and they came to Mahanaim.

30 ¶ And Joab returned from following Abner: and when he had gathered all the people together, there lacked of David's servants nineteen men and Asahel.

31 But the servants of David had smitten of Benjamin, and of Abner's men, so that three hundred and threescore men died.

32 ¶ And they took up Asahel, and buried him in the sepulchre of his father, which was in Beth-lehem. And

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. I.

We may remark, from this chapter, the justice, piety, and generosity of David: his justice, in putting to death the deceitful relater of Saul's death; his piety, in not rejoicing at the evil which befel his enemy; and his generosity respecting Jonathan, as by his lamentation for him he was more affected with the duties of friendship, than with his own interest.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. II.

1 Shall I go up into any of the cities of Judah? &c. Though David had a right to the kingdom, by God's designation, yet he would not enter into possession, nor take upon himself the administration of affairs, without God's advice and direction.

4 Over the house of Judah, &c. They anointed him king over their own tribe; Abner had proclaimed Ish-bosheth successor to the throne, and, by this interest and great authority, prevailed with all the other tribes to acknowledge him.

8 Brought him over to Mahanaim. This was a place in the tribe of Gad, which had its name from the appearance of an host of angels to Jacob, as he came with his family and all his substance to Padan-aram; see Gen. xxxii. 2.

14 Let the young men now arise, and play before us, &c. Not with any purpose to kill one another, but only to entertain the spectators.

16 They caught i. e. The servants of David caught, &c. Helkath-hazzurim, &c. The field of strong men.

23 Stood still. Ceased the pursuit; perhaps either fearing the same fate, or to take care of Asahel's body.

27 Unless thou hadst spoken, surely then in the morning, &c. This verse has been paraphrased, If thou hadst not said what thou didst in the morning [Let the young men arise, and play before us] surely the people had gone every one from his brother.

And Joab and his men went all night, and they came to Hebron at break of day.

CHAP. III.

1 During the course of the war David still waxeth stronger. 2 The six sons which were born to him in Hebron. 6 Abner, offended by Ish-bosheth, threateneth to revolt to David; 12 to whom he sendeth to offer his service. 13 David refuseth to treat, till he hath first received back his wife Michal; who on his demand is restored to him. 17 Abner having communed with the Israelites goeth to David, by whom he is feasted, and sent away in peace. 22 Joab returning from battle is displeased with the king, and following Abner murdereth him treacherously. 28 David curseth Joab, 31 and mourneth for Abner.

NOW there was long war between the house of Saul and the house of David: but David waxed stronger and stronger, and the house of Saul waxed weaker and weaker.

2 ¶ And unto David were sons born in Hebron: and his firstborn was Amnon, of Ahinoam the Jezreelitess;

3 And his second, Chileab, of Abigail the wife of Nabal the Carmelite; and the third, Absalom the son of Maacah, the daughter of Talmai king of Gethur;

4 And the fourth, Adonijah the son of Haggith; and the fifth, Shephatiah the son of Abital;

5 And the sixth, Ithream, by Eglah David's wife. These were born to David in Hebron.

6 ¶ And it came to pass, while there was war between the house of Saul and the house of David, that Abner made himself strong for the house of Saul.

7 And Saul had a concubine, whose name was Rizpah, the daughter of Aiah: and Ish-bosheth said to Abner, Wherefore hast thou gone in unto my father's concubine?

8 Then was Abner very wroth for the words of Ish-bosheth, and said, Am I a dog's head, which against Judah do shew kindness this day unto the house of Saul thy father, to his brethren, and to his friends, and have not delivered thee into the hand of David, that thou chargest me to day with a fault concerning this woman?

9 So do God to Abner, and more also, except as the Lord hath sworn to David, even so I do to him;

10 To translate the kingdom from the house of Saul, and to set up the throne of David over Israel and over Judah, from Dan even to Beer-sheba.

11 And he could not answer Abner a word again, because he feared him.

12 ¶ And Abner sent messengers to David on his behalf, saying, Whose is the land? saying also, Make thy league with me, and, behold, my hand shall be with thee, to bring about all Israel unto thee.

13 ¶ And he said, Well; I will make a league with thee: but one thing I require of thee, that is, Thou shalt not see my face, except thou first bring Michal Saul's daughter, when thou comest to see my face.

14 And David sent messengers to Ish-bosheth Saul's son, saying, Deliver me my wife Michal, which I espoused to me for an hundred foreskins of the Philistines.

15 And Ish-bosheth sent, and took her from her husband, even from Phaltiel the son of Laish.

16 And her husband went with her along weeping behind her to Bahurim. Then said Abner unto him, Go, return. And he returned.

17 ¶ And Abner had communication with the elders of Israel, saying, Ye sought for David in times ^{Before CHRIST 1048.} past to be king over you:

18 Now then do it: for the Lord hath spoken of David, saying, By the hand of my servant David I will save my people Israel out of the hand of the Philistines, and out of the hand of all their enemies.

19 And Abner also spake in the ears of Benjamin: and Abner went also to speak in the ears of David in Hebron all that seemed good to Israel, and that seemed good to the whole house of Benjamin.

20 So Abner came to David in Hebron, and twenty men with him. And David made Abner and the men that were with him a feast.

21 And Abner said unto David, I will arise and go, and will gather all Israel unto my lord the king, that they may make a league with thee, and that thou mayest reign over all that thine heart desireth. And David sent Abner away; and he went in peace.

22 ¶ And, behold, the servants of David and Joab came from pursuing a troop, and brought in a great spoil with them: but Abner was not with David in Hebron; for he had sent him away, and he was gone in peace.

23 When Joab and all the host that was with him were come, they told Joab, saying, Abner the son of Ner came to the king, and he hath sent him away, and he is gone in peace.

24 Then Joab came to the king, and said, What hast thou done? behold, Abner came unto thee; why is it that thou hast sent him away, and he is quite gone?

25 Thou knowest Abner the son of Ner, that he came to deceive thee, and to know thy going out and thy coming in, and to know all that thou doest.

26 And when Joab was come out from David, he sent messengers after Abner, which brought him again from the well of Sirah: but David knew it not.

27 And when Abner was returned to Hebron, Joab took him aside in the gate to speak with him quietly, and smote him there under the fifth rib, that he died, for the blood of Asahel his brother.

28 ¶ And afterward when David heard it, he said, I and my kingdom are guiltless before the Lord for ever from the blood of Abner the son of Ner:

29 Let it rest on the head of Joab, and on all his father's house; and let there not fail from the house of Joab one that hath an issue, or that is a leper, or that leaneth on a staff, or that falleth on the sword, or that lacketh bread.

30 So Joab and Abishai his brother slew Abner, because he had slain their brother Asahel at Gibeon in the battle.

31 ¶ And David said to Joab, and to all the people that were with him, Rend your clothes, and gird you with sackcloth, and mourn before Abner. And king David himself followed the bier.

32 And they buried Abner in Hebron: and the king lifted up his voice, and wept at the grave of Abner; and all the people wept.

33 And the king lamented over Abner, and said, Died Abner as a fool dieth?

34 Thy hands were not bound, nor thy feet put into fetters: as a man falleth before wicked men, so fellest thou. And all the people wept again over him.

35 And when all the people came to cause David to eat meat while it was yet day, David sware, saying, So

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. II.

This chapter affords us a lesson, to avoid, as much as we are able, the shedding of blood, and doing evil to another; and that our chief endeavour should be to reconcile contending parties, and re-establish peace between them.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. III.

7 Wherefore hast thou gone in unto my father's concubine? It was a general rule, not among the Jews only, but among other nations, that no private person should presume to marry the king's widow; for this made him appear a rival and competitor for the crown.

8 Am I a dog's head, &c.] It might be rendered, Am I a keeper of dogs?

12 Make thy league with me, and, behold, my hand shall be with thee, &c.] Abner is an instance of what a strange alteration revenge will make in a man.

27 And smote him there under the fifth rib] Joab had reason to suspect, that in case Abner once got into David's favour, (as the service he was able to do him gave him a title to it) it would not be long before he would gain a superior ascendant; and therefore he took this wicked method to prevent him.

For the blood of Asahel, &c.] This was his pretended reason; but the real one is assigned in the foregoing note.

29 And on all his father's house, &c.] This may be looked on as a prophetic prediction, rather than as a private imprecation.

Before CHRIST 1048. So do God to me, and more also, if I taste bread, or aught, till the sun be down.

36 And all the people took notice of it, and it pleased them: as whatsoever the king did pleased all the people.

37 For all the people and all Israel understood that day that it was not of the king to slay Abner the son of Ner.

38 And the king said unto his servants, Know ye not that there is a prince and a great man fallen this day in Israel?

39 And I am this day weak, though anointed king; and these men the sons of Zeruiah be too hard for me: the LORD shall reward the doer of evil according to his wickedness.

CHAP. IV.

1 The Israelites are troubled at Abner's death. 2 Baanah and Rechab murder Ish-bosheth, and bring his head to David to Hebron. 9 David causeth them to be put to death, and Ish-bosheth's head to be buried.

AND when Saul's son heard that Abner was dead in Hebron, his hands were feeble, and all the Israelites were troubled.

2 ¶ And Saul's son had two men that were captains of bands: the name of the one was Baanah, and the name of the other Rechab, the sons of Rimmon a Beerothite, of the children of Benjamin: (for Beeroth also was reckoned to Benjamin:

3 And the Beerothites fled to Gittaim, and were sojourners there until this day.)

4 And Jonathan, Saul's son, had a son that was lame of his feet. He was five years old when the tidings came of Saul and Jonathan out of Jezreel, and his nurse took him up, and fled: and it came to pass, as she made haste to flee, that he fell, and became lame. And his name was Mephibosheth.

5 And the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, Rechab and Baanah, went, and came about the heat of the day to the house of Ish-bosheth, who lay on a bed at noon.

6 And they came thither into the midst of the house, as though they would have fetched wheat; and they smote him under the fifth rib: and Rechab and Baanah his brother escaped.

7 For when they came into the house, he lay on his bed in his bedchamber, and they smote him, and slew him, and beheaded him, and took his head, and gat them away through the plain all night.

8 And they brought the head of Ish-bosheth unto David to Hebron, and said to the king, Behold the head of Ish-bosheth the son of Saul thine enemy, which fought thy life; and the LORD hath avenged my lord the king this day of Saul, and of his seed.

9 ¶ And David answered Rechab and Baanah his brother, the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, and said

39 [These men the sons of Zeruiah be too hard for me, &c.] Joab was David's sister's son, or nephew, who had stuck so close to him in all his adversity; an excellent soldier, and of great power and authority in the army. It was therefore a point of prudence in David to delay the punishment of so powerful and perilous a man, until a more convenient season, and only for the present to express his detestation of the deed by commending the deceased, condemning the murder, and commanding the murderer, by way of penance, to attend the funeral in sackcloth, and other ensigns of mourning.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. III.

From this chapter we may gather, that God often makes use of the corrupt passions of men for the execution of his designs; that the spirit of jealousy and resentment leads men to commit very great crimes, which if they happen to escape the vengeance of men, yet God will not suffer them to pass unpunished.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. IV.

¶ Of the children of Benjamin, &c.] This is added, to shew us, that these two regicides were not only officers in the king's army, but of the same tribe with Saul; and therefore had more ties than one upon them to be faithful to his family.

7 [They smote him, and slew him, &c.] These two ruffians were not discouraged by David's punishing the Amalekite for killing Saul, and by the detestation he had publicly shewn of Joab's baseness in murdering Abner: but they might perhaps think that the former case was not parallel to them; and for the latter, that David's conduct unto them, As the LORD liveth, who hath redeemed my soul out of all adversity,

10 When one told me, saying, Behold, Saul is dead, thinking to have brought good tidings, I took hold of him, and slew him in Ziklag, who thought that I would have given him a reward for his tidings:

11 How much more, when wicked men have slain a righteous person in his own house upon his bed? shall I not therefore now require his blood of your hand, and take you away from the earth?

12 And David commanded his young men, and they slew them, and cut off their hands and their feet, and hanged them up over the pool in Hebron. But they took the head of Ish-bosheth, and buried it in the sepulchre of Abner in Hebron.

CHAP. V.

1 The tribes come to Hebron, and anoint David king over Israel. 4 His age and reign. 6 He taketh Zion from the Jebusites, and, fixing his residence there, calleth it the city of David. 11 Hiram sendeth him timber and workmen to build him a house. 13 Eleven sons are born to him in Jerusalem. 17 David directed by God smiteth the Philistines at Baal-perazim, 22 and again at the mulberry trees.

THEN came all the tribes of Israel to David unto Hebron, and spake, saying, Behold, we are thy bone and thy flesh.

¶ Also in time past, when Saul was king over us, thou wast he that leddest out and broughtest in Israel: and the LORD said to thee, Thou shalt feed my people Israel, and thou shalt be a captain over Israel.

3 So all the elders of Israel came to the king to Hebron; and king David made a league with them in Hebron before the LORD: and they anointed David king over Israel.

4 ¶ David was thirty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned forty years.

5 In Hebron he reigned over Judah seven years and six months: and in Jerusalem he reigned thirty and three years over all Israel and Judah.

6 ¶ And the king and his men went to Jerusalem unto the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land: which spake unto David, saying, Except thou take away the blind and the lame, thou shalt not come in hither: thinking, David cannot come in hither.

7 Nevertheless David took the strong hold of Zion: the same is the city of David.

8 And David said on that day, Whosoever getteth up to the gutter, and smiteth the Jebusites, and the lame and the blind, that are hated of David's soul, he shall be chief and captain. Wherefore they said, The blind and the lame shall not come into the house.

9 So David dwelt in the fort, and called it the city of in relation to Abner's death, proceeded from art and policy, rather than any serious dislike of the king himself.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. IV.

This chapter sets before us a noble example of piety and generosity in David, and teaches us, that we ought not only to do no hurt to our enemies, but to forbear rejoicing at the hurt which happens to them, nor to contribute any thing thereto: neither to countenance injustice and other crimes, how great advantages soever we may reap from thence.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. V.

1 [Came all the tribes of Israel, &c.] Ambassadors were sent from every tribe.

¶ [Thou shalt feed my people Israel, &c.] This expression was the rather made use of, to put David in mind, that he was created a king, not so much for the advancement of his own honour and interest, as for the good and benefit of the community.

6 [Except thou take away the blind and the lame, &c.] They imagined their fortress to be so impregnable, that by way of contempt, they told David, that their very blind and lame would be able to defend it against him and all his forces.

¶ [The gutter] By "the gutter" is here meant the subterraneous passage or hollow way, through which men could pass and repass for water.

[The lame and the blind, that are hated of David's soul, &c.] These were hateful to David, because they had wickedly and insolently defied the armies of the living God.

of David. And David built round about from Millo and inward.

10 And David went on, and grew great, and the LORD God of hosts was with him.

11 ¶ And Hiram king of Tyre sent messengers to David, and cedar trees, and carpenters, and masons: and they built David an house.

12 And David perceived that the LORD had established him king over Israel, and that he had exalted his kingdom for his people Israel's sake.

13 ¶ And David took him more concubines and wives out of Jerusalem, after he was come from Hebron: and there were yet sons and daughters born to David.

14 And these be the names of those that were born unto him in Jerusalem; Shammuah, and Shobab, and Nathan, and Solomon, 15 Ibhar also, and Elishua, and Nepheg, and Japhia, 16 And Elishama, and Eliada, and Eliphalet.

17 ¶ But when the Philistines heard that they had anointed David king over Israel, all the Philistines came up to seek David; and David heard of it, and went down to the hold.

18 The Philistines also came and spread themselves in the valley of Rephaim.

19 And David enquired of the LORD, saying, Shall I go up to the Philistines? wilt thou deliver them into mine hand? And the LORD said unto David, Go up: for I will doubtless deliver the Philistines into thine hand.

20 And David came to Baal-perazim, and David smote them there, and said, The LORD hath broken forth upon mine enemies before me, as the breach of waters. Therefore he called the name of that place Baal-perazim.

21 And there they left their images, and David and his men burned them.

22 ¶ And the Philistines came up yet again, and spread themselves in the valley of Rephaim.

23 And when David enquired of the LORD, he said, Thou shalt not go up; but fetch a compass behind them, and come upon them over against the mulberry trees.

24 And let it be, when thou hearest the sound of a going in the tops of the mulberry trees, that then thou shalt bestir thyself: for then shall the LORD go out before thee, to smite the host of the Philistines.

25 And David did so, as the LORD had commanded him; and smote the Philistines from Geba until thou come to Gazer.

C H A P. VI.

1 David fetcheth the ark from Kirjath-jearim on a new cart. 6 Uzzah offering to lay hold on it is smitten dead; on which account the ark being carried into Obed-edom's house bringeth a blessing with it. 12 David bringeth it into Zion, sacrificing and dancing before it, for which Michal despiseth him. 17 He placeth it in a tabernacle with sacrifices and feasting. 20 Michol reproving David for his religious joy is childless to her death.

AGAIN, David gathered together all the chosen men of Israel, thirty thousand.

2 And David arose, and went with all the people

21 They left their images, &c.] Which they had brought into the field with them, to be carried before their host, as a token of the presence of their gods with them.

24 In the tops, &c.] In the beginnings, i. e. in the very entrance of the place where the mulberry trees were planted.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. V.

This happy conclusion of David's troubles shews us, that God's promises will surely be accomplished, and that after having made his children pass through divers trials, he at length delivers, and grants them rest.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VI.

2 Baale of Judah, &c.] This is the same place which was before called Kirjath-jearim.

5 And David and all the house of Israel played before the Lord, &c.] No. 25.

that were with him from Baale of Judah, to bring up from thence the ark of God, whose name is called by the name of the LORD of hosts that dwelleth between the cherubims.

3 And they set the ark of God upon a new cart, and brought it out of the house of Abinadab that was in Gibeah: and Uzzah and Ahio, the sons of Abinadab, drove the new cart.

4 And they brought it out of the house of Abinadab which was at Gibeah, accompanying the ark of God: and Ahio went before the ark.

5 And David and all the house of Israel played before the LORD on all manner of instruments made of fir wood, even on harps, and on psalteries, and on timbrels, and on cornets, and on cymbals.

6 ¶ And when they came to Nachon's threshing-floor, Uzzah put forth his hand to the ark of God, and took hold of it; for the oxen shook it.

7 And the anger of the LORD was kindled against Uzzah; and God smote him there for his error; and there he died by the ark of God.

8 And David was displeased, because the LORD had made a breach upon Uzzah: and he called the name of the place Perez-uzzah to this day.

9 And David was afraid of the LORD that day, and said, How shall the ark of the LORD come to me?

10 So David would not remove the ark of the LORD unto him into the city of David: but David carried it aside into the house of Obed-edom the Gittite.

11 And the ark of the LORD continued in the house of Obed-edom the Gittite three months: and the LORD blessed Obed-edom, and all his household.

12 ¶ And it was told king David, saying, The LORD hath blessed the house of Obed-edom, and all that pertaineth unto him, because of the ark of God. So David went and brought up the ark of God from the house of Obed-edom into the city of David with gladness.

13 And it was so, that when they that bare the ark of the LORD had gone six paces, he sacrificed oxen and fatlings.

14 And David danced before the LORD with all his might; and David was girded with a linen ephod.

15 So David and all the house of Israel brought up the ark of the LORD with shouting, and with the sound of the trumpet.

16 And as the ark of the LORD came into the city of David, Michal Saul's daughter looked through a window, and saw king David leaping and dancing before the LORD; and she despised him in her heart.

17 ¶ And they brought in the ark of the LORD, and set it in his place, in the midst of the tabernacle that David had pitched for it: and David offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before the LORD.

18 And as soon as David had made an end of offering burnt offerings and peace offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the LORD of hosts.

19 And he dealt among all the people, even among the whole multitude of Israel, as well to the women as men, to every one a cake of bread, and a good piece of flesh, and a flagon of wine. So all the people departed every one to his house.

20 ¶ Then David returned to bless his household. And Michal the daughter of Saul came out to meet David,

This might be so ordered by David, to possess the young people with veneration for God, after his own example.

7 And God smote him there for his error, &c.] In Uzzah's conduct there seems to be a threefold transgression of the divine will. The ark was placed (as some say) by Uzzah's direction, in a cart; which was irregular, for it should have been carried on the shoulders of the Kohathites. Uzzah adventured to attend it, without any proper designation; and farther, when he thought it in danger of falling, he officiously put forth his hand, and laid hold on it, which was another violation of the divine command.

12 With gladness.] All the people again accompanied him, playing on all manner of musical instruments, as they did before.

14 And David danced before the Lord, &c.] His mixing with the public festivities of his people, was a condescension not unbecoming the greatest monarch.

Before
1042.

David, and said, How glorious was the king of Israel to day, who uncovered himself to day in the eyes of the handmaids of his servants, as one of the vain fellows shamelessly uncovereth himself!

21 And David said unto Michal, It was before the LORD, which chose me before thy father, and before all his house, to appoint me ruler over the people of the LORD, over Israel: therefore will I play before the LORD.

22 And I will yet be more vile than thus, and will be base in mine own sight: and of the maid-servants which thou hast spoken of, of them shall I be had in honour.

23 Therefore Michal the daughter of Saul had no child unto the day of her death.

CHAP. VII.

1 Nathan, first approving David's purpose to build God an house, 4 afterward by the word of the LORD forbiddeth it, but with assurance of favour, 12 and a promise of especial blessings in his seed. 18 David's prayer and thanksgiving.

AND it came to pass, when the king sat in his house, and the LORD had given him rest round about from all his enemies;

2 That the king said unto Nathan the prophet, See now, I dwell in an house of cedar, but the ark of God dwelleth within curtains.

3 And Nathan said to the king, Go, do all that is in thine heart; for the LORD is with thee.

4 ¶ And it came to pass that night, that the word of the LORD came unto Nathan, saying,

5 Go and tell my servant David, Thus saith the LORD, Shalt thou build me an house for me to dwell in?

6 Whereas I have not dwelt in any house since the time that I brought up the children of Israel out of Egypt, even to this day, but have walked in a tent and in a tabernacle.

7 In all the places wherein I have walked with all the children of Israel spake I a word with any of the tribes of Israel, whom I commanded to feed my people Israel, saying, Why build ye not me an house of cedar?

8 Now therefore so shalt thou say unto my servant David, Thus saith the LORD of hosts, I took thee from the sheepcote, from following the sheep, to be ruler over my people, over Israel:

9 And I was with thee whithersoever thou wentest, and have cut off all thine enemies out of thy fight, and have made thee a great name, like unto the name of the great men that are in the earth.

10 Moreover, I will appoint a place for my people Israel, and will plant them, that they may dwell in a place of their own, and move no more; neither shall the children of wickedness afflict them any more, as beforetime,

11 And as since the time that I commanded judges to be over my people Israel, and have caused thee to rest from all thine enemies. Also the LORD telleth thee that he will make thee an house.

12 ¶ And when thy days be fulfilled, and thou shalt sleep with thy fathers, I will set up thy seed after thee, which shall proceed out of thy bowels, and I will establish his kingdom.

20 Who uncovered himself to day, &c.] This was either a opprobrious term, proceeding from the overflowing spleen of a proud passionate woman; or may mean a more than his having stripped himself of his royal robes, and put a a linen ephod.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. VI.

In this chapter we have the picture of worldly people in the person of Michal, who a ashamed of holiness; and the proceeding of David should teach every body, especially great men, to glory in giving public marks of their zeal for the service of God, who will bless those who serve him faithfully.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VII.

¶ Said unto Nathan, &c.] This is the first time that the scripture makes mention of this prophet. He was a man of great temper, prudence, and fine address, was always equally esteemed and beloved by 13 He shall build an house for my name, and I will establish the throne of his kingdom for ever.

14 I will be his father, and he shall be my son. If he commit iniquity, I will chasten him with the rod of men, and with the stripes of the children of men:

15 But my mercy shall not depart away from him, as I took it from Saul, whom I put away before thee.

16 And thine house and thy kingdom shall be established for ever before thee: thy throne shall be established for ever.

17 According to all these words, and according to all this vision, so did Nathan speak unto David.

18 ¶ Then went king David in, and sat before the LORD, and he said, Who am I, O LORD God? and what is my house, that thou hast brought me hither to?

19 And this was yet a small thing in thy sight, O LORD God; but thou hast spoken also of thy servant's house for a great while to come. And is this the manner of man, O LORD God?

20 And what can David say more unto thee? for thou, LORD God, knowest thy servant.

21 For thy word's sake, and according to thine own heart, hast thou done all these great things, to make thy servant know them.

22 Wherefore thou art great, O LORD God: for there is none like thee, neither is there any God beside thee, according to all that we have heard with our ears.

23 And what one nation in the earth is like thy people, even like Israel, whom God went to redeem for a people to himself, and to make him a name, and to do for you great things and terrible, for thy land, before thy people, which thou redeemedst to thee from Egypt, from the nations and their gods?

24 For thou hast confirmed to thyself thy people Israel to be a people unto thee for ever: and thou, LORD, art become their God.

25 And now, O LORD God, the word that thou hast spoken concerning thy servant, and concerning his house, establish it for ever, and do as thou hast said.

26 And let thy name be magnified for ever, saying, The LORD of hosts is the God over Israel: and let the house of thy servant David be established before thee.

27 For thou, O LORD of hosts, God of Israel, hast revealed to thy servant, saying, I will build thee an house: therefore hath thy servant found in his heart to pray this prayer unto thee.

28 And now, O LORD God, thou art that God, and thy words be true, and thou hast promised this goodness unto thy servant:

29 Therefore now let it please thee to bless the house of thy servant, that it may continue for ever before thee: for thou, O LORD God, hast spoken it: and with thy blessing let the house of thy servant be blessed for ever.

CHAP. VIII.

1 David subdueth the Philistines, and maketh the Moabites tributary. 3 He smiteth Hadadezer and the Syrians. 9 Toi king of Hamath sendeth his son with presents to bless David; who dedicateth the presents, and the spoil which he had taken, to God. 15 He putteth garrisons in Edom. 14 His good reign; a list of his principal officers.

AND

David, and in his conduct towards him, maintained a just medium between a inflexible austerity, and a servile flattery.

10 I will appoint a place for my people Israel, &c.] Or, I have constituted (or established) a place for my people; i. e. the land of Canaan.

13 I will establish the throne of his kingdom for ever.] This can belong to none but the Messiah, if the words a for ever be taken in their full extent.

18 And sat before the Lord, &c.] He took his seat in the tabernacle before the ark, and then he made the following prayer, standing up, as the manner was when they worshipped: for we cannot suppose that he sat during the time of prayer.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. VII.

We may observe, that the promises made by Nathan to David, that God would give him a son, &c. have been first accomplished in Solomon, and since intirely completed in Jesus Christ, whose kingdom is everlasting. See Heb. i.

COMMENTARY

AN D after this it came to pass, that David smote the Philistines, and subdued them: and David took Metheg-ammah out of the hand of the Philistines. 2 And he smote Moab, and measured them with a line, casting them down to the ground; even with two lines measured he to put to death, and with one full line to keep alive. And so the Moabites became David's servants, and brought gifts.

3 ¶ David smote also Hadadezer, the son of Rehob, king of Zobah, as he went to recover his border at the river Euphrates.

4 And David took from him a thousand chariots, and seven hundred horsemen, and twenty thousand footmen: and David houghed all the chariot horses, but reserved of them for an hundred chariots.

5 And when the Syrians of Damascus came to succour Hadadezer king of Zobah, David slew of the Syrians two and twenty thousand men.

6 Then David put garrisons in Syria of Damascus: and the Syrians became servants to David, and brought gifts. And the LORD preserved David whithersoever he went.

7 And David took the shields of gold that were on the servants of Hadadezer, and brought them to Jerusalem.

8 And from Bethah, and from Berothai, cities of Hadadezer, king David took exceeding much brass.

9 ¶ When Toi king of Hamath heard that David had smitten all the host of Hadadezer,

10 Then Toi sent Joram his son unto king David, to salute him, and to bless him, because he had fought against Hadadezer, and smitten him: for Hadadezer had wars with Toi. And Joram brought with him vessels of silver, and vessels of gold, and vessels of brass:

11 Which also king David did dedicate unto the LORD, with the silver and gold that he had dedicated of all nations which he subdued;

12 Of Syria, and of Moab, and of the children of Ammon, and of the Philistines, and of Amalek, and of the spoil of Hadadezer, son of Rehob, king of Zobah.

13 And David gat him a name when he returned from smiting of the Syrians in the valley of salt, being eighteen thousand men.

14 ¶ And he put garrisons in Edom; throughout all Edom put he garrisons, and all they of Edom became David's servants. And the LORD preserved David whithersoever he went.

15 And David reigned over all Israel; and David executed judgment and justice unto all his people.

16 And Joab the son of Zeruiah was over the host; and Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder;

17 And Zadok the son of Ahitub, and Ahimelech the son of Abiathar, were the priests; and Seraiah was the scribe;

18 And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over both the Cherethites and the Pelethites; and David's sons were chief rulers.

CHAP. IX.

1 David upon enquiry is informed by Ziba of Mephibosheth the son of Jonathan; 5 whom he sendeth for, 7 and kindly entertaineth at his table for Jonathan's sake: 9 He restoreth him all the family possessions of Saul, and maketh Ziba his farmer.

Before CHRIST 1040.

AN D David said, Is there yet any that is left of the house of Saul, that I may shew him kindness for Jonathan's sake?

2 And there was of the house of Saul a servant whose name was Ziba. And when they had called him unto David, the king said unto him, Art thou Ziba? And he said, Thy servant is he.

3 And the king said, Is there not yet any of the house of Saul, that I may shew the kindness of God unto him? And Ziba said unto the king, Jonathan hath yet a son, which is lame on his feet.

4 And the king said unto him, Where is he? And Ziba said unto the king, Behold, he is in the house of Machir, the son of Ammiel, in Lo-debar.

5 Then king David sent, and fetched him out of the house of Machir, the son of Ammiel, from Lo-debar.

6 Now when Mephibosheth, the son of Jonathan, the son of Saul, was come unto David, he fell on his face, and did reverence. And David said, Mephibosheth. And he answered, Behold thy servant!

7 ¶ And David said unto him, Fear not: for I will surely shew thee kindness for Jonathan thy father's sake, and will restore thee all the land of Saul thy father; and thou shalt eat bread at my table continually.

8 And he bowed himself, and said, What is thy servant, that thou shouldest look upon such a dead dog as I am?

9 ¶ Then the king called to Ziba, Saul's servant, and said unto him, I have given unto thy master's son all that pertained to Saul and to all his house.

10 Thou therefore, and thy sons, and thy servants, shall till the land for him, and thou shalt bring in the fruits, that thy master's son may have food to eat: but Mephibosheth thy master's son shall eat bread alway at my table. Now Ziba had fifteen sons and twenty servants.

11 Then said Ziba unto the king, According to all that my lord the king hath commanded his servant, so shall thy servant do. As for Mephibosheth, said the king, he shall eat at my table, as one of the king's sons.

12 And Mephibosheth had a young son, whose name was Micah. And all that dwelt in the house of Ziba were servants unto Mephibosheth.

13 So Mephibosheth dwelt in Jerusalem: for he did eat continually at the king's table; and was lame on both his feet.

CHAP. X.

1 David's ambassadors, sent to comfort Hanun for his father's death, are disgracefully treated. 6 The Ammonites strengthened by the Syrians are overcome by Joab and Abishai. 15 Hadarezer sendeth a new army of Syrians under Shobach, which is defeated by David, and their general slain; whereupon the kings who were subject to Syria become servants to Israel.

AND

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VIII.

1 Metheg-ammah, &c.] That is, the famous city of Gath, and its territories. It is called Metheg-ammah, because it stood upon Mount Ammah, and was as a bridle to the whole country.

2 He smote Moab, and measured them with a line, &c.] Some are of opinion that David made three lots or parts of these Moabites, two of which he ordered to be slain, and one part only to be kept alive; but to clear David from the imputation of too much cruelty, we should rather conceive it of the third, or half part at most, of the army.

4 Seven hundred horsemen, &c.] In 1 Chron. xviii. 4. it is, "Seven thousand horsemen," which is most probable, and with this reading agree the LXX.

18 The Cherethites and the Pelethites] It is probable that these soldiers were men of David's own tribe of Judah, whom he had caused to be trained up as archers and shield-bearers, after the manner of the Cherethites and Pelethites, who were originally Philistines, inhabitants of Phoenicia.

Chief rulers.] Principal officers in the court of David, such as among us are the lord high chamberlain, steward, treasurer, &c.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. VIII.

The success given to David, as recorded in this chapter, should excite the faithful to fear the Lord, to trust in him, and to give him continual thanks for all his goodness.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. IX.

3 Is there not yet any of the house of Saul, that I may shew the kindness of God unto him, &c.] Here David, like a good man, a worthy friend, and a noble prince, thinks how he may perform his promise to Jonathan. See 1 Sam. xx. 15.

8 Upon such a dead dog as I am.] This is a high expression of the sense he had of his unworthiness of any favour; for a dog was accounted a vile and unclean creature, and a dead dog was of no use at all.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. IX.

From David's conduct herein, we are to learn, that promises ought to be religiously observed; that we should never forget our friends, not even after their death, and that those in prosperity should relieve the afflicted and distressed.

COMMENTARY

Before
1037.

AND it came to pass after this, that the king of the children of Ammon died, and Hanun his son reigned in his stead.

2 Then said David, I will shew kindness unto Hanun the son of Nahash, for his father shewed kindness unto me. And David sent to comfort him by the hand of his servants for his father. And David's servants came into the land of the children of Ammon.

3 And the princes of the children of Ammon said unto Hanun their lord, Thinkest thou that David doth honour thy father, that he hath sent comforters unto thee? hath not David rather sent his servants unto thee, to search the city, and to spy it out, and to overthrow it?

4 Wherefore Hanun took David's servants, and shaved off the one half of their beards, and cut off their garments in the middle, even to their buttocks, and sent them away.

5 When they told it unto David, he sent to meet them, because the men were greatly ashamed: and the king said, Tarry at Jericho until your beards be grown, and then return.

6 ¶ And when the children of Ammon saw that they stank before David, the children of Ammon sent and hired the Syrians of Beth-rehob, and the Syrians of Zoba, twenty thousand footmen, and of king Maacah a thousand men, and of Ish-tob twelve thousand men.

7 And when David heard of it, he sent Joab, and all the host of the mighty men.

8 And the children of Ammon came out, and put the battle in array at the entering in of the gate: and the Syrians of Zoba, and of Rehob, and Ish-tob, and Maacah, were by themselves in the field.

9 When Joab saw that the front of the battle was against him before and behind, he chose of all the choice men of Israel, and put them in array against the Syrians:

10 And the rest of the people he delivered into the hand of Abishai his brother, that he might put them in array against the children of Ammon.

11 And he said, If the Syrians be too strong for me, then thou shalt help me: but if the children of Ammon be too strong for thee, then I will come and help thee.

12 Be of good courage, and let us play the men for our people, and for the cities of our God: and the LORD do that which seemeth him good.

13 And Joab drew nigh, and the people that were with him, unto the battle against the Syrians: and they fled before him.

14 And when the children of Ammon saw that the Syrians were fled, then fled they also before Abishai, and entered into the city. So Joab returned from the children of Ammon, and came to Jerusalem.

1036. 15 ¶ And when the Syrians saw that they were smitten before Israel, they gathered themselves together.

16 And Hadarezer sent, and brought out the Syrians that were beyond the river: and they came to Helam; and Shobach the captain of the host of Hadarezer went before them.

17 And when it was told David, he gathered all Israel together, and passed over Jordan, and came to Helam. And the Syrians set themselves in array against David, and fought with him.

18 And the Syrians fled before Israel; and David flew the men of seven hundred chariots of the Syrians, and forty thousand horsemen, and smote Shobach the captain of their host, who died there.

19 And when all the kings that were servants to Hadarezer saw that they were smitten before Israel, they made peace with Israel, and served them. So the Syrians feared to help the children of Ammon any more.

C H A P. XI.

1 While Joab besiegeth Rabbah, 2 David committeth adultery with Uriah's wife. 5 Bath-sheba conceiveth; David sendeth for Uriah from the army, who cometh to David, but refuseth to go down to his house. 14 He carrieth to Joab a letter requiring his death, is exposed in the front of the battle, and slain. 18 Joab sendeth the news of it to David. 22 The messenger's report, and David's answer. 26 David taketh Bath-sheba to wife, who beareth a son.

AND it came to pass, after the year was expired, at the time when kings go forth to battle, that David sent Joab, and his servants with him, and all Israel; and they destroyed the children of Ammon, and besieged Rabbah. But David tarried still at Jerusalem.

2 ¶ And it came to pass in an eveningtide, that David arose from off his bed, and walked upon the roof of the king's house: and from the roof he saw a woman washing herself; and the woman was very beautiful to look upon.

3 And David sent and enquired after the woman. And one said, Is not this Bath-sheba, the daughter of Eliam, the wife of Uriah the Hittite?

4 And David sent messengers, and took her; and she came in unto him, and he lay with her; for she was purified from her uncleanness: and she returned unto her house.

5 ¶ And the woman conceived, and sent and told David, and said, I am with child.

6 And David sent to Joab, saying, Send me Uriah the Hittite. And Joab sent Uriah to David.

7 And when Uriah was come unto him, David demanded of him how Joab did, and how the people did, and how the war prospered.

8 And David said to Uriah, Go down to thy house, and wash thy feet. And Uriah departed out of the king's house, and there followed him a mess of meat from the king.

9 But Uriah slept at the door of the king's house with all the servants of his lord, and went not down to his house.

10 And when they had told David, saying, Uriah went not down unto his house, David said unto Uriah, Camest thou not from thy journey? why then didst thou not go down unto thine house?

11 And Uriah said unto David, The ark, and Israel, and Judah, abide in tents; and my lord Joab, and the servants of my lord, are encamped in the open fields; shall I then go into mine house, to eat, and to drink, and to lie with my wife? as thou livest, and as thy soul liveth, I will not do this thing.

12 And David said to Uriah, Tarry here to day also, and to morrow I will let thee depart. So Uriah abode in Jerusalem that day, and the morrow.

13 And when David had called him, he did eat and drink

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. X.

¶ As his father shewed kindness unto me, &c.] It is likely that Nahash was a bitter enemy to Saul, who had given him a great overthrow, he, for that very reason, became a friend to David, when he perceived how Saul persecuted him; and thereupon might send him relief and assistance, and perhaps offer him protection in his kingdom.

4 Shaved off the one half of their beards, and cut off their garments in the middle, &c.] This was one of the greatest indignities that the malice of man could invent in these countries, where all people thought their hair so great an ornament, that some would have rather submitted to die than to part with it.

15 They gathered themselves together.] Fearing David would fall upon them for assisting his enemies, they resolved to be beforehand with him; and therefore levied a new army to invade him.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. X.

We are taught from the preceding chapter, that God favours princes that love peace and justice; and, on the contrary, proud and unjust princes bring the greatest misfortunes upon themselves by their insolence and haughtiness.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XI.

2 In an eveningtide] In the afternoon, when the sun was declining. From off his bed, &c.] Where he had lain down to repose in the heat of the day, as the manner was in those hot countries.

3 Uriah the Hittite.] Uriah, though a Hittite by nation, was professed to the Jewish religion; had married with a Jewish woman, and was one of the king's guard.

8 And wash thy feet, &c.] In those countries, washing the feet was a great refreshment after a journey, and a common compliment that the master of the house usually made to any stranger at his first entrance. David's intention hitherto was neither to murder Uriah, nor to marry his wife; but only to screen her honour and his own crime.

drink before him; and he made him drunk: and at even he went out to lie on his bed with the servants of his lord, but went not down to his house.

14 ¶ And it came to pass in the morning, that David wrote a letter to Joab, and sent it by the hand of Uriah.

15 And he wrote in the letter, saying, Set ye Uriah in the forefront of the hottest battle, and retire ye from him, that he may be smitten, and die.

16 And it came to pass, when Joab observed the city, that he assigned Uriah unto a place where he knew that valiant men were.

17 And the men of the city went out, and fought with Joab: and there fell some of the people of the servants of David; and Uriah the Hittite died also.

18 ¶ Then Joab sent and told David all the things concerning the war;

19 And charged the messenger, saying, When thou hast made an end of telling the matters of the war unto the king,

20 And if so be that the king's wrath arise, and he say unto thee, Wherefore approached ye so nigh unto the city when ye did fight? knew ye not that they would shoot from the wall?

21 Who smote Abimelech the son of Jerubbeseth? did not a woman cast a piece of a millstone upon him from the wall, that he died in Thebez? why went ye nigh the wall? then say thou, Thy servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also.

22 ¶ So the messenger went, and came and shewed David all that Joab had sent him for 23 And the messenger said unto David, Surely the men prevailed against us, and came out unto us into the field, and we were upon them even unto the entering of the gate.

24 And the shooters shot from off the wall upon thy servants; and some of the king's servants be dead, and thy servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also.

25 Then David said unto the messenger, Thus shalt thou say unto Joab, Let not this thing displease thee, for the sword devoureth one as well as another: make thy battle more strong against the city, and overthrow it: and encourage thou him.

26 ¶ And when the wife of Uriah heard that Uriah her husband was dead, she mourned for her husband.

27 And when the mourning was past, David sent and fetched her to his house, and she became his wife, and bare him a son. But the thing that David had done displeased the LORD.

CHAP. XII.

1 Nathan's parable of the ewe lamb causeth David to pass sentence upon himself. 7 Nathan applieth the parable to David; who humbleth himself, and is pardoned. 15 The newborn child being stricken of God, David mourneth and prayeth for him while living; but taketh comfort after he is dead. 24 Solomon is born, and named Jedidiah. 26 Rabbah is taken by David, and the people thereof tortured.

AND the LORD sent Nathan unto David. And he came unto him, and said unto him, There were two men in one city; the one rich, and the other poor.

13 And he made him drunk, &c.] This was another artful expedient David made use of for the compassing his end; but it proved ineffectual.

27 But the thing that David had done displeased the Lord.] Besides his lust and cruelty, David is loaded with too just an imputation of perfidy, ingratitude, hypocrisy, dissimulation, obstinacy, and shamelessness in sin.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XI.

David's dreadful fall warns us of the frailty of human nature, and how liable the best of men are, in some instances of their lives, to be overtaken with very gross faults; how much, therefore, are we all concerned to pray with all prayer and supplication, and to watch as well as pray, that we fall not into temptation.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XII.

1 There were two men in one city, &c.] By an opposite parable No. 26.

2 The rich man had exceeding many flocks and herds: 3 But the poor man had nothing, save one little ewe lamb, which he had bought and nourished up: and it grew up together with him, and with his children; it did eat of his own meat, and drank of his own cup, and lay in his bosom, and was unto him as a daughter.

4 And there came a traveller unto the rich man, and he spared to take of his own flock and of his own herd, to dress for the wayfaring man that was come unto him; but took the poor man's lamb, and dressed it for the man that was come to him.

5 And David's anger was greatly kindled against the man; and he said to Nathan, As the LORD liveth, the man that hath done this thing shall surely die:

6 And he shall restore the lamb fourfold, because he did this thing, and because he had no pity.

7 ¶ And Nathan said to David, Thou art the man. Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, I anointed thee king over Israel, and I delivered thee out of the hand of Saul;

8 And I gave thee thy master's house, and thy master's wives into thy bosom, and gave thee the house of Israel and of Judah; and if that had been too little, I would moreover have given unto thee such and such things.

9 Wherefore hast thou despised the commandment of the LORD, to do evil in his sight? thou hast killed Uriah the Hittite with the sword, and hast taken his wife to be thy wife, and hast slain him with the sword of the children of Ammon.

10 Now therefore the sword shall never depart from thine house; because thou hast despised me, and hast taken the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be thy wife.

11 Thus saith the LORD, Behold, I will raise up evil against thee out of thine own house, and I will take thy wives before thine eyes, and give them unto thy neighbour, and he shall lie with thy wives in the sight of this sun.

12 For thou didst it secretly: but I will do this thing before all Israel, and before the sun.

13 And David said unto Nathan, I have sinned against the LORD. And Nathan said unto David, The LORD also hath put away thy sin; thou shalt not die.

14 Howbeit, because by this deed thou hast given great occasion to the enemies of the LORD to blaspheme, the child also that is born unto thee shall surely die.

15 ¶ And Nathan departed unto his house. And the LORD struck the child that Uriah's wife bare unto David, and it was very sick.

16 David therefore besought God for the child; and David fasted, and went in, and lay all night upon the earth.

17 And the elders of his house arose, and went to him, to raise him up from the earth: but he would not, neither did he eat bread with them.

18 And it came to pass on the seventh day, that the child died. And the servants of David feared to tell him that the child was dead: for they said, Behold, while the child was yet alive, we spake unto him, and he would not hearken unto our voice: how will he then vex himself, if we tell him that the child is dead?

19 But when David saw that his servants whispered, David well managed, did not appear to condemn David, but made him condemn himself.

¶ The rich man had exceeding many flocks and herds.] David had many wives and concubines, with whom he might well have been satisfied, without violating another man's bed.

3 The poor man had nothing, save one little ewe lamb, &c.] Bathsheba, very likely, was the only wife that Uriah had, with whom he was highly pleased and delighted; and she very probably with him, until David's temptations had perverted her mind.

4 There came a traveller unto the rich man, &c.] Respecting David's straggling appetite, it may be said, in the beginning it is but a traveller; but in time it becomes a guest, and in conclusion, the master of the house.

7 Thou art the man, &c.] Thou art the criminal, and thou art the judge, and hast pronounced a dreadful sentence against thyself.

11 Out of thine own house, &c.] This was awfully fulfilled in Absalom's conspiracy against him.

Before
CHRIST
1034. David perceived that the child was dead: therefore David said unto his servants, Is the child dead? And they said, He is dead.

20 Then David arose from the earth, and washed, and anointed himself, and changed his apparel, and came into the house of the LORD, and worshipped: then he came to his own house; and when he required, they set bread before him, and he did eat.

21 Then said his servants unto him, What thing is this that thou hast done? thou didst fast and weep for the child, while it was alive; but when the child was dead, thou didst rise and eat bread.

22 And he said, While the child was yet alive, I fasted and wept: for I said, Who can tell whether God will be gracious to me, that the child may live?

23 But now he is dead, wherefore should I fast? can I bring him back again? I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me.

1033. 24 ¶ And David comforted Bath-sheba his wife, and went in unto her, and lay with her: and she bare a son, and he called his name Solomon: and the LORD loved him.

25 And he sent by the hand of Nathan the prophet; and he called his name Jedidiah because of the LORD.

26 ¶ And Joab fought against Rabbah of the children of Ammon, and took the royal city.

27 And Joab sent messengers to David, and said, I have fought against Rabbah, and have taken the city of waters.

28 Now therefore gather the rest of the people together, and encamp against the city, and take it: lest I take the city, and it be called after my name.

29 And David gathered all the people together, and went to Rabbah, and fought against it, and took it.

30 And he took their king's crown from off his head, the weight whereof was a talent of gold with the precious stones: and it was set on David's head. And he brought forth the spoil of the city in great abundance.

31 And he brought forth the people that were therein, and put them under saws, and under harrows of iron, and under axes of iron, and made them pass through the brickkiln: and thus did he unto all the cities of the children of Ammon. So David and all the people returned unto Jerusalem.

1 Amnon, in love with Tamar, by Jonadab's counsel feigneth sickness: 6 Tamar attending him at his request, he ravisheth her: 15 He hateth her, and turneth her out of his house: 19 She retireth in grief to her brother Absalom's house. 21 David is wroth, but Absalom concealeth his resentment. 23 Absalom inviteth his brethren to a sheepshearing feast, 28 where Amnon is murdered by Absalom's command. 30 David, alarmed with tidings that all his sons were slain, is told the truth of the matter by Jonadab, whose report is confirmed by the coming of the young men. 37 Absalom fleeth to Geshur; David longeth after him.

1032. AND it came to pass after this, that Absalom the son of David had a fair sister, whose name was Tamar; and Amnon the son of David loved her.

2 And Amnon was so vexed, that he fell sick for his sister Tamar; for she was a virgin; and Amnon thought it hard for him to do any thing to her.

22 While the child was yet alive, &c.] What a noble dignity of thought! and how justly argues the religious philosopher!

24 Solomon, &c.] Which signifies "peace;" intimating that his reign should be peaceable.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XII.

In this chapter we see God's indignation against sin, his mercy to the sincerely penitent, and his grace and blessing to the truly humble.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XIII.

¶ She was a virgin; and Amnon thought, &c.] Virgins of the blood royal were kept in private apartments, separate from the commerce of men.

12 For no such thing ought to be done in Israel, &c.] She begs of him to consider that they both belonged to a nation which was God's peculiar people, had been instructed better, and therefore should act otherwise.

3 But Amnon had a friend, whose name was Jonadab, the son of Shimeah David's brother: and Jonadab was a very subtil man.

4 And he said unto him, Why art thou, being the king's son, lean from day to day? wilt thou not tell me? And Amnon said unto him, I love Tamar, my brother Absalom's sister.

5 And Jonadab said unto him, Lay thee down on thy bed, and make thyself sick: and when thy father cometh to see thee, say unto him, I pray thee, let my sister Tamar come, and give me meat, and dress the meat in my sight, that I may see it, and eat it at her hand.

6 ¶ So Amnon lay down, and made himself sick: and when the king was come to see him, Amnon said unto the king, I pray thee, let Tamar my sister come, and make me a couple of cakes in my sight, that I may eat at her hand.

7 Then David sent home to Tamar, saying, Go now to thy brother Amnon's house, and dress him meat.

8 So Tamar went to her brother Amnon's house; and he was laid down. And she took flour and kneaded it, and made cakes in his sight, and did bake the cakes.

9 And she took a pan, and poured them out before him; but he refused to eat. And Amnon said, Have all men out from me. And they went out every man from him.

10 And Amnon said unto Tamar, Bring the meat into the chamber, that I may eat of thine hand. And Tamar took the cakes which she had made, and brought them into the chamber to Amnon her brother.

11 And when she had brought them unto him to eat, he took hold of her, and said unto her, Come lie with me, my sister.

12 And she answered him, Nay, my brother, do not force me; for no such thing ought to be done in Israel: do not thou this folly.

13 And I, whither shall I cause my shame to go? and as for thee, thou shalt be as one of the fools in Israel. Now therefore, I pray thee, speak unto the king; for he will not withhold me from thee.

14 Howbeit he would not hearken unto her voice: but, being stronger than she, forced her, and lay with her.

15 ¶ Then Amnon hated her exceedingly; so that the hatred wherewith he hated her was greater than the love wherewith he had loved her. And Amnon said unto her, Arise, be gone.

16 And she said unto him, There is no cause: this evil in sending me away is greater than the other that thou didst unto me. But he would not hearken unto her.

17 Then he called his servant that ministered unto him, and said, Put now this woman out from me, and bolt the door after her.

18 And she had a garment of divers colours upon her: for with such robes were the king's daughters that were virgins apparelled. Then his servant brought her out, and bolted the door after her.

19 ¶ And Tamar put ashes on her head, and rent her garments of divers colours that was on her, and laid her hand on her head, and went on crying.

20 And Absalom her brother said unto her, Hath Amnon thy brother been with thee? but hold now thy peace,

13 And I, whither shall I cause my shame to go? and as for thee] She beseeches him (besides the sin against God) to consider the disgrace it would be to her, who, after such a foul act, must be ashamed to look any in the face; she also puts him in mind of his own reputation, which so vile an act would tarnish for ever, and make him be looked upon as a man void of all sense, religion, honour, and humanity.

He will not withhold me from thee.] She said any thing that she thought would please him, to stop his solicitations and rude attempts, and to escape for the present out of his hands.

15 Then Amnon hated her exceedingly, &c.] He hated her, when he should have hated himself: for God seemed now to have abandoned him to the tumult of his intemperate mind and guilty conscience.

16 There is no cause, &c.] For this hard and unkind usage.

peace, my sister: he is thy brother; regard not this thing. So Tamar remained desolate in her brother Absalom's house.

21 ¶ But when king David heard of all these things, he was very wroth.

22 And Absalom spake unto his brother Amnon neither good nor bad: for Absalom hated Amnon, because he had forced his sister Tamar.

23 ¶ And it came to pass after two full years, that Absalom had sheepshearers in Baal-hazor, which is beside Ephraim: and Absalom invited all the king's sons.

24 And Absalom came to the king, and said, Behold now, thy servant hath sheepshearers; let the king, I beseech thee, and his servants go with thy servant.

25 And the king said to Absalom, Nay, my son, let us not all now go, lest we be chargeable unto thee. And he pressed him: howbeit he would not go, but blessed him.

26 Then said Absalom, If not, I pray thee, let my brother Amnon go with us. And the king said unto him, Why should he go with thee?

27 But Absalom pressed him, that he let Amnon and all the king's sons go with him.

28 ¶ Now Absalom had commanded his servants, saying, Mark ye now when Amnon's heart is merry with wine, and when I say unto you, Smite Amnon; then kill him, fear not: have not I commanded you? be courageous, and be valiant.

29 And the servants of Absalom did unto Amnon as Absalom had commanded. Then all the king's sons arose, and every man gat him up upon his mule, and fled.

30 ¶ And it came to pass, while they were in the way, that tidings came to David, saying, Absalom hath slain all the king's sons, and there is not one of them left.

31 Then the king arose, and tare his garments, and lay on the earth; and all his servants stood by with their clothes rent.

32 And Jonadab, the son of Shimeah, David's brother, answered and said, Let not my lord suppose that they have slain all the young men the king's sons; for Amnon only is dead: for by the appointment of Absalom this hath been determined from the day that he forced his sister Tamar.

33 Now therefore let not my lord the king take the thing to his heart, to think that all the king's sons are dead: for Amnon only is dead.

34 But Absalom fled. And the young man that kept the watch lifted up his eyes, and looked, and, behold, there came much people by the way of the hill side behind him.

35 And Jonadab said unto the king, Behold, the king's sons come: as thy servant said, so it is.

36 And it came to pass, as soon as he had made an end of speaking, that, behold, the king's sons came, and lifted up their voice and wept: and the king also and all his servants wept very sore.

37 ¶ But Absalom fled, and went to Talmai, the son of Ammihud, king of Geshur. And David mourned for his son every day.

38 So Absalom fled, and went to Geshur, and was there three years.

39 And the soul of king David longed to go forth unto Absalom: for he was comforted concerning Amnon, seeing he was dead.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XIII.

From this chapter we may perceive, that the Lord suffers divers crimes to be committed, notwithstanding he abhors them; and makes use of the passions and wickedness of men, to do justice, to punish the guilty, and to execute his designs.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XIV.

¶ Tekoah, &c.] A city in the tribe of Judah, about twelve miles south of Jerusalem. Joab made choice of a widow woman, because the king. 4 She entertaineth the king with a feigned tale, the intent of which is to obtain leave for Absalom's return. 21 Joab is sent to fetch him, but he is not allowed to see the king. 25 Absalom's beauty; 27 his children. 28 After two years he getteth admittance to the king by Joab's means.

NOW Joab the son of Zeruiah perceived that the king's heart was toward Absalom.

¶ And Joab sent to Tekoah, and fetched thence a wife woman, and said unto her, I pray thee, feign thyself to be a mourner, and put on now mourning apparel, and anoint not thyself with oil, but be as a woman that had a long time mourned for the dead:

3 And come to the king, and speak on this manner unto him. So Joab put the words in her mouth.

4 ¶ And when the woman of Tekoah spake to the king, she fell on her face to the ground, and did obeisance, and said, Help, O king.

5 And the king said unto her, What aileth thee? And she answered, I am indeed a widow woman, and mine husband is dead.

6 And thy handmaid had two sons, and they two strove together in the field, and there was none to part them, but the one smote the other, and slew him.

7 And, behold, the whole family is risen against thine handmaid, and they said, Deliver him that smote his brother, that we may kill him, for the life of his brother whom he slew; and we will destroy the heir also: and so they shall quench my coal which is left, and shall not leave to my husband neither name nor remainder upon the earth.

8 And the king said unto the woman, Go to thine house, and I will give charge concerning thee.

9 And the woman of Tekoah said unto the king, My lord, O king, the iniquity be on me, and on my father's house: and the king and his throne be guiltless.

10 And the king said, Whosoever saith ought unto thee, bring him to me, and he shall not touch thee any more.

11 Then said she, I pray thee, let the king remember the LORD thy God, that thou wouldest not suffer the revengers of blood to destroy any more, lest they destroy my son. And he said, As the LORD liveth, there shall not one hair of thy son fall to the earth.

12 Then the woman said, Let thine handmaid, I pray thee, speak one word unto my lord the king. And he said, Say on.

13 And the woman said, Wherefore then hast thou thought such a thing against the people of God? for the king doth speak this thing as one which is faulty, in that the king doth not fetch home again his banished.

14 For we must needs die, and are as water spilt on the ground, which cannot be gathered up again; neither doth God respect any person: yet doth he devise means, that his banished be not expelled from him.

15 Now therefore that I am come to speak of this thing unto my lord the king, it is because the people have made me afraid: and thy handmaid said, I will now speak unto the king; it may be that the king will perform the request of his handmaid.

16 For the king will hear, to deliver his handmaid out of the hand of the man that would destroy me and my son together out of the inheritance of God.

17 Then thine handmaid said, The word of my lord the king shall now be comfortable: for as an angel of God, they can more easily express their passions, and sooner excite compassion.

7 And so they shall quench my coal which is left, &c.] Deprive me of the little comfort of my life which remains, as a coal buried in the ashes.

13 The king doth speak this thing as one which is faulty, &c.] The sense is, Do not judge otherwise in thine own case, than thou hast done in mine.

15 It is because the people have made me afraid, &c.] Or, though the people have made me afraid: they told her it was too bold an attempt, but that did not discourage her.

Before CHRIST 1027. God, so is my lord the king to discern good and bad : therefore the LORD thy God will be with thee.

18 Then the king answered and said unto the woman, Hide not from me, I pray thee, the thing that I shall ask thee. And the woman said, Let my lord the king now speak.

19 And the king said, Is not the hand of Joab with thee in all this? And the woman answered and said, As thy soul liveth, my lord the king, none can turn to the right hand or to the left from ought that my lord the king hath spoken : for thy servant Joab, he bade me, and he put all these words in the mouth of thine handmaid :

20 To fetch about this form of speech hath thy servant Joab done this thing : and my lord is wise, according to the wisdom of an angel of God, to know all things that are in the earth.

21 ¶ And the king said unto Joab, Behold now, I have done this thing : go therefore, bring the young man Abfalom again.

22 And Joab fell to the ground on his face, and bowed himself, and thanked the king : and Joab said, To day thy servant knoweth that I have found grace in thy sight, my lord, O king, in that the king hath fulfilled the request of his servant.

23 So Joab arose and went to Geshur, and brought Abfalom to Jerusalem.

24 And the king said, Let him turn to his own house, and let him not see my face. So Abfalom returned to his own house, and saw not the king's face.

25 ¶ But in all Israel there was none to be so much praised as Abfalom for his beauty : from the sole of his foot even to the crown of his head there was no blemish in him.

26 And when he polled his head, (for it was at every year's end that he polled it : because the hair was heavy on him, therefore he polled it :) he weighed the hair of his head at two hundred shekels after the king's weight.

27 ¶ And unto Abfalom there were born three sons, and one daughter, whose name was Tamar : she was a woman of a fair countenance.

28 ¶ So Abfalom dwelt two full years in Jerusalem, and saw not the king's face.

29 Therefore Abfalom sent for Joab, to have sent him to the king ; but he would not come to him : and when he sent again the second time, he would not come.

30 Therefore he said unto his servants, See, Joab's field is near mine, and he hath barley there ; go and set it on fire. And Abfalom's servants set the field on fire.

31 Then Joab arose, and came to Abfalom unto his house, and said unto him, Wherefore have thy servants set my field on fire?

32 And Abfalom answered Joab, Behold, I sent unto thee, saying, Come hither, that I may send thee to the king, to say, Wherefore am I come from Geshur? it had been good for me to have been there still : now therefore let me see the king's face ; and if there be any iniquity in me, let him kill me.

1025. 33 So Joab came to the king, and told him : and when he had called for Abfalom, he came to the king, and bowed himself on his face to the ground before the king : and the king kissed Abfalom.

26 He weighed the hair of his head at two hundred shekels after the king's weight.] That is, of the king of Babylon, whose shekel was only one third of that of the Jews ; so that though the enemies of revelation have ridiculed this part of the sacred text, yet this hypothesis makes the account not at all improbable ; for Abfalom's hair, which weighed two hundred Babylonish shekels, came but, in our weight, to about thirty-three ounces.

33 And the king kissed Abfalom.] In token of reconciliation.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XIV.

We learn from this chapter, that God permitted Abfalom to be recalled, in order to chastise David by means of that rebellious and unnatural son, and thereby fulfil Nathan's prediction.

obtaineth leave to go to Hebron : 10 where he formeth a dangerous conspiracy. 13 Upon the news David fleeth from Jerusalem : 19 Ittai, though a stranger, will not leave him. 24 Zodoek and Abiathar are sent back with the ark. 30 David and his company go up mount Olivet weeping. 31 He prayeth God to defeat Abithophel's counsel. 32 Hushai is sent back with instructions how to act for David's service.

AND it came to pass after this, that Abfalom prepared him chariots and horses, and fifty men to run before him.

2 And Abfalom rose up early, and stood beside the way of the gate : and it was so, that when any man had a controversy came to the king for judgment, then Abfalom called unto him, and said, Of what city art thou? And he said, Thy servant is of one of the tribes of Israel.

3 And Abfalom said unto him, See, thy matters are good and right ; but there is no man deputed of the king to hear thee.

4 Abfalom said moreover, Oh that I were made judge in the land, that every man which hath any suit or cause might come unto me, and I would do him justice!

5 And it was so, that when any man came nigh to him to do him obeisance, he put forth his hand, and took him, and kissed him.

6 And on this manner did Abfalom to all Israel that came to the king for judgment : so Abfalom stole the hearts of the men of Israel.

7 ¶ And it came to pass after forty years, that Abfalom said unto the king, I pray thee, let me go and pay my vow, which I have vowed unto the LORD, in Hebron.

8 For thy servant vowed a vow while I abode at Gesgur in Syria, saying, If the LORD shall bring me again indeed to Jerusalem, then I will serve the LORD.

9 And the king said unto him, Go in peace. So he arose, and went to Hebron.

10 ¶ But Abfalom sent spies throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, As soon as ye hear the sound of the trumpet, then ye shall say, Abfalom reigneth in Hebron.

11 And with Abfalom went two hundred men out of Jerusalem, that were called ; and they went in their simplicity, and they knew not any thing.

12 And Abfalom sent for Ahithophel the Gilonite, David's counsellor, from his city, even from Giloh, while he offered sacrifices. And the conspiracy was strong ; for the people increased continually with Abfalom.

13 ¶ And there came a messenger to David, saying, The hearts of the men of Israel are after Abfalom.

14 And David said unto all his servants that were with him at Jerusalem, Arise, and let us flee ; for we shall not else escape from Abfalom : make speed to depart, lest he overtake us suddenly, and bring evil upon us, and smite the city with the edge of the sword.

15 And the king's servants said unto the king, Behold, thy servants are ready to do whatsoever my lord the king shall appoint.

16 And the king went forth, and all his household after him. And the king left ten women, which were concubines, to keep the house.

17 And the king went forth, and all the people after him, and tarried in a place that was far off.

18 And all his servants passed on beside him ; and all the Cherethites, and all the Pelethites, and all the Gittites,

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON Chap. XV.

1 Abfalom prepared him chariots and horses, &c.] He now took great state upon him, and appeared with a splendid equipage, in order to attract the eyes and regard of the people.

7 After forty years, &c.] Some read, four years, i. e. four years after he was re-established in Israel.

12 The conspiracy was strong, &c.] It is probable, that neither Abfalom, nor the elders of Israel, nor the rest of the people who were misled by them, had any intention to divest David of his crown and dignity, much less to take away his life ; but only to substitute Abfalom as coadjutor to him for the execution of the royal authority during his life-time, and to be his successor after his death.

Gittites, six hundred men which came after him from Gath, passed on before the king.

19 ¶ Then said the king to Ittai the Gittite, Wherefore goest thou also with us? return to thy place, and abide with the king: for thou art a stranger, and also an exile.

20 Whereas thou camest but yesterday, should I this day make thee go up and down with us? seeing I go whither I may, return thou, and take back thy brethren: mercy and truth be with thee.

21 And Ittai answered the king, and said, As the LORD liveth, and as my lord the king liveth, surely in what place my lord the king shall be, whether in death or life, even there also will thy servant be.

22 And David said to Ittai, Go and pass over. And Ittai the Gittite passed over, and all his men, and all the little ones that were with him.

23 And all the country wept with a loud voice, and all the people passed over: the king also himself passed over the brook Kidron, and all the people passed over, toward the way of the wilderness.

24 ¶ And lo Zadok also, and all the Levites were with him, bearing the ark of the covenant of God: and they set down the ark of God; and Abiathar went up, until all the people had done passing out of the city.

25 And the king said unto Zadok, Carry back the ark of God into the city: if I shall find favour in the eyes of the LORD, he will bring me again, and shew me both it, and his habitation:

26 But if he thus say, I have no delight in thee: behold, here am I, let him do to me as seemeth good unto him.

27 The king said also unto Zadok the priest, Art not thou a seer? return into the city in peace, and your two sons with you, Ahimaaz thy son, and Jonathan the son of Abiathar.

28 See, I will tarry in the plain of the wilderness, until there come word from you to certify me.

29 Zadok therefore and Abiathar carried the ark of God again to Jerusalem: and they tarried there.

30 ¶ And David went up by the ascent of mount Olivet, and wept as he went up, and had his head covered, and he went barefoot: and all the people that was with him covered every man his head, and they went up, weeping as they went up.

31 ¶ And one told David, saying, Ahithophel is among the conspirators with Absalom. And David said, O LORD, I pray thee, turn the counsel of Ahithophel into foolishness.

32 ¶ And it came to pass, that when David was come to the top of the mount, where he worshipped God, behold, Hushai the Archite came to meet him with his coat rent, and earth upon his head:

33 Unto whom David said, If thou passest on with me, then shalt thou be a burden unto me:

34 But if thou return to the city, and say unto Absalom, I will be thy servant, O king; as I have been thy father's servant hitherto, so will I now also be thy servant: then mayest thou for me defeat the counsel of Ahithophel.

35 And hast thou not here with thee Zadok and Abiathar the priests? therefore it shall be, that what thing soever thou shalt hear out of the king's house, thou shalt tell it to Zadok and Abiathar the priests.

36 Behold, they have there with them their two sons, Ahimaaz Zadok's son, and Jonathan Abiathar's son; and by them ye shall send unto me every thing that ye can hear.

37 So Hushai David's friend came into the city, and Absalom came into Jerusalem.

AND when David was a little past the top of the hill, behold, Ziba the servant of Mephibosheth met him, with a couple of asses saddled, and upon them two hundred loaves of bread, and an hundred bunches of raisins, and an hundred of summer fruits, and a bottle of wine.

2 And the king said unto Ziba, What meanest thou by these? And Ziba said, The asses be for the king's household to ride on; and the bread and summer fruit for the young men to eat; and the wine, that such as be faint in the wilderness may drink.

3 And the king said, And where is thy master's son? And Ziba said unto the king, Behold, he abideth at Jerusalem: for he said, To day shall the house of Israel restore me the kingdom of my father.

4 Then said the king to Ziba, Behold, thine are all that pertained unto Mephibosheth. And Ziba said, I humbly beseech thee that I may find grace in thy sight, my lord, O king.

5 ¶ And when king David came to Bahurim, behold, thence came out a man of the family of Saul, whose name was Shimei, the son of Gera: he came forth, and cursed still as he came.

6 And he cast stones at David, and at all the servants of king David: and all the people and all the mighty men were on his right hand and on his left.

7 And thus said Shimei when he cursed, Come out, come out, thou bloody man, and thou man of Belial:

8 The LORD hath returned upon thee all the blood of the house of Saul, in whose stead thou hast reigned; and the LORD hath delivered the kingdom into the hand of Absalom thy son: and, behold, thou art taken in thy mischief, because thou art a bloody man.

9 ¶ Then said Abishai the son of Zeruiah unto the king, Why should this dead dog curse my lord the king? let me go over, I pray thee, and take off his head.

10 And the king said, What have I to do with you, ye sons of Zeruiah? so let him curse, because the LORD hath said unto him, Curse David. Who shall then say, Wherefore hast thou done so?

11 And David said to Abishai, and to all his servants, moreover, that he had only recourse to God in his troubles; and that although guilty, he still trusted in him, and implored his aid.

3 Thy master's son, &c.] That is, Mephibosheth, thy master Saul's son.

6 All the mighty men were on his right hand and on his left.] David was under such a strong guard, that Shimei's rage was little less than madness; for he could not hurt David, but might have been immediately killed himself.

10 Because the Lord hath said unto him; Curse David, &c.] Not that God commanded him by his word, for that strictly forbids cursing, nor moved him to it by his Spirit, for neither was that possible, because God tempteth no man; but the meaning is, that God did not put any wickedness into Shimei's heart, but only left him to the malignity of his own nature.

20 Thy brethren, &c.] Those persons that were of Ittai's family.

25 Carry back the ark, &c.] That the priests and Levites (of whose fidelity he was well satisfied) by giving him intelligence of the enemy's motions, might do him more service in Jerusalem than they could do in his camp.

32 Hushai the Archite, &c.] It is thought that this additional name was given him from the place of his nativity, viz. Archi, a town on the frontiers of Benjamin and Ephraim, to the west of Beth-el.

34 Say unto Absalom, I will be thy servant, &c.] David could be no more guilty of perfidy in forming a design to supplant Absalom, nor Hushai guilty of villainy in undertaking to put it in execution, than that man can be said to be guilty of sin, who deceives a madman, and turns him away from murdering his best friends.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XV.

We observe from this chapter, the deep humility with which David received this chastisement from God, the sense he had of his own unworthiness and the justice of the punishments inflicted, and

Before CHRIST 1023. wants, Behold, my son, which cometh forth of my bowels, seeketh my life: how much more now may this Benjamite do it? let him alone, and let him curse; for the LORD hath bidden him.

12 It may be that the LORD will look on mine affliction, and that the LORD will requite me good for his cursing this day.

13 And as David and his men went by the way, Shimei went along on the hill's side over against him, and cursed as he went, and threw stones at him, and cast dust.

14 And the king, and all the people that were with him, came weary, and refreshed themselves there.

15 ¶ And Abfalom, and all the people the men of Israel, came to Jerusalem, and Ahithophel with him.

16 And it came to pass, when Hushai the Archite, David's friend, was come unto Abfalom, that Hushai said unto Abfalom, God save the king, God save the king.

17 And Abfalom said to Hushai, Is this thy kindness to thy friend? why wentest thou not with thy friend?

18 And Hushai said unto Abfalom, Nay; but whom the LORD, and this people, and all the men of Israel, choose, his will I be, and with him will I abide.

19 And again, whom should I serve? should I not serve in the presence of his son? as I have served in thy father's presence, so will I be in thy presence.

20 ¶ Then said Abfalom to Ahithophel, Give counsel among you what we shall do.

21 And Ahithophel said unto Abfalom, Go in unto thy father's concubines, which he hath left to keep the house; and all Israel shall hear that thou art abhorred of thy father: then shall the hands of all that are with thee be strong.

22 So they spread Abfalom a tent upon the top of the house; and Abfalom went in unto his father's concubines in the sight of all Israel.

23 And the counsel of Ahithophel, which he counselled in those days, was as if a man had enquired at the oracle of God: so was all the counsel of Ahithophel both with David and with Abfalom.

C H A P. XVII.

1 Ahithophel's counsel is defeated by Hushai's according to God's appointment. 15 Hushai sendeth intelligence secretly to David; who in haste passeth over Jordan. 23 Ahithophel hangeth himself. 25 Amasa is made captain of Abfalom's host. 27 David's friends furnish him with provisions at Mahanaim.

MOREOVER Ahithophel said unto Abfalom, Let me now choose out twelve thousand men, and I will arise and pursue after David this night:

■ And I will come upon him while he is weary and weak handed, and will make him afraid: and all the people that are with him shall flee; and I will smite the king only:

3 And I will bring back all the people unto thee: the man whom thou seekest is as if all returned: so all the people shall be in peace.

4 And the saying pleased Abfalom well, and all the elders of Israel.

5 Then said Abfalom, Call now Hushai the Archite also, and let us hear likewise what he saith.

6 And when Hushai was come to Abfalom, Abfalom spake unto him, saying, Ahithophel hath spoken after this manner: shall we do after his saying? if not; speak thou.

11 My son which cometh forth of my bowels, seeketh my life, &c.] So far is David's passion from being stirred up by this impudent railer, that he endeavours to quiet the spirits of others, and calmly reasons himself and them into humble patience.

14 Refreshed themselves there.] At Bahurim.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XVI.

We may learn from hence, that pernicious and wicked counsels, sooner or later, cause the destruction of those that give them, and those that follow them.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XVII.

5 Then said Abfalom, Call now Hushai, &c.] The providence of 7 And Hushai said unto Abfalom, The counsel that Ahithophel hath given is not good at this time.

8 For, said Hushai, thou knowest thy father and his men, that they be mighty men, and they be chafed in their minds, as a bear robbed of her whelps in the field: and thy father is a man of war, and will not lodge with the people.

9 Behold, he is hid now in some pit, or in some other place: and it will come to pass, when some of them be overthrown at the first, that whosoever heareth it will say, There is a slaughter among the people that follow Abfalom.

10 And he also that is valiant, whose heart is as the heart of a lion, shall utterly melt: for all Israel knoweth that thy father is a mighty man, and they which be with him are valiant men.

11 Therefore I counsel that all Israel be generally gathered unto thee, from Dan even to Beer-sheba, as the sand that is by the sea for multitude: and that thou go to battle in thine own person.

12 So shall we come upon him in some place where he shall be found, and we will light upon him as the dew falleth on the ground: and of him and of all the men that are with him there shall not be left so much as one.

13 Moreover, if he be gotten into a city, then shall all Israel bring ropes to that city, and we will draw it into the river, until there be not one small stone found there.

14 And Abfalom and all the men of Israel said, The counsel of Hushai the Archite is better than the counsel of Ahithophel. For the LORD had appointed to defeat the good counsel of Ahithophel, to the intent that the LORD might bring evil upon Abfalom.

15 ¶ Then said Hushai unto Zadok and to Abiathar the priests, Thus and thus did Ahithophel counsel Abfalom and the elders of Israel; and thus and thus have I counselled.

16 Now therefore send quickly, and tell David, saying, Lodge not this night in the plains of the wilderness, but speedily pass over; lest the king be swallowed up, and all the people that are with him.

17 Now Jonathan and Ahimaaz stayed by En-rogel; for they might not be seen to come into the city: and a wench went and told them; and they went and told king David.

18 Nevertheless a lad saw them, and told Abfalom: but they went both of them away quickly, and came to a man's house in Bahurim, which had a well in his court; whither they went down.

19 And the woman took and spread a covering over the well's mouth, and spread ground corn thereon; and the thing was not known.

20 And when Abfalom's servants came to the woman to the house, they said, Where is Ahimaaz and Jonathan? And the woman said unto them, They be gone over the brook of water. And when they had sought and could not find them, they returned to Jerusalem.

21 And it came to pass, after they were departed, that they came up out of the well, and went and told king David, and said unto David, Arise, and pass quickly over the water: for thus hath Ahithophel counselled against you.

22 Then David arose, and all the people that were with him, and they passed over Jordan: by the morning

God is here to be remarked, who made Abfalom irrefoluble and doubtful, even in that counsel which was approved by all the elders of Israel, and was evidently the wisest that could be given.

13 Then shall all Israel bring ropes to that city, and we will draw it, &c.] This is an hyperbolical expression of Hushai, suited to the insolent genius of Abfalom.

16 Speedily pass over, &c.] Pass over Jordan.

17 En-rogel, &c.] The Fuller's well.

18 Came to a man's house in Bahurim, &c.] They suspected they were discovered, and therefore turned out of the public road, and hastened to this village.

ing light there lacked not one of them that was not gone over Jordan.

23 ¶ And when Ahithophel saw that his counsel was not followed, he saddled his ass, and arose, and gat him home to his house, to his city, and put his household in order, and hanged himself, and died, and was buried in the sepulchre of his father.

24 Then David came to Mahanaim. And Abfalom passed over Jordan, he and all the men of Israel with him.

25 ¶ And Abfalom made Amasa captain of the host instead of Joab: which Amasa was a man's son, whose name was Ithra an Israelite, that went in to Abigail the daughter of Nahash, sister to Zeruah, Joab's mother.

26 So Israel and Abfalom pitched in the land of Gilead.

27 ¶ And it came to pass, when David was come to Mahanaim, that Shobi the son of Nahash of Rabbah of the children of Ammon, and Machir the son of Ammiel of Lo-debar, and Barzillai the Gileadite of Rogelim,

28 Brought beds, and basons, and earthen vessels, and wheat, and barley, and flour, and parched corn, and beans, and lentiles, and parched pulse,

29 And honey, and butter, and sheep, and cheese of kine, for David, and for the people that were with him, to eat: for they said, The people is hungry, and weary, and thirsty, in the wilderness.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 David, having mustered his troops under three principal leaders, giveth them a strict charge not to hurt Abfalom.

6 The men of Israel are smitten in the wood of Ephraim.

9 Abfalom hanging by the hair of his head in an oak is slain by Joab, and cast into a pit. 18 Abfalom's place.

19 Ahimaaz and Cushi carry tidings to David, 33 who mourneth for Abfalom.

AND David numbered the people that were with him, and set captains of thousands and captains of hundreds over them.

2 And David sent forth a third part of the people under the hand of Joab, and a third part under the hand of Abishai the son of Zeruah, Joab's brother, and a third part under the hand of Ittai the Gittite. And the king said unto the people, I will surely go forth with you myself also.

3 But the people answered, Thou shalt not go forth: for if we flee away, they will not care for us; neither if half of us die, will they care for us: but now thou art worth ten thousand of us: therefore now it is better that thou succour us out of the city.

4 And the king said unto them, What seemeth you best I will do. And the king stood by the gate side, and all the people came out by hundreds and by thousands.

5 And the king commanded Joab and Abishai and Ittai, saying, Deal gently for my sake with the young man, even with Abfalom. And all the people heard when the king gave all the captains charge concerning Abfalom.

6 ¶ So the people went out into the field against Israel: and the battle was in the wood of Ephraim;

7 Where the people of Israel were slain before the servants of David, and there was there a great slaughter that day of twenty thousand men.

8 For the battle was there scattered over the face of all the country: and the wood devoured more people that day than the sword devoured.

9 ¶ And Abfalom met the servants of David. And Abfalom rode upon a mule, and the mule went under the thick boughs of a great oak, and his head caught hold of the oak, and he was taken up between the heaven and the earth; and the mule that was under him went away.

10 And a certain man saw it, and told Joab, and said, Behold, I saw Abfalom hanged in an oak.

11 And Joab said unto the man that told him, And, behold, thou sawest him, and why didst thou not smite him there to the ground? and I would have given thee ten shekels of silver, and a girdle.

12 And the man said unto Joab, Though I should receive a thousand shekels of silver in mine hand, yet would I not put forth mine hand against the king's son: for in our hearing the king charged thee and Abishai and Ittai, saying, Beware that none touch the young man Abfalom.

13 Otherwise I should have wrought falsehood against mine own life: for there is no matter hid from the king, and thou thyself wouldest have set thyself against me.

14 Then said Joab, I may not tarry thus with thee. And he took three darts in his hand, and thrust them through the heart of Abfalom, while he was yet alive in the midst of the oak.

15 And ten young men that bare Joab's armour compassed about and smote Abfalom, and slew him.

16 And Joab blew the trumpet, and the people returned from pursuing after Israel: for Joab held back the people.

17 And they took Abfalom, and cast him into a great pit in the wood, and laid a very great heap of stones upon him: and all Israel fled every one to his tent.

18 ¶ Now Abfalom in his lifetime had taken and reared up for himself a pillar, which is in the king's dale: for he said, I have no son to keep my name in remembrance: and he called the pillar after his own name: and it is called unto this day, Abfalom's place.

19 ¶ Then said Ahimaaz the son of Zadok, Let me now run, and bear the king tidings, how that the Lord hath avenged him of his enemies.

20 And Joab said unto him, Thou shalt not bear tidings this day, but thou shalt bear tidings another day: but this day thou shalt bear no tidings, because the king's son is dead.

21 Then said Joab to Cushi, Go tell the king what thou hast seen. And Cushi bowed himself unto Joab, and ran.

22 Then said Ahimaaz the son of Zadok yet again to Joab, But howsoever, let me, I pray thee, also run after Cushi. And Joab said, Wherefore wilt thou run, my son, seeing that thou hast no tidings ready?

23 But howsoever, said he, let me run. And he said unto him, Run. Then Ahimaaz ran by the way of the plain, and overran Cushi.

24 And David sat between the two gates: and the watchman went up to the roof over the gate unto the wall, and lifted up his eyes, and looked, and behold a man running alone.

25 And the watchman cried, and told the king. And the king said, If he be alone, there is tidings in his mouth. And he came apace, and drew near.

26 And the watchman saw another man running: and the watchman called unto the porter, and said, Behold another man running alone. And the king said, He also bringeth tidings.

27 And the watchman said, Me thinketh the running of the foremost is like the running of Ahimaaz the 23 And hanged himself, &c.] Convinced, from the weak conduct of Abfalom, that David would get the better, and that he should be put to death for his treason, he chose to be his own executioner.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XVII.

The tragical end of Ahithophel affords a remarkable example of the divine vengeance upon traitors, and those who form criminal and unjust enterprises.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XVIII.

1 And set captains of thousands and captains of hundreds, &c.] Formed them into regiments and companies.

The wood devoured more people that day than the sword devoured.] There were more slain in the wood, than in the field of battle.

16 Joab held back the people.] This was acting right: he knew the people were drawn into the rebellion, and would return to their duty, now they had none to lead them.

Before CHRIST 1023. the son of Zadok. And the king said, He is a good man, and cometh with good tidings.

28 And Ahimaaz called, and said unto the king, All is well. And he fell down to the earth upon his face before the king, and said, Blessed be the LORD thy God, which hath delivered up the men that lifted up their hand against my lord the king.

29 And the king said, Is the young man Absalom safe? And Ahimaaz answered, When Joab sent the king's servant, and my servant, I saw a great tumult, but I knew not what it was.

30 And the king said unto him, Turn aside, and stand here. And he turned aside, and stood still.

31 And, behold, Cushai came; and Cushai said, Tidings, my lord the king: for the LORD hath avenged thee this day of all them that rose up against thee.

32 And the king said unto Cushai, Is the young man Absalom safe? And Cushai answered, The enemies of my lord the king, and all that rise against thee to do thee hurt, be as that young man is.

33 And the king was much moved, and went up to the chamber over the gate, and wept: and as he went, thus he said, O my son Absalom, my son, my son Absalom! would God I had died for thee, O Absalom, my son, my son!

C H A P. XIX.

1 Joab by threats forceth David to cease mourning. 9 The Israelites are earnest to bring the king back. 11 David sendeth to the priests to incite the men of Judah. 16 Shimei making submission is pardoned. 24 Mephibosheth cometh to meet David, and complaineth of his servant's treachery; half his land is restored to him. 31 Barzillai attendeth the king over Jordan, and is gratefully dismissed; Chimham is received into the king's family. 41 The men of Israel expostulate with the men of Judah for not calling them to take part in bringing back the king.

AND it was told Joab, Behold, the king weepeth and mourneth for Absalom.

2 And the victory that day was turned into mourning unto all the people: for the people heard say that day how the king was grieved for his son.

3 And the people gat them by stealth that day into the city, as people being ashamed steal away when they flee in battle.

4 But the king covered his face, and the king cried with a loud voice, O my son Absalom, O Absalom, my son, my son!

5 And Joab came into the house to the king, and said, Thou hast shamed this day the faces of all thy servants, which this day have saved thy life, and the lives of thy sons and of thy daughters, and the lives of thy wives, and the lives of thy concubines;

6 In that thou lovest thine enemies, and hatest thy friends. For thou hast declared this day, that thou regardest neither princes nor servants: for this day I perceive, that if Absalom had lived, and all we had died this day, then it had pleased thee well.

7 Now therefore arise, go forth, and speak comfortably unto thy servants: for I swear by the LORD, if thou go not forth, there will not tarry one with thee this night: and that will be worse unto thee than all the evil that befel thee from thy youth until now.

[9 I knew not what it was.] He dissembled the knowledge of Absalom's death.

33 O my son Absalom, &c.] Nothing certainly can be more moving and pathetic than the words uttered by David on this solemn occasion; his grief was doubtless increased, from reflecting that himself, by reason of his own sin, in the case of Uriah, had been the unhappy instrument and occasion of his son's death.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS, ON Chap. XVIII.

We may from hence observe, that divine vengeance will sooner or later overtake disobedient and rebellious children: and also remark the extreme tenderness of David for Absalom, though he was a wicked and unnatural child.

8 Then the king arose, and sat in the gate. And they told unto all the people, saying, Behold, the king doth sit in the gate. And all the people came before the king: for Israel had fled every man to his tent.

9 ¶ And all the people were at strife throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, The king saved us out of the hand of our enemies, and he delivered us out of the hand of the Philistines; and now he is fled out of the land for Absalom.

10 And Absalom, whom we anointed over us, is dead in battle. Now therefore why speak ye not a word of bringing the king back?

11 ¶ And king David sent to Zadok and to Abiathar the priests, saying, Speak unto the elders of Judah, saying, Why are ye the last to bring the king back to his house? seeing the speech of all Israel is come to the king, even to his house.

12 Ye are my brethren, ye are my bones and my flesh: wherefore then are ye the last to bring back the king?

13 And say ye to Amasa, Art thou not of my bone, and of my flesh? God do so to me, and more also, if thou be not captain of the host before me continually in the room of Joab.

14 And he bowed the heart of all the men of Judah, even as the heart of one man; so that they sent this word unto the king, Return thou, and all thy servants.

15 So the king returned, and came to Jordan. And Judah came to Gilgal, to go to meet the king, to conduct the king over Jordan.

16 ¶ And Shimei the son of Gera, a Benjamite, which was of Bahurim, hastened and came down with the men of Judah to meet king David.

17 And there were a thousand men of Benjamin with him, and Ziba the servant of the house of Saul, and his fifteen sons and his twenty servants with him; and they went over Jordan before the king.

18 And there went over a ferry boat to carry over the king's household, and to do what he thought good. And Shimei the son of Gera fell down before the king, as he was come over Jordan;

19 And said unto the king, Let not my lord impute iniquity unto me, neither do thou remember that which thy servant did perversely the day that my lord the king went out of Jerusalem, that the king should take it to his heart.

20 For thy servant doth know that I have sinned: therefore, behold, I am come the first this day of all the house of Joseph to go down to meet my lord the king.

21 But Abishai the son of Zeruiah answered and said, Shall not Shimei be put to death for this, because he cursed the LORD's anointed?

22 And David said, What have I to do with you, ye sons of Zeruiah, that ye should this day be adversaries unto me? shall there any man be put to death this day in Israel? for do not I know that I am this day king over Israel?

23 Therefore the king said unto Shimei, Thou shalt not die. And the king swore unto him.

24 ¶ And Mephibosheth the son of Saul came down to meet the king, and had neither dressed his feet, nor trimmed his beard, nor washed his clothes, from the day the king departed until the day he came again in peace.

25 And

9 Were at strife, &c.] Blaming one another's backwardness and sloth.

13 In the room of Joab.] David seems to have resolved to dismiss Joab from being his general: he was grown insufferably insolent and imperious; had slain Abner and Absalom, contrary to the king's consent, and even insulted over his sovereign. To such a height of arrogance will ministers sometimes arrive, when they find that their service is become necessary to their prince.

22 Ye sons of Zeruiah, &c.] They thought to govern all David's affairs as they pleased; but in a disdainful manner he bids them stand aside, and not meddle in this matter.

O my son Absalom, my son, my son Absalom:
would God I had died for thee.

25 And it came to pass, when he was come to Jerusalem, to meet the king, that the king said unto him, Wherefore wentest not thou with me, Mephibosheth?

26 And he answered, My lord, O king, my servant deceived me: for thy servant said, I will saddle me on an ass, that I may ride thereon, and go to the king; because thy servant is lame.

27 And he hath slandered thy servant unto my lord the king; but my lord the king is as an angel of God: do therefore what is good in thine eyes.

28 For all of my father's house were but dead men before my lord the king: yet didst thou set thy servant among them that did eat at thine own table. What right therefore have I yet to cry any more unto the king?

29 And the king said unto him, Why speakest thou any more of thy matters? I have said, Thou and Ziba divide the land.

30 And Mephibosheth said unto the king, Yea, let him take all, forasmuch as my lord the king is come again in peace unto his own house.

31 ¶ And Barzillai the Gileadite came down from Rogelim, and went over Jordan with the king, to conduct him over Jordan.

32 Now Barzillai was a very aged man, even fourscore years old: and he had provided the king of sustenance while he lay at Mahanaim; for he was a very great man.

33 And the king said unto Barzillai, Come thou over with me, and I will feed thee with me in Jerusalem.

34 And Barzillai said unto the king, How long have I to live, that I should go up with the king unto Jerusalem?

35 I am this day fourscore years old: and can I discern between good and evil? can thy servant taste what I eat or what I drink? can I any more hear the voice of singing men and singing women? wherefore then should thy servant be yet a burden unto my lord the king?

36 Thy servant will go a little way over Jordan with the king: and why should the king recompense it me with such a reward?

37 Let thy servant, I pray thee, turn back again, that I may die in mine own city, and be buried by the grave of my father and of my mother. But behold thy servant Chimham; let him go over with my lord the king; and do to him what shall seem good unto thee.

38 And the king answered, Chimham shall go over with me, and I will do to him that which shall seem good unto thee: and whatsoever thou shalt require of me, that will I do for thee.

39 And all the people went over Jordan. And when the king was come over, the king kissed Barzillai, and blessed him; and he returned unto his own place.

40 Then the king went on to Gilgal, and Chimham went on with him: and all the people of Judah conducted the king, and also half the people of Israel.

41 ¶ And, behold, all the men of Israel came to the king, and said unto the king, Why have our brethren the men of Judah stolen thee away, and have brought the king, and his household, and all David's men with him, over Jordan?

42 And all the men of Judah answered the men of Israel, Because the king is near of kin to us: wherefore then be ye angry for this matter? have we eaten at all of the king's cost? or hath he given us any gift?

43 And the men of Israel answered the men of Judah, and said, We have ten parts in the king, and we have also more right in David than ye: why then did ye despise us, that our advice should not be first had in bringing back our king? And the words of the men of Judah were fiercer than the words of the men of Israel.

AND there happened to be there a man of Belial, whose name was Sheba, the son of Bichri, a Benjamite: and he blew a trumpet, and said, We have no part in David, neither have we inheritance in the son of Jesse: every man to his tents, O Israel.

2 So every man of Israel went up from after David, and followed Sheba the son of Bichri: but the men of Judah clave unto their king, from Jordan even to Jerusalem.

3 ¶ And David came to his house at Jerusalem; and the king took the ten women his concubines, whom he had left to keep the house, and put them in ward, and fed them, but went not in unto them. So they were shut up unto the day of their death, living in widowhood.

4 ¶ Then said the king to Amasa, Assemble me the men of Judah within three days, and be thou here present.

5 So Amasa went to assemble the men of Judah: but he tarried longer than the set time which he had appointed him.

6 And David said to Abishai, Now shall Sheba the son of Bichri do us more harm than did Absalom: take thou my lord's servants, and pursue after him, lest he get him fenced cities, and escape us.

7 And there went out after him Joab's men, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, and all the mighty men: and they went out of Jerusalem, to pursue after Sheba the son of Bichri.

8 When they were at the great stone which is in Gibeon, Amasa went before them. And Joab's garment that he had put on was girded unto him, and upon it a girdle with a sword fastened upon his loins in the sheath thereof; and as he went forth it fell out.

9 And Joab said to Amasa, Art thou in health, my brother? And Joab took Amasa by the beard with the right hand to kiss him.

10 But Amasa took no heed to the sword that was in Joab's hand: so he smote him therewith in the fifth rib, and shed out his bowels to the ground, and struck him not again; and he died. So Joab and Abishai his brother pursued after Sheba the son of Bichri.

11 And one of Joab's men that stood by him, and said, He that favoureth Joab, and he that is for David, let him go after Joab.

12 And Amasa wallowed in blood in the midst of the highway. And when the man saw that all the people stood still, he removed Amasa out of the highway into the field, and cast a cloth upon him, when he saw that every one that came by him stood still.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XIX.

By the complaints made by the people of Israel concerning David, there arose a division between the ten tribes and those of Judah and Benjamin, which afterwards gave occasion to the revolt under Rehoboam.

Before
CHRIST
1022.

13 When he was removed out of the highway, all the people went on after Joab, to pursue after Sheba the son of Bichri.

14 ¶ And he went through all the tribes of Israel unto Abel, and to Beth-maachah, and all the Berites: and they were gathered together, and went also after him.

15 And they came and besieged him in Abel of Beth-maachah, and they cast up a bank against the city, and it stood in the trench: and all the people that were with Joab battered the wall, to throw it down.

16 ¶ Then cried a wise woman out of the city, Hear, hear; say, I pray you, unto Joab, Come near hither, that I may speak with thee.

17 And when he was come near unto her, the woman said, Art thou Joab? And he answered, I am he. Then she said unto him, Hear the words of thine handmaid. And he answered, I do hear.

18 Then she spake, saying, They were wont to speak in old time, saying, They shall surely ask counsel at Abel: and so they ended the matter.

19 I am one of them that are peaceable and faithful in Israel: thou seekest to destroy a city and a mother in Israel: why wilt thou swallow up the inheritance of the LORD?

20 And Joab answered and said, Far be it, far be it from me, that I should swallow up or destroy.

21 The matter is not so: but a man of mount Ephraim, Sheba the son of Bichri by name, hath lifted up his hand against the king, even against David: deliver him only, and I will depart from the city. And the woman said unto Joab, Behold, his head shall be thrown to thee over the wall.

22 Then the woman went unto all the people in her wisdom. And they cut off the head of Sheba the son of Bichri, and cast it out to Joab. And he blew a trumpet, and they retired from the city, every man to his tent. And Joab returned to Jerusalem unto the king.

23 ¶ Now Joab was over all the host of Israel: and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the Cherethites and over the Pelethites:

24 And Adoram was over the tribute: and Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder:

25 And Sheva was scribe: and Zadok and Abiathar were the priests:

26 And Ira also the Jairite was a chief ruler about David.

C H A P. XXI.

1 The three years' famine on account of the Gibeonites ceaseth upon hanging seven of Saul's sons. 10 Rizpah's care for their dead bodies. 12 David burieth their bones with those of Saul and Jonathan in the sepulchre of Kish. 15 In four battles against the Philistines four of David's mighty men slay four giants.

1021. THEN there was a famine in the days of David three years, year after year; and David enquired of the LORD. And the LORD answered, It is for Saul, and for his bloody house, because he slew the Gibeonites.

2 And the king called the Gibeonites, and said unto them; (now the Gibeonites were not of the children of Israel, but of the remnant of the Amorites; and the children of Israel had sworn unto them: and Saul fought to slay them in his zeal to the children of Israel and Judah.)

3 Wherefore David said unto the Gibeonites, What shall I do for you? and wherewith shall I make the atonement, that ye may bless the inheritance of the LORD?

4 And the Gibeonites said unto him, We will have no silver nor gold of Saul, nor of his house; neither for us shalt thou kill any man in Israel. And he said, What ye shall say, that will I do for you.

5 And they answered the king, The man that consumed us, and that devised against us that we should be destroyed from remaining in any of the coasts of Israel,

6 Let seven men of his sons be delivered unto us, and we will hang them up unto the LORD in Gibeah of Saul, whom the LORD did choose. And the king said, I will give them.

7 But the king spared Mephibosheth, the son of Jonathan the son of Saul, because of the LORD's oath that was between them, between David and Jonathan the son of Saul.

8 But the king took the two sons of Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, whom she bare unto Saul, Armoni and Mephibosheth; and the five sons of Michal the daughter of Saul, whom she brought up for Adriel the son of Barzillai the Meholathite:

9 And he delivered them into the hands of the Gibeonites, and they hanged them in the hill before the LORD: and they fell all seven together, and were put to death in the days of harvest, in the first days, in the beginning of barley harvest.

10 ¶ And Rizpah the daughter of Aiah took sackcloth, and spread it for her upon the rock, from the beginning of harvest until water dropped upon them out of heaven, and suffered neither the birds of the air to rest on them by day, nor the beasts of the field by night.

11 And it was told David what Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, the concubine of Saul, had done.

12 ¶ And David went and took the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathan his son from the men of Jabesh-gilead, which had stolen them from the street of Beth-shan, where the Philistines had hanged them, when the Philistines had slain Saul in Gilboa:

13 And he brought up from thence the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathan his son; and they gathered the bones of them that were hanged.

14 And the bones of Saul and Jonathan his son buried they in the country of Benjamin in Zelah, in the sepulchre of Kish his father: and they performed all that the king commanded. And after that God was intreated for the land.

15 ¶ Moreover the Philistines had yet war again with Israel; and David went down, and his servants with him, and fought against the Philistines: and David waxed faint.

16 And Ishbi-benob, which was of the sons of the giant, the weight of whose spear weighed three hundred shekels of brass in weight, he being girded with a new sword, thought to have slain David.

17 But

14 Unto Abel, and to Beth-maachah, &c.] Unto Abel Beth-maachah; for they were one and the same place.

18 They shall surely ask counsel at Abel, &c.] The translation in the margin of our bibles seems most natural: When the people saw them lay siege to the city, they said, Surely he will ask, if we will have peace; for the law prescribes, that he should offer peace to strangers, much more than to Israelitish cities. If he would once do this, we should bring things to an amicable agreement.

21 A man of mount Ephraim, &c.] It is supposed he lived there.

24 Adoram was over the tribute, &c.] Treasurer or receiver of the king's revenue.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XX.

We must consider that God sent the forementioned evils upon David, to humble him, and make him sensible of his sin: with the same design he chastises sinners: when they improve by his corrections, he pardons them, as he pardoned David, and re-established him in his kingdom.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES on Chap. XXI.

1 David enquired of the Lord, &c.] For what sin, so grievous a punishment was inflicted.

3 What shall I do for you? &c.] There was this reason for humbling the Gibeonites herein, because they had been modest under their sufferings, and never made any complaint to David of the injuries that had been done them.

¶ The five sons of Michal, &c.] Michal was not the wife of Adriel, but Merab; yet those children which Merab had by Adriel, Michal brought up; and whoever brings up a pupil in his house, is in scripture said to have begotten him.

9 He delivered them into the hands of the Gibeonites, &c.] This was done purely in obedience to the will of God, who had both directed and warranted him so to do.

10 From the beginning of harvest until water dropped, &c.] The bodies hung from the beginning of harvest till God was intreated for the land, and was pleased to send them rain.

17 That

17 But Abihai the son of Zeruiah succoured him, and smote the Philistine, and killed him. Then the men of David swore unto him, saying, Thou shalt go no more out with us to battle, that thou quench not the light of Israel.

18 And it came to pass after this, that there was again a battle with the Philistines at Gob: then Sibbechai the Hushathite slew Saph, which was of the sons of the giant.

19 And there was again a battle in Gob with the Philistines, where Elhanan the son of Jaare-oregim, a Beth-lehemite, slew the brother of Goliath the Gittite, the staff of whose spear was like a weaver's beam.

20 And there was yet a battle in Gath, where was a man of great stature, that had on every hand six fingers, and on every foot six toes, four and twenty in number: and he also was born to the giant.

21 And when he defied Israel, Jonathan the son of Shimea the brother of David slew him.

22 These four were born to the giant of Gath, and fell by the hand of David, and by the hand of his servants.

C H A P. XXII.

1 David's psalm of thanksgiving for God's mighty deliverance and manifold blessings.

AND David spake unto the LORD the words of this song in the day that the LORD had delivered him out of the hand of all his enemies, and out of the hand of Saul:

2 And he said, The LORD is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer;

3 The God of my rock; in him will I trust: he is my shield, and the horn of my salvation, my high tower, and my refuge, my saviour; thou savest me from violence.

4 I will call on the LORD, who is worthy to be praised: so shall I be saved from mine enemies.

5 When the waves of death compassed me, the floods of ungodly men made me afraid;

6 The sorrows of hell compassed me about; the snares of death prevented me;

7 In my distress I called upon the LORD, and cried to my God: and he did hear my voice out of his temple, and my cry did enter into his ears.

8 Then the earth shook and trembled: the foundations of heaven moved and shook, because he was wroth.

9 There went up smoke out of his nostrils, and fire out of his mouth devoured: coals were kindled by it:

10 He bowed the heavens also, and came down; and darkness was under his feet.

11 And he rode upon a cherub, and did fly: and he was seen upon the wings of the wind.

12 And he made darkness pavilions round about him, dark waters, and thick clouds of the skies:

13 Through the brightness before him were coals of fire kindled.

14 The LORD thundered from heaven, and the most High uttered his voice.

15 And he sent out arrows, and scattered them; lightning, and discomfited them.

16 And the channels of the sea appeared, the foundations of the world were discovered, at the rebuking of the LORD, at the blast of the breath of his nostrils.

17 That thou quench not the light of Israel.] Good kings are in scripture justly called the light of the people, 1 Kings xi. 36. Psalm cxxxvii. 17.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXI.

We may learn from hence, that the violation of oaths brings down the judgments of God; and that wicked men draw upon themselves and their offspring all kinds of misfortunes.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXII.

1 And David spake unto the Lord the words of this song, &c.] This psalm is nearly the same as the eighteenth. In this divine ode is contained the noblest image that was ever expressed in words.

3 My shield, and the horn of my salvation, my high tower, &c.] He

17 He sent from above, he took me: he drew me out of many waters;

Before CHRIST 1018.

18 He delivered me from my strong enemy, and from them that hated me: for they were too strong for me.

19 They prevented me in the day of my calamity: but the LORD was my stay.

20 He brought me forth also into a large place: he delivered me, because he delighted in me.

21 The LORD rewarded me according to my righteousness: according to the cleanness of my hands hath he recompensed me,

22 For I have kept the ways of the LORD, and have not wickedly departed from my God.

23 For all his judgments were before me: and as for his statutes, I did not depart from them.

24 I was also upright before him, and have kept myself from mine iniquity.

25 Therefore hath the LORD recompensed me according to my righteousness: according to my cleanness in his eye sight.

26 With the merciful thou wilt shew thyself merciful, and with the upright man thou wilt shew thyself upright.

27 With the pure thou wilt shew thyself pure; and with the froward thou wilt shew thyself unfavoury.

28 And the afflicted people thou wilt save: but thine eyes are upon the haughty, that thou mayest bring them down.

29 For thou art my lamp, O LORD: and the LORD will lighten my darkness.

30 For by thee I have run through a troop: by my God have I leaped over a wall.

31 As for God, his way is perfect; the word of the LORD is tried: he is a buckler to all them that trust in him.

32 For who is God, save the LORD? and who is a rock, save our God?

33 God is my strength and power: and he maketh my way perfect.

34 He maketh my feet like hinds' feet: and setteth me upon my high places.

35 He teacheth my hands to war; so that a bow of steel is broken by mine arms.

36 Thou hast also given me the shield of thy salvation: and thy gentleness hath made me great.

37 Thou hast enlarged my steps under me; so that my feet did not slip.

38 I have pursued mine enemies, and destroyed them; and turned not again until I had consumed them.

39 And I have consumed them, and wounded them, that they could not arise: yea, they are fallen under my feet.

40 For thou hast girded me with strength to battle: them that rose up against me thou hast subdued under me.

41 Thou hast also given me the necks of mine enemies, that I might destroy them that hate me.

42 They looked, but there was none to save; even unto the LORD, but he answered them not.

43 Then did I beat them as small as the dust of the earth, I did stamp them as the mire of the street, and did spread them abroad.

44 Thou also hast delivered me from the strivings of 4 So shall I be saved, &c.] That is, if I call upon the Lord.

8 The foundations of heaven moved, &c.] The roots and foundations of the mountains.

17 Many waters.] Innumerable dangers, pouring in upon him like many waters, and overflowing him.

22 I have kept the ways of the Lord, &c.] He took no unlawful courses to preserve himself.

27 With the froward thou wilt shew thyself unfavoury.] The reading in the psalms is better, "With the froward thou wilt shew thyself froward."

30 By thee I have run through a troop, &c.] Escaped dangers, and subdued foes.

45 Strangers shall submit themselves unto me: as soon as they hear, they shall be obedient unto me.

46 Strangers shall fade away, and they shall be afraid out of their close places.

47 The LORD liveth; and blessed be my rock; and exalted be the God of the rock of my salvation.

48 It is God that avengeth me, and that bringeth down the people under me,

49 And that bringeth me forth from mine enemies: thou also hast lifted me up on high above them that rose up against me: thou hast delivered me from the violent man.

1 David's last words, setting forth the happiness of the just man, and the different state of the wicked. ■ A catalogue of David's mighty men.

NOW these be the last words of David. David the son of Jesse said, and the man who was raised up on high, the anointed of the God of Jacob, and the sweet psalmist of Israel, said,

2 The Spirit of the LORD spake by me, and his word was in my tongue.

3 The God of Israel said, the Rock of Israel spake to me, He that ruleth over men must be just, ruling in the fear of God.

4 And he shall be as the light of the morning, when the sun riseth, even a morning without clouds; as the tender grafs springing out of the earth by clear shining after rain.

5 Although my house be not so with God; yet he hath made with me an everlasting covenant, ordered in all things, and sure: for this is all my salvation, and all my desire, although he make it not to grow.

6 But the sons of Belial shall be all of them as thorns thrust away, because they cannot be taken with hands:

7 But the man that shall touch them must be fenced with iron and the staff of a spear; and they shall be utterly burned with fire in the same place.

■ ¶ These be the names of the mighty men whom David had: The Tachmonite that sat in the seat, chief among the captains; the same was Adino the Eznite: he lifted up his spear against eight hundred, whom he slew at one time.

9 And after him was Eleazar the son of Dodo the Ahohite, one of the three mighty men with David, when they defied the Philistines that were there gathered together to battle, and the men of Israel were gone away:

10 He arose, and smote the Philistines until his hand was weary, and his hand clave unto the sword: and the LORD wrought a great victory that day; and the people returned after him only to spoil.

11 And after him was Shammah the son of Agee the Hararite. And the Philistines were gathered together 44 Thou hast kept me to be head of the heathen, &c.] This relates to the enlargement of his kingdom, by subduing the heathen under him.

49 Violent man.] Saul.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXIII.

We see in this song the miserable condition of the ungodly; since when they are in distress, there is none to deliver them; and when they cry to the Lord he will not hear them.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXIII.

into a troop, where was a piece of ground full of lentils: and the people fled from the Philistines.

12 But he stood in the midst of the ground, and defended it, and slew the Philistines: and the LORD wrought a great victory.

13 And three of the thirty chief went down, and came to David in the harvest time unto the cave of Adullam: and the troop of the Philistines pitched in the valley of Rephaim.

14 And David was then in an hold, and the garrison of the Philistines was then in Beth-lehem.

15 And David longed and said, Oh that one would give me drink of the water of the well of Beth-lehem, which is by the gate.

16 And the three mighty men brake through the host of the Philistines, and drew water out of the well of Beth-lehem, that was by the gate, and took it, and brought it to David: nevertheless he would not drink thereof, but poured it out unto the LORD.

17 And he said, Be it far from me, O LORD, that I should do this: is not this the blood of the men that went in jeopardy of their lives? therefore he would not drink it. These things did these three mighty men.

18 And Abishai, the brother of Joab, the son of Zeruiah, was chief among three. And he lifted up his spear against three hundred, and slew them, and had the name among three.

19 Was he not most honourable of three? therefore he was their captain: howbeit he attained not unto the first three.

20 And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, the son of a valiant man, of Kabzeel, who had done many acts, he slew two lion-like men of Moab: he went down also and slew a lion in the midst of a pit in time of snow:

21 And he slew an Egyptian, a goodly man: and the Egyptian had a spear in his hand; but he went down to him with a staff, and plucked the spear out of the Egyptian's hand, and slew him with his own spear.

22 These things did Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and had the name among three mighty men.

23 He was more honourable than the thirty, but he attained not to the first three. And David set him over his guard.

24 Asahel the brother of Joab was one of the thirty; Elhanan the son of Dodo of Beth-lehem,

25 Shammah the Harodite, Elikah the Harodite,

26 Helez the Paltite, Ira the son of Ikkeiah the Tekoite,

27 Abiezer the Anethothite, Mebunnai the Hushathite,

28 Zalmon the Ahoite, Maharai the Netophathite,

29 Heleb the son of Baanah, a Netophathite, Ittai the son of Ribai out of Gibeah of the children of Benjamin,

30 Benaiah the Pirathonite, Hiddai of the brooks of Gaash,

31 Abi-albon the Arbathite, Azmaveth the Barhumite,

32 Eliahba the Shaalbomite, of the sons of Jashen, Jonathan,

33 Shaamah the Hararite, Ahiam the son of Sharar the Hararite.

34 Eliphelet

7 The man that shall touch them must be fenced with iron, &c.] If any one meddle with them it must be at his peril.

8 These be the names of the mighty men, &c.] Mr. Kennicot has, with great ingenuity and industry corrected the original, and given us this translation; These are the names of the mighty men whom David had: Jeshubeam the Hachmonite, chief of the three; he lifted up his spear against three hundred soldiers at one time. This is nearly correspondent to 1 Chron. xi. 11.

17 Is not this the blood of the men, &c.] He looked upon it no longer as water, but as the blood of those men who fetched it at the hazard of their lives.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXIII.

We may learn from this chapter, that we ought chiefly to prize spiritual blessings, and thank God for them; and that his favour is bestowed upon those that fear him, and upon their posterity.

C H A P. XXIV.

1 David forceth Joab to number the people. 5 The captains after nine months and twenty days deliver in the number to the king. 10 David repenteth, and, being obliged to choose one plague out of three named to him, fixeth on three day's pestilence. 15 After the death of seventy thousand in Israel, at David's humble suit the angel is stayed from destroying Jerusalem. 18 By Gad's direction
 David purchaseth Araunah's threshing floor; and having sacrificed there, the plague ceaseth.

AND again the anger of the LORD was kindled against Israel, and he moved David against them to say, Go, number Israel and Judah.

2 For the king said to Joab the captain of the host, which was with him, Go now through all the tribes of Israel, from Dan even to Beer-sheba, and number ye the people, that I may know the number of the people.

3 And Joab said unto the king, Now the LORD thy God add unto the people, how many soever they be, an hundred fold, and that the eyes of my lord the king may see it: but why doth my lord the king delight in this thing?

4 Notwithstanding the king's word prevailed against Joab, and against the captains of the host. And Joab and the captains of the host went out from the presence of the king, to number the people of Israel.

5 ¶ And they passed over Jordan, and pitched in Aroer, on the right side of the city that lieth in the midst of the river of Gad, and toward Jazer:

6 Then they came to Gilead, and to the land of Tahtim-hodshi; and they came to Dan-jaan, and about to Zidon,

7 And came to the strong hold of Tyre, and to all the cities of the Hivites, and of the Canaanites: and they went out to the south of Judah, even to Beer-sheba.

8 So when they had gone through all the land, they came to Jerusalem at the end of nine months and twenty days.

9 And Joab gave up the sum of the number of the people unto the king: and there were in Israel eight hundred thousand valiant men that drew the sword; and the men of Judah were five hundred thousand men.

10 ¶ And David's heart smote him after that he had numbered the people. And David said unto the LORD,
 I have sinned greatly in that I have done: and now, I beseech thee, O LORD, take away the iniquity of thy servant; for I have done very foolishly.

11 For when David was up in the morning, the word of the LORD came unto the prophet Gad, David's seer, saying,

12 Go and say unto David, Thus saith the LORD, I offer thee three things; choose thee one of them, that I may do it unto thee.

13 So Gad came to David, and told him, and said unto him, Shall seven years of famine come unto thee in thy land? or wilt thou flee three months before thine enemies, while they pursue thee? or that there be three days pestilence in thy land? now advise, and see what answer I shall return to him that sent me.

14 And David said unto Gad, I am in a great strait; let us fall now into the hand of the LORD; for his mercies are great: and let me not fall into the hand of man.

15 ¶ So the LORD sent a pestilence upon Israel from the morning even to the time appointed: and there died of the people from Dan even to Beer-sheba seventy thousand men.

16 And when the angel stretched out his hand upon Jerusalem to destroy it, the LORD repented him of the evil, and said to the angel that destroyed the people, It is enough; stay now thine hand. And the angel of the LORD was by the threshingplace of Araunah the Jebusite.

17 And David spake unto the LORD when he saw the angel that smote the people, and said, Lo, I have sinned, and I have done wickedly: but these sheep, what have they done? let thine hand, I pray thee, be against me, and against my father's house.

18 ¶ And Gad came that day to David, and said unto him, Go up, rear an altar unto the LORD in the threshingfloor of Araunah the Jebusite.

19 And David, according to the saying of Gad, went up as the LORD commanded,

20 And Araunah looked, and saw the king and his servants coming on toward him: and Araunah went out and bowed himself before the king on his face upon the ground.

21 And Araunah said, Wherefore is my lord the king come to his servant? And David said, To buy the threshingfloor of thee, to build an altar unto the LORD, that the plague may be stayed from the people.

22 And Araunah said unto David, Let my lord the king take and offer up what seemeth good unto him: behold, here be oxen for burnt sacrifice, and threshing instruments and other instruments of the oxen for wood,

23 All these things did Araunah, as a king, give unto the king. And Araunah said unto the king, The LORD thy God accept thee.

24 And the king said unto Araunah, Nay; but I will surely buy it of thee at a price: neither will I offer burnt offerings unto the LORD my God of that which doth cost me nothing. So David bought the threshingfloor and the oxen for fifty shekels of silver.

25 And David built there an altar unto the LORD, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings. So the LORD was intreated for the land, and the plague was stayed from Israel.

The

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXIV.

3 The anger of the Lord was kindled against Israel, &c.] Because they had followed Absalom, and afterwards Sheba, and also because of their luxury, now that plenty was restored.

10 David said unto the Lord, I have sinned greatly, &c.] David, who had been favoured by the Almighty in a most remarkable manner, should not have gloried in the multitude of his forces, nor made flesh his arm.

13 Shall seven years of famine, &c.] In 1 Chron. xxi. 12. it is three years famine, &c. The LXX also read three years famine; therefore there is no doubt but this is a mistake of the translator, who has corrupted three into seven.

17 Lo, I have sinned, and I have done wickedly: but these sheep, what have they done, &c.] Like a good man, he reflected only on his own sin, in numbering the people; but did not think of theirs in despising him lately, and setting up Absalom on the throne of Israel.

No. 27.

18 In the threshing-floor of Araunah, &c.] This threshing-floor was in the mount Moriah, the place where Abraham offered up his son, and where Solomon afterwards built the temple.

24 David bought the threshing-floor, &c.] To account for the difference here with Chronicles which makes it 600 shekels of gold, it is generally supposed David made two purchases: first, he bought the threshing floor and oxen, for fifty shekels of silver; but that afterwards all the ground about it (out of which the courts and temple were made) cost him 600 shekels of gold.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XXIV.

David's conduct in general denotes him to have been a most worthy prince, who joined mercy and justice together in such a manner, as to procure the favour of the Divine Being on the one hand, and the love of his subjects on the other; when he humbled himself for his sin, God pardoned him graciously.

COMMENTARY

The First Book of the K I N G S,

COMMONLY CALLED

The Third Book of the K I N G S.

THE ARGUMENT.

These books are called Kings, because they contain the history of the kings of Israel and Judah, from the beginning of Solomon's reign, down to the Babylonish captivity, for the space of near six hundred years, taking into the account the history of the two foregoing books. It is highly probable Ezra extracted them out of the public records.

CHAP. I.

1 Abishag cherisheth David in his extreme old age. 5 Adonijah, having gained over Joab and Abiathar, inviteth his friends to a feast in order to make himself king. 11 Nathan's advice to Bathsheba thereupon; 15 whom moveth the king on the behalf of Solomon. 22 She is seconded by Nathan. 28 David sweareth to Bathsheba to make Solomon king that same day; 32 and issueth out orders accordingly. 38 Solomon is anointed and proclaimed king, the people rejoicing. 41 Adonijah and his guests hearing the news betake themselves to flight. 50 Adonijah, laying hold on the horns of the altar, is dismissed by Solomon in peace on condition of his good behaviour.

Before
1015.

NOW king David was old and stricken in years; and they covered him with clothes, but he gat no heat.

2 Wherefore his servants said unto him, Let there be sought for my lord the king a young virgin: and let her stand before the king, and let her cherish him, and let her lie in thy bosom, that my lord the king may get heat.

3 So they sought for a fair damsel throughout all the coasts of Israel, and found Abishag a Shunammite, and brought her to the king.

4 And the damsel was very fair, and cherished the king, and ministered to him: but the king knew her not.

5 ¶ Then Adonijah the son of Haggith exalted himself, saying, I will be king: and he prepared him chariots and horsemen, and fifty men to run before him.

6 And his father had not displeased him at any time in saying, Why hast thou done so? and he also was a very goodly man; and his mother bare him after Absalom.

7 And he conferred with Joab the son of Zeruiah, and with Abiathar the priest: and they following Adonijah helped him.

8 But Zadok the priest, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and Nathan the prophet, and Shimei, and Rei, and the mighty men which belonged to David, were not with Adonijah.

9 And Adonijah slew sheep and oxen and fat cattle by the stone of Zohaleth, which is by En-rogel, and called all his brethren the king's sons, and all the men of Judah the king's servants:

10 But Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah, and the mighty men, and Solomon his brother, he called not.

11 ¶ Wherefore Nathan spake unto Bathsheba the mother of Solomon, saying, Hast thou not heard that Adonijah the son of Haggith doth reign, and David our lord knoweth it not?

12 Now therefore come, let me, I pray thee, give thee counsel, that thou mayest save thine own life, and the life of thy son Solomon.

13 Go and get thee in unto king David, and say unto him, Didst not thou, my lord, O king, swear unto thine handmaid, saying, Assuredly Solomon thy son shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon my throne? why then does Adonijah reign?

14 Behold; while thou yet talkest there with the king, I also will come in after thee, and confirm thy words.

15 ¶ And Bathsheba went in unto the king into the chamber: and the king was very old; and Abishag the Shunammite ministered unto the king.

16 And Bathsheba bowed, and did obeisance unto the king. And the king said, What wouldest thou?

17 And she said unto him, My lord, thou swearest by the LORD thy God unto thine handmaid, saying, Assuredly Solomon thy son shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon my throne.

18 And now, behold, Adonijah reigneth; and now, my lord the king, thou knowest it not:

19 And he hath slain oxen and fat cattle and sheep in abundance, and hath called all the sons of the king, and Abiathar the priest, and Joab the captain of the host: but Solomon thy servant hath he not called.

20 And thou, my lord, O king, the eyes of all Israel are upon thee, that thou shouldest tell them who shall sit on the throne of my lord the king after him.

21 Otherwise it shall come to pass, when my lord the king shall sleep with his fathers, that I and my son Solomon shall be counted offenders.

22 ¶ And, lo, while she yet talked with the king, Nathan the prophet also came in.

23 And they told the king, saying, Behold Nathan the prophet. And when he was come in before the king, he bowed himself before the king with his face to the ground.

24 And Nathan said, My lord, O king, hast thou said,

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. I.

2 His servants said unto him, Let there be sought for my lord the king a young virgin, &c. The conduct of David here has been unjustly censured by some interpreters; while others have passed over this passage in contemptuous silence. But there is no reason it should be thus treated, when it is evident that there was no criminality in the case, and that it was a prescription merely medicinal, and not applied to any lascivious and wanton ends.

6 His father had not displeased him at any time David seems to have been too indulgent to his children (as was Eli), overlooked their errors, and did not reprove them, though he was bound to do it by plain law, Lev. xix. 17.

His mother bare him after Absalom. He was next to him in order of birth, and was now David's eldest son.

17 My lord, thou swearest by the LORD thy God unto thine handmaid, saying, Assuredly Solomon, &c. No doubt David had solemnly sworn to her, that he would make her son his successor; God himself having designed him to that honour; see 2 Sam. vii. 12. also 1 Chron. xxii. 9.

said, Adonijah shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon my throne?

25 For he is gone down this day, and hath slain oxen and fat cattle and sheep in abundance, and hath called all the king's sons, and the captains of the host, and Abiathar the priest; and, behold, they eat and drink before him, and say, God save king Adonijah.

26 But me, even me, thy servant, and Zadok the priest, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and thy servant Solomon, hath he not called.

27 Is this thing done by my lord the king, and thou hast not shewed it unto thy servant, who should sit on the throne of my lord the king after him?

28 ¶ Then king David answered and said, Call me Bath-sheba. And she came into the king's presence, and stood before the king.

29 And the king sware, and said, As the LORD liveth, that hath redeemed my soul out of all distress,

30 Even as I sware unto thee by the LORD God of Israel, saying, Assuredly Solomon thy son shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon my throne in my stead; even so will I certainly do this day.

31 Then Bath-sheba bowed with her face to the earth, and did reverence to the king, and said, Let my lord king David live for ever.

32 ¶ And king David said, Call me Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada. And they came before the king.

33 The king also said unto them, Take with you the servants of your lord, and cause Solomon my son to ride upon mine own mule, and bring him down to Gihon:

34 And let Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet anoint him there king over Israel: and blow ye with the trumpet, and say, God save king Solomon.

35 Then ye shall come up after him, that he may come and sit upon my throne; for he shall be king in my stead: and I have appointed him to be ruler over Israel and over Judah.

36 And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada answered the king, and said, Amen: the LORD God of my lord the king say so too.

37 As the LORD hath been with my lord the king, even so be he with Solomon, and make his throne greater than the throne of my lord king David.

38 ¶ So Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, went down, and caused Solomon to ride upon king's David's mule, and brought him to Gihon.

39 And Zadok the priest took an horn of oil out of the tabernacle, and anointed Solomon. And they blew the trumpet; and all the people said, God save king Solomon.

40 And all the people came up after him, and the people piped with pipes, and rejoiced with great joy, so that the earth rent with the sound of them.

41 ¶ And Adonijah and all the guests that were with him heard it as they had made an end of eating. And when Joab heard the sound of the trumpet, he said, Wherefore is this noise of the city being in an uproar?

42 And while he yet spake, behold, Jonathan the son of Abiathar the priest came: and Adonijah said unto him, Come in; for thou art a valiant man, and bringest good tidings.

43 And Jonathan answered and said to Adonijah, Verily our lord king David hath made Solomon king.

44 And the king hath sent with him Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, and they have caused him to ride upon the king's mule:

45 And Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet have anointed him king in Gihon: and they are come up from thence rejoicing, so that the city rang again. This is the noise that ye have heard.

46 And also Solomon sitteth on the throne of the kingdom.

47 And moreover the king's servants came to bless our lord king David, saying, God make the name of Solomon better than thy name, and make his throne greater than thy throne. And the king bowed himself upon the bed.

48 And also thus said the king, Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, which hath given me to sit on my throne this day, mine eyes even seeing it.

49 And all the guests that were with Adonijah were afraid, and rose up, and went every man his way.

50 ¶ And Adonijah feared because of Solomon, and arole, and went; and caught hold on the horns of the altar.

51 And it was told Solomon, saying, Behold, Adonijah feareth king Solomon: for, lo, he hath caught hold on the horns of the altar, saying, Let king Solomon swear unto me to day that he will not slay his servant with the sword.

52 And Solomon said, If he will shew himself a worthy man, there shall not an hair of him fall to the earth: but if wickedness shall be found in him, he shall die.

53 So king Solomon sent, and they brought him down from the altar. And he came and bowed himself to king Solomon: and Solomon said unto him, Go to thine house.

C H A P. II.

David chargeth Solomon to serve God, and directeth him how to deal with Joab, the sons of Barzillai, and Shimei. 10 David's death; the years of his reign. 12 Solomon succeedeth him. 13 Adonijah, having persuaded Bath-sheba to ask for him Abishag to wife, is put to death by Solomon's command. 26 Abiathar hath his life spared, but is removed from the priesthood. 28 Joab, having fled to the horns of the altar, is there slain. 35 Benaiah is put in Joab's room, and Zadok in Abiathar's. 36 Shimei is confined to Jerusalem; but going to Gath in defiance of the king's orders is put to death.

NOW the days of David drew nigh that he should die, and he charged Solomon his son, saying,

2 I go the way of all the earth: be thou strong therefore, and shew thyself a man;

3 And keep the charge of the LORD thy God, to walk in his ways, to keep his statutes, and his commandments, and his judgments, and his testimonies, as it is written in the law of Moses, that thou mayest prosper in all that thou doest, and whithersoever thou turnest thyself:

4 That the LORD may continue his word which he spake concerning me, saying, If thy children take heed to their way, to walk before me in truth with all their heart and with all their soul, there shall not fail thee (said he) a man on the throne of Israel.

5 Moreover thou knowest also what Joab the son of Zeruiah did to me, and what he did to the two captains of the host of Israel, unto Abner the son of Ner, and unto 30 He shall sit upon my throne in my stead, &c.] This power of naming a successor was first assumed by David, and for some time afterwards continued in the Jewish state.

33 Cause Solomon my son to ride upon mine own mule, &c.] The mounting Solomon upon David's mule was a sufficient declaration in his favour. To ride upon the king's mule, by his appointment, was accounted the highest dignity among the Persians, as appears by the story of Mordecai in the book of Esther.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. I.
We learn from this chapter, that nothing can hinder the execution of the designs of Providence; that whatever men do to prevent them, only serve to hasten them; and that criminal attempts turn to the confusion of the authors.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. II.

3 His statutes, and his commandments, and his judgments, and his testimonies, &c.] Under these four words are comprehended all the laws of Moses.

unto Amasa the son of Jether, whom he slew, and shed the blood of war in peace, and put the blood of war upon his girdle that was about his loins, and in his shoes that were on his feet.

6 Do therefore according to thy wisdom, and let not his hoar head go down to the grave in peace.

7 But shew kindness unto the sons of Barzillai the Gileadite, and let them be of those that eat at thy table: for so they came to me when I fled because of Absalom thy brother.

8 And, behold, thou hast with thee Shimei the son of Gera, ■ Benjamite of Bahurim, which cursed me with a grievous curse in the day when I went to Mahanaim: but he came down to meet me at Jordan, and I swore to him by the LORD, saying, I will not put thee to death with the sword.

9 Now therefore hold him not guiltless: for thou art ■ wise man, and knowest what thou oughtest to do unto him: but his hoar head bring thou down to the grave with blood.

10 ¶ So David slept with his fathers, and was buried in the city of David.

11 And the days that David reigned over Israel were forty years: seven years reigned he in Hebron, and thirty and three years reigned he in Jerusalem.

12 ¶ Then sat Solomon upon the throne of David his father; and his kingdom was established greatly.

1014.

13 ¶ And Adonijah the son of Haggith came to Bath-sheba the mother of Solomon. And she said, Comest thou peaceably? And he said, Peaceably.

14 He said moreover, I have somewhat to say unto thee. And she said, Say on.

15 And he said, Thou knowest that the kingdom was mine, and that all Israel set their faces on me, that I should reign: howbeit the kingdom is turned about, and is become my brother's: for it was his from the LORD.

16 And now I ask one petition of thee, deny me not. And she said unto him, Say on.

17 And he said, Speak, I pray thee, unto Solomon the king, (for he will not say thee nay,) that he give me Abishag the Shunammite to wife.

18 And Bath-sheba said, Well; I will speak for thee unto the king.

19 Bath-sheba therefore went unto king Solomon, to speak unto him for Adonijah. And the king arose up to meet her, and bowed himself unto her, and sat down on his throne, and caused a seat to be set for the king's mother; and she sat on his right hand.

20 Then she said, I desire one small petition of thee; I pray thee, say me not nay. And the king said unto her, Ask on, my mother: for I will not say thee nay.

21 And she said, Let Abishag the Shunammite be given to Adonijah thy brother to wife.

22 And king Solomon answered and said unto his mother, And why dost thou ask Abishag the Shunammite for Adonijah? ask for him the kingdom also; for he is mine elder brother; even for him, and for Abiathar the priest, and for Joab the son of Zeruiah.

23 Then king Solomon swore by the LORD, saying, God do so to me, and more also, if Adonijah have not spoken this word against his own life.

24 Now therefore, as the LORD liveth, which hath established me, and set me on the throne of David my father, and who hath made me an house, as he promised, Adonijah shall be put to death this day.

25 And king Solomon sent by the hand of Benaiah

the son of Jehoiada; and he fell upon him that he died.

26 ¶ And unto Abiathar the priest said the king, Get thee to Anathoth, unto thine own fields, for thou art worthy of death: but I will not at this time put thee to death, because thou barest the ark of the LORD God before David my father, and because thou hast been afflicted in all wherein my father was afflicted.

27 So Solomon thrust out Abiathar from being priest unto the LORD, that he might fulfil the word of the LORD, which he spake concerning the house of Eli in Shiloh.

28 ¶ Then tidings came to Joab: for Joab had turned after Adonijah, though he turned not after Absalom. And Joab fled unto the tabernacle of the LORD, and caught hold on the horns of the altar.

29 And it was told king Solomon that Joab was fled unto the tabernacle of the LORD; and, behold, he is by the altar. Then Solomon sent Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, saying, Go, fall upon him.

30 And Benaiah came to the tabernacle of the LORD, and said unto him, Thus saith the king, Come forth. And he said, Nay; but I will die here. And Benaiah brought the king word again, saying, Thus said Joab, and thus he answered me.

31 And the king said unto him, Do as he hath said, and fall upon him, and bury him; that thou mayest take away the innocent blood, which Joab shed, from me, and from the house of my father.

32 And the LORD shall return his blood upon his own head, who fell upon two men more righteous and better than he, and slew them with the sword, my father David not knowing thereof, to wit, Abner the son of Ner, captain of the host of Israel, and Amasa the son of Jether, captain of the host of Judah.

33 Their blood shall therefore return upon the head of Joab, and upon the head of his seed for ever: but upon David, and upon his seed, and upon his house, and upon his throne, shall there be peace for ever from the LORD.

34 So Benaiah the son of Jehoiada went up, and fell upon him, and slew him: and he was buried in his own house in the wilderness.

35 ¶ And the king put Benaiah the son of Jehoiada in his room over the host: and Zadok the priest did the king put in the room of Abiathar.

36 ¶ And the king sent and called for Shimei, and said unto him, Build thee an house in Jerusalem, and dwell there, and go not forth thence any whither.

37 For it shall be, that on the day thou goest out, and passest over the brook Kidron, thou shalt know for certain that thou shalt surely die: thy blood shall be upon thine own head.

38 And Shimei said unto the king, The saying is good: as my lord the king hath said, so will thy servant do. And Shimei dwelt in Jerusalem many days.

39 And it came to pass at the end of three years, that two of the servants of Shimei ran away unto Achish son of Maachah king of Gath. And they told Shimei, saying, Behold, thy servants be in Gath.

40 And Shimei arose, and saddled his ass, and went to Gath to Achish to seek his servants: and Shimei went, and brought his servants from Gath.

41 And it was told Solomon that Shimei had gone from Jerusalem to Gath, and was come again.

42 And the king sent and called for Shimei, and said unto him, Did I not make thee to swear by the LORD

6 Let not his hoar head go down to the grave in peace.] It was for the public good that such a wretch as Joab should suffer at a proper time, and as Providence should direct; and as prudential reasons might delay the punishment both of Joab and Shimei during David's own lifetime, he thought it derogatory to the glory of his son's reign to suffer such notorious offenders to go unpunished. These considerations exculpate David's conduct respecting these men.

10 So David slept with his fathers, and was buried in the city of David.] Not in the sepulchre of his father (as Saul was, ■ Sam. xxi. 14.) for that was in Bethlehem, but in the chief city of the kingdom, which he himself had founded, and where was the throne of the house of David.

15 Thou knowest that the kingdom was mine, &c.] By right of primogeniture.

22 Ask for him the kingdom also, &c.] Solomon here gently reproves his mother for asking a favour, which, if granted, must prove of the most fatal consequence: he was shocked at the boldness of the request and suspected some treasonable design at the bottom.

37 Over the brook Kidron, &c.] Solomon's intention was, that if he went out of Jerusalem any way, to a greater distance than Kidron from thence; he should die for it: for when he went to Gath after his servants, he went directly the contrary way; that city lying westward of Jerusalem, and Kidron eastward.

THE JUDGMENT OF SOLOMON

Angelico pinxit.

I KINGS, Chap. III. Ver. 27.

She said give her the living Child, & in no wise slay it, she is the Mother thereof.

LORD, and protested unto thee, saying, Know for a certain, on the day thou goest out, and walkest abroad any whither, that thou shalt surely die? and thou saidst unto me, The word that I have heard is good.

43 Why then hast thou not kept the oath of the LORD, and the commandment that I have charged thee with?

44 The king said moreover to Shimei, Thou knowest all the wickedness which thine heart is privy to, that thou didst to David my father: therefore the LORD shall return thy wickedness upon thine own head;

45 And king Solomon shall be blessed, and the throne of David shall be established before the LORD for ever.

46 So the king commanded Benaiah the son of Jehoiada; which went out, and fell upon him, that he died. And the kingdom was established in the hand of Solomon.

CHAP. III.

1 Solomon married Pharaoh's daughter. 2 High places being in use, he sacrificeth at Gibeon. 5 God appeareth to him in a dream there, and leaveth to his choice what to ask; he asketh wisdom, and obtaineth with it riches and honour. 16 His judgment between the two harlots maketh his wisdom renowned.

AND Solomon made affinity with Pharaoh king of Egypt, and took Pharaoh's daughter, and brought her into the city of David, until he had made an end of building his own house, and the house of the LORD, and the wall of Jerusalem round about.

2 ¶ Only the people sacrificed in high places, because there was no house built unto the name of the LORD, until those days.

3 And Solomon loved the LORD, walking in the statutes of David his father: only he sacrificed and burnt incense in high places.

4 And the king went to Gibeon to sacrifice there; for that was the great high place: a thousand burnt offerings did Solomon offer upon that altar.

5 ¶ In Gibeon the LORD appeared to Solomon in a dream by night: and God said, Ask what I shall give thee.

6 And Solomon said, Thou hast shewed unto thy servant David my father great mercy, according as he walked before thee in truth, and in righteousness, and in uprightness of heart with thee; and thou hast kept for him this great kindness, that thou hast given him a son to sit on his throne, as it is this day.

7 And now, O LORD my God, thou hast made thy servant king instead of David my father: and I am but a little child: I know not how to go out or come in.

8 And thy servant is in the midst of thy people which thou hast chosen, a great people, that cannot be numbered nor counted for multitude.

9 Give therefore thy servant an understanding heart to judge thy people, that I may discern between good and bad: for who is able to judge this thy so great a people?

10 And the speech pleased the LORD that Solomon had asked this thing.

11 And God said unto him, Because thou hast asked this thing, and hast not asked for thyself long life; neither hast asked riches for thyself, nor hast asked the life of thine enemies; but hast asked for thyself understanding to discern judgment;

12 Behold, I have done according to thy words: lo, I have given thee a wise and an understanding heart; so that there was none like thee before thee, neither after thee shall any arise like unto thee.

13 And I have also given thee that which thou hast not asked, both riches, and honour: so that there shall not be any among the kings like unto thee all thy days.

14 And if thou wilt walk in my ways, to keep my statutes and my commandments, as thy father David did walk, then I will lengthen thy days.

15 And Solomon awoke; and, behold, it was a dream. And he came to Jerusalem, and stood before the ark of the covenant of the LORD, and offered up burnt offerings, and offered peace offerings, and made a feast to all his servants.

16 ¶ Then came there two women, that were harlots, unto the king, and stood before him.

17 And the one woman said, O my lord, I and this woman dwell in one house; and I was delivered of a child with her in the house.

18 And it came to pass the third day after that I was delivered, that this woman was delivered also: and we were together; there was no stranger with us in the house, save we two in the house.

19 And this woman's child died in the night; because she overlaid it.

20 And she arose at midnight, and took my son from beside me, while thine handmaid slept, and laid it in her bosom, and laid her dead child in my bosom.

21 And when I arose in the morning to give my child suck, behold, it was dead: but when I had considered it in the morning, behold, it was not my son, which I did bear.

22 And the other woman said, Nay; but the living is my son, and the dead is thy son. And this said, No; but the dead is thy son, and the living is my son. Thus they spake before the king.

23 Then said the king, The one saith, This is my son that liveth, and thy son is the dead: and the other saith, Nay; but thy son is the dead, and my son is the living.

24 And the king said, Bring me a sword. And they brought a sword before the king.

25 And the king said, Divide the living child in two, and give half to the one, and half to the other.

26 Then spake the woman whose the living child was unto the king, for her bowels yearned upon her son, and she said, O my lord, give her the living child, and in no wise slay it. But the other said, Let it be neither mine nor thine, but divide it.

27 Then the king answered and said, Give her the living child, and in no wise slay it: she is the mother thereof.

28 And all Israel heard of the judgment which the king had judged; and they feared the king: for they saw that the wisdom of God was in him, to do judgment.

CHAP.

have supposed they were unmarried and guilty of fornication, as mention is made of their husbands.

20 While thine handmaid slept, &c.] This rendered the matter awkward; for how could she know what her companion did while herself was asleep?

25 And the king said, Divide the living child in two, &c.] Solomon knew that the only sign that would discover the true mother, would be her affection and tenderness for her child; and therefore, in order to distinguish between the two, his business was, to make trial of this: and if we suppose, that when he commanded the child to be divided, he spoke with a sedate countenance and seeming earnestness; then we may suppose farther, not only the two women, but all the people present, were struck with horror and admiration at the thought of the execution of the thing; which, when it ended in so just a decision, quite contrary to what they looked for, raised joy in every breast, and gave a more advantageous commendation to the judge.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. II.

We perceive, in all these histories, that princes are sometimes obliged, contrary to their own inclination, to take away the lives of such as disturb the public tranquillity; and that bloody, unjust, and seditious men (such as Adonijah, Abiathar, Joab, and Shimei) sooner or later come to an untimely end.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. III.

1 Took Pharaoh's daughter, &c.] She must have been a proselyte to the Jewish religion, or the marriage would have been unlawful.

9 Give therefore thy servant an understanding heart to judge thy people, &c.] Though Solomon, in his great modesty, might request of God no more than the gift of government; yet God, out of his abundant grace, gave him a general knowledge of all other things.

16 Then came two women, that were harlots, &c.] There is no reason to suppose they were common prostitutes, though some

SOL king Solomon was king over all Israel.

■ And these were the princes which he had; Azariah the son of Zadok the priest,

3 Elihoreph and Ahiah, the sons of Shisha, scribes; Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud, the recorder.

4 And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the host: and Zadok and Abiathar were the priests:

5 And Azariah the son of Nathan was over the officers: and Zabud the son of Nathan was principal officer, and the king's friend:

6 And Ahishar was over the household: and Adoniram the son of Abda was over the tribute.

7 ¶ And Solomon had twelve officers over all Israel, which provided victuals for the king and his household: each man his month in ■ year made provision.

8 And these are their names: the son of Hur, in mount Ephraim:

9 The son of Dekar, in Makaz, and in Shaalvim, and Beth-she mesh, and Elonbeth-hanan:

10 The son of Hefed, in Aruboth; to him pertained Sochoh, and all the land of Hepher:

11 The son of Abinadab, in all the region of Dor; which had Taphath the daughter of Solomon to wife:

12 Baana the son of Ahilud; to him pertained Taanach and Megiddo, and all Beth-shean, which is by Zartanah beneath Jezreel, from Bath-shean to Abel-meholah, even unto the place that is beyond Jokneam:

13 The son of Geber, in Ramoth-gilead; to him pertained the towns of Jair the son of Manassah, which are in Gilead: to him also pertained the region of Argob, which is in Bashan, threescore great cities with walls and brazen bars:

14 Ahinadab the son of Iddo had Mahanaim:

15 Ahimaaz was in Naphtali; he also took Basmath the daughter of Solomon to wife:

16 Baanah the son of Hushai was in Asher and in Aloth:

17 Jehoshaphat the son of Paruah, in Issachar:

18 Shimei the son of Elah, in Benjamin:

19 Geber the son of Uri was in the country of Gilead, in the country of Sihon king of the Amorites, and of Og king of Bashan; and he was the only officer which was in the land.

20 ¶ Judah and Israel were many, as the sand which is by the sea in multitude, eating and drinking, and making merry.

21 And Solomon reigned over all kingdoms from the river unto the land of the Philistines, and unto the border of Egypt: they brought presents, and served Solomon all the days of his life.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. III.

The instruction to be derived from this chapter, is, that the gifts of the Spirit of God are to be desired above all other things; that God is ready to grant them to those that ask them; and that when they ask spiritual blessings according to his will, he often bestows temporal ones unasked for.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. IV.

2 Azariah the son of Zadok the priest, &c.] Azariah was the son of Ahimaaz the son of Zadok, and therefore only the grandson of Zadok; in scripture, grandsons are called sons.

19 And he was the only officer which was in the land.] He was not fixed and settled in his office as the rest were, but wherever the king happened to reside, he was chosen by the citizens of that city.

21 Solomon reigned over all kingdoms, &c.] He had tributary to him the kingdoms of Syria, Moab, and Ammon, which lay between Euphrates and the Mediterranean.

24 From Tiphshah even to Azzah, &c.] Tiphshah was situated on the Euphrates, over which there was a bridge and a ferry, the Hebrew word תַּיִשׁ signifying "transire," To pass over.

22 ¶ And Solomon's provision for one day was thirty measures of fine flour, and threescore measures of meal,

23 Ten fat oxen, and twenty oxen out of the pastures, and an hundred sheep, beside harts, and roebucks, and fallowdeer, and fatted fowl.

24 For he had dominion over all the region on this side the river, from Tiphshah even to Azzah, over all the kings on this side the river: and he had peace on all sides round about him.

25 And Judah and Israel dwelt safely, every man under his vine and under his fig tree, from Dan even to Beer-sheba, all the days of Solomon.

26 ¶ And Solomon had forty thousand stalls of horses for his chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen.

27 And those officers provided victual for king Solomon, and for all that came unto king Solomon's table, every man in his month: they lacked nothing.

28 Barley also and straw for the horses and dromedaries brought they unto the place where the officers were, every man according to his charge.

29 ¶ And God gave Solomon wisdom and understanding exceeding much, and largeness of heart, even as the sand that is on the sea shore.

30 And Solomon's wisdom excelled the wisdom of all the children of the east country, and all the wisdom of Egypt.

31 For he was wiser than all men; than Ethan the Ezrahite, and Heman, and Chalcol, and Darda, the sons of Mahol: and his fame was in all nations round about.

32 And he spake three thousand proverbs: and his songs were a thousand and five.

33 And he spake of trees, from the cedar tree that is in Lebanon even unto the hyssop that springeth out of the wall: he spake also of beasts, and of fowl, and of creeping things, and of fishes.

34 And there came of all people to hear the wisdom of Solomon, from all kings of the earth, which had heard of his wisdom.

CHAP. V.

1 Hiram sendeth to congratulate Solomon, who acquainteth him with his design of building the temple, and desireth him to furnish timber for that purpose. 7 Hiram bleisseth God for Solomon's wisdom, and promiseth the timber, requesting food for his household in return. 10 The mutual services and good correspondence between Hiram and Solomon. 13 The number of workmen and labourers employed in preparing materials for the building.

AND Hiram king of Tyre sent his servants unto Solomon; for he had heard that they had anointed him king in the room of his father: for Hiram was ever a lover of David.

■ And Solomon sent to Hiram, saying,

3 Thou knowest how that David my father could not build an house unto the name of the LORD his God, for the wars which were about him on every side, until the LORD put them under the soles of his feet.

4 But

26 Forty thousand stalls of horses, &c.] In ■ Chron. ix. 25. it is four thousand, which is thought to be the more consistent account; and that in this place a fault is crept into the original by the negligence of the transcribers.

32 Three thousand proverbs, &c.] Many of these are lost; all have being comprized in the book of that name, and in Ecclesiastes.

33 He spake also of beasts, and of fowls, &c.] This shews the large extent of his genius, which comprehended the knowledge of animals, as well as plants.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. IV.

We should remember, that this great wisdom, and these riches, were profitable to Solomon while he used them aright; but he soon after abused them, than they became a snare and ruin to him: this should lead us to fear the misimproving the talents committed to our charge.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. V.

1 Sent his servants unto Solomon, &c.] He sent ambassadors, to condole with king Solomon on the death of his father, and to congratulate his accession to the throne.

4 But now the LORD my God hath given me rest on every side, so that there is neither adversary nor evil occurrent.

5 And, behold, I purpose to build an house unto the name of the LORD my God, as the LORD spake unto David my father, saying, Thy son, whom I will set upon thy throne in thy room, he shall build an house unto my name.

6 Now therefore command thou that they hew me cedar trees out of Lebanon; and my servants shall be with thy servants: and unto thee will I give hire for thy servants according to all that thou shalt appoint: for thou knowest that there is not among us any that can skill to hew timber like unto the Sidonians.

7 ¶ And it came to pass, when Hiram heard the words of Solomon, that he rejoiced greatly, and said, Blessed be the LORD this day, which hath given unto David a wise son over this great people.

8 And Hiram sent to Solomon, saying, I have considered the things which thou sentest to me for: and I will do all thy desire concerning timber of cedar, and concerning timber of fir.

9 My servants shall bring them down from Lebanon unto the sea: and I will convey them by sea in floats unto the place that thou shalt appoint me, and will cause them to be discharged there, and thou shalt receive them: and thou shalt accomplish my desire, in giving food for my household.

10 ¶ So Hiram gave Solomon cedar trees and fir trees according to all his desire.

11 And Solomon gave Hiram twenty thousand measures of wheat for food to his household, and twenty measures of pure oil: thus gave Solomon to Hiram year by year.

12 And the LORD gave Solomon wisdom, as he promised him: and there was peace between Hiram and Solomon; and they two made a league together.

13 ¶ And king Solomon raised a levy out of all Israel; and the levy was thirty thousand men.

14 And he sent them to Lebanon, ten thousand a month by courses: a month they were in Lebanon, and two months at home: and Adoniram was over the levy.

15 And Solomon had threescore and ten thousand that bare burdens, and fourscore thousand hewers in the mountains;

16 Beside the chief of Solomon's officers, which were over the work, three thousand and three hundred, which ruled over the people that wrought in the work.

17 And the king commanded, and they brought great stones, costly stones, and hewed stones, to lay the foundation of the house.

18 And Solomon's builders and Hiram's builders did hew them, and the stonesquarers: so they prepared timber and stones to build the house.

1 The building of the temple begun. 2 The dimensions of the house, and of the porch before it. 4 The windows. 5 The chambers. 11 God's promise concerning the house. 14 The ceiling and ornaments of it. 19 The oracle. 23 The cherubims within it. 31 The doors of the oracle, and of the temple. 36 The inner court. 37 The time taken up in the building.

6 There is ~~not~~ among ~~us~~ any that can skill, &c.] Bezaleel and Aholiah excelled in many different arts, Exod. xxi. 2, 6. but they had their skill by inspiration from God, and it does not appear that they had any successors; so that in the time of Solomon there were no professed artificers who could undertake the work of the temple.

15 Fourscore thousand hewers in the mountains.] i. e. Hewers of stone, for Hiram's servants were the hewers of timber.

18 The stonesquarers, &c.] Or the Giblites, mentioned Josh. xiii. 5. being Phœnicians, inhabitants of Gabala: they were most excellent artists.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. V.

After all this pomp and magnificence respecting Solomon's temple, let us reflect that the true temple God expects is the heart; that he will there be worshipped in spirit and in truth; and there he likewise dwells by his grace.

AND it came to pass in the four hundred and eightieth year after the children of Israel were come out of the land of Egypt, in the fourth year of Solomon's reign over Israel, in the month Zif, which is the second month, that he began to build the house of the LORD.

2 And the house which king Solomon built for the LORD, the length thereof was threescore cubits, and the breadth thereof twenty cubits, and the height thereof thirty cubits.

3 And the porch before the temple of the house, twenty cubits was the length thereof, according to the breadth of the house; and ten cubits was the breadth thereof before the house.

4 ¶ And for the house he made windows of narrow lights.

5 ¶ And against the wall of the house he built chambers round about, against the walls of the house round about, both of the temple and of the oracle: and he made chambers round about:

6 The nethermost chamber was five cubits broad, and the middle was six cubits broad, and the third was seven cubits broad: for without in the wall of the house he made narrowed rests round about, that the beams should not be fastened in the walls of the house.

7 And the house, when it was in building, was built of stone made ready before it was brought thither: so that there was neither hammer nor ax nor any tool of iron heard in the house, while it was in building.

8 The door for the middle chamber was in the right side of the house; and they went up with winding stairs into the middle chamber, and out of the middle into the third.

9 So he built the house, and finished it; and covered the house with beams and boards of cedar. 1005.

10 And then he built chambers against all the house, five cubits high: and they rested on the house with timber of cedar.

11 ¶ And the word of the LORD came to Solomon, saying,

12 Concerning this house which thou art in building, if thou wilt walk in my statutes, and execute my judgments, and keep all my commandments to walk in them; then will I perform my word with thee, which I spake unto David thy father:

13 And I will dwell among the children of Israel, and will not forsake my people Israel.

14 ¶ So Solomon built the house, and finished it.

15 And he built the walls of the house within with boards of cedar, both the floor of the house, and the walls of the ceiling: and he covered them on the inside with wood, and covered the floor of the house with planks of fir.

16 And he built twenty cubits on the sides of the house, both the floor and the walls with boards of cedar: he even built them for it within, even for the oracle, even for the most holy place.

17 And the house, that is, the temple before it, was forty cubits long.

18 And the cedar of the house within was carved with knops and open flowers: all was cedar; there was no stone seen.

19 ¶ And

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VI.

1 In the fourth year of Solomon's reign, &c.] Solomon would not make use of what his father had prepared, but was resolved to build the temple at his own proper cost and charge. He therefore put into the treasury of the Lord's house all that David had dedicated to the work; and for the collecting so much gold and silver was necessary to defray so vast an expence, four years may be accounted no unreasonable time.

4 Windows of narrow lights.] Broad within, and narrow without; by which means the house was better secured from the weather, and yet had light enough.

8 In the right side, &c.] In the Hebrew, the fourth side is called the right side, because when men look toward the east, the south is on their right hand.

15 He built the walls of the house within with boards of cedar, &c.] He wainscotted the whole house with cedar.

Before
1005.

19 ¶ And the oracle he prepared in the house within, to set there the ark of the covenant of the LORD.

20 And the oracle in the forepart was twenty cubits in length, and twenty cubits in breadth, and twenty cubits in the height thereof: and he overlaid it with pure gold; and so covered the altar which was of cedar.

21 So Solomon overlaid the house within with pure gold: and he made a partition by the chains of gold before the oracle; and he overlaid it with gold.

22 And the whole house he overlaid with gold, until he had finished all the house: also the whole altar that was by the oracle he overlaid with gold.

23 ¶ And within the oracle he made two cherubims of olive tree, each ten cubits high.

24 And five cubits was the one wing of the cherub, and five cubits the other wing of the cherub: from the uttermost part of the one wing unto the uttermost part of the other were ten cubits.

25 And the other cherub was ten cubits: both the cherubims were of one measure and one size.

26 The height of the one cherub was ten cubits, and so was it of the other cherub.

27 And he set the cherubims within the inner house: and they stretched forth the wings of the cherubims, so that the wing of the one touched the one wall, and the wing of the other cherub touched the other wall; and their wings touched one another in the midst of the house.

28 And he overlaid the cherubims with gold.

29 And he carved all the walls of the house round about with carved figures of cherubims and palm trees and open flowers, within and without.

30 And the floor of the house he overlaid with gold, within and without.

31 ¶ And for the entering of the oracle he made doors of olive tree: the lintel and side posts were a fifth part of the wall.

32 The two doors also were of olive tree; and he carved upon them carvings of cherubims and palm trees and open flowers, and overlaid them with gold, and spread gold upon the cherubims, and upon the palm trees.

33 So also made he for the door of the temple posts of olive tree, a fourth part of the wall.

34 And the two doors were of fir tree: the two leaves of the one door were folding, and the two leaves of the other door were folding.

35 And he carved thereon cherubims and palm trees and open flowers: and covered them with gold fitted upon the carved work.

36 ¶ And he built the inner court with three rows of hewed stone, and a row of cedar beams.

37 ¶ In the fourth year was the foundation of the house of the LORD laid, in the month Zif:

38 And in the eleventh year, in the month Bul, which is the eighth month, was the house finished throughout all the parts thereof, and according to all the fashion of it. So was he seven years in building it.

To instance only in the overlaying of the holy of holies only (a room about thirty feet square, and twenty high) which amounted to six hundred talents of gold, which comes to 4,320,000l. of our sterling money. The whole building was only one hundred and fifty feet long, and one hundred and five broad.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. VI.

This chapter teaches us, that whatever happens to men, is the dispensation of Providence; that God sends war, famine, pestilence, and other scourges, for the chastisement of mankind; that there-

the court round about. 13 Hiram, a skilful artificer, is fetched from Tyre. 15 His work in brass of the two great pillars, 23 the molten sea, 27 the ten bases, 28 till the ten tables, 40 and other vessels for the use of the temple. 48 The furniture and vessels of gold which Solomon made for the temple.

BUT Solomon was building his own house thirteen years, and he finished all his house.

2 ¶ He built also the house of the forest of Lebanon; the length thereof was an hundred cubits, and the breadth thereof fifty cubits, and the height thereof thirty cubits, upon four rows of cedar pillars, with cedar beams upon the pillars.

3 And it was covered with cedar above upon the beams, that lay on forty five pillars, fifteen in a row.

4 And there were windows in three rows, and light was against light in three ranks.

5 And all the doors and posts were square, with the windows: and light was against light in three ranks.

6 ¶ And he made a porch of pillars; the length thereof was fifty cubits, and the breadth thereof thirty cubits: and the porch was before them: and the other pillars and the thick beam were before them.

7 ¶ Then he made a porch for the throne where he might judge, even the porch of judgment: and it was covered with cedar from one side of the floor to the other.

8 ¶ And his house where he dwelt had another court within the porch, which was of the like work. Solomon made also an house for Pharaoh's daughter whom he had taken to wife, like unto this porch.

9 ¶ All these were of costly stones, according to the measures of hewed stones, sawed with saws, within and without, even from the foundation unto the coping, and so on the outside toward the great court.

10 And the foundation was of costly stones, even great stones, stones of ten cubits, and stones of eight cubits.

11 And above were costly stones, after the measures of hewed stones, and cedars.

12 And the great court round about was with three rows of hewed stones, and a row of cedar beams, both for the inner court of the house of the LORD, and for the porch of the house.

13 ¶ And king Solomon sent and fetched Hiram out of Tyre.

14 He was a widow's son of the tribe of Naphtali, and his father was a man of Tyre, a worker in brass: and he was filled with wisdom, and understanding, and cunning to work all works in brass. And he came to king Solomon, and wrought all his work.

15 ¶ For he cast two pillars of brass of eighteen cubits high a piece: and a line of twelve cubits did compass either of them about.

16 And he made two chapiters of molten brass, to set upon the tops of the pillars: the height of the one chapter was five cubits, and the height of the other chapter was five cubits:

17 And nets of checker work, and wreaths of chain work, for the chapiters which were upon the top of the pillars; seven for the one chapter, and seven for the other chapter.

18 And he made the pillars, and two rows round about upon the one network, to cover the chapiters that were medly against these evils is prayer, repentance, and humiliation before God, who is always ready to hear and deliver those who call upon him, confess their sins, and turn from them.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VII.

4 Light was against light, &c.] What we call thorough lights.

10 The foundation was of costly stones, &c.] Stones, that, being larger, and firmer, and better polished than others, were of greater price.

14 A widow's son of the tribe of Naphtali.] She herself was of the tribe of Dan, (see 2 Chron. ii. 14.) but her first husband was of the tribe of Naphtali, by whom she had this son.

His father was a man of Tyre, &c.] His father-in-law.

were upon the top, with pomegranates: and so did he for the other chapter.

19 And the chapters that were upon the top of the pillars were lily work in the porch, four cubits.

20 And the chapters upon the two pillars had pomegranates also above, over against the belly which was by the network: and the pomegranates were two hundred in rows round about upon the other chapter.

21 And he set up the pillars in the porch of the temple: and he set up the right pillar, and called the name thereof Jachin: and he set up the left pillar, and called the name thereof Boaz.

22 And upon the top of the pillars was lily work: so was the work of the pillars finished.

23 ¶ And he made a molten sea, ten cubits from the one brim to the other: it was round all about, and his height was five cubits: and a line of thirty cubits did compass it round about.

24 And under the brim of it round about there were knops compassing it, ten in a cubit, compassing the sea round about: the knops were cast in two rows, when it was cast.

25 It stood upon twelve oxen, three looking toward the north, and three looking toward the west, and three looking toward the south, and three looking toward the east: and the sea was set above upon them, and all their hinder parts were inward.

26 And it was an hand breadth thick, and the brim thereof was wrought like the brim of a cup, with flowers of lilies: it contained two thousand baths.

27 ¶ And he made ten bases of brass; four cubits was the length of one base, and four cubits the breadth thereof, and three cubits the height of it.

28 And the work of the bases was on this manner: they had borders, and the borders were between the ledges:

29 And on the borders that were between the ledges were lions, oxen, and cherubims: and upon the ledges there was a base above: and beneath the lions and oxen were certain additions made of thin work.

30 And every base had four brasen wheels, and plates of brass: and the four corners thereof had underfettors: under the laver were underfettors molten, at the side of every addition.

31 And the mouth of it within the chapter and above was a cubit: but the mouth thereof was round after the work of the base, a cubit and an half: and also upon the mouth of it were gravings with their borders, foursquare, not round.

32 And under the borders were four wheels; and the axletrees of the wheels were joined to the base: and the height of a wheel was a cubit and half a cubit.

33 And the work of the wheels was like the work of a chariot wheel: their axletrees, and their naves, and their fellows, and their spokes, were all molten.

34 And there were four underfettors to the four corners of one base: and the underfettors were of the very base itself.

35 And in the top of the base was there a round compass of half a cubit high: and on the top of the base the ledges thereof and the borders thereof were of the same.

36 For on the plates of the ledges thereof, and on the borders thereof, he graved cherubims, lions, and palm trees, according to the proportion of every one, and additions round about.

37 After this manner he made the ten bases: all of them had one casting, one measure, and one size.

38 ¶ Then made he ten layers of brass: one laver contained forty baths: and every laver was four cubits: and upon every one of the ten bases one laver.

39 And he put five bases on the right side of the house, and five on the left side of the house: and he set the sea on the right side of the house eastward over against the south.

40 ¶ And Hiram made the lavers, and the shovels, and the basons. So Hiram made an end of doing all the work that he made king Solomon for the house of the LORD:

41 The two pillars, and the two bowls of the chapters that were on the top of the two pillars, and the two networks, to cover the two bowls of the chapters which were upon the top of the pillars;

42 And four hundred pomegranates for the two networks, even two rows of pomegranates for one network, to cover the two bowls of the chapters that were upon the pillars;

43 And the ten bases, and ten lavers on the bases;

44 And one sea, and twelve oxen under the sea;

45 And the pots, and the shovels, and the basons: and all these vessels, which Hiram made to king Solomon for the house of the LORD were of bright brass.

46 In the plain of Jordan did the king cast them, in the clay ground between Succoth and Zarthan.

47 And Solomon left all the vessels unweighed, because they were exceeding many: neither was the weight of the brass found out.

48 ¶ And Solomon made all the vessels that pertained unto the house of the LORD: the altar of gold, and the table of gold, whereupon the shewbread was,

49 And the candlesticks of pure gold, five on the right side, and five on the left, before the oracle, with the flowers, and the lamps, and the tongs of gold,

50 And the bowls, and the snuffers, and the basons, and the spoons, and the censers of pure gold; and the hinges of gold, both for the doors of the inner house, the most holy place, and for the doors of the house, to wit, of the temple.

51 So was ended all the work that king Solomon made for the house of the LORD. And Solomon brought in the things which David his father had dedicated; even the silver, and the gold, and the vessels, did he put among the treasures of the house of the LORD.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The feast of the dedication of the temple; the ark is brought into the holy place. 10 A cloud filleth the house.

12 Solomon bleisseth God for the performance of his word to David. 22 His prayer. 31, 33, 35, 37, 41, 44, The special petitions contained in it. 54 He again bleisseth God, and the people. 62 His sacrifice of peace offerings. 65 After the feast the people go joyful home.

THEN Solomon assembled the elders of Israel, and all the heads of the tribes, the chief of the fathers of the children of Israel, unto king Solomon in Jerusalem, that they might bring up the ark of the covenant of the LORD out of the city of David, which is Zion.

2 And all the men of Israel assembled themselves unto king Solomon at the feast in the month Ethanim, which is the seventh month.

3 And all the elders of Israel came, and the priests took up the ark. 1004.

of God, we shall soon enter into a temple not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VIII.

4 Those did the priests and the Levites bring up.] The priests brought up the ark, and the Levites carried the tabernacle and the vessels of the sanctuary.

19 Of lily work, &c.] In imitation of lilies.

23 He made a molten sea, &c.] A great vessel containing abundance of water; which served for the washing of the sacrifices, and of the priests and Levites, who washed their hands and their feet not in it, but by water drawn out of it by pipes or tubes.

38 One laver contained twenty baths, &c.] Each of these lavers contained ten barrels of water.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. VII.

Let us who live under the gospel rejoice, that if we are the true servants

Before
1904

5 And king Solomon, and all the congregation of Israel, that were assembled unto him, were with him before the ark, sacrificing sheep and oxen, that could not be told nor numbered for multitude.

6 And the priests brought in the ark of the covenant of the LORD unto his place, into the oracle of the house, to the most holy place, even under the wings of the cherubims.

7 For the cherubims spread forth their two wings over the place of the ark, and the cherubims covered the ark and the staves thereof above.

8 And they drew out the staves, that the ends of the staves were seen out in the holy place before the oracle, and they were not seen without: and there they are unto this day.

9 There was nothing in the ark save the two tables of stone, which Moses put there at Horeb, when the LORD made a covenant with the children of Israel, when they came out of the land of Egypt.

10 ¶ And it came to pass, when the priests were come out of the holy place, that the cloud filled the house of the LORD,

11 So that the priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud: for the glory of the LORD had filled the house of the LORD.

12 ¶ Then spake Solomon, The LORD said that he would dwell in the thick darkness.

13 I have surely built thee an house to dwell in, a settled place for thee to abide in for ever.

14 And the king turned his face about, and blessed all the congregation of Israel: (and all the congregation of Israel stood;)

15 And he said, Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, which spake with his mouth unto David my father, and hath with his hand fulfilled it, saying,

16 Since the day that I brought forth my people Israel out of Egypt, I chose no city out of all the tribes of Israel to build an house, that my name might be therein; but I chose David to be over my people Israel.

17 And it was in the heart of David my father to build an house for the name of the LORD God of Israel.

18 And the LORD said unto David my father, Whereas it was in thine heart to build an house unto my name, thou didst well that it was in thine heart.

19 Nevertheless thou shalt not build the house; but thy son that shall come forth out of thy loins, he shall build the house unto my name.

20 And the LORD hath performed his word that he spake, and I am risen up in the room of David my father, and sit on the throne of Israel, as the LORD promised, and have built an house for the name of the LORD God of Israel.

21 And I have set there a place for the ark, wherein is the covenant of the LORD, which he made with our fathers, when he brought them out of the land of Egypt.

22 ¶ And Solomon stood before the altar of the LORD in the presence of all the congregation of Israel, and spread forth his hands toward heaven:

23 And he said, LORD God of Israel, there is no God like thee, in heaven above, or on earth beneath, who keepest covenant and mercy with thy servants that walk before thee with all their heart:

24 Who hast kept with thy servant David my father that thou promisedst him: thou spakest also with thy mouth, and hast fulfilled it with thine hand, as it is this day.

25 Therefore now, LORD God of Israel, keep with thy servant David my father that thou promisedst him, saying, There shall not fail thee a man in my sight to sit on the throne of Israel; so that thy children take heed to their way, that they walk before me as thou hast walked before me:

26 And now, O God of Israel, let thy word, I pray thee, be verified, which thou spakest unto thy servant David my father.

27 But will God indeed dwell on the earth? behold, the heaven and heaven of heavens cannot contain thee; how much less this house that I have builded?

28 Yet have thou respect unto the prayer of thy servant, and to his supplication, O LORD my God, to hearken unto the cry and to the prayer, which thy servant prayeth before thee to day:

29 That thine eyes may be open toward this house night and day, even toward the place of which thou hast said, My name shall be there: that thou mayest hearken unto the prayer which thy servant shall make toward this place.

30 And hearken thou to the supplication of thy servant, and of thy people Israel, when they shall pray toward this place: and hear thou in heaven thy dwelling place: and when thou hearest, forgive.

31 ¶ If any man trespass against his neighbour, and an oath be laid upon him to cause him to swear, and the oath come before thine altar in this house:

32 Then hear thou in heaven, and do, and judge thy servants, condemning the wicked, to bring his way upon his head; and justifying the righteous, to give him according to his righteousness.

33 ¶ When thy people Israel be smitten down before the enemy, because they have sinned against thee, and shall turn again to thee; and confess thy name, and pray, and make supplication unto thee in this house:

34 Then hear thou in heaven, and forgive the sin of thy people Israel, and bring them again unto the land which thou gavest unto their fathers.

35 ¶ When heaven is shut up, and there is no rain, because they have sinned against thee; if they pray toward this place, and confess thy name, and turn from their sin, when thou afflictest them:

36 Then hear thou in heaven, and forgive the sin of thy servants, and of thy people Israel, that thou teach them the good way wherein they shall walk, and give rain upon thy land, which thou hast given to thy people for an inheritance.

37 ¶ If there be in the land famine, if there be pestilence, blasting, mildew, locust, or if there be caterpillar; if their enemy besiege them in the land of their cities; whatsoever plague, whatsoever sickness there be;

38 What prayer and supplication soever be made by any man, or by all thy people Israel, which shall know every man the plague of his own heart, and spread forth his hands toward this house:

39 Then hear thou in heaven thy dwelling place, and forgive, and do, and give to every man according to his ways, whose heart thou knowest; (for thou, even thou only, knowest the hearts of all the children of men;)

40 That they may fear thee all the days that they live in the land which thou gavest unto our fathers.

41 ¶ Moreover concerning a stranger, that is not of thy people Israel, but cometh out of a far country for thy name's sake;

42 (For they shall hear of thy great name, and of thy strong hand, and of thy stretched out arm;) when he shall come and pray toward this house;

43 Hear thou in heaven thy dwelling place, and do according

10 The cloud filled the house of the Lord.] Hereby God testified his approbation of the building and furnishing of the temple, as a service done to his name.

15 Which spake with his mouth—and hath with his hand fulfilled it, &c.] He acknowledges the goodness of God, first, in his gracious promise, and next in his faithfulness in fulfilling it.

27 But will God indeed dwell in the earth? &c.] A very significant expression, elegantly describing the amazement and rapture of the royal prophet's mind.

33 And make supplication unto thee in this house.] He was desirous of inspiring the people with an opinion that God would be found more propitious to the prayers that were offered in the temple of Jerusalem, and thereby excite them to frequent that rather than any other place.

according to all that the ſtranger calleth to thee for: that all people of the earth may know thy name, to fear thee, as do thy people Israel; and that they may know that this houſe, which I have builded, is called by thy name.

44 ¶ If thy people go out to battle againſt their enemy, whitherſoever thou ſhalt ſend them, and ſhall pray unto the LORD toward the city which thou haſt choſen, and toward the houſe that I have built for thy name:

45 Then hear thou in heaven their prayer and their ſupplication, and maintain their cauſe.

46 If they ſin againſt thee, (for there is no man that ſinneth not,) and thou be angry with them, and deliver them to the enemy, ſo that they carry them away captives unto the land of the enemy, far or near;

47 Yet if they ſhall bethink themſelves in the land whither they were carried captives, and repent, and make ſupplication unto thee in the land of them that carried them captives, ſaying, We have ſinned, and have done perverſly, we have committed wickedneſs;

48 And ſo return unto thee with all their heart, and with all their ſoul, in the land of their enemies, which led them away captive, and pray unto thee toward their land, which thou gavelt unto their fathers, the city which thou haſt choſen, and the houſe which I have built for thy name:

49 Then hear thou their prayer and their ſupplication in heaven thy dwelling place, and maintain their cauſe,

50 And forgive thy people that have ſinned againſt thee, and all their tranſgreſſions wherein they have tranſgreſſed againſt thee, and give them compaſſion before them who carried them captive, that they may have compaſſion on them:

51 For they be thy people, and thine inheritance, which thou broughteſt forth out of Egypt, from the miſt of the furnace of iron:

52 That thine eyes may be open unto the ſupplication of the ſervant, and unto the ſupplication of thy people Israel, to hearken unto them in all that they call for unto thee.

53 For thou didſt ſeparate them from among all the people of the earth, to be thine inheritance, as thou ſpakeſt by the hand of Moſes thy ſervant, when thou broughteſt our fathers out of Egypt, O LORD God.

54 ¶ And it was ſo, that when Solomon had made an end of praying all this prayer and ſupplication unto the LORD, he aroſe from before the altar of the LORD, from kneeling on his knees with his hands ſpread up to heaven.

55 And he ſtood, and bleſſed all the congregation of Israel with a loud voice, ſaying, 56 Blessed be the LORD, that hath given reſt unto his people Israel, according to all that he promiſed: there hath not failed one word of all his good promiſe, which he promiſed by the hand of Moſes his ſervant.

57 The LORD our God be with us, as he was with our fathers: let him not leave us, nor forſake us:

58 That he may incline our hearts unto him, to walk in all his ways, and to keep his commandments, and his ſtatutes, and his judgments, which he commanded our fathers.

59 And let theſe my words, wherewith I have made ſupplication before the LORD, be nigh unto the LORD our God day and night, that he maintain the cauſe of his ſervant, and the cauſe of his people Israel at all times, as the matter ſhall require:

43 That all people of the earth may know thy name, &c.] Thus truly good men deſired that the Gentile world might alſo be ſaved in Chriſt, though the Jews were averſe to it.

63 Two and twenty thouſand oxen, and an hundred and twenty thouſand ſheep, &c.] Theſe were not offered all on one day, much leſs on one altar. The continuance of this meeting was for fourteen days, ſeven in the feaſt of the tabernacles, and ſeven in that of the dedication.

60 That all the people of the earth may know that the LORD is God, and that there is none elſe. Before CHRIST 1004.

61 Let your heart therefore be perfect with the LORD our God, to walk in his ſtatutes, and to keep his commandments, as at this day.

62 ¶ And the king, and all Israel with him, offered ſacrifice before the LORD.

63 And Solomon offered a ſacrifice of peace offerings, which he offered unto the LORD, two and twenty thouſand oxen, and an hundred and twenty thouſand ſheep. So the king and all the children of Israel dedicated the houſe of the LORD.

64 The ſame day did the king hallow the middle of the court that was before the houſe of the LORD: for there he offered burnt offerings, and meat offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings: becauſe the braſen altar that was before the LORD was too little to receive the burnt offerings, and meat offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings.

65 ¶ And at that time Solomon held a feaſt, and all Israel with him, a great congregation, from the entering in of Hamath unto the river of Egypt, before the LORD our God, ſeven days and ſeven days, even fourteen days.

66 On the eighth day he ſent the people away: and they bleſſed the king, and went unto their tents joyful and glad of heart for all the goodneſs that the LORD had done for David his ſervant, and for Israel his people.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. VIII.

We ought to learn of Solomon to praiſe the Lord for all his mercies, and, above all, for his ſpiritual graces, and ſervently to beſeech him, that he would be always with us; and incline our hearts towards him, that we might keep his commandments.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON Chap. IX.

8 Which is high, &c.] Renowned for its riches; its ſplendour; and the great reſort there was to it.

Before CHRIST 992. passeth by it shall be astonished, and shall hiss; and they shall say, Why hath the LORD done thus unto this land, and to this house?

9 And they shall answer, Because they forsook the LORD their God, who brought forth their fathers out of the land of Egypt, and have taken hold upon other gods, and have worshipped them, and served them: therefore hath the LORD brought upon them all this evil.

10 And it came to pass at the end of twenty years, when Solomon had built the two houses, the house of the LORD, and the king's house,

11 (Now Hiram the king of Tyre had furnished Solomon with cedar trees and fir trees, and with gold, according to all his desire,) that then king Solomon gave Hiram twenty cities in the land of Galilee.

12 And Hiram came out from Tyre to see the cities which Solomon had given him; and they pleased him not.

13 And he said, What cities are these which thou hast given me, my brother? And he called them the land of Cabul unto this day.

14 And Hiram sent to the king sixscore talents of gold.

15 ¶ And this is the reason of the levy which king Solomon raised, for to build the house of the LORD, and his own house, and Millo, and the wall of Jerusalem, and Hazer, and Megiddo, and Gezer.

16 For Pharaoh king of Egypt had gone up, and taken Gezer, and burnt it with fire, and slain the Canaanites that dwelt in the city, and given it for a present unto his daughter, Solomon's wife.

17 And Solomon built Gezer and Bethoron the nether.

18 And Baalath, and Tadmor in the wilderness, in the land,

19 And all the cities of store that Solomon had, and cities for his chariots, and cities for his horsemen, and that which Solomon desired to build in Jerusalem, and in Lebanon, and in all the land of his dominion.

20 ¶ And all the people that were left of the Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites, which were not of the children of Israel, 21 Their children that were left after them in the land, whom the children of Israel also were not able utterly to destroy, upon those did Solomon levy a tribute of bondservice unto this day.

22 But of the children of Israel did Solomon make no bondmen: but they were men of war, and his servants, and his princes, and his captains, and rulers of his chariots, and his horsemen.

23 These were the chief of the officers that were over Solomon's work, five hundred and fifty, which bare rule over the people that wrought in the work.

24 ¶ But Pharaoh's daughter came up out of the city of David unto her house which Solomon had built for her: then did he build Millo.

25 ¶ And three times a year did Solomon offer burnt offerings and peace offerings upon the altar which he built unto the LORD, and he burnt incense upon the altar that was before the LORD. So he finished the house.

26 ¶ And king Solomon made a navy of ships in Ezion-geber, which is beside Elath, on the shore of the Red sea, in the land of Edom.

27 And Hiram sent in the navy his servants, shipmen that had knowledge of the sea, with the servants of Solomon.

28 And they came to Ophir, and fetched from thence gold, four hundred and twenty talents, and brought it to king Solomon.

1 The queen of Sheba cometh to see Solomon. 5 Her admiration of his wisdom and magnificence. 10 Her presents to him. 14 Solomon's yearly revenue in gold. 16 His golden targets and shields. 18 His throne of ivory. 21 His rich vessels. 24 Strangers bring him presents out of respect to his wisdom. 26 His chariots and horsemen. 27 The plenty of silver and cedars in his time. 28 Horses, chariots, and linen yarn, brought out of Egypt.

AND when the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon concerning the name of the LORD, she came to prove him with hard questions.

2 And she came to Jerusalem with a very great train, with camels that bare spices, and very much gold, and precious stones: and when she was come to Solomon, she communed with him of all that was in her heart.

3 And Solomon told her all her questions: there was not any thing hid from the king, which he told her not.

4 ¶ And when the queen of Sheba had seen all Solomon's wisdom, and the house that he had built,

5 And the meat of his table, and the sitting of his servants, and the attendance of his ministers, and their apparel, and his cupbearers, and his ascent by which he went up unto the house of the LORD; there was no more spirit in her.

6 And she said to the king, It was a true report that I heard in mine own land of thy acts and of thy wisdom.

7 Howbeit I believed not the words, until I came, and mine eyes had seen it: and, behold, the half was not told me: thy wisdom and prosperity exceedeth the fame which I heard.

8 Happy are thy men, happy are these thy servants, which stand continually before thee, and that hear thy wisdom.

9 Blessed be the LORD thy God, which delighted in thee, to set thee on the throne of Israel: because the LORD loved Israel for ever, therefore made he thee king, to do judgment and justice.

10 ¶ And she gave the king an hundred and twenty talents of gold, and of spices very great store, and precious stones: there came no more such abundance of spices as these which the queen of Sheba gave to king Solomon.

11 And the navy also of Hiram, that brought gold from Ophir, brought in from Ophir great plenty of almug-trees, and precious stones.

12 And the king made of the almug trees pillars for the house of the LORD, and for the king's house, harps also and psalteries for fingers; there came no such almug-trees, nor were seen unto this day.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. IX.

As God appeared a second time to Solomon, he manifested himself to be a faithful and gracious Being, willing to bless this prince and his family, had they not basely apostatized from him, will appear in the sequel.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. X.

1 The queen of Sheba, &c.] The best commentators agree that she came from Aljemin, the south part of Arabia Felix, near the Red sea.

5 There was no more spirit in her.] She was struck with astonishment.

11 Almug-trees.] By these some understand the cypress. This wood was of the closest grain, and fit for making harps and psalteries.

SOLOMON'S IDOLATRY

1 KINGS, Chap. XI. Ver. 4. 8.

Thomson sculp.

When Solomon was old, he built places for his strange wives, which burnt incense unto their gods.

Solomon gave her of his royal bounty. So she turned and went to her own country, she and her servants.

14 ¶ Now the weight of gold that came to Solomon in one year was six hundred threescore and six talents of gold.

15 Beside that he had of the merchant-men, and of the traffick of the spice merchants; and of all the kings of Arabia, and of the governors of the country.

16 ¶ And king Solomon made two hundred targets of beaten gold: six hundred shekels of gold went to one target.

17 And he made three hundred shields of beaten gold; three pound of gold went to one shield: and the king put them in the house of the forest of Lebanon.

18 ¶ Moreover the king made a great throne of ivory, and overlaid it with the best gold.

19 The throne had six steps, and the top of the throne was round behind: and there were stays on either side on the place of the seat, and two lions stood beside the stays.

20 And twelve lions stood there on the one side and on the other upon the six steps: there was not the like made in any kingdom.

21 ¶ And all king Solomon's drinking vessels were of gold, and all the vessels of the house of the forest of Lebanon were of pure gold; none were of silver: it was nothing accounted of in the days of Solomon.

22 For the king had at sea a navy of Tharshish with the navy of Hiram: once in three years came the navy of Tharshish, bringing gold, and silver, ivory, and apes, and peacocks.

23 So king Solomon exceeded all the kings of the earth for riches and for wisdom.

24 ¶ And all the earth sought to Solomon, to hear his wisdom, which God had put in his heart.

25 And they brought every man his present, vessels of silver, and vessels of gold, and garments, and armour, and spices, horses, and mules, a rate year by year.

26 ¶ And Solomon gathered together chariots and horsemen: and he had a thousand and four hundred chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen, whom he bestowed in the cities for chariots, and with the king at Jerusalem.

27 ¶ And the king made silver to be in Jerusalem as stones, and cedars made he to be as the sycamore trees that are in the vale, for abundance.

28 ¶ And Solomon had horses brought out of Egypt, and linen yarn: the king's merchants received the linen yarn at a price.

29 And a chariot came up and went out of Egypt for six hundred shekels of silver, and an horse for an hundred and fifty: and so for all the kings of the Hittites, and for the kings of Syria, did they bring them out by their means.

29 And a chariot, &c.] A toll or custom was anciently paid to the kings of Egypt for all horses and chariots brought out of that kingdom, namely, six hundred shekels of silver for a chariot, and one hundred and fifty for an horse.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. X.

We may hence remark, that men are easily corrupted with riches, as Solomon himself was at last; that luxury and pomp are as dangerous as riches; and therefore we ought to set bounds to our desires, and depend upon Providence for the rest: we should use the world, and enjoy God.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XI.

1 King Solomon loved—strange women, &c.] Hitherto we have seen nothing in Solomon but what was truly great and wonderful; No. 28.

whom Abijah had prophesied the kingdom should be transferred. 41 Solomon's acts, reign, and death: Rehoboam succeedeth him. Before CHRIST 992.

BUT king Solomon loved many strange women, together with the daughter of Pharaoh, women of the Moabites, Ammonites, Edomites, Zidonians, and Hittites;

2 Of the nations concerning which the LORD said unto the children of Israel; Ye shall not go in to them, neither shall they come in unto you: for surely they will turn away your heart after their gods: Solomon clave unto these in love.

3 And he had seven hundred wives, princesses, and three hundred concubines: and his wives turned away his heart.

4 For it came to pass, when Solomon was old, that his wives turned away his heart after other gods: and his heart was not perfect with the LORD his God, as was the heart of David his father.

5 For Solomon went after Ashtoreth the goddess of the Zidonians, and after Milcom the abomination of the Ammonites.

6 And Solomon did evil in the sight of the LORD, and went not fully after the LORD, as did David his father.

7 Then did Solomon build an high place for Chemosh, the abomination of Moab, in the hill that is before Jerusalem, and for Molech, the abomination of the children of Ammon.

8 And likewise did he for all his strange wives, which burnt incense and sacrificed unto their gods.

9 ¶ And the LORD was angry with Solomon, because his heart was turned from the LORD God of Israel, which had appeared unto him twice,

10 And had commanded him concerning this thing, that he should not go after other gods: but he kept not that which the LORD commanded.

11 Wherefore the LORD said unto Solomon, Forasmuch as this is done of thee, and thou hast not kept my covenant and my statutes, which I have commanded thee, I will surely rend the kingdom from thee, and will give it to thy servant.

12 Notwithstanding in thy days I will not do it for David thy father's sake: but I will rend it out of the hand of thy son.

13 Howbeit I will not rend away all the kingdom; but will give one tribe to thy son for David my servant's sake, and for Jerusalem's sake which I have chosen.

14 ¶ And the LORD stirred up an adversary unto Solomon, Hadad the Edomite: he was of the king's seed in Edom.

15 For it came to pass, when David was in Edom, and Joab the captain of the host was gone up to bury the slain, after he had smitten every male in Edom;

16 (For six months did Joab remain there with all Israel, until he had cut off every male in Edom:)

17 That Hadad fled, he and certain Edomites of his father's servants with him, to go into Egypt; Hadad being yet a little child.

18 And they arose out of Midian, and came to Paran: and they took men with them out of Paran, and they but the latter actions of his life sadly tarnish and disgrace his character.

3 Seven hundred wives, princesses, and three hundred concubines, &c.] It is probable he kept so many wives merely for state and pomp, after the manner of the eastern princes, as is the present custom in China, where the emperor hath a great multitude of wives, chosen out of the prime beauties of the country, many of whom he never saw.

4 When Solomon was old, &c.] Indulging himself too much in pleasure, had lessened his powers both of body and mind, his vices had broken his constitution, and weakened his faculties; and then these women, the nurses of his second childhood, industriously taught him to fall by idolatry; though it is thought he did not wholly forsake the Lord, but only joined other gods with him, which is implied in the expressions, ver. 4. "his heart was not perfect with the Lord his God," and ver. 6. "he went not fully after the Lord."

16 With all Israel, &c.] i. e. With all his army.

Before CHRIST 984. they came to Egypt, unto Pharaoh king of Egypt; which gave him an house, and appointed him victuals, and gave him land.

19 And Hadad found great favour in the sight of Pharaoh, so that he gave him to wife the sister of his own wife, the sister of Tahphenes the queen.

20 And the sister of Tahphenes bare him Genubath his son, whom Tahphenes weaned in Pharaoh's house: and Genubath was in Pharaoh's household among the sons of Pharaoh.

21 And when Hadad heard in Egypt that David slept with his fathers, and that Joab the captain of the host was dead; Hadad said to Pharaoh, Let me depart, that I may go to mine own country.

22 Then Pharaoh said unto him, But what hast thou lacked with me, that, behold, thou seekest to go to thine own country? And he answered, Nothing: howbeit let me go in any wise.

23 ¶ And God stirred him up another adversary, Rezon the son of Eliadah, which fled from his lord Hadadezer king of Zobah:

24 And he gathered men unto him, and became captain over a band, when David slew them of Zobah: and they went to Damascus, and dwelt therein, and reigned in Damascus.

25 And he was an adversary to Israel all the days of Solomon, beside the mischief that Hadad did: and he abhorred Israel, and reigned over Syria.

26 ¶ And Jeroboam the son of Nebat, an Ephraimite of Zereda, Solomon's servant, whose mother's name was Zeruah, a widow woman, even he lifted up his hand against the king.

27 And this was the cause that he lifted up his hand against the king: Solomon built Millo, and repaired the breaches of the city of David his father.

28 And the man Jeroboam was a mighty man of valour: and Solomon seeing the young man that he was industrious, he made him ruler over all the charge of the house of Joseph.

980. 29 And it came to pass at that time when Jeroboam went out of Jerusalem, that the prophet Ahijah the Shilonite found him in the way; and he had clad himself with a new garment; and they two were alone in the field:

30 And Ahijah caught the new garment that was on him, and rent it in twelve pieces:

31 And he said to Jeroboam, Take ten pieces: for thus saith the LORD, the God of Israel, Behold, I will rend the kingdom out of the hand of Solomon, and will give ten tribes to thee:

32 (But he shall have one tribe for my servant David's sake, and for Jerusalem's sake, the city which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel:)

33 Because that they have forsaken me, and have worshipped Ashtoreth the goddess of the Zidonians, Chemosh the god of the Moabites, and Milcom the god of the children of Ammon, and have not walked in my ways, to do that which is right in mine eyes, and to keep my statutes and my judgments, as did David his father.

34 Howbeit I will not take the whole kingdom out of his hand: but I will make him prince all the days of his life for David my servant's sake, whom I chose, because he kept my commandments and my statutes:

35 But I will take the kingdom out of his son's hand, and will give it unto thee, even ten tribes.

36 And unto his son will I give one tribe, that David my servant may have a light alway before me in Jerusalem, the city which I have chosen me to put my name there.

29 The prophet Ahijah, &c.] Ahijah was a native of Shiloh; and one of those who wrote the annals of Solomon's reign. See 2 Chron. ix. 29.

32 He shall have one tribe, &c.] One besides his own.

39 But not for ever.] "For in the days of the Messiah the kingdom shall be restored to the house of David." This must be understood of Christ's spiritual kingdom.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XI.

The fall of Solomon seems to be an instance the most lamentable

37 And I will take thee, and thou shalt reign according to all that thy soul desireth, and shalt be king over Israel.

38 And it shall be, if thou wilt hearken unto all that I command thee, and wilt walk in my ways, and do that is right in my sight, to keep my statutes and my commandments, as David my servant did; that I will be with thee, and build thee a sure house, as I built for David, and will give Israel unto thee.

39 And I will for this afflict the seed of David, but not for ever.

40 Solomon sought therefore to kill Jeroboam. And Jeroboam arose, and fled into Egypt, unto Shishak king of Egypt, and was in Egypt until the death of Solomon.

41 ¶ And the rest of the acts of Solomon, and all that he did, and his wisdom, are they not written in the book of the acts of Solomon?

42 And the time that Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel was forty years.

43 And Solomon slept with his fathers, and was buried in the city of David his father: and Rehoboam his son reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XII.

1 The Israelites, assembled at Shechem to make Rehoboam king, sue to him with Jeroboam at their head for redress of grievances. 6 Rehoboam slighteth the good advice of his father's old counsellors, and consulteth with the young men, who advise to answer the people roughly. 12 He followeth their indiscreet counsel. 16 The ten tribes revolting kill Adoram, and make Rehoboam flee. 20 Jeroboam is made king over Israel. 21 Rehoboam raiseth an army to reduce the revolters, but is forbidden to proceed by the prophet Shemaiah. 25 Jeroboam buildeth Shechem and Peniel. 26 He setteth up the idolatrous worship of the golden calves in Beth-el and Dan.

AND Rehoboam went to Shechem: for all Israel were come to Shechem to make him king.

2 And it came to pass, when Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who was yet in Egypt, heard of it (for he was fled from the presence of king Solomon, and Jeroboam dwelt in Egypt;)

3 That they sent and called him. And Jeroboam and all the congregation of Israel came, and spake unto Rehoboam, saying,

4 Thy father made our yoke grievous: now therefore make thou the grievous service of thy father, and his heavy yoke which he put upon us, lighter, and we will serve thee.

5 And he said unto them, Depart yet for three days, then come again to me. And the people departed.

6 ¶ And king Rehoboam consulted with the old men, that stood before Solomon his father while he yet lived, and said, How do ye advise that I may answer this people?

7 And they spake unto him, saying, If thou wilt be a servant unto this people this day, and wilt serve them, and answer them, and speak good words to them, then they will be thy servants for ever.

8 But he forsook the counsel of the old men, which they had given him, and consulted the young men that were grown up with him, and which stood before him:

9 And he said unto them, What counsel give ye that we may answer this people, who have spoken to me, saying, Make the yoke which thy father did put upon us lighter?

10 And

that ever happened, except that of the fallen angels, and should be an admonition to all, that punishments follow close after the sins we commit against God, who punishes kings, and disposes of kingdoms, and to whom he pleases; and that there is no profit in any kind of wickedness; but that to fear God, and keep his commandments (as Solomon's experience length taught him) is the whole duty and happiness of man.

COMMENTARY

10 And the young men that were grown up with him spake unto him, saying, Thus shalt thou speak unto this people, that spake unto thee, saying, Thy father made our yoke heavy, but make thou it lighter unto us; thus shalt thou say unto them, My little finger shall be thicker than my father's loins.

11 And now whereas my father did lade you with a heavy yoke, I will add to your yoke: my father hath chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions.

12 ¶ So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the king had appointed, saying, Come to me again the third day.

13 And the king answered the people roughly, and forsook the old men's counsel that they gave him;

14 And spake to them after the counsel of the young men, saying, My father made your yoke heavy, and I will add to your yoke: my father also chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions.

15 Wherefore the king hearkened not unto the people; for the cause was from the LORD, that he might perform his saying, which the LORD spake by Ahijah the Shilonite unto Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

16 ¶ So when all Israel saw that the king hearkened not unto them, the people answered the king, saying, What portion have we in David? neither have we inheritance in the son of Jesse: to your tents, O Israel: now see to thine own house, David. So Israel departed unto their tents.

17 But as for the children of Israel which dwelt in the cities of Judah, Rehoboam reigned over them.

18 Then king Rehoboam sent Adoram, who was over the tribute; and all Israel stoned him with stones, that he died. Therefore king Rehoboam made speed to get him up to his chariot, to flee to Jerusalem.

19 So Israel rebelled against the house of David unto this day.

20 ¶ And it came to pass, when all Israel heard that Jeroboam was come again, that they sent and called him unto the congregation, and made him king over all Israel: there was none that followed the house of David, but the tribe of Judah only.

21 ¶ And when Rehoboam was come to Jerusalem, he assembled all the house of Judah, with the tribe of Benjamin, an hundred and fourscore thousand chosen men, which were warriors, to fight against the house of Israel, to bring the kingdom again to Rehoboam the son of Solomon.

22 But the word of God came unto Shemaiah the man of God, saying,

23 Speak unto Rehoboam, the son of Solomon, king of Judah, and unto all the house of Judah and Benjamin, and to the remnant of the people, saying,

24 Thus saith the LORD, Ye shall not go up, nor fight against your brethren the children of Israel: return every man to his house; for this thing is from me. They hearkened therefore to the word of the LORD, and returned to depart, according to the word of the LORD.

25 Then Jeroboam built Shechem in mount Ephraim, and dwelt therein, and went out from thence, and built Peniel.

26 ¶ And Jeroboam said in his heart, Now shall the kingdom return to the house of David:

27 If this people go up to do sacrifice in the house of the LORD at Jerusalem, then shall the heart of this people turn again unto their lord, even unto Rehoboam king of Judah, and they shall kill me, and go again to Rehoboam king of Judah.

28 Whereupon the king took counsel, and made two calves of gold, and said unto them, It is too much for you to go up to Jerusalem: behold thy gods, O Israel, which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt.

29 And he set the one in Beth-el, and the other put he in Dan.

30 And this thing became a sin: for the people went to worship before the one, even unto Dan.

31 And he made an house of high places, and made priests of the lowest of the people, which were not of the sons of Levi.

32 And Jeroboam ordained a feast in the eighth month, on the fifteenth day of the month, like unto the feast that is in Judah, and he offered upon the altar. So did he in Beth-el, sacrificing unto the calves that he had made: and he placed in Beth-el the priests of the high places which he had made.

33 So he offered upon the altar which he had made in Beth-el the fifteenth day of the eighth month, even in the month which he had devised of his own heart; and ordained a feast unto the children of Israel; and he offered upon the altar, and burnt incense.

CHAP. XIII.

1 A man of God out of Judah prophesieth against the altar in Beth-el. 4 Jeroboam's hand, which he put forth against him, withereth, but at the prayer of the prophet is restored. 7 The prophet refuseth the king's offered entertainment, and departeth from Beth-el. 11 He is seduced and brought back by an old prophet, 20 who denounceth God's judgment against him for his disobedience to the divine command. 23 A lion killeth him on his way home. 26 The old prophet bringeth his carcase back, burieth it, and confirmeth his prophecy. 33 Jeroboam still persisteth in his evil courses.

AND, behold, there came a man of God out of Judah by the word of the LORD unto Beth-el: and Jeroboam stood by the altar to burn incense.

2 And he cried against the altar in the word of the LORD, and said, O altar, altar, thus saith the LORD; Behold, a child shall be born unto the house of David, Josiah by name; and upon thee shall he offer the priests of the high places that burn incense upon thee, and men's bones shall be burnt upon thee.

3 And he gave a sign the same day, saying, This is the sign which the LORD hath spoken; Behold, the altar shall be rent, and the ashes that are upon it shall be poured out.

4 ¶ And it came to pass, when king Jeroboam heard the saying

31 And made priests of the lowest of the people, &c.] Not the refuse of the people only, but any, though they were not of the tribe of Levi.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XII.

In this conduct of Jeroboam we see, that notwithstanding the favour of God towards him, that ungrateful prince, out of false policy, set up idolatry in his kingdom, which at length proved its ruin. Thus, when men, instead of obeying and trusting God, have recourse to wicked means, they involve themselves and others in the greatest misfortunes.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XIII.

1 A man of God] That is, a prophet. Jeroboam stood by the altar to burn incense.] Upon that feast day which he had instituted; namely, the fifteenth day of the eighth month, in opposition to the established religion.

2 Behold, a child shall be born unto the house of David. Josiah by name; &c.] This is one of the most remarkable prophecies in sacred writ: it foretells an action that exactly came to pass above three hundred and forty years afterwards.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XII.

10 And the young men that were grown up with him spake unto him, &c.] They were raw and unexperienced, and unacquainted with the humours of the people, and therefore gave the king such unseasonable advice.

19 So Israel rebelled against the house of David unto this day.] Thus was this great and goodly kingdom, almost in its infancy, split into two parts, and for ever afterwards went under different denominations, the kingdom of Judah, and the kingdom of Israel, though the latter included the whole before.

22 The word of God came unto Shemaiah, &c.] He was supposed to have written the annals of this prince; and had so much influence as to prevail with the king and one hundred and eighty thousand men to lay down their arms, and return home.

28 And made two calves of gold, &c.] The iniquity of the times certainly favoured Jeroboam not a little, in making this alteration in religion, and establishing idolatry by a law: he thought it the wisest method to do this by the Egyptian model, thereby to endear himself to that nation, and, in case he met with opposition from his rival Rehoboam, apply for assistance from that quarter.

saying of the man of God, which had cried against the altar in Beth-el, that he put forth his hand from the altar, saying, Lay hold on him. And his hand, which he put forth against him, dried up, so that he could not pull it in again to him.

5 The altar was also rent, and the ashes poured unto from the altar, according to the sign which the man of God had given by the word of the LORD.

6 And the king answered and said unto the man of God, Intreat now the face of the LORD thy God, and pray for me, that my hand may be restored me again. And the man of God besought the LORD, and the king's hand was restored him again, and became as it was before.

7 ¶ And the king said unto the man of God, Come home with me, and refresh thyself, and I will give thee a reward.

8 And the man of God said unto the king, If thou wilt give me half thine house, I will not go in with thee, neither will I eat bread nor drink water in this place:

9 For so was it charged me by the word of the LORD, saying, Eat no bread, nor drink water, nor turn again by the same way that thou camest.

10 So he went another way, and returned not by the way that he came to Beth-el.

11 ¶ Now there dwelt an old prophet in Beth-el; and his sons came and told him all the works that the man of God had done that day in Beth-el: the words which he had spoken unto the king, them they told also to their father.

12 And their father said unto them, What way went he? For his sons had seen what way the man of God went, which came from Judah.

13 And he said unto his sons, Saddle me the as. So they saddled him the as: and he rode thereon,

14 And went after the man of God, and found him sitting under an oak: and he said unto him, Art thou the man of God that camest from Judah? And he said, I am.

15 Then he said unto him, Come home with me, and eat bread.

16 And he said, I may not return with thee, nor go in with thee: neither will I eat bread nor drink water with thee in this place:

17 For it was said to me by the word of the LORD, Thou shalt eat no bread nor drink water there, nor turn again to go by the way that thou camest.

18 He said unto him, I am a prophet also as thou art; and an angel spake unto me by the word of the LORD, saying, Bring him back with thee into thine house, that he may eat bread and drink water. But he lied unto him.

19 So he went back with him, and did eat bread in his house, and drank water.

20 ¶ And it came to pass, as they sat at the table, that the word of the LORD came unto the prophet that brought him back:

21 And he cried unto the man of God that came from Judah, saying, Thus saith the LORD, Forasmuch as thou hast disobeyed the mouth of the LORD, and hast not kept the commandment which the LORD thy God commanded thee,

22 But camest back, and hast eaten bread and drunk water in the place, of the which the LORD did say to thee, Eat no bread, and drink no water; thy carcase shall not come unto the sepulchre of thy fathers.

23 ¶ And it came to pass, after he had eaten bread, and after he had drunk, that he saddled for him the as, to wit, for the prophet whom he had brought back.

24 And when he was gone, a lion met him by the way, and slew him: and his carcase was cast in the way, and the as stood by it, the lion also stood by the carcase.

25 And, behold, men passed by, and saw the carcase cast in the way, and the lion standing by the carcase: and they came and told it in the city where the old prophet dwelt.

26 ¶ And when the prophet that brought him back from the way heard thereof, he said, It is the man of God, who was disobedient unto the word of the LORD: therefore the LORD hath delivered him unto the lion, which hath torn him, and slain him, according to the word of the LORD, which he spake unto him.

27 And he spake to his sons, saying, Saddle me the as. And they saddled him.

28 And he went and found his carcase cast in the way, and the as and the lion standing by the carcase: the lion had not eaten the carcase, nor torn the as.

29 And the prophet took up the carcase of the man of God, and laid it upon the as, and brought it back: and the old prophet came to the city to mourn and to bury him.

30 And he laid his carcase in his own grave; and they mourned over him, saying, Alas, my brother!

31 And it came to pass after he had buried him, that he spake to his sons, saying, When I am dead, then bury me in the sepulchre wherein the man of God is buried; lay my bones beside his bones:

32 For the saying which he cried by the word of the LORD against the altar in Beth-el, and against all the houses of the high places which are in the cities of Samaria, shall surely come to pass.

33 ¶ After this thing Jeroboam returned not from his evil way, but made again of the lowest of the people priests of the high places: whosoever would, he consecrated him, and he became one of the priests of the high places.

34 And this thing became sin unto the house of Jeroboam, even to cut it off, and to destroy it from off the face of the earth.

CHAP. XIV.

1 Abijah, Jeroboam's son, being sick, Jeroboam sendeth his wife in disguise with presents to enquire of Abijah the prophet. 5 Abijah, forewarned by God of her coming, denounceth God's judgments against Jeroboam's house. 17 Abijah dieth, and is buried. 19 Jeroboam dieth and is succeeded by Nadab. 21 Rehoboam's wicked reign. 25 Shishak king of Egypt carrieth away much treasure from Jerusalem. 29 Rehoboam dieth, and is succeeded by Abijah.

AT that time Abijah the son of Jeroboam fell sick.

2 And Jeroboam said to his wife, Arise, I pray thee, and disguise thyself, that thou be not known to be the wife

¶ The king answered and said unto the man of God, Intreat now the face of the Lord, &c.] A most surprising change! He who had been just now threatening the man of God, now desires him to pray to that Being for assistance, whose worship he had destroyed, and was also at that very instant offering incense to idols.

21 Forasmuch as thou hast disobeyed, &c.] The offence of the prophet from Judah cannot be deemed trivial, when it is considered, that as he had power given him to work miracles, he could not but be sensible of his divine mission, and that the particular injunction of his not eating and drinking in the town of Beth-el, was as much the will of God, as any other part of his commission.

28 The as and the lion standing by the carcase: the lion had not eaten the carcase, nor torn the as.] As God shewed his severity in taking away this prophet's life, which alone was his punishment, so at the same time he remarkably shewed his approbation of the prophet, by thus restraining that ravenous creature.

22 Against all the houses of the high places which are in the cities of Samaria, &c.] The author or compiler of these books of Kings (whether Ezra or Jeremiah) lived long after the time of Jeroboam, and wrote of things and places as they were in his own days.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XIII.

The awful event in this chapter shews us, that we ought in no instance to act contrary to the commandments of the Lord; for "it is an evil and a bitter thing to depart from the living God."

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XIV.

¶ Jeroboam said to his wife, Arise, I pray thee, and disguise thyself, &c.] Strange infatuation! that he should not think the person, who he knew had been capable of foretelling he should be king, and who he was persuaded had power given to him to declare the fate of his son, was able to see through his imposition and disguise!

wife of Jeroboam; and get thee to Shiloh; behold, there is Ahijah the prophet, which told me that I should be king over this people.

3 And take with thee ten loaves, and cracknels, and a cruse of honey, and go to him: he shall tell thee what shall become of the child.

4 And Jeroboam's wife did so, and arose, and went to Shiloh, and came to the house of Ahijah. But Ahijah could not see; for his eyes were set by reason of his age.

5 ¶ And the LORD said unto Ahijah, Behold, the wife of Jeroboam cometh to ask a thing of thee for her son; for he is sick: thus and thus shalt thou say unto her: for it shall be, when she cometh in, that she shall feign herself to be another woman.

6 And it was so, when Ahijah heard the sound of her feet, as she came in at the door, that he said, Come in, thou wife of Jeroboam; why feignest thou thyself to be another? for I am sent to thee with heavy tidings.

7 Go, tell Jeroboam, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, Forasmuch as I exalted thee from among the people, and made thee prince over my people Israel, and rent the kingdom away from the house of David, and gave it thee: and yet thou hast not been as my servant David, who kept my commandments, and who followed me with all his heart, to do that only which was right in mine eyes;

9 But hast done evil above all that were before thee: for thou hast gone and made thee other gods, and molten images, to provoke me to anger, and hast cast me behind thy back:

10 Therefore, behold, I will bring evil upon the house of Jeroboam, and will cut off from Jeroboam him that pisseth against the wall, and him that is shut up and left in Israel, and will take away the remnant of the house of Jeroboam, as a man taketh away dung, till it be all gone.

11 Him that dieth of Jeroboam in the city shall the dogs eat; and him that dieth in the field shall the fowls of the air eat: for the LORD hath spoken it.

12 Arise thou therefore, get thee to thine own house: and when thy feet enter into the city, the child shall die.

13 And all Israel shall mourn for him, and bury him: for he only of Jeroboam shall come to the grave, because in him there is found some good thing toward the LORD God of Israel in the house of Jeroboam.

14 Moreover the LORD shall raise him up a king over Israel, who shall cut off the house of Jeroboam that day: but what? even now.

15 For the LORD shall smite Israel, as a reed is shaken in the water, and he shall root up Israel out of this good land, which he gave to their fathers, and shall scatter them beyond the river, because they have made their groves, provoking the LORD to anger.

16 And he shall give Israel up because of the sins of Jeroboam, who did sin, and who made Israel to sin.

17 ¶ And Jeroboam's wife arose, and departed, and came to Tirzah: and when she came to the threshold of the door, the child died;

18 And they buried him; and all Israel mourned for him, according to the word of the LORD, which he spake by the hand of his servant Ahijah the prophet.

19 ¶ And the rest of the acts of Jeroboam, how he warred, and how he reigned, behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

20 And the days which Jeroboam reigned were two and twenty years: and he slept with his fathers, and Nadab his son reigned in his stead.

Before CHRIST 956.

21 ¶ And Rehoboam the son of Solomon reigned in Judah. Rehoboam was forty and one years old when he began to reign, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city which the LORD did choose out of all the tribes of Israel, to put his name there. And his mother's name was Naamah an Ammonitess.

22 And Judah did evil in the sight of the LORD, and they provoked him to jealousy with their sins which they had committed, above all that their fathers had done.

972.

23 For they also built them high places, and images, and groves, on every high hill, and under every green tree.

24 And there were also sodomites in the land: and they did according to all the abominations of the nations which the LORD cast out before the children of Israel.

25 ¶ And it came to pass in the fifth year of king Rehoboam, that Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem:

26 And he took away the treasures of the house of the LORD, and the treasures of the king's house; he even took away all: and he took away all the shields of gold which Solomon had made.

971.

27 And king Rehoboam made in their stead brazen shields, and committed them unto the hands of the chief of the guard, which kept the door of the king's house.

28 And it was so, when the king went into the house of the LORD, that the guard bare them, and brought them back into the guard chamber.

29 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Rehoboam, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

30 And there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam all their days.

958.

31 And Rehoboam slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David. And his mother's name was Naamah an Ammonitess. And Abijah his son reigned in his stead.

1 Abijah's wicked reign. 7 He dieth: Aśa succeedeth him. 9 Aśa's good reign. 16 On account of the war between him and Baasha he maketh a league with Ben-badad king of Syria, who causeth Baasha to desist from building Ramah; Aśa with the stones thereof buildeth Geba and Mizpah. 23 Aśa dieth, and is succeeded by Jehoshaphat. 25 Nadab's wicked reign. 27 He is slain by Baasha, who succeedeth him, and executeth Abijah's prophecy against Jeroboam's house. 32 Baasha's wicked reign.

NOW in the eighteenth year of king Jeroboam the son of Nebat reigned Abijah over Judah.

2 Three years reigned he in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Maachah, the daughter of Abi-shalom.

3 And he walked in all the sins of his father, which he had done before him: and his heart was not perfect with the LORD his God, as the heart of David his father.

4 Nevertheless for David's sake did the LORD his God give him a lamp in Jerusalem, to set up his son after him, and to establish Jerusalem:

were frequent acts of hostility committed on the borders, though they never engaged in a pitched battle.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XIV.

This chapter plainly indicates, that the glory of man is of a very short duration; and that, without repentance, the curse of God will attend the ungodly, and those whom they have corrupted.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XV.

1 In the eighteenth year, &c.] Abijah began to reign in some part of Jeroboam's eighteenth year, and continued his reign the whole nineteenth, and died in the twentieth; thus (taking a part of the year for the whole) he was reckoned to have reigned three years.

6 And there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam all the days of his life.

7 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Abijam, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? And there was war between Abijam and Jeroboam.

955. 8 And Abijam slept with his fathers; and they buried him in the city of David: and Afa his son reigned in his stead.

9 ¶ And in the twentieth year of Jeroboam king of Israel reigned Afa over Judah.

10 And forty and one years reigned he in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Maachah, the daughter of Abihalom.

11 And Afa did that which was right in the eyes of the LORD, as did David his father,

951. 12 And he took away the sodomites out of the land, and removed all the idols that his fathers had made.

13 And also Maachah his mother, even her he removed from being queen, because she had made an idol in a grove; and Afa destroyed her idol, and burnt it by the brook Kidron.

14 But the high places were not removed: nevertheless Afa's heart was perfect with the LORD all his days.

15 And he brought in the things which his father had dedicated, and the things which himself had dedicated, into the house of the LORD, silver, and gold, and vessels.

16 ¶ And there was war between Afa and Baasha king of Israel all their days.

17 And Baasha king of Israel went up against Judah, and built Ramah, that he might not suffer any to go out or come in to Afa king of Judah.

18 Then Afa took all the silver and the gold that were left in the treasures of the house of the LORD, and the treasures of the king's house, and delivered them into the hand of his servants: and king Afa sent them to Ben-hadad, the son of Tabrimon, the son of Hezion, king of Syria, that dwelt at Damascus, saying,

19 There is a league between me and thee, and between my father and thy father: behold, I have sent unto thee a present of silver and gold; come and break thy league with Baasha king of Israel, that he may depart from me.

20 So Ben-hadad hearkened unto king Afa, and sent the captains of the hosts which he had against the cities of Israel, and smote Ijon, and Dan, and Abel-beth-machah, and all Cinneroth, with all the land of Naphtali.

21 And it came to pass, when Baasha heard thereof, that he left off building of Ramah, and dwelt in Tirzah.

22 Then king Afa made a proclamation throughout all Judah; none was exempted: and they took away the stones of Ramah, and the timber thereof, wherewith Baasha had builded; and king Afa built with them Geba of Benjamin, and Mizpah.

23 ¶ The rest of all the acts of Afa, and all his might, and all that he did, and the cities which he built, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? Nevertheless in the time of his old age he was diseased in his feet.

24 And Afa slept with his fathers, and was buried

14 The high places were not removed, &c.] Afa took away those where the people sacrificed to strange gods, but not those where God alone was worshipped.

29 Until he had destroyed him, according unto the saying of the Lord, &c.] It was not in the intention of Baasha to fulfil the prophecy of Ahijah, but only to secure himself in his usurped throne, by cutting off all that had any title to it: God, however, by this means, fulfilled his own purpose, and that as speedily as the prophet had foretold, chap. xiv. 14.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XV.

This history shews us, that the chief ~~men~~ of princes, and of their 25 ¶ And Nadab the son of Jeroboam began to reign over Israel in the second year of Afa king of Judah, and reigned over Israel two years.

26 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the way of his father, and in his sin wherewith he made Israel to sin.

27 ¶ And Baasha the son of Ahijah, of the house of Issachar, conspired against him; and Baasha smote him at Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines; for Nadab and all Israel laid siege to Gibbethon.

28 Even in the third year of Afa king of Judah did Baasha slay him, and reigned in his stead.

29 And it came to pass, when he reigned that he smote all the house of Jeroboam; he left not to Jeroboam any that breathed, until he had destroyed him, according unto the saying of the LORD, which he spake by his servant Ahijah the Shilonite:

30 Because of the sins of Jeroboam which he sinned, and which he made Israel sin, by his provocation wherewith he provoked the LORD God of Israel to anger.

31 Now the rest of the acts of Nadab, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

32 ¶ And there was war between Afa and Baasha king of Israel all their days.

33 In the third year of Afa king of Judah began Baasha the son of Ahijah to reign over all Israel in Tirzah, twenty and four years.

34 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the way of Jeroboam, and in his sin wherewith he made Israel to sin.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Jehu's prophecy against the house of Baasha. 5 Baasha dieth, and is succeeded by Elah. 8 Zimri slayeth Elah, and succeedeth him. 11 He executeth Jehu's prophecy against Baasha's house. 15 Omri, made king by the army, besiegeth Zimri in Tirzah, who in despair burneth himself. 21 The people being divided, Omri's faction prevaileth against Tibni's. 23 Omri buildeth Samaria. 25 After a wicked reign, 27 he dieth and is succeeded by Ahab. 29 Ahab's excessive wickedness and idolatry. 34 Joshua's curse fulfilled upon Hiel the builder of Jericho.

THEN the word of the LORD came to Jehu the son of Hanani against Baasha, saying,

2 Forasmuch as I exalted thee out of the dust, and made thee prince over my people Israel; and thou hast walked in the way of Jeroboam, and hast made my people Israel to sin, to provoke me to anger with their sins;

3 Behold, I will take away the posterity of Baasha, and the posterity of his house; and will make thy house like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

4 Him that dieth of Baasha in the city shall the dogs eat; and him that dieth of his in the fields shall the fowls of the air eat.

5 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Baasha, and what he did, and his might, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

6 So Baasha slept with his fathers, and was buried in Tirzah: and Elah his son reigned in his stead.

7 And also by the hand of the prophet Jehu the son of Hanani came the word of the LORD against Baasha, and people, ought to be; to render God propitious to them, by their future adherence to religion; which only constitutes their happiness and security, agreeable to the admonition of the prophet Azariah to king Afa.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XVI.

2 Forasmuch as I exalted thee, &c.] Baasha's accession to the kingdom was from the divine decree; but the form and manner of it was from himself; from his own ambition and covetousness; and, as it was wicked and cruel, is therefore charged upon him as a wilful murder.

and against his house, even for all the evil that he did in the sight of the LORD, in provoking him to anger with the work of his hands, in being like the house of Jeroboam; and because he killed him.

8 ¶ In the twenty and sixth year of Afa king of Judah began Elah the son of Baasha to reign over Israel in Tirzah, two years.

9 And his servant Zimri, captain of half his chariots, conspired against him, as he was in Tirzah, drinking himself drunk in the house of Arza steward of his house in Tirzah.

10 And Zimri went in and smote him, and killed him, in the twenty and seventh year of Afa king of Judah, and reigned in his stead.

11 ¶ And it came to pass, when he began to reign, as soon as he sat on his throne, that he slew all the house of Baasha: he left him not one that pisseth against a wall, neither of his kinsfolks, nor of his friends.

12 Thus did Zimri destroy all the house of Baasha, according to the word of the LORD, which he spake against Baasha by Jehu the prophet.

13 For all the sins of Baasha, and the sins of Elah his son, by which they sinned, and by which they made Israel to sin, in provoking the LORD God of Israel to anger with their vanities.

14 Now the rest of the acts of Elah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

15 ¶ In the twenty and seventh year of Afa king of Judah did Zimri reign seven days in Tirzah. And the people were encamped against Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines.

16 And the people that were encamped heard say, Zimri hath conspired, and hath also slain the king: wherefore all Israel made Omri, the captain of the host, king over Israel that day in the camp.

17 And Omri went up from Gibbethon, and all Israel with him, and they besieged Tirzah.

18 And it came to pass, when Zimri saw that the city was taken, that he went into the palace of the king's house, and burnt the king's house over him with fire, and died,

19 For his sins which he sinned in doing evil in the sight of the LORD, in walking in the way of Jeroboam, and in his sin which he did, to make Israel to sin.

20 Now the rest of the acts of Zimri, and his treason that he wrought, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

21 ¶ Then were the people of Israel divided into two parts: half of the people followed Tibni the son of Ginath, to make him king; and half followed Omri.

22 But the people that followed Omri prevailed against the people that followed Tibni the son of Ginath: so Tibni died, and Omri reigned.

23 ¶ In the thirty and first year of Afa king of Judah began Omri to reign over Israel, twelve years: six years reigned he in Tirzah.

24 And he bought the hill of Samaria of Shemer for two talents of silver, and built on the hill, and called the name of the city which he built, after the name of Shemer, owner of the hill, Samaria.

7. In being like the house of Jeroboam; and because he killed him.] He killed Nadab; or some understand it as relating to the house of Jeroboam, which he destroyed.

24. After the name of Shemer, owner of the hill, Samaria.] Bochart, who traced the ruins of Samaria, supposes it to have been once larger than Jerusalem; though it now consists of only a few cottages and convents inhabited by some Greek monks.

34. Did Hiel—build Jericho, &c.] A most remarkable instance of the certainty of divine threatenings, and that God never forgets what he hath said, but continues always the same! for this sentence was pronounced more than four hundred and forty years before, and is now fulfilled in all its circumstances.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XVI.

We may see clearly, in the series of all these kings of Israel, that perished miserably, how divine vengeance pursues the wicked, and particularly evil princes; also, that when God has made use of wicked men to do justice, and execute the decrees of his providence, he destroys the one by the other.

25 ¶ But Omri wrought evil in the eyes of the LORD, and did worse than all that were before him. Before CHRIST 925.

26 For he walked in all the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and in his sin wherewith he made Israel to sin, to provoke the LORD God of Israel to anger with their vanities.

27 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Omri which he did, and his might that he shewed, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

28 So Omri slept with his fathers, and was buried in Samaria: and Ahab his son reigned in his stead.

29 ¶ And in the thirty and eighth year of Afa king of Judah began Ahab the son of Omri to reign over Israel: and Ahab the son of Omri reigned over Israel in Samaria twenty and two years. 918.

30 And Ahab the son of Omri did evil in the sight of the LORD above all that were before him.

31 And it came to pass, as if it had been a light thing for him to walk in the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, that he took to wife Jezebel the daughter of Ethbaal king of the Zidonians, and went and served Baal, and worshipped him.

32 And he reared up an altar for Baal in the house of Baal, which he had built in Samaria.

33 And Ahab made a grove; and Ahab did more to provoke the LORD God of Israel to anger than all the kings of Israel that were before him.

34 ¶ In his days did Hiel the Beth-elite build Jericho: he laid the foundation thereof in Abiram his first-born, and set up the gates thereof in his youngest son Segub, according to the word of the LORD, which he spake by Joshua the son of Nun.

CHAP. XVII.

1. Elijah after foretelling a long drought is sent by God to the brook Cherith, and fed there by ravens. 8 He is afterward sent to a widow of Zarephath, and miraculously recruiteth her barrel of meal and cruse of oil. 17 The widow's son dieth, and is restored to life by Elijah's prayer: the woman believeth him to be sent from God.

AND Elijah the Tishbite, who was of the inhabitants of Gilead, said unto Ahab, As the LORD God of Israel liveth, before whom I stand, there shall not be dew nor rain these years, but according to my word. 919.

2 And the word of the LORD came unto him, saying,

3 Get thee hence, and turn thee eastward, and hide thyself by the brook Cherith, that is before Jordan.

4 And it shall be, that thou shalt drink of the brook; and I have commanded the ravens to feed thee there.

5 So he went and did according unto the word of the LORD: for he went and dwelt by the brook Cherith that is before Jordan.

6 And the ravens brought him bread and flesh in the morning, and bread and flesh in the evening; and he drank of the brook.

7 And it came to pass after a while, that the brook dried up, because there had been no rain in the land.

8 ¶ And the word of the LORD came unto him, saying,

9 Arise, get thee to Zarephath, which belongeth to Zidon,

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XVII.

1. And Elijah] He was one of the chief, if not the prince of the prophets of his age; a man of a great and elevated soul, of a generous and undaunted spirit, a zealous defender of the laws of God, and a just avenger of the violations of his honour. He is called the Tishbite, from the town of Tishbe, on the other side Jordan.

There shall not be dew nor rain these years, &c.] The apostle acquaints us, that it "rained not on the earth by the space of three years and six months," James v. 17. and our Saviour gives the very same account in Luke iv. 25.

3. The brook Cherith, &c.] This brook and the valley through which it runs, are both very near the river Jordan.

4. I have commanded the ravens to feed thee there.] In answer to the cavils of ignorant infidels against this passage, may we not reasonably ask, Is not God almighty? and has he not power over the works of his hands, to make them all subservient to his purposes?

Zidon, and dwell there: behold, I have commanded a widow woman there to sustain thee.

10 So he arose and went to Zarephath. And when he came to the gate of the city, behold, the widow woman was there gathering of sticks: and he called to her, and said, Fetch me, I pray thee, a little water in a vessel, that I may drink.

11 And as she was going to fetch it, he called to her, and said, Bring me, I pray thee, a morsel of bread in thine hand.

12 And she said, As the LORD thy God liveth, I have not a cake, but an handful of meal in a barrel, and a little oil in a cruse: and, behold, I am gathering two sticks, that I may go in and dress it for me and my son, that we may eat it, and die.

13 And Elijah said unto her, Fear not; go and do as thou hast said: but make me thereof a little cake first, and bring it unto me, and after make for thee and for thy son.

14 For thus saith the LORD God of Israel, the barrel of meal shall not waste, neither shall the cruse of oil fail, until the day that the LORD sendeth rain upon the earth.

15 And she went and did according to the saying of Elijah: and she, and he, and her house, did eat many days.

16 And the barrel of meal wasted not, neither did the cruse of oil fail, according to the word of the LORD, which he spake by Elijah.

17 ¶ And it came to pass after these things, that the son of the woman, the mistress of the house, fell sick; and his sickness was so sore, that there was no breath left in him.

18 And she said unto Elijah, What have I to do with thee, O thou man of God? art thou come unto me to call my sin to remembrance, and to slay my son?

19 And he said unto her, Give me thy son. And he took him out of her bosom, and carried him up into a loft where he abode, and laid him upon his own bed.

20 And he cried unto the LORD, and said, O LORD my God, hast thou also brought evil upon the widow with whom I sojourn, by slaying her son?

21 And he stretched himself upon the child three times, and cried unto the LORD, and said, O LORD, my God, I pray thee, let this child's soul come into him again.

22 And the LORD heard the voice of Elijah; and the soul of the child came into him again, and he revived.

23 And Elijah took the child, and brought him down out of the chamber into the house, and delivered him unto his mother, and Elijah said, See, thy son liveth.

24 And the woman said to Elijah, Now by this I know that thou art a man of God, and that the word of the LORD in thy mouth is truth.

1 In the extremity of the famine Elijah is sent to meet Ahab. 3 Ahab and Obadiah go different ways in search of pasture for the cattle. 7 Elijah meeteth Obadiah, and sendeth him to call Ahab. 18 Ahab after receiving a reproof, by Elijah's direction gathereth together all the prophets of Baal. 21 Elijah proposeth to decide by a sign from heaven between the LORD and Baal. 25 Baal's prophets invoke him in vain. Elijah praying is answered by fire from heaven: the people own the LORD

12 That we may eat it, and die.] For when that is gone, we have nothing else left to support us.

24 By this I know that thou art a man of God, &c.] Through the joy of having her son restored to her, she accounted this latter miracle much greater than the former.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XVII.

The miracle God wrought in behalf of Elijah, and, by his instrumentality, for the poor widow, betoken the care God took of his prophet, and also his regard for those that fear him; and that even in hard seasons, and in the time of dearth, he will satisfy and provide for his people; see Psalm xxxvii.

to be God: Baal's prophets are slain. 41 Elijah giveth Ahab notice of rain, which he obtaineth by prayer, and runneth before Ahab to Jezreel.

AND it came to pass after many days, that the word of the LORD came to Elijah in the third year, saying, Go, shew thyself unto Ahab; and I will send rain upon the earth.

2 And Elijah went to shew himself unto Ahab. And there was a sore famine in Samaria.

3 ¶ And Ahab called Obadiah, which was the governor of his house. (Now Obadiah feared the LORD greatly:

4 For it was so, when Jezebel cut off the prophets of the LORD, that Obadiah took an hundred prophets, and hid them by fifty in a cave, and fed them with bread and water.)

5 And Ahab said unto Obadiah, Go into the land, unto all fountains of water, and unto all brooks: peradventure we may find grass to save the horses and mules alive, that we lose not all the beasts.

6 So they divided the land between them to pass throughout it: Ahab went one way by himself, and Obadiah went another way by himself.

7 ¶ And as Obadiah was in the way, behold, Elijah met him: and he knew him, and fell on his face, and said, Art thou that my lord Elijah?

8 And he answered him, I am; go, tell thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here.

9 And he said, What have I sinned, that thou wouldest deliver thy servant into the hand of Ahab, to slay me?

10 As the LORD thy God liveth, there is no nation or kingdom, whither my lord hath not sent to seek thee: and when they said, He is not there; he took an oath of the kingdom and nation, that they found thee not.

11 And now thou sayest, Go, tell thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here.

12 And it shall come to pass, as soon as I am gone from thee, that the Spirit of the LORD shall carry thee whither I know not; and so when I come and tell Ahab, and he cannot find thee, he shall slay me: but I thy servant fear the LORD from my youth.

13 Was it not told my lord what I did when Jezebel slew the prophets of the LORD, how I hid an hundred men of the LORD's prophets by fifty in a cave, and fed them with bread and water?

14 And now thou sayest, Go, tell thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here: and he shall slay me.

15 And Elijah said, As the LORD of hosts liveth, before whom I stand, I will surely shew myself unto him to day.

16 So Obadiah went to meet Ahab, and told him: and Ahab went to meet Elijah.

17 And it came to pass, when Ahab saw Elijah, that Ahab said unto him, Art thou he that troubleth Israel?

18 ¶ And he answered, I have not troubled Israel; but thou, and thy father's house, in that ye have forsaken the commandments of the LORD, and thou hast followed Baalim.

19 Now therefore send, and gather to me all Israel unto mount Carmel, and the prophets of Baal four hundred and fifty, and the prophets of the groves four hundred, which eat at Jezebel's table.

20 So Ahab sent unto all the children of Israel, and gathered the prophets together unto mount Carmel.

21 ¶ And Elijah came unto all the people, and said, How long halt ye between two opinions? if the LORD

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XVIII.

3 Obadiah feared the LORD greatly.] He was a truly religious man, and worshipped God alone, and had a singular affection for his servants.

12 The Spirit of the Lord shall carry thee whither I know not, &c.] Shall snatch thee away from hence, as sometimes the prophets were suddenly transported, by an invisible power, to places far distant.

19 The prophets of the groves, &c.] By "the prophets of the groves," are understood the prophets of Astarte, the goddess of the Zidonians.

be God, follow him : but if Baal, then follow him. And the people answered him not a word.

22 Then said Elijah unto the people, I, even I only, remain a prophet of the LORD; but Baal's prophets are four hundred and fifty men.

23 Let them therefore give us two bullocks; and let them choose one bullock for themselves, and cut it in pieces, and lay it on wood, and put no fire under: and I will dress the other bullock, and lay it on wood, and put no fire under:

24 And call ye on the name of your gods, and I will call on the name of the LORD: and the God that answereth by fire, let him be God. And all the people answered and said, It is well spoken.

25 ¶ And Elijah said unto the prophets of Baal, Choose you one bullock for yourselves, and dress it first; for ye are many; and call on the name of your gods, but put no fire under.

26 And they took the bullock which was given them, and they dressed it, and called on the name of Baal from morning even until noon, saying, O Baal, hear us. But there was no voice, nor any that answered. And they leaped upon the altar which was made.

27 And it came to pass at noon, that Elijah mocked them, and said, Cry aloud: for he is a god; either he is talking, or he is pursuing, or he is in a journey, or peradventure he sleepeth, and must be awaked.

28 And they cried aloud, and cut themselves after their manner with knives and lancets, till the blood gushed out upon them.

29 And it came to pass, when midday was past, and they prophesied until the time of the offering of the evening sacrifice, that there was neither voice, nor any to answer, nor any that regarded.

30 ¶ And Elijah said unto all the people, Come near unto me. And all the people came near unto him. And he repaired the altar of the LORD that was broken down.

31 And Elijah took twelve stones, according to the number of the tribes of the sons of Jacob, unto whom the word of the LORD came, saying, Israel shall be thy name:

32 And with the stones he built an altar in the name of the LORD: and he made a trench about the altar, as great as would contain two measures of seed.

33 And he put the wood in order, and cut the bullock in pieces, and laid him on the wood, and said, Fill four barrels with water, and pour it on the burnt sacrifice, and on the wood,

34 And he said, Do it the second time. And they did it the second time. And he said, Do it the third time. And they did it the third time.

35 And the water ran round about the altar; and he filled the trench also with water.

36 And it came to pass at the time of the offering of the evening sacrifice, that Elijah the prophet came near, and said, LORD, God of Abraham, Isaac, and of Israel, let it be known this day that thou art God in Israel, and that I am thy servant, and that I have done all these things at thy word.

37 Hear me, O LORD, hear me, that this people may know that thou art the LORD God, and that thou hast turned their heart back again.

26 They leaped upon the altar, &c.] Some interpret it, they ran about as men in an ecstasy with prophetic fury, which put them into uncouth and disorderly motions.

27 Cry aloud: for he is a god; either, &c.] These expressions of the prophet are extremely keen and sarcastical, which could not fail of highly incensing the idolatrous priests.

29 They prophesied, &c.] Sang hymns and praises to Baal; which is sometimes meant by prophesying.

35 The water ran about the altar, &c.] Hereby the miracle became more conspicuous and convincing, and all suspicion of fallacy was removed.

42 He cast himself down upon the earth, and put his face between his knees.] He fell upon his knees, and bowed his head to the very ground, so that it touched his knees, in token of great humility in his addresses to God.

39 And when all the people saw it, they fell on their faces: and they said, The LORD, he is the God; the LORD, he is the God.

40 And Elijah said unto them, Take the prophets of Baal; let not one of them escape. And they took them: and Elijah brought them down to the brook Kishon, and slew them there.

41 ¶ And Elijah said unto Ahab, Get thee up, eat and drink; for there is a sound of abundance of rain.

42 So Ahab went up to eat and to drink. And Elijah went up to the top of Carmel; and he cast himself down upon the earth, and put his face between his knees, 43 And said to his servant, Go up now, look toward the sea. And he went up, and looked, and said, There is nothing. And he said, Go again seven times.

44 And it came to pass at the seventh time, that he said, Behold, there ariseth a little cloud out of the sea, like a man's hand. And he said, Go up, say unto Ahab, Prepare thy chariot, and get thee down, that the rain stop thee not.

45 And it came to pass in the mean while, that the heaven was black with clouds and wind, and there was a great rain. And Ahab rode, and went to Jezreel.

46 And the hand of the LORD was on Elijah; and he girded up his loins, and ran before Ahab to the entrance of Jezreel.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Jezebel threatening Elijah's life for having slain Baal's prophets, he fleeth to Beer-sheba. 4 In the wilderness he groweth weary of life, but being twice strengthened by food brought him by an angel, he reacheth Horeb after having fasted forty days and forty nights. 9 At Horeb God appeareth unto him, and commissioneth him to anoint Hazael, Jehu, and Elisha. 19 He meeteth Elisha, who taking leave of his friends followeth him.

AND Ahab told Jezebel all that Elijah had done, and withal how he had slain all the prophets with the sword.

2 Then Jezebel sent a messenger unto Elijah, saying, So let the gods do to me, and more also, if I make not thy life as the life of one of them by to morrow about this time.

3 And when he saw that, he arose, and went for his life, and came to Beer-sheba, which belongeth to Judah, and left his servant there.

4 ¶ But he himself went a day's journey into the wilderness, and came and sat down under a juniper tree: and he requested for himself that he might die; and said, It is enough; now, O LORD, take away my life; for I am not better than my fathers.

5 And as he lay and slept under a juniper-tree, behold, then an angel touched him, and said unto him, Arise and eat.

6 And he looked, and, behold, there was a cake baken on the coals, and a cruse of water at his head. And he did eat and drink, and laid him down again.

7 And the angel of the LORD came again the second time,

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XVIII.

As the prayer of Elijah shut and opened heaven, so let us remember, that the effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man will open the heart and hand of the God of mercy toward us.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XIX.

1 All the prophets, &c.] All the prophets of Baal only.

3 He arose, and went for his life, &c.] God might, upon this occasion, withdraw that spirit of intrepidity, wherewith at other times he fortified Elijah's mind, on purpose to shew him his natural imbecility, and his continual need of the divine assistance.

6 On the coals, &c.] It should be translated, On hot stones.

Before time, and touched him, and said, Arise and eat; because the journey is too great for thee.

CHRIST 906.

8 And he arose, and did eat and drink, and went in the strength of that meat forty days and forty nights unto Horeb the mount of God.

9 ¶ And he came thither unto a cave, and lodged there; and, behold, the word of the LORD came to him, and he said unto him, What doest thou here, Elijah?

10 And he said, I have been very jealous for the LORD God of hosts: for the children of Israel have forsaken thy covenant, thrown down thine altars, and slain thy prophets with the sword; and I, even I only, am left; and they seek my life to take it away.

11 And he said, Go forth, and stand upon the mount before the LORD. And, behold, the LORD passed by, and a great and strong wind rent the mountains, and brake in pieces the rocks before the LORD: but the LORD was not in the wind: and after the wind an earthquake; but the LORD was not in the earthquake:

12 And after the earthquake a fire; but the LORD was not in the fire: and after the fire a still small voice.

13 And it was so, when Elijah heard it, that he wrapped his face in his mantle, and went out, and stood in the entering in of the cave. And, behold, there came a voice unto him, and said, What doest thou here, Elijah?

14 And he said, I have been very jealous for the LORD God of hosts: because the children of Israel have forsaken thy covenant, thrown down thine altars, and slain thy prophets with the sword; and I, even I only, am left; and they seek my life to take it away.

15 And the LORD said unto him, Go, return on thy way to the wilderness of Damascus: and when thou comest, anoint Hazael to be king over Syria:

16 And Jehu the son of Nimshi shalt thou anoint to be king over Israel: and Elisha the son of Shaphat of Abel-meholah shalt thou anoint to be prophet in thy room.

17 And it shall come to pass, that him that escapeth the sword of Hazael shall Jehu slay: and him that escapeth from the sword of Jehu shall Elisha slay.

18 Yet I have left me seven thousand in Israel, all the knees which have not bowed unto Baal, and every mouth which hath not kissed him.

19 ¶ So he departed thence, and found Elisha the son of Shaphat, who was plowing with twelve yoke of oxen before him, and he with the twelfth: and Elijah passed by him, and cast his mantle upon him.

20 And he left the oxen, and ran after Elijah, and said, Let me, I pray thee, kiss my father and my mother, and then I will follow thee. And he said unto him, Go back again: for what have I done to thee?

21 And he returned back from him, and took a yoke of oxen, and slew them, and boiled their flesh with the instruments of the oxen, and gave unto the people, and they did eat. Then he arose, and went after Elijah, and ministered unto him.

CHAP. XX.

1 Ben-hadad king of Syria, not content with Ahab's submissive homage, warreth against Samaria. 13 By a prophet's direction the Syrians are smitten. 22 According as the prophet had forewarned Ahab, the Syrians next year came against him in Aphek, in confidence of 12 After the fire a still small voice.] The divine nature is here represented as inclined not to terrify and destroy, but placidly to invite and preserve: God easily lays aside his anger, and delights to exercise mercy.

19 Who was plowing with twelve yoke of oxen—and cast his mantle upon him.] Elisha was taken from the plough to be a prophet, in like manner among the Romans afterwards, some were fetched from thence to be consuls and dictators. The mantle was the proper habit of prophets, and therefore Elijah's calling it upon Elisha was the ceremony here used for his inauguration.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XIX.

From the contents of this chapter we may perceive, that God loves and comforts those who afflict themselves to promote his glory; better success in the plain, than on the hills. 28 A prophet declaring it beforehand to be a special judgment on them, they are again defeated with a great slaughter. 31 They sue submissively to Ahab, who receiveth Ben-hadad kindly, and sendeth him away with a covenant of peace. 35 A prophet, having first by a parable brought Ahab to condemn himself, denounceth God's judgment against him for his unseasonable lenity.

AND Ben-hadad the king of Syria gathered all his host together: and there were thirty and two kings with him, and horses, and chariots: and he went up and besieged Samaria, and warred against it.

2 And he sent messengers to Ahab king of Israel into the city, and said unto him, Thus saith Ben-hadad,

3 Thy silver and thy gold is mine; thy wives also and thy children, even the goodliest, are mine.

4 And the king of Israel answered and said, My lord, O king, according to thy saying, I am thine, and all that I have.

5 And the messengers came again, and said, Thus speaketh Ben-hadad, saying, Although I have sent unto thee, saying, Thou shalt deliver me thy silver, and thy gold, and thy wives, and thy children;

6 Yet I will send my servants unto thee to morrow about this time, and they shall search thine house, and the houses of thy servants; and it shall be, that whatsoever is pleasant in thine eyes, they shall put it in their hand, and take it away.

7 Then the king of Israel called all the elders of the land, and said, Mark, I pray you, and see how this man seeketh mischief: for he sent unto me for my wives, and for my children, and for my silver, and for my gold; and I denied him not.

8 And all the elders and all the people said unto him, Harken not unto him, nor consent.

9 Wherefore he said unto the messengers of Ben-hadad, Tell my lord the king, All that thou didst send for to thy servant at the first I will do: but this thing I may not do. And the messenger departed, and brought him word again.

10 And Ben-hadad sent unto him, and said, The gods do so unto me, and more also, if the dust of Samaria shall suffice for handfuls for all the people that follow me.

11 And the king of Israel answered and said, Tell him, Let not him that girdeth on his harness boast himself as he that putteth it off.

12 And it came to pass, when Ben-hadad heard this message, as he was drinking, he and the kings in the pavilions, that he said unto his servants, Set yourselves in array. And they set themselves in array against the city.

13 ¶ And, behold, there came a prophet unto Ahab king of Israel, saying, Thus saith the LORD, Hast thou seen all this great multitude? behold, I will deliver it into thine hand this day; and thou shalt know that I am the LORD.

14 And Ahab said, By whom? And he said, Thus saith the LORD, Even by the young men of the princes of the provinces. Then he said, Who shall order the battle? And he answered, Thou.

15 Then he numbered the young men of the princes of the provinces, and they were two hundred and thirty two: and after them he numbered all the people, even all the children of Israel, being seven thousand.

16 And that there is always a remnant of his elect people who adhere to his precept; therefore we should trust in the Lord at all times.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XX.

1 Ben-hadad] That is, "the son of Hadad," who was of the seed royal of Edom, and escaped into Egypt when David slew all the males in Edom; see chap. xi. 17.

And besieged Samaria, &c.] He went up to besiege it.

7 I denied him not.] When the public good was concerned, he would do nothing without the consent of the elders of the people.

14 The young men of the princes of the provinces, &c.] This battle was to be won by young men, and not by old experienced officers, that thereby it might appear that the victory was wholly owing to God's gracious and powerful providence, and not the valour or strength of the instruments.

16 And they went out at noon. But Ben-hadad was drinking himself drunk in the pavilions, he and the kings, the thirty and two kings that helped him.

17 And the young men of the princes of the provinces went out first; and Ben-hadad sent out, and they told him, saying, There are men come out of Samaria.

18 And he said, whether they be come out for peace, take them alive; or whether they be come out for war, take them alive.

19 So these young men of the princes of the provinces came out of the city, and the army which followed them.

20 And they slew every one his man: and the Syrians fled; and Israel pursued them: and Ben-hadad the king of Syria escaped on an horse with the horsemen.

21 And the king of Israel went out, and smote the horses and chariots, and slew the Syrians with a great slaughter.

22 ¶ And the prophet came to the king of Israel, and said unto him, Go, strengthen thyself, and mark, and see what thou doest: for at the return of the year the king of Syria will come up against thee.

23 And the servants of the king of Syria said unto him, Their gods are gods of the hills; therefore they were stronger than we; but let us fight against them in the plain, and surely we shall be stronger than they.

24 And do this thing, Take the kings away, every man out of his place, and put captains in their rooms:

25 And number thee an army, like the army that thou hast lost, horse for horse, and chariot for chariot: and we will fight against them in the plain, and surely we shall be stronger than they. And he hearkened unto their voice, and did so.

26 And it came to pass at the return of the year, that Ben-hadad numbered the Syrians, and went up to Aphek, to fight against Israel.

27 And the children of Israel were numbered, and were all present, and went against them: and the children of Israel pitched before them like two little flocks of kids; but the Syrians filled the country.

28 ¶ And there came a man of God, and spake unto the king of Israel, and said, Thus saith the LORD, Because the Syrians have said, The LORD is God of the hills, but he is not God of the vallies, therefore will I deliver all this great multitude into thine hand, and ye shall know that I am the LORD.

29 And they pitched one over against the other seven days. And so it was, that in the seventh day the battle was joined: and the children of Israel slew of the Syrians, an hundred thousand footmen in one day.

30 But the rest fled to Aphek, into the city; and there a wall fell upon twenty and seven thousand of the men that were left. And Ben-hadad fled, and came into the city, into an inner chamber.

31 ¶ And his servant said unto him, Behold, now, we have heard that the kings of the house of Israel are merciful kings: let us, I pray thee, put sackcloth on our loins, and ropes upon our heads, and go out to the king of Israel: peradventure he will save thy life.

32 So they girded sackcloth on their loins, and put ropes on their heads, and came to the king of Israel, and said, Thy servant Ben-hadad saith, I pray thee, let me live. And he said, Is he yet alive? he is my brother.

33 Now the men did diligently observe whether any thing would come from him, and did hastily catch it: and they said, Thy brother Ben-hadad. Then he said, Go ye, bring him. Then Ben-hadad came forth to him; and he caused him to come up into the chariot.

34 And Ben-hadad said unto him, The cities, which my father took from thy father, I will restore: and thou shalt make streets for thee in Damascus, as my father made in Samaria. Then said Ahab, I will send thee away with this covenant. So he made a covenant with him, and sent him away.

35 ¶ And a certain man of the sons of the prophets said unto his neighbour in the word of the LORD, Smite me, I pray thee. And the man refused to smite him.

36 Then said he unto him, Because thou hast not obeyed the voice of the LORD, behold, as soon as thou art departed from me, a lion shall slay thee. And as soon as he was departed from him, a lion found him, and slew him.

37 Then he found another man, and said, Smite me, I pray thee. And the man smote him, so that in smiting he wounded him.

38 So the prophet departed, and waited for the king by the way, and disguised himself with ashes upon his face.

39 And as the king passed by, he cried unto the king: and he said, Thy servant went out into the midst of the battle; and, behold, a man turned aside, and brought a man unto me, and said, Keep this man: if by any means he be missing, then shall thy life be for his life, or else thou shalt pay a talent of silver.

40 And as thy servant was busy here and there, he was gone. And the king of Israel said unto him, So shall thy judgment be; thyself hast decided it.

41 And he hasted, and took the ashes away from his face; and the king of Israel discerned him that he was of the prophets.

42 And he said unto him, Thus saith the LORD, Because thou hast let go out of thy hand a man whom I appointed to utter destruction, therefore thy life shall go for his life, and thy people for his people.

43 And the king of Israel went to his house heavy and displeased, and came to Samaria.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Ahab is sore displeased at being refused the vineyard of Naboth. 5 Jezebel comforteth him, and procureth Naboth to be stoned to death upon a false accusation of blasphemy. 15 She sendeth Ahab to take possession of the vineyard. 17 Elijah is sent to meet him, and denounceth God's judgments against Ahab and Jezebel for their wickedness. 27 Ahab humbling himself before God, the punishment is deferred to his son's days.

AND it came to pass after these things, that Naboth the Jezreelite had a vineyard, which was in Jezreel, hard by the palace of Ahab king of Samaria.

2 And Ahab spake unto Naboth, saying, Give me thy vineyard, that I may have it for a garden of herbs, because it is near unto my house: and I will give thee for it a better vineyard than it; or, if it seem good to thee, I will give thee the worth of it in money.

3 And Naboth said to Ahab, The LORD forbid it me, that I should give the inheritance of my fathers unto thee.

4 And Ahab came into his house heavy and displeased because of the word which Naboth the Jezreelite had spoken to him: for he had said, I will not give thee the inheritance of my fathers. And he laid him down upon

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ■ Chap. XX.

This history shews that God punishes such as unjustly fall upon others; and gives marks of his bounty to the greatest sinners, to excite them to repentance, and to give glory to his holy name.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXI.

3 The Lord forbid—that I should give the inheritance of my fathers unto thee.] In this act he concluded he should both offend God, and injure his posterity; which he being a pious and religious man, durst not adventure to do.

26 Went up to Aphek, &c.] Aphek or Aphaca was situate in Libanus, upon the river Adonis, between Heliopolis and Biblos.

32 They girded sackcloth on their loins, and put ropes on their heads, &c.] The sackcloth was a token of great sorrow for what they had done, and the halters a token of subjection to whatever punishment Ahab should think fit to inflict upon them.

36 A lion found him and slew him.] Though he knew the indispensability of God's commands, and that this was the very thing that he enjoined, yet out of an indiscreet pity and compassion to his brother, he refused to comply.

Before upon his bed, and turned away his face, and would eat no bread.

CHRIST 899.

5 ¶ But Jezebel his wife came to him, and said unto him, Why is thy spirit so sad, that thou eatest no bread?

6 And he said unto her, Because I spake unto Naboth the Jezreelite, and said unto him, Give me thy vineyard for money; or else, if it please thee, I will give thee another vineyard for it: and he answered, I will not give thee my vineyard.

7 And Jezebel his wife said unto him, Dost thou now govern the kingdom of Israel? arise, and eat bread, and let thine heart be merry: I will give thee the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite.

8 So she wrote letters in Ahab's name, and sealed them with his seal, and sent the letters unto the elders and to the nobles that were in his city, dwelling with Naboth.

9 And she wrote in the letters, saying, Proclaim a fast, and set Naboth on high among the people:

10 And set two men, sons of Belial, before him, to bear witness against him, saying, Thou didst blaspheme God and the king. And then carry him out, and stone him, that he may die.

11 And the men of his city, even the elders and the nobles who were the inhabitants in his city, did as Jezebel had sent unto them, and as it was written in the letters which she had sent unto them.

12 They proclaimed a fast, and set Naboth on high among the people.

13 And there came in two men, children of Belial, and sat before him: and the men of Belial witnessed against him, even against Naboth, in the presence of the people, saying, Naboth did blaspheme God and the king. Then they carried him forth out of the city, and stoned him with stones that he died.

14 Then they sent to Jezebel, saying, Naboth is stoned, and is dead.

15 ¶ And it came to pass, when Jezebel heard that Naboth was stoned, and was dead, that Jezebel said to Ahab, Arise, take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, which he refused to give thee for money: for Naboth is not alive, but dead.

16 And it came to pass, when Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, that Ahab rose up to go down to the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, to take possession of it.

17 ¶ And the word of the LORD came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying,

18 Arise, go down to meet Ahab king of Israel, which is in Samaria: behold, he is in the vineyard of Naboth, whither he is gone down to possess it.

19 And thou shalt speak unto him, saying, Thus saith the LORD, Hast thou killed, and also taken possession? And thou shalt speak unto him, saying, Thus saith the LORD, In the place where dogs licked the blood of Naboth shall dogs lick thy blood, even thine.

20 And Ahab said to Elijah, Hast thou found me, O mine enemy? And he answered, I have found thee: because thou hast sold thyself to work evil in the sight of the LORD.

21 Behold, I will bring evil upon thee, and will take away thy posterity, and will cut off from Ahab him that pisseth against the wall, and him that is shut up and left in Israel,

22 And will make thine house like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and like the house of Baasha the son of Ahijah, for the provocation wherewith thou hast provoked me to anger, and made Israel to sin.

23 And of Jezebel also spake the LORD, saying, The dogs shall eat Jezebel by the wall of Jezreel.

24 Him that dieth of Ahab in the city the dogs shall eat; and him that dieth in the field shall the fowls of the air eat.

25 But there was none like unto Ahab, which did sell himself to work wickedness in the sight of the LORD, whom Jezebel his wife stirred up.

26 And he did very abominably in following idols, according to all things as did the Amorites, whom the LORD cast out before the children of Israel.

27 ¶ And it came to pass, when Ahab heard those words, that he rent his clothes, and put sackcloth upon his flesh, and fasted, and lay in sackcloth, and went softly.

28 And the word of the LORD came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying,

29 Seest thou how Ahab humbleth himself before me? because Ahab humbleth himself before me, I will not bring the evil in his days: but in his son's days will I bring the evil upon his house

CHAP. XXII.

Ahab persuadeth Jehoshaphat to go with him against Ramoth-gilead. 5 Jehoshaphat proposing to enquire of the LORD, the false prophets assure Ahab of success. 7 At Jehoshaphat's request Micaiah is sent for: 15 who foretelleth Ahab's death, and sheweth that his false prophets were possessed by a lying spirit. 24 He is ill treated, and sent to prison. 29 Ahab goeth in disguise to the battle. 31 Jehoshaphat being mistaken for Ahab narrowly escapeth being slain: 34 Ahab is killed by an arrow shot at a venture: the people are dispersed by proclamation. 37 Dogs lick up Ahab's blood according to Elijah's prophecy. 39 The acts of Ahab, who is succeeded by Ahaziah. 41 Jehoshaphat's good reign: his acts. 50 Jehoshaphat dieth, and is succeeded by Jehoram. 51 Ahaziah's wicked reign.

AND they continued three years without war between Syria and Israel.

2 And it came to pass in the third year, that Jehoshaphat the king of Judah came down to the king of Israel.

3 And the king of Israel said unto his servants, Know ye that Ramoth in Gilead is our's, and we be still, and take it not out of the hand of the king of Syria?

4 And he said unto Jehoshaphat, Wilt thou go with me to battle to Ramoth-gilead? And Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, I am as thou art, my people as thy people, my horses as thy horses.

5 ¶ And Jehoshaphat said unto the king of Israel, Enquire, I pray thee, at the word of the LORD to day.

6 Then the king of Israel gathered the prophets together, about four hundred men, and said unto them, Shall I go against Ramoth-gilead to battle, or shall I forbear? And they said, Go up? for the LORD shall deliver it into the hand of the king.

7 ¶ And Jehoshaphat said, Is there not here a prophet of the LORD besides, that we might enquire of him?

8 And the king of Israel said unto Jehoshaphat, There is yet one man, Micaiah the son of Imlah, by whom we may enquire of the LORD: but I hate him; for he doth not prophesy good concerning me, but evil. And Jehoshaphat said, Let not the king say so.

9 Then

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXI.

In this chapter are solemn cautions against covetousness, rapine, murder, &c. and also shews us, that punishment follows close after great crimes, and especially violence, injustice, and shedding of innocent blood.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES on CHAP. XXII.

7 Jehoshaphat said, Is there not here a prophet of the Lord besides, &c.] Jehoshaphat's purpose was not to inquire of the priests of the grove, but of some true prophet of the Lord; for he was too religious a man to attempt any thing of this kind without a divine direction and approbation.

6 And he answered, I will not give thee my vineyard.] His report implies as if Naboth's answer was a surly refusal, but ungenerously conceals the reasons which he had assigned.

7 Dost thou now govern the kingdom of Israel, &c.] "Doth it become a king to beg, and not rather command."

13 Saying, Naboth did blaspheme God and the king, &c.] They accused Naboth of reviling the king, that Ahab might get possession of his estate by confiscation.

23 By the wall of Jezreel.] In the territory where Naboth was falsely accused, and unjustly condemned.

29 Because he humbleth himself before me, &c.] This instance of the divine lenity is left upon record, to encourage the first dawns of repentance, and to assure us that our good and gracious God will not break the bruised reed, nor quench the smoking flax.

9 Then the king of Israel called an officer, and said, Hasten hither Micaiah the son of Imlah.

10 And the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah sat each on his throne, having put on their robes, in a void place in the entrance of the gate of Samaria; and all the prophets prophesied before them.

11 And Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah made him horns of iron: and he said, Thus saith the LORD, With these shalt thou push the Syrians, until thou have consumed them.

12 And all the prophets prophesied so, saying, Go up to Ramoth-gilead, and prosper: for the LORD shall deliver it into the king's hand.

13 And the messenger that was gone to call Micaiah spake unto him, saying, Behold now, the words of the prophets declare good unto the king with one mouth: let thy word, I pray thee, be like the word of one of them, and speak that which is good.

14 And Micaiah said, As the LORD liveth, what the LORD saith unto me, that will I speak.

15 ¶ So he came to the king. And the king said unto him, Micaiah, shall we go against Ramoth-gilead to battle, or shall we forbear? And he answered him, Go, and prosper: for the LORD shall deliver it into the hand of the king.

16 And the king said unto him, How many times shall I adjure thee that thou tell me nothing but that which is true in the name of the LORD?

17 And he said, I saw all Israel scattered upon the hills, as sheep that have not a shepherd: and the LORD said, These have no master: let them return every man to his house in peace.

18 And the king of Israel said unto Jehoshaphat, Did I not tell thee that he would prophesy no good concerning me, but evil?

19 And he said, Hear thou therefore the word of the LORD: I saw the LORD sitting on his throne, and all the host of heaven standing by him on his right hand and on his left.

20 And the LORD said, Who shall persuade Ahab, that he may go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead? And one said on this manner, and another said on that manner.

21 And there came forth a spirit, and stood before the LORD, and said, I will persuade him.

22 And the LORD said unto him, Wherewith? And he said, I will go forth, and I will be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets. And he said, Thou shalt persuade him, and prevail also: go forth, and do so.

23 Now therefore, behold, the LORD hath put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these thy prophets, and the LORD hath spoken evil concerning thee.

24 ¶ But Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah went near, and smote Micaiah on the cheek, and said, Which way went the Spirit of the LORD from me to speak unto thee?

25 And Micaiah said, Behold, thou shalt see in that day, when thou shalt go into an inner chamber to hide thyself.

26 And the king of Israel said, Take Micaiah, and carry him back unto Amon the governor of the city, and to Joash the king's son;

27 And say, Thus saith the king, Put this fellow in the prison, and feed him with bread of affliction and with water of affliction, until I come in peace.

28 And Micaiah said, If thou return at all in peace, the LORD hath not spoken by me. And he said, Harken, O people, every one of you.

15 Go and prosper: for the Lord shall deliver it into the hand of the king.] As if he had said, Since thou dost not seek to know the truth, but only to please thyself, go to the battle, thy lying prophets advise thee, expect the success which they promise thee, and try the truth of their predictions, by dear-bought experience.

19 I saw the Lord sitting on his throne, &c.] This speech of Micaiah's was no more than a parabolical representation of a certain event, which not long after came to pass: the intent was, to shew the reason why the predictions of the prophets on this occasion were

29 ¶ So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah went up to Ramoth-gilead.

30 And the king of Israel said unto Jehoshaphat, I will disguise myself, and enter into the battle; but put thou on thy robes. And the king of Israel disguised himself, and went into the battle.

31 ¶ But the king of Syria commanded his thirty and two captains that had rule over his chariots, saying, Fight neither with small nor great, save only with the king of Israel.

32 And it came to pass, when the captains of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat, that they said, Surely it is the king of Israel. And they turned aside to fight against him: and Jehoshaphat cried out.

33 And it came to pass, when the captains of the chariots perceived that it was not the king of Israel, that they turned back from pursuing him.

34 ¶ And a certain man drew a bow at a venture, and smote the king of Israel between the joints of the harness: wherefore he said unto the driver of his chariot, Turn thine hand, and carry me out of the host; for I am wounded.

35 And the battle increased that day: and the king was stayed up in his chariot against the Syrians, and died at even: and the blood ran out of the wound into the midst of the chariot.

36 And there went a proclamation throughout the host about the going down of the sun, saying, Every man to his city, and every man to his own country.

37 ¶ So the king died, and was brought to Samaria; and they buried the king in Samaria.

38 And one washed the chariot in the pool of Samaria; and the dogs licked up his blood; and they washed his armour; according unto the word of the LORD which he spake.

39 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Ahab, and all that he did, and the ivory house which he made, and all the cities that he built, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

40 So Ahab slept with his fathers; and Ahaziah his son reigned in his stead.

41 ¶ And Jehoshaphat the son of Aza began to reign over Judah in the fourth year of Ahab king of Israel.

42 Jehoshaphat was thirty and five years old when he began to reign; and he reigned twenty and five years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi.

43 And he walked in all the ways of Aza his father; he turned not aside from it, doing that which was right in the eyes of the LORD: nevertheless the high places were not taken away; for the people offered and burnt incense yet in the high places.

44 And Jehoshaphat made peace with the king of Israel.

45 Now the rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, and his might that he shewed, and how he warred, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

46 And the remnant of the sodomites, which remained in the days of his father Aza, he took out of the land.

47 There was then no king in Edom: a deputy was king.

48 Jehoshaphat made ships of Tharshish to go to Ophir for gold: but they went not; for the ships were broken at Ezion-geber.

49 Then said Ahaziah the son of Ahab unto Jehoshaphat, false; even because they were moved, not by the spirit of truth, but that of delusion.

25 To hide thyself.] For fear he should be seized and punished as a false prophet, as the instigator of Ahab to go up to Ramoth-gilead, and as the cause of his death.

30 I will disguise myself, &c.] By this stratagem, Ahab thought to evade the effect of Micaiah's prophecy.

39 The ivory house which he made, &c.] Not built of ivory, but only inlaid with it.

Before CHRIST 913. 889. 898. shaphat, Let my servants go with thy servants in the ships. But Jehoshaphat would not.
50 ¶ And Jehoshaphat slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father: and Jehoram his son reigned in his stead.
51 ¶ Ahaziah the son of Ahab began to reign over Israel in Samaria the seventeenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and reigned two years over Israel.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXII.
From God's dealings towards Ahab, we may remark, that the Lord is not slack concerning his threatenings, but will fulfil them in his 52 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the way of his father, and in the way of his mother, and in the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin:

The Second Book of the KINGS,

COMMONLY CALLED

The Fourth Book of the KINGS.

THE ARGUMENT.

The history of the two kingdoms of Israel and Judah, is continued in this book, until the dissolution of the first by the Assyrians, and the captivity of the other by the Chaldeans; and comprises the space of about one hundred and sixty-eight years.

CHAP. I.

1 Moab rebelleth. 2 Ahaziah's messengers sent to enquire concerning the event of his sickness of Baal-zebub, are turned back by Elijah with a sentence of death from the LORD. 5 Ahaziah, apprized of the cause of their quick return, sendeth to apprehend Elijah, who twice alleth down fire from heaven upon those that come against him. 13 Moved by the humble suit of the third captain, and encouraged by an angel, he goeth to the king, and assureth him of his approaching death. 17 Ahaziah dieth, and is succeeded by Jehoram.

896. THEN Moab rebelled against Israel after the death of Ahab.

2 ¶ And Ahaziah fell down through a lattice in his upper chamber that was in Samaria, and was sick: and he sent messengers, and said unto them, Go, enquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron, whether I shall recover of this disease.

3 But the angel of the LORD said to Elijah the Tishbite, Arise, go up to meet the messengers of the king of Samaria, and say unto them, Is it not because there is not a God in Israel, that ye go to enquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron?

4 Now therefore thus saith the LORD, Thou shalt not come down from that bed on which thou art gone up, but shalt surely die. And Elijah departed.

5 ¶ And when the messengers turned back unto him, he said unto them, Why are ye now turned back?

6 And they said unto him, There came a man up to meet us, and said unto us, Go, turn again unto the king, that sent you, and say unto him, Thus saith the LORD, Is it not because there is not a God in Israel, that thou sendest to enquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron? therefore thou shalt not come down from that bed on which thou art gone up, but shalt surely die.

7 And he said unto them, What manner of man was he which came up to meet you, and told you these words?

8 And they answered him, He was an hairy man, and girt with a girdle of leather about his loins. And he said, It is Elijah the Tishbite.

9 Then the king sent unto him a captain of fifty with his fifty. And he went up to him: and, behold, he sat on the top of an hill. And he spake unto him, Thou man of God, the king hath said, Come down.

10 And Elijah answered and said to the captain of fifty, If I be a man of God, then let fire come down from heaven, and consume thee and thy fifty. And there came down fire from heaven, and consumed him and his fifty.

11 Again also he sent unto him another captain of fifty with his fifty. And he answered and said unto him, O man of God, thus hath the king said, Come down quickly.

12 And Elijah answered and said unto them, If I be a man of God, let fire come down from heaven, and consume thee and thy fifty. And the fire of God came down from heaven, and consumed him and his fifty.

13 ¶ And he sent again a captain of the third fifty with his fifty. And the third captain of fifty went up, and came and fell on his knees before Elijah, and besought him, and said unto him, O man of God, I pray thee, let my life, and the life of these fifty thy servants, be precious in thy sight.

14 Behold, there came fire down from heaven, and burnt up the two captains of the former fifties with their fifties: therefore let my life now be precious in thy sight.

15 And the angel of the LORD said unto Elijah, Go down with him: be not afraid of him. And he arose, and went down with him unto the king.

16 And

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. I.

8 He was an hairy man, &c.] It is probable that he is so described, because he was clothed with a hairy garment, which the prophets usually wore; see Isaiah xx. 2. Zech. xiii. 4. Matt. iii. 4.

10 Then let fire come down from heaven, &c.] It would be more properly translated, Then fire will come down from heaven.

12 Let fire come down from heaven, &c.] Elijah did not call for fire from heaven, out of any hasty passion or revenge, but purely in obedience to the holy Spirit wherewith he was animated, and in zeal for the honour and glory of God, which, in the person of his prophet, was grossly abused.

17 Jehoram

16 And he said unto him, Thus saith the LORD, Forasmuch as thou hast sent messengers to enquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron, is it not because there is no God in Israel to enquire of his word? therefore thou shalt not come down off that bed on which thou art gone up, but shalt surely die.
17 ¶ So he died according to the word of the LORD which Elijah had spoken. And Jehoram reigned in his stead, in the second year of Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, because he had no son.
18 Now the rest of the acts of Ahaziah which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

C H A P. II.

1 Elijah, having tried in vain to persuade Elisha to leave him, with his mantle divideth Jordan, and they both pass over on dry ground. 9 Elijah conditionally alloweth Elisha's request of a double portion of his spirit, and is taken up into heaven in a fiery chariot. 12 Elisha seeth it, and taking up Elijah's mantle divideth again the waters of Jordan, and is acknowledged for Elijah's successor. 16 The young prophets with difficulty obtain leave to seek for Elijah, and return without finding him. 19 Elisha with salt healeth the unwholesome waters of Jericho. 23 Bears destroy the children that mocked him.

AND it came to pass, when the LORD would take up Elijah into heaven by a whirlwind, that Elijah went with Elisha from Gilgal.
2 And Elijah said unto Elisha, Tarry here, I pray thee; for the LORD hath sent me to Beth-el. And Elisha said unto him, As the LORD liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee. So they went down to Beth-el.
3 And the sons of the prophets that were at Beth-el came forth to Elisha, and said unto him, Knowest thou that the LORD will take away thy master from thy head to day? And he said, Yea, I know it; hold ye your peace.
4 And Elijah said unto him, Elisha, tarry here, I pray thee; for the LORD hath sent me to Jericho. And he said, As the LORD liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee. So they came to Jericho.
5 And the sons of the prophets that were at Jericho came to Elisha, and said unto him, Knowest thou that the LORD will take away thy master from thy head to day? And he answered, Yea, I know it; hold ye your peace.
6 And Elijah said unto him, Tarry, I pray thee, here; for the LORD hath sent me to Jordan. And he said, As the LORD liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee. And they two went on.
7 And fifty men of the sons of the prophets went, and stood to view afar off: and they two stood by Jordan.
¶ And Elijah took his mantle, and wrapped it together, and smote the waters, and they were divided hither and thither, so that they two went over on dry ground.
¶ And it came to pass, when they were gone over, that Elijah said unto Elisha, Ask what I shall do for thee, before I be taken away from thee. And Elisha said, I pray thee, let a double portion of thy spirit be upon me. Before CHRIST 896.

10 And he said, Thou hast asked a hard thing: nevertheless, if thou see me when I am taken from thee, it shall be so unto thee; but if not, it shall not be so.
11 And it came to pass, as they still went on, and talked, that, behold, there appeared a chariot of fire, and horses of fire, and parted them both asunder; and Elijah went up by a whirlwind into heaven.
12 ¶ And Elisha saw it, and he cried, My father, my father, the chariot of Israel, and the horsemen thereof. And he saw him no more: and he took hold of his own clothes, and rent them in two pieces.
13 He took up also the mantle of Elijah that fell from him, and went back, and stood by the bank of Jordan;
14 And he took the mantle of Elijah that fell from him, and smote the waters, and said, Where is the LORD God of Elijah? and when he also had smitten the waters, they parted hither and thither: and Elisha went over.
15 And when the sons of the prophets which were to view at Jericho saw him, they said, The spirit of Elijah doth rest on Elisha. And they came to meet him, and bowed themselves to the ground before him.
16 ¶ And they said unto him, Behold now, there be with thy servants fifty strong men; let them go, we pray thee, and seek thy master: lest peradventure the Spirit of the LORD hath taken him up, and cast him upon some mountain, or into some valley. And he said, Ye shall not send.
17 And when they urged him till he was ashamed, he said, Send. They sent therefore fifty men; and they sought three days, but found him not.
18 And when they came again to him, (for he tarried at Jericho,) he said unto them, Did I not say unto you, Go not?
19 ¶ And the men of the city said unto Elisha, Behold, I pray thee, the situation of this city is pleasant, as my lord seeth: but the water is naught, and the ground barren.
20 And he said, Bring me a new cruse, and put salt therein. And they brought it to him.
21 And he went forth unto the spring of the waters, and cast the salt in there, and said, Thus saith the LORD, I have healed these waters; there shall not be from thence any more death or barren land.
22 So the waters were healed unto this day, according to the saying of Elisha which he spake.
23 ¶ And he went up from thence unto Beth-el: and as he was going up by the way, there came forth little children out of the city, and mocked him, and said unto him, Go up, thou bald head; go up, thou bald head.
24 And he turned back, and looked on them, and cursed them in the name of the LORD. And there came forth two she bears out of the wood, and tare forty and two children of them.
25 And

17 Jehoram reigned in his stead, in the second year of Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, &c.] To remove the obscurity of this passage, it must be remembered, that Jehoram the son of Ahab might begin his reign in the second year of Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat, that is, in the second year that he reigned with his father, who was then alive; and Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat may be said to have begun his reign in the fifth year of Jehoram the son of Ahab, meaning the time when, after his father's death, he began to reign alone.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. I.
In the case of Ahaziah, who, instead of humbling himself by the corrections of God, consulted idols in his sickness, we perceive, that the wicked are sometimes hardened by chastisements, till, if repentance prevents not, destruction overtakes them.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. II.
¶ The sons of the prophets that were at Beth-el] By "the sons of the prophets," we are to understand, the scholars of the prophets, such as they educated and trained up in religion and virtue, upon whom God, by degrees, bestowed the spirit of prophecy.

Knowest thou that the Lord will take away thy master from thy head to day? &c.] That is, from being thy head; for to be at the head is to be as the master, as to be at the feet is to be the scholar.
9 Let a double portion of thy spirit be upon me.] He desired much more of his spirit as any of the rest of the sons of the prophets; namely, the portion of the firstborn, which was double.
11 There appeared a chariot of fire, and horses of fire, &c.] The same almighty power, which, at the last trump will make our corruptible nature put on incorruption, and our bodies immortality, changed Elijah's terrestrial into a celestial body, and endowed it with faculties necessary for the enjoyment of those paradisaical mansions in the great Jehovah's kingdom to which it was passing.
21 And cast the salt in, &c.] The unlikeliness of the means here made use of enhances, or is rather an additional miracle; for salt naturally makes water less palatable, and the ground more barren.
24 And tare forty and two children of them.] God, in terror to other idolaters, as well as for the honour and authority of his prophets, thought proper to punish these profane youths in this remarkable manner, and confirm the word which had gone out of his servant's mouth.

Before CHRIST 896. 25 And he went from thence to mount Carmel, and from thence he returned to Samaria.

C H A P. III.

Jehoram's evil reign. 4 Mesha king of Moab rebelleth. 6 Jehoram with Jehoshaphat and the king of Edom goeth against him; being distressed for want of water they apply to Elisha, who promiseth them water, and assureth them of victory. 20 The water cometh in great plenty, and is mistaken by the Moabites for blood; they come in hopes of spoil, and are entirely defeated. 26 The king of Moab, failing in his attempt to break through unto the king of Edom, sacrificeth his son, and raiseth the siege.

NOW Jehoram the son of Ahab began to reign over Israel in Samaria the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and reigned twelve years.

And he wrought evil in the sight of the LORD; but not like his father, and like his mother: for he put away the image of Baal that his father had made.

Nevertheless he cleaved unto the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, which made Israel to sin; he departed not therefrom.

¶ And Mesha king of Moab was a sheepmaster, and rendered unto the king of Israel an hundred thousand lambs, and an hundred thousand rams, with the wool.

But it came to pass, when Ahab was dead, that the king of Moab rebelled against the king of Israel.

¶ And king Jehoram went out of Samaria the same time, and numbered all Israel.

895. 7 And he went and sent to Jehoshaphat the king of Judah, saying, The king of Moab hath rebelled against me: wilt thou go with me against Moab to battle? And he said, I will go up: I am as thou art, my people as thy people, and my horses as thy horses.

8 And he said, Which way shall we go up? And he answered, The way through the wilderness of Edom.

9 So the king of Israel went, and the king of Judah, and the king of Edom: and they fetched a compass of seven days journey: and there was no water for the host, and for the cattle that followed them.

10 And the king of Israel said, Alas! that the LORD hath called these three kings together, to deliver them into the hand of Moab!

11 But Jehoshaphat said, Is there not here a prophet of the LORD, that we may enquire of the LORD by him? And one of the king of Israel's servants answered and said, Here is Elisha the son of Shaphat, which poured water on the hands of Elijah.

12 And Jehoshaphat said, The word of the LORD is with him. So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat and the king of Edom went down to him.

13 And Elisha said unto the king of Israel, What have I to do with thee? get thee to the prophets of thy father, and to the prophets of thy mother. And the king of Israel said unto him, Nay: for the LORD hath called these three kings together, to deliver them into the hand of Moab.

14 And Elisha said, As the LORD of hosts liveth, before whom I stand, surely, were it not that I regard the presence of Jehoshaphat the king of Judah, I would not look toward thee, nor see thee.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ■ Chap. II.

The request of Elisha, that he might receive a double portion of Elijah's spirit, is a lesson to us, to beg of God the gifts and graces of his Spirit; and the death of the forty-two young men of Beth-el points out to us the dreadful consequences of impiety.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. III.

3 Nevertheless he cleaved unto the sins of Jeroboam, &c. Though he removed the image of Baal, he still continued the idolatrous worship of the golden calves which Jeroboam had made.

5 When Ahab was dead—the king of Moab rebelled, &c. That is; refused paying the occasional tribute.

9 The king of Edom, &c. He was the viceroy or deputy.

11 Which poured water on the hands of Elijah. Which ministered to, or was the servant of, Elijah.

23 This is blood; the kings are surely slain, and they have smitten one another, &c. The Moabites concluded it to be the blood of the three armies, which, they supposed, on account of some disagreement had fallen upon and slaughtered one another.

15 But now bring me a minstrel. And it came to pass, when the minstrel played, that the hand of the LORD came upon him.

16 And he said, Thus saith the LORD, Make this valley full of ditches.

17 For thus saith the LORD, Ye shall not see wind, neither shall ye see rain; yet that valley shall be filled with water, that ye may drink, both ye, and your cattle, and your beasts.

18 And this is but a light thing in the sight of the LORD: he will deliver the Moabites also into your hand.

19 And ye shall smite every fenced city, and every choice city, and shall fell every good tree, and stop all wells of water, and mar every good piece of land with stones.

20 ¶ And it came to pass in the morning, when the meat offering was offered, that, behold, there came water by the way of Edom, and the country was filled with water.

21 And when all the Moabites heard that the kings were come up to fight against them, they gathered all that were able to put on armour, and upward, and stood in the border.

22 And they rose up early in the morning, and the sun shone upon the water, and the Moabites saw the water on the other side as red as blood:

23 And they said, This is blood: the kings are surely slain, and they have smitten one another: now therefore, Moab, to the spoil.

24 And when they came to the camp of Israel, the Israelites rose up and smote the Moabites, so that they fled before them: but they went forward smiting the Moabites, even in their country.

25 And they beat down the cities, and on every good piece of land cast every man his stone, and filled it; and they stopped all the wells of water, and felled all the good trees: only in Kir-harasheth left they the stones thereof; howbeit the slingers went about it, and smote it.

26 ¶ And when the king of Moab saw that the battle was too fore for him, he took with him seven hundred men that drew swords, to break through even unto the king of Edom: but they could not.

27 Then he took his eldest son that should have reigned in his stead, and offered him for a burnt offering upon the wall. And there was great indignation against Israel: and they departed from him, and returned to their own land.

C H A P. IV.

1 Elisha multiplieth a poor widow's oil in order to pay her debts. 8 He is hospitably entertained by a Shunammite woman, and in requital obtaineth a son for her. 18 The child dieth, and is restored to life at Elisha's prayer. 38 He healeth the deadly pottage at Gilgal. 42 He miraculously satisfieth an hundred men with twenty barley loaves.

NOW there cried a certain woman of the wives of the sons of the prophets unto Elisha, saying, Thy servant my husband is dead; and thou knowest that thy servant did fear the LORD: and the creditor is come to take unto him my two sons to be bondmen.

■ And

27 There was great indignation against Israel, &c. Or great repentance in Israel, i. e. they were extremely grieved at this inhuman sacrifice, and wished they had not pushed the war to such extremity, as it had produced so barbarous an action.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ■ Chap. III.

With respect to Jehoram's victory, we may see, that God often does good to the unworthy, for the sake of those he loves, for whom he displays his power and goodness: in the unnatural act of the king of Moab, we perceive, that rage and despair hurry men on to the most detestable deeds; while those who fear God, seek to him in their necessities.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. IV.

1 And the creditor is come to take—my two sons to be bondmen. The Jewish law considered children as the proper goods of their parents, who had power to sell them for seven years; as their creditors had compelled them to do it, in order to pay their debts.

2 And Elisha said unto her, What shall I do for thee? tell me, what hast thou in the house? And she said, Thine handmaid hath not any thing in the house, save a pot of oil.

3 Then he said, Go, borrow thee vessels abroad of all thy neighbours, even empty vessels; borrow not a few.

4 And when thou art come in, thou shalt shut the door upon thee and upon thy sons, and shalt pour out into all those vessels, and thou shalt set aside that which is full.

5 So she went from him, and shut the door upon her and upon her sons, who brought the vessels to her; and she poured out.

6 And it came to pass, when the vessels were full, that she said unto her son, bring me yet a vessel. And he said unto her, There is not a vessel more. And the oil stayed.

7 Then she came and told the man of God. And he said; Go, sell the oil, and pay thy debt, and live thou and thy children of the rest.

8 ¶ And it fell on a day, that Elisha passed to Shunem, where was a great woman; and she constrained him to eat bread. And so it was, that as oft as he passed by, he turned in thither to eat bread.

9 And she said unto her husband, Behold, now, I perceive that this is an holy man of God, which passeth by us continually.

10 Let us make a little chamber, I pray thee, on the wall; and let us set for him there a bed, and a table, and a stool, and a candlestick: and it shall be, when he cometh to us, that he shall turn in thither.

11 And it fell on a day, that he came thither, and he turned into the chamber, and lay there.

12 And he said to Gehazi his servant, Call this Shunammite. And when he had called her, she stood before him.

13 And he said unto him, Say now unto her, Behold, thou hast been careful for us with all this care; what is to be done for thee? wouldest thou be spoken for to the king, or to the captain of the host? And she answered, I dwell among mine own people.

14 And he said, What then is to be done for her? And Gehazi answered, Verily she hath no child, and her husband is old.

15 And he said, Call her. And when he had called her, she stood in the door.

16 And he said, About this season, according to the time of life, thou shalt embrace a son. And she said, Nay, my lord, thou man of God, do not lie unto thine handmaid.

17 And the woman conceived, and bare a son at that season that Elisha had said unto her, according to the time of life.

18 ¶ And when the child was grown, it fell on a day, that he went out to his father to the reapers.

19 And he said unto his father, My head, my head. And he said to a lad, Carry him to his mother.

20 And when he had taken him, and brought him to his mother, he sat on her knees till noon, and then died.

21 And she went up, and laid him on the bed of the man of God, and shut the door upon him, and went out.

22 And she called unto her husband, and said, Send me, I pray thee, one of the young men, and one of the asses, that I may run to the man of God, and come again.

23 And he said, Wherefore wilt thou go to him to day? it is neither new moon, nor sabbath. And she said, It shall be well.

24 Then she saddled an ass, and said to her servant, Drive, and go forward; slack not thy riding for me, except I bid thee. Before CHRIST 895.

25 So she went and came unto the man of God to mount Carmel. And it came to pass, when the man of God saw her afar off, that he said to Gehazi his servant, Behold, yonder is that Shunammite:

26 Run now, I pray thee, to meet her, and say unto her, Is it well with thee? is it well with thy husband? is it well with the child? And she answered, It is well.

27 And when she came to the man of God to the hill, she caught him by the feet: but Gehazi came near to thrust her away. And the man of God said, Let her alone; for her soul is vexed within her: and the LORD hath hid it from me, and hath not told me.

28 Then she said, Did I desire a son of my lord? did I not say, Do not deceive me?

29 Then he said to Gehazi, Gird up thy loins, and take my staff in thine hand, and go thy way: if thou meet any man, salute him not; and if any salute thee, answer him not again: and lay my staff upon the face of the child.

30 And the mother of the child said, As the LORD liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee. And he arose, and followed her.

31 And Gehazi passed on before them, and laid the staff upon the face of the child; but there was neither voice, nor hearing. Wherefore he went again to meet him, and told him, saying, The child is not awaked.

32 And when Elisha was come into the house, behold, the child was dead, and laid upon his bed.

33 He went in therefore, and shut the door upon them twain, and prayed unto the LORD.

34 And he went up and lay upon the child, and put his mouth upon his mouth, and his eyes upon his eyes, and his hands upon his hands: and he stretched himself upon the child; and the flesh of the child waxed warm.

35 Then he returned, and walked in the house to and fro; and went up, and stretched himself upon him: and the child sneezed seven times, and the child opened his eyes.

36 And he called Gehazi, and said, Call this Shunammite. So he called her. And when she was come in unto him, he said, Take up thy son.

37 Then she went in, and fell at his feet, and bowed herself to the ground, and took up her son, and went out.

38 ¶ And Elisha came again to Gilgal: and there 891. was a dearth in the land; and the sons of the prophets were sitting before him: and he said unto his servant, Set on the great pot, and seethe pottage for the sons of the prophets.

39 And one went out into the field to gather herbs, and found a wild vine, and gathered thereof wild gourds his lap full, and came and shred them into the pot of pottage: for they knew them not.

40 So they poured out for the men to eat. And it came to pass, as they were eating of the pottage, that they cried out, and said, O thou man of God, there is death in the pot. And they could not eat thereof.

41 But he said, Then bring meal. And he cast it into the pot; and he said, Pour out for the people, that they may eat. And there was no harm in the pot.

42 ¶ And there came a man from Baal-shalisha, and brought the man of God bread of the first fruits, twenty loaves of barley, and full ears of corn in the husk thereof. And he said, Give unto the people, that they may eat.

43 And his servitor said, What, should I set this before

¶ Great woman, &c.] i. e. A rich woman.
 10 Let us make a little chamber, I pray thee, on the wall, &c.] A private room, separated from the rest of the house, where he might more conveniently retire to prayer and meditation.
 16 Do not lie, &c.] Do not feed me with vain hopes.
 26 She answered, It is well.] She did not think fit to tell No. 29.

Gehazi the truth, but would deliver it to the prophet himself.
 34 The flesh of the child waxed warm.] Not from the external heat of Elisha's body, but from an inward principle of life, which was miraculously restored, and began to move in him.
 41 And there was no harm in the pot.] This alteration was owing entirely to the power of God.
 4 R 44 They

Before CHRIST 891. fore an hundred men? He said again, Give the people, that they may eat: for thus saith the LORD, They shall eat, and shall leave thereof.

44 So he set it before them, and they did eat, and left thereof, according to the word of the LORD.

C H A P. V.

1 Naaman, captain of the Syrian host, upon the report of a captive maid cometh to Samaria to be cured of his leprosy.

2 Elisha sendeth him to dip in Jordan, whereby he is healed. 15 Naaman acknowledgeth the true God; cannot prevail on Elisha to accept his presents; asketh for earth; and is sent away in peace. 20 Gehazi, Elisha's servant, by a lie obtaineth a present from Naaman, and is smitten with leprosy.

894. NOW Naaman, captain of the host of the king of Syria, was a great man with his master, and honourable, because by him the LORD had given deliverance unto Syria: he was also a mighty man in valour, but he was a leper.

2 And the Syrians had gone out by companies, and had brought away captive out of the land of Israel a little maid; and she waited on Naaman's wife.

3 And she said unto her mistress, Would God my lord were with the prophet that is in Samaria! for he would recover him of his leprosy.

4 And one went in, and told his lord, saying, Thus and thus said the maid that is of the land of Israel.

5 And the king of Syria said, Go to, go, and I will send a letter unto the king of Israel. And he departed, and took with him ten talents of silver, and six thousand pieces of gold, and ten changes of raiment.

6 And he brought the letter to the king of Israel, saying, Now when this letter is come unto thee, behold, I have therewith sent Naaman my servant to thee, that thou mayest recover him of his leprosy.

7 And it came to pass, when the king of Israel had read the letter, that he rent his clothes, and said, Am I God, to kill and to make alive, that this man doth send unto me to recover a man of his leprosy? wherefore consider, I pray you, and see how he seeketh a quarrel against me.

8 ¶ And it was so, when Elisha the man of God had heard that the king of Israel had rent his clothes, that he sent to the king, saying, Wherefore hast thou rent thy clothes? let him come now to me, and he shall know that there is a prophet in Israel.

9 So Naaman came with his horses and his chariot, and stood at the door of the house of Elisha.

10 And Elisha sent a messenger unto him, saying, Go and wash in Jordan seven times, and thy flesh shall come again to thee, and thou shalt be clean.

11 But Naaman was wroth, and went away, and said, Behold, I thought, He will surely come out to me, and stand, and call on the name of the LORD his God, and strike his hand over the place, and recover the leper.

12 Are not Abana and Pharpar, rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel? may I not wash in them, and be clean? So he turned and went away in a rage.

13 And his servants came near, and spake unto him,

44 They did eat, and left thereof, &c.] It is not the quantity of bread that satisfieth, but the blessing that God giveth.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS III Chap. IV.

In the case of the Shunammite, we are shewn, how God afflicts his children in the most sensible manner, that he may afterwards give them stronger tokens of his love in delivering them; and that these afflictions serve to confirm them in the faith and fear of the Lord.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES III CHAP. V.

1 But he was a leper.] The leprosy was a great blemish to him, and there was no cure for this disease, which was very common in Syria.

7 He rent his clothes, and said, Am I God, to kill and make alive, &c.] He rent his clothes, not so much from affliction and trouble, as because he looked upon this message as blasphemy, ascribing that power to man, which belonged to God only.

and said, My father, if the prophet hath bid thee do some great thing, wouldest thou not have done it? how much rather then, when he saith to thee, Wash, and be clean?

14 Then went he down, and dipped himself seven times in Jordan, according to the saying of the man of God: and his flesh came again like unto the flesh of a little child, and he was clean.

15 ¶ And he returned to the man of God, he and all his company, and came, and stood before him: and he said, Behold, now I know that there is no God in all the earth, but in Israel: now therefore, I pray thee, take a blessing of thy servant.

16 But he said, As the LORD liveth, before whom I stand, I will receive none. And he urged him to take it; but he refused.

17 And Naaman said, Shall there not then, I pray thee, be given to thy servant two mules burden of earth? for thy servant will henceforth offer neither burnt offering nor sacrifice unto other gods, but unto the LORD.

18 In this thing the LORD pardon thy servant, that when my master goeth into the house of Rimmon to worship there, and he leaneth on my hand, and I bow myself in the house of Rimmon: when I bow down myself in the house of Rimmon, the LORD pardon thy servant in this thing.

19 And he said unto him, Go in peace. So he departed from him a little way.

20 ¶ But Gehazi, the servant of Elisha the man of God, said, Behold, my master hath spared Naaman this Syrian, in not receiving at his hands that which he brought: but, as the LORD liveth, I will run after him, and take somewhat of him.

21 So Gehazi followed after Naaman. And when Naaman saw him running after him, he lighted down from the chariot to meet him, and said, Is all well?

22 And he said, All is well. My master hath sent me, saying, Behold, even now there be come to me from mount Ephraim two young men of the sons of the prophets: give them, I pray thee, a talent of silver, and two changes of garments.

23 And Naaman said, Be content, take two talents. And he urged him, and bound two talents of silver in two bags, with two changes of garments, and laid them upon two of his servants; and they bare them before him.

24 And when he came to the tower, he took them from their hand, and bestowed them in the house: and he let the men go, and they departed.

25 But he went in, and stood before his master. And Elisha said unto him, Whence comest thou, Gehazi? And he said, Thy servant went no whither.

26 And he said unto him, Went not mine heart with thee, when the man turned again from his chariot to meet thee? Is it a time to receive money, and to receive garments, and oliveyards, and vineyards, and sheep, and oxen, and menservants, and maidservants?

27 The leprosy therefore of Naaman shall cleave unto thee, and unto thy seed for ever. And he went out from his presence a leper as white as snow.

CHAP.

16 But he refused.] Elisha did not think it expedient, in his present circumstances, to receive presents, because he thought it would make for the honour of the true God and religion, to let the Syrians see the generous piety, charity, and kindness, of his ministers and servants, and how much they despised all that worldly wealth and glory which the priests or prophets of the Gentiles so greedily sought after.

19 He said unto him, Go in peace, &c.] When Naaman professed himself a worshipper of the most high God only, and declared withal, that his attending his master into the temple of Rimmon was not with any religious purpose, but purely in performance of the duty of his office, the prophet was authorized to bid him go in peace. (as the word may import) to give himself no uneasiness about the matter.

27 The leprosy therefore of Naaman shall cleave unto thee, and unto thy seed for ever, &c.] Unto many generations, as the words "for ever," frequently signify.

CHAP. VI.

The sons of the prophets get leave to enlarge their dwelling: Elisha causeth the iron to swim. 8 He discloseth and disappointeth the counsels of the king of Syria, 11 who sendeth troops to apprehend him in Dothan. 15 Elisha's servant is terrified at seeing them, but is encouraged by his master with a vision of horses and chariots of fire. 18 The Syrians, struck blind at Elisha's prayer, are conducted by him into the midst of Samaria, where they recover their sight, are kindly entertained, and dismissed in peace. 24 Ben-hadad besiegeth Samaria, which occasioneth a great famine. 26 Women eat their own children. 30 The king sendeth to slay Elisha.

AND the sons of the prophets said unto Elisha, Behold now, the place where we dwell with thee is too strait for us.

2 Let us go, we pray thee, unto Jordan, and take thence every man a beam, and let us make us a place there, where we may dwell. And he answered, Go ye.

3 And one said, Be content, I pray thee, and go with thy servants. And he answered, I will go.

4 So he went with them. And when they came to Jordan, they cut down wood.

5 But as one was felling a beam, the ax head fell into the water: and he cried, and said, Alas, master! for it was borrowed.

6 And the man of God said, Where fell it? And he shewed him the place. And he cut down a stick, and cast it in thither; and the iron did swim.

7 Therefore said he, Take it up to thee. And he put out his hand, and took it.

8 ¶ Then the king of Syria warred against Israel, and took counsel with his servants, saying, In such and such a place shall be my camp.

9 And the man of God sent unto the king of Israel, saying, Beware that thou pass not such a place; for thither the Syrians are come down.

10 And the king of Israel sent to the place which the man of God told him and warned him of, and saved himself there, not once nor twice.

11 ¶ Therefore the heart of the king of Syria was sore troubled for this thing; and he called his servants, and said unto them, Will ye not shew me which of us is for the king of Israel?

12 And one of his servants said, None, my lord, O king: but Elisha, the prophet that is in Israel, telleth the king of Israel the words that thou speakest in thy bedchamber.

13 And he said, Go and spy where he is, that I may send and fetch him. And it was told him, saying, Behold, he is in Dothan.

14 Therefore sent he thither horses, and chariots, and a great host: and they came by night, and compassed the city about.

15 ¶ And when the servant of the man of God was risen early, and gone forth, behold, an host compassed the city, both with horses and chariots. And his servant said unto him, Alas, my master! how shall we do?

16 And he answered, Fear not: for they that be with us are more than they that be with them.

17 And Elisha prayed, and said, LORD, I pray thee, open his eyes that he may see. And the LORD opened the eyes of the young man; and he saw: and, behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha. Before CHRIST 893.

18 ¶ And when they came down to him, Elisha prayed unto the LORD, and said, Smite this people, I pray thee, with blindness. And he smote them with blindness according to the word of Elisha.

19 And Elisha said unto them, This is not the way; neither is this the city: follow me, and I will bring you to the man whom ye seek. But he led them to Samaria.

20 And it came to pass, when they were come into Samaria, that Elisha said, LORD, open the eyes of these men; that they may see. And the LORD opened their eyes, and they saw; and, behold, they were in the midst of Samaria.

21 And the king of Israel said unto Elisha, when he saw them, My father, shall I smite them? shall I smite them?

22 And he answered, Thou shalt not smite them: wouldest thou smite those whom thou hast taken captive with thy sword and with thy bow? set bread and water before them, that they may eat and drink, and go to their master.

23 And he prepared great provision for them: and when they had eaten and drunk, he sent them away, and they went to their master. So the bands of Syria came no more into the land of Israel.

24 ¶ And it came to pass after this, that Ben-hadad king of Syria gathered all his host, and went up, and besieged Samaria. 894.

25 And there was a great famine in Samaria: and, behold, they besieged it, until an ass's head was sold for fourscore pieces of silver, and the fourth part of a cab of dove's dung for five pieces of silver.

26 ¶ And as the king of Israel was passing by upon the wall, there cried a woman unto him, saying, Help, my lord, O king.

27 And he said, If the LORD do not help thee, whence shall I help thee? out of the barnfloor, or out of the winepress?

28 And the king said unto her, What aileth thee? And she answered, This woman said unto me, Give thy son, that we may eat him to day, and we will eat my son to morrow.

29 So we boiled my son, and did eat him: and I said unto her on the next day, Give thy son, that we may eat him: and she hath hid her son.

30 ¶ And it came to pass, when the king heard the words of the woman, that he rent his clothes; and he passed by upon the wall, and the people looked, and, behold, he had sackcloth within upon his flesh.

31 Then he said, God do so and more also to me, if the head of Elisha the son of Shaphat shall stand on him this day.

32 But Elisha sat in his house, and the elders sat with him; and the king sent a man from before him: but ere the messenger came to him, he said to the elders, See ye how this son of a murderer hath sent to take away mine head? look, when the messenger cometh, shut the door, and hold him fast at the door; is not the sound of his master's feet behind him?

33 And while he yet talked with them, behold, the messenger came down unto him: and he said, Behold, this

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. V.

From the story of Naaman we are taught to testify our gratitude to God, when he bestows any blessings upon us; and from what happened to Gehazi we learn, that God sees sins committed in secret, and will punish them; and that goods acquired by wicked means bring a curse with them.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VI.

1 A beam, &c.] A piece of timber.

13 Dothan.] A small city in the half tribe of Manasseh, and not far from Samaria.

17 The Lord opened the eyes of the young man; and he saw, &c.] An Elisha himself, without a peculiar vouchsafement of God, could not discern the heavenly host, which at this time encamped about him, so he requests of God, that, for the removal of his fears, and the confirmation of his faith, his servant might be indulged the same privilege.

25 An ass's head was sold for fourscore pieces of silver.] About five pounds of our money.

Dove's dung, &c.] What is here rendered "dove's dung," should more properly have been translated, vetches, or pulse; a very ordinary sort of food, though sold at this dear rate.

32 This son of a murderer.] He calls Jehoram the son of a murderer, because his father Ahab had murdered the prophets and Naboth.

Hold him fast at the door: is not the sound of his master's feet behind him?] He foresaw, by the spirit of prophecy, that the king repented of what he had decreed, and was coming to revoke it.

Before this evil is of the LORD; what should I wait for the LORD any longer?

C H A P. VII.

1 Elisha prophesieth an extraordinary plenty suddenly to take place in Samaria, and sheweth an unbelieving lord his unhappy doom. 3 Four lepers venture into the camp of the Syrians, and bring tidings of their hasty flight. 12 The king, fearing a stratagem, sendeth out spies, and finding the report true spoileth the Syrian tents, which bringeth about the plenty foretold. 17 The unbelieving lord hath the charge of the gate, and being trodden to death verifieth the prophet's prediction.

THEN Elisha said, Hear ye the word of the LORD; Thus saith the LORD, To morrow about this time shall a measure of fine flour be sold for a shekel, and two measures of barley for a shekel, in the gate of Samaria.

2 Then a lord on whose hand the king leaned answered the man of God, and said, Behold, if the LORD would make windows in heaven, might this thing be? And he said, Behold, thou shalt see it with thine eyes, but shalt not eat thereof.

3 ¶ And there were four leprous men at the entering in of the gate: and they said one to another, Why sit we here until we die?

4 If we say, we will enter into the city, then the famine is in the city, and we shall die there: and if we sit still here, we die also. Now therefore come, and let us fall unto the host of the Syrians: if they save us alive, we shall live; and if they kill us, we shall but die.

5 And they rose up in the twilight, to go unto the camp of the Syrians: and when they were come to the uttermost part of the camp of Syria, behold, there was no man there.

6 For the LORD had made the host of the Syrians to hear a noise of chariots, and a noise of horses, even the noise of a great host: and they said one to another, Lo, the king of Israel hath hired against us the kings of the Hittites, and the kings of the Egyptians to come upon us.

7 Wherefore they arose and fled in the twilight, and left their tents, and their horses, and their asses, even the camp as it was, and fled for their life.

¶ And when these lepers came to the uttermost part of the camp, they went into one tent, and did eat and drink, and carried thence silver, and gold, and raiment, and went and hid it; and came again, and entered into another tent, and carried thence also, and went and hid it.

9 Then they said one to another, We do not well: this day is a day of good tidings, and we hold our peace: if we tarry till the morning light, some mischief will come upon us: now therefore come, that we may go and tell the king's household.

10 So they came and called unto the porter of the city: and they told them, saying, We came to the camp of the Syrians, and, behold, there was no man there, neither voice of man, but horses tied, and asses tied, and the tents as they were.

11 And he called the porters; and they told it to the king's house within.

12 ¶ And the king arose in the night, and said unto his servants, I will now shew you what the Syrians have done to us. They know that we be hungry; therefore are they gone out of the camp to hide themselves in the field, saying, When they come out of the city, we shall catch them alive, and get into the city.

13 And one of his servants answered and said, Let some take, I pray thee, five of the horses that remain, which are left in the city, (behold, they are as all the multitude of Israel that are left in it: behold, I say, they are even as all the multitude of the Israelites that are consumed:) and let us send and see.

14 They took therefore two chariot horses: and the king sent after the host of the Syrians, saying, Go and see.

15 And they went after them unto Jordan: and, lo, all the way was full of garments and vessels, which the Syrians had cast away in their haste. And the messengers returned, and told the king.

16 And the people went out, and spoiled the tents of the Syrians. So a measure of fine flour was sold for a shekel, and two measures of barley for a shekel, according to the word of the LORD.

17 ¶ And the king appointed the lord on whose hand he leaned to have the charge of the gate: and the people trode upon him in the gate, and he died, as the man of God had said, who spake when the king came down to him.

18 And it came to pass as the man of God had spoken to the king, saying, Two measures of barley for a shekel, and a measure of fine flour for a shekel, shall be to morrow about this time in the gate of Samaria:

19 And that lord answered the man of God, and said, Now, behold, if the LORD should make windows in heaven, might such a thing be? And he said, Behold, thou shalt see it with thine eyes, but shalt not eat thereof.

20 And so it fell out unto him: for the people trode upon him in the gate, and he died.

C H A P. VIII.

1 The Shunammite, who to avoid the famine had by Elisha's advice left her country seven years, sueth to the king, and hath her land restored to her. 7 Hazael, sent to enquire of Elisha concerning Ben-hadad's sickness, heareth from the prophet his own destination to the kingdom, and at his return killeth his master, and succeedeth him. 16 Jehoram reigneth wickedly in Judah. 20 Edom and Libnah revolt from him. 23 He dieth, and is succeeded by Ahaziah. 25 Ahaziah's wicked reign. 28 He assisteth for a king of Israel against Syria, and visiteth him lying sick of his wounds at Jezreel.

THEN spake Elisha unto the woman, whose son he had restored to life, saying, Arise, and go thou and thine household, and sojourn wheresoever thou canst sojourn: for the LORD hath called for a famine; and it shall also come upon the land seven years.

2 And the woman arose, and did after the saying of the man of God: and she went with her household, and sojourned in the land of the Philistines seven years.

3 And it came to pass at the seven years' end, that the woman returned out of the land of the Philistines: and she went forth to cry unto the king for her house and for her land.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. VI.

The miraculous protection that God vouchsafed to Elisha, is a striking proof of the care God takes of his faithful servants, and of those that fear him, whom he has promised never to leave nor forsake utterly.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VII.

1 A measure, &c.] About a peck of our measure.

¶ If the Lord would make windows in heaven] He was incredulous, and seemed to ridicule what the prophet said.

Thou shalt see it with thine eyes, but shalt not eat thereof.] A just punishment of his infidelity; and such will be the portion of those who reject the offer of eternal life.

3 Four leprous men at the entering in of the gate, &c.] Though these lepers were thrust out of the city, yet they got as near to the gate of it as they could, for fear of the enemy.

12 Therefore they are gone out of the camp to hide themselves, &c.] His long sufferings had made him suspicious and cautious, and his conjecture was not improbable.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. VII.

From the extraordinary deliverance of Samaria, we may infer, that God has always ready the means of executing his promises, how difficult, or impossible soever, they may seem; and by the infidelity of the nobleman, we not only see that it is a sin to mock at the word of God, but from his punishment may learn, that profane persons, who attack the Almighty by profane or wicked speeches, shall not escape the divine vengeance; but be fatally convinced, that God will fulfil all his promises and threatenings.

COMMENTARY

4 And the king talked with Gehazi the servant of the man of God, saying, Tell me, I pray thee, all the great things that Elisha hath done.

5 And it came to pass, as he was telling the king how he had restored a dead body to life, that, behold, the woman, whose son he had restored to life, cried to the king for her house and for her land. And Gehazi said, My lord, O king, this is the woman, and this is her son, whom Elisha restored to life.

6 And when the king asked the woman, she told him. So the king appointed unto her a certain officer, saying, Restore all that was her's, and all the fruits of the field since the day that she left the land, even until now.

7 ¶ And Elisha came to Damascus; and Ben-hadad the king of Syria was sick: and it was told him, saying, The man of God is come hither.

8 And the king said unto Hazael, Take a present in thine hand, and go, meet the man of God, and enquire of the LORD by him, saying, Shall I recover of this disease?

9 So Hazael went to meet him, and took a present with him, even of every good thing of Damascus, forty camels' burden, and came and stood before him, and said, Thy son Ben-hadad king of Syria hath sent me to thee, saying, Shall I recover of this disease?

10 And Elisha said unto him, Go, say unto him, Thou mayest certainly recover: howbeit the LORD hath shewed me that he shall surely die.

11 And he settled his countenance stedfastly, until he was ashamed: and the man of God wept.

12 And Hazael said, Why weepeth my lord? And he answered, Because I know the evil that thou wilt do unto the children of Israel: their strong holds wilt thou set on fire, and their young men wilt thou slay with the sword, and wilt dash their children, and rip up their women with child:

13 And Hazael said, But what, is thy servant a dog that he should do this great thing? And Elisha answered, The LORD hath shewed me that thou shalt be king over Syria.

14 So he departed from Elisha, and came to his master; who said to him, What said Elisha to thee? And he answered, He told me that thou shouldest surely recover.

15 And it came to pass on the morrow, that he took a thick cloth, and dipped it in water, and spread it on his face, so that he died: and Hazael reigned in his stead.

16 ¶ And in the fifth year of Joram the son of Ahab king of Israel, Jehoshaphat being then king of Judah, Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat king of Judah began to reign.

17 Thirty and two years old was he when he began to reign; and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem.

18 And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, as did the house of Ahab: for the daughter of Ahab was his wife: and he did evil in the sight of the LORD.

19 Yet the LORD would not destroy Judah for David his servant's sake, as he promised him to give him always a light, and to his children.

20 ¶ In his days Edom revolted from under the hand of Judah, and made a king over themselves.

21 So Joram went over to Zair, and all the chariots with him: and he rose by night, and smote the Edomites which compassed him about, and the captains of the chariots: and the people fled into their tents.

22 Yet Edom revolted from under the hand of Judah unto this day. Then Libnah revolted at the same time.

23 ¶ And the rest of the acts of Joram, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

24 And Joram slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David: and Ahaziah his son reigned in his stead.

25 ¶ In the twelfth year of Joram, the son of Ahab king of Israel did Ahaziah the son of Jehoram king of Judah begin to reign.

26 Two and twenty years old was Ahaziah when he began to reign; and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Athaliah, the daughter of Omri king of Israel.

27 And he walked in the way of the house of Ahab, and did evil in the sight of the LORD, as did the house of Ahab: for he was the son in law of the house of Ahab.

28 ¶ And he went with Joram the son of Ahab to the war against Hazael king of Syria in Ramoth-gilead; and the Syrians wounded Joram.

29 And king Joram went back to be healed in Jezreel of the wounds which the Syrians had given him at Ramah, when he fought against Hazael king of Syria. And Ahaziah the son of Jehoram king of Judah went down to see Joram the son of Ahab in Jezreel, because he was sick.

CHAP. IX.

¶ Elisha sendeth a young prophet to Ramoth-gilead to anoint Jehu. 4 The prophet acquitteth himself of his commission, and fleeth. 11 Jehu acquainteth the other officers with the matter, is proclaimed king by them, and preventeth the news going before him to Jezreel. 16 Jehu meeteth Joram and Ahaziah by the way, and killeth Joram, who is cast into the field of Naboth. 27 Ahaziah is slain at Gur, and buried at Jerusalem. 30 Jezebel, looking out of a window at Jehu's entry into Jezreel, is thrown down into the street, and eaten by dogs according to Elijah's prediction.

AND Elisha the prophet called one of the children of the prophets, and said unto him, Gird up thy loins, and take this box of oil in thine hand, and go to Ramoth-gilead:

2 And when thou comest thither, look out there Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat the son of Nimshi, and go in, and make him arise up from among his brethren, and carry him to an inner chamber;

3 Then take the box of oil, and pour it on his head, and say, Thus saith the LORD, I have anointed thee king over Israel. Then open the door, and flee, and tarry not.

4 ¶ So the young man, even the young man the prophet, went to Ramoth-gilead.

5 And

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VIII.

4 The king talked with Gehazi, &c.] To account for this conference, we may suppose, that Gehazi, upon his repentance, was restored to health, or might speak with the king at a due distance, as he was walking in the field, and desiring a relation of Elisha's miracles.

11 He settled his countenance stedfastly until he was ashamed, &c.] He looked upon Hazael so long, with a settled countenance, that Hazael was ashamed.

12 And rip up their women with child.] This was the highest degree of brutal cruelty; and yet it has been often known, that, in the heat of execution, that barbarity has been committed.

14 He told me that thou shouldest surely recover.] Elisha did not say that Ben hadad should surely recover, but that he might recover, his disease being in itself not mortal.

15 He took a thick cloth, and dipped it in water, and spread it on his face, so that he died, &c.] This he did, that no signs of violence might appear upon him; for had the people in the least suspected his being murdered, Hazael would not so easily have acceded to the throne.

26 The daughter of Omri, &c.] Athaliah was the daughter of Ahab, and grand-daughter of Omri: she might be called the daughter of Omri, perhaps, because she was brought up and educated by him.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. VIII.

From the bloody treachery of Hazael, we may be led to consider, that though God is not the author of evils, yet nothing happens without his permission, and that divine Providence makes use of the wicked to punish his enemies, and execute his judgments.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. IX.

2 From among his brethren, &c.] From the other officers of the army.

3 I have anointed thee, &c.] Anointing was of kings, priests, and prophets; which were all figures of the Messiah, in whom these three officers were united and accomplished.

Before
884.

5 And when he came, behold, the captains of the host were sitting; and he said, I have an errand to thee, O captain. And Jehu said, Unto which of all us? And he said, To thee, O captain.

6 And he arose, and went into the house; and he poured the oil on his head, and said unto him, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, I have anointed thee king over the people of the LORD, even over Israel.

7 And thou shalt smite the house of Ahab thy master, that I may avenge the blood of my servants the prophets, and the blood of all the servants of the LORD, at the hand of Jezebel.

8 For the whole house of Ahab shall perish: and I will cut off from Ahab him that pisseth against the wall, and him that is shut up and left in Israel:

9 And I will make the house of Ahab like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and like the house of Baasha the son of Ahijah:

10 And the dogs shall eat Jezebel in the portion of Jezreel, and there shall be none to bury her. And he opened the door, and fled.

11 ¶ Then Jehu came forth to the servants of his lord: and one said unto him, Is all well? wherefore came this mad fellow to thee? And he said unto them, Ye know the man, and his communication.

12 And they said, It is false; tell us now. And he said, Thus and thus spake he to me, saying, Thus saith the LORD, I have anointed thee king over Israel.

13 Then they hasted, and took every man his garment, and put it under him on the top of the stairs, and blew with trumpets, saying, Jehu is king.

14 So Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat the son of Nimshi, conspired against Joram. (Now Joram had kept Ramoth-gilead, he and all Israel, because of Hazael king of Syria.

15 But king Joram was returned to be healed in Jezreel of the wounds which the Syrians had given him, when he fought with Hazael king of Syria.) And Jehu said, If it be your minds, then let none go forth nor escape out of the city to go to tell it in Jezreel.

16 ¶ So Jehu rode in a chariot, and went to Jezreel; for Joram lay there. And Ahaziah king of Judah was come down to see Joram.

17 And there stood a watchman on the tower in Jezreel, and he spied the company of Jehu as he came, and said, I see a company. And Joram said, Take an horseman, and send to meet them, and let him say, Is it peace?

18 So there went one on horseback to meet him, and said, Thus saith the king, Is it peace? And Jehu said, What hast thou to do with peace? turn thee behind me. And the watchman told, saying, The messenger came to them, but he cometh not again.

19 Then he sent out a second on horseback, which came to them, and said, Thus saith the king, Is it peace? And Jehu answered, What hast thou to do with peace? turn thee behind me.

20 And the watchman told, saying, He came even unto them, and cometh not again: and the driving is like the driving of Jehu the son of Nimshi; for he driveth furiously.

21 And Joram said, Make ready. And his chariot was made ready. And Joram king of Israel and Ahaziah king of Judah went out, each in his chariot, and they went out against Jehu, and met him in the portion of Naboth the Jezreelite.

11 Wherefore came this mad fellow to thee, &c.] No wonder that those officers, at first sight, should censure a true prophet, ■ they thought they had reason to judge of the false ones, with whom they had been acquainted.

14 Had kept Ramoth-gilead, &c.] That is, had kept a strong garrison there.

17 There stood a watchman on the tower in Jezreel.] In time of peace, as well as war, it was customary to have watchmen set on high places, wherever the king was, to prevent his being surprized.

22 So long as the whoredoms of thy mother Jezebel and her witchcrafts are many.] Whilst her idolatries wherewith she bewitched the people, are still continued and multiplied.

24 Between his arms, &c.] Or shoulders.

22 And it came to pass, when Joram saw Jehu, that he said, Is it peace, Jehu? And he answered, What peace, so long ■ the whoredoms of thy mother Jezebel and her witchcrafts are so many.

23 And Joram turned his hands, and fled, and said to Ahaziah, There is treachery, O Ahaziah.

24 And Jehu drew a bow with his full strength, and smote Jehoram betwixt his arms, and the arrow went out at his heart, and he sunk down in his chariot.

25 Then said Jehu to Bidkar his captain, Take up, and cast him in the portion of the field of Naboth the Jezreelite: for remember how that, when I and thou rode together after Ahab his father, the LORD laid this burden upon him:

26 Surely, I have seen yesterday the blood of Naboth, and the blood of his sons, saith the LORD; and I will requite thee in this plat, saith the LORD. Now therefore take and cast him into the plat of ground, according to the word of the LORD.

27 ¶ But when Ahaziah the king of Judah saw this, he fled by the way of the garden house. And Jehu followed after him, and said, Smite him also in the chariot. And they did so, at the going up of Gur, which is by Ibleam. And he fled to Megiddo, and died there.

28 And his servants carried him in a chariot to Jerusalem, and buried him in his sepulchre with his fathers in the city of David.

29 And in the eleventh year of Joram the son of Ahab began Ahaziah to reign over Judah.

30 ¶ And when Jehu was come to Jezreel, Jezebel heard of it; and she painted her face, and tired her head, and looked out at a window.

31 And as Jehu entered in at the gate, she said, Had Zimri peace, who slew his master?

32 And he lifted up his face to the window, and said, Who is on my side? who? And there looked out to him two or three eunuchs.

33 And he said, Throw her down. So they threw her down: and some of her blood was sprinkled on the wall, and on the horses: and he trode her under foot.

34 And when he was come in, he did eat and drink, and said, Go, see now this cursed woman, and bury her: for she is a king's daughter.

35 And they went to bury her: but they found no more of her than the skull, and the feet, and the palms of her hands.

36 Wherefore they came again, and told him. And he said, This is the word of the LORD, which he spake by his servant Elijah the Tishbite, saying, In the portion of Jezreel shall dogs eat the flesh of Jezebel:

37 And the carcase of Jezebel shall be as dung upon the face of the field in the portion of Jezreel; so that they shall not say, This is Jezebel.

CHAP. X.

1 Jehu by his letters causeth Ahab's seventy sons to be slain in Samaria. 8 He excuseth the fact by the prophecy of Elijah, and Ahab's kindred and friends in Jezreel.

12 In his way to Samaria he slayeth two and forty of Ahaziah's brethren. 15 He taketh Jehonadab in the chariot with him, and destroyeth all that remained unto Ahab in Samaria. 18 By subtilty he slayeth at once all Baal's worshippers; and breaketh down his images and house. 29 Jehu followeth the sins of Jeroboam, but for having 26 And the blood of his sons, &c.] As Naboth was accused of high treason, it is probable all his family were involved in his ruin, and all his estate confiscated to the king's use.

30 She painted her face, &c.] Jezebel did not thus adorn herself to tempt Jehu with her beauty, but to keep up her dignity and state, being a woman of insufferable pride and haughtiness.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. IX.

From the above examples let us acknowledge that the curse of God pursues wicked princes, and in general all the ungodly; that it cleaves families where impiety reigns; and that the threatenings of God never fall to the ground unfulfilled.

having executed God's judgments on Ahab's house, is promised the continuance of the kingdom in his family to the fourth generation. 32 Hazael smiteth Israel. 34 Jehu dieth, his son Jehoahaz succeedeth him.

AND Ahab had seventy sons in Samaria. And Jehu wrote letters, and sent to Samaria, unto the rulers of Jezreel, to the elders, and to them that brought up Ahab's children, saying,

Now as soon as this letter cometh to you, seeing your master's sons are with you, and there are with you chariots and horses, fenced city also, and armour;

Look even out the best and meetest of your master's sons, and set him on his father's throne, and fight for your master's house.

But they were exceedingly afraid, and said, Behold, two kings stood not before him: how then shall we stand?

And he that was over the house, and he that was over the city, the elders also, and the bringers up of the children, sent to Jehu, saying, We are thy servants, and will do all that thou shalt bid us; we will not make any king: do thou that which is good in thine eyes.

Then he wrote a letter the second time to them, saying, If ye be mine, and if ye will hearken unto my voice, take ye the heads of the men your master's sons, and come to me to Jezreel by to morrow this time. Now the king's sons, being seventy persons, were with the great men of the city, which brought them up.

And it came to pass when the letter came to them, that they took the king's sons, and slew seventy persons, and put their heads in baskets, and sent him them to Jezreel.

And there came a messenger, and told him, saying, They have brought the heads of the king's sons. And he said, Lay ye them in two heaps at the entering in of the gate until the morning.

And it came to pass in the morning that he went out, and stood, and said to all the people, Ye be righteous; behold, I conspired against my master, and slew him: but who slew all these?

Know now that there shall fall unto the earth nothing of the word of the LORD, which the LORD spake concerning the house of Ahab: for the LORD hath done that which he spake by his servant Elijah.

So Jehu slew all that remained of the house of Ahab in Jezreel, and all his great men, and his kinsfolks, and his priests, until he left him none remaining.

And he arose, and departed, and came to Samaria. And as he was at the shearing house in the way, Jehu met with the brethren of Ahaziah king of Judah, and said, Who are ye? And they answered, We are the brethren of Ahaziah; and we go down to salute the children of the king and the children of the queen.

And he said, Take them alive. And they took them alive, and slew them at the pit of the shearing house, even two and forty men; neither left he any of them.

And when he was departed thence, he lighted on Jehonadab the son of Rechab coming to meet him: and he saluted him, and said to him, Is thine heart right, as my heart is with thy heart? And Jehonadab answered, It is. If it be, give me thine hand. And he gave him his hand; and he took him up to him into the chariot.

16 And he said, Come with me, and see my zeal for the LORD. So they made him ride in his chariot. Before CHRIST 884.

17 And when he came to Samaria, he slew all that remained unto Ahab in Samaria, till he had destroyed him; according to the saying of the LORD, which he spake to Elijah.

18 And Jehu gathered all the people together, and said unto them, Ahab served Baal a little; but Jehu shall serve him much.

19 Now therefore call unto me all the prophets of Baal, all his servants, and all his priests; let none be wanting: for I have a great sacrifice to do to Baal; whosoever shall be wanting, he shall not live. But Jehu did it in subtilty, to the intent that he might destroy the worshippers of Baal.

20 And Jehu said, Proclaim a solemn assembly for Baal. And they proclaimed it.

21 And Jehu sent through all Israel: and all the worshippers of Baal came; so that there was not a man left that came not. And they came into the house of Baal; and the house of Baal was full from one end to another.

22 And he said unto him that was over the vestry, Bring forth vestments, for all the worshippers of Baal. And he brought them forth vestments.

23 And Jehu went, and Jehonadab the son of Rechab, into the house of Baal, and said unto the worshippers of Baal, Search, and look that there be here with you none of the servants of the LORD, but the worshippers of Baal only.

24 And when they went in to offer sacrifices and burnt offerings, Jehu appointed fourscore men without, and said, If any of the men whom I have brought into your hands escape, he that letteth him go, his life shall be for the life of him.

25 And it came to pass, as soon as he had made an end of offering the burnt offering, that Jehu said to the guard and to the captains, Go in, and slay them; let none come forth. And they smote them with the edge of the sword; and the guards and the captains cast them out, and went to the city of the house of Baal.

26 And they brought forth the images out of the house of Baal, and burned them.

27 And they brake down the image of Baal, and brake down the house of Baal, and made it a draught house unto this day.

28 Thus Jehu destroyed Baal out of Israel.

29 Howbeit from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin, Jehu departed not from after them, to wit, the golden calves that were in Bethel, and that were in Dan.

30 And the LORD said unto Jehu, Because thou hast done well in executing that which is right in mine eyes, and hast done unto the house of Ahab according to all that was in mine heart, thy children of the fourth generation shall sit on the throne of Israel.

31 But Jehu took no heed to walk in the law of the LORD God of Israel with all his heart: for he departed not from the sins of Jeroboam, which made Israel to sin.

6 Take ye the heads of the men your master's sons, &c.] By murdering Ahab's kinsmen, Jehu thought to unite the rulers and elders to his interest, and in a great measure justify, or at least lessen, the odium of his own cruel and perfidious act.

CHAP. XI.

1 Jehoash, saved by Jehosheba his aunt from the general massacre of the royal family of Judah by Athaliah, is concealed six years in the house of the LORD. 4 In the seventh year Jehoiada the high priest, having taken measures for his security, bringeth him forth, and crowneth him. 13 Athaliah pressing forward into the temple is seized and slain. 17 Jehoiada restoreth the worship of God, abolisheth that of Baal, and fixeth the king on his throne to the great joy of the people.

884. AND when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was dead, she arose and destroyed all the seed royal.

¶ But Jehosheba, the daughter of king Joram, sister of Ahaziah, took Joash the son of Ahaziah, and stole him from among the king's sons which were slain; and they hid him, even him and his nurse, in the bedchamber from Athaliah, so that he was not slain.

3 And he was with her hid in the house of the LORD six years. And Athaliah did reign over the land.

878. 4 ¶ And the seventh year Jehoiada sent and fetched the rulers over hundreds, with the captains and the guard, and brought them to him into the house of the LORD, and made a covenant with them, and took an oath of them in the house of the LORD. and shewed them the king's son.

5 And he commanded them, saying, This is the thing that ye shall do; A third part of you that enter in on the sabbath, shall even be keepers of the watch of the king's house;

6 And a third part shall be at the gate of Sur: and a third part at the gate behind the guard: so shall ye keep the watch of the house, that it be not broken down.

7 And two parts of all you that go forth on the sabbath, even they shall keep the watch of the house of the LORD about the king.

8 And ye shall compass the king round about, every man with his weapons in his hand; and he that cometh within the ranges, let him be slain: and be ye with the king as he goeth out and as he cometh in.

9 And the captains over the hundreds did according to all things that Jehoiada the priest commanded: and they took every man his men that were to come in on the sabbath, with them that should go out on the sabbath, and came to Jehoiada the priest.

10 And to the captains over hundreds did the priest give king David's spears and shields, that were in the temple of the LORD.

11 And the guard stood, every man with his weapons in his hand, round about the king, from the right corner of the temple to the left corner of the temple, along by the altar and the temple.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. X.

Jehu is an image of those whose zeal is not pure; who indeed do certain things for the sake of God, but cannot resolve to do others which may be contrary to their passions or interests.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XI.

1 Destroyed all the seed royal.] The whole offspring of Jeroboam, Baasha, and Ahab, kings of Israel, was cut off for their idolatry: the kings of Judah were so destroyed by three successive massacres, that there was but one left: for, first, Jehoram slew all his brethren; then Jehu slew all his brother's children; and now Athaliah destroys all the rest that her executioners could meet with.

5 A third part of you that enter in on the sabbath, &c.] These words were certainly spoken to the priests and Levites, who took 12 And he brought forth the king's son, and put the crown upon him, and gave him the testimony; and they made him king, and anointed him; and they clapped their hands, and said, God save the king.

13 ¶ And when Athaliah heard the noise of the guard and of the people, she came to the people into the temple of the LORD.

14 And when she looked, behold, the king stood by a pillar, as the manner was, and the princes and the trumpeters by the king, and all the people of the land rejoiced, and blew with trumpets: and Athaliah rent her clothes, and cried, Treason, Treason.

15 But Jehoiada the priest commanded the captains of the hundreds, the officers of the host, and said unto them, Have her forth without the ranges: and him that followeth her kill with the sword. For the priest had said, Let her not be slain in the house of the LORD.

16 And they laid hands on her; and she went by the way by the which the horses came into the king's house; and there was she slain.

17 ¶ And Jehoiada made a covenant between the LORD and the king and the people, that they should be the LORD's people; between the king also and the people.

18 And all the people of the land went into the house of Baal, and brake it down; his altars and his images brake they in pieces thoroughly, and flew Mattan the priest of Baal before the altars. And the priest appointed officers over the house of the LORD.

19 And he took the rulers over hundreds, and the captains, and the guard, and all the people of the land; and they brought down the king from the house of the LORD, and came by the way of the gate of the guard to the king's house. And he sat on the throne of the kings.

20 And all the people of the land rejoiced, and the city was in quiet: and they flew Athaliah with the sword beside the king's house.

21 Seven years old was Jehoash when he began to reign.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XI.

From the case of Athaliah, we may learn, that God often permits the wicked to succeed for a time, though he is sure to punish them in the end; from that of Joash, that all the promises of God are truth; and from the fatal end of Athaliah, that no length of time can screen the wicked from the just judgments of an offended God.

COMMENTARY

5 Let the priests take it to them, every man of his acquaintance: and let them repair the breaches of the house, wheresoever any breach shall be found.

6 But it was so, that in the three and twentieth year of king Jehoash the priests had not repaired the breaches of the house.

7 Then king Jehoash called for Jehoiada the priest, and the other priests, and said unto them, Why repair ye not the breaches of the house? now therefore receive no more money of your acquaintance, but deliver it for the breaches of the house.

8 And the priests consented to receive no more money of the people, neither to repair the breaches of the house.

9 But Jehoiada the priest took a chest, and bored a hole in the lid of it, and set it beside the altar, on the right side as one cometh into the house of the LORD: and the priests that kept the door put therein all the money that was brought into the house of the LORD.

10 And it was so, when they saw that there was much money in the chest, that the king's scribe and the high priest came up, and they put up in bags, and told the money that was found in the house of the LORD.

11 And they gave the money, being told, into the hands of them that did the work, that had the oversight of the house of the LORD: and they laid it out to the carpenters and builders, that wrought upon the house of the LORD.

12 And to masons, and hewers of stone, and to buy timber and hewed stone to repair the breaches of the house of the LORD, and for all that was laid out for the house to repair it.

13 Howbeit there were not made for the house of the LORD bowls of silver, snuffers, basons, trumpets, any vessels of gold, or vessels of silver, of the money that was brought into the house of the LORD:

14 But they gave that to the workmen, and repaired therewith the house of the LORD.

15 Moreover they reckoned not with the men, into whose hand they delivered the money to be bestowed on workmen: for they dealt faithfully.

16 The trespass money and sin money was not brought into the house of the LORD: it was the priests'.

17 ¶ Then Hazael king of Syria went up, and fought against Gath, and took it: and Hazael set his face to go up to Jerusalem.

18 And Jehoash king of Judah took all the hallowed things that Jehoshaphat, and Jehoram, and Ahaziah, his fathers, kings of Judah, had dedicated, and his own hallowed things, and all the gold that was found in the treasures of the house of the LORD, and in the king's house, and sent it to Hazael king of Syria: and he went away from Jerusalem.

19 ¶ And the rest of the acts of Joash, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

20 And his servants arose, and made a conspiracy, and slew Joash in the house of Millo, which goeth down to Silla.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XII.

13 There were not made for the house of the Lord bowls of silver, snuffers, basins, &c.] Though these were wanting, yet the money was limited to the repairs of the house; and the king ordered, that no vessel of any sort should be bought for the temple, till the temple itself was put into a good condition.

15 They reckoned not with the men, &c.] They were so confident of the honesty of the overseers, that they took no account of the money they had paid the workmen, who also were men of integrity.

21 His servants, smote him, and he died, &c.] They were friends of Jehoiada, who took this revenge upon Joash for the death of Zechariah the son of Jehoiada, as is expressly said, Chron. xxiv. 25. No. 30.

4 And Jehoahaz besought the LORD, and the LORD hearkened unto him: for he saw the oppression of Israel, because the king of Syria oppressed them.

5 (And the LORD gave Israel a saviour, so that they went out from under the hand of the Syrians: and the children of Israel dwelt in their tents, as beforetime.)

6 Nevertheless they departed not from the sins of the house of Jeroboam, who made Israel sin, but walked therein: and there remained the grove also in Samaria.)

7 Neither did he leave of the people to Jehoahaz but fifty horsemen, and ten chariots, and ten thousand footmen; for the king of Syria had destroyed them, and had made them like the dust by threshing.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XII.

The conduct of Jehoiada should teach us, as he also intimated to the people, that in all our offerings of a religious or charitable nature, we should come to the altar of God with a willing mind; and from the catastrophe of Joash, we may learn, that the divine vengeance will sooner or later overtake those who reject good counsel, and forsake the worship of the true God.

18 And he said, take the arrows. And he took them. And he said unto the king of Israel, Smite upon the ground. And he smote thrice, and stayed.

19 And the man of God was wroth with him, and said, Thou shouldest have smitten five or six times; then hadst thou smitten Syria till thou hadst consumed it: whereas now thou shalt smite Syria but thrice.

22 ¶ But Hazael king of Syria oppressed Israel all the days of Jehoahaz.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XIII.

16 ¶ Then Menahem smote Tiphshah, and all that were therein, and the coasts thereof from Tirzah: because they opened not to him, therefore he smote it; and all the women that were with child he ripped up.

17 ¶ In the nine and thirtieth year of Azariah king of Judah began Menahem the son of Gadi to reign over Israel, and reigned ten years in Samaria.

18 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD: he departed not all his days from the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin.

19 ¶ And Pul the king of Assyria came against the land: and Menahem gave Pul a thousand talents of silver, that his hand might be with him to confirm the kingdom in his hand. 771.

20 And Menahem exacted the money of Israel, even of all the mighty men of wealth, of each man fifty shekels of silver, to give to the king of Assyria. So the king of Assyria turned back, and stayed not there in the land.

21 ¶ And the rest of the acts of Menahem, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

22 And Menahem slept with his fathers; and Pekahiah his son reigned in his stead.

23 ¶ In the fiftieth year of Azariah king of Judah Pekahiah the son of Menahem began to reign over Israel in Samaria, and reigned two years. 761.

24 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD: he departed not from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin.

25 But Pekah the son of Remaliah, a captain of his, conspired against him, and smote him in Samaria, in the palace of the king's house, with Argob and Arieah, and with him fifty men of the Gileadites: and he killed him, and reigned in his room. 759.

26 And the rest of the acts of Pekahiah, and all that he did, behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

27 ¶ In the two and fiftieth year of Azariah king of Judah Pekah the son of Remaliah began to reign over Israel in Samaria, and reigned twenty years.

28 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD; he departed not from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin.

29 ¶ In the days of Pekah king of Israel came Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria, and took Ijon, and Abel-beth- 740.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XIV.
From the history of Uzziah, we learn, that he was a pious prince, and prospered while he sought God, and followed the counsels of his prophet; but being puffed up by prosperity, he assumes the priest's office, and was punished with leprosy.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XV.
1 In the twenty and seventh year, &c.] It is supposed that there was an interregnum of eleven or twelve years before the death of Azariah, and the inauguration of his son, who at four years old was committed to the guardianship of the grandees of the nation till he was sixteen, when they placed him on the throne of his ancestors, in the twenty-seventh year of Jeroboam.

5 And Jotham the king's son was over the house, &c.] Azariah continued a leper twenty-five years, during all which time Jotham took upon him the administration of the government, his father being incapable of it.

12 And so it came to pass, &c.] How unfaithful soever they proved to God, he faithfully kept his promise which he made to Jehu, and continued the crown of Israel in his family for four generations, as Jehoahaz, Joash, Jehoram, and Zachariah succeeded him.

19 Pul the king of Assyria, &c.] This is the first time we find any mention made of the kingdom of Assyria, since the days of Nimrod, who erected a small principality there, Gen. x. 11. and Pul, or Phul, is the first monarch of that nation, who invaded Israel, and began their transportation out of their country.

Before CHRIST 740. beth-maachah, and Janoah, and Kedesh, and Hazor, and Gilead, and Galilee, all the land of Naphtali, and carried them captive to Assyria.

739. 30 ¶ And Hoshea the son of Elah made a conspiracy against Pekah the son of Remaliah, and smote him, and slew him, and reigned in his stead, in the twentieth year of Jotham the son of Uzziah.

31 And the rest of the acts of Pekah, and all that he did, behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

32 ¶ In the second year of Pekah the son of Remaliah king of Israel began Jotham the son of Uzziah king of Judah to reign.

758. 33 Five and twenty years old was he when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Jerusha, the daughter of Zadok.

34 And he did that which was right in the sight of the LORD: he did according to all that his father Uzziah had done.

35 Howbeit the high places were not removed: the people sacrificed and burned incense still in the high places. He built the higher gate of the house of the LORD.

36 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Jotham, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

742. 37 In those days the LORD began to send against Judah Rezin the king of Syria, and Pekah the son of Remaliah.

38 And Jotham slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father: and Ahaz his son reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Ahaz reigneth very wickedly. 5 Rezin and Pekah make war against him. 7 He hireth Tiglath-pileser against them, who taketh Damascus, and slayeth Rezin. 10 Ahaz causeth a new altar to be made for burnt offerings after a pattern sent by him from Damascus, and setteth aside the brazen altar for his private use. 17 He spoileth the temple of its ornaments for a present to the king of Assyria. 19 He dieth: Hezekiah succeedeth him.

IN the seventeenth year of Pekah the son of Remaliah Ahaz the son of Jotham king of Judah began to reign.

Twenty years old was Ahaz when he began to reign, and reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem, and did not that which was right in the sight of the LORD his God, like David his father.

3 But he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, yea, and made his son to pass through the fire, according to the abomination of the heathen, whom the LORD cast out from before the children of Israel.

4 And he sacrificed and burnt incense in the high places, and on the hills, and under every green tree.

5 ¶ Then Rezin king of Syria and Pekah son of Remaliah king of Israel came up to Jerusalem to war: and they besieged Ahaz, but could not overcome him.

6 At that time Rezin king of Syria recovereth Elath to Syria, and drove the Jews from Elath: and the Syrians came to Elath, and dwelt there unto this day.

740. 7 ¶ So Ahaz sent messengers to Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria, saying, I am thy servant and thy son: come up, and save me out of the hand of the king of Syria, and out of the hand of the king of Israel, which rise up against me.

8 And Ahaz took the silver and gold that was found in the house of the LORD, and in the treasures of the king's house, and sent it for a present to the king of Assyria.

9 And the king of Assyria hearkened unto him: for the king of Assyria went up against Damascus, and took it, and carried the people of it captive to Kir, and slew Rezin.

10 ¶ And king Ahaz went to Damascus to meet Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria, and saw an altar that was at Damascus: and king Ahaz sent to Urijah the priest the fashion of the altar, and the pattern of it, according to all the workmanship thereof.

11 And Urijah the priest built an altar according to all that king Ahaz had sent from Damascus: so Urijah the priest made it against king Ahaz came from Damascus.

12 And when the king was come from Damascus, the king saw the altar: and the king approached to the altar, and offered thereon.

13 And he burnt his burnt offering and his meat offering, and poured his drink offering, and sprinkled the blood of his peace offerings, upon the altar.

14 And he brought also the brazen altar, which was before the LORD, from the forefront of the house, from between the altar of the house of the LORD, and put it on the north side of the altar.

15 And king Ahaz commanded Urijah the priest, saying, Upon the great altar burn the morning burnt offering, and the evening meat offering, and the king's burnt sacrifice, and his meat offering, with the burnt offering of all the people of the land, and their meat offering, and their drink offerings; and sprinkle upon it all the blood of the burnt offering, and all the blood of the sacrifice: and the brazen altar shall be for me to enquire by.

16 Thus did Urijah the priest, according to all that king Ahaz commanded.

17 ¶ And king Ahaz cut off the borders of the bases, and removed the laver from off them; and took down the sea from off the brazen oxen that were under it, and put it upon a pavement of stones.

18 And the covert for the sabbath that they had built in the house, and the king's entry without, turned he from the house of the LORD for the king of Assyria.

19 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Ahaz which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

20 And Ahaz slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David: and Hezekiah his son reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Hoshea's wicked reign. 3 Becoming tributary to Shalmaneser, and afterward conspiring with the king of Egypt against him, he is shut up in prison. 5 Shalmaneser after a three years' siege taketh Samaria, and carrieth Israel away captive for their wickedness, as the prophet had predicted. 24 The strange nations, which were transplanted

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XV.
The history of Amaziah and Pekahiah afford us this lesson, that it avails nothing to have done our duty for a while, if we do not persevere in the fear of God; and that they, who after having begun well, turn away from holiness, may be so corrupted, as to become at last intirely wicked, and upon that account be made examples of the wrath of God, after having been examples of his mercy.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XVI.

11 Urijah the priest built an altar according to all that king Ahaz had sent from Damascus, &c.] Instead of obeying the king's injunction, Urijah ought, with all his interest and power, to have opposed it, as he could not but know that this innovation of the king did not proceed from any principle of religion, but from a design to degrade the altar of the Lord, as well as the other sacred vessels of the temple.

18 The covert for the sabbath that they had built in the house, and the king's entry without, &c.] The reason why the king ordered this to be taken away, was, because he intended to trouble himself no more with coming to the temple, and by this action likewise to express his hatred and contempt of the sabbath.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XVI.

In the character of Ahaz, we see that the wicked, instead of humbling themselves when God corrects them, provoke him anew by their sins, till they bring down ruin on their guilty heads; and the bad and criminal behaviour of Urijah should be a caution to us, never to shew complaisance for great men, in things offensive to God.

transplanted into the land of Israel, are plagued with lions; they send for one of the captive priests to teach them the worship of God, which they mix with their own idolatry.

IN the twelfth year of Ahaz king of Judah began Hoshea the son of Elah to reign in Samaria over Israel nine years.

And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, but not as the kings of Israel that were before him.

¶ Against him came up Shalmaneser king of Assyria; and Hoshea became his servant, and gave him presents.

And the king of Assyria found conspiracy in Hoshea: for he had sent messengers to So king of Egypt, and brought no present to the king of Assyria, as he had done year by year: therefore the king of Assyria shut him up, and bound him in prison.

¶ Then the king of Assyria came up throughout all the land, and went up to Samaria, and besieged it three years.

In the ninth year of Hoshea the king of Assyria took Samaria, and carried Israel away into Assyria, and placed them in Halah and in Habor by the river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes.

For so it was, that the children of Israel had sinned against the LORD their God, which had brought them up out of the land of Egypt, from under the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and had feared other gods,

And walked in the statutes of the heathen, whom the LORD cast out from before the children of Israel, and of the kings of Israel, which they had made.

And the children of Israel did secretly those things that were not right against the LORD their God, and they built them high places in all their cities, from the tower of the watchmen to the fenced city.

And they set them up images and groves in every high hill, and under every green tree:

And there they burnt incense in all the high places, as did the heathen whom the LORD carried away before them; and wrought wicked things to provoke the LORD to anger:

For they served idols, whereof the LORD had said unto them, Ye shall not do this thing.

Yet the LORD testified against Israel, and against Judah, by all the prophets, and by all the seers, saying, Turn ye from your evil ways, and keep my commandments and my statutes, according to all the law which I commanded your fathers, and which I sent to you by my servants the prophets.

Notwithstanding they would not hear, but hardened their necks, like to the neck of their fathers, that did not believe in the LORD their God.

And they rejected his statutes, and his covenant that he made with their fathers, and his testimonies which he testified against them; and they followed vanity, and became vain, and went after the heathen that were round about them, concerning whom the LORD had charged them, that they should not do like them.

And they left all the commandments of the LORD their God, and made them molten images, even two calves, and made a grove, and worshipped all the host of heaven, and served Baal.

17 And they caused their sons and their daughters to pass through the fire, and used divination and enchantments, and sold themselves to do evil in the sight of the LORD, to provoke him to anger.

18 Therefore the LORD was very angry with Israel, and removed them out of his sight: there was none left but the tribe of Judah only.

19 Also Judah kept not the commandments of the LORD their God, but walked in the statutes of Israel which they made.

20 And the LORD rejected all the seed of Israel, and afflicted them, and delivered them into the hand of spoilers, until he had cast them out of his sight.

21 For he rent Israel from the house of David; and they made Jeroboam the son of Nebat king: and Jeroboam drave Israel from following the LORD, and made them sin a great sin.

22 For the children of Israel walked in all the sins of Jeroboam which he did; they departed not from them;

23 Until the LORD removed Israel out of his sight, as he had said by all his servants the prophets. So was Israel carried away out of their own land to Assyria unto this day.

24 ¶ And the king of Assyria brought men from Babylon, and from Cuthah, and from Ava, and from Hamath, and from Sepharvim, and placed them in the cities of Samaria instead of the children of Israel: and they possessed Samaria, and dwelt in the cities thereof.

25 And so it was at the beginning of their dwelling there, that they feared not the LORD: therefore the LORD sent lions among them, which slew some of them.

26 Wherefore they spake to the king of Assyria, saying, The nations which thou hast removed, and placed in the cities of Samaria, know not the manner of the God of the land: therefore he hath sent lions among them, and, behold, they slay them, because they know not the manner of the God of the land.

27 Then the king of Assyria commanded, saying, Carry thither one of the priests whom ye brought from thence; and let them go and dwell there, and let him teach them the manner of the God of the land.

28 Then one of the priests whom they had carried away from Samaria came and dwelt in Beth-el, and taught them how they should fear the LORD.

29 Howbeit every nation made gods of their own, and put them in the houses of the high places which the Samaritans had made, every nation in their cities wherein they dwelt.

30 And the men of Babylon made Succoth-benoth, and the men of Cuth made Nergal, and the men of Hamath made Ashima, 31 And the Avites made Nibhaz and Tartak, and the Sepharvites burnt their children in fire to Adramelech and Anammelech, the gods of Sepharvaim.

32 So they feared the LORD, and made unto themselves of the lowest of them priests of the high places, which sacrificed for them in the houses of the high places.

33 They feared the LORD, and served their own gods, after the manner of the nations whom they carried away from thence.

34 Unto this day they do after the former manners: they fear not the LORD, neither do they after their statutes, or after their ordinances, or after the law and commandment

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XVII.

4 The king of Assyria shut him up, and bound him in prison.] He first besieged Samaria; and, when he had taken it, made Hoshea a close prisoner.

10 Under every green tree.] It should be rendered, They set up images under every green tree, and groves on every high hill.

13 Yet the Lord testified against Israel, and against Judah, by all the prophets, and by all the seers, &c.] When Israel was carried away captive, in the days of this very king, they had the prophets Hosea, Amos, Isaiah, and Micah; and in the days of the last king, when Judah was carried away captive to Babylon, they had Jeremiah and Ezekiel.

16 Worshipped all the host of heaven, and served Baal.] They introduced the worship of the stars of heaven, such as Saturn, Jupter, Venus, and the moon, but especially Baal, which was the sun.

18 Removed them out of his sight, &c.] Removed them from the holy land, where his temple and worship was.

30 Succoth-benoth, &c.] The tabernacle of daughters, or young maidens, referring to those infamous places where all the young women were obliged once in their lives to prostitute themselves in honour of the goddess Milytta, who in other nations is called Venus.

31 Adramelech and Anammelech, &c.] Moloch, Milcom, and Molech, all signify a king, and are put for the sun, which is called the king, as the moon is called the queen of heaven.

33 They feared the Lord, and served their own gods, &c.] They joined the worship of their own idols with that of God, in the same manner as the Israelites before them had blended the worship of the golden calves with that of the Holy One of Israel.

Before CHRIST 678. mandment which the LORD commanded the children of Jacob, whom he named Israel;

35 With whom the LORD had made a covenant, and charged them, saying, Ye shall not fear other gods, nor bow yourselves to them, nor serve them, nor sacrifice to them:

36 But the LORD, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt with great power and stretched out arm, him shall ye fear, and him shall ye worship, and to him shall ye do sacrifice.

37 And the statutes, and the ordinances, and the law, and the commandment, which he wrote for you, ye shall observe to do for evermore; and ye shall not fear other gods.

38 And the covenant that I have made with you ye shall not forget; neither shall ye fear other gods.

39 But the LORD your God ye shall fear; and he shall deliver you out of the hand of all your enemies.

40 Howbeit they did not hearken, but they did after their former manner.

41 So these nations feared the LORD, and served their graven images, both their children, and their children's children: as did their fathers, so do they unto this day.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Hezekiah's good reign. 4 He abolisheth idolatry, and prospereth. 9 In his time Samaria is taken, and Israel carried away captive for their sins. 13 Sennacherib invadeth Judah, and receiveth the appointed tribute from Hezekiah. 17 He sendeth Rab-shakeh, who insulteth Hezekiah, 28 and in a blasphemous speech soliciteth the people to revolt.

726. NOW it came to pass in the third year of Hoshea son of Elah king of Israel, that Hezekiah the son of Ahaz king of Judah began to reign.

2 Twenty and five years old was he when he began to reign; and he reigned twenty and nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name also was Abi, the daughter of Zachariah.

3 And he did that which was right in the sight of the LORD, according to all that David his father did.

4 ¶ He removed the high places, and brake the images, and cut down the groves, and brake in pieces the brazen serpent that Moses had made: for unto those days the children of Israel did burn incense to it: and he called it Nehushtan.

5 He trusted in the LORD God of Israel; so that after him was none like him among all the kings of Judah, nor any that were before him.

6 For he clave to the LORD, and departed not from following him, but kept his commandments, which the LORD commanded Moses.

725. 7 And the LORD was with him; and he prospered whithersoever he went forth: and he rebelled against the king of Assyria, and served him not.

8 He smote the Philistines, even unto Gaza, and the borders thereof, from the tower of the watchmen to the fenced city.

723. 9 ¶ And it came to pass in the fourth year of king Hezekiah, which was the seventh year of Hoshea son of Elah king of Israel, that Shalmaneser king of Assyria came up against Samaria, and besieged it.

721. 10 And at the end of three years they took it: even in the sixth year of Hezekiah, that is the ninth year of Hoshea king of Israel, Samaria was taken.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XVII.

The examples in this chapter should warn us, that obstinacy in sin and contempt of God's word will not go unpunished; and that the covenant God makes in behalf of his people does not hinder him from chastising them, if they continue to offend him.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON Chap. XVIII.

4 The children of Israel did burn incense to it.] Hezekiah thought fit rather to take it quite away, when he abolished other idolatries, though the memory of the miracle should be lost together with it, than suffer it to remain, and leave the Israelites in danger of com-

11 And the king of Assyria did carry away Israel unto Assyria, and put them in Halah and in Habor by the river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes:

12 Because they obeyed not the voice of the LORD their God, but transgressed his covenant, and all that Moses the servant of the LORD commanded, and would not hear them, nor do them.

13 Now in the fourteenth year of king Hezekiah did Sennacherib king of Assyria come up against all the fenced cities of Judah, and took them.

14 And Hezekiah king of Judah sent to the king of Assyria to Lachish, saying, I have offended; return from me: that which thou puttest on me will I bear. And the king of Assyria appointed unto Hezekiah king of Judah three hundred talents of silver and thirty talents of gold.

15 And Hezekiah gave him all the silver that was found in the house of the LORD, and in the treasures of the king's house.

16 At that time did Hezekiah cut off the gold from the doors of the temple of the LORD, and from the pillars which Hezekiah king of Judah had overlaid, and gave it to the king of Assyria.

17 ¶ And the king of Assyria sent Tartan and Rab-saris and Rab-shakeh from Lachish to king Hezekiah with a great host against Jerusalem. And they went up and came to Jerusalem. And when they were come up they came and stood by the conduit of the upper pool, which is in the highway of the fuller's field.

18 And when they had called to the king, there came out to them Eliakim the son of Hilkiyah, which was over the household, and Shebna the scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph the recorder.

19 And Rab-shakeh said unto them, Speak ye now to Hezekiah, Thus saith the great king, the king of Assyria, What confidence is this wherein thou trustest?

20 Thou sayest, (but they are but vain words,) I have counsel and strength for the war. Now on whom dost thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

21 Now, behold, thou trustest upon the staff of this bruised reed, even upon Egypt, on which if a man lean, it will go into his hand, and pierce it; so is Pharaoh king of Egypt unto all that trust on him.

22 But if ye say unto me, We trust in the LORD our God: is not that he, whose high places and whose altars Hezekiah hath taken away, and hath said to Judah and Jerusalem, Ye shall worship before this altar in Jerusalem?

23 Now therefore, I pray thee, give pledges to my lord the king of Assyria, and I will deliver thee two thousand horses; if thou be able on thy part to set riders upon them.

24 How then wilt thou turn away the face of one captain of the least of my master's servants, and put thy trust on Egypt for chariots and for horsemen?

25 Am I now come up without the LORD against this place to destroy it? The LORD said to me, Go up against this land and destroy it.

26 Then said Eliakim the son of Hilkiyah, and Shebna, and Joah, unto Rab-shakeh, Speak, I pray thee, to thy servants in the Syrian language; for we understand it: and talk not with us in the Jews' language in the ears of the people that are on the wall.

27 But Rab-shakeh said unto them, Hath my master sent me to thy master, and to thee, to speak these words?

mitting idolatry with it hereafter, and making it the object of their worship.

Nehushtan.] Which signifies, "a thing of brass;" as if he had said, It is surprising how any person could be so stupid to worship the image of a serpent, or flatter himself that it had any power to save when it is only common brass.

13 Sennacherib.] He was the son of Shalmaneser, and succeeded him in the kingdom.

Took them.] That is, a great many of them.

17 Tartan and Rab-saris and Rab-shakeh, &c.] These are not the proper names of men, but denote their employments and offices. Tartan signifies the president of the council, Rab-saris the chief eunuch, and Rab-shakeh the principal cup-bearer.

hath he not sent me to the men which sit on the wall, that they may eat their own dung, and drink their own piss with you?

28 ¶ Then Rab-shakeh stood and cried with a loud voice in the Jews' language, and spake, saying, Hear the word of the great king, the king of Assyria:

29 Thus saith the king, Let not Hezekiah deceive you: for he shall not be able to deliver you out of his hand:

30 Neither let Hezekiah make you trust in the LORD, saying, The LORD will surely deliver us, and this city shall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Assyria.

31 Harken not to Hezekiah: for thus saith the king of Assyria, Make an agreement with me by present, and come out to me, and then eat ye every man of his own vine, and every one of his fig-tree, and drink ye every one the waters of his cistern:

32 Until I come, and take you away to a land like your own land, a land of corn and wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of oil olive and of honey, that ye may live, and not die: and hearken not unto Hezekiah, when he persuadeth you, saying, The LORD will deliver us:

33 Hath any of the gods of the nations delivered at all his land out of the hand of the king of Assyria?

34 Where are the gods of Hamath, and of Arpad? where are the gods of Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivah? have they delivered Samaria out of mine hand?

35 Who are they among all the gods of the countries, that have delivered their country out of mine hand, that the LORD should deliver Jerusalem out of mine hand?

36 But the people held their peace, and answered him not a word: for the king's commandment was, saying, Answer him not.

37 Then came Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, which was over the household, and Shebna the scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph the recorder, to Hezekiah with their clothes rent, and told him the words of Rab-shakeh.

CHAP. XIX.

Hezekiah in deep affliction sendeth to desire Isaiah's prayers. 6 Isaiah returneth an answer of comfort. 8 Sennacherib, being called away to oppose the king of Ethiopia, sendeth a blasphemous letter to Hezekiah. 14 Hezekiah's prayer upon the receipt of it. 20 Isaiah's prophecy concerning the pride and overthrow of Sennacherib, and the prosperity of Zion. 35 An angel destroyeth the Assyrian army: Sennacherib is slain at Nineveh by his own sons.

AND it came to pass, when king Hezekiah heard it, that he rent his clothes, and covered himself with sackcloth, and went into the house of the LORD.

2 And he sent Eliakim, which was over the household, and Shebna the scribe, and the elders of the priests, covered with sackcloth, to Isaiah the prophet the son of Amoz.

3 And they said unto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of trouble, and of rebuke, and blasphemy: for the children are come to the birth, and there is not strength to bring forth.

4 It may be the LORD thy God will hear all the words of Rab-shakeh, whom the king of Assyria his master hath sent to reproach the living God; and will reprove the words which the LORD thy God hath heard: wherefore lift up thy prayer for the remnant that are left.

5 So the servants of king Hezekiah came to Isaiah.

6 ¶ And Isaiah said unto them, Thus shall ye say to your master, Thus saith the LORD, Be not afraid of the words which thou hast heard, with which the servants of the king of Assyria have blasphemed me.

7 Behold, I will send a blast upon him, and he shall hear a rumour, and shall return to his own land: and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his own land.

8 ¶ So Rab-shakeh returned, and found the king of Assyria warring against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish.

9 And when he heard say of Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, Behold, he is come out to fight against thee: he sent messengers again unto Hezekiah, saying,

10 Thus shall ye speak to Hezekiah king of Judah, saying, Let not thy God in whom thou trustest deceive thee, saying, Jerusalem shall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Assyria.

11 Behold, thou hast heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all lands, by destroying them utterly: and shalt thou be delivered?

12 Have the gods of the nations delivered them which thy fathers have destroyed; as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden which were in Thelassar?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, of Hena, and Ivah?

14 ¶ And Hezekiah received the letter of the hand of the messengers, and read it: and Hezekiah went up into the house of the LORD, and spread it before the LORD.

15 And Hezekiah prayed before the LORD, and said, O LORD God of Israel, which dwellest between the cherubims, thou art the God, even thou alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth; thou hast made heaven and earth.

16 LORD, bow down thine ear and hear: open, LORD, thine eyes, and see: and hear the words of Sennacherib, which hath sent him to reproach the living God.

17 Of a truth, LORD, the kings of Assyria have destroyed the nations and their lands, 18 And have cast their gods into the fire: for they were no gods, but the work of men's hands, wood and stone: therefore they have destroyed them.

19 Now therefore, O LORD our God, I beseech thee, save thou us out of his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that thou art the LORD God, even thou only.

20 ¶ Then Isaiah the son of Amoz sent to Hezekiah, saying, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, That which thou hast prayed to me against Sennacherib king of Assyria I have heard.

21 This is the word that the LORD hath spoken concerning him; The virgin the daughter of Zion hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorn; the daughter of Jerusalem hath shaken her head at thee.

22 Whom hast thou reproached and blasphemed? and against whom hast thou exalted thy voice, and lifted up thine eyes on high? even against the Holy One of Israel.

23 By thy messengers thou hast reproached the LORD, and hast said, With the multitude of my chariots I am come up to the height of the mountains, to the sides of Lebanon, and will cut down the tall cedar trees thereof, and the choice fir-trees thereof: and I will enter into the

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XVIII.

By the destruction of Sennacherib for his proud and insolent behaviour, and blasphemies against God, we may see, that the Lord is jealous of his glory; and we should be courageous in maintaining his honour, when it is profanely attacked by the wicked.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XIX.

3 The children were come to the birth, &c.] A proverbial expression, for a critical time of extremity in any case.

7 A blast, &c.] A pestilence, which in one night destroyed a great part of his numerous army.

8 Rab-shakeh returned, &c.] To give his master an account of what he had done, and left Rabfaris to carry on the siege.

9 Ethiopia, &c.] There were two countries called Cush (which we translate Ethiopia), one in Africa, beyond Egypt, the other in Arabia, which latter is the Ethiopia here meant.

23 With the multitude of my chariots I am come up, &c.] The prophet here has given us an admirable description of the ridiculous vanity and ostentation of a king, puffed up with pride and success.

Before CHRIST 710. the lodgings of his borders, and into the forest of his Carmel.

24 I have digged and drunk strange waters, and with the sole of my feet have I dried up all the rivers of besieged places.

25 Hast thou not heard long ago how I have done it, and of ancient times that I have formed it? now have I brought it to pass, that thou shouldest be to lay waste fenced cities into ruinous heaps.

26 Therefore their inhabitants were of small power, they were dismayed and confounded; they were as the grass of the field, and as the green herb, as the grass on the house tops, and as corn blasted before it be grown up.

27 But I know thy abode, and thy going out, and thy coming in, and thy rage against me.

28 Because thy rage against me and thy tumult is come up into mine ears, therefore I will put my hook in thy nose, and my bridle in thy lips, and I will turn thee back by the way by which thou camest.

29 And this shall be a sign unto thee, Ye shall eat this year such things as grow of themselves, and in the second year that which springeth of the same; and in the third year sow ye, and reap, and plant vineyards, and eat the fruits thereof.

30 And the remnant that is escaped of the house of Judah shall yet again take root downward, and bear fruit upward.

31 For out of Jerusalem shall go forth a remnant, and they that escape out of mount Zion: the zeal of the LORD of hosts shall do this.

32 Therefore thus saith the LORD concerning the king of Assyria, He shall not come into this city, nor shoot an arrow there, nor come before it with shield, nor cast a bank against it.

33 By the way that he came, by the same shall he return, and shall not come into this city, saith the LORD.

34 For I will defend this city, to save it, for mine own sake, and for my servant David's sake.

35 ¶ And it came to pass that night, that the angel of the LORD went out, and smote in the camp of the Assyrians an hundred fourscore and five thousand: and when they arose early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpses.

36 So Sennacherib king of Assyria departed, and went and returned, and dwelt at Nineveh.

709. 37 And it came to pass, as he was worshipping in the house of Nisroch his god, that Adrammelech and Sharezer his sons smote him with the sword: and they escaped into the land of Armenia. And Esarhaddon his son reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XX.

1 Hezekiah, warned by Isaiah to prepare for death, upon his prayer is promised an addition of fifteen years to his life: 8 in confirmation whereof the shadow goeth ten degrees backward on the sundial of Ahaz. 12 Berodach-baladan sendeth to congratulate Hezekiah on his recovery, who ostentatiously sheweth the ambassadors his treasures. 14 Isaiah hearing this foretelleth the Babylonish captivity. 20 Hezekiah dieth: Manasseh succeedeth him.

713. IN those days was Hezekiah sick unto death. And the prophet Isaiah the son of Amoz came to him, 25 Hast thou not heard long ago, &c.] These are the words of God, in answer to those arrogant and empty boasts.

28 I will put my hook in thy nose, &c.] Alluding to the dromedaries of the east, that were governed by a bridle fastened to a ring fixed in the nostrils of the beast.

30 Shall yet again take root downward, and bear fruit upward.] A metaphor taken from corn; signifying, that they should have firm possession of their own country, and therein increase, multiply, and flourish exceedingly: but this has also reference to the spreading of the gospel in the hearts of believers, by divine grace.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XIX.

From this chapter we may learn, that the trust which the faithful put in God is never in vain: that his power is infinite; that he is jealous of his glory; that those who provoke him by their impiety and pride, shall at last taste of his vengeance; and particularly, and said unto him; Thus saith the LORD, Set thine house in order; for thou shalt die and not live.

2 Then he turned his face to the wall, and prayed unto the LORD, saying,

3 I beseech thee, O LORD, remember now how I have walked before thee in truth and with a perfect heart, and have done that which is good in thy sight. And Hezekiah wept sore.

4 And it came to pass, afore Isaiah was gone out into the middle court, that the word of the LORD came to him, saying,

5 Turn again, and tell Hezekiah the captain of my people, Thus saith the LORD, the God of David thy father, I have heard thy prayer, I have seen thy tears: behold, I will heal thee: on the third day thou shalt go up unto the house of the LORD.

6 And I will add unto thy days fifteen years; and I will deliver thee and this city out of the hand of the king of Assyria; and I will defend this city for mine own sake, and for my servant David's sake.

7 And Isaiah said, Take a lump of figs. And they took and laid it on the boil; and he recovered.

8 ¶ And Hezekiah said unto Isaiah, What shall be the sign that the LORD will heal me, and that I shall go up into the house of the LORD the third day?

9 And Isaiah said, This sign shalt thou have of the LORD, that the LORD will do the thing that he hath spoken: shall the shadow go forward ten degrees, or go back ten degrees?

10 And Hezekiah answered, It is a light thing for the shadow to go down ten degrees: nay, but let the shadow return backward ten degrees.

11 And Isaiah the prophet cried unto the LORD: and he brought the shadow ten degrees backward, by which it had gone down in the dial of Ahaz.

12 ¶ At that time Berodach-baladan, the son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent letters and a present unto Hezekiah: for he had heard that Hezekiah had been sick.

13 And Hezekiah hearkened unto them, and shewed them all the house of his precious things, the silver, and the gold, and the spices, and the precious ointment, and all the house of his armour, and all that was found in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, nor in all his dominion, that Hezekiah shewed them not.

14 ¶ Then came Isaiah the prophet unto king Hezekiah, and said unto him, What said these men? and from whence came they unto thee? And Hezekiah said, They are come from a far country, even from Babylon.

15 And he said, What have they seen in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All the things that are in mine house have they seen: there is nothing among my treasures that I have not shewed them.

16 And Isaiah said unto Hezekiah, Hear the word of the LORD.

17 Behold, the days come, that all that is in thine house, and that which thy fathers have laid up in store unto this day, shall be carried into Babylon: nothing shall be left, saith the LORD.

18 And of thy sons that shall issue from thee, which thou shalt beget, shall they take away; and they shall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.

19 Then

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XX.
1 Thou shalt die, and not live.] That is, his disease was in its own nature mortal, and could not be cured by any human remedy.

7 Take a lump of figs, &c.] A roasted fig, with some white sugar powdered, is now used as a suppurative to a plague-boil at Constantinople.

11 He brought the shadow ten degrees backward, &c.] In Isaiah's prophecy we are told expressly, that "the sun returned ten degrees;" but the expression of the sun's returning, was only an accommodation to the system of astronomy received in those days: see Joshua x. 12.

16 Hear the word of the Lord.] Hezekiah's offence seems to lay not so much in the ostentation of his military stores and treasures, as in not giving due glory to God for so signal a miracle as his recovery certainly was.

19 Then said Hezekiah unto Isaiah, Good is the word of the LORD which thou hast spoken. And he said, Is it not good, if peace and truth be in my days?
20 ¶ And the rest of the acts of Hezekiah, and all his might, and how he made a pool, and a conduit, and brought water into the city, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?
21 And Hezekiah slept with his fathers: and Manasseh his son reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Manasseh's wicked reign and great idolatry. 10 Prophecies uttered against Judah because of his wickedness. 17 He dieth: Amon succeedeth him. 19 Amon's wicked reign. 23 He is slain by a conspiracy of his servants; the people slay the murderers, and make Josiah king. 25 Amon's acts and burial.

MANASSEH was twelve years old when he began to reign, and reigned fifty and five years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Hephzi-bah.

2 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, after the abominations of the heathen, whom the LORD cast out before the children of Israel.

3 For he built up again the high places which Hezekiah his father had destroyed; and he reared up altars for Baal, and made a grove, as did Ahab king of Israel; and worshipped all the host of heaven, and served them.

4 And he built altars in the house of the LORD, of which the LORD said, In Jerusalem will I put my name.

5 And he built altars for all the host of heaven in the two courts of the house of the LORD.

6 And he made his son pass through the fire, and observed times, and used enchantments, and dealt with familiar spirits and wizards: he wrought much wickedness in the sight of the LORD, to provoke him to anger.

7 And he set a graven image of the grove that he had made in the house, of which the LORD said to David, and to Solomon his son, In this house, and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all tribes of Israel, will I put my name for ever:

¶ Neither will I make the feet of Israel move any more out of the land which I gave their fathers; only if they will observe to do according to all that I have commanded them, and according to all the law that my servant Moses commanded them.

9 But they hearkened not: and Manasseh seduced them to do more evil than did the nations whom the LORD destroyed before the children of Israel.

10 ¶ And the LORD spake by his servants the prophets, saying,

11 Because Manasseh king of Judah hath done these abominations, and hath done wickedly above all that the Amorites did, which were before him, and hath made Judah also to sin with his idols:

12 Therefore thus saith the LORD God of Israel, Behold, I am bringing such evil upon Jerusalem and Judah, that whosoever heareth of it, both his ears shall tingle.

13 And I will stretch over Jerusalem the line of Samaria, and the plummet of the house of Ahab: and I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipeth a dish, wiping it, and turning it upside down.

14 And I will forsake the remnant of mine inheritance, and deliver them into the hand of their enemies; and they shall become a prey and a spoil to all their enemies;

15 Because they have done that which was evil in my sight, and have provoked me to anger, since the day their fathers came forth out of Egypt, even unto this day.

16 Moreover Manasseh shed innocent blood very much, till he had filled Jerusalem from one end to another; beside his sin wherewith he made Judah to sin, in doing that which was evil in the sight of the LORD.

17 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Manasseh, and all that he did, and his sin that he sinned, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

18 And Manasseh slept with his fathers, and was buried in the garden of his own house, in the garden of Uzzah: and Amon his son reigned in his stead.

19 ¶ Amon was twenty and two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Meshullemeth, the daughter of Haruz of Jotbah.

20 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, as his father Manasseh did.

21 And he walked in all the way that his father walked in, and served the idols that his father served, and worshipped them:

22 And he forsook the LORD God of his fathers, and walked not in the way of the LORD.

23 ¶ And the servants of Amon conspired against him, and slew the king in his own house.

24 And the people of the land slew all them that had conspired against king Amon; and the people of the land made Josiah his son king in his stead.

25 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Amon which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

26 And he was buried in his sepulchre in the garden of Uzza: and Josiah his son reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Josiah's good reign. 3 He provideth for the repair of the temple. 8 Hilkiab having found a book of the law, it is read before the king; who is alarmed, and sendeth to the prophetess Huldah to enquire of the LORD. 15 Huldah prophesieth the destruction of Jerusalem, but not to take place till after Josiah's death.

JOSIAH was eight years old when he began to reign, and he reigned thirty and one years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Jedidah, the daughter of Adaiah of Boscath.

2 And he did that which was right in the sight of the LORD, and walked in all the way of David his father, and turned not aside to the right hand or to the left.

3 ¶ And it came to pass in the eighteenth year of king Josiah, that the king sent Shaphan the son of Azaliah, the son of Meshullam, the scribe, to the house of the LORD, saying,

4 Go up to Hilkiab the high priest, that he may sum the silver which is brought into the house of the LORD, to the gods of the neighbouring nations, even in the very sanctuary itself, for the outward courts are mentioned in the next verse.

13 I will stretch over Jerusalem the line of Samaria] This metaphor implies, that Jerusalem should suffer the same fate as Samaria had done; be visited with famine, destroyed with the sword, and its inhabitants carried into captivity.

The plummet of the house of Ahab] As they had imitated his sin, so should they share in his punishment, whose house was utterly destroyed.

I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipeth a dish, &c.] That is, leave more people in it, than there are contents in a dish, after it is emptied, and wiped, and turned upside down.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXI.

From the conduct of Manasseh we may learn, that the most holy servants of God may have the worst of children; and also, that as righteousness exalteth a nation, so sin is a reproach to any people.

19 Good is the word of the Lord, &c.] The words in the original are to this effect: What thou hast told me from God, is good; I willingly submit to it; but shall peace and truth continue for my time? God is just in all his ways; but do these threats relate to me, or to my posterity only? Happy for me, if he will suspend the execution of his wrath during the small portion of time I have to live.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XX.

Hezekiah's sickness should be considered as a trial sent by God, to excite his faith and piety, even when he was also attacked by the king of Assyria: thus God tries his children by afflictions: but his vanity afterwards evinces, that the most pious are apt to forget themselves in the dangerous time of prosperity; that the good things of this vain world, being of a short duration, we should never be puffed up by them, but enjoy all to the glory of God.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXI.

624.

LORD, which the keepers of the door have gathered of the people :

5 And let them deliver it into the hand of the doers of the work, that have the oversight of the house of the LORD : and let them give it to the doers of the work which is in the house of the LORD, to repair the breaches of the house,

6 Unto carpenters, and builders, and masons, and to buy timber and hewn stone to repair the house.

7 Howbeit there was no reckoning made with them of the money that was delivered into their hand, because they dealt faithfully.

8 ¶ And Hilkiah the high priest said unto Shaphan the scribe, I have found the book of the law in the house of the LORD. And Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan, and he read it.

9 And Shaphan the scribe came to the king, and brought the king word again, and said, Thy servants have gathered the money that was found in the house, and have delivered it into the hand of them that do the work, that have the oversight of the house of the LORD.

10 And Shaphan the scribe shewed the king, saying, Hilkiah the priest hath delivered me a book. And Shaphan read it before the king.

11 And it came to pass, when the king had heard the words of the book of the law, that he rent his clothes.

12 And the king commanded Hilkiah the priest, and Ahikam the son of Shaphan, and Achbor the son of Michaiah, and Shaphan the scribe, and Asahiah a servant of the king, saying,

13 Go ye, enquire of the LORD for me, and for the people, and for all Judah, concerning the words of this book that is found : for great is the wrath of the LORD that is kindled against us, because our fathers have not hearkened unto the words of this book, to do according unto all that which is written concerning us.

14 So Hilkiah the priest, and Ahikam, and Achbor, and Shaphan, and Asahiah, went unto Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum the son of Tikvah, the son of Harhas, keeper of the wardrobe ; (now she dwelt in Jerusalem in the college ;) and they communed with her.

15 ¶ And she said unto them, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, Tell the man that sent you to me,

16 Thus saith the LORD, Behold, I will bring evil upon this place, and upon the inhabitants thereof, even all the words of the book which the king of Judah hath read :

17 Because they have forsaken me, and have burned incense unto other gods, that they might provoke me to anger with all the works of their hands ; therefore my wrath shall be kindled against this place, and shall not be quenched.

18 But to the king of Judah which sent you to enquire of the LORD, thus shall ye say to him, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, As touching the words which thou hast heard, 19 Because thine heart was tender, and thou hast humbled thyself before the LORD, when thou heardest what I spake against this place, and against the inhabitants thereof, that they should become a desolation and a curse, and hast rent thy clothes, and wept before me ; I also have heard thee, saith the LORD.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXII.

8 I have found the book of the law, &c.] This was probably the book of the law written by Moses himself, and by God's command laid up in the most holy place ; this original had in all probability been hid from the impious fury of their idolatrous kings, in some secret place of the temple, where, upon their going out to repair it, it was now found.

14 Unto Huldah the prophetess, &c.] Hilkiah and the rest applied themselves to Huldah, who was a prophetess of great note, probably because at that time the other two prophets were not near at hand.

20 I will gather thee unto thy fathers, &c.] Here was a twofold blessing ; namely, that his soul should be gathered to the souls of his pious ancestors, and that his earthly part should likewise be joined to theirs, and laid in the sepulchres of the kings of Judah.

20 Behold therefore, I will gather thee unto thy fathers, and thou shalt be gathered into thy grave in peace ; and thine eyes shall not see all the evil which I will bring upon this place. And they brought the king word again.

C H A P. XXIII.

1 Jofiah causeth the book to be read in a solemn assembly. 3 He reneweth the covenant between the LORD and the people. 4 He destroyeth idolatry in Judah. 15 He burneth men's bones upon the altar at Beth-el according to the prophecy, sparing the sepulchre of the prophet who had foretold these things. 19 He pulleth down the idolatrous houses in the cities of Samaria, and slayeth the priests. 21 He causeth a solemn passover to be kept. 24 He putteth away witches and all abominations, and excelleth in piety all kings before and after him. 26 God's determined wrath against Judah for Manasseh's provocations. 28 Jofiah's acts : 29 he is slain in a battle with Pharaoh-nechoh ; Jehoahaz succeedeth him. 31 Jehoahaz after a wicked reign of three months is deposed and imprisoned by Pharaoh-nechoh, who maketh Jehoiakim king, and carrieth Jehoahaz to Egypt. 35 Jehoiakim taxeth the land for Pharaoh's tribute. 36 His wicked reign.

AND the king sent, and they gathered unto him all the elders of Judah and of Jerusalem.

And the king went up into the house of the LORD, and all the men of Judah and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem with him, and the priests, and the prophets, and all the people, both small and great : and he read in their ears all the words of the book of the covenant which was found in the house of the LORD.

3 ¶ And the king stood by a pillar, and made a covenant before the LORD, to walk after the LORD, and to keep his commandments and his testimonies and his statutes with all their heart and all their soul, to perform the words of this covenant that were written in this book. And all the people stood to the covenant.

4 ¶ And the king commanded Hilkiah the high priest, and the priests of the second order, and the keepers of the door, to bring forth out of the temple of the LORD all the vessels that were made for Baal, and for the grove, and for all the host of heaven : and he burned them without Jerusalem in the fields of Kidron, and carried the ashes of them unto Beth-el.

5 And he put down the idolatrous priests, whom the kings of Judah had ordained to burn incense in the high places in the cities of Judah, and in the places round about Jerusalem ; them also that burned incense unto Baal, to the sun, and to the moon, and to the planets, and to all the host of heaven.

6 And he brought out the grove from the house of the LORD, without Jerusalem, unto the brook Kidron, and burned it at the brook Kidron, and stamped it small to powder, and cast the powder thereof upon graves of the children of the people.

7 And he brake down the houses of the sodomites, that were by the house of the LORD, where the women wove hangings for the grove.

8 And he brought all the priests out of the cities of Judah, and defiled the high places where the priests had burned incense, from Geba to Beer-sheba, and brake down the high places of the gates that were in the entering

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXII.

From the pious zeal of Jofiah, in the work of reformation, we may learn, that if we exert ourselves in promoting the honour and glory of God, he will assist us in the use of means ; and the tenderness of Jofiah's heart, which caused a delay of the threatened judgments of God, proves that humility and repentance are always acceptable to him.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXIII.

5 Unto Baal, to the sun, &c.] It should be, Unto Baal the sun. 6 He brought out the grove, &c.] The image of the grove ; Ash-taro, or Venus.

7 He brake down the houses of the sodomites, &c.] These were persons consecrated to impurity : their houses were near the temple.

8 And brake down the high places of the gates, &c.] These high places entering in of the gate of Joshua the governor of the city, which were on a man's left hand at the gate of the city.

9 Nevertheless the priests of the high places came not up to the altar of the LORD in Jerusalem, but they did eat of the unleavened bread among their brethren.

10 And he defiled Topheth, which is in the valley of the children of Hinnom, that no man might make his son or his daughter to pass through the fire to Molech.

11 And he took away the horses that the kings of Judah had given to the sun, at the entering in of the house of the LORD, by the chamber of Nathan-melech the chamberlain, which was in the suburbs, and burned the chariots of the sun with fire.

12 And the altars that were on the top of the upper chamber of Ahaz, which the kings of Judah had made, and the altars which Manasseh had made in the two courts of the house of the LORD, did the king beat down, and brake them down from thence, and cast the dust of them into the brook Kidron.

13 And the high places that were before Jerusalem, which were on the right hand of the mount of corruption, which Solomon the king of Israel had builded for Ashtoreth the abomination of the Zidonians, and for Chemosh the abomination of the Moabites, and for Milcom the abomination of the children of Ammon, did the king defile.

14 And he brake in pieces the images, and cut down the groves, and filled their places with the bones of men.

15 ¶ Moreover the altar that was at Beth-el, and the high place which Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin, had made, both that altar and the high place he brake down, and burned the high place, and stamped it small to powder, and burned the grove.

16 And as Josiah turned himself, he spied the sepulchres that were there in the mount, and sent, and took the bones out of the sepulchres, and burned them upon the altar, and polluted it, according to the word of the LORD which the man of God proclaimed, who proclaimed these words.

17 Then he said, What title is that that I see? And the men of the city told him, It is the sepulchre of the man of God, which came from Judah, and proclaimed these things that thou hast done against the altar of Beth-el.

18 And he said, Let him alone; let no man move his bones. So they let his bones alone, with the bones of the prophet that came out of Samaria.

19 ¶ And all the houses also of the high places that were in the cities of Samaria, which the kings of Israel had made to provoke the LORD to anger, Josiah took away, and did to them according to all the acts that he had done in Beth-el.

20 And he slew all the priests of the high places that were there upon the altars, and burned men's bones upon them, and returned to Jerusalem.

21 ¶ And the king commanded all the people, saying, Keep the passover unto the LORD your God, as it is written in the book of this covenant.

22 Surely there was not holden such a passover from the days of the judges that judged Israel, nor in all the days of the kings of Israel, nor of the kings of Judah;

23 But in the eighteenth year of king Josiah, wherein this passover was holden to the LORD in Jerusalem.

24 ¶ Moreover the workers with familiar spirits, and the wizards, and the images, and the idols, and all the abominations that were spied in the land of Judah and in Jerusalem, did Josiah put away, that he might perform the words of the law which were written in the book that Hilkiah the priest found in the house of the LORD.

25 And like unto him was there no king before him, that turned to the LORD with all his heart, and with all his soul, and with all his might, according to all the law of Moses; neither after him arose there any like him.

26 ¶ Notwithstanding the LORD turned not from the fierceness of his great wrath, wherewith his anger was kindled against Judah, because of all the provocations that Manasseh had provoked him withal.

27 And the LORD said, I will remove Judah also out of my sight, as I have removed Israel, and will cast off this city Jerusalem which I have chosen, and the house of which I said, My name shall be there.

28 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Josiah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

29 ¶ In his days Pharaoh-nechob king of Egypt went up against the king of Assyria to the river Euphrates: and king Josiah went against him; and he slew him at Megiddo, when he had seen him.

30 And his servants carried him in a chariot dead from Megiddo, and brought him to Jerusalem, and buried him in his own sepulchre. And the people of the land took Jehoahaz the son of Josiah, and anointed him, and made him king in his father's stead.

31 ¶ Jehoahaz was twenty and three years old when he began to reign; and he reigned three months in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Hamutal, the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

32 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his fathers had done.

33 And Pharaoh-nechob put him in bands at Riblah in the land of Hamath, that he might not reign in Jerusalem; and put the land to tribute of an hundred talents of silver, and a talent of gold.

34 And Pharaoh-nechob made Eliakim the son of Josiah king in the room of Josiah his father, and turned his name to Jehoiakim, and took Jehoahaz away: and he came to Egypt, and died there.

35 ¶ And Jehoiakim gave the silver and the gold to Pharaoh; but he taxed the land to give the money according to the commandment of Pharaoh: he exacted the silver and the gold of the people of the land, of every one according to his taxation, to give it unto Pharaoh-nechob.

36 ¶ Jehoiakim was twenty and five years old when he began to reign: and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Zebudah, the daughter of Pedaiah of Rumah.

37 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his fathers had done.

places seem to have been erected there, to offer incense to those tutelar gods, to whom their idolatrous kings had committed the protection of their city.

11 The horses that the kings of Judah had given to the sun, &c.] Had consecrated to the sun: all the idolaters of the east worshipped the sun, and consecrated horses to it, because, like that, they were nimble, and swift in their course.

13 The mount of corruption, &c.] Mount Olivet: called "the mount of corruption" by way of contempt, because the people were corrupted in their religion by the idols placed there.

22 Surely there was not holden such a passover, &c.] This passover was celebrated by two tribes only, yet being kept according to the prescribed form of the law, was more numerous and magnificent than all those that were observed in the days of David and Solomon, in the most happy and flourishing state of the Jewish monarchy, and when the whole twelve tribes met together to solemnize that feast.

26 Notwithstanding the Lord turned not from the fierceness of his great wrath, &c.] The hearts of the people were not right towards God, as appears from the writings of the prophets that lived in those times, and therefore, seeing no sign of their repentance, God had no reason to reverse his decree.

29 And king Josiah went against him; and he slew him, &c.] In some old translations of the bible it is more clearly expressed thus: And king Josiah went against him, whom when Pharaoh saw, he slew him at Megiddo; which was a city in the half tribe of Manasseh, not far from the Mediterranean sea.

34 He came to Egypt, and died there.] Thus the prophecy of Jeremiah (chap. xxii. 10—12.) was literally fulfilled.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XXIII.

From the conduct of Josiah, respecting the divine worship, we have this lesson, that pious people, and particularly Christian princes, should inform themselves of the laws of God, and employ all their power to promote his glory, both by their own example, and all other means.

1 Jehoiakim first submitteth to, and afterward rebelleth against Nebuchadnezzar: God hasteneth the ruin of Judah, as foretold by the prophets. 5 Jehoiakim dieth: Jehoiachin succeedeth him. 7 The king of Egypt is vanquished by the king of Babylon. 8 Jehoiachin's wicked reign. 10 Jerusalem is besieged and taken; Jehoiachin with his family and the chief persons of Judah are carried captive to Babylon. 17 Zedekiah is made king, and reigneth wickedly: he rebelleth to the utter destruction of Judah.

600. IN his days Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up, and Jehoiakim became his servant three years: then he turned and rebelled against him.

2 And the LORD sent against him bands of the Chaldees, and bands of the Syrians, and bands of the Moabites, and bands of the children of Ammon, and sent them against Judah to destroy it, according to the word of the LORD, which he spake by his servants the prophets.

3 Surely at the commandment of the LORD came this upon Judah, to remove them out of his sight, for the sins of Manasseh, according to all that he did;

4 And also for the innocent blood that he shed: for he filled Jerusalem with innocent blood; which the LORD would not pardon.

5 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Jehoiakim, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

599. 6 So Jehoiakim slept with his fathers: and Jehoiachin his son reigned in his stead.

7 ¶ And the king of Egypt came not again any more out of his land: for the king of Babylon had taken from the river of Egypt unto the river Euphrates all that pertained to the king of Egypt.

8 ¶ Jehoiachin was eighteen years old when he began to reign, and he reigned in Jerusalem three months. And his mother's name was Nehushta, the daughter of Elnathan of Jerusalem.

9 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father had done.

10 ¶ At that time the servants of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up against Jerusalem, and the city was besieged.

11 And Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came against the city, and his servants did besiege it.

12 And Jehoiachin the king of Judah went out to the king of Babylon, he, and his mother, and his servants, and his princes, and his officers: and the king of Babylon took him in the eighth year of his reign.

13 And he carried out thence all the treasures of the house of the LORD, and the treasures of the king's house, and cut in pieces all the vessels of gold which Solomon king of Israel had made in the temple of the LORD, as the LORD had said.

14 And he carried away all Jerusalem, and all the princes, and all the mighty men of valour, even ten thousand captives, and all the craftsmen and smiths: none remained, save the poorest sort of the people of the land.

15 And he carried away Jehoiachin to Babylon, and the king's mother, and the king's wives, and his officers, and the mighty of the land, those carried he into captivity from Jerusalem to Babylon.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXIV.

¶ Jehoiachin was eighteen years old when he began to reign, &c. In Chron. xxxv. 9. we read "eight years:" to reconcile which, we observe, that the book of Chronicles computes from the time he began to reign with his father, and the book of Kings from the time when he began to reign alone.

13 And cut in pieces all the vessels, &c. Cut them off from the temple.

16 All the men of might, even seven thousand, and craftsmen and smiths a thousand, &c. Jehoiachin and all his court, and great men, were seven thousand, the craftsmen and smiths a thousand, the rest were the ministers and servants of the court.

16 And all the men of might, even seven thousand, and craftsmen and smiths a thousand, all that were strong and apt for war, even them the king of Babylon brought captive to Babylon.

17 ¶ And the king of Babylon made Mattaniah his father's brother king in his stead, and changed his name to Zedekiah.

18 Zedekiah was twenty and one years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Hamutal, the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

19 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, according to all that Jehoiakim had done.

20 For through the anger of the LORD it came to pass in Jerusalem and Judah, until he had cast them out from his presence, that Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Jerusalem is again besieged, and taken by storm: Zedekiah fleeth, is taken, his sons slain, and his own eyes put out. 8 Nebuzar-adan having burned the temple and all the palaces of Jerusalem, and broken down the walls, carrieth the remnant of the people, except a few labourers, to Babylon. 13 He spoileth and carrieth away the valuable things of the temple. 18 The nobles of Judah are slain at Riblah. 22 Gedaliah, who was set over the people that were left, being treacherously murdered, the rest flee into Egypt. 27 Evil-merodach sheweth kindness to Jehoiachin in his captivity.

AND it came to pass in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the month, that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came, he, and all his host, against Jerusalem, and pitched against it; and they built forts against it round about.

2 And the city was besieged unto the eleventh year of king Zedekiah.

3 And on the ninth day of the fourth month the famine prevailed in the city, and there was no bread for the people of the land.

4 ¶ And the city was broken up, and all the men of war fled by night by the way of the gate between two walls, which is by the king's garden: (now the Chaldees were against the city round about:) and the king went the way toward the plain.

5 And the army of the Chaldees pursued after the king, and overtook him in the plains of Jericho: and all his army were scattered from him.

6 So they took the king, and brought him up to the king of Babylon to Riblah; and they gave judgment upon him.

7 And they slew the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes, and put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and bound him with fetters of brass, and carried him to Babylon.

8 ¶ And in the fifth month, on the seventh day of the month, which is the nineteenth year of king Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, came Nebuzar-adan, captain of the guard, a servant of the king of Babylon, unto Jerusalem:

9 And he burnt the house of the LORD, and the king's house, and all the houses of Jerusalem, and every great man's house burnt he with fire.

10 And all the army of the Chaldees, that were with the captain of the guard, brake down the walls of Jerusalem round about.

11 Now

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXIV.

From this history we should learn to adore the justice of God, and fear to offend him; and we should mark, that perjury, and the open and continued contempt of God's word, and the warnings of his servants, which, if persisted in, will bring down the greatest misfortunes, and at length total destruction, on the offenders.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXV.

7 And put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and bound him with fetters of brass, and carried him to Babylon. Thus two remarkable prophecies were reconciled and fulfilled, that of Jer. xxxv. 2. and xxxiv. 3.

11 Now the rest of the people that were left in the city, and the fugitives that fell away to the king of Babylon, with the remnant of the multitude, did Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard carry away.

12 But the captain of the guard left of the poor of the land to be vinedressers and husbandmen.

13 ¶ And the pillars of brass that were in the house of the LORD, and the bases, and the brasen sea that was in the house of the LORD, did the Chaldees break in pieces, and carried the brass of them to Babylon.

14 And the pots, and the shovels, and the snuffers, and the spoons, and all the vessels of brass wherewith they ministered, took they away.

15 And the firepans, and the bowls, and such things were of gold, in gold, and of silver, in silver, the captain of the guard took away.

16 The two pillars, one sea, and the bases which Solomon had made for the house of the LORD; the brass of all these vessels was without weight.

17 The height of the one pillar was eighteen cubits, and the chapter upon it was brass: and the height of the chapter three cubits: and the wreathen work, and pomegranates upon the chapter round about, all of brass: and like unto these had the second pillar with wreathen work.

18 ¶ And the captain of the guard took Seraiah the chief priest, and Zephaniah the second priest, and the three keepers of the door:

19 And out of the city he took an officer that was set over the men of war, and five men of them that were in the king's presence, which were found in the city, and the principal scribe of the host, which mustered the people of the land, and threescore men of the people of the land that were found in the city:

20 And Nebuzar-adan captain of the guard took these, and brought them to the king of Babylon to Riblah:

21 And the king of Babylon smote them, and slew

21 So Judah was carried away out of their land.] This happened four hundred and eighty-six years after the beginning of the reign of David, three hundred and eighty-eight years from the division of the ten tribes from Judah and Benjamin, and one hundred and thirty-four since the destruction of the ten tribes.

27 Did lift up the head of Jehoiachin, &c.] Raised him from his dejected condition.

28 And set his throne above the throne of the kings, &c.] He preferred Jehoiachin above all his other captive kings, either because of the great fame of his royal ancestors David and Solomon, or be-them at Riblah in the land of Hamath. So Judah was carried away out of their land.

22 ¶ And as for the people that remained in the land of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had left, even over them he made Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, ruler.

23 And when all the captains of the armies, they and their men, heard that the king of Babylon had made Gedaliah governor, there came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, even Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and Johanan the son of Careah, and Seraiah the son of Tanhumeth the Netophathite, and Jaazaniah the son of a Maachathite, they and their men.

24 And Gedaliah sware to them, and to their men, and said unto them, Fear not to be the servants of the Chaldees: dwell in the land, and serve the king of Babylon; and it shall be well with you.

25 But it came to pass in the seventh month, that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, the son of Elishama, of the seed royal, came, and ten men with him, and smote Gedaliah, that he died, and the Jews and the Chaldees that were with him at Mizpah.

26 And all the people, both small and great, and the captains of the armies, arose, and came to Egypt: for they were afraid of the Chaldees.

27 ¶ And it came to pass in the seven and thirtieth year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the seven and twentieth day of the month, that Evil-merodach king of Babylon in the year that he began to reign did lift up the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah out of prison;

28 And he spake kindly to him, and set his throne above the throne of the kings that were with him in Babylon:

29 And changed his prison garments: and he did eat bread continually before him all the days of his life.

30 And his allowance was a continual allowance given him of the king, a daily rate for every day, all the days of his life.

cause he had, when in prison with Evil-merodach, conciliated his friendship.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXV.

We may observe of this chapter, both with respect to Jerusalem and Babylon, that in the rise and fall of states, the hand of divine Providence is always visible; and with regard to the captivity of the Jews, we may learn, that, after God has long borne with the provocations of his people, he will at length assert his prerogative, and shew that his justice is as great as his mercy.

The First Book of the CHRONICLES.

THE ARGUMENT.

Ezra is the reputed author of these books, which were written after the Babylonish captivity, and in the reign of Cyrus, mention being made of that prince in the last chapter of the second book. They are a sort of abridgment of all the sacred history from Adam to the return of the Jews from captivity, extracted from those books of the bible which are still extant, and from other annals which are now lost.

17 ¶ The sons of Shem; Elam, and Ashur, and Arphaxad, and Lud, and Aram, and Uz, and Hul, and Gether, and Meshech.

18 And Arphaxad begat Shelah, and Shelah begat Eber.

19 And unto Eber were born two sons: the name of the one was Peleg, because in his days the earth was divided: and his brother's name was Joktan.

20 And Joktan begat Almodad, and Sheleph, and Hazarmaveth, and Jerah,

21 Hadoram also, and Uzal, and Diklah,

22 And Ebal, and Abimael, and Sheba,

23 And Ophir, and Havilah, and Jobab. All these were the sons of Joktan.

28 The sons of Abraham; Isaac, and Ishmael.

29 ¶ These are their generations: The firstborn of Ishmael, Nebaioth, then Kedar, and Adbeel, and Mibsam,

30 Mishma, and Dumah, Massa, Hadad, and Tema,

31 Jetur, Naphish, and Kedemah. These are the sons of Ishmael.

32 ¶ Now the sons of Keturah, Abraham's concubine: the bare Zimran, and Jokshan, and Medan, and Midian, and Ishbak, and Shuah. And the sons of Jokshan; Sheba, and Dedan.

33 And the sons of Midian; Ephah, and Ephraim, and Henoch, and Abida, and Eldaah. All these are the sons of Keturah.

34 ¶ And Abraham begat Isaac. The sons of Isaac; Esau and Israel.

35 The sons of Esau; Eliphaz, Reuel, and Jeush, and Jaalam, and Korah.

36 The sons of Eliphaz; Teman, and Omar, Zephi, and Gatam, Kenaz, and Timna, and Amalek.

37 The sons of Reuel; Nahath, Zerah, Shammah, and Mizzah.

38 ¶ And the sons of Seir; Lotan, and Shobal, and Zibeon, and Anah, and Dishon, and Ezar, and Dishan.

39 And the sons of Lotan; Hori, and Homam: and Timna was Lotan's sister.

40 The sons of Shobal; Alian, and Manahath, and Ebal, Shephi, and Onam. And the sons of Zibeon; Bela, and Anah.

41 The sons of Anah; Dishon. And the sons of Dishon; Amram, and Eshban, and Ithran, and Cheran.

42 The sons of Ezer; Bilhan, and Zavan, and Jakan. The sons of Dishan; Uz, and Aran.

43 ¶ Now these are the kings that reigned in the land of Edom before any king reigned over the children of Israel; Bela the son of Beor: and the name of his city was Dinhabah.

44 And when Bela was dead, Jobab the son of Zerah of Bozrah reigned in his stead.

45 And when Jobab was dead, Husham of the land of the Temanites reigned in his stead.

46 And when Husham was dead, Hadad the son of Bedad, which smote Midian in the field of Moab, reigned in his stead: and the name of his city was Avith.

47 And when Hadad was dead, Samlah of Masrekah reigned in his stead.

48 And when Samlah was dead, Shaul of Rehoboth by the river reigned in his stead.

49 And when Shaul was dead, Baal-hanan the son of Achbor reigned in his stead.

50 And when Baal-hanan was dead, Hadad reigned in his stead: and the name of the city was Pai; and his wife's name was Mehetabel, the daughter of Matred, the daughter of Mezahab.

51 ¶ Hadad died also. And the dukes of Edom were; duke Timnah, duke Aliab, duke Jetheth,

52 Duke Aholibamah, duke Elah, duke Pinon,

53 Duke Kenaz, duke Teman, duke Mibzar,

54 Duke Magdiel, duke Iram. These are the dukes of Edom.

CHAP. II.

1 The sons of Israel. 3 The sons of Judah. 12 The children of Jesse. 18 The posterity of Caleb the son of Hezron. 21 The posterity of Hezron by the daughter of Machir. 25 Jerahmeel's posterity. 34 Sheshan's posterity. 42 Another branch of Caleb's posterity. 50 The posterity of Caleb the son of Hur.

THESE are the sons of Israel; Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah, Issachar, and Zebulun,

2 Dan, Joseph, and Benjamin, Naphtali, Gad, and Asher.

3 ¶ The sons of Judah; Er, and Onan, and Shelah: which three were born unto him of the daughter of Shua the Canaanitess. And Er, the firstborn of Judah, was evil in the sight of the LORD; and he slew him.

4 And Tamar his daughter in law bare him Pharez and Zerah. All the sons of Judah were five.

5 The sons of Pharez; Hezron, and Hamul.

6 And the sons of Zerah; Zimri, and Ethan, and Heman, and Calcol, and Dara: five of them in all.

7 And the sons of Carmi; Achar, the troubler of Israel, who transgressed in the thing accursed.

8 And the sons of Ethan; Azariah.

9 The sons also of Hezron, that were born unto him; Jerahmeel, and Ram, and Chelubai.

10 And Ram begat Amminadab; and Amminadab begat Nahshon, prince of the children of Judah;

11 And Nahshon begat Salma, and Salma begat Boaz,

12 And Boaz begat Obed, and Obed begat Jesse,

13 ¶ And Jesse begat his firstborn Eliab, and Abinadab the second, and Shimma the third,

17 Uz, and Hul, and Gether, and Meshech.] These were not the sons of Shem, but his grandsons by Aram his youngest son, as appears from Gen. x. 22, 23.

19 Because in his days the earth was divided, &c.] The inhabitants of the earth were dispersed, according to the division of their languages.

36 And Timna and Amalek.] As if it had been rendered, And of Timna Amalek; speaking of Amalek as of inferior rank to the other sons, because born of a concubine.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. I.

While we adore the divine goodness, in leaving these names on record, for proving the truth of other parts of scripture, let us also humbly consider our frailty, and that nothing but the fear of God, and doing his will, can transmit our names with honour to posterity, and secure to us "a name better than of sons and daughters."

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. II.

3 The sons of Judah, &c.] This tribe had a superiority and pre-eminence among the rest before the time of David, because the Saviour of the world was to spring from it, according to the celebrated prophecy of Jacob, Gen. xlix. 10.

7 Achar, the troubler of Israel, &c.] His true name is Achan, but he is hereby elegantly called Achar, which signifies "troubler."

14 Nethaneel the fourth, Raddai the fifth,
15 Ozem the sixth, David the seventh:
16 Whose sisters were Zeruiah, and Abigail. And the sons of Zeruiah; Abishai, and Joab, and Asahel, three.
17 And Abigail bare Amasa: and the father of Amasa was Jether the Ishmeelite.
18 ¶ And Caleb the son of Hezron begat children of Azubah his wife, and of Jerioth: her sons are these;
Jether, and Shobab, and Ardon.
19 And when Azubah was dead, Caleb took unto him Ephrath, which bare him Hur.
20 And Hur begat Uri, and Uri begat Bezaleel.
21 ¶ And afterward Hezron went in to the daughter of Machir the father of Gilead, whom he married when he was threescore years old; and she bare him Segub.
22 And Segub begat Jair, who had three and twenty cities in the land of Gilead.
23 And he took Geshur, and Aram, with the towns of Jair, from them, with Kenath, and the towns thereof, even threescore cities. All these belonged to the sons of Machir the father of Gilead.
24 And after that Hezron was dead in Caleb-ephratah, then Abiah Hezron's wife bare him Ashur the father of Tekoa.
25 ¶ And the sons of Jerahmeel the firstborn of Hezron were, Ram the firstborn, and Bunah, and Oren, and Ozem, and Ahijah.
26 Jerahmeel had also another wife, whose name was Atarah; she was the mother of Onam.
27 And the sons of Ram the firstborn of Jerahmeel were, Maaz, and Jamin, and Eker.
28 And the sons of Onam were, Shammai, and Jada.
And the sons of Shammai; Nadab, and Abishur.
29 And the name of the wife of Abishur was Abihail, and she bare him Ahban, and Molid.
30 And the sons of Nadab; Seled, and Appaim:
but Seled died without children.
31 And the sons of Appaim; Ishi. And the sons of Ishi; Sheshan. And the children of Sheshan; Ahlai.
32 And the sons of Jada the brother of Shammai;
Jether, and Jonathan: and Jether died without children.
33 And the sons of Jonathan; Peleth, and Zaza.
These were the sons of Jerahmeel.
34 ¶ Now Sheshan had no sons, but daughters.
And Sheshan had a servant, an Egyptian, whose name was Jarha.
35 And Sheshan gave his daughter to Jarha his servant to wife; and she bare him Attai.
36 And Attai begat Nathan, and Nathan begat
Zabad,
37 And Zabad begat Ephlal, and Ephlal begat Obed,
38 And Obed begat Jehu, and Jehu begat Azariah,
39 And Azariah begat Helez, and Helez begat
Eleafah,
40 And Eleafah begat Sifamai, and Sifamai begat
Shallum,
41 And Shallum begat Jekamiah, and Jekamiah begat Elishama.
42 ¶ Now the sons of Caleb the brother of Jerah-meel were, Mesha his firstborn, which was the father of Ziph; and the sons of Maresiah the father of Hebron.
43 And the sons of Hebron; Korah, and Tappuah, and Rekem, and Shema.
44 And Shema begat Kaham, the father of Jorkoam: and Rekem begat Shammai.

17 Jether the Ishmeelite.] By birth an Ishmeelite, but by religion an Israelite.

35 And Sheshan gave his daughter to Jarha his servant, &c.] This Jarha was an Egyptian, but probably a proselyte to the Jewish religion.

49 The father of Gibeon, &c.] That is, the founder or ruler of Gibeon, a city in the tribe of Judah, it being a common expression to call the founder of a city the father of it.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. II.

It is worthy of remark, that the exact manner in which these names

45 And the son of Shammai was Maon: and Maon was the father of Beth-zur. Before CHRIST 1471.

46 And Ephah, Caleb's concubine, bare Haran, and Moza, and Gazez: and Haran begat Gazez.

47 And the sons of Jahdai; Regem, and Jotham; and Geshan, and Pelet, and Ephah, and Shaaph.

48 Maachah, Caleb's concubine, bare Sheber, and Tirhanah.

49 She bare also Shaaph the father of Madmannah; Sheva the father of Machbenah, and the father of Gibeon: and the daughter of Caleb was Achsa.

50 ¶ These were the sons of Caleb the son of Hur, the firstborn of Ephratah; Shobal the father of Kirjath-jearim, 51 Salma the father of Beth-lehem, Hareph the father of Beth-gader.

52 And Shobal the father of Kirjath-jearim had sons; Haroeh, and half of the Manahethites.

53 And the families of Kirjath-jearim; the Ithrites, and the Puhites, and the Shumathites, and the Mishraites; of them came the Zareathites, and the Ethtaulites.

54 The sons of Salma; Beth-lehem, and the Netophathites, Ataroth, the house of Joab, and half of the Manahethites, the Zorites.

55 And the families of the scribes which dwelt at Jabez; the Tirathites, the Shimeathites, and Suchathites. There are the Kenites that came of Hemath, the father of the house of Rechab.

CHAP. III.

1 The sons of David: 10 his line to Zedekiah. 17 The successors of Jeconiah.

NOW these were the sons of David, which were born unto him in Hebron; the firstborn Amnon, of Ahinoam the Jezreelitess; the second Daniel, of Abigail the Carmelitess:

2 The third, Absalom the son of Maachah the daughter of Talmai king of Geshur: the fourth, Adonijah the son of Haggith:

3 The fifth, Shephatiah of Abital: the sixth, Ithream by Eglah his wife.

4 These six were born unto him in Hebron; and there he reigned seven years and six months: and in Jerusalem he reigned thirty and three years.

5 And these were born unto him in Jerusalem: Shimea, and Shobab, and Nathan, and Solomon, four, of Bathshua the daughter of Ammiel:

6 Ibhar also, and Elishama, and Eliphelet;

7 And Nogah, and Nepheg, and Japhia,

8 And Elishama, and Eliada, and Eliphelet, nine.

9 These were all the sons of David, beside the sons of the concubines, and Tamar their sister.

10 ¶ And Solomon's son was Rehoboam, Abia his son, Afa his son, Jehoshaphat his son,

11 Joram his son, Ahaziah his son, Joash his son,

12 Amaziah his son, Azariah his son, Jotham his son,

13 Ahaz his son, Hezekiah his son, Manasseh his son,

14 Amon his son, Josiah his son.

15 And the sons of Josiah were, the firstborn Johanan, the second Jehoiakim: the third Zedekiah, the fourth Shallum.

16 And the sons of Jehoiakim; Jeconiah his son, Zedekiah his son.

17 ¶ And the sons of Jeconiah; Assir, Salathiel his son,

18 Malchiram also, and Pedaiah, and Shenazar, Jecamiah, Hoshama, and Nedabiah.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. III.

¶ Eglah his wife.] The Jews are of opinion, that this was the daughter of Saul, because she was his only legal wife, the others he took according to the custom then reigning among the Israelites.

8 Elishama—Eliphelet, &c.] These words seem to be an interpolation, being before mentioned in the 6th verse.

19 And the sons of Pedaiah were, Zerubbabel; and Shimei: and the sons of Zerubbabel; Meshullam, and Hananiah, and Shelomith their sister:

20 And Hashubah, and Ohel, and Berechiah, and Hafadiah, Jushab-besed, five.

21 And the sons of Hananiah; Pelatiah, and Jesaiiah: the sons of Rephaiah, the sons of Arnan, the sons of Obadiah, the sons of Shechaniah.

22 And the sons of Shechaniah; Shemaiah: and the sons of Shemaiah; Hattush, and Igeal, and Bariah, and Neariah, and Shaphat, six.

23 And the sons of Neariah; Elioenai, and Hezekiah, and Azrikam, three.

24 And the sons of Elioenai were, Hodaiah, and Eliahib, and Pelaiah, and Akkub, and Johanan, and Delaiah, and Anani, seven.

■ The posterity of Judah derived from Hur the firstborn of Caleb by Ephratah. 5 The issue of Ashur, the posthumous son of Hezron. 9 Concerning Jabez and his prayer.

11 Other families descended from the same stock. 21

The sons of Shelah. 24 The posterity and cities of Simeon. 39 Their conquest of Gedor, and of the Amalekites in mount Seir.

1300, &c. THE sons of Judah; Pharez, Hezron and Carmi, and Hur, and Shobal.

2 And Reaiah the son of Shobal begat Jahath; and Jahath begat Ahumai, and Lahad. These are the families of the Zorathites.

3 And these were of the father of Etam; Jezreel, and Ishma, Idbash: and the name of their sister was Hazeleponi:

4 And Penuel the father of Gedor, and Ezer the father of Hushah. These are the sons of Hur, the firstborn of Ephratah, the father of Beth-lehem.

5 ¶ And Ashur the father of Tekoa had two wives, Helah and Naarah.

6 And Naarah bare him Ahuzam, and Hephher, and Temeni, and Haahashtari. These were the sons of Naarah.

7 And the sons of Helah were, Zereth, and Jezoar, and Ethnan.

■ And Coz begat Anub, and Zobebah, and the families of Aharhel the son of Harum.

9 ¶ And Jabez was more honourable than his brethren: and his mother called his name Jabez, saying, Because I bare him with sorrow.

10 And Jabez called on the God of Israel, saying, Oh that thou wouldest bless me indeed, and enlarge my coast, and that thine hand might be with me, and that thou wouldest keep me from evil, that it may not grieve me! And God granted him that which he requested.

11 ¶ And Chelub the brother of Shuah begat Mehir, which was the father of Eshton.

12 And Eshton begat Beth-rapha, and Paseah, and Tehinnah the father of Irnahash. These are the men of Rechah.

13 And the sons of Kenaz; Othniel, and Seraiah: and the sons of Othniel; Hathath.

14 And Meonothai begat Ophrah: and Seraiah begat Joab, the father of the valley of Charashim; for they were craftsmen.

15 And the sons of Caleb the son of Jephunneh; Iru, Elah, and Naam: and the sons of Elah, even Kenaz.

16 And the sons of Jehaleleel; Ziph, and Ziphah, Tiria, and Afareel.

17 And the sons of Ezra were, Jether, and Mered, and Ephraim, and Jalon: and she bare Miriam, and Sham-mai, and Ishbah the father of Eshtemoa.

18 And his wife Jehudijah bare Jered the father of Gedor, and Heber the father of Socho, and Jekuthiel the father of Zanoah. And these are the sons of Bithiah the daughter of Pharaoh, which Mered took.

19 And the sons of his wife Hodiah the sister of Naham, the father of Keilah the Garmite, and Eshtemoa the Maachathite.

20 And the sons of Shimon were, Amnon, and Rin-nah, Ben-hanan, and Tilon. And the sons of Ishi were, Zoheth, and Ben-zoheth.

21 ¶ The sons of Shelah the son of Judah were, Er the father of Lecah, and Laadah the father of Mare-shah, and the families of the house of them that wrought fine linen, of the house of Ashbea, 22 And Jokim, and the men of Chozeba, and Joash, and Saraph, who had the dominion in Moab, and Ja-shubi-lehem. And these are ancient things.

23 These were the potters, and those that dwelt among plants and hedges: there they dwelt with the king for his work.

24 ¶ The sons of Simeon were, Nemuel, and Jamin, Jarib, Zerah, and Shaul:

25 Shallum his son, Mibsam his son, Mishma his son.

26 And the sons of Mishma; Hamuel his son, Zachur his son, Shimei his son.

27 And Shimei had sixteen sons and six daughters; but his brethren had not many children, neither did all their family multiply, like to the children of Judah.

28 And they dwelt at Beer-sheba, and Moladah, and Hazar-shual,

29 And at Bilhah, and at Ezem, and at Tolad,

30 And at Bethuel, and at Hormah, and at Ziklag,

31 And at Beth-marcaboth, and Hazarsufim, and at Beth-birei, and at Shazaraim. These were their cities unto the reign of David.

32 And their villages were, Etam, and Ain, Rim-mon, and Tochen, and Ashan, five cities:

33 And all their villages that were round about the same cities, unto Baal. These were their habitations, and their genealogy.

34 And Meshobab, and Jamlech, and Joshah, the son of Amaziah,

35 And Joel, and Jehu the son of Josibiah, the son of Seraiah, the son of Asiel,

36 And Elioenai, and Jaakobah, and Jeshohaiah, and Asaiah, and Adiel, and Jesimiel, and Benaiah,

37 And Ziza the son of Shippi, the son of Allon, the son of Jedaiah, the son of Shimri, the son of Shemaiah;

38 These mentioned by their names were princes in their families: and the house of their fathers increased greatly.

39 ¶ And they went to the entrance of Gedor, even unto the east side of the valley, to seek pasture for their flocks.

40 And they found fat pasture and good, and the land was wide, and quiet, and peaceable; for they of Ham had dwelt there of old.

41 And these written by name came in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah, and smote their tents, and the habitations that were found there, and destroyed them utterly unto this day, and dwelt in their rooms: because there was pasture there for their flocks.

42 And some of them, even of the sons of Simeon, five hundred men, went to mount Seir, having for their captains

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ■ Chap. III.

As God's faithfulness to his promise appears, in separating the Israelites from the heathen world, so let us be careful, if we really fear God, not to mix with the wicked and profane, but to keep ourselves unspotted from the world that lieth in wickedness.

1 The line of Reuben (who lost his birthright) unto the captivity, and their conquest of the Hagarites. 11 The chief men of Gad, and their habitations. 18 The number of the men of war of the sons of Reuben, Gad, and the half tribe of Manasseh; their conquests. 23 The habitations and chief men of that half tribe. 25 Their captivity because of their sins.

NOW the sons of Reuben the firstborn of Israel, (for he was the firstborn; but, forasmuch as he defiled his father's bed, his birthright was given unto the sons of Joseph the son of Israel: and the genealogy is not to be reckoned after the birthright.

For Judah prevailed above his brethren, and of him came the chief ruler; but the birthright was Joseph's:)

3 The sons, I say, of Reuben the firstborn of Israel were, Hanoch, and Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi.

4 The sons of Joel, Shemaiah his son, Gog his son, Shimei his son,

5 Micah his son, Reaia his son, Baal his son,

6 Beerah his son, whom Tilgath-pilnezer king of Assyria carried away captive: he was prince of the Reubenites.

7 And his brethren by their families, when the genealogy of their generations was reckoned, were the chief, Jeiel, and Zechariah,

8 And Bela the son of Azaz, the son of Shema, the son of Joel, who dwelt in Aroer, even unto Nebo and Baal-meon:

9 And eastward he inhabited unto the entering in of the wilderness from the river Euphrates: because their cattle were multiplied in the land of Gilead.

10 And in the days of Saul they made war with the Hagarites, who fell by their hand: and they dwelt in their tents throughout all the east land of Gilead.

11 ¶ And the children of Gad dwelt over against them, in the land of Bashan unto Salcah:

12 Joel the chief, and Shapham the next, and Jaanai, and Shaphat in Bashan.

13 And their brethren of the house of their fathers were Michael, and Meshullam, and Sheba, and Jorai, and Jachan, and Zia, and Heber, seven.

14 These are the children of Abihail the son of Huri, the son of Jaroah, the son of Gilead, the son of Michael, the son of Jeshishai, the son of Jahdo, the son of Buz;

15 Ahi the son of Abiel, the son of Guni, chief of the house of their fathers.

16 And they dwelt in Gilead in Bashan, and in her towns, and in all the suburbs of Sharon, upon their borders.

17 All these were reckoned by genealogies in the days of Jotham king of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam king of Israel.

18 ¶ The sons of Reuben, and the Gadites, and half the tribe of Manasseh, of valiant men, men able to bear buckler and sword, and to shoot with bow, and skilful in war, were four and forty thousand seven hundred and threescore, that went out to the war.

19 And they made war with the Hagarites, with Jetur, and Nephtih, and Nodab.

20 And they were helped against them, and the Hagarites were delivered into their hand, and all that were with them: for they cried to God in the battle, and he was intreated of them; because they put their trust in him.

21 And they took away their cattle; of their camels fifty thousand, and of sheep two hundred and fifty thousand, and of asses two thousand, and of men an hundred thousand.

22 For there fell down many slain, because the war was of God. And they dwelt in their steads until the captivity.

23 ¶ And the children of the half tribe of Manasseh dwelt in the land: they increased from Bashan unto Baal-hermon and Senir, and unto mount Hermon.

24 And these were the heads of the house of their fathers, even Ephraim, and Ishi, and Eliel, and Azriel, and Jeremiah, and Hodaviah, and Jahdiel, mighty men of valour, famous men, and heads of the house of their fathers.

25 ¶ And they transgressed against the God of their fathers, and went a whoring after the gods of the people of the land, whom God destroyed before them.

26 And the God of Israel stirred up the spirit of Pul king of Assyria, and the spirit of Tilgath-pilnezer king of Assyria, and he carried them away, even the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the half tribe of Manasseh, and brought them unto Halah, and Habor, and Hara, and to the river Gozan, unto this day.

1 The sons of Levi. 4 The line of Eleazar down to the captivity. 16 The families of the Levites. 20 The sons of Gershon; 22 of Kohath; 29 and of Merari. 31 The singers appointed by David. 49 The office of Aaron and his sons; Aaron's line to Ahimaaz. 54 The cities of the priests and Levites.

THE sons of Levi; Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.

2 And the sons of Kohath; Amram, Izhar, and Hebron, and Uzziel.

3 And the children of Amram; Aaron, and Moses, and Miriam. The sons also of Aaron; Nadab, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

4 ¶ Eleazar begat Phinehas, Phinehas begat Abishua,

5 And Abishua begat Bukki, and Bukki begat Uzzi,

6 And Uzzi begat Zerachiah, and Zerachiah begat Meraioth,

7 Meraioth begat Amariah, and Amariah begat Ahitub,

8 And Ahitub begat Zadok, and Zadok begat Ahimaaz,

9 And Ahimaaz begat Azariah, and Azariah begat Johanan,

10 And Johanan begat Azariah, (he it is that executed the priest's office in the temple that Solomon built in Jerusalem:)

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. IV.

From what is here said of Jabez we learn, that hearty, fervent prayer availeth much with God; and find, from the conduct of the children of Simeon, the ill effect of the abuse of temporal blessings; lastly, from the dealings of God with Ham's posterity, we perceive, that, for wife ends, he often bestows temporal blessings on the enemies of his law, government, and ways.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. V.

His birthright was given unto the sons of Joseph, &c.] His two sons had each of them a lot in the land of Canaan, as if they had been the sons of Israel.

Of him came the chief ruler.] By "the chief ruler," is meant, first, David, and after him the Messiah.

But the birthright was Joseph's.] Or, though the birthright was Joseph's.

The Hagarites, &c.] That is, the Ishmaelites, descended from Hagar, who were settled in Arabia Deserts.

14 These are the children of Abihail the son of Huri, &c.] That is, the seven before-mentioned were the children of Abihail the son of Huri, whose pedigree here follows.

21 Of their camels fifty thousand, &c.] The Arabians abounded in camels, which they made use of in war, as well as to carry burdens in time of peace.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. V.

This chapter evinces, that God abhors uncleanness, which lost Reuben his birthright. The divine wisdom is also herein conspicuous in keeping up the distinction of the tribes; though he often gave up his people to the will of their enemies for their rebellion and ingratitude to him.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VI.

10 He it is that executed the priest's office in the temple that Solomon built in Jerusalem.] He resolutely maintained his office against the usurpation of some of Solomon's successors, who would have offered incense

53 Zadok his son, Ahimaaz his son.
54 ¶ Now these are their dwelling places throughout their castles in their coasts, of the sons of Aaron, of the families of the Kohathites; for their's was the lot.
55 And they gave them Hebron in the land of Judah, and the suburbs thereof round about it.
56 But the fields of the city, and the villages thereof, they gave to Caleb the son of Jephunneh.
57 And to the sons of Aaron they gave the cities of Judah, namely, Hebron, the city of refuge, and Libnah with her suburbs, and Jattir, and Eshtemoa, with their suburbs,
58 And Hilen with her suburbs, Debir with her suburbs,
59 And Ashan with her suburbs, and Beth-shemesh with her suburbs:
60 And out of the tribe of Benjamin; Geba with her suburbs, and Alemeth with her suburbs, and Anathoth with her suburbs. All their cities throughout their families were thirteen cities.
61 And unto the sons of Kohath, which were left of the family of that tribe, were cities given out of the half tribe, namely, out of the half tribe of Manasseh, by lot, ten cities.
62 And to the sons of Gershom throughout their families out of the tribe of Issachar, and out of the tribe of Asher, and out of the tribe of Naphtali, and out of the tribe of Manasseh in Bashan, thirteen cities.
63 Unto the sons of Merari were given by lot, throughout their families, out of the tribe of Reuben, and out of the tribe of Gad, and out of the tribe of Zebulun, twelve cities.
64 And the children of Israel gave to the Levites these cities with their suburbs.
65 And they gave by lot out of the tribe of the children of Judah, and out of the tribe of the children of Simeon, and out of the tribe of the children of Benjamin, these cities, which are called by their names.
66 And the residue of the families of the sons of Kohath had cities of their coasts out of the tribe of Ephraim.
67 And they gave unto them, of the cities of refuge, Shechem in mount Ephraim with her suburbs; they gave also Gezer with her suburbs,
68 And Jokmeam with her suburbs, and Beth-horon with her suburbs,
69 And Aijalon with her suburbs, and Gath-rimmon with her suburbs:
70 And out of the half tribe of Manasseh; Aner with her suburbs, and Bileam with her suburbs, for the family of the remnant of the sons of Kohath.
71 Unto the sons of Gershom were given out of the family of the half tribe of Manasseh, Golan in Bashan with her suburbs, and Ashtaroth with her suburbs:

C H A P. VII.

- 1 The sons of Issachar. 6 The sons of Benjamin; 13 of Naphtali; 14 of Manasseh. 20 The sons of Ephraim, who were slain by the men of Gath. 23 The subsequent posterity of Ephraim by Beriah. 28 Their habitations. 30 The sons of Asher.

NOW the sons of Issachar were, Tola, and Puah, Jashub, and Shimron, four.

2 And the sons of Tola; Uzzi, and Rephaiah, and Jeriel, and Jahmai, and Jibsam, and Shemuel, heads of their father's house, to wit, of Tola: they were valiant men of might in their generations; whose number was in the days of David two and twenty thousand and six hundred.

3 And the sons of Uzzi; Izrahiah: and the sons of Izrahiah; Michael, and Obadiah, and Joel, Ishiah, five: all of them chief men.

4 And with them, by their generations, after the house of their fathers, were bands of soldiers for war, six and thirty thousand men: for they had many wives and sons.

5 And their brethren among all the families of Issachar were valiant men of might, reckoned in all by their genealogies fourscore and seven thousand.

6 ¶ The sons of Benjamin; Bela, and Becher, and Jediael, three.

7 And the sons of Bela; Ezbon, and Uzzi, and Uzziel, and Jerimoth, and Iri, five; heads of the house of their fathers, mighty men of valour; and were reckoned by their genealogies twenty and two thousand and thirty and four.

8 And the sons of Becher; Zemira, and Joash, and Eliezer, and Elioenai, and Omri, and Jerimoth, and Abiah, and Anathoth, and Alameth. All these are the sons of Becher.

9 And the number of them, after their genealogy by their generations, heads of the house of their fathers, mighty men of valour, was twenty thousand and two hundred.

10 The sons also of Jediael; Bilhan: and the sons of Bilhan; Jeush, and Benjamin, and Ehud, and Chenaanah, and Zethan, and Tharshish, and Ahi-shahar.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. VI.

We may discern, from the xxx taken to preserve the genealogies of the Levites, and from the courses of the priests, that, in the first place, the minister of God should be distinguished, by the support afforded them and by their holy lives, from all other people; and, secondly, that, in the worship of God, "all things should be done decently, and in order."

11 All these the sons of Jediael, by the heads of their fathers, mighty men of valour, were seventeen thousand and two hundred soldiers, fit to go out for war and battle.

12 Shuppim also, and Huppim, the children of Ir, and Hushim, the sons of Aher.

13 ¶ The sons of Naphtali; Jahziel, and Guni, and Jezer, and Shallum, the sons of Bilhah.

14 ¶ The sons of Manasseh; Ashriel, whom she bare: (but his concubine the Aramite's bare Machir the father of Gilead:

15 And Machir took to wife the sister of Huppim and Shuppim, whose sister's name was Maachah;) and the name of the second was Zelophehad: and Zelophehad had daughters.

16 And Maachah the wife of Machir bare a son, and she called his name Pereah; and the name of his brother was Shereah; and his sons were Ulam and Rakem.

17 And the sons of Ulam; Bedan. These were the sons of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh.

18 And his sister Hammoleketh bare Ishod, and Abiezer, and Mahalah.

19 And the sons of Shemidah were, Ahian, and Sechem, and Likhi, and Aniam.

20 ¶ And the sons of Ephraim; Suthelah, and Bered his son, and Tahath his son, and Eladah his son, and Tahath his son,

21 And Zabad his son, and Shuthelah his son, and Ezer, and Elead, whom the men of Gath that were born in that land slew, because they came down to take away their cattle.

22 And Ephraim their father mourned many days, and his brethren came to comfort him.

23 ¶ And when he went in to his wife, she conceived, and bare a son, and he called his name Beriah, because it went evil with his house.

24 (And his daughter was Sherah, who built Beth-horon the nether, and the upper, and Uzzen-sherah.)

25 And Rephah was his son, also Resheph, and Telah his son, and Tahan his son, 26 Laadan his son, Ammihud his son, Elishama his son, 27 Non his son, Jehoshuah his son.

28 ¶ And their possessions and habitations were, Beth-el and the towns thereof, and eastward Naaran, and westward Gezer, with the towns thereof; Shechem also and the towns thereof, unto Gaza and the towns thereof:

29 And by the borders of the children of Manasseh, Beth-shean and her towns, Taanach and her towns, Megiddo and her towns, Dor and her towns. In these dwelt the children of Joseph the son of Israel.

30 ¶ The sons of Asher; Imnah, and Isuah, and Ishuai, and Beria, and Serah their sister.

31 And the sons of Beriah; Heber, and Malchiel, who is the father of Birzavith.

32 And Heber begat Japhlet, and Shomer, and Hotham, and Shua their sister.

33 And the sons of Japhlet; Pasach, and Bimhal, and Ashvath. These are the children of Japhlet.

34 And the sons of Shamer; Ahi, and Rohgah, Jehubbah, and Aram.

35 And the sons of his brother Helem; Zophah, and Imna, and Shelesh, and Amal.

36 The sons of Zophah; Suah, and Harnopher, and Shual, and Beri, and Imrah, 37 Bezer, and Hod, and Shamma, and Shilshah, and Ithran, and Beera.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VII.

12 And Hushim, the sons of Aher.] In an old translation of the bible, the whole verse runs thus: And Shuppim and Huppim were the sons of Ir, but Hushim was the son of another. See Gen. xlv. 23.

22 His brethren came, &c.] His kindred, as the word "brethren" often signifies.

28 Unto Gaza and the towns thereof.] Or rather Ad-azea; a place so called: for their border did not extend so far as Gaza in the land of the Philistines.

Before CHRIST 1444, &c. 38 And the sons of Jether; Jephunneh, and Pispah, and Ara.
39 And the sons of Ullah; Arah, and Hamiel, and Rezia.
40 All these were the children of Ashter, heads of their father's house, choice and mighty men of valour chief of the princes. And the number throughout the genealogy of them that were apt to the war and to battle was twenty and six thousand men.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The sons and chief men of Benjamin. 33 The stock of Saul and Jonathan.

Before CHRIST 1400, &c. NOW Benjamin begat Bela his firstborn, Ashbel the second, and Aharah the third,
■ Nohah the fourth, and Rapha the fifth.
3 And the sons of Bela were, Addar, and Gera, and Abihud,
4 And Abishua, and Naaman, and Ahoah,
5 And Gera, and Shephuphan, and HURAM.
6 And these are the sons of Ehud: these are the heads of the fathers of the inhabitants of Geba, and they removed them to Manahath:
7 And Naaman, and Ahiah, and Gera, he removed them, and begat Uzza, and Ahihud.
■ And Shaharaim begat children in the country of Moab, after he had sent them away; Hushim and Baara were his wives.
9 And he begat of Hodeh his wife, Jobab, and Zibia, and Mesha, and Malcham,
10 And Jeuz, and Shachia, and Mirma. These were his sons, heads of the fathers.
11 And of Hushim he begat Abitub, and Elpaal.
12 The sons of Elpaal; Eber, and Misham, and Shamed, who built Ono, and Lod, with the towns thereof:
13 Beriah also, and Shema, who were heads of the fathers of the inhabitants of Aijalon, who drove away the inhabitants of Gath:
14 And Ahio, Shashak, and Jeremoth,
15 And Zebadiah, and Arad, and Ader,
16 And Michael, and Ispah, and Joha, the sons of Beriah;
17 And Zebadiah, and Meshullam, and Hezeki, and Heber,
18 Ishmerai also, and Jezliah, and Jobab, the sons of Elpaal;
19 And Jakim, and Zichri, and Zabdi,
20 And Elienai, and Zilthai, and Eliel,
21 And Adaiah, and Beraiah, and Shimrath, the sons of Shimhi;
22 And Ishpan, and Heber, and Eliel,
23 And Abdon, and Zichri, and Hanan,
24 And Hananiah, and Elam, and Antothijah,
25 And Iphedeah, and Penuel, the sons of Shashak;
26 And Shamsherai, and Shehariah, and Athaliah,
27 And Jeresiah, and Eliab, and Zichri, the sons of Jeroham.
28 These were heads of the fathers, by their generations, chief men. These dwelt in Jerusalem.
29 And at Gibeon dwelt the father of Gibeon: whose wife's name was Maachah:

40 That were apt to the war and to battle, &c.] Though living in a rich and delicious country, in the best part of Galilee, they did not give themselves up to sloth, but were warlike and valiant people.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. VII.

We should particularly attend to the manner in which the tribe of Dan is taken notice of in this chapter; so as to teach us, that any kind of idolatry (especially that of the heart) is abominable in the sight of a holy and jealous God, who will not give his glory to another.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VIII.

28 These dwelt in Jerusalem.] It is probable that all these mentioned from verse 14, dwelt at Jerusalem, (one part of which belonged to the tribe of Benjamin) ■ they that are before-named did at Aijalon.

40 And the sons of Ulam were mighty ■ of valour, archers, &c.] In the Hebrew the word "archers" is, those that tread the bow; because their steel bows (then much in use among them) were so strong, that 33 ¶ And Ner begat Kish, and Kish begat Saul, and Saul begat Jonathan, and Malchi-shua, and Abinadab, and Esh-baal.

34 And the son of Jonathan was Merib-baal; and Merib-baal begat Micah.

35 And the sons of Micah were, Pithon, and Melech, and Tarea, and Ahaz.

36 And Ahaz begat Jehoadah, and Jehoadah begat Alemeth, and Azmaveth, and Zimri; and Zimri begat Moza,

37 And Moza begat Binea: Rapha was his son, Eleasah his son, Azel his son:

38 And Azel had six sons, whose names are these, Azrikam, Bocheru, and Ishmael, and Sheariah, and Obadiah, and Hanan. All these were the sons of Azel.

39 And the sons of Eshak his brother were, Ulam his firstborn, Jehush the second, and Eliphelet the third.

40 And the sons of Ulam were mighty men of valour, archers, and had many sons, and sons' sons, an hundred and fifty. All these are the sons of Benjamin.

CHAP. IX.

1 Concerning the original registers of the genealogies of Israel and Judah. 2 The distribution of those who returned to their possessions after the captivity. 3 The Israelites who inhabited Jerusalem on their return; 10 and the priests, 14 and Levites who resided there, attending upon their several charges. 35 The stock of Saul and Jonathan.

SO all Israel were reckoned by genealogies; and, behold, they were written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah, who were carried away to Babylon for their transgression.

■ ¶ Now the first inhabitants that dwelt in their possessions in their cities were, the Israelites, the priests, Levites, and the Nethinims.

3 ¶ And in Jerusalem dwelt of the children of Judah, and of the children of Benjamin, and of the children of Ephraim, and Manasseh;

4 Uthai the son of Ammihud, the son of Omri, the son of Imri, the son of Bani, of the children of Pharez the son of Judah.

5 And of the Shilonites; Afaiah the firstborn, and his sons.

6 And the sons of Zerah; Juel, and their brethren, six hundred and ninety.

7 And of the sons of Benjamin; Sallu the son of Meshullam, the son of Hodaviah, the son of Hasenuah,

8 And Idneiah the son of Jeroham, and Elah the son of Uzzi, the son of Michri, and Meshullam the son of Shephatiah, the son of Reuel, the son of Ibnijah;

9 And their brethren, according to their generations, nine hundred and fifty and six. All these men were chief of the fathers in the house of their fathers.

10 ¶ And of the priests; Jedaiah, and Jehoiarib, and Jachin, they could not bend them with their arms; but sat down, and, pressing them with their feet, pulled the arrow with both hands, that it might fly with greater force.

11 And

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. VIII.

By the honourable mention made of the tribe of Benjamin, in this chapter, for adhering ■ that of Judah, that they who espouse the cause of God and his people will have a happy portion; for, they that honour God, he will honour and bless.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. IX.

1 So all Israel were reckoned, &c.] As much as to say, Thus have I summarily reckoned up the genealogies of all the tribes, as I found them in the public registers.

12 And Adaiah the son of Jeroham, the son of Pashur, the son of Malchijah, and Maasiah the son of Adiel, the son of Jahzerah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Meshillemith, the son of Immer;

13 And their brethren, heads of the house of their fathers, a thousand and seven hundred and threescore; very able men for the work of the service of the house of God.

14 ¶ And of the Levites; Shemaiah the son of Hashub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, of the sons of Merari;

15 And Bakbakkar, Heresh, and Galal, and Mattaniah the son of Micah, the son of Zichri, the son of Asaph;

16 And Obadiah the son of Shemaiah, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun, and Berechiah the son of Asa, the son of Elkanah, that dwelt in the villages of the Netophathites.

17 And the porters were, Shallum, and Akkub, and Talmon, and Ahiman, and their brethren: Shallum was the chief;

18 Who hitherto waited in the king's gate eastward: they were porters in the companies of the children of Levi.

19 And Shallum the son of Kore, the son of Ebiasaph, the son of Korah, and his brethren, of the house of his father, the Korathites, were over the work of the service, keepers of the gates of the tabernacle: and their fathers, being over the host of the LORD, were keepers of the entry.

20 And Phinehas the son of Eleazar was the ruler over them in time past, and the LORD was with him.

21 And Zechariah the son of Meshelemiah was porter of the door of the tabernacle of the congregation.

22 All these which were chosen to be porters in the gates were two hundred and twelve. These were reckoned by their genealogy in their villages, whom David and Samuel the seer did ordain in their set office.

23 So they and their children had the oversight of the gates of the house of the LORD, namely, the house of the tabernacle, by wards.

24 In four quarters were the porters, toward the east, west, north, and south.

25 And their brethren, which were in their villages, were to come after seven days from time to time with them.

26 For these Levites, the four chief porters, were in their set office, and were over the chambers and treasures of the house of God.

27 And they lodged round about the house of God, because the charge was upon them, and the opening thereof every morning pertained to them.

28 And certain of them had the charge of the ministering vessels, that they should bring them in and out by tale.

29 Some of them also were appointed to oversee the vessels, and all the instruments of the sanctuary, and the fine flour, and the wine, and the oil, and the frankincense, and the spices.

30 And some of the sons of the priests made the ointment of the spices.

11 The ruler of the house of God.] Or, a ruler in the house of God; for he was not the high-priest, nor the principal ruler, but one in great authority under him.

19 Keepers of the entry.] Those who took care of the court, that none should enter into it but such as the law allowed.

22 Whom David and Samuel the seer did ordain, &c.] As Samuel had projected; and David carried into execution.

23 Namely, the house of the tabernacle, &c.] Built for the worship of God, till the temple was finished.

35 And in Gibeon dwelt, &c.] The narrative of the descent and family of Saul is here repeated, the better to connect with it the history that follows concerning the death of that king.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. IX.
The regular manner of classing the Levites indicates to us, that God No. 34.

31 And Mattithiah, one of the Levites, who was the firstborn of Shallum the Korahite, had the set office over the things that were made in the pans.

32 And other of their brethren, of the sons of the Kohathites, were over the shewbread, to prepare it every sabbath.

33 And these are the fingers, chief of the fathers of the Levites, who remaining in the chambers were free: for they were employed in that work day and night.

34 These chief fathers of the Levites were chief throughout their generations; these dwelt at Jerusalem.

35 ¶ And in Gibeon dwelt the father of Gibeon, Jehiel, whose wife's name was Maachah:

36 And his firstborn son Abdon, then Zur, and Kish, and Baal, and Ner, and Nadab, 37 And Gedor, and Ahio, and Zechariah, and Mikloth.

38 And Mikloth begat Shimeam. And they also dwelt with their brethren at Jerusalem, over against their brethren.

39 And Ner begat Kishi; and Kish begat Saul; and Saul begat Jonathan, and Malchishua, and Abinadab, and Esh-baal.

40 And the son of Jonathan was Merib-baal: and Merib-baal begat Micah.

41 And the sons of Micah were, Pithon, and Melech, and Tahrea, and Ahaz.

42 And Ahaz begat Jarah; and Jarah begat Alemeth, and Azmaveth, and Zimri; and Zimri begat Moza;

43 And Moza begat Binea; and Rephaiah his son, Eleasah his son, Azel his son.

44 And Azel had six sons, whose names are these, Azrikam, Bocheru, and Ishmael, and Sheariah, and Obadiah, and Hanan: these were the sons of Azel.

CHAP. X.

1 Saul's overthrow and death: 8 The Philistines triumph:

11 The kindness shewn by the men of Jabesh-gilead toward Saul and his sons. 13 Saul's sin: for which the kingdom was translated from him to David.

NOW the Philistines fought against Israel; and the men of Israel fled from before the Philistines, and fell down slain in mount Gilboa. 1056.

2 And the Philistines followed hard after Saul, and after his sons; and the Philistines slew Jonathan, and Abinadab, and Malchishua, the sons of Saul.

3 And the battle went sore against Saul, and the archers hit him, and he was wounded of the archers.

4 Then said Saul to his armourbearer, Draw thy sword, and thrust me through therewith; lest these uncircumcised come and abuse me. But his armourbearer would not; for he was sore afraid. So Saul took a sword, and fell upon it.

5 And when his armourbearer saw that Saul was dead, he fell likewise on the sword, and died.

6 So Saul died, and his three sons, and all his house died together.

7 And when all the men of Israel that were in the valley saw that they fled, and that Saul and his sons were dead, then they forsook their cities, and fled; and the Philistines came and dwelt in them.

8 ¶ And it came to pass on the morrow, when the Philistines came to strip the slain, that they found Saul and his sons fallen in mount Gilboa.

expects orderly discipline in his church, as well as spiritual and internal worship; and from the diligence used by the Israelites in rebuilding the temple after the captivity, we are taught, that when God vouchsafes us any signal deliverance, we should testify our gratitude by every act of holy obedience to him.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. X.

1 Now the Philistines, &c.] This history (related also in 1 Sam. xxxi.) is here repeated in order to introduce the history of David, (for that is principally intended in the remainder of this book) who, upon the death of Saul, was advanced to the crown.

7 In the valley, &c.] That is, the towns in the open country, which were not fortified.

Before
1056.

9 And when they had stripped him, they took his head, and his armour, and sent into the land of the Philistines round about, to carry tidings unto their idols, and to the people.

10 And they put his armour in the house of their gods, and fastened his head in the temple of Dagon.

11 ¶ And when all Jabesh-gilead heard all that the Philistines had done to Saul,

12 They arose, all the valiant men, and took away the body of Saul, and the bodies of his sons, and brought them to Jabesh, and buried their bones under the oak in Jabesh, and fasted seven days.

13 ¶ So Saul died for his transgression which he committed against the LORD, even against the word of the LORD, which he kept not, and also for asking counsel of one that had a familiar spirit, to enquire of it;

14 And enquired not of the LORD; therefore he slew him, and turned the kingdom unto David the son of Jesse.

C H A P. XI.

1 David by general consent is made king over Israel at Hebron. 4 He winneth the castle of Zion from the Jebusites: Joab for his valour is made chief: David's prosperity through God's blessing. 10 A catalogue of David's mighty men, with their principal achievements.

1048. THEN all Israel gathered themselves to David unto Hebron, saying, Behold, we are thy bone and thy flesh.

¶ And moreover in time past, even when Saul was king, thou wast he that leddest out and broughtest in Israel: and the LORD thy God said unto thee, Thou shalt feed my people Israel, and thou shalt be ruler over my people Israel.

3 Therefore came all the elders of Israel to the king to Hebron; and David made a covenant with them in Hebron before the LORD; and they anointed David king over Israel, according to the word of the LORD by Samuel.

4 ¶ And David and all Israel went to Jerusalem, which is Jebus; where the Jebusites were, the inhabitants of the land.

5 And the inhabitants of Jebus said to David, Thou shalt not come hither. Nevertheless David took the castle of Zion, which is the city of David.

6 And David said, Whosoever smiteth the Jebusites first shall be chief and captain. So Joab the son of Zeruiah went first up, and was chief.

7 And David dwelt in the castle; therefore they called it the city of David.

8 And he built the city round about, even from Millo round about: and Joab repaired the rest of the city.

9 So David waxed greater and greater: for the LORD of hosts was with him.

10 ¶ These also are the chief of the mighty men whom David had, who strengthened themselves with him in his kingdom, and with all Israel, to make him king, according to the word of the LORD concerning Israel.

11 And this is the number of the mighty men whom David had; Jashobeam, an Hachmonite, the chief of the captains: he lifted up his spear against three hundred slain by him at one time.

12 And after him was Eleazar the son of Dodo, the Ahohite, who was one of the three mighties.

1047. 13 He was with David at Pas-dammim, and there the Philistines were gathered together to battle, where was a parcel of ground full of barley: and the people fled from before the Philistines.

14 And they set themselves in the midst of that parcel, and delivered it, and slew the Philistines; and the LORD saved them by a great deliverance.

15 Now three of the thirty captains went down to the rock to David, into the cave of Adullam; and the host of the Philistines encamped in the valley of Rephaim.

16 And David was then in the hold, and the Philistines' garrison was then at Beth-lehem.

17 And David longed, and said, Oh that one would give me drink of the water of the well of Beth-lehem, that is at the gate!

18 And the three brake through the host of the Philistines, and drew water out of the well of Beth-lehem, that was by the gate, and took it, and brought it to David: but David would not drink of it, but poured it out to the LORD,

19 And said, My God forbid it me, that I should do this thing: shall I drink the blood of these men that have put their lives in jeopardy? for with the jeopardy of their lives they brought it. Therefore he would not drink it. These things did these three mightiest.

20 And Abishai the brother of Joab, he was chief of the three: for lifting up his spear against three hundred, he slew them, and had a name among the three.

21 Of the three, he was more honourable than the two; for he was their captain: howbeit he attained not to the first three.

22 Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, the son of a valiant man of Kabzeel, who had done many acts; he slew two lionlike men of Moab: also he went down and slew a lion in a pit in a snowy day.

23 And he slew an Egyptian, a man of great stature, five cubits high; and in the Egyptian's hand was a spear like a weaver's beam; and he went down to him with a staff, and plucked the spear out of the Egyptian's hand, and slew him with his own spear.

24 These things did Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and had a name among the three mighties.

25 Behold, he was honourable among the thirty, but attained not to the first three: and David set him over his guard.

26 Also the valiant men of the armies were, Asahel the brother of Joab, Elhanan the son of Dodo of Beth-lehem,

27 Shamoth the Harorite, Helez the Pelonite,

28 Ira the son of Ikkeish the Tekoite, Abi-ezer the Antothite,

29 Sibbecai the Hushathite, Ithai the Ahohite,

30 Maharai the Netophathite, Heled the son of Baanah the Netophathite,

31 Ithai the son of Ribai of Gibeah, that pertained to the children of Benjamin, Benaiah the Pirathonite,

32 Hurai of the brooks of Gaash, Abiel the Arbathite,

33 Azmaveth the Baharumite, Eliahba the Shaalbonite,

34 The son of Hashem the Gizonite, Jonathan the son of Shage the Hararite,

35 Ahiam the son of Sacar the Hararite, Eliphal the son of Ur,

36 Hopher the Mecherathite, Ahijah the Pelonite,

37 Hezro the Carmelite, Naari the son of Ezbai,

38 Joel the brother of Nathan, Mibhar the son of Haggeri,

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. X.

In this chapter we are taught, that they who forsake God and his ways, and persist in their rebellions, will in the end involve themselves and their adherents in misery and ruin.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XI.

¶ Then all Israel gathered themselves to David, &c.] After the death of Ishbosheth, when David had reigned over Israel seven years and six months in Hebron.

3 According to the word of the Lord by Samuel.] These words are here added, to shew how the people came to know that God told David that he should govern Israel. Samuel declared it to him, and doubtless published it among the people.

38 Joel the brother of Nathan, &c.] In 2 Sam. xxiii. 36. Joel is called Igal, and said to be the son of Nathan. But to account for this is easy: for he might be both, if he was his adopted son for want of children: the word "son" often signifying no more than nephew, as the word "brother" doth one of near a-kin.

- 39 Zelek the Ammonite, Naharai the Berothite, the armourbearer of Joab the son of Zeruiah,
40 Ira the Ithrite, Gareb the Ithrite,
41 Uriah the Hittite, Zabad the son of Ahlai,
42 Adina the son of Shiza the Reubenite, a captain of the Reubenites, and thirty with him, 43 Hanan the son of Maachah, and Josphat the Mithnite,
44 Uzzia the Ashterathite, Shama and Jehiel the sons of Hothan the Aroerite, 45 Jedaiel the son of Shimri, and Joha his brother,
the Tizite,
46 Eliel the Mahavite, and Jeribai, and Joshaviah,
the sons of Elnaam, and Ithmah the Moabite,
47 Eliel, and Obed, and Jasiel the Mesobaite.

CHAP. XII.

The companies that came to David at Ziklag. 23 The armed troops that came to him at Hebron.

NOW these are they that came to David to Zik-lag, while he yet kept himself close because of Saul the son of Kish: and they were among the mighty men, helpers of the war.

2 They were armed with bows, and could use both the right hand and the left in hurling stones and shooting arrows out of a bow, even of Saul's brethren of Benjamin.

3 The chief was Ahiezer, then Joash, the sons of Shemaah the Gibeathite; and Jeziel, and Pelet, the sons of Azmaveth; and Berachah, and Jehu the Antothite,

4 And Ismaiah the Gibeonite, a mighty man among the thirty, and over the thirty: and Jeremiah, and Jahaziel, and Johanan, and Jolabad the Gederathite,

5 Eluzai, and Jerimoth, and Bealiah, and Shemariah, and Shephatiah the Haruphite,

6 Elkanah, and Jesiah, and Azazel, and Joezer, and Jashobeam, the Korhites,

7 And Joelah, and Zebadiah, the sons of Jeroham, of Gedor.

8 And of the Gadites they separated themselves unto David into the hold to the wilderness men of might, and men of war fit for the battle, that could handle shield and buckler, whose faces were like the faces of lions, and were as swift as the roes upon the mountain;

9 Ezer the first, Obadiah the second, Eliab the third,

10 Mishmannah the fourth, Jeremiah the fifth,

11 Attai the sixth, Eliel the seventh,

12 Johanan the eighth, Elzabad the ninth,

13 Jeremiah the tenth, Machbani the eleventh.

14 These were of the sons of Gad, captains of the host:
one of the least was over an hundred, and the greatest over a thousand.

15 These are they that went over Jordan in the first month, when it had overflowed all his banks; and they put to flight all them of the vallies, both toward the east, and toward the west.

16 And there came of the children of Benjamin and Judah to the hold unto David.

17 And David went out to meet them, and answered and said unto them, If ye be come peaceably unto me to help me, mine heart shall be knit unto you: but if ye be come to betray me to mine enemies, seeing there is no wrong in mine hands, the God of our fathers look thereon, and rebuke it.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XI.

From the conduct of David we may learn, that they who suffer patiently in a good cause, will in the end be crowned with honour; and that we ought to deny ourselves the gratifications of sense, when inconsistent with our duty or the safety of others.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XII.

1 Now these are they that came to David, &c.] Here is an honourable mention made of those persons, who (pitying David's condition when forced to flee from the rage of Saul) joined him in his exile: they are omitted in the book of Samuel.

15 These are they that went over Jordan in the first month, when it had overflowed all his banks, &c.] They ventured over Jordan in the most 18 Then the spirit came upon Amasai, who was chief of the captains, and he said, Thine are we, David, and on thy side, thou son of Jesse: peace, peace be unto thee, and peace be to thine helpers; for thy God helpeth thee. Then David received them, and made them captains of the band.

19 And there fell some of Manasseh to David, when he came with the Philistines against Saul to battle: but they helped them not: for the lords of the Philistines upon advisement sent him away, saying, He will fall to his master Saul to the jeopardy of our heads.

20 As he went to Ziklag, there fell to him of Manasseh, Adnah, and Jozabad, and Jedaiel, and Michael, and Jozabad, and Elihu, and Zilthai, captains of the thousands that were of Manasseh.

21 And they helped David against the band of the rovers: for they were all mighty men of valour, and were captains in the host.

22 For at that time day by day there came to David to help him, until it was a great host, like the host of God.

23 ¶ And these are the numbers of the bands that were ready armed to the war, and came to David to Hebron, to turn the kingdom of Saul to him, according to the word of the LORD.

24 The children of Judah that bare shield and spear were six thousand and eight hundred, ready armed to the war.

25 Of the children of Simeon, mighty men of valour for the war, seven thousand and one hundred.

26 Of the children of Levi four thousand and six hundred:

27 And Jehoiada was the leader of the Aaronites, and with him were three thousand and seven hundred;

28 And Zadok, a young man mighty of valour, and of his father's house twenty and two captains.

29 And of the children of Benjamin, the kindred of Saul, three thousand: for hitherto the greatest part of them had kept the ward of the house of Saul.

30 And of the children of Ephraim twenty thousand and eight hundred, mighty men of valour, famous throughout the house of their fathers.

31 And of the half tribe of Manasseh eighteen thousand, which were expressed by name, to come and make David king.

32 And of the children of Issachar, which were men that had understanding of the times, to know what Israel ought to do; the heads of them were two hundred; and all their brethren were at their commandment.

33 Of Zebulun, such as went forth to battle, expert in war, with all instruments of war, fifty thousand, which could keep rank: they were not of double heart.

34 And of Naphtali a thousand captains, and with them with shield and spear thirty and seven thousand.

35 And of the Danites expert in war twenty and eight thousand and six hundred.

36 And of Asher, such as went forth to battle, expert in war, forty thousand.

37 And on the other side of Jordan, of the Reu-benites, and the Gadites, and of the half tribe of Manasseh, with all manner of instruments of war for the battle, an hundred and twenty thousand.

38 All these men of war, that could keep rank, came with a perfect heart to Hebron, to make David king over dangerous season, and perhaps swam over, when the stream was most rapid and violent, to help their brethren.

18 The spirit came upon Amasai, &c.] God inspired him with an intrepid boldness to profess, in the name of his companions, their fidelity to David, in such pathetic words as convinced him they were really his friends.

27 Jehoiada was the leader of the Aaronites, &c.] The chief commander of those of the family of Aaron, who came to invite Aaron to take upon him the government.

32 Of the children of Issachar, which were men that had understanding of the time, &c.] The best explication of this passage is, that they were men who were well versed in political affairs, and knew what was most proper to be done in all exigencies of human life, as the words immediately following sufficiently indicate.

Before CHRIST 1048. over all Israel: and all the rest also of Israel were of one heart to make David king.

39 And there they were with David three days, eating and drinking: for their brethren had prepared for them.

40 Moreover they that were nigh them, even unto Issachar and Zebulun and Naphtali, brought bread on asses, and on camels, and on mules, and on oxen, and meat, meal, cakes of figs, and bunches of raisins, and wine, and oil, and oxen, and sheep abundantly: for there was joy in Israel.

CHAP. XIII.

1 David fetcheth the ark with great solemnity from Kirjath-jearim. 9 Uzza being smitten, the ark is left at the house of Obed-edom.

1043. AND David consulted with the captains of thousands and hundreds, and with every leader.

2 And David said unto all the congregation of Israel, If it seem good unto you, and that it be of the Lord our God, let us send abroad unto our brethren every where, that are left in all the land of Israel, and with them also to the priests and Levites which are in their cities and suburbs, that they may gather themselves unto us:

3 And let us bring again the ark of our God to us: for we enquired not at it in the days of Saul.

4 And all the congregation said that they would do so: for the thing was right in the eyes of all the people.

5 So David gathered all Israel together from Shihor of Egypt even unto the entering of Hemath, to bring the ark of God from Kirjath-jearim.

6 And David went up, and all Israel, to Baalah, that is to Kirjath-jearim, which belonged to Judah, to bring up thence the ark of God the Lord, that dwelleth between the cherubims, whose name is called on it.

7 And they carried the ark of God in a new cart out of the house of Abinadab: and Uzza and Ahio drove the cart.

8 And David and all Israel played before God with all their might, and with singing, and with harps, and with psalteries, and with timbrels, and with cymbals, and with trumpets.

9 ¶ And when they came unto the threshingfloor of Chidon, Uzza put forth his hand to hold the ark; for the oxen stumbled.

10 And the anger of the Lord was kindled against Uzza, and he smote him, because he put his hand to the ark: and there he died before God.

11 And David was displeased, because the Lord had made a breach upon Uzza: wherefore that place is called Perez-uzza to this day.

12 And David was afraid of God that day, saying, How shall I bring the ark of God home to me?

13 So David brought not the ark home to himself to the city of David, but carried it aside into the house of Obed-edom the Gittite.

14 And the ark of God remained with the family of Obed-edom in his house three months. And the Lord blessed the house of Obed-edom, and all that he had.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XII.

From the providential care taken of David, we may say, Blessed are they around whom are the everlasting arms of the Almighty, who can make every thing subservient to his designs; and hence we may infer, that if we are the real servants of God, we shall find rest in him when all temporal afflictions have an end.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES on CHAP. XIII.

2 And that it be of the Lord our God, &c.] Agreeable to his will and purpose.

3 Let us bring again the ark] The first care of this pious prince was about religion.

We enquired not at it in the days of Saul.] They were not solicited in the days of Saul to find a fit place for the residence of the ark of God, where they might conveniently attend upon his worship and service; for they were hindered by perpetual wars, and contented themselves with Gibeon, where the tabernacle was, though without the presence of God in it.

CHAP. XIV.

1 Hiram sendeth timber and builders to David. 2 The prosperity of David's kingdom. 3 His additional wives and children after his accession to the kingdom. 8 His two signal victories over the Philistines.

NOW Hiram king of Tyre sent messengers to David, and timber of cedars, with masons and carpenters, to build him an house.

2 ¶ And David perceived that the Lord had confirmed him king over Israel, for his kingdom was lifted up on high, because of his people Israel.

3 ¶ And David took more wives at Jerusalem: and David begat more sons and daughters.

4 Now these are the names of his children which he had in Jerusalem; Shammuah, and Shobab, Nathan, and Solomon,

5 And Ibhar, and Elishua, and Elpalet,

6 And Nogah, and Nepheg, and Japhia,

7 And Elishama, and Beeliada, and Eliphalet.

8 ¶ And when the Philistines heard that David was anointed king over all Israel, all the Philistines went up to seek David. And David heard of it, and went out against them.

9 And the Philistines came and spread themselves in the valley of Rephaim.

10 And David enquired of God, saying, Shall I go up against the Philistines? and wilt thou deliver them into mine hand? And the Lord said unto him, Go up; for I will deliver them into thine hand.

11 So they came up to Baal-perazim; and David smote them there. Then David said, God hath broken in upon mine enemies by mine hand like the breaking forth of waters: therefore they called the name of that place Baal-perazim.

12 And when they had left their gods there, David gave a commandment, and they were burned with fire.

13 And the Philistines yet again spread themselves abroad in the valley.

14 Therefore David enquired again of God; and God said unto him, Go not up after them; turn away from them, and come upon them over against the mulberry trees.

15 And it shall be, when thou shalt hear a sound of going in the tops of the mulberry trees, that then thou shalt go out to battle: for God is gone forth before thee to smite the host of the Philistines.

16 David therefore did as God commanded him: and they smote the host of the Philistines from Gibeon even to Gazer.

17 And the fame of David went out into all lands; and the Lord brought the fear of him upon all nations.

CHAP. XV.

1 David, having prepared a place for the ark, ordereth the priests and Levites to bring it from the house of Obed-edom. 25 The solemnity is attended by David and all Israel with great demonstrations of joy. 29 Michal despiseth David for dancing before the ark.

AND

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XIII.

From the desire of David to bring the ark to Jerusalem, where he was peaceably settled on the throne, we may learn, that it is the duty of princes to promote the true worship of God, who will bless those who draw nigh to him with sincerity, and becoming reverence.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES on CHAP. XIV.

9 Came and spread themselves, &c.] This phrase of spreading themselves seems to import that they were very numerous, and assured themselves of victory.

11 Baal perazim, &c.] That is, "the valley of divisions," because the enemy were dispersed there like waters.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XIV.

This chapter, among other useful lessons, teaches us, from the king of Tyre's sending presents to David, that when a man's ways please the Lord, he makes his very enemies to become friends, and to be at peace with him.

COMMENTARY

AND David made him houses in the city of David, and prepared a place for the ark of God, and pitched for it a tent.

2 Then David said, None ought to carry the ark of God but the Levites: for them hath the LORD chosen to carry the ark of God, and to minister unto him for ever.

3 And David gathered all Israel together to Jerusalem, to bring up the ark of the LORD unto his place, which he had prepared for it.

4 And David assembled the children of Aaron, and the Levites:

5 Of the sons of Kohath; Uriel the chief, and his brethren an hundred and twenty:

6 Of the sons of Merari; Afaiah the chief, and his brethren two hundred and twenty:

7 Of the sons of Gershom; Joel the chief, and his brethren an hundred and thirty:

8 Of the sons of Elizaphan; Shemaiah the chief, and his brethren two hundred:

9 Of the sons of Hebron; Eliel the chief, and his brethren fourscore:

10 Of the sons of Uzziel; Amminadab the chief, and his brethren an hundred and twelve.

11 And David called for Zadok and Abiathar the priests, and for the Levites, for Uriel, Afaiah, and Joel, Shemaiah, and Eliel, and Amminadab, 12 And said unto them, Ye are the chief of the fathers of the Levites: sanctify yourselves, both ye and your brethren, that ye may bring up the ark of the LORD God of Israel unto the place that I have prepared for it.

13 For because ye did it not at the first, the LORD our God made a breach upon us, for that we sought him not after the due order.

14 So the priests and the Levites sanctified themselves to bring up the ark of the LORD God of Israel.

15 And the children of the Levites bare the ark of God upon their shoulders with the staves thereon, as Moses commanded according to the word of the LORD.

16 And David spake to the chief of the Levites to appoint their brethren to be the singers with instruments of musick, psalteries, and harps, and cymbals, sounding, by lifting up the voice with joy.

17 So the Levites appointed Heman the son of Joel; and of his brethren, Asaph the son of Berechiah; and of the sons of Merari their brethren, Ethan the son of Cuthaiah;

18 And with them their brethren of the second degree, Zechariah, Ben, and Jaaziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, Eliab, and Benaiah, and Maaseiah, and Mattithiah, and Elipheleh, and Mikneiah, and Obed-edom, and Jeiel, the porters.

19 So the singers, Heman, Asaph, and Ethan, were appointed to sound with cymbals of brass.

20 And Zechariah, and Aziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, and Eliab, and Maaseiah, and Benaiah, with psalteries on Alamoth.

21 And Mattithiah, and Elipheleh, and Mikneiah, and Obed-edom, and Jeiel, and Azaziah, with harps on the Sheminith to excel.

22 And Chenaniah, chief of the Levites, was for song: he instructed about the song, because he was skilful.

23 And Berechiah and Elkanah were doorkeepers for the ark.

24 And Shebaniah, and Jehoshaphat, and Nethaneel, and Amasai, and Zechariah, and Benaiah, and Eliezer, the priests, did blow with the trumpets before the ark of God: and Obed-edom and Jehiah were doorkeepers for the ark.

25 ¶ So David and the elders of Israel, and the captains over thousands, went to bring up the ark of the covenant of the LORD out of the house of Obed-edom with joy.

26 And it came to pass, when God helped the Levites that bare the ark of the covenant of the LORD, that they offered seven bullocks and seven rams.

27 And David was clothed with a robe of fine linen, and all the Levites that bare the ark, and the singers, and Chenaniah the master of the song with the singers: David also had upon him an ephod of linen.

28 Thus all Israel brought up the ark of the covenant of the LORD with shouting, and with sound of the cornet, and with trumpets, and with cymbals, making a noise with psalteries and harps.

29 ¶ And it came to pass, as the ark of the covenant of the LORD came to the city of David, that Michal the daughter of Saul looking out at a window saw king David dancing and playing: and she despised him in her heart.

CHAP. XVI.

1 David's festival sacrifice, and liberality to the people. 4 He appointeth a band of singers and music to praise the LORD. 7 The psalm of thanksgiving. 37 He appointeth ministers, porters, priests, and musicians, to attend continually on the ark.

SO they brought the ark of God, and set it in the midst of the tent that David had pitched for it: and they offered burnt sacrifices and peace offerings before God.

2 And when David had made an end of offering the burnt offerings and the peace offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the LORD.

3 And he dealt to every one of Israel, both man and woman, to every one a loaf of bread, and a good piece of flesh, and a flagon of wine.

4 ¶ And he appointed certain of the Levites to minister before the ark of the LORD, and to record, and to thank and praise the LORD God of Israel:

5 Asaph the chief, and next to him Zechariah, and Jeiel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Mattithiah, and Eliab, and Benaiah, and Obed-edom: and Jeiel with psalteries and with harps; but Asaph made a sound with cymbals;

6 Benaiah also and Jahaziel the priests with trumpets continually before the ark of the covenant of God.

7 ¶ Then on that day David delivered first this psalm to thank the LORD into the hand of Asaph and his brethren.

8 Give thanks unto the LORD, call upon his name, make known his deeds among the people.

9 Sing unto him, sing psalms unto him, talk ye of all his wondrous works.

10 Glory ye in his holy name: let the heart of them rejoice that seek the LORD.

11 Seek the LORD and his strength, seek his face continually.

12 Remember

office; and that the presence of God is always the ground of the believer's joy.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XVI.

7 Then on that day David delivered first this psalm, &c.] Or, as it may be translated, This David ordained in the first place at that time, i. e. he then ordered that God should be praised by Asaph and his assistants in the following manner.

8 Give thanks unto the Lord, &c.] This hymn is taken from Psalm lvi. and cv. which David had composed before this time; wherein the divine perfections are beautifully set forth, that the people might be excited to fear, love, and obey God.

11 Seek the Lord and his strength, &c.] Sensible of your own weakness, depend upon his power for help.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XV.

2 None ought to carry the ark of God but the Levites, &c.] The former miscarriage had taught David to use the ark with more reverence, and take care that the Levites, according to the express precept of the law, should bear it on their shoulders.

16 Sounding, by lifting up the voice with joy.] Singing so loud that all might hear, and have their hearts lifted up with joy in God.

27 David was clothed with a robe of fine linen, &c.] By this perhaps may be understood, that David put off his royal robes, and put on those of a person beneath his rank.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XV.

From the Levites being appointed to bring up the ark, we may learn, that none but true ministers should take upon them the sacred

Before
CHRIST
1042.

12 Remember his marvellous works that he hath done, his wonders, and the judgments of his mouth;
 13 O ye seed of Israel his servant, ye children of Jacob, his chosen ones.
 14 He is the LORD our God; his judgments are in all the earth.
 15 Be ye mindful always of his covenant; the word which he commanded to a thousand generations;
 16 Even of the covenant which he made with Abraham, and of his oath unto Isaac;
 17 And hath confirmed the same to Jacob for a law, and to Israel for an everlasting covenant.
 18 Saying, Unto thee will I give the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance;
 19 When ye were but few, even a few, and strangers in it.
 20 And when they went from nation to nation, and from one kingdom to another people;
 21 He suffered no man to do them wrong: yea, he reproved kings for their sakes,
 22 Saying, Touch not mine anointed, and do my prophets no harm.
 23 Sing unto the LORD, all the earth; shew forth from day to day his salvation.
 24 Declare his glory among the heathen; his marvellous works among all nations.
 25 For great is the LORD, and greatly to be praised: he also is to be feared above all gods.
 26 For all the gods of the people are idols: but the LORD made the heavens.
 27 Glory and honour are in his presence; strength and gladness are in his place.
 28 Give unto the LORD, ye kindreds of the people, give unto the LORD glory and strength.
 29 Give unto the LORD the glory due unto his name: bring an offering, and come before him: worship the LORD in the beauty of holiness.
 30 Fear before him, all the earth: the world also shall be stable, that it be not moved.
 31 Let the heavens be glad, and let the earth rejoice: and let men say among the nations, The LORD reigneth.
 32 Let the sea roar, and the fulness thereof: let the fields rejoice, and all that is therein.
 33 Then shall the trees of the wood sing out at the presence of the LORD, because he cometh to judge the earth.
 34 O give thanks unto the LORD; for he is good; for his mercy endureth for ever.
 35 And say ye, Save us, O God of our salvation, and gather us together, and deliver us from the heathen, that we may give thanks to thy holy name, and glory in thy praise.
 36 Blessed be the LORD God of Israel for ever and ever. And all the people said, Amen, and praised the LORD.
 37 ¶ So he left there before the ark of the covenant of the LORD Asaph and his brethren, to minister before the ark continually, as every day's work required:
 38 And Obed-edom with their brethren, threescore and eight; Obed-edom also the son of Jeduthun and Hosah to be porters:
 39 And Zadok the priest, and his brethren the priests, before the tabernacle of the LORD in the high place that was at Gibeon, 40 To offer burnt offerings unto the LORD upon the altar of the burnt offering continually morning and evening, and to do according to all that is written in the law of the LORD, which he commanded Israel;

41 And with them Heman and Jeduthun, and the rest that were chosen, who were expressed by name, to give thanks to the LORD, because his mercy endureth for ever;

42 And with them Heman and Jeduthun with trumpets and cymbals for those that should make a sound, and with musical instruments of God. And the sons of Jeduthun were porters.

43 And all the people departed every man to his house: and David returned to bless his house.

C H A P. XVII.

¶ Nathan, first approving David's purpose to build God an house, 3 afterward by the word of the LORD forbiddeth it, but with assurance of favour, 11 and a promise of especial blessings in his seed. 16 David's prayer and thanksgiving.

NOW it came to pass, as David sat in his house, that David said to Nathan the prophet, Lo, I dwell in an house of cedars, but the ark of the covenant of the LORD remaineth under curtains.

2 Then Nathan said unto David, Do all that is in thine heart; for God is with thee.

3 ¶ And it came to pass the same night, that the word of God came to Nathan, saying,

4 Go and tell David my servant, Thus saith the LORD, Thou shalt not build me an house to dwell in:

5 For I have not dwelt in an house since the day that I brought up Israel unto this day; but have gone from tent to tent, and from one tabernacle to another.

6 Wheresoever I have walked with all Israel, spake I a word to any of the judges of Israel, whom I commanded to feed my people, saying, Why have ye not built me an house of cedars?

7 Now therefore thus shalt thou say unto my servant David, Thus saith the LORD of hosts, I took thee from the sheepcote, even from following the sheep, that thou shouldest be ruler over my people Israel:

8 And I have been with thee whithersoever thou hast walked, and have cut off all thine enemies from before thee, and have made thee a name like the name of the great men that are in the earth.

9 Also I will ordain a place for my people Israel, and will plant them, and they shall dwell in their place, and shall be moved no more; neither shall the children of wickedness waste them any more, as at the beginning,

10 And since the time that I commanded judges to be over my people Israel. Moreover I will subdue all thine enemies. Furthermore I tell thee that the LORD will build thee an house.

11 ¶ And it shall come to pass, when thy days be expired that thou must go to be with thy fathers, that I will raise up thy seed after thee, which shall be of thy sons; and I will establish his kingdom:

12 He shall build me an house, and I will establish his throne for ever.

13 I will be his father, and he shall be my son: and I will not take my mercy away from him, as I took it from him that was before thee:

14 But I will settle him in mine house and in my kingdom for ever: and his throne shall be established for evermore.

15 According

20 When they went from nation to nation, &c.] When they wandered up and down from one country to another, having no settled dwelling-place.

26 The LORD made the heavens.] Those very gods which the heathens worship, the sun, moon, and stars.

32 The fulness thereof, &c.] By the fulness of the sea, is meant its swelling to the very tops of the shores and banks.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XVI.

We may learn from this song to praise, with David, the power, justice, and goodness of God, which appear in the deliverances he grants to those that fear him; and likewise see the miserable condition of the ungodly; since that when they are in distress, there is none to deliver them; and when they cry to the Lord, he will not hear them.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XVII.

14 I will settle him in mine house and in my kingdom for ever, &c.] In Sam. vii. 16. it is said, = thine house and thy kingdom; which sufficiently proves that this principally belongs to the Messiah, of whom David was only a type or figure.

15 According to all these words, and according to all this vision, so did Nathan speak unto David.

16 ¶ And David the king came and sat before the LORD, and said, Who am I, O LORD God, and what is mine house, that thou hast brought me hitherto?

17 And yet this was a small thing in thine eyes, O God; for thou hast also spoken of thy servant's house for a great while to come, and hast regarded me according to the estate of a man of high degree, O LORD God.

18 What can David speak more to thee for the honour of thy servant? for thou knowest thy servant.

19 O LORD, for thy servant's sake, and according to thine own heart, hast thou done all this greatness, in making known all these great things.

20 O LORD, there is none like thee, neither is there any God beside thee, according to all that we have heard with our ears.

21 And what one nation in the earth is like thy people Israel, whom God went to redeem to be his own people, to make thee a name of greatness and terribleness, by driving out nations from before thy people, whom thou hast redeemed out of Egypt?

22 For thy people Israel didst thou make thine own people for ever; and thou, LORD, becamest their God.

23 Therefore now, LORD, let the thing that thou hast spoken concerning thy servant and concerning his house be established for ever, and do as thou hast said.

24 Let it even be established, that thy name may be magnified for ever, saying, The LORD of hosts is the God of Israel, even a God to Israel: and let the house of David thy servant be established before thee.

25 For thou, O my God, hast told thy servant that thou wilt build him an house: therefore thy servant hath found in his heart to pray before thee.

26 And now, LORD, thou art God, and hast promised this goodness unto thy servant:

27 Now therefore let it please thee to bless the house of thy servant, that it may be before thee for ever: for thou bledest, O LORD, and it shall be blessed for ever.

C H A P. XVIII.

1 David subdueth the Philistines, and maketh the Moabites tributary. 3 He smiteth Hadarezer and the Syrians. 9 Tou king of Hamath sendeth his son with presents to bless David, who dedicateth the presents, and the spoil which he had taken, to God. 13 He putteth garrisons in Edom. 14 His good reign; a list of his principal officers.

1040. NOW after this it came to pass, that David smote the Philistines, and subdued them, and took Gath and her towns out of the hand of the Philistines.

2 And he smote Moab; and the Moabites became David's servants, and brought gifts.

3 ¶ And David smote Hadarezer king of Zobah unto Hamath, as he wet to stablish his dominion by the river Euphrates.

4 And David took from him a thousand chariots, and seven thousand horsemen, and twenty thousand footmen: David also houghed all the chariot horses, but reserved of them an hundred chariots.

5 And when the Syrians of Damascus came to help Hadarezer king of Zobah, David slew of the Syrians two and twenty thousand men.

17 And hast regarded me according to the estate of a man of high degree, &c.] Victorinus Strigellius thinks that the Hebrew words will bear this translation, Thou hast looked upon me in the form of a man, who art in the highest the Lord God: which he looks upon as a prophecy of the Messiah, who was really the Lord God, but appeared in the form of a man.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XVII.

In imitation of the piety and resignation of David, let me be disposed to bless the Lord at all times, even though he denies our requests.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XVIII.

1 Gath and her towns, &c.] In Sam. viii. 1. it is said, that David took Metheg-ammah out of the hand of the Philistines;

6 Then David put garrisons in Syria-damascus; and the Syrians became David's servants, and brought gifts. Thus the LORD preserved David whithersoever he went. Before CHRIST 1040.

7 And David took the shields of gold that were on the servants of Hadarezer, and brought them to Jerusalem.

8 Likewise from Tibhath, and from Chun, cities of Hadarezer, brought David very much brass, wherewith Solomon made the brasen sea, and the pillars, and the vessels of brass.

9 ¶ Now when Tou king of Hamath heard how David had smitten all the host of Hadarezer king of Zobah;

10 He sent Hadoram his son to king David, to enquire of his welfare, and to congratulate him, because he had fought against Hadarezer, and smitten him (for Hadarezer had war with Tou;) and with him all manner of vessels of gold and silver and brass.

11 Them also king David dedicated unto the LORD, with the silver and the gold that he brought from all these nations; from Edom, and from Moab, and from the children of Ammon, and from the Philistines, and from Amalek.

12 Moreover Abishai the son of Zeruiah slew of the Edomites in the valley of salt eighteen thousand.

13 ¶ And he put garrisons in Edom; and all the Edomites became David's servants. Thus the LORD preserved David whithersoever he went.

14 ¶ So David reigned over all Israel, and executed judgment, and justice among all his people.

15 And Joab the son of Zeruiah was over the host; and Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud, recorder.

16 And Zadok the son of Ahitub, and Abimelech the son of Abiathar, were the priests; and Shavsha was scribe;

17 And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the Cherethites and the Pelethites; and the sons of David were chief about the king.

C H A P. XIX.

David's ambassadors, sent to comfort Hanun for his father's death, are disgracefully treated. 6 The Ammonites strengthened by the Syrians, are overcome by Joab and Abishai. 16 Hadarezer sendeth a new army of Syrians, under Shobach, which is defeated by David, and their general slain; whereupon the kings who were subject to Syria become servants to Israel.

NOW it came to pass after this, that Nahash the king of the children of Ammon died, and his son reigned in his stead. 1037.

2 And David said, I will shew kindness unto Hanun the son of Nahash, because his father shewed kindness to me. And David sent messengers to comfort him concerning his father. So the servants of David came into the land of the children of Ammon to Hanun, to comfort him.

3 But the princes of the children of Ammon said to Hanun, Thinkest thou that David doth honour thy father, that he hath sent comforters unto thee? are not his servants come unto thee for to search, and to overthrow, and to spy out the land?

4 Wherefore Hanun took David's servants, and shaved them, and cut off their garments in the midst hard by their buttocks, and sent them away.

5 Then

which are all one in Abarbinel's account, who takes Metheg-ammah for a region or province, which comprehended Gath and her towns.

11 Them also king David dedicated unto the Lord, &c.] He consecrated, or solemnly deputed them to this holy use, that it might not be lawful hereafter to employ them to any other.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XVIII.

In this chapter the great piety of David is worthy of observation: he had it in his heart to build the temple of God: his willingness was accepted: for the Divine Being looks at the heart more than the outward act.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XIX.

1 Nahash the king of the children of Ammon died, &c.] The reader is referred, for the whole of this transaction, to Sam. ii.

6 Syria-

Before
CHRIST
1037.

5 Then there went certain, and told David how the men were served. And he sent to meet them: for the men were greatly ashamed. And the king said, Tarry at Jericho until your beards be grown, and then return.

6 ¶ And when the children of Ammon saw that they had made themselves odious to David, Hanun and the children of Ammon sent a thousand talents of silver to hire them chariots and horsemen out of Mesopotamia, and out of Syria-maachah, and out of Zobah.

7 So they hired thirty and two thousand chariots, and the king of Maachah and his people; who came and pitched before Medeba. And the children of Ammon gathered themselves together from their cities, and came to battle.

¶ And when David heard of it, he sent Joab, and all the host of the mighty men.

9 And the children of Ammon came out, and put the battle in array before the gate of the city: and the kings that were come were by themselves in the field.

10 Now when Joab saw that the battle was set against him before and behind, he chose out of all the choice of Israel, and put them in array against the Syrians.

11 And the rest of the people he delivered unto the hand of Abithai his brother, and they set themselves in array against the children of Ammon.

12 And he said, If the Syrians be too strong for me, then thou shalt help me: but if the children of Ammon be too strong for thee, then I will help thee.

13 Be of good courage, and let us behave ourselves valiantly for our people, and for the cities of our God: and let the LORD do that which is good in his sight.

14 So Joab and the people that were with him drew nigh before the Syrians unto the battle; and they fled before him.

15 And when the children of Ammon saw that the Syrians were fled, they likewise fled before Abithai his brother, and entered into the city. Then Joab came to Jerusalem.

1036. 16 ¶ And when the Syrians saw that they were put to the worse before Israel, they sent messengers, and drew forth the Syrians that were beyond the river: and Shophach the captain of the host of Hadarezer went before them.

17 And it was told David; and he gathered all Israel, and passed over Jordan, and came upon them, and set the battle in array against them. So when David had put the battle in array against the Syrians, they fought with him.

18 But the Syrians fled before Israel; and David slew of the Syrians seven thousand men which fought in chariots, and forty thousand footmen, and killed Shophach the captain of the host.

19 And when the servants of Hadarezer saw that they were put to the worse before Israel, they made peace with David, and became his servants: neither would the Syrians help the children of Ammon any more.

6 Syria-maachah, &c.] In 2 Sam. ii. it is called simply Maachah, which was a city in the land of Canaan; and lying beyond Jordan, on the borders of Syria, it obtained the name we here meet with, because the people were in their manners more Syrians than Canaanites.

7 So they hired thirty and two thousand chariots, &c.] They hired thirty and two thousand men that fought in chariots; for in the book of Samuel it is expressly said, that they hired twenty thousand men from Zoba, and twelve thousand of Ishob.

country of the children of Ammon, and came and besieged Rabbah. But David tarried at Jerusalem. And Joab smote Rabbah, and destroyed it.

¶ And David took the crown of their king from off his head, and found it to weigh a talent of gold, and ~~there were~~ precious stones in it; and it was set upon David's head: and he brought also exceeding much spoil out of the city.

3 And he brought out the people that were in it, and cut them with saws, and with harrows of iron, and with axes. Even so dealt David with all the cities of the children of Ammon. And David and all the people returned to Jerusalem.

4 ¶ And it came to pass after this, that there arose war at Gezer with the Philistines; at which time Sibbechai the Hushathite slew Sippai, that was of the children of the giant: and they were subdued.

5 And there was war again with the Philistines; and Elhanan the son of Jair slew Lahmi the brother of Goliath the Gittite, whose spear staff was like a weaver's beam.

6 And yet again there was war at Gath, where was a man of great stature, whose fingers and toes were four and twenty, six on each hand, and six on each foot: and he also was the son of the giant.

7 But when he defied Israel, Jonathan the son of Shimea David's brother slew him.

8 These were born unto the giant in Gath; and they fell by the hand of David, and by the hand of his servants.

1 David tempted by Satan forceth Joab to number Israel. 5 The number is returned to the king. 7 God is displeased: David acknowledgeth his fault. 9 Gad being sent from God to propose one out of three plagues to his choice, he chooseth the three days' pestilence. 14 Seventy thousand in Israel being already cut off, the destroying angel is stayed over Jerusalem: 16 David on sight of the angel humbly intercedeth for the people. 18 By Gad's direction having bought Ornan's threshing floor, he buildeth an altar, and sacrificeth: God signifieth his favour by fire from heaven, and slayeth the plague. 28 He sacrificeth again in the same place, being restrained from going to the altar at Gibeon for fear of the angel.

AND Satan stood up against Israel, and provoked David to number Israel.

2 And David said to Joab and to the rulers of the people, Go, number Israel from Beer-sheba even to Dan; and bring the number of them to me, that I may know it.

3 And Joab answered, The LORD make his people an hundred times so many more as they be: but, my lord the king, are they not all my lord's servants? why then doth my lord require this thing? why will he be a cause of trespass to Israel?

4 Nevertheless the king's word prevailed against Joab. Wherefore Joab departed, and went throughout all Israel, and came to Jerusalem.

5 ¶ And Joab gave the sum of the number of the people unto David. And all they of Israel were a thousand thousand and an hundred thousand men that drew sword: and Judah was four hundred threescore and ten thousand men that drew sword.

I CHRONICLES, Chap. XXI. Ver. 27.

Rennoldson. sculp.

And the Lord commanded this Angel to put up his Sword again, into the Sheath thereof.

6 But Levi and Benjamin counted he not among them: for the king's word was abominable to Joab.

7 ¶ And God was displeased with this thing; therefore he smote Israel.

8 And David said unto God, I have sinned greatly, because I have done this thing: but now, I beseech thee, do away the iniquity of thy servant, for I have done very foolishly.

9 ¶ And the LORD spake unto Gad, David's seer, saying,

10 Go and tell David, saying, Thus saith the LORD, I offer thee three things: choose thee one of them, that I may do it unto thee.

11 So Gad came to David, and said unto him, Thus saith the LORD, Choose thee

12 Either three years famine; or three months to be destroyed before thy foes, while that the sword of thine enemies overtaketh thee; or else three days the sword of the LORD, even the pestilence, in the land, and the angel of the LORD destroying throughout all the coasts of Israel. Now therefore advise thyself what word I shall bring again to him that sent me.

13 And David said unto Gad, I am in a great strait: let me fall now into the hand of the LORD; for very great are his mercies: but let me not fall into the hand of man.

14 ¶ So the LORD sent pestilence upon Israel; and there fell of Israel seventy thousand men.

15 And God sent an angel unto Jerusalem to destroy it: and as he was destroying, the LORD beheld, and he repented him of the evil, and said to the angel that destroyed, It is enough, stay now thine hand. And the angel of the LORD stood by the threshingfloor of Ornan the Jebusite.

16 ¶ And David lifted up his eyes, and saw the angel of the LORD stand between the earth and the heaven, having a drawn sword in his hand stretched out over Jerusalem. Then David and the elders of Israel, who were clothed in sackcloth, fell upon their faces.

17 And David said unto God, Is it not I that commanded the people to be numbered? even I it is that have sinned and done evil indeed; but as for these sheep, what have they done? let thine hand, I pray thee, O LORD my God, be on me, and on my father's house; but not on thy people, that they should be plagued.

18 ¶ Then the angel of the LORD commanded Gad to say to David, that David should go up, and set up an altar unto the LORD in the threshingfloor of Ornan the Jebusite.

19 And David went up at the saying of Gad, which he spake in the name of the LORD.

20 And Ornan turned back, and saw the angel; and his four sons with him hid themselves. Now Ornan was threshing wheat.

21 And as David came to Ornan, Ornan looked and saw David, and went out of the threshingfloor, and bowed himself to David with his face to the ground.

22 Then David said to Ornan, Grant me the place of this threshingfloor, that I may build an altar therein unto the LORD: thou shalt grant it me for the full price: that the plague may be stayed from the people.

23 And Ornan said unto David, Take it to thee, and let my lord the king do that which is good in his eyes: lo, I give thee the oxen also for burnt offerings, and the threshing instruments for wood, and the wheat for the meat offering; I give it all.

24 And king David said to Ornan, Nay; but I will verily buy it for the full price: for I will not take that which is thine for the LORD, nor offer burnt offerings without cost.

25 So David gave to Ornan for the place six hundred shekels of gold by weight.

26 And David built there an altar unto the LORD, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings, and called upon the LORD; and he answered him from heaven by fire upon the altar of burnt offering.

27 And the LORD commanded the angel; and he put up his sword again into the sheath thereof.

28 ¶ At that time when David saw that the LORD had answered him in the threshingfloor of Ornan the Jebusite, then he sacrificed there.

29 For the tabernacle of the LORD, which Moses made in the wilderness, and the altar of the burnt offering, were at that season in the high place at Gibeon.

30 But David could not go before it to enquire of God: for he was afraid because of the sword of the angel of the LORD.

CHAP. XXII.

1 David foreknowing the place of the temple maketh large preparations for the building of it. 6 He instructeth Solomon in the promises made to him by God, and chargeth him with his duty in building the house. 17 He chargeth the princes of Israel to assist his son in the work.

THEN David said, This is the house of the LORD God, and this is the altar of the burnt offering for Israel.

2 And David commanded to gather together the strangers that were in the land of Israel; and he set masons to hew wrought stones to build the house of God.

3 And David prepared iron in abundance for the nails for the doors of the gates, and for the joinings; and brass in abundance without weight;

4 Also cedar trees in abundance: for the Zidonians and they of Tyre brought much cedar wood to David.

5 And David said, Solomon my son is young and tender, and the house that is to be builded for the LORD must be exceeding magnificent, of fame and of glory throughout all countries: I will therefore now make preparation for it. So David prepared abundantly before his death.

6 ¶ Then he called for Solomon his son, and charged him to build an house for the LORD God of Israel.

7 And David said to Solomon, My son, as for me, it was in my mind to build an house unto the name of the LORD my God:

8 But the word of the LORD came to me, saying, Thou hast shed blood abundantly, and hast made great wars: thou shalt not build an house unto my name, because thou hast shed much blood upon the earth in my sight.

9 Behold, a son shall be born to thee, who shall be a man of rest; and I will give him rest from all his enemies round about: for his name shall be Solomon, and I will give peace and quietness unto Israel in his days.

favour, when they return to him with humility, and have recourse to his mercy in Christ Jesus.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXII.

5 Solomon my son is young and tender, and the house that is to be builded for the Lord must be exceeding magnificent, &c.] The magnificence of the structure required David's care, to make what preparation he could for such an undertaking.

¶ Thou shalt not build an house unto my name, because thou hast shed much blood, &c.] It did not so well suit with the divine majesty, to have an house built him by one who had shed so much blood, as by one who was to reign in peace and quietness; that he might be the emblem of the king of peace, the Messiah, the Lord of the church, who was prefigured in all such great transactions.

6 The king's word was abominable to Joab.] We here read, that Joab did all this against his will, and at last the employment became so disagreeable to him, that he was quite tired with it, and therefore most probably broke off, before he took the number of the tribes of Levi and Benjamin.

28 Then he sacrificed there.] He continued afterwards to offer his sacrifices there, where there was such a manifest appearance of the divine presence, and a testimony of the acceptance of his sacrifices: he therefore supposed he ought immediately to sacrifice here, and not defer it till he could go to Gibeon.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XXI.

11 Now, my son, the LORD be with thee; and prosper thou, and build the house of the LORD thy God, as he hath said of thee.

12 Only the LORD give thee wisdom and understanding, and give thee charge concerning Israel, that thou mayest keep the law of the LORD thy God.

13 Then shalt thou prosper, if thou takest heed to fulfil the statutes and judgments which the LORD charged Moses with concerning Israel: be strong, and of good courage; dread not, nor be dismayed.

14 Now, behold, in my trouble I have prepared for the house of the LORD an hundred thousand talents of gold, and a thousand thousand talents of silver; and of brass and iron without weight; for it is in abundance: timber also and stone have I prepared; and thou mayest add thereto.

15 Moreover there are workmen with thee in abundance, hewers and workers of stone and timber, and all manner of cunning men for every manner of work.

16 Of the gold, the silver, and the brass, and the iron, there is no number. Arise therefore, and be doing, and the LORD be with thee.

17 ¶ David also commanded all the princes of Israel to help Solomon his son, saying,

18 Is not the LORD your God with you? and hath he not given you rest on every side? for he hath given the inhabitants of the land into mine hand; and the land is subdued before the LORD, and before his people.

19 Now set your heart and your soul to seek the LORD your God; arise therefore, and build ye the sanctuary of the LORD God, to bring the ark of the covenant of the LORD, and the holy vessels of God, into the house that is to be built to the name of the LORD.

1 David in his old age maketh Solomon king. 2 The number and distribution of the Levites. 7 The families of the Gershonites. 12 The sons of Kohath. 21 The sons of Merari. 24 The office of the Levites.

1015. SO when David was old and full of days, he made Solomon his son king over Israel.

¶ And he gathered together all the princes of Israel, with the priests and the Levites.

1045. 3 Now the Levites were numbered from the age of thirty years and upward: and their number by their polls, man by man, was thirty and eight thousand.

4 Of which, twenty and four thousand were to set forward the work of the house of the LORD; and six thousand were officers and judges:

5 Moreover four thousand were porters; and four thousand praised the LORD with the instruments which I made, said David, to praise therewith.

6 And David divided them into courses among the sons of Levi, namely, Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.

7 ¶ Of the Gershonites were, Laadan, and Shimei.

8 The sons of Laadan; the chief was Jehiel, and Zetham, and Joel, three.

9 The sons of Shimei; Shelomith, and Haziel, and Haran, three. These were the chief of the fathers of Laadan.

10 He shall be my son, and I will be his father, &c.] This can belong to none, in the proper and full sense of the word, but to Christ alone; for Solomon reigned but forty years; and after that his kingdom was torn in pieces; hence the author of the epistle to the Hebrews applies them to Christ, Heb. i. 5.

14 An hundred thousand talents of gold, &c.] Computed to amount to the immense sum of four hundred and sixty-one millions of money.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXII.

We have two important instructions in this chapter: first, that all Christians, especially those in authority, who are blessed with riches, should labour, above all things, to establish and promote the true service of God, and his holy religion; and, secondly, that the chief care of parents ought to be, to recommend piety to their children, and inspire them with religious sentiments; for that this alone constitutes the happiness and prosperity of families.

10 And the sons of Shimei were, Jahath, Zina, and Jeush, and Beriah. These four were the sons of Shimei.

11 And Jahath was the chief, and Zizah the second: but Jeush and Beriah had not many sons; therefore they were in one reckoning, according to their father's house.

12 ¶ The sons of Kohath; Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel, four.

13 The sons of Amram; Aaron and Moses: and Aaron was separated, that he should sanctify the most holy things, he and his sons for ever, to burn incense before the LORD, to minister unto him, and to bless in his name for ever.

14 Now concerning Moses the man of God, his sons were named of the tribe of Levi.

15 The sons of Moses were, Gershom, and Eliezer.

16 Of the sons of Gershom, Shebuel was the chief.

17 And the sons of Eliezer were, Rehabiah the chief. And Eliezer had none other sons; but the sons of Rehabiah were very many.

18 Of the sons of Izhar; Shelomith the chief.

19 Of the sons of Hebron; Jeriah the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, and Jekameam the fourth.

20 Of the sons of Uzziel; Micah the first, and Jesiah the second.

21 ¶ The sons of Merari; Mahli, and Mushi. The sons of Mahli; Eleazar, and Kish.

22 And Eleazar died, and had no sons, but daughters: and their brethren the sons of Kish took them.

23 The sons of Mushi; Mahli, and Eder, and Jeremoth, three.

24 ¶ These were the sons of Levi after the house of their fathers; even the chief of the fathers, as they were counted by number of names by their polls, that did the work for the service of the house of the LORD, from the age of twenty years and upward.

25 For David said, The LORD God of Israel hath given rest unto his people, that they may dwell in Jerusalem for ever;

26 And also unto the Levites: they shall no more carry the tabernacle, nor any vessels of it for the service thereof.

27 For by the last words of David the Levites were numbered from twenty years old and above:

28 Because their office was to wait on the sons of Aaron for the service of the house of the LORD, in the courts, and in the chambers, and in the purifying of all holy things, and the work of the service of the house of God;

29 Both for the shewbread, and for the fine flour for meat offering, and for the unleavened cakes, and for that which is baked in the pan, and for that which is fried, and for all manner of measure and size;

30 And to stand every morning to thank and praise the LORD, and likewise at even;

31 And to offer all burnt sacrifices unto the LORD in the sabbaths, in the new moons, and on the set feasts, by number, according to the order commanded unto them, continually before the LORD:

32 And that they should keep the charge of the tabernacle of the congregation, and the charge of the holy

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXIII.

1 He made Solomon his son king over Israel.] He declared him his successor; but did not resign his throne to him, nor admit him his co-adjutor.

4 Six thousand were officers and judges.] David takes care to restore the judicatures as a necessary part of government; and having numbered the Levites, appointed them their certain business, which had been before unsettled and undetermined, employing them in both ecclesiastical and civil affairs.

14 Moses the man of God, his sons were named of the tribe of Levi.] This is a remarkable instance of the humility and modesty of Moses, who, though so powerful a man, would not advance his sons to any dignity, but left them only Levites, servants to the priests.

31 To offer all burnt sacrifices unto the Lord, &c.] To praise God at the time when the sacrifices were offered: for it belonged to priests alone to offer the burnt sacrifices.

fore holy place, and the charge of the sons of Aaron their brethren, in the service of the house of the LORD.

C H A P. XXIV.

1 The divisions of the sons of Aaron by lot into four and twenty orders. 20 The remainder of the Kohathites, 26 and the Merarites, divided by lot.

NOW these are the divisions of the sons of Aaron. The sons of Aaron; Nadab, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

2 But Nadab and Abihu died before their father, and had no children: therefore Eleazar and Ithamar executed the priest's office.

3 And David distributed them, both Zadok of the sons of Eleazar, and Ahimelech of the sons of Ithamar, according to their offices in their service.

4 And there were more chief men found of the sons of Eleazar than of the sons of Ithamar; and thus were they divided. Among the sons of Eleazar there were sixteen chief men of the house of their fathers, and eight among the sons of Ithamar according to the house of their fathers.

5 Thus were they divided by lot, of one sort with another; for the governors of the sanctuary, and governors of the house of God, were of the sons of Eleazar, and of the sons of Ithamar.

6 And Shemaiah the son of Nathaneel the scribe, one of the Levites, wrote them before the king, and the princes, and Zadok the priest, and Ahimelech the son of Abiathar, and before the chief of the fathers of the priests and Levites: one principal household being taken for Eleazar, and one taken for Ithamar.

7 Now the first lot came forth to Jehoiarib, the second to Jedaiah,

8 The third to Harim, the fourth to Seorim,

9 The fifth to Malchijah, the sixth to Mijamin,

10 The seventh to Hakkoz, the eighth to Abijah,

11 The ninth to Jeshuah, the tenth to Shecaniah,

12 The eleventh to Eliashib, the twelfth to Jakim,

13 The thirteenth to Huppah, the fourteenth to Jeshebeab,

14 The fifteenth to Bilgah, the sixteenth to Immer,

15 The seventeenth to Hezir, the eighteenth to Aphses,

16 The nineteenth to Pethahiah, the twentieth to Jehezkel,

17 The one and twentieth to Jachin, the two and twentieth to Gamul.

18 The three and twentieth to Delaiah, the four and twentieth to Maaziah.

19 These were the orderings of them in their service to come into the house of the LORD, according to their manner, under Aaron their father, as the LORD God of Israel had commanded him.

20 ¶ And the rest of the sons of Levi were these. Of the sons of Amram; Shubael: of the sons of Shubael; Jehdeiah.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXIII.

From the example of David, princes, and even private persons of ability, are instructed to make suitable provision for the regular and orderly worship of God: they who do thus, with an eye to the glory of God, may depend on the most substantial and permanent blessings from him.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXIV.

1 These are the divisions of the sons of Aaron, &c.] David having distributed the Levites into several courses, now does the same by the priests, to avoid confusion among such large numbers.

5 Thus were they divided by lot, &c.] This method was taken, to remove all occasion of complaint, it being ordered by a divine disposition, according to the custom of the most early ages.

6 One principal household being taken for Eleazar, and one taken for Ithamar.] The meaning is, that one of the principal families of Eleazar was first taken, and then one of Ithamar's; and after that one of Eleazar's again, and so on by turns.

19 Under Aaron their father, &c.] Under the inspection of the high-priest, who, being the successor of Aaron, is called by his name.

31 The principal fathers over against their younger brethren.] The meaning is, that the elder and younger had their places by lots, not by seniority of houses.

21 Concerning Rehabiah: of the sons of Rehabiah, the first was Isiah. Before CHRIST 1015.

22 Of the Izharites; Shelomoth: of the sons of Shelomoth; Jahath.

23 And the sons of Hebron; Jeriah the first, Amariah the second, Jehaziel the third, Jekameum the fourth.

24 Of the sons of Uzziel; Michah: of the sons of Michah; Shamir.

25 The brother of Michah was Isiah: of the sons of Isiah; Zechariah.

26 ¶ The sons of Merari were Mahli and Mushi: the sons of Jaaziah; Beno.

27 The sons of Merari by Jaaziah; Beno, and Shoham, and Zaccur, and Ibri.

28 Of Mahli came Eleazar, who had no sons.

29 Concerning Kish: the son of Kish was Jerahmeel.

30 The sons also of Mushi; Mahli, and Eder, and Jerimoth. These were the sons of the Levites after the house of their fathers.

31 These likewise cast lots over against their brethren the sons of Aaron in the presence of David the king; and Zadok, and Ahimelech, and the chief of the fathers of the priests and Levites, even the principal fathers over against their younger brethren.

C H A P. XXV.

1 The number and offices of the singers: 8 Their division by lot into four and twenty orders.

MOREOVER David and the captains of the host separated to the service of the sons of Asaph, and of Heman, and of Jeduthun, who should prophesy with harps, with psalteries, and with cymbals: and the number of the workmen according to their service was:

2 Of the sons of Asaph; Zaccur, and Joseph, and Nethaniah, and Asarelah, the sons of Asaph under the hands of Asaph, which prophesied according to the order of the king.

3 Of Jeduthun: the sons of Jeduthun; Gedeliah, and Zeri, and Jeshaiah, Hashabiah, and Mattithiah, six, under the hands of their father Jeduthun, who prophesied with a harp, to give thanks and to praise the LORD.

4 Of Heman: the sons of Heman; Bukkiah, Mataniah, Uzziel, Shebuel, and Jerimoth, Hananiah, Hanani, Eliathah, Giddalti, and Romamti-ezer, Joshbekashah, Mallothi, Hothir, and Mahazioth:

5 All these were the sons of Heman the king's seer in the words of God, to lift up the horn. And God gave to Heman fourteen sons and three daughters.

6 All these were under the hands of their father for song in the house of the LORD, with cymbals, psalteries, and harps, for the service of the house of God, according to the king's order to Asaph, Jeduthun, and Heman.

7 So the number of them, with their brethren that were instructed in the songs of the LORD, even all that were cunning, was two hundred fourscore and eight.

8 ¶ And

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXIV.

The wise disposition of the priests and Levites by the appointment of David, affords an instance of the goodness and condescension of God towards his church, in providing ministers to warn, admonish, comfort, nourish, and edify it with respect to faith and practice.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXV.

1 And the captains of the host] By "the host" we are to understand the companies of priests that waited upon the service of God in the temple.

Who should prophesy with harps] Should praise God and sing psalms, which David and other prophets composed.

The number of the workmen, &c.] The number of the men of the ministry; i. e. those who ministered in singing and playing upon instruments.

¶ Under the hands of Asaph, &c.] Under his direction, in their precentor.

5 To lift up the horn, &c.] In the temple they used also wind-music, which many think to have been trumpets made of horn.

7 Two hundred fourscore and eight.] This was the whole number of those who were appointed to sing; and under the persons before-mentioned, they were distributed into several courses, after the same manner as the priests had been, with whom they were to attend in their order.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The divisions of the porters. 13 The gates assigned by lot. 20 The Levites that had charge of the treasures. 29 Those that were officers and judges.

CONCERNING the divisions of the porters: Of the Korhites was Meshelemiah the son of Kore, of the sons of Afaph.

2 And the sons of Meshelemiah were, Zechariah the firstborn, Jediael the second, Zebadiah the third, Jathniel the fourth;

3 Elam the fifth, Jehonan the sixth, Elioenai the seventh.

4 Moreover the sons of Obed-edom were, Shemaiah the firstborn, Jehozabad the second, Joah the third, and Sacar the fourth, and Nethaneel the fifth,

5 Ammiel the sixth, Issachar the seventh, Peulthai the eighth: for God blessed him.

8 And they cast lots, ward against ward, &c.] That is, which ward or course of the fingers should answer to and attend on the first ward or course of the priests in their weekly service, and which the second, and so on.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXV.

The excellent arrangement of the fingers may serve to denote, that none can worthily sing the praises of God, but such as, by pure and upright hearts, are qualified for that delightful employ.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXVI.

1 Concerning the divisions of the porters.] This was an office of 6 Also unto Shemaiah his son were sons borns, that ruled throughout the house of their father: for they were mighty men of valour.

7 The sons of Shemaiah; Othni, and Rephael, and Obed, Elzabad, whose brethren were strong men, Elihu, and Semachiah.

8 All these of the sons of Obed-edom: they and their sons and their brethren, able men for strength for the service, were threescore and two of Obed-edom.

9 And Meshelemiah had sons and brethren, strong men, eighteen.

10 Also Hofah, of the children of Merari, had sons; Simri the chief, (for though he was not the firstborn, yet his father made him the chief;)

11 Hilkiah the second, Tebaliah the third, Zechariah the fourth: all the sons and brethren of Hofah were thirteen.

12 Among these were the divisions of the porters, even among the chief men, having wards one against another, to minister in the house of the LORD.

13 ¶ And they cast lots, as well the small as the great, according to the house of their fathers, for every gate.

14 And the lot eastward fell to Shelemiah. Then for Zechariah his son, a wise counsellor, they cast lots; and his lot came out northward.

15 To Obed-edom southward; and to his sons the house of Afuppim.

16 To Shuppim and Hofah the lot came forth westward, with the gate Shallecheth, by the causeway of the going up, ward against ward.

17 Eastward were six Levites, northward four a day, southward four a day, and toward Afuppim two and two.

18 At Parbar westward, four at the causeway, and two at Parbar.

19 These are the divisions of the porters among the sons of Kore, and among the sons of Merari.

20 ¶ And of the Levites, Ahijah was over the treasures of the house of God, and over the treasures of the dedicated things.

21 As concerning the sons of Laadan; the sons of the Gershonite Laadan, chief fathers, even of Laadan the Gershonite, were Jehieli.

22 The sons of Jehieli; Zetham, and Joel his brother, which were over the treasures of the house of the LORD.

23 Of the Amramites, and the Izarhites, the Hebronites, and the Uzzielites;

24 And Shebuel the son of Gershom, the son of Moses, was ruler of the treasures.

25 And his brethren by Eliezer; Rehabiah his son, and Jehiah his son, and Joram his son, and Zichri his son, and Shelomith his son.

26 Which Shelomith and his brethren were over all the treasures of the dedicated things, which David the king, and the chief fathers, the captains over thousands and hundreds, and the captains of the host, had dedicated.

27 Out of the spoils won in battles did they dedicate to maintain the house of the LORD.

28 And all that Samuel the seer, and Saul the son of Kish, and Abner the son of Ner, and Joab the son of Zeruiah, had dedicated; and whosoever had dedicated any thing, it was under the hand of Shelomith, and of his brethren.

29 ¶ Of great dignity, and men of the first quality were appointed to it, they having the charge of the holy things.

The sons of Afaph.] This is not Afaph the musician mentioned in the preceding chapter, but another called Eliafaph, and sometimes Jafaph, of the line of Kohath.

15 The house of Afuppim.] Supposed to signify the treasury of the temple, or the place where the things that were dedicated were deposited.

16 By the causeway of the going up, &c.] It was by that ascent which Solomon made for his own passage up from his own house to the temple.

29 ¶ Of the Izharites, Chenaniah and his sons were for the outward business over Israel, for officers and judges.

30 And of the Hebronites, Hashabiah and his brethren, men of valour, a thousand and seven hundred, were officers among them of Israel on this side Jordan westward in all the business of the LORD, and in the service of the king.

31 Among the Hebronites was Jerijah the chief, even among the Hebronites, according to the generations of his fathers. In the fortieth year of the reign of David they were sought for, and there were found among them mighty men of valour at Jazer of Gilead.

32 And his brethren, men of valour, were two thousand and seven hundred chief fathers, whom king David made rulers over the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half tribe of Manasseh, for every matter pertaining to God, and affairs of the king.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 The twelve captains for every several month. 16 The princes of the twelve tribes. 23 The numbering of the people is hindered. 25 David's several officers.

NOW the children of Israel after their number, to wit, the chief fathers and captains of thousands and hundreds, and their officers that served the king in any matter of the courses, which came in and went out month by month throughout all the months of the year, of every course were twenty and four thousand.

2 Over the first course for the first month was Jathobeam the son of Zabdiel: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

3 Of the children of Perez was the chief of all the captains of the host for the first month.

4 And over the course of the second month was Dodai an Ahohite, and of his course was Mikloth also the ruler: in his course likewise were twenty and four thousand.

5 The third captain of the host for the third month was Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, a chief priest: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

6 This is that Benaiah, who was mighty among the thirty, and above the thirty: and in his course was Ammizabad his son.

7 The fourth captain for the fourth month was Afahel the brother of Joab, and Zebadiah his son after him: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

8 The fifth captain for the fifth month was Shamhuth the Izrahite, and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

9 The sixth captain for the sixth month was Ira the son of Ikkezh the Tekoite: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

10 The seventh captain for the seventh month was Helez the Pelonite, of the children of Ephraim: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

11 The eighth captain for the eighth month was Sibbecai the Hushathite, of the Zarahites: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

12 The ninth captain for the ninth month was Abiezer the Anetothite, of the Benjamites: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

29 For the outward business, &c.] That is, the business without Jerusalem, which belonged neither to the singers nor the porters.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXVII.

By the care taken to set apart what might be necessary for the divine worship, and the treasure dedicated by divers eminent persons for that important purpose, we are taught to be liberal respecting this great work, that the cause of God may be promoted, well knowing that our labour of love will not be in vain in the Lord.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXVII.

1 Now the children of Israel, &c.] The ecclesiastical affairs being settled, here is now an account given how the militia of the kingdom was disposed, in order to render it serviceable on all occasions. It was distributed into twelve legions, each of them consisting of twenty-four thousand men.

5 A chief priest, &c.] Or rather, chief prince, as the original often signifies.

No. 32.

13 The tenth captain for the tenth month was Mahari the Netophathite, of the Zarahites: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

14 The eleventh captain for the eleventh month was Benaiah the Pirathonite, of the children of Ephraim: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

15 The twelfth captain for the twelfth month was Heldai the Netophathite, of Othniel: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

16 ¶ Furthermore over the tribes of Israel: the ruler of the Reubenites was Eliezer the son of Zichri: of the Simeonites, Shephatiah the son of Maachah:

17 Of the Levites, Hashabiah the son of Kemuel: of the Aaronites, Zadok:

18 Of Judah, Elihu, one of the brethren of David: of Issachar, Omri, the son of Michael:

19 Of Zebulun, Ishmaiah the son of Obadiah; of Naphtali, Jerimoth the son of Azriel:

20 Of the children of Ephraim, Hoshea the son of Azariah: of the half tribe of Manasseh, Joel the son of Pedaiah:

21 Of the half tribe of Manasseh in Gilead, Iddo the son of Zechariah: of Benjamin, Jaasiel the son of Abner:

22 Of Dan, Azareel the son of Jeroham. These were the princes of the tribes of Israel.

23 ¶ But David took not the number of them from twenty years old and under: because the LORD had said he would increase Israel like to the stars of the heavens.

24 Joab the son of Zeruiah began to number, but he finished not, because there fell wrath for it against Israel: neither was the number put in the account of the chronicles of king David.

25 And over the king's treasures was Azmaveth the son of Adiel: and over the storehouses in the fields, in the cities, and in the villages, and in the castles, was Jehonathan the son of Uzziah:

26 And over them that did the work of the field for tillage of the ground was Ezri the son of Chelub:

27 And over the vineyards was Shimei the Ramathite: over the increase of the vineyards for the wine cellars was Zabdi the Shiphmite:

28 And over the olive trees and the ficamore trees that were in the low plains was Baal-hanan the Gederite: and over the cellars of oil was Joash:

29 And over the herds that fed in Sharon was Shitrai the Sharonite: and over the herds that were in the vallies was Shaphat the son of Adlai:

30 Over the camels also was Obil the Ishmaelite: and over the asses was Jehdeiah the Meronothite:

31 And over the flocks was Jaziz the Haggerite. All these were the rulers of the substance which was king David's.

32 Also Jonathan David's uncle was a counsellor, a wise man, and a scribe: and Jehiel the son of Hachmoni was with the king's sons:

33 And Ahithophel was the king's counsellor: and Huihai the Archite was the king's companion:

34 And after Ahithophel was Jehoiada the son of Benaiah, and Abiathar: and the general of the king's army was Joab.

CHAP.

16 Furthermore over the tribes of Israel, &c.] Every tribe had a ruler, who had the chief authority among them under the king.

17 The Aaronites, &c.] Not a distinct tribe, but of a distinct order from the rest of the Levites; and therefore had a peculiar chief to preside over them.

22 Of the tribes of Israel.] It is observable, that Gad and Asher are omitted; of which no certain account can be given.

24 Neither was the number put in the account, &c.] The king being sensible of his error, would not have the account recorded in the registers of the kingdom.

33 The king's companion.] That is, the king's favourite.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXVII.

The chief thing observable in this chapter is, the sense David had of his error in numbering the people, which should be a lesson to us, that though God for Christ's sake, pardons our sins, yet we ought continually to have a sense of them, and walk humbly with God on that account.

COMMENTARY

Before

1015

C H A P. XXVIII.

1 David in a solemn assembly, having declared God's especial favour toward him, and the promises made to his son Solomon, exhorteth all in general to the fear of God. 9 His particular charge to Solomon to serve the LORD, and to build the temple. 11 He giveth him patterns for the form, and gold and silver for the materials. 20 He encourageth him with assurances of divine and human assistance.

AND David assembled all the princes of Israel, the princes of the tribes, and the captains of the companies that ministered to the king by course, and the captains over the thousands, and captains over the hundreds, and the stewards over all the substance and possession of the king, and of his sons, with the officers, and with the mighty men, and with all the valiant men, unto Jerusalem.

2 Then David the king stood up upon his feet, and said, Hear me, my brethren, and my people: As for me, I had in mine heart to build an house of rest for the ark of the covenant of the LORD, and for the footstool of our God, and had made ready for the building:

3 But God said unto me, Thou shalt not build an house for my name, because thou hast been a man of war, and hast shed blood.

4 Howbeit the LORD God of Israel chose me before all the house of my father to be king over Israel for ever: for he hath chosen Judah to be the ruler; and of the house of Judah, the house of my father; and among the sons of my father he liked me to make me king over all Israel:

5 And of all my sons (for the LORD hath given me many sons,) he hath chosen Solomon my son to sit upon the throne of the kingdom of the LORD over Israel.

6 And he said unto me, Solomon thy son, he shall build my house and my courts: for I have chosen him to be my son, and I will be his father.

7 Moreover I will establish his kingdom for ever, if he be constant to do my commandments and my judgments, as at this day.

8 Now therefore in the sight of all Israel the congregation of the LORD, and in the audience of our God, keep and seek for all the commandments of the LORD your God: that ye may possess this good land, and leave it for inheritance for your children after you for ever.

9 ¶ And thou, Solomon my son, know thou the God of thy father, and serve him with a perfect heart and with a willing mind: for the LORD searcheth all hearts, and understandeth all the imaginations of the thoughts: if thou seek him, he will be found of thee; but if thou forsake him, he will cast thee off for ever.

10 Take heed now; for the LORD hath chosen thee to build an house for the sanctuary: be strong, and do it.

11 ¶ Then David gave to Solomon his son the pattern of the porch, and of the houses thereof, and of the treasuries thereof, and of the upper chambers thereof, and of the inner parlours thereof, and of the place of the mercy seat,

12 And the pattern of all that he had by the spirit, of the courts of the house of the LORD, and of all the chambers round about, of the treasuries of the house of God, and of the treasuries of the dedicated things.

13 Also for the courses of the priests and the Levites, and for all the work of the service of the house of the LORD, and for all the vessels of service in the house of the LORD.

14 He gave of gold by weight for things of gold, for all instruments of all manner of service; silver also for all instruments of silver by weight, for all instruments of every kind of service:

15 Even the weight for the candlesticks of gold, and for their lamps of gold, by weight for every candlestick, and for the lamps thereof: and for the candlesticks of silver by weight, both for the candlestick, and also for the lamps thereof, according to the use of every candlestick.

16 And by weight he gave gold for the tables of shewbread, for every table; and likewise silver for the tables of silver:

17 Also pure gold for the fleshhooks, and the bowls, and the cups: and for the golden basons he gave gold by weight for every bason; and likewise silver by weight for every bason of silver:

18 And for the altar of incense refined gold by weight; and gold for the pattern of the chariot of the cherubims, that spread out their wings, and covered the ark of the covenant of the LORD.

19 All this, said David, the LORD made me understand in writing by his hand upon me, even all the works of this pattern.

20 ¶ And David said to Solomon his son, Be strong and of good courage, and do it: fear not, nor be dismayed: for the LORD God, even my God, will be with thee; he will not fail thee, nor forsake thee, until thou hast finished all the work for the service of the house of the LORD.

21 And, behold, the courses of the priests and the Levites, even they shall be with thee for all the service of the house of God; and there shall be with thee for all manner of workmanship every willing skilful man, for any manner of service: also the princes and all the people will be wholly at thy commandment.

C H A P. XXIX.

1 David by example and exhortation 6 causeth the princes and people to offer willingly for the service of the temple.

10 David's thanksgiving and prayer. 20 The people having blessed God, and sacrificed, make Solomon king the second time. 23 The prosperity and majesty of Solomon's reign. 26 David's reign and death.

FURTHERMORE David the king said unto all the congregation, Solomon my son, whom God alone hath chosen, is yet young and tender, and the work is great: for the palace is not for man, but for the LORD God.

2 Now I have prepared with all my might for the house of my God the gold for things to be made of gold, and the silver for things of silver, and the brass for things of brass, the iron for things of iron, and wood for things of wood; onyx stones, and stones to be set, glistering stones, and of divers colours, and all manner of precious stones, and marble stones in abundance:

3 Moreover, because I have set my affection to the house of my God, I have of mine own proper good, of gold and silver, which I have given to the house of my God,

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXVIII.

■ David the king stood up upon his feet, and said] He rose up, both out of respect to so great and honourable an assembly, and also that he might be the better heard.

And for the footstool of our God, &c.] The divine glory sitting upon the wings of the cherubim, over the mercy seat, his feet, as we speak after the manner of men, rested upon the ark; and therefore the ark is here called "The footstool of God."

9 Know thou the God of thy father, &c.] To know God, is, in scripture language, to acknowledge and love him.

12 The pattern of all that he had by the spirit, &c.] That is, of all that was inspired into him.

18 The chariot of the cherubims, &c.] They are called "The chariot," because God is said not only to sit, but also to ride upon the cherubims. Psal. xviii. 10.

19 The Lord made me understand in writing by his hand upon me, &c.] The Lord revealed it to him as distinctly as if it had been written on his mind.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXVIII.

Here is conspicuously displayed the piety of a good prince, in the noble and earnest exhortations he gives to his son and the people to keep the commandments of God, and serve him with uprightness and cheerfulness of heart; these exhortations likewise concern us, for in the observation of these duties, true religion, and the pure service of God consist; therefore we should take diligent heed to them.

fore 115. God over and above all that I have prepared for the holy house,

4 Even three thousand talents of gold, of the gold of Ophir, and seven thousand talents of refined silver, to overlay the walls of the houses withal:

5 The gold for things of gold, and the silver for things of silver, and for all manner of work to be made by the hands of artificers. And who then is willing to consecrate his service this day unto the LORD?

6 ¶ Then the chief of the fathers and princes of the tribes of Israel, and the captains of thousands and of hundreds, with the rulers of the king's work, offered willingly,

7 And gave for the service of the house of God of gold five thousand talents and ten thousand drams, and of silver ten thousand talents, and of brass eighteen thousand talents, and one hundred thousand talents of iron.

8 And they with whom precious stones were found gave them to the treasure of the house of the LORD, by the hand of Jehiel the Gershonite.

9 Then the people rejoiced, for that they offered willingly, because with perfect heart they offered willingly to the LORD: and David the king also rejoiced with great joy.

10 ¶ Wherefore David blessed the LORD before all the congregation: and David said, Blessed be thou, LORD God of Israel our father, for ever and ever.

11 Thine, O LORD, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty: for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom, O LORD, and thou art exalted as head above all.

12 Both riches and honour come of thee, and thou reignest over all; and in thine hand is power and might; and in thine hand it is to make great, and to give strength unto all.

13 Now therefore, our God, we thank thee, and praise thy glorious name.

14 But who am I, and what is my people, that we should be able to offer so willingly after this sort? for all things come of thee, and of thine own have we given thee.

15 For we are strangers before thee, and sojourners, as were all our fathers: our days on the earth are as a shadow, and there is none abiding.

16 O LORD our God, all this store that we have prepared to build thee an house for thine holy name cometh of thine hand, and is all thine own.

17 I know also, my God, that thou triest the heart, and hast pleasure in uprightness. As for me, in the uprightness of mine heart I have willingly offered all these things: and now have I seen with joy thy people, which are present here, to offer willingly unto thee. Before CHRIST 1015.

18 O LORD God of Abraham, Isaac, and of Israel, our fathers, keep this for ever in the imagination of the thoughts of the heart of thy people, and prepare their heart unto thee:

19 And give unto Solomon my son a perfect heart, to keep thy commandments, thy testimonies, and thy statutes, and to do all these things, and to build the palace, for the which I have made provision.

20 ¶ And David said to all the congregation, Now bless the LORD your God. And all the congregation blessed the LORD God of their fathers, and bowed down their heads, and worshipped the LORD, and the king.

21 And they sacrificed sacrifices unto the LORD, and offered burnt offerings unto the LORD, on the morrow after that day, even a thousand bullocks, a thousand rams, and a thousand lambs, with their drink offerings, and sacrifices in abundance for all Israel:

22 And did eat and drink before the LORD on that day with great gladness. And they made Solomon the son of David king the second time, and anointed him unto the LORD to be the chief governor, and Zadok to be priest.

23 ¶ Then Solomon sat on the throne of the LORD as king instead of David his father, and prospered; and all Israel obeyed him.

24 And all the princes, and the mighty men, and all the sons likewise of king David, submitted themselves unto Solomon the king.

25 And the LORD magnified Solomon exceedingly in the sight of all Israel, and bestowed upon him such royal majesty as had not been on any king before him in Israel.

26 ¶ Thus David the son of Jesse reigned over all Israel.

27 And the time that he reigned over Israel was forty years; seven years reigned he in Hebron, and thirty and three years reigned he in Jerusalem.

28 And he died in a good old age, full of days, riches, and honour: and Solomon his son reigned in his stead.

29 Now the acts of David the king, first and last, behold, they are written in the book of Samuel the seer, and in the book of Nathan the prophet, and in the book of Gad the seer,

30 With all his reign and his might, and the times that went over him, and over Israel, and over all the kingdoms of the countries.

The

COMMENTARY AND NOTES on CHAP. XXIX.

4 Three thousand talents of gold, &c.] The sum was probably reckoned by a sort of talents of less value than the mosaic talents, for what David gave, chap. xxii. 14. and what is afterwards reckoned in this chapter, if valued by these talents, was enough wherewith to have built all the temple of solid silver.

20 And worshipped the Lord, and the king.] God with religious, the king with civil worship.

21 Sacrifices in abundance for all Israel.] A great many peace offerings, sufficient for the entertainment of all the Israelites then present.

24 Submitted themselves, &c.] Swore allegiance to him.

30 The times that went over him, and over Israel, &c.] All the resolutions that were in public affairs in his days.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXIX.

We may hence learn, that when we offer any thing to God, we should do it both willingly and with profound humility; remembering that all we offer to him, belongs to him, that we hold all from his hand; and therefore it is but just that we refer every thing that is in our power to the glory of his name.

COMMENTARY

The Second Book of the CHRONICLES.

THE ARGUMENT.

The subject of this book is the same with that of the two books of Kings; excepting only, that after the separation of the ten tribes, this takes no notice of the history of the kings of Israel, and pursues that of the kings of Judah, till the return of the Israelites from the Babylonish captivity. As many things are here omitted which are recorded in the first book of the Kings, so there are several things contained in this book of which no mention is made there, particularly in the history of Jehoshaphat and Hezekiah.

CHAP. I.

1 The solemn offering of Solomon at Gibeon. 7 God appeareth unto him there by night, and leaveth to his choice what blessing to ask: he asketh wisdom, to which God addeth riches and honour. 13 Solomon's forces and opulence.

Before
1015.

AND Solomon the son of David was strengthened in his kingdom, and the LORD his God was with him, and magnified him exceedingly.

2 Then Solomon spake unto all Israel, to the captains of thousands and of hundreds, and to the judges, and to every governor in all Israel, the chief of the fathers.

3 So Solomon, and all the congregation with him, went to the high place that was at Gibeon; for there was the tabernacle of the congregation of God, which Moses the servant of the LORD had made in the wilderness.

4 But the ark of God had David brought up from Kirjath-jearim to the place which David had prepared for it: for he had pitched a tent for it at Jerusalem.

5 Moreover the brasen altar, that Bezaleel the son of Uri, the son of Hur, had made, he put before the tabernacle of the LORD: and Solomon and the congregation fought unto it,

6 And Solomon went up thither to the brasen altar before the LORD, which was at the tabernacle of the congregation, and offered a thousand burnt offerings upon it.

7 ¶ In that night did God appear unto Solomon, and said unto him, Ask what I shall give thee.

8 And Solomon said unto God, Thou hast shewed great mercy unto David my father, and hast made me to reign in his stead.

9 Now, O LORD God, let thy promise unto David my father be established: for thou hast made me king over a people like the dust of the earth in multitude.

10 Give me now wisdom and knowledge, that I may go out and come in before this people: for who can judge this thy people, that is so great?

11 And God said to Solomon, Because this was in thine heart, and thou hast not asked riches, wealth, or honour, nor the life of thine enemies, neither yet hast asked long life; but hast asked wisdom and knowledge for thyself, that thou mayest judge my people, over whom I have made thee king:

12 Wisdom and knowledge is granted unto thee; and I will give thee riches, and wealth, and honour, such as none of the kings have had that have been before thee, neither shall there any after thee have the like.

13 ¶ Then Solomon came from his journey to the high place that was at Gibeon to Jerusalem, from before the tabernacle of the congregation, and reigned over Israel.

14 And Solomon gathered chariots and horsemen: and he had a thousand and four hundred chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen, which he placed in the chariot cities, and with the king at Jerusalem.

15 And the king made silver and gold at Jerusalem as plenteous as stones, and cedar trees made he as the fycamore trees that are in the vale for abundance.

16 And Solomon had horses brought out of Egypt, and linen yarn: the king's merchants received the linen yarn at a price.

17 And they fetched up, and brought forth out of Egypt a chariot for six hundred shekels of silver, and an horse for an hundred and fifty: and so brought they out horses for all the kings of the Hittites, and for the kings of Syria, by their means.

CHAP. II.

1, 17 Solomon's labourers for the building of the temple.

3 He sendeth to Hiram for skilful artificers and timber.

11 Hiram's friendly answer.

AND Solomon determined to build an house for the name of the LORD, and an house for his kingdom.

2 And Solomon told out threescore and ten thousand men to bear burdens, and fourscore thousand to hew in the mountain, and three thousand and six hundred to oversee them.

3 ¶ And Solomon sent to Hiram the king of Tyre, saying, As thou didst deal with David my father, and didst send him cedars to build him an house to dwell therein, even so deal with me.

4 Behold, I build an house to the name of the LORD my God, to dedicate it to him, and to burn before him sweet incense, and for the continual shewbread, and for the burnt offerings morning and evening, on the sabbaths, and on the new moons, and on the solemn feasts of the LORD our God. This is an ordinance for ever to Israel.

5 And the house which I build is great: for great is our God above all gods.

6 But who is able to build him an house, seeing the heaven

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. I.

The conduct of Solomon in this chapter affords ■ an excellent lesson; namely, in every arduous undertaking to be diffident of our own wisdom and abilities, to ask counsel of God, and continually to depend on his direction and assistance in order ■ prosper us in all our undertakings.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. II.

5 The house which I build is great: for great is our God, &c.] The structure was not so large as it was magnificent, that it might be as suitable as possible to the glorious majesty of the divine presence.

before

015- heaven and heaven of heavens cannot contain him? who am I then, that I should build him an house, save only to burn sacrifice before him?

7 Send me now therefore a man cunning to work in gold, and in silver, and in brass, and in iron, and in purple, and crimson, and blue, and that can skill to grave with the cunning men that are with me in Judah and in Jerusalem, whom David my father did provide.

8 Send me also cedar trees, fir trees, and algum trees, out of Lebanon: for I know that thy servants can skill to cut timber in Lebanon; and, behold, my servants shall be with thy servants,

9 Even to prepare me timber in abundance: for the house which I am about to build shall be wonderful great.

10 And, behold, I will give to thy servants, the hewers that cut timber, twenty thousand measures of beaten wheat, and twenty thousand measures of barley, and twenty thousand baths of wine, and twenty thousand baths of oil.

11 ¶ Then Hiram the king of Tyre answered in writing, which he sent to Solomon, Because the LORD hath loved his people, he hath made thee king over them.

12 Hiram said moreover, Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, that made heaven and earth, who hath given to David the king a wise son, endued with prudence and understanding, that might build an house for the LORD, and an house for his kingdom.

13 And now I have sent a cunning man, endued with understanding, of Hiram my father's,

14 The son of a woman of the daughters of Dan, and his father was a man of Tyre, skilful to work in gold, and in silver, in brass, in iron, in stone, and in timber, in purple, in blue, and in fine linen, and in crimson; also to grave any manner of graving, and to find out every device which shall be put to him, with thy cunning men, and with the cunning men of my lord David thy father.

15 Now therefore the wheat, and the barley, the oil, and the wine, which my lord hath spoken of, let him send unto his servants:

16 And we will cut wood out of Lebanon, as much as thou shalt need: and we will bring it to thee in flotes by sea to Joppa; and thou shalt carry it up to Jerusalem.

17 ¶ And Solomon numbered all the strangers that were in the land of Israel, after the numbering where-with David his father had numbered them; and they were found an hundred and fifty thousand and three thousand and six hundred.

18 And he set threescore and ten thousand of them to be bearers of burdens, and fourscore thousand to be hewers in the mountain, and three thousand and six hundred overseers to set the people a work.

CHAP. III.

1 The place of the temple, and the time when the building was begun. 3 The dimensions and ornaments of the house. 8 The dimensions and ornaments of the most holy house; the cherubims that were therein. 14 The vail. 15 The two great pillars.

12 Beaten wheat, &c.] Wheat ground, or fine flour.

12 Hiram said moreover, Blessed be the Lord, &c.] Hiram is thought to have been a profelyte to the true religion, because he owns the God of Israel to be Jehovah; secondly, he congratulates the Israelites upon the happiness they enjoyed under such a king, which was the effect of his love to God and his church; and lastly, declared his love to the church in real acts of kindness, sending to Solomon both materials and the most skilful artificers.

16 In flotes, &c.] Timber bound together in rafts.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. II.

We are hence taught to adore and reverence the Supreme Being with the profoundest humility; and to consider that our greatest performances respecting his worship and service are imperfect, when brought before that God who is beyond conception immense in all his glorious perfections and attributes.

before

1012. THEN Solomon began to build the house of the LORD at Jerusalem in mount Moriah, where the LORD appeared unto David his father, in the place that David had prepared in the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite.

And he began to build in the second day of the second month, in the fourth year of his reign.

3 ¶ Now these are the things wherein Solomon was instructed for the building of the house of God. The length by cubits after the first measure was threescore cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits.

4 And the porch that was in the front of the house, the length of it was according to the breadth of the house, twenty cubits, and the height was an hundred and twenty: and he overlaid it within with pure gold.

5 And the greater house he cycled with fir-tree, which he overlaid with fine gold, and set thereon palm trees and chains.

6 And he garnished the house with precious stones for beauty: and the gold was gold of Parvaim.

7 He overlaid also the house, the beams, the posts, and the walls thereof, and the doors thereof, with gold; and graved cherubims on the walls.

8 ¶ And he made the most holy house, the length whereof was according to the breadth of the house, twenty cubits, and the breadth thereof twenty cubits: and he overlaid it with fine gold, amounting to six hundred talents.

9 And the weight of the nails was fifty shekels of gold. And he overlaid the upper chambers with gold.

10 And in the most holy house he made two cherubims of image work, and overlaid them with gold.

11 And the wings of the cherubims were twenty cubits long: one wing of the one cherub was five cubits, reaching to the wall of the house: and the other wing was likewise five cubits, reaching to the wing of the other cherub.

12 And one wing of the other cherub was five cubits, reaching to the wall of the house: and the other wing was five cubits also, joining to the wing of the other cherub.

13 The wings of these cherubims spread themselves forth twenty cubits: and they stood on their feet, and their faces were inward.

14 ¶ And he made the vail of blue, and purple, and crimson, and finelinen, and wrought cherubims thereon.

15 ¶ Also he made before the house two pillars of thirty and five cubits high, and the chapter that was on the top of each of them was five cubits.

16 And he made chains, as in the oracle, and put them on the heads of the pillars; and made an hundred pomegranates, and put them on the chains.

17 And he reared up the pillars before the temple, one on the right hand, and the other on the left; and called the name of that on the right hand Jachin, and the name of that on the left Boaz.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. III.

5 The greater house, &c.] The sanctuary or holy place, which was larger than the most holy place.

9 The upper chambers, &c.] The upper floor, or the roof of the holy and most holy place, which were overlaid with gold every where, both the floor which they trod, and the walls round about, and the roof overhead.

10 Overlaid them with gold.] They were made of olive-wood, and were not, like those of Moses, of beaten gold.

15 Two pillars of thirty and five cubits high, &c.] They were not each of them so high, but both of them together.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. III.

The gold used in the ornamenting the temple, denotes the purity of heart and hands wherewith God should be approached; and the cherubims, with their faces inwards, teach us, that we should keep our feet when we go in to the house of God, and not offer the sacrifice of fools.

MOREOVER he made an altar of bras, twenty cubits the length thereof, and twenty cubits the breadth thereof, and ten cubits the height thereof.

2 ¶ Also he made a molten sea of ten cubits from brim to brim, round in compass, and five cubits the height thereof; and a line of thirty cubits did compass it round about.

3 And under it was the similitude of oxen, which did compass it round about: ten in a cubit compassing the sea round about. Two rows of oxen were cast, when it was cast.

4 It stood upon twelve oxen, three looking toward the north, and three looking toward the west, and three looking toward the south, and three looking toward the east: and the sea was set above upon them, and all their hinder parts were inward.

5 And the thickness of it was an handbreadth, and the brim of it like the work of the brim of a cup, with flowers of lilies; and it received and held three thousand baths.

6 ¶ He made also ten lavers, and put five on the right hand, and five on the left, to wash in them: such things as they offered for the burnt offering they washed in them; but the sea was for the priests to wash in.

7 And he made ten candlesticks of gold according to their form, and set them in the temple, five on the right hand, and five on the left.

8 He made also ten tables, and placed them in the temple, five on the right side, and five on the left. And he made an hundred basons of gold.

9 ¶ Furthermore he made the court of the priests, and the great court, and doors for the court, and overlaid the doors of them with bras.

10 And he set the sea on the right side of the east end, over against the south.

11 ¶ And Hiram made the pots, and the shovels, and the basons. And Hiram finished the work that he was to make for king Solomon for the house of God;

12 To wit, the two pillars, and the pommels, and the chapters which were on the top of the two pillars, and the two wreaths to cover the two pommels of the chapters which were on the pillars;

13 And four hundred pomegranates on the two wreaths; two rows of pomegranates on each wreath, to cover the two pommels of the chapters which were upon the pillars.

14 He made also bases, and lavers made he upon the bases;

15 One sea, and twelve oxen under it.

16 The pots also, and the shovels, and the fleshhooks, and all their instruments, did Hiram his father make to king Solomon for the house of the LORD of bright bras.

17 In the plain of Jordan did the king cast them, in the clay ground between Succoth and Zeredathah.

18 Thus Solomon made all these vessels in great abundance: for the weight of the bras could not be found out.

19 ¶ And Solomon made all the vessels that were for the house of God, the golden altar also, and the tables whereon the shewbread was set;

20 Moreover the candlesticks with their lamps, that they should burn after the manner before the oracle, of pure gold;

21 And the flowers, and the lamps, and the tongs, made be of gold, and that perfect gold;

22 And the snuffers, and the basons, and the spoons, and the censers, of pure gold: and the entry of the house, the inner doors thereof for the most holy place, and the doors of the house of the temple, were of gold.

C H A P. V.

1 The temple finished, and the dedicated treasures deposited therein. 2 The ark with great solemnity brought into the most holy place. 11 Whilst the priests and Levites are praising God with singing and musick, a cloud filleth the house.

THUS all the work that Solomon made for the house of the LORD was finished: and Solomon brought in all the things that David his father had dedicated; and the silver, and the gold, and all the instruments, put he among the treasures of the house of God.

2 ¶ Then Solomon assembled the elders of Israel, and all the heads of the tribes, the chief of the fathers of the children of Israel, unto Jerusalem, to bring up the ark of the covenant of the LORD out of the city of David, which is Zion.

3 Wherefore all the men of Israel assembled themselves unto the king in the feast which was in the seventh month.

4 And all the elders of Israel came; and the Levites took up the ark.

5 And they brought up the ark, and the tabernacle of the congregation, and all the holy vessels that were in the tabernacle, these did the priests and the Levites bring up.

6 Also king Solomon, and all the congregation of Israel that were assembled unto him before the ark, sacrificed sheep and oxen, which could not be told nor numbered for multitude.

7 And the priests brought in the ark of the covenant of the LORD unto his place, to the oracle of the house, into the most holy place, even under the wings of the cherubims:

8 For the cherubims spread forth their wings over the place of the ark, and the cherubims covered the ark and the staves thereof above.

9 And they drew out the staves of the ark, that the ends of the staves were seen from the ark before the oracle; but they were not seen without. And there it is unto this day.

10 There was nothing in the ark save the two tables which Moses put therein at Horeb, when the LORD made a covenant with the children of Israel, when they came out of Egypt.

11 ¶ And it came to pass, when the priests were come out of the holy place: (for all the priests that were present were sanctified, and did not then wait by course:

12 Also the Levites which were the singers, all of them of Asaph, of Heman, of Jeduthun, with their sons and their brethren, being arrayed in white linen, having cymbals and psalteries and harps, stood at the east end of the altar, and with them an hundred and twenty priests sounding with trumpets:)

13 It came even to pass, as the trumpeters and singers were as one, to make one sound to be heard in praising and thanking the LORD; and when they lifted up

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. IV.

7 According to their form, &c.] According to the pattern which David gave him.

19 The tables whereon the shewbread was set.] Moses made only one table, but Solomon made ten, for the greater convenience of the priests in their ministration.

22 Were of gold.] Not intirely of gold, but of wood, and covered with plates of gold.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. IV.

Solomon's exact observance of the pattern prescribed him, may serve as a caution to us, not to deviate from the rule laid down in the scriptures, in our addresses to God; we are there taught, that a trinity in unity, and a unity in trinity, is the object of our worship, our Christians.

1 And the silver, and the gold, and all the instruments, put he among the treasures of the house of God.] What remained, Solomon would not employ to his own use, but laid it up in the treasures of God's house.

9 There it is unto this day.] Or, there they are, as the margin hath it out of 1 Kings viii. 8. where are the same words; and when that book was written, they were exactly true; but when this author transcribed them into this book, after the captivity, there was then neither staves nor ark remaining: therefore he only relates how Solomon settled these things.

C H A P. VI.

1 Solomon bleſſeth the people, and praiſeth God for the performance of his promiſe to David concerning the building of the houſe. 12 His prayer upon the braſen ſcaffold at the conſecration of the temple: 22, 24, 26, 28, 32, 34, 36 The ſpecial petitions contained in it. 40 The concluding general invocation of God's preſence and favour.

THE N ſaid Solomon, The LORD hath ſaid that he would dwell in the thick darkneſs.

2 But I have built an houſe of habitation for thee, and a place for thy dwelling for ever.

3 And the king turned his face, and bleſſed the whole congregation of Iſrael: and all the congregation of Iſrael ſtood.

4 And ſaid, Bleſſed be the LORD God of Iſrael, who hath with his hands fulfilled that which he ſpoke with his mouth to my father David, ſaying,

5 Since the day that I brought forth my people out of the land of Egypt I choſe no city among all the tribes of Iſrael to build an houſe in, that my name might be there; neither choſe I any man to be a ruler over my people Iſrael:

6 But I have choſen Jeruſalem, that my name might be there; and have choſen David to be over my people Iſrael.

7 Now it was in the heart of David my father to build an houſe for the name of the LORD God of Iſrael.

8 But the LORD ſaid to David my father, Forasmuch as it was in thine heart to build an houſe for my name, thou didſt well in that it was in thine heart:

9 Notwithſtanding thou ſhalt not build the houſe; but thy ſon which ſhall come forth out of thy loins, he ſhall build the houſe for my name.

10 The LORD therefore hath performed his word that he hath ſpoken: for I am riſen up in the room of David my father, and am ſet on the throne of Iſrael, as the LORD promiſed, and have built the houſe for the name of the LORD God of Iſrael.

11 And in it have I put the ark, wherein is the covenant of the LORD, that he made with the children of Iſrael.

12 ¶ And he ſtood before the altar of the LORD in the preſence of all the congregation of Iſrael, and ſpread forth his hands:

13 For Solomon had made a braſen ſcaffold, of five cubits long, and five cubits broad, and three cubits high, and had ſet it in the miſt of the court: and upon it he ſtood, and kneeled down upon his knees before all the congregation of Iſrael, and ſpread forth his hands toward heaven,

14 And ſaid, O LORD God of Iſrael, there is no God like thee in the heaven, nor in the earth, which keepeſt covenant, and ſheweſt mercy unto thy ſervants, that walk before thee with all their hearts:

15 Thou which haſt kept with thy ſervant David my father that which thou haſt promiſed him; and ſpokeſt with thy mouth, and haſt fulfilled it with thine hand, as it is this day.

16 Now therefore, O LORD God of Iſrael, keep with thy ſervant David my father that which thou haſt promiſed him, ſaying, There ſhall not fail thee a man in my ſight to ſit upon the throne of Iſrael; yet ſo that thy children take heed to their way to walk in my law, as thou haſt walked before me.

17 Now then, O LORD God of Iſrael, let thy word be verified, which thou haſt ſpoken unto thy ſervant David.

18 But will God in very deed dwell with men on the earth? behold, heaven and the heaven of heavens cannot contain thee; how much leſs this houſe which I have built!

19 Have reſpect therefore to the prayer of thy ſervant, and to his ſupplication, O LORD my God, to hearken unto the cry and the prayer which thy ſervant prayeth before thee:

20 That thine eyes may be open upon this houſe day and night, upon the place whereof thou haſt ſaid that thou wouldeſt put thy name there; to hearken unto the prayer which thy ſervant prayeth toward this place.

21 Hearken therefore unto the ſupplications of thy ſervant, and of thy people Iſrael, which they ſhall make toward this place: hear thou from thy dwelling place, even from heaven; and when thou heareſt, forgive.

22 ¶ If a man ſin againſt his neighbour, and an oath be laid upon him to make him ſwear, and the oath come before thine altar in this houſe;

23 Then hear thou from heaven, and do, and judge thy ſervants, by requiting the wicked, by recompenſing his way upon his own head; and by juſtifying the righteous, by giving him according to his righteouſneſs.

24 ¶ And if thy people Iſrael be put to the worſe before the enemy, becauſe they have ſinned againſt thee; and ſhall return and confeſs thy name, and pray and make ſupplication before thee in this houſe;

25 Then hear thou from the heavens, and forgive the ſin of thy people Iſrael, and bring them again unto the land which thou gaveſt to them and to their fathers.

26 ¶ When the heaven is ſhut up, and there is no rain, becauſe they have ſinned againſt thee; yet if they pray toward this place, and confeſs thy name, and turn from their ſin, when thou doſt afflict them;

27 Then hear thou from heaven, and forgive the ſin of thy ſervants, and of thy people Iſrael, when thou haſt taught them the good way, wherein they ſhould walk; and ſend rain upon thy land, which thou haſt given unto thy people for an inheritance.

28 ¶ If there be dearth in the land, if there be peſtilence, if there be blaſting, or mildew, locuſts, or caterpillers; if their enemies beſiege them in the cities of their land; whatſoever ſore or whatſoever ſickneſs there be:

29 Then what prayer or what ſupplication ſoever ſhall be made of any man, or of all thy people Iſrael, when every one ſhall know his own ſore and his own grief, and ſhall ſpread forth his hands in this houſe:

30 Then hear thou from heaven thy dwelling place, and forgive, and render unto every man according unto all his ways, whoſe heart thou knoweſt; (for thou only knoweſt the hearts of the children of men:)

31 That they may fear thee, to walk in thy ways, ſo long as they live in the land which thou gaveſt unto our fathers.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. V.

The viſible token of the Lord's preſence in the temple was, to teach Solomon, and others, to worſhip him in ſpirit, with reverence and faith, with gravity and decency; but the true temple he expects is our hearts, where he ſeeks to be worſhipped in ſpirit and in truth, and there he dwells by his grace.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VI.

1 That he would dwell in the thick darkneſs.] The heathens certainly learnt from hence this notion of God's dwelling in the thick darkneſs: for Juſtin Martyr obſerves, that Orpheus and another ancient writer calls God Παιρρυρον, "altogether hidden:" and the Lacedæmonians, who pretended to be of kin to the Jews, had a temple dedicated to Ζεύς Σκοτινός, "Jupiter the dark."

22 And the oath come before thine altar in this houſe.] It appears, that a man was to purge himſelf of a treſpaſs againſt his neighbour by an oath before the altar of God, from whom he expected remiſſion of ſin.

33 That

Before CHRIST 1034. for thy great name's sake, and thy mighty hand, and thy stretched out arm; if they come and pray in this house;

33 Then hear thou from the heavens, even from thy dwelling place, and do according to all that the stranger calleth to thee for; that all people of the earth may know thy name, and fear thee, as doth thy people Israel, and may know that this house which I have built is called by thy name.

34 ¶ If thy people go out to war against their enemies by the way that thou shalt send them, and they pray unto thee toward this city which thou hast chosen, and the house which I have built for thy name;

35 Then hear thou from the heavens their prayer and their supplication, and maintain their cause.

36 ¶ If they sin against thee, (for there is no man which sinneth not,) and thou be angry with them, and deliver them over before their enemies, and they carry them away captives unto a land far off or near;

37 Yet if they bethink themselves in the land whither they are carried captive, and turn and pray unto thee in the land of their captivity, saying, We have sinned, we have done amiss, and have dealt wickedly;

38 If they return to thee with all their heart and with all their soul in the land of their captivity, whither they have carried them captives, and pray toward their land, which thou gavest unto their fathers, and toward the city which thou hast chosen, and toward the house which I have built for thy name:

39 Then hear thou from the heavens, even from thy dwelling place, their prayer and their supplications, and maintain their cause, and forgive thy people which have sinned against thee.

40 ¶ Now, my God, let, I beseech thee, thine eyes be open, and let thine ears be attent unto the prayer that is made in this place.

41 Now therefore arise, O LORD God, into thy resting place, thou, and the ark of thy strength: let thy priests, O LORD God, be clothed with salvation, and let thy saints rejoice in goodness.

42 O LORD God, turn not away the face of thine anointed: remember the mercies of David thy servant.

C H A P. VII.

1 God testifieth his acceptance of Solomon's prayer by fire from heaven; the glory which filled the temple; the people worship. 4 Solomon's sacrifices at the solemnity of the dedication. 8 Having kept the feast of tabernacles and of the dedication of the altar seven days, the people are sent joyfully home. 12 God appeareth again to Solomon, and maketh a covenant with him.

NOW when Solomon had made an end of praying, the fire came down from heaven, and consumed the burnt offering and the sacrifices; and the glory of the LORD filled the house.

2 And the priests could not enter into the house of the LORD, because the glory of the LORD had filled the LORD's house.

3 And when all the children of Israel saw how the fire came down, and the glory of the LORD upon the house, they bowed themselves with their faces to the ground upon the pavement, and worshipped, and praised the LORD, saying, For he is good; for his mercy endureth for ever.

4 ¶ Then the king and all the people offered sacrifices before the LORD.

33 That all people of the earth may know thy name, and fear thee, &c.] Solomon knew the goodness of God to be so great, that it would not be in the least lessened towards Israel, how far soever it was extended towards other people.

41 Now therefore arise, O Lord God, &c.] These words are part of Psalm cxxxii. 8, 9. with a little alteration; wherein he beseeches God to take up his habitation here, together with his ark.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. VI.

From Solomon's prayer we are taught, that whatever happens to men, is the dispensation of providence; that war, pestilence, &c. are sent as chastisements for sin; that the remedy against them is, recourse to God by prayer and humiliation; for he is always ready

5 And king Solomon offered a sacrifice of twenty thousand oxen, and an hundred and twenty thousand sheep: so the king and all the people dedicated the house of God.

6 And the priests waited on their offices: the Levites also with instruments of musick of the LORD, which David the king had made to praise the LORD, because his mercy endureth for ever, when David praised by their ministry; and the priests sounded trumpets before them, and all Israel stood.

7 Moreover Solomon hallowed the middle of the court that was before the house of the LORD: for there he offered burnt offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings, because the brazen altar which Solomon had made was not able to receive the burnt offerings, and the meat offerings, and the fat.

8 ¶ Also at the same time Solomon kept the feast seven days, and all Israel with him, a very great congregation, from the entering in of Hamath unto the river of Egypt.

9 And in the eighth day they made a solemn assembly: for they kept the dedication of the altar seven days, and the feast seven days.

10 And on the three and twentieth day of the seventh month he sent the people away into their tents, glad and merry in heart for the goodness that the LORD had shewed unto David, and to Solomon, and to Israel his people.

11 Thus Solomon finished the house of the LORD, and the king's house: and all that came into Solomon's heart to make in the house of the LORD, and in his own house, he prosperously effected.

12 ¶ And the LORD appeared to Solomon by night, and said unto him, I have heard thy prayer, and have chosen this place to myself for an house of sacrifice.

13 If I shut up heaven that there be no rain, or if I command the locusts to devour the land, or if I send pestilence among my people;

14 If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land.

15 Now mine eyes shall be open, and mine ears attent unto the prayer that is made in this place.

16 For now have I chosen and sanctified this house, that my name may be there for ever: and mine eyes and mine heart shall be there perpetually.

17 And as for thee, if thou wilt walk before me, as David thy father walked, and do according to all that I have commanded thee, and shalt observe my statutes and my judgments;

18 Then will I stablish the throne of thy kingdom, according as I have covenanted with David thy father, saying, There shall not fail thee a man to be ruler in Israel.

19 But if ye turn away, and forsake my statutes and my commandments, which I have set before you, and shall go and serve other gods, and worship them;

20 Then will I pluck them up by the roots out of my land which I have given them; and this house, which I have sanctified for my name, will I cast out of my sight, and will make it to be a proverb and a byword among all nations.

21 And this house, which is high, shall be an astonishment to hear and deliver those who call on him in their necessities, if they confess their sins, and are converted.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VII.

4 Then the king and all the people offered sacrifices, &c.] They had offered sacrifices before; but now they renew them, and offer more, in acknowledgment of this assurance of God's love to them.

6 With instruments of musick of the Lord.] They are called "instruments of musick of the Lord," because David had made them "to praise the Lord withal, because his mercy endureth for ever."

And all Israel stood.] Standing was the common posture of worship, whether in prayer or praises.

ishment to every one that passeth by it; so that he shall say, Why hath the LORD done thus unto this land, and unto this house?

22 And it shall be answered, Because they forsook the LORD God of their fathers, which brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, and laid hold on other gods, and worshipped them, and served them: therefore hath he brought all this evil upon them.

6 And Baalath, and all the store cities that Solomon had, and all the chariot cities, and the cities of the horsemen, and all that Solomon desired to build in Jerusalem, and in Lebanon, and throughout all the land of his dominion.

7 ¶ As for all the people that were left of the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, which were not of Israel,

8 But of their children, who were left after them in the land, whom the children of Israel consumed not, them did Solomon make to pay tribute until this day.

9 But of the children of Israel did Solomon make no servants for his work; but they were men of war, and chief of his captains, and captains of his chariots and horsemen.

10 And these were the chief of king Solomon's officers, even two hundred and fifty, that bare rule over the people.

11 ¶ And Solomon brought up the daughter of Pharaoh out of the city of David unto the house that he had built for her: for he said, My wife shall not dwell in the house of David king of Israel, because the places are holy, whereunto the ark of the LORD hath come.

12 ¶ Then Solomon offered burnt offerings unto the LORD, on the altar of the LORD, which he had built before the porch,

13 Even after a certain rate every day offering according to the commandment of Moses, on the sabbaths, and on the new moons, and on the solemn feasts, three times in the year, even in the feast of unleavened bread, and in the feast of weeks, and in the feast of tabernacles.

14 ¶ And he appointed, according to the order of David his father, the courses of the priests to their service, and the Levites to their charges, to praise and minister before the priests, as the duty of every day required: the porters also by their courses at every gate: for so had David the man of God commanded.

15 And they departed not from the commandment of the king unto the priests and Levites concerning any matter, or concerning the treasures.

16 ¶ Now all the work of Solomon was prepared unto the day of the foundation of the house of the LORD, and until it was finished. So the house of the LORD was perfected.

17 ¶ Then went Solomon to Ezion-geber, and to Eloth, at the sea side in the land of Edom.

18 And Hiram sent him by the hands of his servants ships, and servants that had knowledge of the sea; and they went with the servants of Solomon to Ophir, and took hence four hundred and fifty talents of gold, and brought them to king Solomon.

C H A P. IX.

The queen of Sheba's visit to Solomon; her admiration and astonishment at his wisdom and magnificence; her presents and return. 13 Solomon's yearly revenue in gold. 15 His golden targets and shields. 17 His ivory throne. 20 His rich vessels of gold. 23 The respect paid to his wisdom by foreign princes. 25 His stables and horsemen. 26 The extent and wealth of his dominion. 29 His reign and death; Rehoboam succeedeth him.

AND when the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon, she came to prove Solomon with hard questions at Jerusalem, with a very great company, and camels that bare spices, and gold in abundance, and precious stones: and when she was come to Solomon, she communed with him of all that was in her heart.

2 And Solomon told her all her questions: and there was nothing hid from Solomon which he told her not.

3 And when the queen of Sheba had seen the wisdom of Solomon, and the house that he had built,

4 And the meat of his table, and the sitting of his servants, and the attendance of his ministers, and their apparel; his cupbearers also, and their apparel; and his ascent by which he went up into the house of the LORD; there was no more spirit in her.

5 And she said to the king, It was a true report which I heard in mine own land of thine acts, and of thy wisdom:

6 Howbeit I believed not their words, until I came, and mine eyes had seen it: and, behold, the one half of the greatness of thy wisdom was not told me: for thou exceedest the fame that I heard.

7 Happy are thy men, and happy are these thy servants, which stand continually before thee, and hear thy wisdom.

8 Blessed be the LORD thy God, which delighted in thee to set thee on his throne, to be king for the LORD thy 17 ¶ Then went Solomon to Ezion-geber, and to Eloth, at the sea side in the land of Edom. ¶ Solomon proposed now to improve navigation, which the Jews did not much understand; and for that end he went to these places on the Red-sea.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. VIII.

From Solomon's buildings, the nations he made tributary, and the order of divine worship which he established, together with his great riches, we may perceive the faithfulness of God to his promise, when he assured them, that to his request for wisdom, honour and wealth should be superadded.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. IX.

¶ Solomon told her all her questions, &c.] The questions she came to ask were not curious enquiries into the secrets of natural things, or the maxims of political government, but only about things relating to piety, and the service of God.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. VII.

We learn from the Lord's declaration to Solomon, in this chapter, that the prayers which are put up to him in the holy assemblies, if proceeding from pure and humble hearts, are acceptable to him; of which we are assured by Jesus Christ, who has told us, that "where two or three are gathered together in his name, he will be in the midst of them."

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VIII.

3 Hamath-zobah, &c.] This country lay between Euphrates, which was the eastern boundary, and Damascus, which was the western.

11 He said, My wife shall not dwell, &c.] All houses, into which the ark had come, were not thereby made holy; for then the house of Obed-edom would have been so too; but where it had been settled so long, it had been in David's house, and had a tabernacle made for it, there was a special regard to the place where it had made its abode.

Before thy God: because thy God loved Israel, to establish them for ever, therefore made he thee king over them, to do judgment and justice.

9 And he gave the king an hundred and twenty talents of gold, and of spices great abundance, and precious stones: neither was there any such spice as the queen of Sheba gave king Solomon.

10 And the servants also of Hiram, and the servants of Solomon, which brought gold from Ophir, brought algum trees and precious stones.

11 And the king made of the algum trees terraces to the house of the Lord, and to the king's palace, and harps and psalteries for singers: and there were none such seen before in the land of Judah.

12 And king Solomon gave to the queen of Sheba all her desire, whatsoever she asked, beside that which she had brought unto the king. So she turned, and went away to her own land, she and her servants.

13 ¶ Now the weight of gold that came to Solomon in one year was six hundred and threescore and six talents of gold.

14 Beside that which chapmen and merchants brought. And all the kings of Arabia and governors of the country brought gold and silver to Solomon.

15 ¶ And king Solomon made two hundred targets of beaten gold: six hundred shekels of beaten gold went to one target.

16 And three hundred shields made he of beaten gold: three hundred shekels of gold went to one shield. And the king put them in the house of the forest of Lebanon.

17 ¶ Moreover the king made a great throne of ivory, and overlaid it with pure gold.

18 And there were six steps to the throne, with a footstool of gold, which were fastened to the throne, and stays on each side of the sitting place, and two lions standing by the stays:

19 And twelve lions stood there on the one side and on the other upon the six steps. There was not the like made in any kingdom.

20 ¶ And all the drinking vessels of king Solomon were of gold, and all the vessels of the house of the forest of Lebanon were of pure gold: none were of silver; it was not any thing accounted of in the days of Solomon.

21 For the king's ships went to Tarshish with the servants of Hiram: every three years once came the ships of Tarshish bringing gold, and silver, ivory, and apes, and peacocks.

22 And king Solomon passed all the kings of the earth in riches and wisdom.

23 ¶ And all the kings of the earth sought the presence of Solomon, to hear his wisdom, that God had put in his heart.

24 And they brought every man his present, vessels of silver, and vessels of gold, and raiment, harness, and spices, horses, and mules, a rate year by year.

25 ¶ And Solomon had four thousand stalls for horses and chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen; whom he bestowed in the chariot cities, and with the king at Jerusalem.

26 ¶ And he reigned over all the kings from the river even unto the land of the Philistines, and to the border of Egypt.

25 Twelve thousand horsemen; whom he bestowed in the chariot cities, &c.] Solomon had horses brought out of Egypt, and maintained a large number of chariots: their chariots resembled those of the Grecians being small, with two wheels apiece, carrying a man or two standing or leaning forward.

26 Are they not written in the book of Nathan the prophet, &c.] It appears by this, that the prophets were likewise historians, who wrote accounts of what passed in their times; out of whose works this short history was extracted.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. IX.

From the visit of the queen of Sheba to Solomon, in order to obtain answers to her difficult questions, we should be stirred up to seek after true wisdom from God who alone can give it; for our Saviour says, 27 And the king made silver in Jerusalem as stones, and cedar trees made he as the sycamore trees that are in the low plains in abundance.

28 And they brought unto Solomon horses out of Egypt, and out of all lands.

29 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Solomon, first and last, are they not written in the book of Nathan the prophet, and in the prophecy of Ahijah the Shilonite, and in the visions of Iddo the seer against Jeroboam the son of Nebat?

30 And Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel forty years.

31 And Solomon slept with his fathers, and he was buried in the city of David his father: and Rehoboam his son reigned in his stead.

CHAP. X.

1 The Israelites, assembled at Shechem to make Rehoboam king, sue to him with Jeroboam at their head for redress of grievances. 6 Rehoboam slighteth the good advice of his father's old counsellors, and consulteth with the young men, who advise to answer the people roughly. 12 He followeth their indiscreet counsel. 16 The ten tribes revolting kill Hadoram, and make Rehoboam flee.

AND Rehoboam went to Shechem: for to Shechem were all Israel come to make him king.

2 And it came to pass, when Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who was in Egypt, whither he had fled from the presence of Solomon the king, heard it, that Jeroboam returned out of Egypt.

3 And they sent and called him. So Jeroboam and all Israel came and spake to Rehoboam, saying,

4 Thy father made our yoke grievous: now therefore ease thou somewhat the grievous servitude of thy father, and his heavy yoke that he put upon us, and we will serve thee.

5 And he said unto them, Come again unto me after three days. And the people departed.

6 ¶ And king Rehoboam took counsel with the old men that had stood before Solomon his father while he yet lived, saying, What counsel give ye me to return answer to this people?

7 And they spake unto him, saying, If thou be kind to this people, and please them, and speak good words to them, they will be thy servants for ever.

8 But he forsook the counsel which the old men gave him, and took counsel with the young men that were brought up with him, that stood before him.

9 And he said unto them, What advice give ye that we may return answer to this people, which have spoken to me, saying, Ease somewhat the yoke that thy father did put upon us?

10 And the young men that were brought up with him spake unto him, saying, Thus shalt thou answer the people that spake unto thee, saying, Thy father made our yoke heavy, but make thou it somewhat lighter for us; thus shalt thou say unto them, My little finger shall be thicker than my father's loins.

11 For whereas my father put a heavy yoke upon you, I will put more to your yoke: my father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions.

12 ¶ So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam.

she came to hear the wisdom of Solomon, and will rise up in judgment against all those who will not learn of one that was greater than Solomon, even Christ, in whom all contained all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. X.

4 Thy father made our yoke grievous, &c.] If this complaint against Solomon was true, it is probable that he oppressed his subjects when he was corrupted with the love of money and strange women, and fell into idolatry: so prodigious were his expences, (from the multitude of his wives and concubines, and the buildings he raised for their idolatrous worship) that his treasures, though immense, were insufficient to support them, and, beginning to be exhausted, he was tempted to these ill courses, and driven to oppress his people.

Before CHRIST 975. hoboam on the third day, as the king bade, saying, Come again to me on the third day.

13 And the king answered them roughly; and king Rehoboam forsook the counsel of the old men,

14 And answered them after the advice of the young men, saying, My father made your yoke heavy, but I will add thereto: my father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions.

15 So the king hearkened not unto the people: for the cause was of God, that the LORD might perform his word, which he spake by the hand of Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

16 ¶ And when all Israel saw that the king would not hearken unto them, the people answered the king, saying, What portion have we in David? and we have none inheritance in the son of Jesse: every man to your tents, O Israel: and now, David, see to thine own house. So all Israel went to their tents.

17 But as for the children of Israel that dwelt in the cities of Judah, Rehoboam reigned over them.

18 Then king Rehoboam sent Hadoram that was over the tribute; and the children of Israel stoned him with stones, that he died. But king Rehoboam made speed to get him up to his chariot, to flee to Jerusalem.

19 And Israel rebelled against the house of David unto this day.

CHAP. XI.

1 Rehoboam raiseth an army to reduce Israel, but is forbidden to proceed by the prophet Shemaiah. 5 He buildeth fenced cities, and putteth the strong holds in a good posture of defence. 13 The priests and Levites, cast off by Jeroboam in favour of his own idolatrous worship, resort to Jerusalem, and are followed by others out of Israel that feared God. 18 Rehoboam's wives and children.

AND when Rehoboam was come to Jerusalem, he gathered of the house of Judah and Benjamin an hundred and fourscore thousand chosen men, which were warriors, to fight against Israel, that he might bring the kingdom again to Rehoboam.

2 But the word of the LORD came to Shemaiah the man of God, saying,

3 Speak unto Rehoboam the son of Solomon, king of Judah, and to all Israel in Judah and Benjamin, saying,

4 Thus saith the LORD, Ye shall not go up, nor fight against your brethren: return every man to his house: for this thing is done of me. And they obeyed the words of the LORD, and returned from going against Jeroboam.

5 ¶ And Rehoboam dwelt in Jerusalem, and built cities for defence in Judah.

6 He built even Beth-lehem, and Etam, and Tekoa,

7 And Beth-zur, and Shoco, and Adullam,

8 And Gath, and Marefhah, and Ziph,

9 And Adoraim, and Lachish, and Azekah,

10 And Zorah, and Aijalon, and Hebron, which are in Judah and in Benjamin fenced cities.

11 And he fortified the strong holds, and put captains in them, and store of victual, and of oil and wine.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. X.

We find from this chapter, that as by the heavy burdens laid by Solomon upon his subjects, he alienated their affections from him; so by the imprudent conduct of his son Rehoboam, most of his people revolted from him, which was the result of his preferring the advice of the young and unexperienced to wise and aged counsellors: but herein was fulfilled God's threatening to Solomon for his idolatry and ingratitude.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XI.

5 And built cities for defence in Judah.] The cities here mentioned were built before: but perhaps he now repaired and enlarged some of them.

14 The Levites left their suburbs and their possession, &c.] They refused to offer sacrifices before his calves in Dan and Beth-el, and he would not let them go to worship at Jerusalem, and therefore they left their dwellings and their possessions, and went to live there.

17 They walked in the way of David and Solomon.] Respecting Solomon, this must mean, either before his declension from the ways and 12 And in every several city be put shields and spears, and made them exceeding strong, having Judah and Benjamin on his side. Before CHRIST 975.

13 ¶ And the priests and the Levites that were in all Israel resorted to him out of all their coasts. 974.

14 For the Levites left their suburbs and their possession, and came to Judah and Jerusalem: for Jeroboam and his sons had cast them off from executing the priest's office unto the LORD:

15 And he ordained him priests for the high places, and for the devils, and for the calves which he had made.

16 And after them out of all the tribes of Israel such as set their hearts to seek the LORD God of Israel came to Jerusalem, to sacrifice unto the LORD God of their fathers.

17 So they strengthened the kingdom of Judah, and made Rehoboam the son of Solomon strong, three years: for three years they walked in the way of David and Solomon.

18 ¶ And Rehoboam took him Mahalath the daughter of Jerimoth the son of David to wife, and Abihail the daughter of Eliab the son of Jesse;

19 Which bare him children; Jeush, and Shamaiah, and Zerah.

20 And after her he took Maachah the daughter of Abisai; which bare him Abijah, and Attai, and Ziza, and Shelomith.

21 And Rehoboam loved Maachah the daughter of Abisai above all his wives and his concubines: (for he took eighteen wives, and threescore concubines, and begat twenty and eight sons, and threescore daughters.)

22 And Rehoboam made Abijah the son of Maachah the chief, to be ruler among his brethren: for he thought to make him king.

23 And he dealt wisely, and dispersed of all his children throughout all the countries of Judah and Benjamin, unto every fenced city: and he gave them victual in abundance. And he desired many wives.

CHAP. XII.

1 Rehoboam forsaking the Lord is punished by Shishak's invasion: 5 he and the princes repenting at the preaching of Shemaiah are delivered from destruction, but not from spoil. 13 The reign and death of Rehoboam: Abijah succeedeth him.

AND it came to pass, when Rehoboam had established the kingdom, and had strengthened himself, he forsook the law of the LORD, and all Israel with him. 972.

2 And it came to pass, that in the fifth year of king Rehoboam Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem, because they had transgressed against the LORD. 971.

3 With twelve hundred chariots, and threescore thousand horsemen: and the people were without number that came with him out of Egypt; the Lubims, the Sukkiims, and the Ethiopians.

service of God, through the seduction of his wives, or at the time of his repentance in his old age, as may be inferred from his book of Ecclesiastes.

23 He dealt wisely, and dispersed—all his children throughout all the countries, &c.] Fearing a rebellion, he did not suffer his children to live together, but dispersed them into all parts of the country under his government, that he might confirm the kingdom in the hand of his son Abijah.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XI.

We may observe, from this chapter, that as Rehoboam was blessed while he and his people served the Lord, so it will ever be; for they that fear and obey God, shall prosper, but such as depart from him, shall smart for their folly.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XII.

3 The Lubims, the Sukkiims, &c.] The Lubims were the people of Lybia, a famous country in Africa, adjoining to Egypt; and the Sukkiims were the people called Troglodytes, who lived in dens and caves near the Red-sea.

3 That

Before
971.

4 And he took the fenced cities which pertained to Judah, and came to Jerusalem.

5 ¶ Then came Shemaiah the prophet to Rehoboam, and to the princes of Judah, that were gathered together to Jerusalem because of Shishak, and said unto them, Thus saith the LORD, Ye have forsaken me, and therefore have I also left you in the hand of Shishak.

6 Whereupon the princes of Israel and the king humbled themselves; and they said, The LORD is righteous.

7 And when the LORD saw that they humbled themselves, the word of the LORD came to Shemaiah, saying, They have humbled themselves; therefore I will not destroy them, but I will grant them some deliverance; and my wrath shall not be poured out upon Jerusalem by the hand of Shishak.

¶ Nevertheless they shall be his servants; that they may know my service, and the service of the kingdoms of the countries.

9 So Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem, and took away the treasures of the house of the LORD, and the treasures of the king's house; he took all: he carried away also the shields of gold which Solomon had made.

10 Instead of which king Rehoboam made shields of brass, and committed them to the hands of the chief of the guard, that kept the entrance of the king's house.

11 And when the king entered into the house of the LORD, the guard came and fetched them, and brought them again into the guard chamber.

12 And when he humbled himself, the wrath of the LORD turned from him, that he would not destroy him altogether: and also in Judah things went well.

13 ¶ So king Rehoboam strengthened himself in Jerusalem, and reigned: for Rehoboam was one and forty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city which the LORD had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, to put his name there. And his mother's name was Naamah an Ammonitess.

14 And he did evil, because he prepared not his heart to seek the LORD.

15 Now the acts of Rehoboam, first and last, are they not written in the book of Shemaiah the prophet, and of Iddo the seer concerning genealogies? And there were wars between Rehoboam and Jeroboam continually.

16 And Rehoboam slept with his fathers, and was buried in the city of David: and Abijah his son reigned in his stead.

C H A P. XIII.

1 Abijah maketh war against Jeroboam: 4 he declareth the right of his cause: 13 trusting in God he overcometh Jeroboam. 21 The wives and children of Abijah.

958. NOW in the eighteenth year of king Jeroboam began Abijah to reign over Judah.

¶ He reigned three years in Jerusalem. His mother's name also was Michaiah the daughter of Uriel of Gibeah. And there was war between Abijah and Jeroboam.

¶ That they may know my service, and the service of the kingdoms of the countries.] He resolved to let them feel the difference between him and other lords and masters; and how much more happy they were while they continued to worship and serve him, than when they fell under a foreign yoke.

14 He did evil, because he prepared not his heart to seek the Lord.] This seems to signify that after his humiliation for his sins, he relapsed again into them.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XII.

This chapter points out to us, that although God had chastised Rehoboam by the revolt of the ten tribes, that prince forsook God, as soon as he found himself settled, and drew away his subjects into the same rebellion; but by God's bringing the king of Egypt against him to strip him of part of his dominions and plunder the temple, we see the dreadful consequence of abusing the favours of God, and despising his corrections too.

3 And Abijah set the battle in array with an army of valiant men of war, even four hundred thousand chosen men: Jeroboam also set the battle in array against him with eight hundred thousand chosen men, being mighty men of valour.

4 ¶ And Abijah stood up upon mount Zemaraim, which is in mount Ephraim, and said, Hear me, thou Jeroboam, and all Israel;

5 Ought ye not to know that the LORD God of Israel gave the kingdom over Israel to David for ever, even to him and to his sons by a covenant of salt?

6 Yet Jeroboam the son of Nebat, the servant of Solomon the son of David, is risen up, and hath rebelled against his lord.

7 And there are gathered unto him vain men, the children of Belial, and have strengthened themselves against Rehoboam the son of Solomon, when Rehoboam was young and tenderhearted, and could not withstand them.

8 And now ye think to withstand the kingdom of the LORD in the hand of the sons of David; and ye be a great multitude, and there are with you golden calves, which Jeroboam made you for gods.

9 Have ye not cast out the priests of the LORD, the sons of Aaron, and the Levites, and have made you priests after the manner of the nations of other lands? so that whosoever cometh to consecrate himself with a young bullock and seven rams, the same may be a priest of them that are no gods.

10 But as for us, the LORD is our God, and we have not forsaken him; and the priests, which minister unto the LORD, are the sons of Aaron, and the Levites wait upon their business:

11 And they burn unto the LORD every morning and every evening burnt sacrifices and sweet incense: the shewbread also set they in order upon the pure table; and the candlestick of gold with the lamps thereof, to burn every evening: for we keep the charge of the LORD our God; but ye have forsaken him.

12 And, behold, God himself is with us for our captain, and his priests with sounding trumpets to cry alarm against you. O children of Israel, fight ye not against the LORD God of your fathers; for ye shall not prosper.

13 ¶ But Jeroboam caused an ambushment to come about behind them: so they were before Judah, and the ambushment was behind them.

14 And when Judah looked back, behold, the battle was before and behind: and they cried unto the LORD, and the priests sounded with the trumpets.

15 Then the men of Judah gave a shout: and as the men of Judah shouted, it came to pass, that God smote Jeroboam and all Israel before Abijah and Judah.

16 And the children of Israel fled before Judah: and God delivered them into their hand.

17 And Abijah and his people slew them with a great slaughter: so there fell down slain of Israel five hundred thousand chosen men.

18 Thus the children of Israel were brought under at that time, and the children of Judah prevailed, because they relied upon the LORD God of their fathers.

19 And

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XIII.

4 Abijah stood up upon mount Zemaraim, which is in mount Ephraim, &c.] By this it seems that Abijah had entered into the country of the Israelites, and there drew up his army on the hill, afterwards called Samaria.

9 After the manner of the nations of other lands, &c.] Without any regard to the family they were of, and out of any part of the country.

11 The shewbread also set they in order upon the pure table; and the candlestick, &c.] Hereby putting the Israelites in mind how the worship of God was with great solemnity kept up in Judah, which in some years the Israelites had not seen, and perhaps had forgot.

17 There fell down slain of Israel five hundred thousand chosen men.] This is the greatest slaughter that we read of in history; but it is not incredible, when we consider that God fought for Judah; though some learned men are of opinion that a cypher has been, through negligence, added to this, and to the numbers in verse the third.

19 And Abijah pursued after Jeroboam, and took cities from him, Beth-el with the towns thereof, and Jeshanah with the towns thereof, and Ephraim with the towns thereof.

20 Neither did Jeroboam recover strength again in the days of Abijah: and the LORD struck him, and he died.

21 ¶ But Abijah waxed mighty, and married fourteen wives, and begat twenty and two sons, and sixteen daughters.

22 And the rest of the acts of Abijah, and his ways, and his sayings, are written in the story of the prophet Iddo.

C H A P. XIV.

1 Abijah dieth; Afa succeeding destroyeth idolatry. 6 Having peace he strengtheneth his kingdom with forts. 8 His army. 9 Attacked by Zerah the Ethiopian, he calleth upon God, and smiting the Ethiopians bringeth away much spoil.

SO Abijah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David: and Afa his son reigned in his stead. In his days the land was quiet ten years.

2 And Afa did that which was good and right in the eyes of the LORD his God:

3 For he took away the altars of the strange gods, and the high places, and brake down the images, and cut down the groves:

4 And commanded Judah to seek the LORD God of their fathers, and to do the law and the commandment.

5 Also he took away out of all the cities of Judah the high places and the images: and the kingdom was quiet before him.

6 And he built fenced cities in Judah: for the land had rest, and he had no war in those years: because the LORD had given him rest.

7 Therefore he said unto Judah, Let us build these cities, and make about them walls, and towers, gates, and bars, while the land is yet before us; because we have fought the LORD our God, we have fought him, and he hath given us rest on every side. So they built and prospered.

8 ¶ And Afa had an army of men that bare targets and spears, out of Judah three hundred thousand; and out of Benjamin, that bare shields and drew bows, two hundred and fourscore thousand: all these were mighty men of valour.

9 ¶ And there came out against them Zerah the Ethiopian with an host of a thousand thousand, and three hundred chariots; and came unto Mareshah.

10 Then Afa went out against him, and they set the battle in array in the valley of Zephathah at Mareshah.

11 And Afa cried unto the LORD his God, and said, LORD, it is nothing with thee to help, whether with many, or with them that have no power: help us, O LORD our God; for we rest on thee, and in thy name we go against this multitude. O LORD, thou art our God; let not man prevail against thee.

12 So the LORD smote the Ethiopians before Afa, and before Judah; and the Ethiopians fled.

13 And Afa and the people that were with him purfued them unto Gerar: and the Ethiopians were overthrown, that they could not recover themselves; for they were destroyed before the LORD, and before his host; and they carried away very much spoil.

14 And they smote all the cities round about Gerar; for the fear of the LORD came upon them: and they spoiled all the cities; for there was exceeding much spoil in them.

15 They smote also the tents of cattle, and carried away sheep and camels in abundance, and returned to Jerusalem.

C H A P. XV.

1 The prophecy of Azariah the son of Oded. 8 Afa hearing it putteth away idolatry, and assembleth the whole body of his people at Jerusalem; they enter into covenant with God. 16 He removeth Maachab his mother from being queen on account of her idolatry. 18 He bringeth into the house of God the things which had been dedicated, and enjoyeth a long peace.

AND the Spirit of God came upon Azariah the son of Oded:

2 And he went out to meet Afa, and said unto him, Hear ye me, Afa, and all Judah and Benjamin; The LORD is with you, while ye be with him; and if ye seek him, he will be found of you; but if ye forsake him, he will forsake you.

3 Now for a long season Israel hath been without the true God, and without a teaching priest, and without law.

4 But when they in their trouble did turn unto the LORD God of Israel, and sought him, he was found of them.

5 And in those times there was no peace to him that went out, nor to him that came in, but great vexations were upon all the inhabitants of the countries.

6 And nation was destroyed of nation, and city of city: for God did vex them with all adversity.

7 Be ye strong therefore, and let not your hands be weak: for your work shall be rewarded.

8 ¶ And when Afa heard these words, and the prophecy of Oded the prophet, he took courage, and put away the abominable idols out of all the land of Judah and Benjamin, and out of the cities which he had taken from mount Ephraim, and renewed the altar of the LORD, that was before the porch of the LORD.

9 And he gathered all Judah and Benjamin, and the strangers with them out of Ephraim and Manasseh, and out of Simeon: for they fell to him out of Israel in abundance, when they saw that the LORD his God was with him.

10 So they gathered themselves together at Jerusalem in the third month, in the fifteenth year of the reign of Afa.

11 And they offered unto the LORD the same time, of the spoil which they had brought, seven hundred oxen and seven thousand sheep.

12 And they entered into a covenant to seek the LORD God of their fathers with all their heart and with all their soul;

13 That whosoever would not seek the LORD God of Israel

19 And Ephraim, &c.] There was a city, as well as a tribe, called Ephraim, which some think was the same with Ophrah.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XIII.

The piety of Abijah, in pleading for the true worship of God against idolatry, and God's favour to him thereupon, shew us, that if we adhere to the Lord's ways, defend his cause, and worship him in sincerity, no weapon formed against us shall prosper.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XIV.

9 Zerah the Ethiopian, &c.] The king of the Arabians; as Cush here signifies.

13 They could not recover themselves] The victory was so complete, that they could not rally their forces to renew the fight.

They were destroyed before the Lord, &c.] The word "destroyed" imports, that very many perished.

15 And camels in abundance, &c.] The abundance of camels which they had, shews they were Arabians, whose country abounded with those creatures.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XIV.

In this chapter also, from the great victory obtained by Afa over the Ethiopians, we are further led to see the happy effects of serving God, and relying upon him, who is ever nigh unto them that fear him, and is both able and ready to deliver them in times of trouble.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XV.

While ye be with him, &c.] While ye continue to worship him alone.

5 In those times there was no peace, &c.] The words must be translated, In those days there shall be no peace, &c. and at the next verse also we should read, Nation shall be destroyed of nation, &c.

8 The prophecy of Oded, &c.] i. e. of Azariah the son of Oded.

Before CHRIST 941. Israel should be put to death, whether small or great, whether man or woman.

14 And they swore unto the LORD with a loud voice, and with shouting, and with trumpets, and with cornets.

15 And all Judah rejoiced at the oath: for they had sworn with all their heart, and fought him with their whole desire; and he was found of them: and the LORD gave them rest round about.

16 ¶ And also concerning Maachah the mother of Afa the king, he removed her from being queen, because she had made an idol in a grove: and Afa cut down her idol, and stamped it, and burnt it at the brook Kidron.

17 But the high places were not taken away out of Israel: nevertheless the heart of Afa was perfect all his days.

18 ¶ And he brought into the house of God the things that his father had dedicated, and that he himself had dedicated, silver, and gold, and vessels.

19 And there was no more war unto the five and thirtieth year of the reign of Afa.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Afa maketh a league with Ben-hadad king of Syria against Baasha, who is thereby diverted from the building of Ramah; Afa with the stones thereof buildeth Geba and Mizpah. 7 Hanani the seer, reproving him for applying to the Syrians for aid rather than to God, is imprisoned by him. 11 Afa in his sickness seeketh not to God, but to the physicians. 13 His death and burial.

940. IN the six and thirtieth year of the reign of Afa Baasha king of Israel came up against Judah, and built Ramah, to the intent that he might let none go out or come in to Afa king of Judah.

2 Then Afa brought out silver and gold out of the treasures of the house of the LORD and of the king's house, and sent to Ben-hadad king of Syria, that dwelt at Damascus, saying,

3 There is a league between me and thee, as there was between my father and thy father: behold, I have sent thee silver and gold; go, break thy league with Baasha king of Israel, that he may depart from me.

4 And Ben-hadad hearkened unto king Afa, and sent the captains of his armies against the cities of Israel; and they smote Ijon, and Dan, and Abel-maim, and all the store cities of Naphtali.

5 And it came to pass, when Baasha heard it, that he left off building of Ramah, and let his work cease.

6 Then Afa the king took all Judah; and they carried away the stones of Ramah, and the timber thereof, wherewith Baasha was building; and he built therewith Geba and Mizpah.

941. 7 ¶ And at that time Hanani the seer came to Afa king of Judah, and said unto him, Because thou hast relied on the king of Syria, and not relied on the LORD thy God, therefore is the host of the king of Syria escaped out of thine hand.

¶ Were not the Ethiopians and the Lubims a huge host, with very many chariots and horsemen? yet, because thou didst rely on the LORD, he delivered them into thine hand.

17 The high places were not taken away out of Israel, &c.] This means, out of the territories which Afa had conquered in the land of Israel, for he was not able to remove them.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS III Chap. XV.

This history shews us, that the chief care of princes, and of their people, ought to be, to render God propitious to them, by their sincere adherence to religion, in which alone consists their happiness and security: see ver. 2. of this chapter.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XVI.

¶ In the six and thirtieth year of the reign of Afa Baasha king of Israel came up, &c.] Baasha died in the six and twentieth year of Afa; and therefore the best authors are of opinion that an error is crept into the text, through the inattention of the transcriber.

12 Yet in his disease he sought not the Lord, but to the physicians.] He trusted in their skill, more than to the goodness and power of God, which he omitted to implore, and continued in his former fault of putting confidence in man.

14 They made a very great burning for him.] The Israelites might 9 For the eyes of the LORD run to and fro throughout the whole earth, to shew himself strong in the behalf of them whose heart is perfect toward him. Herein thou hast done foolishly: therefore from henceforth thou shalt have wars.

10 Then Afa was wroth with the seer, and put him in a prison house; for he was in a rage with him because of this thing. And Afa oppressed some of the people the same time.

11 ¶ And, behold, the acts of Afa, first and last, lo, they are written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel.

12 And Afa in the thirty and ninth year of his reign was diseased in his feet, until his disease was exceeding great: yet in his disease he sought not to the LORD, but to the physicians.

13 ¶ And Afa slept with his fathers, and died in the one and fortieth year of his reign.

14 And they buried him in his own sepulchres, which he had made for himself in the city of David, and laid him in the bed which was filled with sweet odours and divers kinds of spices prepared by the apothecaries' art: and they made a very great burning for him.

CHAP. XVII.

¶ Jehoshaphat succeeding Afa reigneth well and prospereth. 7 He sendeth Levites with his princes to teach the law in Judah. 10 The neighbouring kingdoms awed by God dare not disturb him; the Philistines and Arabians bring him presents and tribute. 12 His greatness; the number of his forces under their respective captains.

AND Jehoshaphat his son reigned in his stead, and strengthened himself against Israel.

2 And he placed forces in all the fenced cities of Judah, and set garrisons in the land of Judah, and in the cities of Ephraim, which Afa his father had taken.

3 And the LORD was with Jehoshaphat, because he walked in the first ways of his father David, and fought not unto Baalim;

4 But fought to the LORD God of his father, and walked in his commandments, and not after the doings of Israel.

5 Therefore the LORD stablished the kingdom in his hand; and all Judah brought to Jehoshaphat presents; and he had riches and honour in abundance.

6 And in his heart was lifted up in the ways of the LORD: moreover he took away the high places and groves out of Judah.

7 ¶ Also in the third year of his reign he sent to his princes, even to Ben-hail, and to Obadiah, and to Zachariah, and to Nethaneel, and to Michaiah, to teach in the cities of Judah.

8 And with them he sent Levites, even Shemaiah, and Nethaniah, and Zebadiah, and Afahel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehonathan, and Adonijah, and Tobijah, and Tob-adonijah, Levites; and with them Elishama and Jehoram, priests.

9 And they taught in Judah, and had the book of the law of the LORD with them, and went about throughout perhaps have learned from the ancient Egyptians the custom not of burning bodies, but of burning many spices at their funerals.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XVI.

What happened to this prince, teaches us, that after beginning well, we should persevere in our duty, lest we lose God's blessing; and this is a warning in particular to pious persons to be upon their guard, walking humbly and in the fear of God, lest at any time they should slip or fall, and thereby bring a disgrace upon their profession.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XVII.

6 His heart was lifted up in the ways of the Lord, &c.] He had formed generous and exalted resolutions to promote the worship of God.

7 He sent his princes—to teach in the cities of Judah.] The most probable opinion is, that they admonished and required the people to observe the laws of God, and left the particular explication and enforcement of them to those of the sacred order who attended them.

throughout all the cities of Judah, and taught the people.

10 ¶ And the fear of the LORD fell upon all the kingdoms of the lands that were round about Judah, so that they made no war against Jehoshaphat.

11 Also some of the Philistines brought Jehoshaphat presents, and tribute silver; and the Arabians brought him flocks, seven thousand and seven hundred rams, and seven thousand and seven hundred he goats.

12 ¶ And Jehoshaphat waxed great exceedingly; and he built in Judah castles, and cities of store.

13 And he had much business in the cities of Judah: and the men of war, mighty men of valour, were in Jerusalem.

14 And these are the numbers of them according to the house of their fathers: Of Judah, the captains of thousands; Adnah the chief, and with him mighty men of valour three hundred thousand.

15 And next to him was Jehohanan the captain, and with him two hundred and fourscore thousand.

16 And next him was Amasiah the son of Zichri, who willingly offered himself unto the LORD; and with him two hundred thousand mighty men of valour.

17 And of Benjamin; Eliada a mighty man of valour, and with him armed men with bow and shield two hundred thousand.

18 And next him was Jehozabad, and with him an hundred and fourscore thousand ready prepared for the war.

19 These waited on the king, beside those whom the king put in the fenced cities throughout all Judah.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Jehoshaphat joined in affinity with Ahab is persuaded to go with him against Ramoth-gilead. 4 Jehoshaphat proposeth to enquire of God; Ahab's false prophets assure him of success. 6 At Jehoshaphat's request Micaiah is sent for: 15 who foretelleth Ahab's death, and sheweth that his false prophets were possessed by a lying spirit. 23 He is ill treated and sent to prison. 28 Ahab goeth in disguise to the battle, where Jehoshaphat being mistaken for him narrowly escapeth being slain. 33 Ahab is slain by an arrow shot at a venture.

NOW Jehoshaphat had riches and honour in abundance, and joined affinity with Ahab.

2 And after certain years he went down to Ahab to Samaria. And Ahab killed sheep and oxen for him in abundance, and for the people that he had with him, and persuaded him to go up with him to Ramoth-gilead.

3 And Ahab king of Israel said unto Jehoshaphat king of Judah, Wilt thou go with me to Ramoth-gilead? And he answered him, I am as thou art, and my people as thy people; and we will be with thee in the war.

4 ¶ And Jehoshaphat said unto the king of Israel, Enquire, I pray thee, at the word of the LORD to day.

5 Therefore the king of Israel gathered together of prophets four hundred men, and said unto them, Shall we go to Ramoth-gilead to battle, or shall I forbear? And they said, Go up; for God will deliver it into the king's hand.

6 ¶ But Jehoshaphat said, Is there not here a prophet of the LORD besides, that we might enquire of him?

7 And the king of Israel said unto Jehoshaphat, There is yet one man, by whom we may enquire of the LORD: but I hate him; for he never prophesied good unto me, but always evil: the same is Micaiah the son of Imla. And Jehoshaphat said, Let not the king say so.

8 And the king of Israel called for one of his officers, and said, Fetch quickly Micaiah the son of Imla.

9 And the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah sat either of them on his throne, clothed in their robes, and they sat in a void place at the entering in of the gate of Samaria; and all the prophets prophesied before them.

10 And Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah had made him horns of iron, and said, Thus saith the LORD, With these thou shalt push Syria until they be consumed.

11 And all the prophets prophesied so, saying, Go up to Ramoth-gilead, and prosper: for the LORD shall deliver it into the hand of the king.

12 And the messenger that went to call Micaiah spake to him, saying, Behold; the words of the prophets declare good to the king with one assent; let thy word therefore, I pray thee, be like one of their's, and speak thou good.

13 And Micaiah said, As the LORD liveth, even what my God saith, that will I speak.

14 And when he was come to the king, the king said unto him, Micaiah, shall we go to Ramoth-gilead to battle, or shall I forbear? And he said, Go ye up, and prosper, and they shall be delivered into your hand.

15 ¶ And the king said to him, How many times shall I adjure thee that thou say nothing but the truth to me in the name of the LORD?

16 Then he said, I did see all Israel scattered upon the mountains, as sheep that have no shepherd: and the LORD said, These have no master; let them return therefore every man to his house in peace.

17 And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, Did I not tell thee that he would not prophesy good unto me, but evil?

18 Again he said, Therefore hear the word of the LORD; I saw the LORD sitting upon his throne, and all the host of heaven standing on his right hand and on his left.

19 And the LORD said, Who shall entice Ahab king of Israel, that he may go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead? And one spake saying after this manner, and another saying after that manner.

20 Then there came out a spirit, and stood before the LORD, and said, I will entice him. And the LORD said unto him, Wherewith?

21 And he said, I will go out, and be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets. And the LORD said, Thou shalt entice him, and thou shalt also prevail: go out, and do even so.

22 Now therefore, behold, the LORD hath put a lying spirit in the mouth of these thy prophets, and the LORD hath spoken evil against thee.

23 ¶ Then Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah came near, and smote Micaiah upon the cheek, and said, Which way went the Spirit of the LORD from me to speak unto thee?

24 And Micaiah said, Behold, thou shalt see on that day when thou shalt go into an inner chamber to hide thyself.

25 Then the king of Israel said, Take ye Micaiah, and carry him back to Amon the governor of the city, and to Joash the king's son;

26 And say, Thus saith the king, Put this fellow in the prison, and feed him with bread of affliction and with water of affliction, until I return in peace.

27 And

13 He had much business in the cities of Judah, &c.] To settle religion, and extirpate idolatry, as well as to provide for their safety by fortifications, and whatsoever was necessary for the preservation of public tranquillity.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XVII.
From God's gracious dealings in pious Jehoshaphat, we learn, that the way of the righteous tends to prosperity; and when any persons are brought to serve, obey, and love God with their whole heart, the Lord causes their very enemies to be at peace with them.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XVIII.

1 And joined affinity with Ahab.] For his son married Athaliah the daughter of Ahab: see Kings viii. 18.

3 Wilt thou go with me, &c.] The preceding verse tells us, that "Ahab had persuaded him to go up with him, &c." and by the question being here repeated, it seems as if Ahab resolved more deliberately upon what he had proposed before in the midst of the entertainment.

Before
CHRIST
897.

27 And Micaiah said, If thou certainly return in peace, then hath not the LORD spoken by me. And he said, Harken, all ye people.

28 ¶ So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah went up to Ramoth-gilead.

29 And the king of Israel said unto Jehoshaphat, I will disguise myself, and will go to the battle; but put thou on thy robes. So the king of Israel disguised himself; and they went to the battle.

30 Now the king of Syria had commanded the captains of the chariots that were with him, saying, Fight ye not with small or great, save only with the king of Israel.

31 And it came to pass, when the captains of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat, that they said, It is the king of Israel. Therefore they compassed about him to fight: but Jehoshaphat cried out, and the LORD helped him; and God moved them to depart from him.

32 For it came to pass, that, when the captains of the chariots perceived that it was not the king of Israel, they turned back again from pursuing him.

33 ¶ And a certain man drew a bow at a venture, and smote the king of Israel between the joints of the harness: therefore he said to his chariot man, Turn thine hand, that thou mayest carry me out of the host; for I am wounded.

34 And the battle increased that day: howbeit the king of Israel stayed himself up in his chariot against the Syrians until the even: and about the time of the sun going down he died.

C H A P. XIX.

1 Jehoshaphat on his return is reproved by Jehu for having joined in alliance with Ahab. 4 He visiteth his kingdom. 5 His instructions to the judges whom he appointed in the cities of Judah; 8 and to the priests and Levites, who exercised judgment at Jerusalem.

896. AND Jehoshaphat the king of Judah returned to his house in peace to Jerusalem.

2 And Jehu the son of Hanani the seer went out to meet him, and said to king Jehoshaphat, Shouldest thou help the ungodly, and love them that hate the LORD? therefore is wrath upon thee from before the LORD.

3 Nevertheless there are good things found in thee, in that thou hast taken away the groves out of the land, and hast prepared thine heart to seek God.

4 ¶ And Jehoshaphat dwelt at Jerusalem: and he went out again through the people from Beer-sheba to mount Ephraim, and brought them back unto the LORD God of their fathers.

5 ¶ And he set judges in the land throughout all the fenced cities of Judah, city by city,

6 And said to the judges, Take heed what ye do: for ye judge not for man, but for the LORD, who is with you in the judgment.

7 Wherefore now let the fear of the LORD be upon you; take heed and do it: for there is no iniquity with the LORD our God, nor respect of persons, nor taking of gifts.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XVIII.

Though Jehoshaphat was blameable in allying with Ahab, nevertheless he manifested his piety in consulting the Lord's prophet. The issue of the battle proved, that undertakings formed contrary to the will of God rarely prosper, but his threatenings will infallibly be executed on the wicked, while he protects his people.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XIX.

¶ Shouldest thou help the ungodly, and love them that hate the Lord, &c.] As much as to say, this is contrary to common reason, which taught the heathens to make no friendship with such as were the enemies of their gods; nor even to lodge in the same house with a murderer, nor other grievous criminals, or even with them.

6 But for the Lord, who is with you in the judgment.] It is an observation of Cicero, that judges being sworn to do justice, should remember, when they come to pass sentence, Deum se habere testem, id est, ego arbitror, mentem suam, quâ nihil homini dedit ipse Deus divinius:—that he hath God for a witness of what he does, even his own conscience, than which God hath given to men nothing more divine. Cic. de Offic. lib. iii. c. 10.

8 ¶ Moreover in Jerusalem did Jehoshaphat set of the Levites, and of the priests, and of the chief of the fathers of Israel, for the judgment of the LORD, and for controversies, when they returned to Jerusalem.

9 And he charged them, saying, Thus shall ye do in the fear of the LORD, faithfully, and with a perfect heart.

10 And what cause soever shall come to you of your brethren that dwell in their cities, between blood and blood, between law and commandment, statutes and judgments, ye shall even warn them that they trespass not against the LORD, and so wrath come upon you, and upon your brethren: this do, and ye shall not trespass.

11 And, behold, Amariah the chief priest is over you in all matters of the LORD; and Zebadiah the son of Ishmael, the ruler of the house of Judah, for all the king's matters: also the Levites shall be officers before you. Deal courageously, and the LORD shall be with the good.

C H A P. XX.

1 Jehoshaphat invaded by the Moabites and others in his fear proclaimeth a fast. 5 His prayer. 14 The prophecy of Jahaziel. 20 Jehoshaphat exhorteth the people, and appointeth singers to praise the LORD. 22 The enemies destroy one another, and leave much spoil for Israel. 26 The people, having blessed God at Be-rachab, return in triumph, and dwell unmolested. 31 Jehoshaphat's good reign and acts. 35 He joineth with Ahaziah in sending ships to Tarshish, which according to the prediction of Eliezar are wrecked.

IT came to pass after this also, that the children of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and with them other beside the Ammonites came against Jehoshaphat to battle.

2 Then there came some that told Jehoshaphat, saying, There cometh a great multitude against thee from beyond the sea on this side Syria; and, behold, they be in Hazazon-tamar, which is En-gedi.

3 And Jehoshaphat feared, and set himself to seek the LORD, and proclaimed a fast throughout all Judah.

4 And Judah gathered themselves together, to ask help of the LORD: even out of all the cities of Judah they came to seek the LORD.

5 ¶ And Jehoshaphat stood in the congregation of Judah and Jerusalem, in the house of the LORD, before the new court,

6 And said, O LORD God of our fathers, art not thou God in heaven? and rulest not thou over all the kingdoms of the heathen? and in thine hand is there not power and might, so that none is able to withstand thee?

7 Art not thou our God, who didst drive out the inhabitants of this land before thy people Israel, and gavest it to the seed of Abraham thy friend for ever?

¶ And they dwelt therein, and have built thee a sanctuary therein for thy name, saying,

9 If, when evil cometh upon us, as the sword, judgment, or pestilence, or famine, we stand before this house,

10 Ye shall even warn them that they trespass not against the Lord, &c.] They were not only to pronounce a just sentence in every cause, but should also admonish him who was in the wrong, to beware of injuring their neighbours for the time to come.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XIX.

As God-sent a prophet to rebuke Jehoshaphat for joining idolatrous Ahab, this should be a caution to us, not to contract intimacy with the wicked. The wise conduct of Jehoshaphat shews the duty of princes; his appointing judges, the solemn charge he gave them to act conscientiously, and the good regulations he made in the state, evidence to us the necessity and beauty of order not only in civil, but especially in religious matters.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XX.

¶ And with them other beside the Ammonites, &c.] It ought to be translated, And with them the Meunims, a people in Arabia, near the Moabites and the Ammonites, and here called in auxiliaries.

2 From beyond the sea, &c.] i. e. The Dead sea.
9 The sword, judgment, &c.] Some translate it, The sword of judgment; i. e. the punishing sword.

house, and in thy presence, (for thy name is in this house,) and cry unto thee in our affliction, then thou wilt hear and help.

10 And now, behold, the children of Ammon and Moab and mount Seir, whom thou wouldest not let Israel invade, when they came out of the land of Egypt, but they turned from them, and destroyed them not;

11 Behold, I say, how they reward us, to come to cast us out of thy possession, which thou hast given us to inherit.

12 O our God, wilt thou not judge them? for we have no might against this great company that cometh against us; neither know we what to do: but our eyes are upon thee.

13 And all Judah stood before the LORD, with their little ones, their wives, and their children.

14 ¶ Then upon Jahaziel the son of Zechariah, the son of Benaiah, the son of Jeiel, the son of Mattaniah, a Levite of the sons of Asaph, came the Spirit of the LORD in the midst of the congregation;

15 And he said, Harken ye, all Judah, and ye inhabitants of Jerusalem, and thou king Jehoshaphat, Thus saith the LORD unto you, Be not afraid nor dismayed by reason of this great multitude; for the battle is not your's, but God's.

16 To morrow go ye down against them: behold, they come up by the cliff of Ziz; and ye shall find them at the end of the brook, before the wilderness of Jeruel.

17 Ye shall not need to fight in this battle: set yourselves, stand ye still, and see the salvation of the LORD with you, O Judah and Jerusalem: fear not, nor be dismayed; to morrow go out against them: for the LORD will be with you.

18 And Jehoshaphat bowed his head with his face to the ground: and all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell before the LORD, worshipping the LORD.

19 And the Levites, of the children of the Kohathites, and of the children of the Korhites, stood up to praise the LORD God of Israel with a loud voice on high.

20 ¶ And they rose early in the morning, and went forth into the wilderness of Tekoa: and as they went forth, Jehoshaphat stood and said, Hear me, O Judah, and ye inhabitants of Jerusalem; Believe in the LORD your God, so shall ye be established; believe his prophets, so shall ye prosper.

21 And when he had consulted with the people, he appointed singers unto the LORD, and that should praise the beauty of holiness, as they went out before the army, and to say, Praise the LORD; for his mercy endureth for ever.

22 ¶ And when they began to sing and to praise, the LORD set ambushments against the children of Ammon, Moab, and mount Seir, which were come against Judah; and they were smitten.

23 For the children of Ammon and Moab stood up against the inhabitants of mount Seir, utterly to slay and destroy them: and when they had made an end of the inhabitants of Seir, every one helped to destroy another.

24 And when Judah came toward the watch-tower in the wilderness, they looked unto the multitude, and, behold, they were dead bodies fallen to the earth, and none escaped.

25 And when Jehoshaphat and his people came to take away the spoil of them, they found among them in abundance both riches with the dead bodies, and precious jewels, which they stripped off for themselves, more than they could carry away: and they were three days in gathering of the spoil, it was so much.

26 ¶ And on the fourth day they assembled themselves in the valley of Berachah; for there they blessed the LORD: therefore the name of the same place was called, The valley of Berachah, unto this day.

27 Then they returned every man of Judah and Jerusalem, and Jehoshaphat in the forefront of them, to go again to Jerusalem with joy; for the LORD had made them to rejoice over their enemies.

28 And they came to Jerusalem with psalteries and harps and trumpets unto the house of the LORD.

29 And the fear of God was on all the kingdoms of those countries, when they had heard that the LORD fought against the enemies of Israel.

30 So the realm of Jehoshaphat was quiet: for his God gave him rest round about.

31 ¶ And Jehoshaphat reigned over Judah: he was thirty and five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty and five years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi.

32 And he walked in the way of Aza his father, and departed not from it, doing that which was right in the sight of the LORD.

33 Howbeit the high places were not taken away: for as yet the people had not prepared their hearts unto the God of their fathers.

34 Now the rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, first and last, behold, they are written in the book of Jehu the son of Hanani, who is mentioned in the book of the kings of Israel.

35 ¶ And after this did Jehoshaphat king of Judah join himself with Ahaziah king of Israel, who did very wickedly:

36 And he joined himself with him to make ships to go to Tarshish: and they made the ships in Ezion-gaber.

37 Then Eliezer the son of Dodava of Mareshah prophesied against Jehoshaphat, saying, Because thou hast joined thyself with Ahaziah, the LORD hath broken thy works. And the ships were broken, that they were not able to go to Tarshish.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Jehoshaphat's death: Jehoram succeedeth him, and slayeth his brethren. 5 His wicked reign. 8 Edom and Libnah revolt. 12 Elijah's written prophecy against him. 16 The Philistines and Arabians carry off his substance, his wives, and all his sons, except Jehoahaz. 18 His incurable disease, loathsome death, and burial.

NOW Jehoshaphat slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David. And Jehoram his son reigned in his stead.

2 And he had brethren the sons of Jehoshaphat, Azariah, and Jehiel, and Zechariah, and Azariah, and Michael, and Shephatiah, all these were the sons of Jehoshaphat king of Israel.

3 And their father gave them great gifts of silver, and of gold, and of precious things, with fenced cities in Judah: but the kingdom gave he to Jehoram; because he was the firstborn.

4 Now when Jehoram was risen up to the kingdom of his father, he strengthened himself, and slew all his brethren

11 Behold, I say, how they reward us, &c.] Ingratitude certainly is odious, but to return evil for good, is the highest wickedness.

12 Wilt thou not judge them, &c.] To "judge," in this place, signifies, to punish.

14 Upon Jahaziel, &c.] He seems not to have been a prophet before this time, when a sudden inspiration came upon him from God, to comfort that great assembly with the certain hope of a speedy deliverance.

they were smitten.] The ambushments which they had laid for Judah, by a confusion among themselves, caused by a divine hand, fell upon a part of their own army, mistaking them for their enemies.

26 On the fourth day they assembled themselves, &c.] In a more solemn manner than they did at first, the whole body of the people assembling together, to acknowledge God's goodness to them.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XX. From the tenor of this chapter we may discern, that prayer and humiliation before God are effectual means for obtaining the divine favour; but considering the remains of indwelling sin, we should in all our undertakings distrust ourselves, and rely wholly on the Lord our strength and Redeemer.

Before CHRIST 892. brethren with the sword, and divers also of the princes of Israel.

5 ¶ Jehoram was thirty and two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem.

6 And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, like as did the house of Ahab: for he had the daughter of Ahab to wife: and he wrought that, which was evil in the eyes of the LORD.

7 Howbeit the LORD would not destroy the house of David, because of the covenant that he had made with David, and as he promised to give a light to him and to his sons for ever.

8 ¶ In his days the Edomites revolted from under the dominion of Judah, and made themselves a king.

9 Then Jehoram went forth with his princes, and all his chariots with him: and he rose up by night, and smote the Edomites which compassed him in, and the captains of the chariots.

10 So the Edomites revolted from under the hand of Judah unto this day. The same time also did Libnah revolt from under his hand; because he had forsaken the LORD God of his fathers.

11 Moreover he made high places in the mountains of Judah, and caused the inhabitants of Jerusalem to commit fornication, and compelled Judah thereto.

12 ¶ And there came a writing to him from Elijah the prophet, saying, Thus saith the LORD God of David thy father, Because thou hast not walked in the ways of Jehoshaphat thy father, nor in the ways of Aza king of Judah,

13 But hast walked in the way of the kings of Israel, and hast made Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to go a whoring, like to the whoredoms of the house of Ahab, and also hast slain thy brethren of thy father's house, which were better than thyself:

14 Behold, with a great plague will the LORD smite thy people, and thy children, and thy wives, and all thy goods:

15 And thou shalt have great sickness by disease of thy bowels, until thy bowels fall out by reason of the sickness day by day.

887. 16 ¶ Moreover the LORD stirred up against Jehoram the spirit of the Philistines, and of the Arabians, that were near the Ethiopians:

17 And they came up into Judah, and brake into it, and carried away all the substance that was found in the king's house, and his sons also, and his wives; so that there was never a son left him, save Jehoahaz, the youngest of his sons.

885. 18 ¶ And after all this the LORD smote him in his bowels with an incurable disease.

19 And it came to pass, that in process of time, after the end of two years, his bowels fell out by reason of his sickness: so he died of sore diseases. And his people made no burning for him, like the burning of his fathers.

20 Thirty and two years old was he when he began to reign, and he reigned in Jerusalem eight years, and departed without being desired. Howbeit they buried him in the city of David, but not in the sepulchres of the kings.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXI.

There came a writing—from Elijah the prophet, &c.] He did not send a writing; but it was sent in his writing; for there is nothing in the words to intimate that it was written after his death, but delivered after his death; so that it might have been written (for any thing that appears to the contrary) by Elijah himself, before he was taken up into heaven.

13 Which were better than thyself.] This seems to intimate, that his brethren were pious persons, and abhorred idolatry.

14 With a great plague will the Lord smite, &c.] There was no calamity that could be thought of, which did not befall this wicked prince, as appears from the sequel of the text.

20 Departed without being desired, &c.] His people did not wish he might live any longer, but were glad his reign was so short.

he is slain by Jehu. 10 Athaliah having destroyed all the seed royal of Judah, save Joash, who was hid by his aunt Jehoshabeath, usurpeth the kingdom.

AND the inhabitants of Jerusalem made Ahaziah his youngest son king in his stead: for the band of men that came with the Arabians to the camp had slain all the eldest. So Ahaziah the son of Jehoram king of Judah reigned.

2 Forty and two years old was Ahaziah when he began to reign, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. His mother's name also was Athaliah the daughter of Omri.

3 He also walked in the ways of the house of Ahab: for his mother was his counsellor to do wickedly.

4 Wherefore he did evil in the sight of the LORD like the house of Ahab: for they were his counsellors, after the death of his father, to his destruction.

5 ¶ He walked also after their counsel, and went with Jehoram the son of Ahab king of Israel to war against Hazael king of Syria at Ramoth-gilead: and the Syrians smote Joram.

6 And he returned to be healed in Jezreel because of the wounds which were given him at Ramah, when he fought with Hazael king of Syria. And Azariah the son of Jehoram king of Judah went down to see Jehoram the son of Ahab at Jezreel, because he was sick.

7 And the destruction of Ahaziah was of God by coming to Joram: for when he was come, he went out with Jehoram against Jehu the son of Nimshi, whom the LORD had anointed to cut off the house of Ahab.

8 And it came to pass, that, when Jehu was executing judgment upon the house of Ahab, and found the princes of Judah, and the sons of the brethren of Ahaziah, that ministered to Ahaziah, he slew them.

9 And he sought Ahaziah; and they caught him, (for he was hid in Samaria,) and brought him to Jehu: and when they had slain him, they buried him: Because said they, he is the son of Jehoshaphat, who sought the LORD with all his heart. So the house of Ahaziah had no power to keep still the kingdom.

10 ¶ But when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was dead, she arose and destroyed all the seed royal of the house of Judah.

11 But Jehoshabeath, the daughter of the king, took Joash the son of Ahaziah, and stole him from among the king's sons that were slain, and put him and his nurse in a bed chamber. So Jehoshabeath, the daughter of king Jehoram, the wife of Jehoiada the priest, (for she was the sister of Ahaziah,) hid him from Athaliah, so that she slew him not.

12 And he was with them hid in the house of God six years: and Athaliah reigned over the land.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Jehoiada, having taken measures for his security, maketh Joash king. 12 Athaliah is slain. 16 Jehoiada restoreth the worship of God, and setteth the king on his throne to the great joy of the people.

AND in the seventh year Jehoiada strengthened himself, and took the captains of hundreds, Azariah the son of Jeroham, and Ishmael the son of Jehohanan, and Azariah the son of Obed, and Maaseiah the son of Adaiah, and Elishaphat the son of Zichri, into covenant with him.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXI.

One important lesson is here set before us, namely, that as Jehoram was drawn away to idolatry by his wife, who was the daughter of Ahab, therefore true Christians should be careful not to ally themselves with profane and wicked persons in marriage, or otherwise, which is not only displeasing to God, but often proves the ruin of families and individuals.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXII.

2 Forty and two years old was Ahaziah when he began to reign, &c.] In 1 Kings viii. 26. it is said, "two and twenty years old was Ahaziah when he began to reign;" one of these readings is undoubtedly false; it should be two and twenty, which was his real age.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXII.

The end of Ahaziah affords an example, that they who join themselves with the wicked provoke God, and often perish miserably.

COMMENTARY

■ And they went about in Judah, and gathered the Levites out of all the cities of Judah, and the chief of the fathers of Israel, and they came to Jerusalem.

3 And all the congregation made a covenant with the king in the house of God. And he said unto them, Behold, the king's son shall reign, ■ the LORD hath said of the sons of David.

4 This is the thing that ye shall do; A third part of you entering on the sabbath, of the priests and of the Levites, shall be porters of the doors;

5 And a third part shall be at the king's house; and a third part at the gate of the foundation: and all the people shall be in the courts of the house of the LORD.

6 But let none come into the house of the LORD, save the priests, and they that minister of the Levites; they shall go in, for they are holy: but all the people shall keep the watch of the LORD.

7 And the Levites shall compass the king round about, every man with his weapons in his hand; and whosoever else cometh into the house, he shall be put to death: but be ye with the king when he cometh in, and when he goeth out.

8 So the Levites and all Judah did according to all things that Jehoiada the priest had commanded, and took every man his men that were to come in on the sabbath, with them that were to go out on the sabbath: for Jehoiada the priest dismissed not the courses.

9 Moreover Jehoiada the priest delivered to the captains of hundreds spears, and bucklers, and shields, that had been king David's, which were in the house of God.

10 And he set all the people, every man having his weapon in his hand, from the right side of the temple to the left side of the temple, along by the altar and the temple, by the king round about.

11 Then they brought out the king's son, and put upon him the crown, and gave him the testimony, and made him king. And Jehoiada and his sons anointed him, and said, God save the king.

12 ¶ Now when Athaliah heard the noise of the people running and praising the king, she came to the people into the house of the LORD:

13 And she looked, and, behold, the king stood at his pillar at the entering in, and the princes and the trumpets by the king: and all the people of the land rejoiced, and sounded with trumpets, also the singers with instruments of musick, and such as taught to sing praise. Then Athaliah rent her clothes, and said, Treason, Treason.

14 Then Jehoiada the priest brought out the captains of hundreds that were set over the host, and said unto them, Have her forth of the ranges: and whoso followeth her, let him be slain with the sword. For the priest said, Slay her not in the house of the LORD.

15 So they laid hands on her; and when she was come to the entering of the horse gate by the king's house, they slew her there.

16 ¶ And Jehoiada made a covenant between him, and between all the people, and between the king, that they should be the LORD's people.

17 Then all the people went to the house of Baal, and brake it down, and brake his altars and his images in pieces, and slew Mattan the priest of Baal before the altars.

18 Also Jehoiada appointed the officers of the house of the LORD by the hand of the priests the Levites, whom David had distributed in the house of the LORD, to offer the burnt offerings of the LORD, as it is written in the law of Moses, with rejoicing and with singing, as it was ordained by David.

19 And he set the porters at the gates of the house of the LORD, that none which was unclean in any thing should enter in.

20 And he took the captains of hundreds, and the nobles, and the governors of the people, and all the people of the land, and brought down the king from the house of the LORD: and they came through the high gate into the king's house, and set the king upon the throne of the kingdom.

21 And all the people of the land rejoiced: and the city was quiet, after that they had slain Athaliah with the sword.

■ Joash reigneth well all the days of Jehoiada. 4 His care and orders for the repairs of the temple. 15 Jehoiada's death and honourable burial. 16 Joash seduced by the flattering homage of his princes falleth away to idolatry, and putteth to death Zechariah the son of Jehoiada for reproving him by the spirit of God. 23 Joash is spoiled by the Syrians, and slain by a conspiracy of his servants. 27 Amaziah succeedeth him.

JOASH was seven years old when he began to reign, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem. His mother's name also was Zibiah of Beer-sheba.

2 And Joash did that which was right in the sight of the LORD all the days of Jehoiada the priest.

3 And Jehoiada took for him two wives; and he begat sons and daughters.

4 ¶ And it came to pass after this, that Joash was minded to repair the house of the LORD.

5 And he gathered together the priests and the Levites, and said to them, Go out unto the cities of Judah, and gather of all Israel money to repair the house of your God from year to year, and see that ye hasten the matter. Howbeit the Levites hastened it not.

6 And the king called for Jehoiada the chief, and said unto him, Why hast thou not required of the Levites to bring in out of Judah and out of Jerusalem the collection, according to the commandment of Moses the servant of the LORD, and of the congregation of Israel, for the tabernacle of witness?

7 For the sons of Athaliah, that wicked woman, had broken up the house of God; and also all the dedicated things of the house of the LORD did they bestow upon Baalim.

8 And at the king's commandment they made a chest, and set it without at the gate of the house of the LORD.

9 And they made a proclamation through Judah and Jerusalem, to bring in to the LORD the collection that Moses the servant of God laid upon Israel in the wilderness.

10 And all the princes and all the people rejoiced, and brought in, and cast into the chest, until they had made an end.

11 Now it came to pass, that at what time the chest was brought unto the king's office by the hand of the Levites, and when they saw that there was much money, the king's scribe and the high priest's officer came and emptied the chest, and took it, and carried it to his place again. Thus they did day by day, and gathered money in abundance.

12 And

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXIII.

2 And the chief of the fathers of Israel, &c.] It is likely that Judah is here called Israel (as in several other places), the principal men of which were apprized of Jehoiada's intentions.

19 He set the porters at the gates of the house of the Lord, &c.] It is surely becoming the divine majesty of the King of kings, the supreme Lord of heaven and earth, that his temple, which he dignifies with his glorious presence, should be surrounded by his ministers, the priests and Levites, who should carefully watch that nothing did pollute it!

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXIII.

In this chapter appears the providence and justice of God; for that happy revolution, whereby not only the state, but the church too, was restored to its purity, shews, that God cannot be more gracious to a people, than when he removes wicked, and sets up good princes and ministers in their stead.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXIV.

3 Jehoiada took for him two wives, &c.] Jehoiada is supposed either to have had there two wives before he was high-priest, or that ~~one~~ being dead, he took another: but it is not certain that Jehoiada was high-priest, for he is every where called Jehoiada the priest.

17 After

12 And the king and Jehoiada gave it to such as did the work of the service of the house of the LORD, and hired masons and carpenters to repair the house of the LORD, and also such as wrought iron and brass to mend the house of the LORD.

13 So the workmen wrought, and the work was perfected by them, and they set the house of God in his state, and strengthened it.

14 And when they had finished it, they brought the rest of the money before the king and Jehoiada, whereof were made vessels for the house of the LORD, even vessels to minister, and to offer withal, and spoons, and vessels of gold and silver. And they offered burnt offerings in the house of the LORD continually all the days of Jehoiada.

850. 15 ¶ But Jehoiada waxed old, and was full of days when he died; an hundred and thirty years old was he when he died.

16 And they buried him in the city of David among the kings, because he had done good in Israel, both toward God, and toward his house.

40. 17 ¶ Now after the death of Jehoiada came the princes of Judah, and made obeisance to the king. Then the king hearkened unto them.

18 And they left the house of the LORD God of their fathers, and served groves and idols; and wrath came upon Judah and Jerusalem for this their trespass.

19 Yet he sent prophets to them, to bring them again unto the LORD; and they testified against them: but they would not give ear.

20 And the Spirit of God came upon Zechariah the son of Jehoiada the priest, which stood above the people, and said unto them, Thus saith God, Why transgress ye the commandments of the LORD, that ye cannot prosper? because ye have forsaken the LORD, he hath also forsaken you.

21 And they conspired against him, and stoned him with stones at the commandment of the king in the court of the house of the LORD.

22 Thus Joash the king remembered not the kindness which Jehoiada his father had done to him, but slew his son. And when he died, he said, The LORD look upon it, and require it.

839. 23 ¶ And it came to pass at the end of the year, that the host of Syria came up against him: and they came to Judah and Jerusalem, and destroyed all the princes of the people from among the people, and sent all the spoil of them unto the king of Damascus.

24 For the army of the Syrians came with a small company of men, and the LORD delivered a very great host into their hand, because they had forsaken the LORD God of their fathers. So they executed judgment against Joash.

25 And when they were departed from him, (for they left him in great diseases,) his own servants conspired against him for the blood of the sons of Jehoiada the priest, and slew him on his bed, and he died: and they buried him in the city of David, but they buried him not in the sepulchres of the kings.

26 And these are they that conspired against him; Zabad the son of Shimeath an Ammonitess, and Jehozabad the son of Shimrith a Moabitess.

27 ¶ Now concerning his sons, and the greatness of the burdens laid upon him, and the repairing of the house of God, behold, they are written in the story of 17 After the death of Jehoiada, &c.] In his life-time they durst not have attempted it; for though he was old and feeble, he yet retained great authority.

22 Joash the king remembered not the kindness which Jehoiada his father had done to him, but slew his son.] Besides the contempt of God's prophet, and of the place where he was murdered, this sin had an horrible ingratitude in it, he being the son of him to whom the king, under God, owed his life and kingdom.

The Lord look upon it, and require it.] This being prophetically, not vindictively spoken, it should be, The lord will look upon it, and requite it.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXIV.

This history shews us, that Joash had the lot of wicked kings: he the book of the kings. And Amaziah his son reigned in his stead.

Before
839.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Amaziah beginneth his reign well. 3 His justice in punishing the murderers of his father. 5 He gathereth a great army, and hireth a hundred thousand Israelites for a hundred talents of silver, but at the word of a prophet loseth the money, and dismisseth them, who depart in great anger. 11 He smiteth the Edomites in the valley of Salt. 13 The offended Israelites on their return spoil the cities of Judah. 14 Amaziah serveth the gods of Edom, and rejecteth the admonitions of a prophet. 17 His challenge to Joash, which endeth in his overthrow, and in the taking and spoiling of Jerusalem. 25 The remainder of his reign. 27 He is slain by a conspiracy at Lachish.

AMAZIAH was twenty and five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty and nine years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Jehoaddan of Jerusalem.

2 And he did that which was right in the sight of the LORD, but not with a perfect heart.

3 ¶ Now it came to pass, when the kingdom was established to him, that he slew his servants that had killed the king his father.

4 But he slew not their children, but did as it is written in the law in the book of Moses, where the LORD commanded, saying, The fathers shall not die for the children, neither shall the children die for the fathers, but every man shall die for his own sin.

5 ¶ Moreover Amaziah gathered Judah together, and made them captains over thousands, and captains over hundreds, according to the houses of their fathers, throughout all Judah and Benjamin: and he numbered them from twenty years old and above, and found them three hundred thousand choice men, able to go forth to war, that could handle spear and shield.

6 He hired also an hundred thousand mighty men of valour out of Israel for an hundred talents of silver.

7 But there came a man of God to him, saying, O king, let not the army of Israel go with thee; for the LORD is not with Israel, to wit, with all the children of Ephraim.

8 But if thou wilt go, do it, be strong for the battle: God shall make thee fall before the enemy: for God hath power to help, and to cast down.

9 And Amaziah said to the man of God, But what shall we do for the hundred talents which I have given to the army of Israel? And the man of God answered, The LORD is able to give thee much more than this.

10 Then Amaziah separated them, to wit, the army that was come to him out of Ephraim, to go home again: wherefore their anger was greatly kindled against Judah, and they returned home in great anger.

11 ¶ And Amaziah strengthened himself, and led forth his people, and went to the valley of salt, and smote of the children of Seir ten thousand.

12 And other ten thousand left alive did the children of Judah carry away captive, and brought them unto the top of the rock, and cast them down from the top of the rock, that they all were broken in pieces.

13 ¶ But the soldiers of the army which Amaziah sent back, that they should not go with him to battle, fell upon the cities of Judah, from Samaria even unto Beth-horon, was guilty of extreme impiety and black ingratitude; therefore God delivered him to the Syrians, his enemies, and after being murdered in his bed, he was buried with ignominy: thus they who provoke the Lord to wrath by their sins, will early or late (without repentance) partake of the severity of his judgments.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXV.

2 He did that which was right in the sight of the Lord, but not with a perfect heart.] He kept the law of Moses, but not from a principle of solid piety.

12 And cast them down from the top of the rock, that they all were broken in pieces.] This was a very ancient punishment among the Romans, as we learn from Livy, Plutarch, and others.

27. Beth horon, and smote three thousand of them, and took much spoil.

14 ¶ Now it came to pass, after that Amaziah was come from the slaughter of the Edomites, that he brought the gods of the children of Seir, and set them up to be his gods, and bowed down himself before them, and burned incense unto them.

15 Wherefore the anger of the LORD was kindled against Amaziah, and he sent unto him a prophet, which said unto him, Why hast thou sought after the gods of the people, which could not deliver their own people out of thine hand?

16 And it came to pass, as he talked with him, that the king said unto him, Art thou made of the king's counsel? forbear; why shouldest thou be smitten? Then the prophet forbore, and said, I know that God hath determined to destroy thee, because thou hast done this, and hast not hearkened unto my counsel.

17 ¶ Then Amaziah king of Judah took advice, and sent to Joash, the son of Jehoahaz, the son of Jehu, king of Israel, saying, Come, let us see one another in the face.

18 And Joash king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Judah, saying, The thistle that was in Lebanon sent to the cedar that was in Lebanon, saying, Give thy daughter to my son to wife: and there passed by a wild beast that was in Lebanon, and trode down the thistle.

19 Thou sayest, Lo, thou hast smitten the Edomites; and thine heart lifteth thee up to boast: abide now at home; why shouldest thou meddle to thine hurt, that thou shouldest fall, even thou, and Judah with thee?

20 But Amaziah would not hear; for it came of God, that he might deliver them into the hand of their enemies, because they sought after the gods of Edom.

21 So Joash the king of Israel went up; and they saw one another in the face, both he and Amaziah king of Judah, at Beth-shemesh, which belongeth to Judah.

22 And Judah was put to the worse before Israel, and they fled every man to his tent.

23 And Joash the king of Israel took Amaziah king of Judah, the son of Joash, the son of Jehoahaz, at Beth-shemesh, and brought him to Jerusalem, and brake down the wall of Jerusalem from the gate of Ephraim to the corner gate, four hundred cubits.

24 And he took all the gold and the silver, and all the vessels that were found in the house of God with Obed-edom, and the treasures of the king's house, the hostages also, and returned to Samaria.

25 ¶ And Amaziah the son of Joash king of Judah lived after the death of Joash son of Jehoahaz king of Israel fifteen years.

26 Now the rest of the acts of Amaziah, first and last, behold, are they not written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel?

27 ¶ Now after the time that Amaziah did turn away from following the LORD they made a conspiracy against him in Jerusalem; and he fled to Lachish: but they sent to Lachish after him, and slew him there.

28 And they brought him upon horses, and buried him with his fathers in the city of Judah.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XXV.

We hence perceive, that Amaziah's becoming an idolater, brought darkness on his mind, and ruin on himself; in like manner, as surely as the earth turning from the sun, brings night to man; so man, turning from his God, brings endless night, as the poet beautifully observes.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXVI.

Uzziah, &c.] In 2 Kings xiv. 21. he is called Azariah.

5 In the days of Zechariah, &c.] This was not that Zechariah No. 34.

he invadeth the priests' office, is opposed by Azariah, and smitten with leprosy by God. 22 He dieth; Jotham succeedeth him. Before CHRIST 810.

THEN all the people of Judah took Uzziah, who was sixteen years old, and made him king in the room of his father Amaziah.

2 He built Eloth, and restored it to Judah, after that the king slept with his fathers.

3 Sixteen years old was Uzziah when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty and two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name also was Jecoliah of Jerusalem.

4 And he did that which was right in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father Amaziah did.

5 And he fought God in the days of Zechariah, who had understanding in the visions of God: and as long as he fought the LORD, God made him to prosper.

6 And he went forth and warred against the Philistines, and brake down the wall of Gath, and the wall of Jabneh, and the wall of Ashdod, and built cities about Ashdod, and among the Philistines.

7 And God helped him against the Philistines, and against the Arabians that dwelt in Gur-baal, and the Mehunims.

8 And the Ammonites gave gifts to Uzziah: and his name spread abroad even to the entering in of Egypt; for he strengthened himself exceedingly.

9 ¶ Moreover Uzziah built towers in Jerusalem at the corner gate, and at the valley gate, and at the turning of the wall, and fortified them.

10 Also he built towers in the desert, and digged many wells: for he had much cattle, both in the low country, and in the plains: husbandmen also, and vine dressers in the mountains, and in Carmel: for he loved husbandry.

11 ¶ Moreover Uzziah had an host of fighting men, that went out to war by bands, according to the number of their account by the hand of Jeiel the scribe and Maaseiah the ruler, under the hand of Hananiah, one of the king's captains.

12 The whole number of the chief of the fathers of the mighty men of valour were two thousand and six hundred.

13 And under their hand was an army, three hundred thousand and seven thousand and five hundred, that made war with mighty power, to help the king against the enemy.

14 And Uzziah prepared for them throughout all the host shields, and spears, and helmets, and habergeons, and bows, and slings to cast stones.

15 And he made in Jerusalem engines, invented by cunning men, to be on the towers and upon the bulwarks, to shoot arrows and great stones withal. And his name spread far abroad; for he was marvellously helped, till he was strong.

16 ¶ But when he was strong, his heart was lifted up to his destruction: for he transgressed against the LORD his God, and went into the temple of the LORD to burn incense upon the altar of incense.

17 And Azariah the priest went in after him, and with him fourscore priests of the LORD, that were valiant men:

18 And they withstood Uzziah the king, and said unto him, It appertaineth not unto thee, Uzziah, to burn incense unto the LORD, but to the priests the sons of Aaron, that are consecrated to burn incense: go out of the prophet, whose writings are found in the sacred canon, but probably his son.

He strengthened himself exceedingly.] His power grew so great, that he was formidable not only to the Philistines in the west, and to the Arabians and others in the east, but to the borders of Egypt in the south.

10 And in Carmel, &c.] Not the famous mount of that name, but only a very fruitful country, as the word Carmel signifies in several places.

16 Went into the temple of the Lord to burn incense, &c.] Perhaps he had a vain ambition to imitate the heathen princes, who in many places executed the priests' office also.

18 They withstood Uzziah the king, and said unto him, &c.] Withstood him not by force, but by reasons and exhortations.

20 And Azariah the chief priest, and all the priests, looked upon him, and, behold, he was leprous in his forehead, and they thrust him out from thence; yea, himself hastened also to go out, because the LORD had smitten him.

21 And Uzziah the king was a leper unto the day of his death, and dwelt in several house, being a leper; for he was cut off from the house of the LORD: and Jotham his son was over the king's house, judging the people of the land.

22 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Uzziah, first and last, did Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz, write.

5 ¶ He fought also with the king of the Ammonites, and prevailed against them. And the children of Ammon gave him the same year an hundred talents of silver, and ten thousand measures of wheat, and ten thousand of barley. So much did the children of Ammon pay unto him, both the second year, and the third.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXVI.

From Uzziah's sin and punishment, we see how hard it is to bear prosperity with moderation; that godly persons may be corrupted, and abuse God's mercies, if they are not watchful: we should therefore pray that we may be patient in adversity, and humble in prosperity.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXVII.

2 He entered not into the temple of the Lord, &c.] He imitated his father in all that was good in him, but did not, like him, profanely enter into the temple to offer incense.

3 On the wall of Ophel he built much.] The Targum translates callest the king of Assyria to his aid, but is not at all benefited by his assistance. 22 In his distress he becometh still more idolatrous. 26 His acts and death: Hezekiah succeedeth him.

AHAZ was twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem: but he did not that which was right in the sight of the LORD, like David his father:

■ For he walked in the ways of the kings of Israel, and made also molten images for Baalim.

3 Moreover he burnt incense in the valley of the son of Hinnom, and burnt his children in the fire, after the abominations of the heathen whom the LORD had cast out before the children of Israel.

4 He sacrificed also and burnt incense in the high places, and on the hills, and under every green tree.

5 Wherefore the LORD his God delivered him into the hand of the king of Syria; and they smote him, and carried away a great multitude of them captives, and brought them to Damascus. And he was also delivered into the hand of the king of Israel, who smote him with a great slaughter.

6 For Pekah the son of Remaliah slew in Judah an hundred and twenty thousand in one day, which were all valiant men; because they had forsaken the LORD God of their fathers.

7 And Zichri, a mighty man of Ephraim, slew Maaseiah the king's son, and Azrikam the governor of the house, and Elkanah that was next to the king.

8 ¶ And the children of Israel carried away captive of their brethren two hundred thousand, women, sons, and daughters, and took also away much spoil from them, and brought the spoil to Samaria.

9 But a prophet of the LORD was there, whose name was Oded: and he went out before the host that came to Samaria, and said unto them, Behold, because the LORD God of your fathers was wroth with Judah, he hath delivered them into your hand, and ye have slain them in a rage that reacheth up unto heaven.

10 And now ye purpose to keep under the children of Judah and Jerusalem for bondmen and bondwomen unto you: but are there not with you, even with you, sins against the LORD your God?

11 Now hear me therefore, and deliver the captives again, which ye have taken captive of your brethren: for the fierce wrath of the LORD is upon you.

12 Then certain of the heads of the children of Ephraim, Azariah the son of Johanan, Berechiah the son of Meshillemoth, and Jehizkiah the son of Shalum, and Amasa the son of Hadlai, stood up against them that came from the war,

13 And said unto them, Ye shall not bring in the captives hither: for whereas we have offended against the LORD already, ye intend to add more to our sins and to our trespass: for our trespass is great, and there is fierce wrath against Israel.

14 So the armed men left the captives and the spoil before the princes and all the congregation.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXVIII.

The incorrigibility of Ahaz affords an awful picture of the depravity of the human heart, (see ver. 22.) but from the effects of his alliance with the king of Assyria, we have sensible proofs of the wise and just providence of God, who sometimes makes use of wicked men to do justice, and to chastise his people; after which, he destroys those wicked men themselves, and returns what they have deserved.

And he commanded the priests the sons of Aaron to offer them on the altar of the LORD.

22 So they killed the bullocks, and the priests received the blood, and sprinkled it on the altar: likewise, when they had killed the rams, they sprinkled the blood upon the altar: they killed also the lambs, and they sprinkled the blood upon the altar.

23 And they brought forth the he goats for the sin offering before the king and the congregation; and they laid their hands upon them:

24 And the priests killed them, and they made reconciliation with their blood upon the altar, to make an atonement for all Israel: for the king commanded that the burnt offering and the sin offering should be made for all Israel.

25 And he set the Levites in the house of the LORD with cymbals, with psalteries, and with harps, according to the commandment of David, and of Gad the king's seer, and Nathan the prophet: for so was the commandment of the LORD by his prophets.

26 And the Levites stood with the instruments of David, and the priests with the trumpets.

27 And Hezekiah commanded to offer the burnt offering upon the altar. And when the burnt offering began, the song of the LORD began also with the trumpets, and with the instruments ordained by David king of Israel.

28 And all the congregation worshipped, and the fingers sang, and the trumpeters sounded: and all this continued until the burnt offering was finished.

29 And when they had made an end of offering, the king and all that were present with him bowed themselves and worshipped.

30 Moreover Hezekiah the king and the princes commanded the Levites to sing praise unto the LORD with the words of David, and of Asaph the seer. And they sang praises with gladness, and they bowed their heads and worshipped.

31 Then Hezekiah answered and said, Now ye have consecrated yourselves unto the LORD, come near and bring sacrifices and thank offerings into the house of the LORD. And the congregation brought in sacrifices and thank offerings: and as many as were of a free heart burnt offerings.

32 And the number of the burnt offerings, which the congregation brought, was threescore and ten bullocks, an hundred rams, and two hundred lambs: all these were for a burnt offering to the LORD.

33 And the consecrated things were six hundred oxen and three thousand sheep.

34 But the priests were too few, so that they could not slay all the burnt offerings: wherefore their brethren the Levites did help them, till the work was ended, and until the other priests had sanctified themselves: for the Levites were more upright in heart to sanctify themselves than the priests.

35 And also the burnt offerings were in abundance, with the fat of the peace offerings, and the drink offerings for every burnt offering. So the service of the house of the LORD was set in order.

36 And Hezekiah rejoiced, and all the people, that God had prepared the people: for the thing was done suddenly.

34 Their brethren the Levites did help them, &c.] In cases of necessity, they did not stand nicely upon the observation of the ceremonial law; for it was the business of the priests only to slay the sacrifice.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXIX.

The zeal and piety of Hezekiah is a lesson to the great sinners of the world, that their first care should be, to stem the torrent of profaneness and impiety, and propagate true religion, to which they ought to contribute both by their authority and example; this will be a certain way to bring down the blessing and protection of God both upon themselves and the people.

celebration of it. 13 The assembly, having destroyed the altars of idolatry in Jerusalem, keep the feast fourteen days. 27 The priests bless the people.

AND Hezekiah sent to all Israel and Judah, and wrote letters also to Ephraim and Manasseh, that they should come to the house of the LORD at Jerusalem, to keep the passover unto the LORD God of Israel.

2 For the king had taken counsel, and his princes, and all the congregation in Jerusalem, to keep the passover in the second month.

3 For they could not keep it at that time, because the priests had not sanctified themselves sufficiently, neither had the people gathered themselves together to Jerusalem.

4 And the thing pleased the king and all the congregation.

5 So they established a decree to make proclamation throughout all Israel, from Beer-sheba even to Dan, that they should come to keep the passover unto the LORD God of Israel at Jerusalem: for they had not done it of a long time in such sort as it was written.

6 So the posts went with the letters from the king and his princes throughout all Israel and Judah, and according to the commandment of the king, saying, Ye children of Israel, turn again unto the LORD God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, and he will return to the remnant of you, that are escaped out of the hand of the kings of Assyria.

7 And be not ye like your fathers, and like your brethren, which trespassed against the LORD God of their fathers, who therefore gave them up to desolation, ye see.

8 Now be ye not stiff-necked, as your fathers were, but yield yourselves unto the LORD, and enter into his sanctuary, which he hath sanctified for ever: and serve the LORD your God, that the fierceness of his wrath may turn away from you.

9 For if ye turn again unto the LORD, your brethren and your children shall find compassion before them that lead them captive, so that they shall come again into this land: for the LORD your God is gracious and merciful, and will not turn away his face from you, if ye return unto him.

10 So the posts passed from city to city through the country of Ephraim and Manasseh even unto Zebulun: but they laughed them to scorn, and mocked them.

11 Nevertheless divers of Asher and Manasseh and of Zebulun humbled themselves, and came to Jerusalem.

12 Also in Judah the hand of God was to give them one heart to do the commandment of the king and of the princes, by the word of the LORD.

13 ¶ And there assembled at Jerusalem much people to keep the feast of unleavened bread in the second month, a very great congregation.

14 And they arose and took away the altars that were in Jerusalem, and all the altars for incense took they away, and cast them into the brook Kidron.

15 Then they killed the passover on the fourteenth day of the second month: and the priests and the Levites were ashamed, and sanctified themselves, and brought in the burnt offerings into the house of the LORD.

16 And they stood in their place after their manner, according to the law of Moses the man of God: the priests sprinkled the blood, which they received of the hand of the Levites.

17 For there were many in the congregation that were

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXX.

2 To keep the passover in the second month.] The priests, by long disuse, could not be sanctified so soon as was necessary, nor have time to assemble, neither could the temple be purged till the 16th day of the first month, rather than stay till the next year, especially since God himself, in some cases, allowed those who could not keep it in the first month, to keep it in the second; see Numb. iv. 10, 11.

15 The priests and the Levites were ashamed, &c.] They blushed to see the people so forward, and themselves so negligent.

were not sanctified; therefore the Levites had the charge of the killing of the passovers for every one that was not clean, to sanctify them unto the LORD.

18 For a multitude of the people, even many of Ephraim, and Manasseh, Issachar, and Zebulun, had not cleansed themselves, yet did they eat the passover otherwise than it was written. But Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, The good LORD pardon every one

19 That prepareth his heart to seek God, the LORD God of his fathers, though he be not cleansed according to the purification of the sanctuary.

20 And the LORD hearkened to Hezekiah, and healed the people.

21 And the children of Israel that were present at Jerusalem kept the feast of unleavened bread seven days with great gladness: and the Levites and the priests praised the LORD day by day, singing with loud instruments unto the LORD.

22 And Hezekiah spake comfortably unto all the Levites that taught the good knowledge of the LORD: and they did eat throughout the feast seven days, offering peace offerings, and making confession to the LORD God of their fathers.

23 And the whole assembly took counsel to keep other seven days: and they kept other seven days with gladness.

24 For Hezekiah king of Judah did give to the congregation a thousand bullocks and seven thousand sheep; and the princes gave to the congregation a thousand bullocks and ten thousand sheep: and a great number of priests sanctified themselves.

25 And all the congregation of Judah, with the priests and the Levites, and all the congregation that came out of Israel, and the strangers that came out of the land of Israel, and that dwelt in Judah, rejoiced.

26 So there was great joy in Jerusalem: for since the time of Solomon the son of David king of Israel there was not the like in Jerusalem.

27 ¶ Then the priests the Levites arose and blessed the people: and their voice was heard, and their prayer came up to his holy dwelling place, even unto heaven.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 The people's zeal in destroying idolatry in the cities of Judah, and in some parts of Israel. 2 Hezekiah ordereth the courses of the priests and Levites, maketh provision for the stated sacrifices, and for the maintenance of the priests and Levites. 5 The people's forwardness in bringing in firstfruits and tithes. 11 Hezekiah appointeth officers to dispose of those offerings. 20 Hezekiah's sincerity of heart.

NOW when all this was finished, all Israel that were present went out to the cities of Judah, and brake the images in pieces, and cut down the groves, and threw down the high places and the altars out of all Judah and Benjamin, in Ephraim also and Manasseh, until they had utterly destroyed them all. Then all the children of Israel returned, every man to his possession, into their own cities.

2 ¶ And Hezekiah appointed the courses of the priests and the Levites after their courses, every man according to his service, the priests and Levites for 18 Yet did they eat the passover otherwise than it was written, &c.] After so long a night of ignorance and superstition, they had forgot what ceremonies were required for their cleansing, or perhaps had not time to observe them.

20 And healed the people.] Some imagine that God had smitten them with some disease for their trespass; but the scripture uses this phrase for granting pardon, and freeing men from the guilt of sin. See Isaiah vi. 10.

27 The priests the Levites arose and blessed the people, &c.] It was their office to bless; and from the subsequent part of the verse it appears, that by their blessing is meant only a prayer to God to bless them.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ■ Chap. XXX.

From the tenor of this chapter, we learn, that while some are disposed to receive the good word of God, others scoff at, and reject it; that the piety of Hezekiah was enlightened, and had the glory burnt offerings and for peace offerings, to minister, and to give thanks, and to praise in the gates of the tents of the LORD.

3 He appointed also the king's portion of his substance for the burnt offerings, to wit, for the morning and evening burnt offerings, and the burnt offerings for the sabbaths, and for the new moons, and for the set feasts, as it is written in the law of the LORD.

4 Moreover he commanded the people that dwelt in Jerusalem to give the portion of the priests and the Levites, that they might be encouraged in the law of the LORD.

5 ¶ And as soon as the commandment came abroad, the children of Israel brought in abundance the firstfruits of corn, wine, and oil, and honey, and of all the increase of the field; and the tithe of all things brought they in abundantly.

6 And concerning the children of Israel and Judah, that dwelt in the cities of Judah, they also brought in the tithe of oxen and sheep, and the tithe of holy things which were consecrated unto the LORD their God, and laid them by heaps.

7 In the third month they began to lay the foundation of the heaps, and finished them in the seventh month.

8 And when Hezekiah and the princes came and saw the heaps, they blessed the LORD, and his people Israel.

9 Then Hezekiah questioned with the priests and the Levites concerning the heaps.

10 And Azariah the chief priest of the house of Zadok answered him, and said, Since the people began to bring the offerings into the house of the LORD, we have had enough to eat, and have left plenty: for the LORD hath blessed his people; and that which is left is this great store.

11 ¶ Then Hezekiah commanded to prepare chambers in the house of the LORD; and they prepared them,

12 And brought in the offerings and the tithes and the dedicated things faithfully: over which Cononiah the Levite was ruler, and Shimei his brother was the next.

13 And Jehiel, and Azariah, and Nahath, and Asahel, and Jerimoth, and Jozabad, and Eliel, and Ismachiah, and Mahath, and Benaiah, were overseers under the hand of Cononiah and Shimei his brother, at the commandment of Hezekiah the king, and Azariah the ruler of the house of God.

14 And Kore the son of Imnah the Levite, the porter toward the east, was over the freewill offerings of God, to distribute the oblations of the LORD, and the most holy things.

15 And next him were Eden, and Miniamin, and Jeshua, and Shemaiah, Amariah, and Shecaniah, in the cities of the priests, in their set office, to give to their brethren by courses, as well to the great as to the small:

16 Beside their genealogy of males, from three years old and upward, even unto every one that entereth into the house of the LORD, his daily portion for their service in their charges according to their courses;

17 Both to the genealogy of the priests by the house of their fathers, and the Levites from twenty years old and upward, in their charges by their courses;

9 Questioned with the priests and the Levites concerning the heaps.] Some think that he enquired how it came to pass that there were still such great heaps left, and no more spent; which opinion the following answer seems to favour.

20 ¶ And thus did Hezekiah throughout all Judah, and wrought that which was good and right and truth before the LORD his God.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Sennacherib invading Judah, Hezekiah fortifieth Jerusalem, and encourageth the people. 9 Sennacherib's blasphemous message and letters. 20 Hezekiah and Isaiah cry to heaven for aid; an angel destroyeth the Assyrian army, and their king returning home is slain by his own sons. 24 Hezekiah praying in his sickness is miraculously recovered; but waxing proud, he afterward humbleth himself. 27 His riches and works. 31 His error in relation to the Babylonish ambassadors. 32 He dieth; Manasseh succeedeth him.

713. AFTER these things, and the establishment thereof, Sennacherib king of Assyria came, and entered into Judah, and encamped against the fenced cities, and thought to win them for himself.

¶ And when Hezekiah saw that Sennacherib was come, and that he was purposed to fight against Jerusalem,

3 He took counsel with his princes and his mighty men to stop the waters of the fountains which were without the city: and they did help him.

4 So there was gathered much people together, who stopped all the fountains, and the brook that ran through the midst of the land, saying, Why should the kings of Assyria come, and find much water?

5 Also he strengthened himself, and built up all the wall that was broken, and raised it up to the towers, and another wall without, and repaired Millo in the city of David, and made darts and shields in abundance.

6 And he set captains of war over the people, and gathered them together to him in the street of the gate of the city, and spake comfortably to them, saying,

7 Be strong and courageous, be not afraid nor dismayed for the king of Assyria, nor for all the multitude that is with him: for there be more with us than with him:

8 With him is an arm of flesh; but with us is the LORD our God to help us, and to fight our battles. And the people rested themselves upon the words of Hezekiah king of Judah.

710. 9 ¶ After this did Sennacherib king of Assyria send his servants to Jerusalem, (but he himself laid siege against Lachish, and all his power with him,) unto Hezekiah king of Judah, and unto all Judah that were at Jerusalem, saying,

10 Thus saith Sennacherib king of Assyria, Whereon do ye trust, that ye abide in the siege in Jerusalem?

18 They sanctified themselves in holiness.] Or in faith and fidelity; in the margin it is translated, In trust: they attended upon their ministry in the house of God, confident that they should be provided with all things necessary.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XXXI.

We are taught from hence, that true piety will shew itself not only by ■ endeavour to promote the cause of religion, divine service, and the maintenance of the ministry; but likewise by adorning our profession with good works, and ■ holy life and conversation.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXXII.

4 The brook that ■■ through the midst of the land, &c.] Some take this to be Gihon, others Kidron; they diverted the current, and,

21 Doth not Hezekiah persuade you to give over yourselves to die by famine and by thirst, saying, The LORD our God shall deliver us out of the hand of the king of Assyria?

12 Hath not the same Hezekiah taken away his high places and his altars, and commanded Judah and Jerusalem, saying, Ye shall worship before one altar, and burn incense upon it?

13 Know ye not what I and my fathers have done unto all the people of other lands? were the gods of the nations of those lands any ways able to deliver their lands out of mine hand?

14 Who was there among all the gods of those nations that my fathers utterly destroyed, that could deliver his people out of mine hand, that your God should be able to deliver you out of mine hand?

15 Now therefore let not Hezekiah deceive you, nor persuade you on this manner, neither yet believe him: for no god of any nation or kingdom was able to deliver his people out of mine hand, and out of the hand of my fathers: how much less shall your God deliver you out of mine hand?

16 And his servants spake yet more against the LORD God, and against his servant Hezekiah.

17 He wrote also letters to rail on the LORD God of Israel, and to speak against him, saying, As the gods of the nations of other lands have not delivered their people out of mine hand, so shall not the God of Hezekiah deliver his people out of mine hand.

18 Then they cried with a loud voice in the Jews' speech unto the people of Jerusalem that were on the wall, to affright them, and to trouble them; that they might take the city.

19 And they spake against the God of Jerusalem, as against the gods of the people of the earth, which were the work of the hands of man.

20 ¶ And for this cause Hezekiah the king, and the prophet Isaiah the son of Amoz, prayed and cried to heaven.

21 And the LORD sent an angel, which cut off all the mighty men of valour, and the leaders and captains in the camp of the king of Assyria. So he returned with shame of face to his own land. And when he was come into the house of his god, they that came forth of his own bowels slew him there with the sword.

22 Thus the LORD saved Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem from the hand of Sennacherib the king of Assyria, and from the hand of all other, and guided them on every side.

23 And many brought gifts unto the LORD to Jerusalem, and presents to Hezekiah king of Judah: so that he was magnified in the sight of all nations from thenceforth.

24 ¶ In those days Hezekiah was sick to death, and prayed unto the LORD; and he spake unto him, and he gave him a sign.

25 But Hezekiah rendered not again according to the benefit done unto him; for his heart was lifted up: therefore there was wrath upon him, and upon Judah and Jerusalem.

26 Notwithstanding Hezekiah humbled himself for the pride of his heart, both he and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so that the wrath of the LORD came not upon them in the days of Hezekiah.

27 ¶ And

by conveyance under ground, led the water into great cisterns, in the city, for the use of the people. In this country, where water was scarce, it was ■ great point of policy to distress the enemy by cutting it off.

19 They spake against the God of Jerusalem, as against the gods of the people of the earth, &c.] They ignorantly fancied there was no difference between the God of the universe, whom the Jews worshipped, and the idolatrous gods of the nations round about, whose power was supposed to be limited to their respective nations.

24 He gave him a sign.] Or, as in the margin, wrought ■ miracle for him.

25 His heart was lifted up, &c.] So many miracles having been wrought in his favour, he grew presumptuous of God's protection, and forgot his benefits.

GENERAL

27 ¶ And Hezekiah had exceeding much riches and honour: and he made himself treasuries for silver, and for gold, and for precious stones, and for spices, and for shields, and for all manner of pleasant jewels; 28 Storehouses also for the increase of corn, and wine, and oil; and stalls for all manner of beasts, and cotes for flocks.

29 Moreover he provided him cities, and possessions of flocks and herds in abundance: for God had given him substance very much.

30 This same Hezekiah also stopped the upper watercourse of Gihon, and brought it straight down to the west side of the city of David. And Hezekiah prospered in all his works.

31 ¶ Howbeit in the business of the ambassadors of the princes of Babylon, who sent unto him to enquire of the wonder that was done in the land, God left him, to try him, that he might know all that was in his heart.

32 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Hezekiah, and his goodness, behold, they are written in the vision of Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz, and in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel.

33 And Hezekiah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the chiefest of the sepulchres of the sons of David: and all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem did him honour at his death. And Manasseh his son reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Manasseh's wicked reign and great idolatry. 10 Rejecting God's admonitions, he is carried captive to Babylon, where he humbleth himself before God, and is restored to his kingdom. 14 He fortifieth his dominions, and putteth down idolatry, restoring the worship of the true God. 18 His acts and prayer: 20 He dieth; Amon succeedeth him. 21 Amon's wicked reign; he is slain by his servants. 25 The people slay the murderers, and make Josiah king.

MANASSEH was twelve years old when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty and five years in Jerusalem:

2 But did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, like unto the abominations of the heathen, whom the LORD had cast out before the children of Israel.

3 For he built again the high places which Hezekiah his father had broken down, and he reared up altars for Baalim, and made groves, and worshipped all the host of heaven, and served them.

4 Also he built altars in the house of the LORD, whereof the LORD had said, In Jerusalem shall my name be for ever.

5 And he built altars for all the host of heaven in the two courts of the house of the LORD.

6 And he caused his children to pass through the fire in the valley of the son of Hinnom: also he observed times, and used enchantments, and used witchcraft, and dealt with a familiar spirit, and with wizards: he wrought much evil in the sight of the LORD, to provoke him to anger.

7 And he set a carved image, the idol which he had made, in the house of God, of which God had said to David and to Solomon his son, In this house, and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen before all the tribes of Israel, will I put my name for ever:

Neither will I any more remove the foot of Israel from out of the land which I have appointed for your fathers; so that they will take heed to do all that I have commanded them, according to the whole law and the statutes and the ordinances by the hand of Moses.

9 So Manasseh made Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to err, and to do worse than the heathen, whom the LORD had destroyed before the children of Israel.

10 ¶ And the LORD spake to Manasseh, and to his people: but they would not hearken.

11 Wherefore the LORD brought upon them the captains of the host of the king of Assyria, which took Manasseh among the thorns, and bound him with fetters, and carried him to Babylon.

12 And when he was in affliction, he besought the LORD his God, and humbled himself greatly before the God of his fathers, 13 And prayed unto him: and he was intreated of him, and heard his supplication, and brought him again to Jerusalem into his kingdom. Then Manasseh knew that the LORD he was God.

14 ¶ Now after this he built a wall without the city of David, on the west side of Gihon, in the valley, even to the entering in at the fish gate, and compassed about Ophel, and raised it up a very great height, and put captains of war in all the fenced cities of Judah.

15 And he took away the strange gods, and the idol out of the house of the LORD, and all the altars that he had built in the mount of the house of the LORD, and in Jerusalem, and cast them out of the city.

16 And he repaired the altar of the LORD, and sacrificed thereon peace offerings and thank offerings, and commanded Judah to serve the LORD God of Israel.

17 Nevertheless the people did sacrifice still in the high places, yet unto the LORD their God only.

18 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Manasseh, and his prayer unto his God, and the words of the seers that spake to him in the name of the LORD God of Israel, behold, they are written in the book of the kings of Israel.

19 His prayer also, and how God was intreated of him, and all his sins, and his trespasses, and the places wherein he built high places, and set up groves and graven images, before he was humbled: behold, they are written among the sayings of the seers.

20 ¶ So Manasseh slept with his fathers, and they buried him in his own house: and Amon his son reigned in his stead.

21 ¶ Amon was two and twenty years old when he began to reign, and reigned two years in Jerusalem.

22 But he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, as did Manasseh his father: for Amon sacrificed unto all the carved images which Manasseh his father had made, and served them;

23 And humbled not himself before the LORD, as Manasseh his father had humbled himself; but Amon trespassed more and more.

24 And his servants conspired against him, and slew him in his own house.

25 ¶ But the people of the land slew all them that had conspired against king Amon: and the people of the land made Josiah his son king in his stead.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXXII.

From the conduct of Hezekiah, above recorded, we should learn, that even pious persons too soon forget themselves in prosperity; that the good things of this world are vain, and we cannot enjoy them long, therefore they that possess them, should thankfully use them to the glory of God, and without ostentation.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXXIII.

9 Manasseh made Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to err, &c. What a prodigious change was now wrought in this kingdom! In the last reign it was celebrated for righteousness; but now for being the very sink of impiety.

19 They are written among the sayings of the seers.] Or of Hofai, in the margin; who it is likely was a prophet in those times, by whom many memorable things in his reign were recorded, as Isaiah did the prayer of Hezekiah his father.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXXIII.

From Manasseh's captivity, humble prayer, and restoration, we learn, first, that wicked princes do a great deal of mischief, and draw the wrath of God on themselves and their subjects. Secondly, In his repentance, we see the great mercy of God towards the most abandoned sinners, when they return to him. Thirdly, That repentance consists in removing and repairing what is evil, and in a total change of conduct.

CHAP. XXXIV.

Josiah's good reign: he destroyeth idolatry both in Judah and Israel: he provideth for the repairs of the temple.
14 Hilkiah having found the book of the law, it is read before the king, who is alarmed, and sendeth to the prophetess Huldah to enquire of the LORD. 23 Huldah prophesieth the destruction of Jerusalem, but not to take place till after the death of Josiah. 29 Josiah causeth the book to be read in a solemn assembly, and reneweth the covenant between God and the people.

JOSIAH was eight years old when he began to reign, and he reigned in Jerusalem one and thirty years.

■ And he did that which was right in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the ways of David his father, and declined neither to the right hand, nor to the left.

634. 3 ¶ For in the eighth year of his reign, while he
630. was yet young, he began to seek after the God of David his father: and in the twelfth year he began to purge Judah and Jerusalem from the high places, and the groves, and the carved images, and the molten images.

4 And they brake down the altars of Baalim in his presence; and the images, that were on high above them, he cut down; and the groves, and the carved images, and the molten images, he brake in pieces, and made dust of them, and strowed it upon the graves of them that had sacrificed unto them.

5 And he burnt the bones of the priests upon their altars, and cleansed Judah and Jerusalem.

6 And so did he in the cities of Manasseh, and Ephraim, and Simeon, even unto Naphtali, with their mattocks round about.

7 And when he had broken down the altars and the groves, and had beaten the graven images into powder, and cut down all the idols throughout all the land of Israel, he returned to Jerusalem.

624. 8 ¶ Now in the eighteenth year of his reign, when he had purged the land, and the house, he sent Shaphan the son of Azaliah, and Maaseiah the governor of the city, and Joah the son of Joabaz the recorder, to repair the house of the LORD his God.

9 And when they came to Hilkiah the high priest they delivered the money that was brought into the house of God, which the Levites that kept the doors had gathered of the hand of Manasseh and Ephraim, and of all the remnant of Israel, and of all Judah and Benjamin; and they returned to Jerusalem.

10 And they put it in the hand of the workmen that had the oversight of the house of the LORD, and they gave it to the workmen that wrought in the house of the LORD, to repair and amend the house:

11 Even to the artificers and builders gave they it, to buy hewn stone, and timber for couplings, and to floor the houses which the kings of Judah had destroyed.

12 And the men did the work faithfully: and the overseers of them were Jahath and Obadiah, the Levites, of the sons of Merari; and Zechariah and Meshullam, of the sons of the Kohathites, to set it forward: and other of the Levites, all that could skill of instruments of musick.

13 Also they were over the bearers of burdens, and were overseers of all that wrought the work in any manner of service: and of the Levites there were scribes, and officers, and porters.

14 ¶ And when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of the LORD, Hilkiah the priest found a book of the law of the LORD given by Moses.

15 And Hilkiah answered and said to Shaphan the scribe, I have found the book of the law in the house of the LORD. And Hilkiah delivered the book to Shaphan.

16 And Shaphan carried the book to the king, and brought the king word back again, saying All that was committed to thy servants, they do it.

17 And they have gathered together the money that was found in the house of the LORD, and have delivered it into the hand of the overseers, and to the hand of the workmen.

18 Then Shaphan the scribe told the king, saying, Hilkiah the priest hath given me a book. And Shaphan read it before the king.

19 And it came to pass, when the king had heard the words of the law, that he rent his clothes.

20 And the king commanded Hilkiah, and Ahikam the son of Shaphan, and Abdon the son of Micha, and Shaphan the scribe, and Afsaiah a servant of the king's, saying,

21 Go, enquire of the LORD for me, and for them that are left in Israel and in Judah, concerning the words of the book that is found: for great is the wrath of the LORD, that is poured out upon us, because our fathers have not kept the word of the LORD, to do after all that is written in this book.

22 And Hilkiah, and they that the king had appointed, went to Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum the son of Tikvath, the son of Hasrah, keeper of the wardrobe; (now she dwelt in Jerusalem in the college:) and they spake to her to that effect.

23 ¶ And she answered them, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, Tell ye the man that sent you to me,

24 Thus saith the LORD, Behold, I will bring evil upon this place, and upon the inhabitants thereof, even all the curses that are written in the book which they have read before the king of Judah:

25 Because they have forsaken me, and have burned incense unto other gods, that they might provoke me to anger with all the works of their hands; therefore my wrath shall be poured out upon this place and shall not be quenched.

26 And as for the king of Judah, who sent you to enquire of the LORD, so shall ye say unto him, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel concerning the words which thou hast heard;

27 Because thine heart was tender, and thou didst humble thyself before God, when thou heardest his words against this place, and against the inhabitants thereof, and humbledst thyself before me, and didst rend thy clothes, and weep before me; I have even heard thee also, saith the LORD.

28 Behold, I will gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be gathered to thy grave in peace, neither shall thine eyes see all the evil that I will bring upon this place, and upon the inhabitants of the same. So they brought the king word again.

29 ¶ Then the king sent and gathered together all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem.

30 And the king went up into the house of the LORD, and all the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and the priests, and the Levites, and all the people, great and small: and he read in their ears all the words of the book of the covenant that was found in the house of the LORD.

31 And the king stood in his place, and made a covenant before the LORD, to walk after the LORD, and to keep his commandments, and his testimonies, and his statutes, with all his heart, and with all his soul, to perform the words of the covenant which are written in this book.

32 And he caused all that were present in Jerusalem and

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXXIV.

3 In the eighth year of his reign, &c.] His pious inclination of worshipping the God of Israel appeared very early; for he was only sixteen years of age when he openly declared his resolution of serving the Lord God of his fathers, and purposed David to himself for his pattern.

33 And Jofiah took away all the abominations out of all the countries that pertained to the children of Israel, and made all that were present in Israel to serve, even to serve the LORD their God. And all his days they departed not from following the LORD, the God of their fathers.

C H A P. XXXV.

1 Jofiah causeth a solemn passover to be kept. 20 He goeth to fight with Pharaoh-necho, and is slain in battle at Megiddo. 25 The lamentations made for him. 26 His acts.

623. MOREOVER Jofiah kept a passover unto the LORD in Jerusalem: and they killed the passover on the fourteenth day of the first month.

2 And he set the priests in their charges, and encouraged them to the service of the house of the LORD,

3 And said unto the Levites that taught all Israel, which were holy unto the LORD, Put the holy ark in the house which Solomon the son of David king of Israel did build; it shall not be a burden upon your shoulders: serve now the LORD your God, and his people Israel,

4 And prepare yourselves by the houses of your fathers, after your courses, according to the writing of David king of Israel, and according to the writing of Solomon his son.

5 And stand in the holy place according to the divisions of the families of the fathers of your brethren the people, and after the division of the families of the Levites.

6 So kill the passover, and sanctify yourselves, and prepare your brethren that they may do according to the word of the LORD by the hand of Moses.

7 And Jofiah gave to the people, of the flock, lambs and kids, all for the passover offerings, for all that were present, to the number of thirty thousand, and three thousand bullocks: these were of the king's substance.

8 And his princes gave willingly unto the people, to the priests, and to the Levites: Hilkiah and Zechariah and Jahiel, rulers of the house of God, gave unto the priests for the passover offerings two thousand and six hundred small cattle, and three hundred oxen.

9 Conaniah also, and Shemaiah and Nethaneel, his brethren, and Hashabiah and Jehiel and Jozabad, chief of the Levites, gave unto the Levites for passover offerings five thousand small cattle, and five hundred oxen.

10 So the service was prepared, and the priests stood in their place, and the Levites in their courses, according to the king's commandment.

11 And they killed the passover, and the priests sprinkled the blood from their hands, and the Levites flayed them.

12 And they removed the burnt offerings, that they might give according to the divisions of the families of the people, to offer unto the LORD, as it is written in the book of Moses. And so did they with the oxen.

13 And they roasted the passover with fire according to the ordinance: but the other holy offerings sod they in pots, and in caldrons, and in pans, and divided them speedily among all the people.

14 And afterward they made ready for themselves, and for the priests: because the priests the sons of Aaron were busied in offering of burnt offerings and the fat until night; therefore the Levites prepared for themselves, and for the priests the sons of Aaron. Before CHRIST 623.

15 And the singers the sons of Asaph were in their place, according to the commandment of David, and Asaph, and Heman, and Jeduthun the king's seer; and the porters waited at every gate; they might not depart from their service; for their brethren the Levites prepared for them.

16 So all the service of the LORD was prepared the same day, to keep the passover, and to offer burnt offerings upon the altar of the LORD, according to the commandment of king Jofiah.

17 And the children of Israel that were present kept the passover at that time, and the feast of unleavened bread seven days.

18 And there was no passover like to that kept in Israel from the days of Samuel the prophet; neither did all the kings of Israel keep such a passover as Jofiah kept, and the priests, and the Levites, and all Judah and Israel that were present, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

19 In the eighteenth year of the reign of Jofiah was this passover kept.

20 ¶ After all this, when Jofiah had prepared the temple, Necho king of Egypt came up to fight against Charchemish by Euphrates: and Jofiah went out against him. 610.

21 But he sent ambassadors to him, saying, What have I to do with thee, thou king of Judah? I come not against thee this day, but against the house where-with I have war: for God commanded me to make haste: forbear thee from meddling with God, who is with me, that he destroy thee not.

22 Nevertheless Jofiah would not turn his face from him, but disguised himself, that he might fight with him, and hearkened not unto the words of Necho, from the mouth of God, and came to fight in the valley of Megiddo.

23 And the archers shot at king Jofiah; and the king said to his servants, Have me away; for I am sore wounded.

24 His servants therefore took him out of that chariot, and put him in the second chariot that he had; and they brought him to Jerusalem, and he died, and was buried in one of the sepulchres of his fathers. And all Judah and Jerusalem mourned for Jofiah.

25 ¶ And Jeremiah lamented for Jofiah: and all the singing men and the singing women spake of Jofiah in their lamentations to this day, and made them an ordinance in Israel: and, behold, they are written in the Lamentations.

26 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Jofiah, and his goodness, according to that which was written in the law of the LORD, 27 And his deeds, first and last, behold, they are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah.

C H A P. XXXVI.

1 Jehoahaz succeeding Jofiah is deposed by Pharaoh-necho, and carried into Egypt: Jehoiaquim is made king. 5 Jehoiaquim reigning wickedly is bound in fetters by Nebuchadnezzar, who carrieth part of the vessels of the temple to Babylon. 9 Jeioiachin is made king, and after a year's reign carried to Babylon with other vessels of the temple: Zedekiah this is recorded is lost, as many other books of the prophets are.

20 Jofiah went out against him.] It is probable that the king of Judah was in alliance with Charchemish king of Assyria; and that he now voluntarily assisted him, by giving a diversion to the Egyptians.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXXV.

As Jofiah did not slacken his zeal, but that, whilst he lived, he did his utmost to re-establish religion, and appease the wrath of God; let this therefore teach us, never to withdraw our hand from doing good, but persevere, thro' the divine assistance in the path of duty, to the end; and leave future events to providence.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXXIV.

King Jofiah great piety should serve as an example to men in authority, and to all Christians: he trembled at the threatened judgments of God, who mercifully took him away before he executed his wrath on the Jews: this likewise shews, that the death of a righteous person is in no wise a mark of God's displeasure; but that he sometimes sends it out of love to those that fear him.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXXVI.

4 And turned his name to Jehoiakim, &c.] As a mark that he received the kingdom from him, and owed his dignity to his favour; thus Pharaoh changed the name of Joseph, and Nebuchadnezzar the name of Daniel and his three companions.

9 Jehoiachin was eight years old, &c.] We should probably read eighteen years, this prince being of that age when he began to reign.

22, 23 Now in the first year, &c.] These two verses are an interpolation, as their being repeated in the first book of Exra sufficiently proves; so that the second book of Chronicles should have concluded with the 21st verse of this chapter.

13 And he also rebelled against king Nebuchadnezzar, who had made him swear by God: but he stiffened his neck, and hardened his heart from turning unto the LORD God of Israel.

14 ¶ Moreover all the chief of the priests, and the people transgressed very much after all the abominations of the heathen; and polluted the house of the LORD which he had hallowed in Jerusalem.

15 And the LORD God of their fathers sent to them by his messengers, rising up betimes, and sending; because he had compassion on his people, and on his dwelling place:

16 But they mocked the messengers of God, and despised his words, and misused his prophets, until the wrath of the LORD arose against his people, till there was no remedy.

17 Therefore he brought upon them the king of the Chaldees, who slew their young men with the sword the house of their sanctuary, and had no compassion upon man or maiden, old man, or him that stooped for age: he gave them all into his hand.

18 And all the vessels of the house of God, great and small, and the treasures of the house of the LORD, and the treasures of the king, and of his princes; all these he brought to Babylon.

19 And they burnt the house of God, and brake down the wall of Jerusalem, and burnt all the palaces thereof with fire, and destroyed all the goodly vessels thereof.

20 And them that had escaped from the sword carried he away to Babylon; where they were servants to him and his sons, until the reign of the kingdom of Persia:

21 To fulfil the word of the LORD by the mouth of Jeremiah, until the land had enjoyed her sabbaths: for as long as she lay desolate she kept sabbath, to fulfil threescore and ten years.

22 ¶ Now in the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, that the word of the LORD spoken by the mouth of Jeremiah might be accomplished, the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, that he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom, and put it also in writing, saying,

23 Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, All the kingdoms of the earth hath the LORD God of heaven given me; and he hath charged me to build him an house in Jerusalem, which is in Judah. Who is there among you of all his people? The LORD his God be with him, and let him go up.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXXVI.

From the execution of God's threatened vengeance, after a long delay, on the Jews, we are led to adore both the mercy and justice of God: his mercy, in that he would not destroy them, before he had given them warning by his servants the prophets; his justice toward this hardened people, who laughed at his threatenings, and despised his word, till his wrath was kindled in such a manner, that there was no remedy; let us then consider, that the open and continued contempt of the word of God, and of his servants, if persisted in, will bring upon people the greatest misfortunes, and at length terminate in their total and inevitable destruction.

COMMENTARY

The Book of E Z R A.

THE ARGUMENT.

This book is a continuation of the Chronicles, and relates the history of the first and second return of the Jews to Jerusalem, out of the Babylonish captivity, under the reigns of three kings of Persia, viz. Cyrus, Darius, and Artaxerxes, comprehending about one hundred years; it is supposed that Ezra was the author of it; but it is more generally agreed that he wrote only the four last chapters.

CHAP. I.

- 1 The proclamation of Cyrus for building the temple. 5
The people provide for their return. 7 Cyrus restoreth the vessels of the temple to Sheshbazzar.

NOW in the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, that the word of the LORD by the mouth of Jeremiah might be fulfilled, the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, that he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom, and put it also in writing, saying,

2 Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, The LORD God of heaven hath given me all the kingdoms of the earth; and he hath charged me to build him an house at Jerusalem, which is in Judah.

3 Who is there among you of all his people? his God be with him, and let him go up to Jerusalem, which is in Judah, and build the house of the LORD God of Israel, (he is the God,) which is in Jerusalem.

4 And whosoever remaineth in any place where he sojourneth, let the men of his place help him with silver, and with gold, and with goods, and with beasts, beside the freewill offering for the house of God that is in Jerusalem.

5 ¶ Then rose up the chief of the fathers of Judah and Benjamin, and the priests, and the Levites, with all them whose spirit God had raised, to go up to build the house of the LORD which is in Jerusalem.

6 And all they that were about them strengthened their hands with vessels of silver, with gold, with goods, and with beasts, and with precious things, beside all that was willingly offered.

7 ¶ Also Cyrus the king brought forth the vessels of the house of the LORD, which Nebuchadnezzar had brought forth out of Jerusalem, and had put them in the house of his gods;

8 Even those did Cyrus king of Persia bring forth by the hand of Mithredath the treasurer, and numbered them unto Sheshbazzar, the prince of Judah.

9 And this is the number of them: thirty chargers of gold, a thousand charges of silver, nine and twenty knives,

10 Thirty basons of gold, silver basons of a second sort four hundred and ten, and other vessels a thousand. Before CHRIST 536.

11 All the vessels of gold and of silver were five thousand and four hundred. All these did Sheshbazzar bring up with them of the captivity that were brought up from Babylon unto Jerusalem.

CHAP. II.

- 1 The number that return of the people, 36 of the priests, 40 of the Levites, 43 of the Netthinims, 55 of the children of Solomon's servants, 61 of the priests who could not shew their pedigree. 64 The whole number of them with their substance. 68 Their oblations for the building of the temple.

NOW these are the children of the province that went up out of the captivity, of those which had been carried away, whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away unto Babylon, and came again unto Jerusalem and Judah, every one unto his city;

2 Which came with Zerubbabel: Jeshua, Nehemiah, Seraiah, Reelaiah, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mizpar, Bigvai, Rehum, Baanah. The number of the men of the people of Israel:

3 The children of Parosh, two thousand an hundred seventy and two.

4 The children of Shephatiah, three hundred seventy and two.

5 The children of Arah, seven hundred seventy and five.

6 The children of Pahath-moab, of the children of Jeshua and Joab, two thousand eight hundred and twelve.

7 The children of Elam, a thousand two hundred fifty and four.

8 The children of Zattu, nine hundred forty and five.

9 The children of Zaccai, seven hundred and threescore.

10 The children of Bani, six hundred forty and two.

11 The children of Bebai, six hundred twenty and three.

12 The children of Azgad, a thousand two hundred twenty and two.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. I.

1 In the first year] That is, in the first year after his conquest of Babylon, where the Jews then lived in captivity.

Cyrus king of Persia] See Isaiah xlv. 28. and xlv. 1, 4. That the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremiah might be fulfilled, &c.] Jeremiah had foretold, that after seventy years were accomplished, the king of Babylon and the Chaldeans should be destroyed, and the people of Judah restored to their own land. See Jer. xxv. 12. and xxix. 10.

2 All the kingdoms of the earth] That is, all those large dominions which the Assyrians and Babylonians had enjoyed.

He hath charged me to build him an house at Jerusalem, &c.] So Cyrus understood from Isaiah xlv. 13. where God saith of him, "he shall build my city," of which the temple was the principal part, and still more plainly from chap. xlv. 28. "He shall say to Jerusalem, Thou shalt be built; and to the temple, Thy foundation shall be laid."

¶ Sheshbazzar, &c.] This was another name for Zerubbabel, who was born in Babylon; and his name, which signifies an exile or stranger in Babylon, imports the misery of the people of Israel at that time; but Sheshbazzar, which signifies fine linen and gold, seems to be a name of better omen, and to denote their future flourishing condition.

10 Four hundred and ten, &c.] From the authority of several manuscripts it is plain, that the number of these vessels should have been two thousand four hundred and ten.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. I.

The re-establishment of the Jews being brought about by Cyrus a heathen prince, shews us, that God can turn the hearts of kings as he pleases, and make them become favourers to his church; after having made use of some of them for its correction, which should excite us to fear him, and to depend upon his power and bounty.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. II.

¶ The children of the province, &c.] By "the province" it is probable that Judea is here meant; which was made a province when it was conquered, and Gedaliah constituted the governor of it.

¶ Nehemiah, &c.] This is supposed not to be that Nehemiah whose book next follows, for he did not go now, but afterwards; or if he did, he returned to Babylon again.

COMMENTARY

AND when the seventh month was come, and the children of Israel were in the cities, the people gathered themselves together as one man to Jerusalem. Then stood up Jeshua the son of Jozadak, and his brethren the priests, and Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and his brethren, and builded the altar of the God of Israel, to offer burnt offerings thereon, as it is written in the law of Moses the man of God.

And they set the altar upon his bases; for fear was upon them because of the people of those countries: and they offered burnt offerings thereon unto the LORD, even burnt offerings morning and evening.

¶ They kept also the feast of tabernacles, as it is written, and offered the daily burnt offerings by number, according to the custom, as the duty of every day required;

And afterward offered the continual burnt offering, both of the new moons, and of all the set feasts of the LORD that were consecrated, and of every one that willingly offered a freewill offering unto the LORD.

From the first day of the seventh month began they to offer burnt offerings unto the LORD: But the foundation of the temple of the LORD was not yet laid.

¶ They gave money also unto the masons, and to the carpenters; and meat, and drink, and oil, unto them of Zidon, and to them of Tyre, to bring cedar trees from Lebanon to the sea of Joppa, according to the grant that they had of Cyrus king of Persia.

¶ Now in the second year of their coming unto the house of God at Jerusalem, in the second month, began Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua the son of Jozadak, and the remnant of their brethren the priests and the Levites, and all they that were come out of the captivity unto Jerusalem; and appointed the Levites, from twenty years old and upward, to set forward the work of the house of the LORD.

Then stood Jeshua with his sons and his brethren, Kadmiel and his sons, the sons of Judah, together, to set forward the workmen in the house of God: the sons of Henadad, with their sons and their brethren the Levites.

And when the builders laid the foundation of the temple of the LORD, they set the priests in their apparel with trumpets, and the Levites the sons of Asaph with cymbals, to praise the LORD, after the ordinance of David king of Israel.

And they sang together by course in praising and giving thanks unto the LORD; because he is good, for his mercy endureth for ever toward Israel. And all the people shouted with a great shout, when they praised the LORD, because the foundation of the house of the LORD was laid.

But many of the priests and Levites and chief of the fathers, who were ancient men, that had seen the first house, when the foundation of this house was laid before their eyes, wept with a loud voice; and many shouted aloud for joy.

So that the people could not discern the noise of the shout of joy from the noise of the weeping of the people: for the people shouted with a loud shout, and the noise was heard afar off.

CHAP. IV.

The adversaries of the Jews offering to join in building the temple, and being rejected, endeavour to hinder the work. 7 They write to Artaxerxes. 11 The copy of their letter. 17 The answer of Artaxerxes, and his decree to stop the progress of the work. 23 The building is suspended for a time.

NOW when the adversaries of Judah and Benjamin heard that the children of the captivity builded the temple unto the LORD God of Israel;

Then they came to Zerubbabel, and to the chief of the fathers, and said unto them, Let us build with you: for we seek your God, as ye do; and we do sacrifice unto him since the days of Esar-haddon king of Assur, which brought us up hither.

But Zerubbabel, and Jeshua, and the rest of the chief of the fathers of Israel, said unto them, Ye have nothing to do with us to build an house unto our God; but we ourselves together will build unto the LORD God of Israel, as king Cyrus the king of Persia hath commanded us.

Then the people of the land weakened the hands of the people of Judah, and troubled them in building,

And hired counsellors against them, to frustrate their purpose, all the days of Cyrus king of Persia, even until the reign of Darius king of Persia.

And in the reign of Ahasuerus, in the beginning of his reign, wrote they unto him an accusation against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem.

¶ And in the days of Artaxerxes wrote Bishlam, Mithredath, Tabeel, and the rest of their companions, unto Artaxerxes king of Persia; and the writing of the letter was written in the Syrian tongue, and interpreted in the Syrian tongue.

Rehum the chancellor and Shimshai the scribe wrote a letter against Jerusalem to Artaxerxes the king in this sort:

Then wrote Rehum the chancellor, and Shimshai the scribe, and the rest of their companions; the Dinaites, the Apharathchites, the Tarpelites, and Apharites, the Archevites, the Babylonians, the Susanchites, the Dehavites, and the Elamites,

And the rest of the nations whom the great and noble Asnapper brought over, and set in the cities of Samaria, and the rest that are on this side the river, and at such a time.

¶ This is the copy of the letter that they sent unto him, even unto Artaxerxes the king; Thy servants the men on this side the river, and at such a time.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON Chap. III.

3 For fear was upon them because of the people of those countries, &c.] They were the more zealous to restore the worship of God, in order that they might, upon all occasions, fly unto him for succour against their neighbours, of whom they were in dread.

4 As the duty of every day required.] Of every day of the feast, which lasted seven days, on each of which were special sacrifices appointed by the law, and in great numbers, as may be seen in Numb. xxix.

12 Many—who were ancient men, that had seen the first house—wept with a loud voice; and many shouted aloud for joy.] The younger sort shouted for joy; but many of the ancient people disturbed their acclamations with weeping and lamentations, because they perceived it was greatly inferior in magnificence to that built by Solomon; but they would have seen much greater cause to rejoice at the erection of this second temple, had they known or considered that it was hereafter to be dignified with the presence of the Messiah.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. III.

In this chapter we see the piety with which the Jews were then animated, and that their captivity in Babylon had rendered them more zealous for God: so likewise should we be actuated by the same zeal, in labouring above all things for the edification of the church; and our greatest joy should arise from seeing the kingdom of God established and confirmed.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON Chap. IV.

1 The adversaries of Judah and Benjamin, &c.] The Samaritans; the posterity of that mixed multitude whom Salmanasser king of Assyria sent from Cuthah, Ava, Hamath, Sepharvaim, and other provinces, to inhabit those parts out of which he had carried the ten Israelitish tribes.

3 We ourselves together will build unto the Lord God of Israel, &c.] The two reasons why they rejected the request of the Samaritans, were, because they were not of the same people, and also because Cyrus's licence to build the temple was granted to the Jews only.

4 Weakened the hands of the people of Judah, &c.] By threatenings, false reports, and other deceitful and unjust means, they endeavoured to discourage them in their undertakings.

6 Ahasuerus, &c.] This was not the prince mentioned in the book of Esther: many think, that, after Cyrus, this was Nomen Gentilitium (as they call it), the name of all their kings, as Pharaoh was of all the kings of Egypt.

9 Dinaites, the Apharathchites, &c.] These nine nations came out of Assyria, Persia, Media, Susiana, and other provinces of that vast empire.

10 Asnapper, &c.] Probably some principal commander, intrusted to conduct and bring them over the Euphrates, and see them settled in these countries.

522.

12 Be it known unto the king, that the Jews which came up from thee to us are come unto Jerusalem, building the rebellious and the bad city, and have set up the walls thereof, and joined the foundations.

13 Be it known now unto the king, that, if this city be builded, and the walls set up again, then will they not pay toll, tribute, and custom, and so thou shalt en-damage the revenue of the kings.

14 Now because we have maintenance from the king's palace, and it was not meet for us to see the king's dishonour, therefore have we sent and certified the king;

15 That search may be made in the book of the records of thy fathers: so shalt thou find in the book of the records, and know that this city is a rebellious city, and hurtful unto kings and provinces, and that they have moved sedition within the same of old time: for which cause was this city destroyed.

16 We certify the king that, if this city be builded again, and the walls thereof set up, by this means thou shalt have no portion on this side the river.

17 ¶ Then sent the king an answer unto Rehum the chancellor, and to Shimshai the scribe, and to the rest of their companions that dwell in Samaria, and unto the rest beyond the river, Peace, and at such a time.

18 The letter which ye sent unto us hath been plainly read before me.

19 And I commanded, and search hath been made, and it is found that this city of old time hath made insurrection against kings, and that rebellion and sedition have been made therein.

20 There have been mighty kings also over Jerusalem, which have ruled over all countries beyond the river; and toll, tribute, and custom, was paid unto them.

21 Give ye now commandment to cause these men to cease, and that this city be not builded, until another commandment shall be given from me.

22 Take heed now that ye fail not to do this: why should damage grow to the hurt of the kings?

23 ¶ Now when the copy of king Artaxerxes' letter was read before Rehum, and Shimshai the scribe, and their companions, they went up in haste to Jerusalem unto the Jews, and made them to cease by force and power.

520. 24 Then ceased the work of the house of God which is at Jerusalem. So it ceased unto the second year of the reign of Darius king of Persia.

C H A P. V.

1 Zerubbabel and Jeshua, incited by the prophets Haggai and Zechariah, begin again to build in the reign of Darius. 3 Tatnai and Shethar-boznai are not able to prevent them from proceeding. 6 The copy of their letter to Darius concerning the building.

THEN the prophets, Haggai the prophet, and Zechariah the son of Iddo, prophesied unto the Jews that were in Judah and Jerusalem in the name of the God of Israel, even unto them.

2 Then rose up Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua the son of Jozadak, and began to build the house of God which is at Jerusalem: and with them were the prophets of God helping them.

14 We have maintenance from the king's palace, &c.] In the Hebrew it is, We salted with the salt of the palace; i. e. received their salary from the king; for it seems they received their stipend in salt, from whence it received the name of a salary.

21 Until another commandment shall be given from me.] This was not a law of the Medes and Persians that could not be revoked, but only an edict, depending upon the will and pleasure of the king, which he might have reason to alter hereafter.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. IV.

We perceive, from this chapter, that the church has always had its enemies, and that the faithful are often slandered; but that God does at length confound the craft and devices of the wicked; that he makes manifest the innocence of his children; and that after having tried them, he makes those become their friends, who had been their greatest enemies.

3 ¶ At the same time came to them Tatnai, governor on this side the river, and Shethar-boznai, and their companions, and said thus unto them, Who hath commanded you to build this house, and to make up this wall?

4 Then said we unto them after this manner, What are the names of the men that make this building?

5 But the eye of their God was upon the elders of the Jews, that they could not cause them to cease, till the matter came to Darius: and then they returned answer by letter concerning this matter.

6 ¶ The copy of the letter that Tatnai, governor on this side the river, and Shethar-boznai, and his companions the Apharsachites, which were on this side the river, sent unto Darius the king:

7 They sent a letter unto him, wherein was written thus; Unto Darius the king, all peace.

8 Be it known unto the king, that we went into the province of Judea, to the house of the great God, which is builded with great stones, and timber is laid in the walls, and this work goeth fast on, and prospereth in their hands.

9 Then asked we those elders, and said unto them thus, Who commanded you to build this house, and to make up these walls?

10 We asked their names also, to certify thee, that we might write the names of the men that were the chief of them.

11 And thus they returned us answer, saying, We are the servants of the God of heaven and earth, and build the house that was builded these many years ago, which a great king of Israel builded and set up.

12 But after that our fathers had provoked the God of heaven unto wrath, he gave them into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, the Chaldean, who destroyed this house, and carried the people away into Babylon.

13 But in the first year of Cyrus the king of Babylon the same king Cyrus made a decree to build this house of God.

14 And the vessels also of gold and silver of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took out of the temple that was in Jerusalem, and brought them into the temple of Babylon, those did Cyrus the king take out of the temple of Babylon, and they were delivered unto one, whose name was Sheshbazzar, whom he had made governor;

15 And said unto him, Take these vessels, go, carry them into the temple that is in Jerusalem, and let the house of God be builded in his place.

16 Then came the same Sheshbazzar, and laid the foundation of the house of God which is in Jerusalem: and since that time even until now hath it been in building, and yet it is not finished.

17 Now therefore, if it seem good to the king, let there be search made in the king's treasure house, which is there at Babylon, whether it be so, that a decree was made of Cyrus the king to build this house of God at Jerusalem, and let the king send his pleasure to us concerning this matter.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON Chap. V.

1 Prophesied unto the Jews, &c.] Or rather, in the words may be interpreted, against them; for they reproved them, because they did not build the temple.

4 Then said we unto them after this manner, What are the names, &c.] From this place the argument is drawn, that he who wrote this chapter was now present when this question was asked, and the answer made to it; and therefore Ezra was not the author; for this was in the second year of Darius, and he did not come to Jerusalem till the seventh year of Artaxerxes.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. V.

We learn from hence, that God never forsakes his church; that he always raises, when he judges it necessary, faithful ministers to labour in its edification; and that we ought never to be disheartened in enterprizes that are righteous, and conformable to the will of God.

for the advancement of the building. 13 Tatnai and Shethar-boznai assisting according to the king's decree, the temple is finished. 16 The feast of the dedication is kept, and the passover, with great joy.

THEN Darius the king made a decree, and search was made in the house of the rolls, where the treasures were laid up in Babylon.

2 And there was found at Achmetha, in the palace that is in the province of the Medes, a roll, and therein was a record thus written:

3 In the first year of Cyrus the king, the same Cyrus the king made a decree concerning the house of God at Jerusalem, Let the house be builded, the place where they offered sacrifices, and let the foundations thereof be strongly laid; the height thereof threescore cubits, and the breadth thereof threescore cubits;

4 With three rows of great stones, and a row of new timber: and let the expences be given out of the king's house:

5 And also let the gold and silver vessels of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took forth out of the temple which is at Jerusalem, and brought unto Babylon, be restored, and brought again unto the temple which is at Jerusalem, every one to his place, and place them in the house of God.

6 Now therefore, Tatnai, governor beyond the river, Shethar-boznai, and your companions the Apharsachites, which are beyond the river, be ye far from thence:

7 Let the work of this house of God alone; let the governor of the Jews and the elders of the Jews build this house of God in his place.

8 Moreover I make a decree what ye shall do to the elders of these Jews for the building of this house of God: that of the king's goods, even of the tribute beyond the river, forthwith expences be given unto these men, that they be not hindered.

9 And that which they have need of, both young bullocks, and rams, and lambs, for the burnt offerings of the God of heaven, wheat, salt, wine, and oil, according to the appointment of the priests which are at Jerusalem, let it be given them day by day without fail:

10 That they may offer sacrifices of sweet savours unto the God of heaven, and pray for the life of the king, and of his sons.

11 Also I have made a decree, that whosoever shall alter this word, let timber be pulled down from his house, and being set up, let him be hanged thereon; and let his house be made a dunghill for this.

12 And the God that hath caused his name to dwell there destroy all kings and people, that shall put to their hand to alter and to destroy this house of God which is at Jerusalem. I Darius have made a decree; let it be done with speed.

13 ¶ Then Tatnai, governor on this side the river, Shethar-boznai, and their companions, according to that which Darius the king had sent, so they did speedily.

14 And the elders of the Jews builded, and they prospered through the prophesying of Haggai the prophet and Zechariah the son of Iddo. And they builded, and finished it, according to the commandment of the God of Israel, and according to the commandment of Cyrus, and Darius, and Artaxerxes king of Persia.

15 And this house was finished on the third day of the month Adar, which was in the sixth year of the reign of Darius the king.

16 ¶ And the children of Israel, the priests, and the Levites, and the rest of the children of the captivity, kept the dedication of this house of God with joy, Before CHRIST 515.

17 And offered at the dedication of this house of God an hundred bullocks, two hundred rams, four hundred lambs; and for a sin offering for all Israel, twelve he goats according to the number of the tribes of Israel.

18 And they set the priests in their divisions, and the Levites in their courses, for the service of God, which is at Jerusalem; as it is written in the book of Moses.

19 And the children of the captivity kept the passover upon the fourteenth day of the first month.

20 For the priests and Levites were purified together, all of them were pure, and killed the passover for all the children of the captivity, and for their brethren the priests, and for themselves.

21 And the children of Israel, which were come again out of captivity, and all such as had separated themselves unto them from the filthiness of the heathen of the land, to seek the LORD God of Israel, did eat,

22 And kept the feast of unleavened bread seven days with joy: for the LORD had made them joyful, and turned the heart of the king of Assyria unto them, to strengthen their hands in the work of the house of God, the God of Israel.

2 Ezra's pedigree from Aaron: he goeth up to Jerusalem.

11 The gracious commission of Artaxerxes to him. 27 Ezra blesteth God for this favour.

NOW after these things, in the reign of Artaxerxes king of Persia, Ezra, the son of Seraiah, the son of Azariah, the son of Hilkah, 457.

2 The son of Shallum, the son of Zadok, the son of Ahitub,

3 The son of Amariah, the son of Azariah, the son of Meraioth,

4 The son of Zerahiah, the son of Uzzi, the son of Bukki,

5 The son of Abishua, the son of Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the chief priest:

6 This Ezra went up from Babylon; and he was a ready scribe in the law of Moses, which the LORD God of Israel had given: and the king granted him all his request, according to the hand of the LORD his God upon him.

7 And there went up some of the children of Israel, and of the priests, and the Levites, and the singers, and the porters, and the Nethinims, unto Jerusalem, in the seventh year of Artaxerxes the king.

8 And he came to Jerusalem in the fifth month, which was in the seventh year of the king.

9 For upon the first day of the first month began he to go up from Babylon, and on the first day of the fifth month came he to Jerusalem, according to the good hand of his God upon him.

10 For Ezra had prepared his heart to seek the law of the LORD, and to do it, and to teach in Israel statutes and judgments.

11 ¶ Now this is the copy of the letter that the king Artaxerxes gave unto Ezra the priest, the scribe, even a scribe of the words of the commandments of the LORD, and of his statutes to Israel.

12 Artaxerxes, king of kings, unto Ezra the priest, scribe

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VI.

2 Achmetha, &c.] At Achmetha, afterwards called Ecbatana, the kings of Persia sometimes kept their court.

6 Be ye far from thence. Come not near Jerusalem, to give them any disturbance.

16 The children of Israel, &c.] By "the children of Israel" are to be understood, not only the two tribes of Judah and Benjamin, but all those of the other tribes, great numbers of whom were now at Jerusalem.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. VI.

The above proceedings of an idolatrous prince shew, that Christian princes should in a more especial manner contribute, as far as they are able, that God should be served as he requires; and to confess, that their happiness depends upon his favour, and on the prayers which the church puts up for them.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON Chap. VII.

6 He was a ready scribe, &c.] The word here rendered "A ready scribe" signifies one that taught God's law, and instructed the people out of it, in which sense the word "Scribe" is used in the New Testament, "As having authority, and not as the scribes."

Before CHRIST 457. a scribe of the law of the God of heaven, perfect peace, and at such a time.

13 I make a decree, that all they of the people of Israel, and of his priests and Levites, in my realm, which are minded of their own freewill to go up to Jerusalem, go with thee.

14 Forasmuch as thou art sent of the king, and of his seven counsellors, to enquire concerning Judah and Jerusalem, according to the law of thy God which is in thine hand;

15 And to carry the silver and gold, which the king and his counsellors have freely offered unto the God of Israel, whose habitation is in Jerusalem,

16 And all the silver and gold that thou canst find in all the province of Babylon, with the freewill offering of the people, and of the priests, offering willingly for the house of their God which is in Jerusalem:

17 That thou mayest buy speedily with this money bullocks, rams, lambs, with their meat offerings and their drink offerings, and offer them upon the altar of the house of your God which is in Jerusalem.

18 And whatsoever shall seem good to thee, and to thy brethren, to do with the rest of the silver and the gold, that do after the will of your God.

19 The vessels also that are given thee for the service of the house of thy God, those deliver thou before the God of Jerusalem.

20 And whatsoever more shall be needful for the house of thy God, which thou shalt have occasion to bestow, bestow it out of the king's treasure house.

21 And I, even I Artaxerxes the king, do make a decree to all the treasuries which are beyond the river, that whatsoever Ezra the priest, the scribe of the law of the God of heaven, shall require of you, it be done speedily, 22 Unto an hundred talents of silver, and to an hundred measures of wheat, and to an hundred baths of wine, and to an hundred baths of oil, and salt without prescribing how much.

23 Whatsoever is commanded by the God of heaven, let it be diligently done for the house of the God of heaven: for why should there be wrath against the realm of the king and his sons?

24 Also we certify you, that touching any of the priests and Levites, singers, porters, Nethinims, or ministers of this house of God, it shall not be lawful to impose toll, tribute, or custom, upon them.

25 And thou, Ezra, after the wisdom of thy God, that is in thine hand, set magistrates and judges, which may judge all the people that are beyond the river, all such as know the laws of thy God; and teach ye them that know them not.

26 And whosoever will not do the law of thy God, and the law of the king, let judgment be executed speedily upon him, whether it be unto death, or to banishment, or to confiscation of goods, or to imprisonment.

27 ¶ Blessed be the LORD God of our fathers, which hath put such a thing as this in the king's heart, to beautify the house of the LORD which is in Jerusalem:

28 And hath extended mercy unto me, before the king, and his counsellors, and before all the king's mighty princes. And I was strengthened as the hand of the LORD my God was upon me, and I gathered together out of Israel chief men to go up with me.

25 Touching any of the priests, &c.] The king freed the ministers of God from tribute, that being released from all other cares, they might without disturbance attend on their ministry.

26 And the law of the king.] By "The law of the king" is here meant this decree, which was now made in favour of the Jews.

Or to banishment.] The word "banishment" signifies, in the Chaldee, rooting out, and is by some interpreted disinheriting or excommunicating from society.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. VII.

From God's appointment of Ezra for the re-establishment of religion, we may take notice, that it is very necessary, for the edification of the church, that there should be understanding and faithful mi-

THESE are now the chief of their fathers, and this is the genealogy of them that went up with me from Babylon, in the reign of Artaxerxes the king.

2 Of the sons of Phinehas; Gershom: of the sons of Ithamar; Daniel: of the sons of David; Hattush.

3 Of the sons of Shechaniah, of the sons of Pharosh; Zechariah: and with him were reckoned by genealogy of the males an hundred and fifty.

4 Of the sons of Pahath-moab; Elihoenai the son of Zerachiah, and with him two hundred males.

5 Of the sons of Shechaniah; the son of Jahaziel, and with him three hundred males.

6 Of the sons also of Adin; Ebed the son of Jonathan, and with him fifty males.

7 And of the sons of Elam; Jeshaiiah the son of Athaliah, and with him seventy males.

8 And of the sons of Shephatiah; Zebadiah the son of Michael, and with him fourscore males.

9 Of the sons of Joab; Obadiah the son of Jehiel, and with him two hundred and eighteen males.

10 And of the sons of Shelomith; the son of Josphiah, and with him an hundred and threescore males.

11 And of the sons of Bebai; Zechariah the son of Bebai, and with him twenty and eight males.

12 And of the sons of Azgad; Johanan the son of Hakkatan, and with him an hundred and ten males.

13 And of the last sons of Adonikam, whose names are these, Eliphelet, Jeiel, and Shemaiah, and with them threescore males.

14 Of the sons also of Bigvai; Uthai, and Zabbud, and with them seventy males.

15 ¶ And I gathered them together to the river that runneth to Ahava; and there abode we in tents three days: and I viewed the people, and the priests, and found there none of the sons of Levi.

16 Then sent I for Eliezer, for Ariel, for Shemaiah, and for Elnathan, and for Jarib, and for Elnathan, and for Nathan, and for Zechariah, and for Meshullam, chief men; also for Joiarib, and for Elnathan, men of understanding.

17 And I sent them with commandment unto Iddo the chief at the place Casiphia, and I told them what they should say unto Iddo, and to his brethren the Nethinims, at the place Casiphia, that they should bring unto us ministers for the house of our God.

18 And by the good hand of our God upon us they brought us a man of understanding of the sons of Mahli, the son of Levi, the son of Israel; and Sherebiah, with his sons and his brethren, eighteen;

19 And Hashabiah, and with him Jeshaiiah of the sons of Merari, his brethren and their sons, twenty;

20 Also of the Nethinims, whom David and the princes ministers to instruct the people, and teach them to serve God according to his mind and will.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES on Chap. VIII.

15 I gathered them together to the river that runneth to Ahava, &c.] To that part of the Euphrates where the river Ahava emptied itself into it.

17 At the place Casiphia, &c.] It seems that the Levites were not among the ten tribes, but in Chaldea, and perhaps none of them were transported to Parthia, where was a city called Caspi, known to the old geographers.

20 Nethinims, &c.] As the Levites were given to assist the priests so the Nethinims were given to assist the Levites.

princes had appointed for the service of the Levites, two hundred and twenty Nethinims: all of them were expressed by name.

21 ¶ Then I proclaimed a fast there, at the river of Abava, that we might afflict ourselves before our God, to seek of him a right way for us, and for our little ones, and for all our substance.

22 For I was ashamed to require of the king a band of soldiers and horsemen to help us against the enemy in the way: because we had spoken unto the king, saying, The hand of our God is upon all them for good that seek him; but his power and his wrath is against all them that forsake him.

23 So we fasted and besought our God for this: and he was intreated of us.

24 ¶ Then I separated twelve of the chief of the priests, Sherebiah, Hashabiah, and ten of their brethren with them,

25 And weighed unto them the silver, and the gold, and the vessels, even the offering of the house of our God, which the king, and his counsellors, and his lords, and all Israel there present, had offered:

26 I even weighed unto their hand six hundred and fifty talents of silver, and silver vessels an hundred talents, and of gold an hundred talents;

27 Also twenty basons of gold, of a thousand drams; and two vessels of fine copper, precious as gold.

28 And I said unto them, Ye are holy unto the LORD; the vessels are holy also; and the silver and the gold are a freewill offering unto the LORD God of your fathers.

29 Watch ye, and keep them, until ye weigh them before the chief of the priests and the Levites, and chief of the fathers of Israel, at Jerusalem, in the chambers of the house of the LORD.

30 So took the priests and the Levites the weight of the silver, and the gold, and the vessels, to bring them to Jerusalem unto the house of our God.

31 ¶ Then we departed from the river of Abava on the twelfth day of the first month, to go unto Jerusalem: and the hand of our God was upon us, and he delivered us from the hand of the enemy, and of such as lay in wait by the way.

32 And we came to Jerusalem, and abode there three days.

33 Now on the fourth day was the silver and the gold and the vessels weighed in the house of our God by the hand of Meremoth the son of Uriah the priest; and with him was Eleazar the son of Phinehas; and with them was Jozabad the son of Jeshua, and Nodabiah the son of Binnui, Levites;

34 By number and by weight of every one: and all the weight was written at that time.

35 Also the children of those that had been carried away, which were come out of the captivity, offered burnt offerings unto the God of Israel, twelve bullocks for all Israel, ninety and six rams, seventy and seven lambs, twelve he goats for a sin offering: all this was a burnt offering unto the LORD.

36 ¶ And they delivered the king's commissions unto the king's lieutenants, and to the governors on this side the river: and they furthered the people, and the house of God.

22 I was ashamed to require of the king a band of soldiers, &c.] To have asked protection and defence from the king, would have looked as if they had distrusted the power and favour of their God, of whom they had spoken, and boasted, and praised so magnificently.

23 He was intreated of us.] He gave them some assurance that their petition should be granted.

33 Eleazar the son of Phinehas, &c.] The names of Eleazar and Phinehas continued through many generations among the priests, on account of the eminence of those two in Aaron's family.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. VIII.

Ezra's conduct, in refusing the soldiers an assistance offered him, proves to us, that good men will rather trust in God than in man; and that God always favours those undertakings which are formed according to his will; and which are carried on by imploring his protection and blessing.

1 Ezra mourneth for the intermarriages of the people with strangers. 5 He prayeth unto God with confession of sins.

NOW when these things were done, the princes came to me, saying, The people of Israel, and the priests, and the Levites, have not separated themselves from the people of the lands, doing according to their abominations, even of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the Amorites.

2 For they have taken of their daughters for themselves, and for their sons: so that the holy seed have mingled themselves with the people of those lands: yea, the hand of the princes and rulers hath been chief in this trespass.

3 And when I heard this thing, I rent my garment and my mantle, and plucked off the hair of my head and of my beard, and sat down astonished.

4 Then were assembled unto me every one that trembled at the words of the God of Israel, because of the transgression of those that had been carried away; and I sat astonished until the evening sacrifice.

5 ¶ And at the evening sacrifice I arose up from my heaviness; and having rent my garment and my mantle, I fell upon my knees, and spread out my hands unto the LORD my God,

6 And said, O my God, I am ashamed and blush to lift up my face to thee, my God: for our iniquities are increased over our head, and our trespass is grown up unto the heavens.

7 Since the days our fathers have we been in a great trespass unto this day; and for our iniquities have we, our kings, and our priests, been delivered into the hand of the kings of the lands, to the sword, to captivity, and to a spoil, and to confusion of face, as it is this day.

8 And now for a little space grace hath been shewed from the LORD our God, to leave us a remnant to escape, and to give us a nail in his holy place, that our God may lighten our eyes, and give us a little reviving in our bondage.

9 For we were bondmen; yet our God hath not forsaken us in our bondage, but hath extended mercy unto us in the sight of the kings of Persia, to give us a reviving, to set up the house of our God, and to repair the desolations thereof, and to give us a wall in Judah and in Jerusalem.

10 And now, O our God, what shall we say after this? for we have forsaken thy commandments,

11 Which thou hast commanded by thy servants, the prophets, saying, The land, unto which ye go to possess it, is an unclean land with the filthiness of the people of the lands, with their abominations, which have filled it from one end to another with their uncleanness.

12 Now therefore give not your daughters unto their sons, neither take their daughters unto your sons, nor seek their peace or their wealth for ever: that ye may be strong, and eat the good of the land, and leave it for an inheritance to your children for ever.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON Chap. IX.

2 The holy seed have mingled themselves with the people of those lands, &c.] Not only the lowest of the people had fallen into this crime, but the great men, the princes and rulers, were the chief offenders, and (to aggravate yet more this national guilt) the priests also and the Levites had given into and countenanced the sin.

6 Our iniquities are increased over our heads, &c.] A metaphor taken from water, rising gradually over the head of a man, and at last overwhelming and drowning him.

8 And to give us a nail in his holy place, &c.] Alluding to their fastening their tents to the ground with nails or pins; and therefore signifies (as the margin explains) a settled abode after a long banishment.

9 To give us a wall in Judah and Jerusalem.] Ezra denotes hereby the singular care God had for them; who being the shepherd of Israel, had gathered together his scattered sheep, and brought them back into their ancient fold, wherein he preserved them safe under the powerful protection of the king of Persia.

13 And after all that is come upon us for our evil deeds, and for our great trespass, seeing that thou our God hast punished us less than our iniquities deserve, and hast given us such deliverance as this;

14 Should we again break thy commandments, and join in affinity with the people of these abominations? wouldest not thou be angry with us till thou hadst consumed us, so that there should be no remnant nor escaping?

15 O LORD God of Israel, thou art righteous: for we remain yet escaped, as it is this day: behold, we are before thee in our trespasses: for we cannot stand before thee because of this.

C H A P. X.

I Shechaniah encourageth Ezra to reform the abuse of the strange marriages. 6 Ezra by proclamation assembleth the people. 9 The people at the exhortation of Ezra promise amendment. 15 The business is carried into execution. 18 The names of those who had married strange wives.

NOW when Ezra had prayed, and when he had confessed, weeping and casting himself down before the house of God, there assembled unto him out of Israel a very great congregation of men and women and children: for the people wept very sore.

2 And Shechaniah the son of Jehiel, one of the sons of Elam, answered and said unto Ezra, We have trespassed against our God, and have taken strange wives of the people of the land: yet now there is hope in Israel concerning this thing.

3 Now therefore let us make a covenant with our God to put away all the wives, and such as are born of them, according to the counsel of my lord, and of those that tremble at the commandment of our God; and let it be done according to the law.

4 Arise; for this matter belongeth unto thee: we also will be with thee: be of good courage, and do it.

5 Then arose Ezra, and made the chief priests, the Levites, and all Israel, to swear that they should do according to this word. And they sware.

6 ¶ Then Ezra rose up from before the house of God, and went into the chamber of Johanan the son of Eliashib: and when he came thither, he did eat no bread, nor drink water: for he mourned because of the transgression of them that had been carried away.

7 And they made proclamation throughout Judah and Jerusalem unto all the children of the captivity, that they should gather themselves together unto Jerusalem;

8 And that whosoever would not come within three days, according to the counsel of the princes and the elders, all his substance should be forfeited, and himself separated from the congregation of those that had been carried away.

9 ¶ Then all the men of Judah and Benjamin gathered themselves together unto Jerusalem within three days. It was the ninth month, and the twentieth day of the month; and all the people sat in the street of the house of God, trembling because of this matter, and for the great rain.

10 And Ezra the priest stood up, and said unto them, Ye have transgressed, and have taken strange wives, to increase the trespass of Israel.

11 Now therefore make confession unto the LORD God of your fathers, and do his pleasure: and separate yourself from the people of the land, and from the strange wives.

12 Then all the congregation answered and said with a loud voice, As thou hast said, so must we do.

13 But the people are many, and it is a time of much rain, and we are not able to stand without, neither is this a work of one day or two: for we are many that have transgressed in this thing.

14 Let now our rulers of all the congregation stand, and let all them which have taken strange wives in our cities come at appointed times, and with them the elders of every city, and the judges thereof, until the fierce wrath of our God for this matter be turned from us.

15 ¶ Only Jonathan the son of Asahel and Jahaziah the son of Tikvah were employed about this matter: and Meshullam and Shabbethai the Levite helped them.

16 And the children of the captivity did so. And Ezra the priest, with certain chief of the fathers, after the house of their fathers, and all of them by their names, were separated, and sat down in the first day of the tenth month to examine the matter.

17 And they made an end with all the men that had taken strange wives by the first day of the first month.

18 ¶ And among the sons of the priests there were found that had taken strange wives: namely, of the sons of Jeshua the son of Jozadak, and his brethren; Maaseiah, and Eliezer, and Jarib, and Gedaliah.

19 And they gave their hands that they would put away their wives; and being guilty, they offered a ram of the flock for their trespass.

20 And of the sons of Immer; Hanani, and Zebadiah.

21 And of the sons of Harim; Maaseiah, and Elijah, and Shemaiah, and Jehiel, and Uziah.

22 And of the sons of Pashur; Elienai, Maaseiah, Ishmael, Nethaneel, Jozabad, and Elasah.

23 Also of the Levites; Jozabad, and Shimei, and Kelaiah, (the same is Kelita,) Pethahiah, Judah, and Eliezer.

24 Of the singers also; Eliashib: and of the porters; Shallum, and Telem, and Uri.

25 Moreover of Israel: of the sons of Parosh; Ramiah, and Jeziel, and Malchiah, and Miamin, and Eleazar, and Malchijah, and Benaiah.

26 And of the sons of Elam; Mattaniah, Zechariah, and Jehiel, and Abdi, and Jeremoth, and Eliah.

27 And of the sons of Zattu; Eliezer, and Eliashib, Mattaniah, and Jeremoth, and Zabad, and Aziza.

28 Of the sons also of Bebai: Jehohanan, Hananiah, Zabbai, and Athlai.

29 And of the sons of Bani; Meshullam, Malluch, and Adaiah, Jashub, and Sheal, and Ramoth.

30 And the sons of Pahath-moab; Adna, and Chelal, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattaniah, Bezaleel, and Binnui, and Manasseh.

31 And of the sons of Harim; Eliezer, Ishijah, Malchiah, Shemaiah, Shimeon, 32 Benjamin, Malluch, and Shemariah.

33 Of the sons of Hashum; Mattenai, Mattathah, Zabad, Eliphelet, Jeremai, Manasseh, and Shimei.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. X.

15 We cannot stand before thee because of this.] As we cannot deny it, so we will not defend it, but yield up ourselves to bear the punishment to which thou wilt condemn us. By this conclusion he would alarm and terrify them into reformation; and accordingly we find, in the next chapter, that it had this good effect.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. IX.

We are hence taught, in all the evils we suffer, to give glory to God, and acknowledge the righteousness of his judgments; and that the means to obtain the return of God's grace, and the remission of our sins, is, not to turn again to folly; but to forsake iniquity, and seek the Lord.

3 And such as are born of them, &c.] As they were unlawfully born, and were educated in superstition, and might corrupt other children, it was proper they should share the lot of their mothers.

¶ All his substance should be forfeited, &c.] In the Hebrew it is, devoted; which signifies, that his goods were to be so forfeited as to become sacred to God, and so incapable to be restored to the former owner, being put into the treasury of God's house.

14 The elders of every city, and the judges thereof, &c.] The best account that interpreters give of these, is, that by "elders" are meant the supreme senate in every city, who judged in all civil causes; and by "judges" (as distinct from the other) are meant judges of an inferior bench, by whom all money-matters were tried.

- 39 And Shelemiah, and Nathan, and Adaiah,
40 Machnadebai, Shashai, Sharai,
41 Azareel, and Shelemiah, Shemariah,
42 Shallum, Amariah, and Joseph.

[All these had taken strange wives] Though no great number, yet they seem to have been eminent persons, who would have spread the contagion, if a stop had not been put to it.
[By whom they had children.] No mention being made of the children being put away, as Shechaniah proposed, ver. 3. it may be concluded they were not, but were taken care of to be educated in the true religion, and entered profelytes at proper time.

- 43 Of the sons of Nebo; Jeiel, Mattithiah, Zabad, Before CHRIST
Zebina, Jadau, and Joel, Benaiah.
44 All these had taken strange wives: and some of 456.
them had wives by whom they had children.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. X.

By this chapter we may see, that marriages and alliances with idolaters are displeasing to God, and ought not to be permitted, though the law of putting away idolatrous or unbelieving wives is not of force under the New Testament, 1 Cor. vii. 12.

The Book of NEHEMIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Nehemiah was advanced in Babylon to be cup-bearer to the king of Persia, from whom he obtained leave to return to Judea for twelve years, in order to rebuild the city of Jerusalem. He here continues the history of Ezra, from the twentieth year of Artaxerxes to the reign of Darius Nothus; in all, about forty years.

CHAP. I.

- 1 Nehemiah, informed by Hanani concerning the afflicted state of Jerusalem, mourneth, fasteth, and prayeth. 5 His prayer.

THE words of Nehemiah the son of Hachaliah. And it came to pass in the month Chisleu, in the twentieth year, as I was in Shushan the palace,

2 That Hanani, one of my brethren, came, he and certain men of Judah; and I asked them concerning the Jews that had escaped, which were left of the captivity, and concerning Jerusalem.

3 And they said unto me, The remnant that are left of the captivity there in the province are in great affliction and reproach: the wall of Jerusalem also is broken down, and the gates thereof are burned with fire.

4 And it came to pass, when I heard these words, that I sat down and wept, and mourned certain days, and fasted, and prayed before the God of heaven.

5 ¶ And said, I beseech thee, O LORD God of heaven, the great and terrible God, that keepeth covenant and mercy for them that love him and observe his commandments:

6 Let thine ear now be attentive, and thine eyes open, that thou mayest hear the prayer of thy servant, which I pray before thee now, day and night, for the children of Israel thy servants, and confess the sins of the children of Israel, which we have sinned against thee: both I and my father's house have sinned.

7 We have dealt very corruptly against thee, and have not kept the commandments, nor the statutes, nor the judgments, which thou commandedst thy servant Moses.

8 Remember, I beseech thee, the word that thou commandedst thy servant Moses, saying, If ye transgress, I will scatter you abroad among the nations:

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. I.

1 The month chisleu] Which contained part of November and part of December, and was their ninth month.

In Shushan the palace.] This was in the region of Elymais, where the Persian kings kept their court in winter; and from its pleasant and beautiful situation, was called by the heathens Sufa, which signifies a lily; which flower grew in abundance in that country.

¶ Came, &c.] From Jerusalem to Shushan.

11 I was the king's cupbearer.] This was a place of great honour and advantage in the Persian court: that it was very profitable, seems evident by Nehemiah's acquiring those immense riches which enabled him for so many years (see chap. v. 14.) out of his own private purse only, to live in his government with all that splendor and expence, without burdening the people at all for it.

- 9 But if ye turn unto me, and keep my commandments, and do them; though there were of you cast out Before CHRIST unto the uttermost part of the heaven, yet will I gather 446.
them from thence, and will bring them unto the place that I have chosen to set my name there.

10 Now these are thy servants and thy people, whom thou hast redeemed by thy great power, and by thy strong hand.

11 O LORD, I beseech thee, let now thine ear be attentive to the prayer of thy servant, and to the prayer of thy servants, who desire to fear thy name: and prosper, I pray thee, thy servant this day, and grant him mercy in the sight of this man. For I was the king's cupbearer.

CHAP. II.

- 1 Artaxerxes, understanding the cause of Nehemiah's sadness, sendeth him with letters and a commission to build the wall of Jerusalem. 9 Nehemiah delivereth the letters, and to the grief of the enemies of the Jews cometh to Jerusalem. 12 He vieweth the state of the walls secretly by night. 17 He encourageth the Jews to build in spite of the scorn of their enemies.

AND it came to pass in the month Nisan, in the twentieth year of Artaxerxes the king, that wine was before him: and I took up the wine, and gave it unto the king. Now I had not been beforetime in his presence.

2 Wherefore the king said unto me, Why is thy countenance sad, seeing thou art not sick? this is nothing else but sorrow of heart. Then I was very sore afraid,

3 And said unto the king, Let the king live for ever: why should not my countenance be sad, when the city, the place of my fathers' sepulchres, lieth waste, and the gates thereof are consumed with fire?

4 Then the king said unto me, For what dost thou make request? So I prayed to the God of heaven.

5 And

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. I.

Nehemiah's great care and assiduity respecting the divine worship, should teach us to be more zealously concerned for the church of the Lord, than for any other thing; to take part in the evils that happen to it, and to pray continually for its prosperity.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. II.

1 In the month Nisan, &c.] This contained part of March and part of April. In the four months that had elapsed, Nehemiah might probably wait for a seasonable opportunity of speaking with the king, or retire all this intermediate time, and spend it in fasting and prayer.

4 So I prayed to the God of heaven.] In his mind he silently beseeched God to guide his tongue, and to incline the king's heart to grant his request.

Before
445.

5 And I said unto the king, If it please the king, and if thy servant have found favour in thy sight, that thou wouldest send me unto Judah, unto the city of my fathers' sepulchres, that I may build it.

6 And the king said unto me, (the queen also sitting by him,) For how long shall thy journey be? and when wilt thou return? So it pleased the king to send me; and I set him a time.

7 Moreover I said unto the king, If it please the king, let letters be given me to the governors beyond the river, that they may convey me over till I come into Judah;

8 And a letter unto Asaph the keeper of the king's forest, that he may give me timber to make beams for the gates of the palace which appertained to the house, and for the wall of the city, and for the house that I shall enter into. And the king granted me, according to the good hand of my God upon me.

9 ¶ Then I came to the governors beyond the river, and gave them the king's letters. Now the king had sent captains of the army and horsemen with me.

10 When Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the servant, the Ammonite, heard of it, it grieved them exceedingly that there was come a man to seek the welfare of the children of Israel.

11 So I came to Jerusalem, and was there three days.

12 ¶ And I arose in the night, I and some few men with me; neither told I any man what my God had put in my heart to do at Jerusalem: neither was there any beast with me, save the beast that I rode upon.

13 And I went out by night by the gate of the valley, even before the dragon well, and to the dung port, and viewed the walls of Jerusalem, which were broken down, and the gates thereof were consumed with fire.

14 Then I went on to the gate of the fountain, and to the king's pool: but there was no place for the beast that was under me to pass.

15 Then went I up in the night by the brook, and viewed the wall, and turned back, and entered by the gate of the valley, and so returned.

16 And the rulers knew not whither I went, or what I did; neither had I as yet told it to the Jews, nor to the priests, nor to the nobles, nor to the rulers, nor to the rest that did the work.

17 ¶ Then said I unto them, Ye see the distress that we are in, how Jerusalem lieth waste, and the gates thereof are burned with fire: come, and let us build up the wall of Jerusalem, that we be no more a reproach.

18 Then I told them of the hand of my God which was good upon me; as also the king's words that he had spoken unto me. And they said, Let us rise up and build. So they strengthened their hands for this good work.

19 But when Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the servant, the Ammonite, and Geshem the Arabian, heard it, they laughed us to scorn, and despised us, and said, What is this thing that ye do? will ye rebel against the king?

20 Then answered I them, and said unto them, The God of heaven, he will prosper us; therefore we his servants will arise and build: but ye have no portion, nor right, nor memorial, in Jerusalem.

[6 I set him a time.] It is probable that he asked leave for a year only, which made him so quiet in dispatching his business; for he finished the building of the wall in fifty-two days: see chap. vi. 15. after which, it is likely, he returned to Shushan, and then the king sent him back as his governor for twelve years.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. II.

The conduct of Nehemiah, in this chapter, shews us, that good men are more concerned for the glory of God, than their own interest; and whilst they see that glory obstructed, and the church under affliction, they cannot relish any pleasure, although they should enjoy all other worldly advantages. We also learn, that God blesses the designs that are formed for good ends, and the welfare of his church; and that good men should never be discouraged, though they are opposed by the wicked.

C H A P. III.

The names and order of them that builded the wall.

THEN Eliashib the high priest rose up with his brethren the priests, and they builded the sheep gate; they sanctified it, and set up the doors of it; even unto the tower of Meah they sanctified it, unto the tower of Hananeel.

2 And next unto him builded the men of Jericho. And next to them builded Zaccur the son of Imri.

3 But the fish gate did the sons of Hassenaah build, who also laid the beams thereof, and set up the doors thereof, and locks thereof, and the bars thereof.

4 And next unto them repaired Meremoth the son of Urijah, the son of Koz. And next unto them repaired Meshullam the son of Berechiah, the son of Meshazbeel. And next unto them repaired Zadok the son of Baana.

5 And next unto them the Tekoites repaired; but their nobles put not their necks to the work of their Lord.

6 Moreover the old gate repaired Jehoiada the son of Paseah, and Meshullam the son of Besodeiah; they laid the beams thereof, and set up the doors thereof, and the locks thereof, and the bars thereof.

7 And next unto them repaired Melatiah the Gibeonite, and Jadon the Meronothite, the men of Gibeon, and of Mizpah, unto the throne of the governor on this side the river.

8 Next unto him repaired Uzziel the son of Harhaiah, of the goldsmiths. Next unto him also repaired Hananiah the son of one of the apothecaries, and they fortified Jerusalem unto the broad wall.

9 And next unto them repaired Rephaiah the son of Hur, the ruler of the half part of Jerusalem.

10 And next unto them repaired Jedaiah the son of Harumaph, even over against his house. And next unto him repaired Hattuth the son of Hashabniah.

11 Malchijah the son of Harim, and Hashub the son of Pahath-moab, repaired the other piece, and the tower of the furnaces.

12 And next unto him repaired Shallum the son of Haloheish, the ruler of the half part of Jerusalem, he and his daughters.

13 The valley gate repaired Hanun, and the inhabitants of Zanoah; they built it, and set up the doors thereof, the locks thereof, and the bars thereof, and a thousand cubits on the wall unto the dung gate.

14 But the dung gate repaired Malchiah the son of Rechab, the ruler of part of Beth-haccerem; he built it, and set up the doors thereof, the locks thereof, and the bars thereof.

15 But the gate of the fountain repaired Shallun the son of Col-hozeh, the ruler of part of Mizpah; he built it, and covered it, and set up the doors thereof, the locks thereof, and the bars thereof, and the wall of the pool of Siloah by the king's garden, and unto the stairs that go down from the city of David.

16 After him repaired Nehemiah the son of Azbuk, the ruler of the half part of Beth-zur, unto the place over against the sepulchres of David, and to the pool that was made, and unto the house of the mighty.

17 And after him repaired the Levites, Rehum the son

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. III.

1 They builded the sheep gate, &c.] This gate was on the south side of the city, in that part of the valley which looked towards the city of David and the temple; the sheep which were to be sacrificed entered in by this gate, and therefore it is to be supposed that the priests undertook this part of the work, as most proper for them.

3 The fish gate, &c.] This gate looked towards the sea, from whence fish was wont to be brought, and sold here.

5 Their nobles put not their necks to the work of their Lord.] They did not heartily engage in it; they were either proud or negligent, not caring whether the work was performed or not.

13 The valley gate, &c.] This was called the valley of Jehoshaphat, which lay between the city and the mount of Olives, through which ran the brook Kidron, from the north to the south.

16 The house of the mighty.] Where the king's guard were lodged.

son of Bani. Next unto him repaired Habbabiah, the ruler of the half part of Keilah, in his part.

18 After him repaired their brethren, Bavai the son of Henadad, the ruler of the half part of Keilah.

19 And next to him repaired Ezer the son of Jeshua, the ruler of Mizpah, another piece over against the going up to the armoury at the turning of the wall.

20 After him Baruch the son of Zabbai earnestly repaired the other piece, from the turning of the wall unto the door of the house of Eliashib the high priest.

21 After him repaired Meremoth the son of Urijah the son of Koz another piece, from the door of the house of Eliashib even to the end of the house of Eliashib.

22 And after him repaired the priests, the men of the plain.

23 After him repaired Benjamin and Habbab over against their house. After him repaired Azariah the son of Maaseiah the son of Ananiah by his house.

24 After him repaired Binnui the son of Henadad another piece, from the house of Azariah unto the turning of the wall, even unto the corner.

25 Palal the son of Uzai, over against the turning of the wall, and the tower which lieth out from the king's high house, that was by the court of the prison. After him Pedaiah the son of Parosh.

26 Moreover the Nethinims dwelt in Ophel, unto the place over against the water gate toward the east, and the tower that lieth out.

27 After them the Tekoites repaired another piece, over against the great tower that lieth out, even unto the wall of Ophel.

28 From above the horse gate repaired the priests, every one over against his house.

29 After them repaired Zadok the son of Immer over against his house. After him repaired also She-maiah the son of Shechaniah, the keeper of the east gate.

30 After him repaired Hananiah the son of Shele-miah, and Hanun the sixth son of Zalaph, another piece. After him repaired Meshullam the son of Berechiah over against his chamber.

31 After him repaired Malchiah the goldsmith's son, unto the place of the Nethinims, and of the merchants, over against the gate Miphkad, and to the going up of the corner.

32 And between the going up of the corner unto the sheep gate repaired the goldsmiths and the merchants.

CHAP. IV.

1 While the enemies are wroth, and scoff, Nehemiah prayeth to God, and buildeth the wall. 7 Understanding their secret plottings, he setteth a watch. 13 He armeth the labourers, and giveth instructions how to proceed in case of an alarm.

BUT it came to pass, that when Sanballat heard that we builded the wall, he was wroth, and took great indignation, and mocked the Jews.

2 And he spake before his brethren and the army of Samaria, and said, What do these feeble Jews? will they fortify themselves? will they sacrifice? will they make an end in a day? will they revive the stones out of the heaps of the rubbish which are burned?

3 Now Tobiah the Ammonite was by him, and he said, Even that which they build, if a fox go up, he shall even break down their stone wall.

4 Hear, O our God; for we are despised: and turn their reproach upon their own head, and give them for a prey in the land of captivity:

5 And cover not their iniquity, and let not their sin

26 The water gate, &c.] This, it is likely, was the gate at which those inferior ministers, the Nethinims, brought in water for the use of the temple.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. III.

We may infer from hence, that if we are diligent in the discharge of our duty, God will enable us to surmount all difficulties; for he will bless and protect those who fear him, who walk in his ways, and promote his service and the good of mankind.

be blotted out from before thee: for they have provoked thee to anger before the builders.

6 So built we the wall; and all the wall was joined together unto the half thereof: for the people had a mind to work.

7 ¶ But it came to pass, that when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, and the Ashdodites, heard that the walls of Jerusalem were made up, and that the breaches began to be stopped, then they were very wroth,

8 And conspired all of them together to come and to fight against Jerusalem, and to hinder it.

9 Nevertheless we made our prayer unto our God, and set a watch against them day and night, because of them.

10 And Judah said, The strength of the bearers of burdens is decayed, and there is much rubbish; so that we are not able to build the wall.

11 And our adversaries said, They shall not know, neither see, till we come in the midst among them, and slay them, and cause the work to cease.

12 And it came to pass, that when the Jews which dwelt by them came, they said unto us ten times, From all places whence ye shall return unto us they will be upon you.

13 ¶ Therefore set I in the lower places behind the wall, and on the higher places, I even set the people after their families with their swords, their spears, and their bows.

14 And I looked, and rose up, and said unto the nobles, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, Be not ye afraid of them: remember the Lord, which is great and terrible, and fight for your brethren, your sons, and your daughters, your wives, and your houses.

15 And it came to pass, when our enemies heard that it was known unto us, and God had brought their counsel to nought, that we returned all of us to the wall, every one unto his work.

16 And it came to pass from that time forth, that the half of my servants wrought in the work, and the other half of them held both the spears, the shields, and the bows, and the habergeons; and the rulers were behind all the house of Judah.

17 They which builded on the wall, and they that bare burdens, with those that laded, every one with one of his hands wrought in the work, and with the other hand held a weapon.

18 For the builders, every one had his sword girded by his side, and so builded. And he that sounded the trumpet was by me.

19 And I said unto the nobles, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, The work is great and large, and we are separated upon the wall, one far from another.

20 In what place therefore ye hear the sound of the trumpet, resort ye thither unto us: our God shall fight for us.

21 So we laboured in the work: and half of them held the spears from the rising of the morning till the stars appeared.

22 Likewise at the same time said I unto the people, Let every one with his servant lodge within Jerusalem, that in the night they may be a guard to us, and labour on the day.

23 So neither I, nor my brethren, nor my servants, nor the men of the guard which followed me, none of us put off our clothes, saving that every one put them off for washing.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. IV.

5 Let not their sin be blotted out, &c.] He spoke by the spirit of prophecy, foreseeing that, from their malicious and implacable spirit against God and his people, they would reject the offers of his mercy, and at last be utterly destroyed.

17 And with the other hand held a weapon.] They were well appointed both for building and fighting; every one had his sword girded by his side, and so builded.

CHAP. V.

1 The people complain of their debts, which had compelled them to mortgage their lands, and sell their children into bondage. 6 Nehemiah rebuketh the usurers, and causeth them to swear to make a full and free restitution. 14 He refuseth the governor's usual allowance, and keepeth up hospitality at his own expence.

AND there was a great cry of the people and of their wives against their brethren the Jews.

2 For there were that said, We, our sons, and our daughters, are many: therefore we take up corn for them, that we may eat and live.

3 Some also there were that said, We have mortgaged our lands, vineyards, and houses, that we might buy corn because of the dearth.

4 There were also that said, We have borrowed money for the king's tribute and that upon our lands and vineyards.

5 Yet now our flesh is as the flesh of our brethren, our children as their children: and, lo, we bring into bondage our sons and our daughters to be servants, and some of our daughters are brought unto bondage already: neither is it in our power to redeem them; for other men have our lands and vineyards.

6 ¶ And I was very angry when I heard their cry and these words.

7 Then I consulted with myself, and I rebuked the nobles, and the rulers, and said unto them, Ye exact usury, every one of his brother. And I set a great assembly against them.

8 And I said unto them, We after our ability have redeemed our brethren the Jews, which were sold unto the heathen: and will ye even sell your brethren? or shall they be sold unto us? Then held they their peace, and found nothing to answer.

9 Also I said, It is not good that ye do: ought ye not to walk in the fear of our God because of the reproach of the heathen our enemies?

10 I likewise, and my brethren, and my servants, might exact of them money and corn: I pray you let us leave off this usury.

11 Restore, I pray you, to them, even this day, their lands, their vineyards, their oliveyards, and their houses, also the hundredth part of the money, and of the corn, the wine, and the oil, that ye exact of them.

12 Then said they, We will restore them, and will require nothing of them; so will we do as thou sayest. Then I called the priests, and took an oath of them, that they should do according to this promise.

13 Also I shook my lap, and said, So God shake out every man from his house, and from his labour, that performeth not this promise, even thus be he shaken out, and emptied. And all the congregation said, Amen, and praised the LORD. And the people did according to this promise.

4 ¶ Moreover from the time that I was appointed

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. IV.

From this chapter we are instructed, that they who labour for the glory of God, must expect the contradiction of the wicked; that in all our dangers, we should have recourse to the Lord, and join prayer to our work, using all lawful means to ward off the evil that threatens us; and that God will in the end prosper the undertakings of those that trust in him, and assist them against their enemies.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. V.

1 There was a great cry of the people, &c.] The poor made grievous complaints against the rich, for taking advantage of their necessities, and exacting usury; which reduced them to great straits.

2 Then held they their peace, and found nothing to answer.] There was such an express law of God against them (see Deut. xxiii. 19.) that they had nothing to reply, therefore were silent; because they could neither deny the fact, nor were they able to justify it.

11 The hundredth part of the money, &c.] The hundredth part of what was lent every month, or twelve per cent. for the whole year.

12 And took an oath of them, &c.] i. e. of the nobles and the rulers; for he prevailed on them to swear to him in the presence of

to be their governor in the land of Judah, from the twentieth year even unto the two and thirtieth year of Artaxerxes the king, that is, twelve years, I and my brethren have not eaten the bread of the governor.

15 But the former governors that had been before me were chargeable unto the people, and had taken of them bread and wine, beside forty shekels of silver; yea, even their servants bare rule over the people: but so did not I, because of the fear of God.

16 Yea, also I continued in the work of this wall, neither bought we any land: and all my servants were gathered thither unto the work.

17 Moreover there were at my table an hundred and fifty of the Jews and rulers, beside those that came unto us from among the heathen that are about us.

18 Now that which was prepared for me daily was one ox and six choice sheep; also fowls were prepared for me, and once in ten days store of all sorts of wine: yet for all this required not I the bread of the governor, because the bondage was heavy upon this people.

19 Think upon me, my God, for good, according to all that I have done for this people.

CHAP. VI.

1 Sanballat practiseth against Nehemiah by insidious attempts, 5 false rumours, 10 and hired prophecies. 15 The wall is finished to the great dismay of the enemy. 17 The nobles of Judah hold traiterous intelligence with Tobiah.

NOW it came to pass, when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and Geshem the Arabian, and the rest of our enemies, heard that I had builded the wall, and that there was no breach left therein; (though at that time I had not set up the doors upon the gates.)

2 That Sanballat and Geshem sent unto me, saying, Come, let us meet together in some one of the villages in the plain of Ono. But they thought to do me mischief.

3 And I sent messengers unto them, saying, I am doing a great work, so that I cannot come down: why should the work cease, whilst I leave it, and come down to you?

4 Yet they sent unto me four times after this sort; and I answered them after the same manner.

5 ¶ Then sent Sanballat his servant unto me in like manner the fifth time with an open letter in his hand,

6 Wherein it was written, It is reported among the heathen, and Gashmu saith it, that thou and the Jews think to rebel: for which cause thou buildest the wall, that thou mayest be their king, according to these words.

7 And thou hast also appointed prophets to preach of thee at Jerusalem, saying, There is a king in Judah: and now shall it be reported to the king according to these words. Come now therefore, and let us take counsel together.

8 Then I sent unto him, saying, There are no such things done as thou sayest, but thou feignest them out of thine own heart.

9 For they all made us afraid, saying, Their hands shall the priests, whom he called in to be witnesses to it, that they would keep their word.

13 Also I shook my lap, &c.] An external sign, predicting their poverty; for, folding up the skirts of his garment, and then shaking them abroad, he represented how God would cast them out of their possessions, and the fruit of their labours, if they did not observe this oath.

16 Neither bought we any land, &c.] They would not make any advantage of the necessities of others.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. V.

The conduct of Nehemiah, as recorded in this chapter, affords us a noble example of equity, piety, and disinterestedness, worthy to be imitated by all magistrates, and by great and rich men; and this shews how averse we ought to be from oppression and injustice, since that, in case of necessity, we ought to give of our own, and even to depart from our right, for the glory of God and the good of our brethren.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VI.

6 And Gashmu saith it, &c.] The same, most probably, with Gesem, mentioned ver. 1. who undertakes to prove it.

shall be weakened from the work, that it be not done. Now therefore, O God, strengthen my hands.

10 ¶ Afterward I came unto the house of Shemaiah the son of Delaiah the son of Mehetabeel, who was shut up; and he said, Let us meet together in the house of God, within the temple, and let us shut the doors of the temple: for they will come to slay thee; yea, in the night will they come to slay thee.

11 And I said, Should such a man as I flee? and who is there, that, being as I am, would go into the temple to save his life? I will not go in.

12 And, lo, I perceived that God had not sent him; but that he pronounced this prophecy against me: for Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him.

13 Therefore was he hired, that I should be afraid, and do so, and sin, and that they might have matter for an evil report, that they might reproach me.

14 My God, think thou upon Tobiah and Sanballat according to these their works, and on the prophets Noadiah, and the rest of the prophets, that would have put me in fear.

15 ¶ So the wall was finished in the twenty and fifth day of the month Elul, in fifty and two days.

16 And it came to pass, that when all our enemies heard thereof, and all the heathen that were about us saw these things, they were much cast down in their own eyes: for they perceived that this work was wrought of our God.

17 ¶ Moreover in those days the nobles of Judah sent many letters unto Tobiah, and the letters of Tobiah, came unto them.

18 For there were many in Judah sworn unto him, because he was son in law of Shechaniah the son of Arah; and his son Johanan had taken the daughter of Meshullam, the son of Berechiah.

19 Also they reported his good deeds before me, and uttered my words to him. And Tobiah sent letters to put me in fear.

CHAP. VII.

1 Nehemiah committeth the charge of the city to Hanani and Hananiah. 5 A register found of the genealogy of them which came first from Babylon, of the people, 39 of the priests, 43 of the Levites, 46 of the Nethinims, 57 of the children of Solomon's servants, 63 of the priests which could not shew their pedigree. 66 The whole number with their substance. 70 Their oblations.

NOW it came to pass, when the wall was built, and I had set up the doors, and the porters and the singers and the Levites were appointed,

2 That I gave my brother Hanani, and Hananiah the ruler of the palace, charge over Jerusalem: for he was a faithful man, and feared God above many.

3 And I said unto them, Let not the gates of Jeru-

10 Afterward I came unto the house of Shemaiah, &c.] Shemaiah being called a prophet, as we learn from ver. 12. it is likely Nehemiah took him to be his friend, and therefore went to consult and advise with him at his own house.

Let us meet together in the house of God, within the temple, &c.] His real design herein might be, not only to disgrace Nehemiah, and dishearten the people, when they saw their governor's cowardice, but to prepare likewise for the enemy's assaulting and taking the city, when there was no leader to oppose them.

11 And I said, Should such a man as I flee, &c.] Shall I dishonour God and religion, and betray the people and city of God? God forbid.

13 That I should be afraid, and do so, and sin, &c.] That they might, through their treachery, draw him to offend God, by distrusting his care of him.

25 The wall was finished in fifty and two days.] Which may seem incredible to those who do not reflect what a prodigious number of people (who were not hired, but acted voluntarily) engaged in this work, and how full they were of zeal; and that the foundation of the wall was not destroyed by the Chaldeans, but that there were some pieces of it standing, and only great breaches made in it.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. VI.

It appears here likewise, that notwithstanding the force, craft and calumny of false prophets and false ministers, the wise, steady, and pious behaviour of Nehemiah surmounted all opposition; and teaches us, that they who labour for the public good, in the fear of God, should never be staggered by the threats and slanders of the wicked; falem be opened until the sun be hot; and while they stand by, let them shut the doors, and bar them: and appoint watches of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, every one his watch, and every one to be over against his house.

4 Now the city was large and great: but the people were few therein, and the houses were not builded.

5 ¶ And my God put into mine heart to gather together the nobles, and the rulers, and the people, that they might be reckoned by genealogy. And I found a register of the genealogy of them which came up at the first, and found written therein,

6 These are the children of the province, that went up out of the captivity, of those that had been carried away; whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away, and came again to Jerusalem and to Judah, every one unto his city;

7 Who came with Zerubbabel: Jeshua, Nehemiah, Azariah, Raamiah, Nahamani, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispereth, Bigvai, Nehum, Baanah. The number, I say, of the men of the people of Israel was this;

8 The children of Parosh, two thousand an hundred seventy and two.

9 The children of Shephatiah, three hundred seventy and two.

10 The children of Arah, six hundred fifty and two.

11 The children of Pahath-moab, of the children of Jeshua and Joab, two thousand and eight hundred and eighteen.

12 The children of Elam, a thousand two hundred fifty and four.

13 The children of Zattu, eight hundred forty and five.

14 The children of Zaccai, seven hundred and threescore.

15 The children of Binnui, six hundred forty and two.

16 The children of Bebai, six hundred twenty and eight.

17 The children of Azgag, two thousand three hundred twenty and two.

18 The children of Adonikam, six hundred threescore and seven.

19 The children of Bigvai, two thousand threescore and seven.

20 The children of Adin, six hundred fifty and five.

21 The children of Ater of Hezekiah ninety and eight.

22 The children of Hashum, three hundred twenty and eight.

23 The children of Bezai, three hundred twenty and four.

24 The children of Hariph, an hundred and twelve.

25 The children of Gibeon, ninety and five.

26 The men of Beth-lehem, and Netophah, an hundred fourscore and eight.

and that, with the help of the Lord, who watches for them, they will at length happily triumph over every difficulty and trouble cast in their way.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VII.

2 I gave my brother Hanani, and Hananiah the ruler of the palace, charge over Jerusalem, &c.] Hanani had given proof of his zeal for God and his country, in his taking a tedious journey from Jerusalem to Shushan, to inform Jeremiah of the sad state of Jerusalem, and to implore his helping hand to relieve it (see ch. i.) And the reason why Nehemiah put such trust and confidence in Hananiah, was, because he was a man of conscience, and acted upon religious principles, which would keep him from those temptations to perfidiousness which he might probably meet with in the absence of Nehemiah, and against which a man destitute of the fear of God has no defence.

4 The people were few therein, &c.] At this time their enemies were so enraged to see the walls rebuilt, and so restless in their designs to keep the city from rising to its former splendor, that it terrified many from going to live there, thinking themselves safer in the country, where their enemies had no pretence to disturb them.

6 These are the children, &c.] These are almost the same words which we read in Ezra ii. 1.

8 The children of Parosh, &c.] Tho' this genealogy differs, in some particulars from that in Ezra ii. 5. it should nevertheless be remembered, that Nehemiah's was taken in Judea, after the finishing the wall in Jerusalem; and that Ezra's was taken in Babylon, before they returned to their own land.

GENERAL

Before CHRIST 536. 27 The men of Anathoth, an hundred twenty and eight.
 28 The men of Beth-azmaveth, forty and two.
 29 The men of Kirjath-jearim, Chephirah, and Beeroth, seven hundred forty and three.
 30 The men of Ramah and Gaba, six hundred twenty and one.
 31 The men of Michmas, an hundred and twenty and two.
 32 The men of Bethel and Ai, an hundred twenty and three.
 33 The men of the other Nebo, fifty and two.
 34 The children of the other Elam, a thousand two hundred fifty and four.
 35 The children of Harim, three hundred and twenty.
 36 The children of Jericho, three hundred forty and five.
 37 The children of Lod, Hadid, and Ono, seven hundred twenty and one.
 38 The children of Senaah, three thousand nine hundred and thirty.
 39 ¶ The priests: the children of Jedaiah, of the house of Jeshua, nine hundred seventy and three.
 40 The children of Immer, a thousand fifty and two.
 41 The children of Pashur, a thousand two hundred forty and seven.
 42 The children of Harim, a thousand and seventeen.
 43 ¶ The Levites: the children of Jeshua, of Kadmiel, and of the children of Hodevah, seventy and four.
 44 The singers: the children of Asaph, an hundred forty and eight.
 45 The porters: the children of Shallum, the children of Ater, the children of Talmon, the children of Akkub, the children of Hatita, the children of Shobai, an hundred thirty and eight.
 46 ¶ The Nethinims: the children of Zihah, the children of Hashupha, the children of Tabbaoth.
 47 The children of Keros, the children of Sia, the children of Padon,
 48 The children of Lebana, the children of Hagaba, the children of Shalmal, 49 The children of Hanan, the children of Giddel, the children of Gahar,
 50 The children of Reaiah, the children of Rezin, the children of Nekodah,
 51 The children of Gazzam, the children of Uzza, the children of Phaseah, 52 The children of Befai, the children of Meunim, the children of Nephtseim,
 53 The children of Bakbuk, the children of Hakupha, the children of Harhur,
 54 The children of Bazlith, the children of Meshida, the children of Harsha,
 55 The children of Barkos, the children of Sisera, the children of Tamah, 56 The children of Nezhiah, the children of Hatipha.
 57 ¶ The children of Solomon's servants: the children of Sotai, the children of Sophereth, the children of Perida,
 58 The children of Jaalah, the children of Darkon, the children of Giddel, 59 The children of Shephatiah, the children of Hatil, the children of Pochereth of Zebaim, the children of Amon.
 60 All the Nethinims, and the children of Solomon's servants, were three hundred ninety and two.
 61 And these were they which went up also from Telmelah, Telharesha, Cherub, Addon, and Immer: but they could not shew their father's house, nor their seed, whether they were of Israel.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. VII.

In this chapter we have a noble example of liberality, in the contribution that Nehemiah and some of the chief men offered voluntarily for the service of God, which is the more edifying, as the Jews were then in a state of poverty, and had very few rich men among them.

Before CHRIST 536. 62 The children of Delaiah, the children of Tobiah, the children of Nekoda, six hundred forty and two.
 63 ¶ And of the priests: the children of Habaiah, the children of Koz, the children of Barzillai, which took one of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite to wife, and was called after their name.
 64 These sought their register among those that were reckoned by genealogy, but it was not found: therefore were they, as polluted, put from the priesthood.
 65 And the Tirshatha said unto them, that they should not eat of the most holy things, till there stood up a priest with Urim and Thummim.
 66 ¶ The whole congregation together was forty and two thousand three hundred and threescore,
 67 Beside their manservants, and their maidservants, of whom there were seven thousand three hundred thirty and seven: and they had two hundred forty and five singing men and singing women.
 68 Their horses, seven hundred thirty and six: their mules, two hundred forty and five:
 69 Their camels, four hundred thirty and five: six thousand seven hundred and twenty asses.
 70 ¶ And some of the chief of the fathers, gave unto the work. The Tirshatha gave to the treasure a thousand drams of gold, fifty basons, five hundred and thirty priests' garments.
 71 And some of the chief of the fathers gave to the treasure of the work twenty thousand drams of gold, and two thousand and two hundred pound of silver.
 72 And that which the rest of the people gave was twenty thousand drams of gold, and two thousand pound of silver, and threescore and seven priests' garments.
 73 So the priests, and the Levites, and the porters, and the singers, and some of the people, and the Nethinims, and all Israel dwelt in their cities: and when the seventh month came, the children of Israel were in their cities.

C H A P. VIII.

1 The religious manner in which the law was read by Ezra and expounded to the people. 9 Nehemiah, Ezra, and the Levites, comfort them. 13 They are instructed out of the law concerning the feast of tabernacles, 16 which is kept in a solemn manner.

AND all the people gathered themselves together as one man into the street that was before the water gate; and they spake unto Ezra the scribe to bring the book of the law of Moses, which the LORD had commanded to Israel.

2 And Ezra the priest brought the law before the congregation both of men and women, and all that could hear with understanding, upon the first day of the seventh month.

3 And he read therein before the street that was before the water gate from the morning until midday, before the men and the women, and those that could understand; and the ears of all the people were attentive unto the book of the law.

4 And Ezra the scribe stood upon a pulpit of wood, which they had made for the purpose; and beside him stood Mattithiah, and Shema, and Anaiah, and Urijah, and Hilkiah, and Maaseiah, on his right hand; and on his left hand, Pedaiah, and Mishael, and Malchiah, and Hashum, and Hashbadana, Zechariah, and Meshullam.

5 And Ezra opened the book in the sight of all the people; (for he was above all the people;) and when he opened it, all the people stood up:

6 And Ezra blessed the LORD, the great God. And all the people answered, Amen, Amen, with lifting up their hands: and they bowed their heads, and worshipped the LORD with their faces to the ground.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VIII.

1 And all the people gathered themselves together, &c.] This was the first great feast after the walls of Jerusalem were finished. They spake unto Ezra the scribe.] This undoubtedly was the same Ezra who came from Babylon in the seventh year of Artaxerxes, with a full commission to Jerusalem, to assist Zerubbabel in the reformation of the whole state of the Jewish church.

8 Caused

7 Also Jeshua, and Bani, and Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodijah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, and the Levites, caused the people to understand the law: and the people stood in their place.

8 So they read in the book in the law of God distinctly, and gave the sense, and caused them to understand the reading.

9 ¶ And Nehemiah, which is the Tirshatha, and Ezra the priest the scribe, and the Levites that taught the people, said unto all the people, This day is holy unto the LORD your God, mourn not, nor weep. For all the people wept, when they heard the words of the law.

10 Then he said unto them; Go your way, eat the fat, and drink the sweet, and send portions unto them for whom nothing is prepared: for this day is holy unto our LORD: neither be ye sorry; for the joy of the LORD is your strength.

11 So the Levites stilled all the people, saying, Hold your peace, for the day is holy; neither be ye grieved.

12 And all the people went their way to eat, and to drink, and to send portions, and to make great mirth, because they had understood the words that were declared unto them.

13 ¶ And on the second day were gathered together the chief of the fathers of all the people, the priests, and the Levites, unto Ezra the scribe, even to understand the words of the law.

14 And they found written in the law which the LORD had commanded by Moses, that the children of Israel should dwell in booths in the feast of the seventh month:

15 And that they should publish and proclaim in all their cities, and in Jerusalem, saying, Go forth unto the mount, and fetch olive branches, and pine branches, and myrtle branches, and palm branches, and branches of thick trees, to make booths, as it is written.

16 ¶ So the people went forth, and brought them, and made themselves booths, every one upon the roof of his house, and in their courts, and in the courts of the house of God, and in the street of the water gate, and in the street of the gate of Ephraim.

17 And all the congregation of them that were come again out of the captivity made booths, and sat under the booths: for since the days of Jeshua the son of Nun unto that day had not the children of Israel done so. And there was very great gladness.

18 Also day by day, from the first day unto the last day, he read in the book of the law of God. And they kept the feast seven days; and on the eighth day was a solemn assembly, according unto the manner.

CHAP. IX.

1 A solemn general fast and humiliation. 4 The Levites make a religious confession of God's manifold goodness, and of the national sins, which had occasioned the people's miseries.

NOW in the twenty and fourth day of this month the children of Israel were assembled with fasting, and with sackcloths, and earth upon them.

2 And the seed of Israel separated themselves from ¶ Caused them to understand the reading.] M. Du Pin interprets it of Ezra's explaining the difficult places of scripture, so as to adapt them to the understanding of the common people: and offers several reasons to prove that the Hebrew could not be so intirely lost, some suppose, till after the captivity.

10 This day is holy unto our Lord, &c.] It was the first new moon in the year, and the feast of blowing the trumpets. See Lev. xxiii. 24.

17 Since the days of Jeshua the son of Nun, unto that day, had not the children of Israel done so.] The meaning is, that the joy had never been so great as it was now, since that time. And for this there was a special reason: they rejoiced, in the days of Jeshua, that they had got possession of the land of Canaan; and now they rejoiced that they were restored to it, and, after a long banishment, quietly settled in it.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. VIII.

From the circumstance of Ezra and Nehemiah's comforting the people, No. 6.

all strangers, and stood and confessed their sins, and the iniquities of their fathers.

3 And they stood up in their place, and read in the book of the law of the LORD their God one fourth part of the day; and another fourth part they confessed, and worshipped the LORD their God.

4 ¶ Then stood up upon the stairs, of the Levites, Jeshua, and Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani, and Chenani, and cried with a loud voice unto the LORD their God.

5 Then the Levites, Jeshuah, and Kadmiel, Bani, Hashabniah, Sherebiah, Hodijah, Shebaniah, and Pethahiah, said, Stand up and bless the LORD your God for ever and ever: and blessed be thy glorious name, which is exalted above all blessing and praise.

6 Thou, even thou, art LORD alone; thou hast made heaven, the heaven of heavens, with all their host, the earth, and all things that are therein, the seas, and all that is therein, and thou preservest them all; and the host of heaven worshippeth thee.

7 Thou art the LORD the God, who didst choose Abram, and broughtest him forth out of Ur of the Chaldees, and gavest him the name of Abraham;

8 And foundest his heart faithful before thee, and madest a covenant with him to give the land of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Jebusites, and the Girgashites, to give it, I say, to his seed, and hast performed thy words; for thou art righteous:

9 And didst see the affliction of our fathers in Egypt, and heardest their cry by the Red sea;

10 And shewedst signs and wonders upon Pharaoh, and on all his servants, and on all the people of his land: for thou knewest that they dealt proudly against them. So didst thou get thee a name, as it is this day.

11 And thou didst divide the sea before them, so that they went through the midst of the sea on the dry land; and their persecutors thou threwest into the deeps, as a stone into the mighty waters.

12 Moreover thou leddest them in the day by a cloudy pillar; and in the night by a pillar of fire, to give them light in the way wherein they should go.

13 Thou camest down also upon mount Sinai, and spakest with them from heaven, and gavest them right judgments, and true laws, good statutes and commandments:

14 And madest known unto them thy holy sabbath, and commandedst them precepts, statutes, and laws, by the hand of Moses thy servant:

15 And gavest them bread from heaven for their hunger, and broughtest forth water for them out of the rock for their thirst, and promisedst them that they should go in to possess the land which thou hadst sworn to give them.

16 But they and our fathers dealt proudly, and hardened their necks, and hearkened not to thy commandments,

17 And refused to obey, neither were mindful of thy wonders that thou didst among them; but hardened their necks, and in their rebellion appointed a captain to return to their bondage: but thou art a God ready to ple, we may observe, that when the heart is full of godly sorrow, and his word makes a lively impression upon it, we are then in a condition of relishing comfort, of rejoicing in the Lord, and of presenting ourselves before him with confidence, as the Jews did when they celebrated the feast.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. IX.

4 Upon the stairs, &c.] Or, as in the margin, upon the scaffold, which raised them above the people.

¶ The host of heaven worshippeth thee.] Sometimes the stars, and sometimes the angels, are called "the host of heaven." But the latter seems to be here meant: for the other is mentioned before, when he saith, "The heavens with all their host."

7 Thou art the Lord the God, &c.] Here follows a compendious history of the affairs of the Hebrew nation, in this confession of God's benefits, and their ingratitude.

Before CHRIST 445. to pardon; gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and forsookest them not.

18 Yea, when they had made them a molten calf, and said, This is thy God that brought thee up out of Egypt, and had wrought great provocations;

19 Yet thou in thy manifold mercies forsookest them not in the wilderness: the pillar of the cloud departed not from them by day, to lead them in the way; neither the pillar of fire by night, to shew them light, and the way wherein they should go.

20 Thou gavest also thy good spirit to instruct them, and withheldest not thy manna from their mouth, and gavest them water for their thirst.

21 Yea, forty years didst thou sustain them in the wilderness, so that they lacked nothing; their clothes waxed old not, and their feet swelled not.

22 Moreover thou gavest them kingdoms and nations, and didst divide them into corners: so they possessed the land of Sihon, and the land of the king of Heshbon, and the land of Og king of Bashan.

23 Their children also multipliedst thou as the stars of heaven, and broughtest them into the land, concerning which thou hadst promised to their fathers, that they should go in to possess it.

24 So the children went in and possessed the land, and thou subduest before them the inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites, and gavest them into their hands, with their kings, and the people of the land, that they might do with them as they would.

25 And they took strong cities, and a fat land, and possessed houses full of all goods, wells digged, vineyards, and oliveyards, and fruit trees in abundance: so they did eat, and were filled, and became fat, and delighted themselves in thy great goodness.

26 Nevertheless they were disobedient, and rebelled against thee, and cast thy law behind their backs, and slew thy prophets which testified against them to turn them to thee, and they wrought great provocations.

27 Therefore thou deliveredst them into the hand of their enemies, who vexed them: and in the time of their trouble, when they cried unto thee, thou heardest them from heaven; and according to thy manifold mercies thou gavest them saviours, who saved them out of the hand of their enemies.

28 But after they had rest, they did evil again before thee: therefore ledest thou them in the hand of their enemies, so that they had the dominion over them: yet when they returned, and cried unto thee, thou heardest them from heaven; and many times didst thou deliver them according to thy mercies;

29 And testifiedst against them, that thou mightest bring them again unto thy law: yet they dealt proudly, and hearkened not unto thy commandments, but sinned against thy judgments, (which if a man do, he shall live in them;) and withdrew the shoulder, and hardened their neck, and would not hear.

30 Yet many years didst thou forbear them, and testifiedst against them by thy spirit in thy prophets: yet would they not give ear: therefore gavest thou them into the hand of the people of the lands.

31 Nevertheless for thy great mercies' sake thou didst not utterly consume them, nor forsake them; for thou art a gracious and merciful God.

32 Now therefore, our God, the great, the mighty, and the terrible God, who keepest covenant and mercy, let not all the trouble seem little before thee, that hath come upon us, on our kings, on our princes, and on our priests, and on our prophets, and on our fathers, and on all thy people, since the time of the kings of Assyria unto this day.

33 Howbeit thou art just in all that is brought upon us: for thou hast done right, but we have done wickedly:

34 Neither have our kings, our princes, our priests, nor our fathers, kept thy law, nor hearkened unto thy commandments and thy testimonies, wherewith thou didst testify against them.

35 For they have not served thee in their kingdom, and in thy great goodness that thou gavest them, and in the large and fat land which thou gavest before them, neither turned they from their wicked works.

36 Behold, we are servants this day, and for the land that thou gavest unto our fathers to eat the fruit thereof and the good thereof, behold, we are servants in it:

37 And it yieldeth much increase unto the kings, whom thou hast set over us because of our sins: also they have dominion over our bodies, and over our cattle, at their pleasure, and we are in great distress.

38 And because of all this we make a sure covenant, and write it; and our princes, Levites, and priests, seal unto it.

CHAP. X.

1 The names of those that sealed the covenant, 23 which the rest of the people bound themselves to observe according to the several particulars enumerated.

NOW those that sealed were, Nehemiah, the Tirshatha, the son of Hachaliah; and Zidkijah,

2 Seraiah, Azariah, Jeremiah,

3 Pashur, Amariah, Malchijah,

4 Hattush, Shebaniah, Malluch,

5 Harim, Meremoth, Obadiah,

6 Daniel, Ginnethon, Baruch,

7 Meshullam, Abijah, Mijamin,

8 Maaziah, Bilgai, Shemaiah: these were the priests.

9 And the Levites: both Jeshua the son of Azariah, Binnui of the sons of Henadad, Kadmiel;

10 And their brethren, Shebaniah, Hodijah, Kelita, Pelaiah, Hanan,

11 Micha, Rehob, Hashabiah,

12 Zaccur, Sherebiah, Shebaniah,

13 Hodijah, Bani, Beninu.

14 The chief of the people; Parosh, Pahath-moab, Elam, Zattu, Bani, 15 Bunni, Azgad, Bebai,

16 Adonijah, Bigvai, Adin,

17 Ater, Hizkijah, Azzur,

18 Hodijah, Hashum, Bezai,

19 Hariph, Anathoth, Nebai,

20 Magpiash, Meshullam, Hezir,

21 Meshazabeel, Zadok, Jaddua,

22 Pelatiah, Hanan, Ananiah,

23 Hoshea, Hananiah, Hashub,

24 Halloheh, Pilchah, Shobek,

25 Rehum, Hashabnah, Maaseiah,

26 And Ahijah, Hanan, Anan,

27 Malluch, Harim, Baanah.

28 ¶ And the rest of the people, the priests, the Levites

22 And didst divide them into corners, &c.] This relates, most probably, to the inhabitants of Canaan, whom the Israelites dispossessed, and drove or "scattered into corners."

25 And delighted themselves in thy great goodness.] The meaning of these words is, that God had bestowed so many blessings upon them, that they took great pleasure in the enjoyment of them.

29 Which if a man do, he shall live in them, &c.] That is, he shall be a happy man.

36 For the land that thou gavest unto our fathers—behold, we are servants in it.] They were not owners and proprietors of the land which God had given to their fathers, but labouring for their lords and masters.

37 They have dominion over our bodies, &c.] Their bodies were liable to be pressed to serve in the king's wars, or in his works; and their cattle subject to them, for the king's use.

38 Our princes, Levites, and priests, seal unto it.] Though it signified little what such an untoward people promised; yet it was very necessary there should be a public instrument, to convince them of their impiety, and that they might be publicly confounded, when they were proved perfidious deserters, by shewing them, under their own hands, their engagements to future fidelity.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. IX.

We may make an wholesome application to ourselves of all the parts of this excellent prayer, and thence learn to praise and adore God, acknowledge his goodness to us, confess and bewail our sin and ingratitude, implore his assistance, and walk humbly before him.

Before
CHRIST
445.
Levites; the porters, the singers, the Nethinims, and all they that had separated themselves from the people of the lands unto the law of God, their wives, their sons, and their daughters, every one having knowledge, and having understanding;

29 They clave to their brethren, their nobles, and entered into a curse, and into an oath, to walk in God's law, which was given by Moses the servant of God, and to observe and do all the commandments of the LORD our Lord, and his judgments and his statutes;

30 And that we would not give our daughters unto the people of the land, nor take their daughters for our sons:

31 And if the people of the land bring ware or any victuals on the sabbath day to sell, that we would not buy it of them on the sabbath, or on the holy day: and that we would leave the seventh year, and the exaction of every debt.

32 Also we made ordinances for us, to charge ourselves yearly with the third part of a shekel for the service of the house of our God;

33 For the shewbread, and for the continual meat offering, and for the continual burnt offering, of the sabbaths, of the new moons, for the set feasts, and for the holy things, and for the sin offerings to make an atonement for Israel, and for all the work of the house of our God.

34 And we cast the lots among the priests, the Levites, and the people, for the wood offering, to bring it into the house of our God, after the houses of our fathers, at times appointed year by year, to burn upon the altar of the LORD our God, as it is written in the law:

35 And to bring the firstfruits of our ground, and the firstfruits of all fruit of all trees, year by year, unto the house of the LORD:

36 Also the firstborn of our sons, and of our cattle, as it is written in the law, and the firstlings of our herds and of our flocks, to bring to the house of our God, unto the priests that minister in the house of our God:

37 And that we should bring the firstfruits of our dough, and our offerings, and the fruit of all manner of trees, of wine and of oil unto the priests, to the chambers of the house of our God; and the tithes of our ground unto the Levites, that the same Levites might have the tithes in all the cities of our tillage.

38 And the priest the son of Aaron shall be with the Levites, when the Levites take tithes: and the Levites shall bring up the tithe of the tithes unto the house of our God, to the chambers, into the treasure house.

39 For the children of Israel and the children of Levi shall bring the offering of the corn, of the new wine, and the oil, unto the chambers, where are the vessels of the sanctuary, and the priests that minister, and the porters, and the singers: and we will not forsake the house of our God.

CHAP. XI.

1 The rulers, together with every tenth man taken by lot, and those that offered voluntarily, dwell at Jerusalem.

3 A catalogue of their names. 20 The residue of the people dwell in other cities.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. X.

39 They clave to their brethren, &c.] As there were too many to subscribe and seal the writing, they who did not subscribe and seal declared they were of the same mind with the others who had; and they owned by word of mouth what the rest had set their hands to, and said, it was their act and deed, as much as it was the act and deed of their nobles and brethren.

31 We would not buy it of them on the sabbath, &c.] As the Jews were at this time no more than subjects and servants, they could not hinder their heathen neighbours from bringing their wares on the sabbath-day into Jerusalem: they therefore resolved, and confirmed it with an oath, that they would buy none. However, they very soon broke their resolution, and violated their oath.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. X.

The covenant renewed by the Jews, should remind us of God's covenant, and our baptismal engagement to him as his servants: we

AND the rulers of the people dwelt at Jerusalem: the rest of the people also cast lots, to bring one of ten to dwell in Jerusalem the holy city, and nine parts to dwell in other cities. Before
CHRIST
445.

2 And the people blessed all the men, that willingly offered themselves to dwell at Jerusalem.

3 ¶ Now these are the chief of the province that dwelt in Jerusalem: but in the cities of Judah dwelt every one in his possession in their cities, to wit, Israel, the priests, and the Levites, and the Nethinims, and the children of Solomon's servants.

4 And at Jerusalem dwelt certain of the children of Judah, and of the children of Benjamin. Of the children of Judah; Athaiah the son of Uzziah, the son of Zechariah, the son of Amariah, the son of Shephatiah, the son of Mahalaleel, of the children of Perez;

5 And Maaseiah the son of Baruch, the son of Col-hozeh, the son of Hazaiah, the son of Adaiah, the son of Joiarib, the son of Zechariah, the son of Shiloni.

6 All the sons of Perez that dwelt at Jerusalem were four hundred threescore and eight valiant men.

7 And these are the sons of Benjamin; Sallu the son of Meshullam, the son of Joel, the son of Pedaiiah, the son of Kolaiah, the son of Maaseiah, the son of Ithiel, the son of Jeseiah.

8 And after him Gabbai, Sallai, nine hundred twenty and eight.

9 And Joel the son of Zichri was their overseer: and Judah the son of Senuah was second over the city.

10 Of the priests: Jedaiah the son of Joiarib, Jacin.

11 Seraiah the son of Hilkiah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, was the ruler of the house of God.

12 And their brethren that did the work of the house were eight hundred twenty and two: and Adnah the son of Jeroham, the son of Pelaliah, the son of Amzi, the son of Zechariah, the son of Pethur, the son of Malchiah,

13 And his brethren, chief of the fathers, two hundred forty and two: and Amathai the son of Azareel, the son of Ahafai, the son of Meshillemoth, the son of Immer,

14 And their brethren, mighty men of valour, an hundred twenty and eight: and their overseer was Zabdiel the son of one of the great men.

15 Also of the Levites: Shemaiah the son of Hashub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Bunni;

16 And Shabbethai and Jozabad, of the chief of the Levites, had the oversight of the outward business of the house of God.

17 And Mattaniah the son of Micha, the son of Zabdi, the son of Asaph, was the principal to begin the thanksgiving in prayer: and Bakbukiah the second among his brethren, and Abda the son of Shammua, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun.

18 All the Levites in the holy city were two hundred fourscore and four.

19 Moreover the porters, Akkub, Talmon, and their brethren that kept the gates, were an hundred seventy and two.

20 ¶ And should read his word, and beg his grace, that we may think upon his commandments, and do them; and offer to him not only external, but the internal service of the heart.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XI.

¶ And the rulers of the people dwelt at Jerusalem.] The inhabitants of the neighbouring countries were so restless in their designs to keep this city from rising to its former splendor, that it terrified many of the Jews from coming to dwell there, thinking themselves more safe in the country where their enemies had no pretence to disturb them: the rulers therefore of the people feared themselves at Jerusalem, inviting and encouraging others to live there.

The rest of the people also cast lots, &c.] There was still room for more citizens; and the city, considering how large it was, being very empty, they consulted to make it populous, by compelling every tenth man in Judah and Benjamin to quit their present habitations in the country, and to dwell in the city; for which end they cast lots.

Before
CHRIST
445.

20 ¶ And the residue of Israel, of the priests, and the Levites, were in all the cities of Judah, every one in his inheritance.

21 But the Nethinims dwelt in Ophel: and Ziha and Gispa were over the Nethinims.

22 The overseer also of the Levites at Jerusalem was Uzzi the son of Bani, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Micha. Of the sons of Asaph, the singers were over the business of the house of God.

23 For it was the king's commandment concerning them, that a certain portion should be for the singers, due for every day.

24 And Pethahiah the son of Meshezabeel, of the children of Zerah the son of Judah, was at the king's hand in all matters concerning the people.

25 And for the villages, with their fields, some of the children of Judah dwelt at Kirjath-arba, and in the villages thereof, and at Dibon, and in the villages thereof, and at Jekabzeel, and in the villages thereof,

26 And at Jeshua, and at Moladab, and at Beth-phelet,

27 And at Hazar-shual, and at Beer-sheba, and in the villages thereof,

28 And at Ziklag, and at Mekonah, and in the villages thereof,

29 And at En-rimmon, and at Zareah, and at Jarmuth,

30 Zanoah, Adullam, and in their villages, at Lachish, and the fields thereof, at Azekah, and in the villages thereof. And they dwelt from Beer-sheba unto the valley of Hinnom.

31 The children also of Benjamin from Geba dwelt at Michmash, and Aija, and Beth-el, and in their villages,

32 And at Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah,

33 Hazor, Ramah, Gittaim,

34 Hadid, Zeboim, Neballat,

35 Lod, and Ono, the valley of craftsmen.

36 And of the Levites were divisions in Judah, and in Benjamin.

C H A P. XII.

1 The priests, and the Levites, which came up with Zerubbabel. 10 The succession of high priests. 22 Certain chief Levites in the days of Nehemiah and Ezra. 27 The solemnity of the dedication of the wall. 44 The offices of the priests and Levites appointed in the temple.

NOW these are the priests and the Levites that went up with Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua: Seraiah, Jeremiah, Ezra,

2 Amariah, Malluch, Hattush,

3 Shechaniah, Rehum, Meremoth,

4 Iddo, Ginnetho, Abijah,

5 Miamin, Maadiah, Bilgah,

6 Shemaiah, and Joiarib, Jedaiah,

7 Sallu, Amok, Hilkiyah, Jedaiah. These were the chief of the priests and of their brethren in the days of Jeshua.

8 Moreover the Levites: Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Judah, and Mattaniah, which was over the thanksgiving, he and his brethren.

9 Also Bakkukiah and Unni, their brethren, were over against them in the watches.

10 ¶ And Jeshua begat Joiakim, Joiakim also begat Eliashib, and Eliashib begat Joiada, 11 And Joiada begat Jonathan, and Jonathan begat Jaddua.

12 And in the days of Joiakim were priests, the chief of the fathers: of Seraiah, Meraiah; of Jeremiah, Hananiah;

13 Of Ezra, Meshullam; of Amariah, Jehonah;

14 Of Melicu, Jonathan; of Shebaniah, Joseph;

15 Of Harim, Adna; of Meraioth, Helkai;

16 Of Iddo, Zechariah; of Ginnethon, Meshullam;

17 Of Abijah, Zichri; of Miniamin; of Moadiah, Piltai;

18 Of Bilgah, Shammua; of Shemaiah, Jehonathan;

19 And of Joiarib, Mattenai; of Jedaiah, Uzzi;

20 Of Sallai, Kallai; of Amok, Eber;

21 Of Hilkiyah, Hashabiah; of Jedaiah, Nethaneel.

22 ¶ The Levites in the days of Eliashib, Joiada, and Johanan, and Jaddua, were recorded chief of the fathers: also the priests, to the reign of Darius the Persian.

23 The sons of Levi, the chief of the fathers, were written in the book of the chronicles, even until the days of Johanan the son of Eliashib.

24 And the chief of the Levites: Hashabiah, Sherebiah, and Jeshua the son of Kadmiel, with their brethren over against them, to praise and to give thanks, according to the commandment of David the man of God, ward over against ward.

25 Mattaniah, and Bakkukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon, Akkub, were porters keeping the ward at the thresholds of the gates.

26 These were in the days of Joiakim the son of Jeshua, the son of Jozadak, and in the days of Nehemiah the governor, and of Ezra the priest, the scribe.

27 ¶ And at the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem they sought the Levites out of all their places, to bring them to Jerusalem, to keep the dedication with gladness, both with thanksgivings, and with singing, with cymbals, psalteries, and with harps.

28 And the sons of the singers gathered themselves together, both out of the plain country round about Jerusalem, and from the villages of Netophathi;

29 Also from the house of Gilgal, and out of the fields of Geba and Azmaveth: for the singers had builded them villages round about Jerusalem.

30 And the priests and the Levites purified themselves, and purified the people, and the gates, and the wall.

31 Then I brought up the princes of Judah upon the wall, and appointed two great companies of them that gave thanks, whereof one went on the right hand upon the wall toward the dung gate:

32 And after them went Hoshaiah, and half of the princes of Judah,

33 And Azariah, Ezra, and Meshullam,

34 Judah, and Benjamin, and Shemaiah, and Jeremiah,

35 And certain of the priests' sons with trumpets; namely, Zechariah the son of Jonathan, the son of Shemaiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Michaiah, the son of Zaccur, the son of Asaph:

36 And his brethren, Shemaiah, and Azarael, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethaneel, and Judah, Hanani, with the musical instruments of David the man of God, and Ezra the scribe before them.

37 And at the fountain gate, which was over against them,

24 Was at the king's hand, &c.] He transacted the business of the city for the king; or was appointed by the king of Persia to receive and answer all petitions from the people, or to hear all causes in civil matters between the king and them.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XI.

We must observe, that the lots here referred to were allowed to be under the divine direction in important cases; but this by no means authorizes to use the same means for deciding difficult points or questions in our day, lest we be found to tempt God; but rather let us walk in his fear and in his ways, and leave events to the divine Providence, who has said, "I will never leave you, nor forsake you."

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XII.

11 Jaddua.] This is the same person who met Alexander the Great, in his pontifical habit, he came from the conquest of Tyre and Gaza, and procured from that monarch great privileges for the Jewish nation.

27 At the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem, &c.] Nehemiah, having put all things in good order, dedicated the city as a place which God himself had chosen, and restored it to him again, after it had been profaned by the devastations of the heathen.

31 I brought up the princes of Judah upon the wall, and appointed two great companies of them, &c.] He separated the priests, Levites, and princes of the people, into two companies, of which walked to the right hand, and the other to the left, the top of the walls; the two companies met in the temple, and there they stood still and completed their thanksgivings with sacrifices.

them, they went up by the stairs of the city of David, at the going up of the wall, above the house of David, even unto the water gate eastward.

38 And the other company of them that gave thanks went over against them, and I after them, and the half of the people upon the wall, from beyond the tower of the furnaces even unto the broad wall;

39 And from above the gate of Ephraim, and above the old gate, and above the fish gate, and the tower of Hananeel, and the tower of Meah, even unto the sheep gate: and they stood still in the prison gate.

40 So stood the two companies of them that gave thanks in the house of God, and I, and the half of the rulers with me:

41 And the priests; Eliakim, Maaseiah, Miniamin, Michaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah, and Hananiah, with trumpets;

42 And Maaseiah, and Shemaiah, and Eleazar, and Uzzi, and Jehohanan, and Malchijah, and Elam, and Ezer. And the singers sang loud, with Jezrahiah their overseer.

43 Also that day they offered great sacrifices, and rejoiced: for God had made them rejoice with great joy: the wives also and the children rejoiced: so that the joy of Jerusalem was heard even afar off.

44 ¶ And at that time were some appointed over the chambers for the treasures, for the offerings, for the firstfruits, and for the tithes, to gather into them out of the fields of the cities the portions of the law for the priests and Levites: for Judah rejoiced for the priests and for the Levites that waited.

45 And both the singers and the porters kept the ward of their God, and the ward of the purification, according to the commandment of David, and of Solomon his son.

46 For in the days of David and Asaph of old there were chief of the singers, and songs of praise and thanksgiving unto God.

47 And all Israel in the days of Zerubbabel, and in the days of Nehemiah, gave the portions of the singers and the porters, every day his portion, and they sanctified holy things unto the Levites; and the Levites sanctified them unto the children of Aaron.

CHAP. XIII.

¶ Upon reading the law Israel is separated from the mixed multitude. 4 Eliashib having in Nehemiah's absence prepared a chamber in the temple for Tobiah, Nehemiah on his return is offended, and causeth the chambers to be cleansed. 10 He reformeth certain abuses concerning tithes, 15 the violation of the sabbath, 23 and the marriages with strange wives.

ON that day they read in the book of Moses in the audience of the people; and therein was found written, that the Ammonite and the Moabite should not come into the congregation of God for ever;

2 Because they met not the children of Israel with bread and with water, but hired Balaam against them, that he should curse them: howbeit our God turned the curse into a blessing.

43 The joy of Jerusalem was heard even afar off.] The report of it was spread into far distant countries.

45 The singers and the porters kept the word of their God, &c.] The former sung usually in their courts, and praised God, and the latter duly observed the orders about purification, in not suffering any unclean person or thing to come into the house of God.

47 They sanctified holy things unto the Levites, &c.] The people set apart the tenth part of their harvest for the use of the Levites, and the Levites separated from their tithes, the tenth part of them for the priests, according to the law of Moses.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XII. We are taught, from this chapter, to render homage to the Lord, for all the temporal advantages we enjoy; and to look upon his protection as the fountain of all the happiness, and of all the security, both of cities and states: we should honour him with our substance, promote his religion and service, and labour to advance his glory.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XIII.

1 On that day they read in the book of Moses.] Not immediately after the dedication, but some time after Nehemiah was returned from Persia.

No. 36.

3 Now it came to pass, when they had heard the law, that they separated from Israel all the mixed multitude. Before CHRIST 445.

4 ¶ And before this, Eliashib the priest, having the oversight of the chamber of the house of our God, was allied unto Tobiah:

5 And he had prepared for him a great chamber, where aforetime they laid the meat offerings, the frankincense, and the vessels, and the tithes of the corn, the new wine, and the oil, which was commanded to be given to the Levites, and the singers, and the porters, and the offerings of the priests.

6 But in all this time was not I at Jerusalem: for in the two and thirtieth year of Artaxerxes king of Babylon came I unto the king, and after certain days obtained I leave of the king:

7 And I came to Jerusalem, and understood of the evil that Eliashib did for Tobiah, in preparing him a chamber in the courts of the house of God.

8 And it grieved me sore: therefore I cast forth all the household stuff of Tobiah out of the chamber.

9 Then I commanded, and they cleansed the chambers: and thither brought I again the vessels of the house of God, with the meat offering and the frankincense.

10 ¶ And I perceived that the portions of the Levites had not been given them: for the Levites and the singers, that did the work, were fled every one to his field.

11 Then contended I with the rulers, and said, Why is the house of God forsaken? And I gathered them together, and set them in their place.

12 Then brought all Judah the tithes of the corn and the new wine and the oil unto the treasures.

13 And I made treasurers over the treasures, Shelemiah the priest, and Zadok the scribe, and of the Levites, Pedaiah: and next to them was Hanan the son of Zaccur, the son of Mattaniah: for they were counted faithful, and their office was to distribute unto their brethren.

14 Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and wipe not out my good deeds that I have done for the house of my God, and for the offices thereof.

15 ¶ In those days saw I in Judah some treading wine presses on the sabbath, and bringing in sheaves, and lading asses; as also wine, grapes, and figs, and all manner of burdens, which they brought into Jerusalem on the sabbath day: and I testified against them in the day wherein they sold victuals.

16 There dwelt men of Tyre also therein, which brought fish, and all manner of ware, and sold on the sabbath unto the children of Judah, and in Jerusalem.

17 Then I contended with the nobles of Judah, and said unto them, What evil thing is this that ye do, and profane the sabbath day?

18 Did not your fathers thus, and did not our God bring all this evil upon us, and upon this city? yet ye bring more wrath upon Israel by profaning the sabbath.

19 And it came to pass, that when the gates of Jerusalem began to be dark before the sabbath, I commanded that the gates should be shut, and charged that they Should not come into the congregation of God, &c.] This phrase must be understood to mean no more than a prohibition of marriage; for this (according to their rabbins) was the case of such prohibitions. none of the house of Israel, of either sex, were to enter into marriage with any Gentiles, of what nation soever, unless they were first converted to their religion, and become intire profelytes to it; and even in that case some were debarred from it for ever, others only in part, and others again only for a limited time.

4 Eliashib the priest, having the oversight of the chamber of the house of our God.] By "the oversight of the chambers of the house of God," we may understand the whole government of the temple, which certainly belonged to the high priest only.

6 In all this time was not I at Jerusalem, &c.] They took this bold step while Nehemiah was retired to the court of Persia.

11 Then contended I, &c.] He expostulated with, and reproved them.

20 So the merchants and sellers of all kind of ware lodged without Jerusalem once or twice.

21 Then I testified against them, and said unto them, Why lodge ye about the wall ? if ye do so again, I will lay hands on you. From that time forth came they no more on the sabbath.

22 And I commanded the Levites that they should cleanse themselves, and that they should come and keep the gates to sanctify the sabbath day. Remember me, O my God, concerning this also, and spare me according to the greatness of thy mercy.

23 ¶ In those days also saw I Jews that had married wives of Ashdod, of Ammon, and of Moab :

24 And their children spake half in the speech of Ashdod, and could not speak in the Jews' language, but according to the language of each people.

25 And I contended with them, and cursed them, and smote certain of them, and plucked off their hair, and made them swear by God, saying, Ye shall not give

And plucked off their hair, &c.] Plucking off their hair, was putting them to shame, and making them appear like slaves.

26 Did not Solomon king of Israel sin by these things? yet among many nations was there no king like him, who was beloved of his God, and God made him king over all Israel : nevertheless even him did outlandish women cause to sin :

27 Shall we then hearken unto you to do all this great evil, to transgress against our God in marrying strange wives ?

28 And one of the sons of Joiada, the son of Eliashib the high priest, was son in law to Sanballat the H. ronite : therefore I chafed him from me.

29 Remember them, O my God, because they have defiled the priesthood, and the covenant of the priesthood, and of the Levites.

30 Thus cleansed I them from all strangers, and appointed the wards of the priest and the Levites, every one in his business ;

31 And for the wood offering, at times appointed, and for the firstfruits. Remember me, O my God, for good.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XIII.

From the substance of this chapter, we may collect, that if magistrates employ their authority to suppress vice, promote piety, order the profanation of the sabbath, unlawful marriages, and any thing contrary to the law of God and good order, God will remember them for good, and preserve them in the evil day.

The Book of ESTHER.

THE ARGUMENT.

The subject of this book is the history of Esther, a Jewish captive virgin, who, for her transcendent beauty, was advanced to the throne of Persia, and by her interest with her royal husband Ahasuerus, (supposed to be the same with Artaxerxes) procured to her countrymen a wonderful deliverance from Haman's intended massacre. Some ascribe this book to Ezra, others to Mordecai : but the more probable opinion is, that the great synagogue ordered it to be composed, and afterwards admitted it into the sacred canon.

CHAP. I.

1 Ahasuerus's royal feasts. 10 Vashti refuseth to come, when sent for by the king. 13 The king consulteth with his wise men concerning this act of disobedience, and by the advice of Memucan putteth away Vashti, and asserteth by a decree the sovereignty of men over their wives.

Before CHRIST 521. NOW it came to pass in the days of Ahasuerus (this is Ahasuerus which reigned, from India even unto Ethiopia, over an hundred and seven and twenty provinces :)

2 That in those days, when the king Ahasuerus sat on the throne of his kingdom, which was in Shushan the palace,

3 In the third year of his reign, he made a feast unto all his princes and his servants ; the power of Persia and Media, the nobles and princes of the provinces, being before him :

4 When he shewed the riches of his glorious kingdom and the honour of his excellent majesty many days, even an hundred and fourscore days.

5 And when these days were expired, the king made a feast unto all the people that were present in Shushan the palace, both unto great and small, seven days, in the court of the garden of the king's palace ;

6 Where were white, green, and blue hangings, fastened with cords of fine linen and purple to silver rings, and pillars of marble : the beds were of gold and silver, upon a pavement of red, and blue, and white, and black marble.

7 And they gave them drink in vessels of gold, (the vessels being diverse one from another,) and royal wine in abundance, according to the state of the king.

8 And the drinking was according to the law ; none did compel : for so the king had appointed to all the officers of his house, that they should do according to every man's pleasure.

9 Also Vashti the queen made a feast for the women in the royal house which belonged to king Ahasuerus.

10 ¶ On the seventh day, when the heart of the king was merry with wine, he commanded Memucan, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, the seven chamberlains that served in the presence of Ahasuerus the king,

11 To bring Vashti the queen before the king with the crown royal, to shew the people and princes her beauty : for she was fair to look on.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. I.

3 He made a feast unto all his princes and his servants, &c.] The occasion of this is intimated in the foregoing verse, where we read,

"When the king Ahasuerus sat on the throne of his kingdom," i. e. enjoying peace and tranquility throughout his large dominions.

6 The beds were of gold and silver, &c.] The beds were of the softest wool, but the bedsteads were studded or overlaid with gold and silver.

12 But the queen Vashti refused to come at the king's commandment by his chamberlains: therefore was the king very wroth, and his anger burned in him.

13 ¶ Then the king said to the wise men, which knew the times, (for so was the king's manner toward all that knew law and judgment:

14 And the next unto him was Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena, and Memucan, the seven princes of Persia and Media, which saw the king's face, and which sat the first in the kingdom;)

15 What shall we do unto the queen Vashti according to law, because she hath not performed the commandment of the king Ahasuerus by the chamberlains?

16 And Memucan answered before the king and the princes, Vashti the queen hath not done wrong to the king only, but also to all the princes, and to all the people that are in all the provinces of the king Ahasuerus.

17 For this deed of the queen shall come abroad unto all women, so that they shall despise their husbands in their eyes, when it shall be reported, The king Ahasuerus commanded Vashti the queen to be brought in before him, but she came not.

18 Likewise shall the ladies of Persia and Media say this day unto all the king's princes, which have heard of the deed of the queen. Thus shall there arise too much contempt and wrath.

19 If it please the king, let there go a royal commandment from him, and let it be written among the laws of the Persians and the Medes, that it be not altered, That Vashti come no more before king Ahasuerus; and let the king give her royal estate unto another that is better than she.

20 And when the king's decree which he shall make shall be published throughout all his empire, (for it is great,) all the wives shall give to their husbands honour, both to great and small.

21 And the saying pleased the king and the princes; and the king did according to the word of Memucan:

22 For he sent letters into all the king's provinces, into every province according to the writing thereof, and to every people after their language, that every man should bear rule in his own house, and that it should be published according to the language of every people.

CHAP. II.

1 By advice of his servants Ahasuerus appointeth the fair virgins of his kingdom to be assembled in order to choose out a queen. 5 Esther brought up by Mordecai. 8 She is preferred by Hegai keeper of the women before all the other virgins, but by Mordecai's directions telleth not her kindred. 12 The manner of purification and going in unto the king. 15 Esther pleaseth him, and is made queen. 21 Mordecai discovereth a plot against the king's life, which service is registered in the chronicles of the kingdom.

AFTER these things, when the wrath of king Ahasuerus was appeased, he remembered Vashti, and what she had done, and what was decreed against her.

2 Then said the king's servants that ministered unto him, Let there be fair young virgins sought for the king:

3 And let the king appoint officers in all the provinces of his kingdom, that they may gather together all the fair young virgins unto Shushan the palace, to the house of the women, unto the custody of Hegai the king's chamberlain, keeper of the women; and let their things for purification be given them:

4 And let the maiden which pleaseth the king be queen instead of Vashti. And the thing pleased the king: and he did so.

5 ¶ Now in Shushan the palace there was a certain Jew, whose name was Mordecai, the son of Jair, the son of Shimei, the son of Kish, a Benjamite;

6 Who had been carried away from Jerusalem with the captivity which had been carried away with Jeconiah king of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away.

7 And he brought up Hadassah, that is, Esther, his uncle's daughter: for she had neither father nor mother, and the maid was fair and beautiful; whom Mordecai, when her father and mother were dead, took for his own daughter.

8 ¶ So it came to pass, when the king's commandment and his decree was heard, and when many maidens were gathered together unto Shushan the palace, to the custody of Hegai, that Esther was brought also unto the king's house, to the custody of Hegai, keeper of the women.

9 And the maiden pleased him, and she obtained kindness of him; and he speedily gave her her things for purification, with such things as belonged to her, and seven maidens, which were meet to be given her, out of the king's house: and he preferred her and her maids unto the best place of the house of the women.

10 Esther had not shewed her people nor her kindred: for Mordecai had charged her that she should not shew it.

11 And Mordecai walked every day before the court of the women's house, to know how Esther did, and what should become of her.

12 ¶ Now when every maid's turn was come to go in to king Ahasuerus, after that she had been twelve months, according to the manner of the women, (for so were the days of their purifications accomplished, to wit, six months with oil of myrrh, and six months with sweet odours, and with other things for the purifying of the women;)

13 Then thus came every maiden unto the king; whatsoever she desired was given her to go with her out of the house of the women unto the king's house.

14 In the evening she went, and on the morrow she returned into the second house of the women, to the custody of Shaashgaz, the king's chamberlain, which kept the concubines: she came in unto the king no more, except the king delighted in her, and that she were called by name.

15 ¶ Now when the turn of Esther, the daughter of Abihail the uncle of Mordecai, who had taken her for his daughter, was come to go in unto the king, she required nothing but what Hegai the king's chamberlain, the keeper of the women, appointed. And Esther obtained

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. II.

2 Let there be fair young virgins, &c.] When they saw the king afflicted, and his former love for Vashti beginning to revive, they contrived by a new love to blot out the remembrance of the old.

7 He brought up Hadassah, that is, Esther, &c.] This woman was a Jewess, but born in Babylon, and therefore, in analogy to that language, they gave her the name of Hadassah, which in Chaldee signifies a myrtle; but her Persian name was Esther.

10 Mordecai had charged her that she should not shew it.] Lest she should be despised, and looked upon no better than a slave.

12 Six months with oil of myrrh, and six months with sweet odours, &c.] These were used to make the skin smooth and soft, yield a fragrant smell, and (according to some) render the person amorous.

15 She required nothing, &c.] She was contented with her own natural beauty, and desired nothing of art or ornament to set her off.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. I.

We learn hence, and from the ensuing part of this history, that the Lord humbles and exalts whom he pleases, and raises up persons to protect and labour for the good of his church.

16 So Esther was taken unto king Ahasuerus into his house royal in the tenth month, which is the month Tebeth, in the seventh year of his reign.

17 And the king loved Esther above all the women, and she obtained grace and favour in his sight more than all the virgins; so that he set the royal crown upon her head, and made her queen instead of Vashti.

514. 18 Then the king made a great feast unto all his princes and his servants, even Esther's feast; and he made a release to the provinces, and gave gifts, according to the state of the king.

19 And when the virgins were gathered together the second time, then Mordecai sat in the king's gate.

20 Esther had not yet shewed her kindred nor her people; as Mordecai had charged her: for Esther did the commandment of Mordecai, like as when she was brought up with him.

21 ¶ In those days, while Mordecai sat in the king's gate, two of the king's chamberlains, Bigthan and Teresh, of those which kept the door, were wroth, and sought to lay hands on the king Ahasuerus.

22 And the thing was known to Mordecai, who told it unto Esther the queen; and Esther certified the king thereof in Mordecai's name.

23 And when inquisition was made of the matter, it was found out; therefore they were both hanged on a tree: and it was written in the book of the chronicles before the king.

CHAP. III.

1 Haman, advanced by the king, bath great respect paid him by all but Mordecai, on whose account he seeketh revenge upon the whole Jewish nation. 7 He casteth lots to fix the time for executing his purposes. 8 By calumniating the Jews he obtaineth a commission from the king to extirpate them.

510. AFTER these things did king Ahasuerus promote Haman the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, and advanced him, and set his seat above all the princes that were with him.

2 And all the king's servants, that were in the king's gate, bowed, and revered Haman: for the king had so commanded concerning him. But Mordecai bowed not, nor did him reverence.

3 Then the king's servants, which were in the king's gate, said unto Mordecai, Why transgressest thou the king's commandment?

4 Now it came to pass, when they spake daily unto him, and he hearkened not unto them, that they told Haman, to see whether Mordecai's matters would stand: for he had told them that he was a Jew.

16 Esther was taken unto king Ahasuerus into his house royal, &c.] The king kept her in his own house. This monarch seems to have had but one wife (at least but one whom he chiefly esteemed), though a great number of secondary wives or concubines.

18 Esther's feast; and he made a release to the provinces, and gave gifts, &c.] He remitted to some of the provinces the duties and imposts they were bound to pay him.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. II.

In this chapter we see a marvellous work of divine Providence, in that the important service of Mordecai should be recorded in the public records, and matters so disposed, that the discovery he had made should prove the means of his preferment, and the deliverance of the Jews.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. III.

1 After these things.] About five years after, as appears from ver. 7. Haman the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, &c.] He was descended from the royal race of the Amalekite kings.

2 Mordecai bowed not, nor did him reverence.] The reason of this disrespect is supposed not to proceed from contumacy or pride; but because he would not prefer the glory of man to the glory of God, nor pay undue homage to a creature.

4 To see whether Mordecai's matters would stand, &c.] Whether he would persist in his disrespectful behaviour, and what would be the issue of it.

7 In the first month—they cast Pur, that is, the lot, before Haman, &c.] Haman endeavoured to find what time in the year was most favourable

5 And when Haman saw that Mordecai bowed not, nor did him reverence, then was Haman full of wrath.

6 And he thought scorn to lay hands on Mordecai alone; for they had shewed him the people of Mordecai: wherefore Haman sought to destroy all the Jews that were throughout the whole kingdom of Ahasuerus, even the people of Mordecai.

7 ¶ In the first month, that is, the month Nisan, in the twelfth year of king Ahasuerus, they cast Pur, that is, the lot, before Haman from day to day, and from month to month, to the twelfth month, that is, the month Adar.

8 ¶ And Haman said unto king Ahasuerus, There is a certain people scattered abroad and dispersed among the people in all the provinces of thy kingdom; and their laws are diverse from all people; neither keep they the king's laws: therefore it is not for the king's profit to suffer them.

9 If it please the king, let it be written that they may be destroyed: and I will pay ten thousand talents of silver to the hands of those that have the charge of the business, to bring it into the king's treasuries.

10 And the king took his ring from his hand, and gave it unto Haman the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, the Jews' enemy.

11 And the king said unto Haman, The silver is given to thee, the people also, to do with them as it seemeth good to thee.

12 Then were the king's scribes called on the thirteenth day of the first month, and there was written according to all that Haman had commanded unto the king's lieutenants, and to the governors that were over every province, and to the rulers of every people of every province according to the writing thereof, and to every people after their language; in the name of king Ahasuerus was it written, and sealed with the king's ring.

13 And the letters were sent by posts into all the king's provinces, to destroy, to kill, and to cause to perish, all Jews, both young and old, little children and women, in one day, even upon the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is the month Adar, and to take the spoil of them for a prey.

14 The copy of the writing for a commandment to be given in every province was published unto all people, that they should be ready against that day.

15 The posts went out, being hastened by the king's commandment, and the decree was given in Shushan the palace. And the king and Haman sat down to drink; but the city Shushan was perplexed.

CHAP. IV.

1 The great mourning of Mordecai and the Jews. 4 Esther sendeth to Mordecai to enquire the reason, is informed thereof, to the Jews, and what most unlucky: and first, he enquired what month was most unfortunate, and found the month Adar, which was the last month in the year, answerable to our February; for there was no festival solemnity in this month, nor was it sanctified by any peculiarities; and then he enquired the day, and found the thirteenth day was inauspicious to them, see ver. 13.

9 And I will pay ten thousand talents of silver, &c.] It was not his intention to advance this vast sum himself, but to raise it out of the spoil of the goods belonging to the Jews.

15 The city Shushan was perplexed.] Besides the Jews, many others in Shushan might be concerned at this horrid decree, either because they were related to them, or engaged with them in worldly concerns, or perhaps out of mere humanity and compassion to so great a number of innocent people, now appointed as sheep for the slaughter: they might apprehend likewise, that, upon the execution of the decree, some sedition or tumult might ensue; that in so great a slaughter it was hard to tell who would escape without being killed or plundered, because they who were employed in this bloody work would probably be more mindful to enrich themselves, than to observe the orders given them.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. III.

“Man's extremity is God's opportunity:” this saying is frequently verified in God's dealings with his people: he sometimes suffers cruel princes to persecute his church, and reduce the faithful almost to the brink of despair, in order that his power may appear more wonderful in their deliverance, and in the ruin of their oppressors.

thereof, and advised by him to intercede with the king for the nation. 10 She at first excuseth herself, but being admonished of the consequences by Mordecai, 15 appointeth a fast, and undertaketh the suit.

WHEN Mordecai perceived all that was done, Mordecai rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth with ashes, and went out into the midst of the city, and cried with a loud and a bitter cry;

2 And came even before the king's gate: for none might enter into the king's gate clothed with sackcloth.

3 And in every province, whithersoever the king's commandment and his decree came, there was great mourning among the Jews, and fasting, and weeping, and wailing; and many lay in sackcloth and ashes.

4 ¶ So Esther's maids and her chamberlains came and told it her. Then was the queen exceedingly grieved; and she sent raiment to clothe Mordecai, and to take away his sackcloth from him: but he received it not.

5 Then called Esther for Hatach, one of the king's chamberlains, whom he had appointed to attend upon her, and gave him a commandment to Mordecai, to know what it was, and why it was.

6 So Hatach went forth to Mordecai unto the street of the city, which was before the king's gate.

7 And Mordecai told him of all that had happened unto him, and of the sum of the money that Haman had promised to pay to the king's treasuries for the Jews, to destroy them.

8 Also he gave him the copy of the writing of the decree that was given at Shushan to destroy them, to shew it unto Esther, and to declare it unto her, and to charge her that she should go in unto the king, to make supplication unto him, and to make request before him for her people.

9 And Hatach came and told Esther the words of Mordecai.

10 ¶ Again Esther spake unto Hatach, and gave him commandment unto Mordecai;

11 All the king's servants, and the people of the king's provinces, do know, that whosoever, whether man or woman, shall come unto the king into the inner court, who is not called, there is one law of his to put him to death, except such to whom the king shall hold out the golden sceptre, that he may live: but I have not been called to come in unto the king these thirty days.

12 And they told to Mordecai Esther's words.

13 Then Mordecai commanded to answer Esther, Think not with thyself that thou shalt escape in the king's house, more than all the Jews.

14 For if thou altogether holdest thy peace at this time, then shall there enlargement and deliverance arise to the Jews from another place; but thou and thy father's house shall be destroyed: and who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdom for such a time as this?

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. IV.

4 She sent raiment to clothe Mordecai, and to take away his sackcloth, &c.] That he might come to court, and take his place in the gate.

11 Whosoever, whether man or woman, shall come unto the king into the inner court, &c.] One reason for this law might be, that the great officers might engross the king to themselves, by allowing admittance to none, but whom they should think proper to introduce.

14 Who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdom for such a time as this? He trusted that God would by some means or other save them from utter destruction; and intimated, that God had raised her up to the dignity she was in, on purpose that she might be the deliverer of her people.

16 Neither eat or drink three days, night or day.] By this injunction, is not to be understood a total abstinence from food; but that they should eat and drink no more than would suffice to sustain nature, and support them in prayer to God for a blessing upon her undertaking.

If I perish, I perish.] This is not a speech of despondency, but of courage and resolution; as if she had said, I am content to perish in so good a cause.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. IV.

This chapter teaches us, that nothing should be dearer to us than No. 37.

15 ¶ Then Esther bade them return Mordecai this answer,

16 Go, gather together all the Jews that are present in Shushan, and fast ye for me, and neither eat or drink three days, night or day: I also and my maidens will fast likewise; and so will I go in unto the king, which is not according to the law: and if I perish, I perish.

17 So Mordecai went his way, and did according to all that Esther had commanded him:

CHAP. V.

¶ Esther, venturing to appear uncalled before the king in the inner court, is graciously received, and promised the grant of her request: she inviteth the king and Haman to a banquet. 6 Being encouraged by the king to name her suit, she inviteth him and Haman to another banquet the next day. 9 Haman, though proud of the distinctions shewn him, repineth at and complaineth to his friends of Mordecai's neglect. 14 By the advice of his wife and friends he prepareth for him a gallows.

NOW it came to pass on the third day, that Esther put on her royal apparel, and stood in the inner court of the king's house, over against the king's house: and the king sat upon his royal throne in the royal house, over against the gate of the house.

2 And it was so, when the king saw Esther the queen standing in the court, that she obtained favour in his sight: and the king held out to Esther the golden sceptre that was in his hand. So Esther drew near, and touched the top of the sceptre.

3 Then said the king unto her, What wilt thou, queen Esther? and what is thy request? it shall be even given thee to the half of the kingdom.

4 And Esther answered, If it seem good unto the king, let the king and Haman come this day unto the banquet that I have prepared for him.

5 Then the king said, Cause Haman to make haste, that he may do as Esther hath said. So the king and Haman came to the banquet that Esther had prepared.

6 ¶ And the king said unto Esther at the banquet of wine, What is thy petition? and it shall be granted thee: and what is thy request? even to the half of the kingdom it shall be performed.

7 Then answered Esther, and said, My petition and my request is;

¶ If I have found favour in the sight of the king, and if it please the king to grant my petition, and to perform my request, let the king and Haman come to the banquet that I shall prepare for them, and I will do to morrow as the king hath said.

9 ¶ Then went Haman forth that day joyful and with a glad heart: but when Haman saw Mordecai in the king's gate, that he stood not up, nor moved for him, he was full of indignation against Mordecai.

10 Nevertheless Haman refrained himself: and when he came home, he sent and called for his friends, and Zeresh his wife.

11 And

the interest of the church; that in times of danger, we should have recourse to the Lord in prayer; that he can turn the hearts of men, even of kings, and deliver his people when they least expect it; and that when the wicked seem to be more firmly rooted than ever, and to oppress good men without control, their ruin is then near at hand, and their crimes bring upon them sudden destruction.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. V.

¶ Esther drew near, and touched the top of the sceptre.] The queen's touching or killing the sceptre was a token of her subjection and thankfulness for his favour.

6 At the banquet of wine, &c.] At the conclusion of the entertainment; for they did not drink wine, but water, at the beginning of their feasts.

8 Let the king and Haman come to the banquet that I shall prepare for them, and I will, &c.] She thought it a piece of no bad policy to invite his first favourite to come along with him. The singular providence of God in the whole matter is not a little conspicuous, which had so disposed her mind, that the high honour which the king bestowed upon Mordecai the next day might fall out in the mean time, and so make way for her petition, which would come in very seasonably at the banquet of wine.

4 ¶ And the king said, Who is in the court? Now Haman was come into the outward court of the king's house, to speak unto the king to hang Mordecai on the gallows that he had prepared for him.

5 And the king's servants said unto him, Behold, Haman standeth in the court. And the king said, Let him come in.

6 So Haman came in. And the king said unto him, What shall be done unto the man whom the king delighteth to honour? Now Haman thought in his heart, To whom would the king delight to do honour more than to myself?

7 And Haman answered the king, For the man whom the king delighteth to honour,

12 Yea, Esther the queen did let no man come in with the king unto the banquet that she had prepared but myself, &c.] In the life of Artaxerxes, Plutarch tells us, that none but the king's mother and his real wife were permitted to sit at his table: so that this particular favour was a matter that Haman had some reason to value himself upon.

13 Yet all this availeth me nothing, so long as I see Mordecai the Jew, &c.] Herein did the wife and powerful providence of God appear, that it disposed Haman's heart, (contrary to his own inclination and interest) instead of employing his power against his enemy, to put fetters, as it were, upon his own hands.

14 Fifty cubits high, &c.] That men might at a great distance see him, to the increase of his disgrace, (as Haman might think) and that, struck with the greater terror at that spectacle, others might not dare for the future to despise him.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. V.

From this chapter we learn, that "pride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall;" that while wicked men are plotting the destruction of their neighbours, God often counteracts and defeats their designs; and that nothing is more dangerous than the example of those who have cast off the fear of God.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VI.

1 He commanded to bring the book of records of the chronicles, &c.] God, in his wonderful providence, so ordered it that the king could not sleep; but in the night-time called for the records of the kingdom, which were the diaries now call journals, wherein was set down what passed every day; and the manner of the Persians was, to record in them the names of the persons who had done the king any signal service.

¶ It was found written, that Mordecai had told of Bigthana and

8 Let the royal apparel be brought which the king useth to wear, and the horse that the king rideth upon, and the crown royal which is set upon his head:

9 And let this apparel and horse be delivered to the hand of one of the king's most noble princes, that they may array the man withal whom the king delighteth to honour, and bring him on horseback through the street of the city, and proclaim before him, Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king delighteth to honour.

10 Then the king said to Haman, Make haste, and take the apparel and the horse, thou hast said, and do even so to Mordecai the Jew, that sitteth at the king's gate: let nothing fail of all that thou hast spoken.

11 Then took Haman the apparel and the horse, and arrayed Mordecai, and brought him on horseback through the street of the city, and proclaimed before him, Thus shall it be done unto the man whom the king delighteth to honour.

12 ¶ And Mordecai came again to the king's gate. But Haman hastened to his house mourning, and having his head covered.

13 And Haman told Zeresh his wife and all his friends every thing that had befallen him. Then said his wife men and Zeresh his wife unto him, If Mordecai be of the seed of the Jews, before whom thou hast begun to fall, thou shalt not prevail against him, but shalt surely fall before him.

14 And while they were yet talking with him, came the king's chamberlains, and hastened to bring Haman unto the banquet that Esther had prepared.

C H A P. VII.

1 Esther at the banquet maketh suit to the king for her own life, and for the life of her people. 5 Esther accuseth Haman. 7 The king in wrath, being told of the gallows prepared for Mordecai, causeth Haman to be hanged thereon.

SO the king and Haman came to banquet with Esther the queen.

2 And the king said again unto Esther on the second day at the banquet of wine, What is thy petition, queen Esther? and it shall be granted thee: and what is thy request? and it shall be performed, even to the half of the kingdom.

3 Then Esther the queen answered and said, If I have found favour in thy sight, O king, and if it please the king, let my life be given me at my petition, and my people at my request:

4 For we are sold, I and my people, to be destroyed, to Teresh, &c.] By a singular Providence, the secretary read in that very part of the book wherein the service of Mordecai was entered.

4 Now Haman was come, &c.] This was another part of God's Providence, to bring him so soon to court when the king was thus disposed.

8 Let the royal apparel be brought which the king useth to wear.] It should rather be translated, The royal robe; an external garment, or stole, coming down to his feet, which none wore but the king himself.

And the crown royal, &c.] Some are of opinion, that the word which we render "crown" has various significations, and will equally denote that ornament which the horse the king rode on wore on his head.

13 Thou shalt not prevail against him, but shalt surely fall before him.] They had observed, it is likely, how the Jews had been wonderfully raised from under great oppressions since the time of Cyrus; and thence concluded, that a particular Providence took care of them.

14 And hastened to bring Haman unto the banquet, &c.] Haman perhaps, hearing that these things boded ill to him, might be studying how to provide for his safety, which made him stay longer than he should have done, before he waited on the king at the feast.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. VI.

Let us hence admire the ways of Providence, who discovers and brings to nought the plots formed against his people, and makes the very means contrived by their enemies for their destruction the instruments of their exaltation, and the confusion of the wicked.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VII.

3 And my people, &c.] i. e. And the life of my people.

4 We are sold.] Haman had offered a large sum of money to purchase their destruction.

to be slain, and to perish. But if we had been sold for bondmen and bondwomen, I had held my tongue, although the enemy could not countervail the king's damage.

5 ¶ Then the king Ahasuerus answered and said unto Esther the queen, Who is he, and where is he, that durst presume in his heart to do so?

6 And Esther said, The adversary and enemy is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was afraid before the king and the queen.

7 ¶ And the king arising from the banquet of wine in his wrath went into the palace garden: and Haman stood up to make request for his life to Esther the queen; for he saw that there was evil determined against him by the king.

8 Then the king returned out of the palace garden into the place of the banquet of wine; and Haman was fallen upon the bed whereon Esther was. Then said the king, Will he force the queen also before me in the house? As the word went out of the king's mouth, they covered Haman's face.

9 And Harbonah, one of the chamberlains, said before the king, Behold also, the gallows fifty cubits high, which Haman had made for Mordecai, who had spoken good for the king, standeth in the house of Haman. Then the king said, Hang him thereon.

10 So they hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordecai. Then was the king's wrath pacified.

C H A P. VIII.

1 Esther having made known Mordecai's nearness of kin unto her, he is advanced in Haman's room. 3 Esther with her tears maketh suit for the reversal of the letters gone forth against the Jews. 7 The king granteth authority to the Jews to stand upon their defence, and letters are issued out accordingly. 15 Mordecai's honours, and the joy of the Jews.

ON that day did the king Ahasuerus give the house of Haman the Jews' enemy unto Esther the queen. And Mordecai came before the king; for Esther had told what he was unto her.

2 And the king took off his ring which he had taken from Haman, and gave it unto Mordecai. And Esther set Mordecai over the house of Haman.

3 ¶ And Esther spake yet again before the king, and fell down at his feet, and besought him with tears to put away the mischief of Haman the Agagite, and his device that he had devised against the Jews.

4 Then the king held out the golden sceptre toward Esther. So Esther arose, and stood before the king.

5 And said, If it please the king, and if I have found favour in his sight, and the thing seem right before the king, and I be pleasing in his eyes, let it be written to

If we had been sold for bondmen and bondwomen, I had held my tongue, &c.] For that might have turned to the king's profit, and they might at one time or other have recovered their liberty.

7 Went into the palace garden, &c.] Partly = disdaining the company of so disgraceful and audacious a person; partly to cool and allay his spirit, boiling and struggling into such a variety of passions; and partly to consider within himself the heinousness of Haman's crime, the mischief which himself had like to have done by his own rashness, and what punishment was fit to be inflicted on so vile a miscreant.

8 Then said the king, Will he force the queen also? When Haman fell down as a suppliant at the feet of Esther, and embraced her knees, the king might pretend that he was offering violence to her chastity; not that he believed this was his intention, but in his furious passion he turned every thing to the worst sense, and made use of it to aggravate his crime.

They covered Haman's face.] That he might not see the face of the king any more; or rather, as a man condemned, this told him his doom. It is likely the king, seeing him in that posture, made a sign what they should do with him, which was immediately performed.

10 They hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordecai, &c.] It has been very justly remarked, that in this wonderful deliverance of the Jewish nation, there was no extraordinary manifestation of God's power, no particular cause or agent, that was in its working advanced above the ordinary pitch of nature; and yet the contrivance of these ordinary agents, appointed by God, is more admirable than if the same had been effected by means truly miraculous.

reverse the letters devised by Haman the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, which he wrote to destroy the Jews which are in all the king's provinces:

6 For how can I endure to see the evil that shall come unto my people? or how can I endure to see the destruction of my kindred?

7 ¶ Then the king Ahasuerus said unto Esther the queen and to Mordecai the Jew, Behold, I have given Esther the house of Haman, and him they have hanged upon the gallows, because he laid his hand upon the Jews.

8 Write ye also for the Jews, as it liketh you, in the king's name, and seal it with the king's ring: for the writing which is written in the king's name, and sealed with the king's ring, may no man reverse.

9 Then were the king's scribes called at that time in the third month, that is, the month Sivan, on the three and twentieth day thereof; and it was written according to all that Mordecai commanded unto the Jews, and to the lieutenants, and the deputies and rulers of the provinces which are from India unto Ethiopia, an hundred twenty and seven provinces, unto every province according to the writing thereof, and unto every people after their language, and to the Jews according to their writing, and according to their language.

10 And he wrote in the king Ahasuerus' name, and sealed it with the king's ring, and sent letters by post on horseback, and riders on mules, camels, and young dromedaries:

11 Wherein the king granted the Jews which were in every city to gather themselves together, and to stand for their life, to destroy, to slay, and to cause to perish, all the power of the people and province that would assault them, both little ones and women, and to take the spoil of them for a prey,

12 Upon one day in all the provinces of king Ahasuerus, namely, upon the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is the month Adar.

13 The copy of the writing for a commandment to be given in every province was published unto all people, and that the Jews should be ready against that day to avenge themselves on their enemies.

14 So the posts that rode upon mules and camels went out, being hastened and pressed on by the king's commandment. And the decree was given at Shushan the palace.

15 ¶ And Mordecai went out from the presence of the king in royal apparel of blue and white, and with a great crown of gold, and with a garment of fine linen and purple: and the city of Shushan rejoiced and was glad.

16 The Jews had light, and gladness, and joy, and honour.

17 And in every province, and in every city, whithersoever

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. VII.

We hence see the vanity of human greatness, and how God confounds and punishes the proud; and, above all, the catastrophe of Haman shews very plainly, that God causes to fall upon the wicked the evil they had prepared for others.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VIII.

1 The house of Haman, &c.] The whole estate belonging to his family: for by his crime it was all forfeited to the king.

2 Esther set Mordecai over the house of Haman.] Over his lands and goods, which the king had given to Esther, of which she now made Mordecai her steward.

3 To put away the mischief of Haman, &c.] By repealing that barbarous decree, which Haman had obtained of the king. See chap. iii. ver. 3.

7 He laid his hand upon the Jews.] He intended to destroy them.

8 The writing which is written in the king's name, and sealed with the king's ring, may no man reverse.] The meaning of this is, that the king could not do what Esther desired: for it was contrary to the law of the Medes and Persians to reverse any decree.

15 In royal apparel of blue and white.] Such robes as the princes of Persia were wont to wear.

A great crown of gold.] Not like that of the kings, but such a coronet as was used by the greatest peers of the realm.

A garment of fine linen and purple, &c.] This was his inner garment, the former was his outward.

Before CHRIST 509. therforever the king's commandment and his decree came, the Jews had joy and gladness, a feast and a good day. And many of the people of the land became Jews; for the fear of the Jews fell upon them.

C H A P. IX.

1 The Jews, assisted by the rulers through fear of Mordecai's power, slay their enemies, and the ten sons of Haman among the rest. 12 Ahasuerus at the request of Esther granteth to the Jews at Shushan another day of slaughter, and causeth Haman's sons to be hanged. 20 The two days of Purim are made anniversary festivals in commemoration of this deliverance.

NOW in the twelfth month, that is, the month Adar, on the thirteenth day of the same, when the king's commandment and his decree drew near to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Jews hoped to have power over them, (though it was turned to the contrary, that the Jews had rule over them that hated them;)

2 The Jews gathered themselves together in their cities throughout all the provinces of the king Ahasuerus, to lay hand on such as sought their hurt: and no man could withstand them; for the fear of them fell upon all the people.

3 And all the rulers of the provinces, and the lieutenants, and the deputies, and officers of the king, helped the Jews; because the fear of Mordecai fell upon them.

4 For Mordecai was great in the king's house, and his fame went out throughout all the provinces: for this man Mordecai waxed greater and greater.

5 Thus the Jews smote all their enemies with the stroke of the sword, and slaughter, and destruction, and did what they would unto those that hated them.

6 And in Shushan the palace the Jews slew and destroyed five hundred men.

7 And Parshandatha, and Dalphon, and Aspatha,

8 And Poratha, and Adalia, and Aridatha,

9 And Parmashta, and Arifai, and Aridai, and Vajezatha.

10 The ten sons of Haman the son of Hammedatha, the enemy of the Jews, slew they; but on the spoil laid they not their hand.

11 On that day the number of those that were slain in Shushan the palace was brought before the king.

12 ¶ And the king said unto Esther the queen, The Jews have slain and destroyed five hundred men in Shushan the palace, and the ten sons of Haman; what have they done in the rest of the king's provinces? now what is thy petition? and it shall be granted thee: or what is thy request further? and it shall be done.

13 Then said Esther, If it please the king, let it be granted to the Jews which are in Shushan to do to morrow also according unto this day's decree, and let Haman's ten sons be hanged upon the gallows.

14 And the king commanded it so to be done: and the decree was given at Shushan; and they hanged Haman's ten sons.

15 For the Jews that were in Shushan gathered themselves together on the fourteenth day also of the month Adar, and slew three hundred men at Shushan; but on the prey they laid not their hand.

17 Many of the people of the land became Jews, &c.] Many Persians became profelytes to the Jewish religion.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. VIII.

From the conclusion of this history, we may gather, that God, after having suffered the righteous to be afflicted, grants them ease: "He raises the poor out of the dust, and sets them among princes." These powerful motives for us to trust in God, and live in his fear, then shall we always share in his protection.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON Chap. IX.

6 The Jews slew and destroyed five hundred men.] It is probable

16 But the other Jews that were in the king's provinces gathered themselves together, and stood for their lives, and had rest from their enemies, and slew of their foes seventy and five thousand, but they laid not their hands on the prey.

17 On the thirteenth day of the month Adar; and on the fourteenth day of the same rested they, and made it a day of feasting and gladness.

18 But the Jews that were at Shushan assembled together on the thirteenth day thereof, and on the fourteenth thereof; and on the fifteenth day of the same they rested, and made it a day of feasting and gladness.

19 Therefore the Jews of the villages, that dwelt in the unwall'd towns, made the fourteenth day of the month Adar a day of gladness and feasting, and a good day, and of sending portions one to another.

20 ¶ And Mordecai wrote these things, and sent letters unto all the Jews that were in all the provinces of the king Ahasuerus, both nigh and far,

21 To stablish this among them, that they should keep the fourteenth day of the month Adar, and the fifteenth day of the same, yearly,

22 As the days wherein the Jews rested from their enemies, and the month which was turned unto them from sorrow to joy, and from mourning into a good day: that they should make them days of feasting and joy, and of sending portions one to another, and gifts to the poor.

23 And the Jews undertook to do as they had begun, and as Mordecai had written unto them;

24 Because Haman the son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, the enemy of all the Jews, had devised against the Jews to destroy them, and had cast Pur, that is, the lot, to consume them, and to destroy them;

25 But when Esther came before the king, he commanded by letters that his wicked device, which he devised against the Jews, should return upon his own head, and that he and his sons should be hanged on the gallows.

26 Wherefore they called these days Purim after the name of Pur. Therefore for all the words of this letter, and of that which they had seen concerning this matter, and which had come unto them,

27 The Jews ordained, and took upon them, and upon their seed, and upon all such as joined themselves unto them, so as it should not fail, that they would keep these two days according to their writing, and according to their appointed time every year;

28 And that these days should be remembered and kept throughout every generation, every family, every province, and every city; and that these days of Purim should not fail from among the Jews, nor the memorial of them perish from their seed.

29 Then Esther the queen, the daughter of Abihail, and Mordecai the Jew, wrote with all authority, to confirm this second letter of Purim.

30 And he sent the letters unto all the Jews, to the hundred twenty and seven provinces of the kingdom of Ahasuerus, with words of peace and truth,

31 To confirm these days of Purim in their times appointed, according as Mordecai the Jew and Esther the queen had enjoined them, and as they had decreed for themselves and for their seed, the matters of the fastings and their cry.

32 And they were those men who could not conceal their wicked inclinations, but openly assaulted them.

10 On the spoil laid they not their hand.] That they might not seem to desire any thing but their own safety, and that the king might have a better opinion of them, the goods would come into the king's exchequer.

26 Pur.] A Persian word, signifying a lot.

29 Then Esther the queen—wrote with all authority, &c.] These days were first recommended to their observation by the authority of Mordecai. But having been neglected, or intermitted, the first order was confirmed and ratified by a second, and backed by the authority of the queen.

30 With words of peace and truth.] Full of sincere love, and affectionate desire of their happiness.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. IX.

It is here to be noted, that the Jews acted justly in destroying their enemies, as it was done in their own defence and by leave of the king. We must also attend to the certainty of the history, and of this wonderful deliverance of God's people, from the hand of their enemies.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. X.

1 Laid a tribute upon the land, and upon the isles of the sea.] He laid a new tax on all his provinces, upon the continent, and upon the isles of the sea belonging to his dominions.

3 For Mordecai the Jew was next unto king Ahasuerus, and great among the Jews, and accepted of the multitude of his brethren, seeking the wealth of his people, and speaking peace to all his seed.

3 And speaking peace to all his seed.] Advising and promoting whatsoever was for their advantage, and speaking still to the king, for that which might tend to the happiness and prosperity of his nation, which he advanced to the utmost of his power.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. X.

The whole conduct of Mordecai and Esther affords a lesson to great men, to employ their authority for the good of religion: this should also be observed and practised by every one to the utmost of his power, in any state or condition, looking to God for a blessing and discretion therein.

The Book of JOB.

THE ARGUMENT.

This book contains a narrative of a series of calamities, the most extraordinary perhaps that ever happened to any man, yet supported with a spirit of patience and resignation, truly glorious and heroic: it is a most admirable poem, part of it allegorical, where the grand enemy of mankind appears before the Lord; the rest is to be taken in a literal sense. That Job was a real person, and not a fictitious character, and that this story is a matter of fact, and not a parabolical representation, is manifest from all those places of scripture where mention is made of him; and therefore, when in the Old Testament we find him in company with Noah and Daniel, and equally distinguished for his righteousness, and when in the New he is commended for his patience, we cannot well suppose that the spirit of God, in both these places, intended to delude us with a phantom, instead of presenting us with a true history of a real man.

CHAP. I.

1 The holiness, riches, and religious care of Job for his children. 6 Satan appearing before God, obtaineth leave to tempt him.

Before
CHRIST
1520.
THERE was a man in the land of Uz, whose name was Job; and that man was perfect and upright, and one that feared God, and eschewed evil.

1 And there were born unto him seven sons and three daughters.

3 His substance also was seven thousand sheep, and three thousand camels, and five hundred yoke of oxen, and five hundred she asses, and a very great household; so that this man was the greatest of all the men of the east.

4 And his sons went and feasted in their houses, every one his day; and sent and called for their three sisters to eat and to drink with them.

5 And it was so, when the days of their feasting were gone about, that Job sent and sanctified them, and rose up early in the morning, and offered burnt offerings according to the number of them all: for Job said, It may be that my sons have sinned and cursed God in their hearts. Thus did Job continually.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. I.

1 In the land of Uz, &c.] The land of Uz, upon supposition that Job sprang from one of Keturah's sons, is placed in that part of Arabia Deserta which has Mesopotamia and the river Euphrates on the north; Syria, Palestine, and Idumæa, to the west; and the mountains of Arabia Felix, to the east.

4 Every one his day, &c.] Every one his birth-day, it being the custom of his sons to meet at each other's house on such occasions.

5 And cursed God in their hearts, &c.] Rather as the LXX. read, "Have had ill thoughts of God in their hearts."

6 ¶ Now there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the Lord, and Satan came also among them. Before
CHRIST

7 And the LORD said unto Satan, Whence comest thou? Then Satan answered the Lord, and said, From going to and fro in the earth, and from walking up and down in it.

8 And the LORD said unto Satan, Hast thou considered my servant Job, that there is none like him in the earth, a perfect and an upright man, one that feareth God, and escheweth evil?

9 Then Satan answered the LORD, and said, Doth Job fear God for nought?

10 Hast not thou made an hedge about him, and about his house, and about all that he hath on every side? thou hast blessed the work of his hands, and his substance is increased in the land.

11 But put forth thine hand now, and touch all that he hath, and he will curse thee to thy face.

12 And the LORD said unto Satan, Behold, all that he hath is in thy power; only upon himself put not forth thine hand. So Satan went forth from the presence of the LORD.

13 And there was a day when his sons and his daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldest brother's house.

14 And

7 From going to and fro in the earth, &c.] This answer expresses the great restlessness of his mind, his unwearied diligence to do mischief, and likewise the limitation of his power, which extends only to this lower world.

8 Hast thou considered my servant Job, &c.] As much as if he had said, After all the inquisitiveness and busy searching, thou hast nothing to object against the integrity of my servant Job.

9 Doth Job fear God for nought.] He has no personal affection for God, independent of the favours he receives at his hands.

Before
CHRIST
1520.

14 And there came a messenger unto Job, and said, The oxen were plowing, and the asses feeding beside them:

15 And the Sabeans fell upon them, and took them away; yea, they have slain the servants with the edge of the sword; and I only am escaped alone to tell thee.

16 While he was yet speaking, there came also another, and said, The fire of God is fallen from heaven, and hath burned up the sheep, and the servants, and consumed them; and I only am escaped alone to tell thee.

17 While he was yet speaking, there came also another, and said, The Chaldeans made out three bands, and fell upon the camels, and have carried them away, yea, and slain the servants with the edge of the sword; and I only am escaped alone to tell thee.

18 While he was yet speaking, there came also another, and said, Thy sons and thy daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldest brother's house:

19 And, behold, there came a great wind from the wilderness, and smote the four corners of the house, and it fell upon the young men, and they are dead, and I only am escaped alone to tell thee.

20 Then Job arose, and rent his mantle, and shaved his head, and fell down upon the ground and worshipped, 21 And said, Naked came I out of my mother's womb, and naked shall I return thither: the LORD gave, and the LORD hath taken away: blessed be the name of the LORD.

22 In all this Job sinned not, nor charged God foolishly.

CHAP. II.

1 Satan appearing again before God, obtaineth farther leave to tempt Job. 7 He smiteth him with sore boils. 9 Job reproved by his wife, moving him to curse God.

AGAIN there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan came also among them to present himself before the LORD.

2 And the LORD said unto Satan, From whence comest thou? And Satan answered the LORD, and said, From going to and fro in the earth, and from walking up and down in it.

3 And the LORD said unto Satan, Hast thou considered my servant Job, that there is none like him in the earth, a perfect and an upright man, one that feareth God, and escheweth evil? and still he holdeth fast his integrity, although thou movedst me against him, to destroy him without cause.

15 The Sabeans, &c.] The original word here signifies, a band of robbers; and so the Septuagint render it.

21 Naked came I out of my mother's womb, and naked shall I return thither, &c.] This sentiment of holy Job is as pious as it is just, and imports thus much: I am but what I was at first, and what I must have been at last: he hath stript me of all before I die, hath taken away nothing but what he gave: praise therefore be given to him who is the donor of all good things, and the disposer of all events.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. I.

The following instructions may be derived from this chapter, namely, that God sometimes exposes those he loves to great afflictions, to try their faith, patience, and piety; but neither men nor devils can hurt them, any farther than as God permits; and that the children of God should bless him as well in adversity as in prosperity, seeing that he both gives and takes away; nor doth he willingly afflict or grieve the children of men, but for their profit, and his own glory.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. II.

4 Skin for skin, &c.] The expression of "Skin for skin," is taken from trade, and the exchanges that were made in those days; and the meaning is, there may be some proportion in bargains, releases, and exchanges of other things, but for his life a man will give all.

6 Behold, he is in thine hand, but save his life.] Thus Satan can go no farther in punishing, than God permits him.

7 And smote Job with sore boils, &c.] Their opinion seems to be best founded, who make this distemper not one simple malady, but a complication of many, for since the great enemy of mankind had a full licence to try to the uttermost the patience of Job (saving his life) it is

4 And Satan answered the LORD, and said, Skin for skin, yea, all that a man hath will he gave for his life. But put forth thine hand now and touch his bone and his flesh, and he will curse thee to thy face.

6 And the LORD said unto Satan, Behold, he is in thine hand; but save his life.

7 ¶ So went Satan forth from the presence of the LORD, and smote Job with sore boils from the sole of his foot unto his crown.

8 And he took him a potsherd to scrape himself withal; and he sat down among the ashes.

9 ¶ Then said his wife unto him, Dost thou still retain thine integrity? curse God, and die.

10 But he said unto her, Thou speakest as one of the foolish women speaketh. What? shall we receive good at the hand of God, and shall we not receive evil? In all this did not Job sin with his lips.

11 ¶ Now when Job's three friends heard of all this evil that was come upon him, they came every one from his own place; Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite: for they had made an appointment together to come to mourn with him and to comfort him.

12 And when they lifted up their eyes afar off, and knew him not, they lifted up their voice, and wept; and they rent every one his mantle, and sprinkled dust upon their heads toward heaven.

13 So they sat down with him upon the ground seven days and seven nights, and none spake a word unto him: for they saw that his grief was very great.

CHAP. III.

1 Job curseth the day and services of his birth. 13 The ease of death.

AFTER this opened Job his mouth, and cursed his day.

2 And Job spake, and said,

3 Let the day perish wherein I was born, and the night in which it was said, There is a man child conceived.

4 Let that day be darkness; let not God regard it from above, neither let the light shine upon it.

5 Let darkness and the shadow of death stain it: let a cloud dwell upon it; let the blackness of the day terrify it.

6 As for that night let darkness seize upon it; let it not be joined unto the days of the year, let it not come into the number of the months.

7 Lo, let that night be solitary, let no joyful voice come therein.

8 Let not be questioned but that he exerted all his power, by afflicting his body with diseases and worrying his mind with gloomy thoughts, and suggesting horrid and ghastly ideas to his imagination, to drive him into melancholy and despair.

9 Curse God and die.] From the sharp reply which Job makes in the following verse, it is plain, that though the word rendered "curse" also signifies bless, he did not use it in the more favourable sense.

11 Eliphaz the Temanite, &c.] He was the grandson of Esau, and son of Teman, who dwelt in a city of the same name in Idumæa, not far from the confines of Arabia Deserta.

Bildad the Shuhite.] He was descended from Shuah, the son of Abraham and Keturah.

Zophar the Naamathite.] He is supposed to be descended from Esau.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. II.

The wonderful patience of Job, and his submission to the will of God under his heavy trial, is an example for our imitation in every time of distress and temptation; and with respect to our suffering brethren, we should mourn with those that mourn, and visit and comfort the afflicted.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. III.

¶ After this opened Job his mouth, and cursed his day.] Overcharged with grief, and without the least word of comfort from his friends, and having for some time borne the weight of his affliction with an admirable constancy, Job could not contain himself any longer, but burst out (to such a degree was the anguish of his spirit increased) into the most passionate complaints of the miseries of human life.

5 The shadow of death, &c.] That is, a destructive or deadly shadow.

11 Why died I not from the womb? why did I not give up the ghost when I came out of the belly?
12 Why did the knees prevent me? or why the breasts that I should suck?
13 For now should I have lain still and been quiet, I should have slept: then had I been at rest, 25 For the thing which I greatly feared is come upon me, and that which I was afraid of is come unto me.

26 I was not in safety, neither had I rest, neither was I quiet; yet trouble came.

CHAP. IV.

■ Eliphaz reproveth Job for want of religion. 7 He teacheth God's judgments to be not for the righteous, but for the wicked. 12 His fearful vision, to humble the excellencies of creatures before God.

THEN Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said,
2 If we assay to commune with thee, wilt thou be grieved? but who can withhold himself from speaking?
3 Behold, thou hast instructed many, and thou hast strengthened the weak hands.

8 Who are ready to raise up their mourning.] The margin and vulgate read, To raise up Leviathan; the LXX. A great whale: some interpret it, To rouse a lion. Deodatus understands it of those hired mourners who use tragical forms of mourning at funerals.

14 Which built desolate places, &c.] Who lie alone in the tombs which they built themselves.

20 Wherefore is light given to him that is in misery, &c.] Is it not strange that man should be forced to live, when he hath no mind to it? This was an unbecoming expression.

23 Whose way is hid, &c.] Who seeth no remedy for his evils, nor means of extricating himself.

26 I was not in safety, &c.] I did not confide in my riches, nor in the least lull myself in security, and yet that did not preserve me from being miserable.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. III.

The complaints uttered by Job argue his weakness; and should caution us to beware that the infirmity of the flesh does not drive us into impatience and murmurings! ever remembering, that God does not punish us so much as our sins deserve; let us therefore kiss the rod, bear our cross with patience, and implore God's grace to suffer and do his will till he is pleased to put a period to our afflictions.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. IV.

1 Then Eliphaz the Temanite, &c.] Eliphaz very sharply rebukes him for not following the good advice which he used to give to others in their adversity, adding, that he had reason to suspect his piety, because the innocent (he mistakingly supposed) were not wont to suffer so severely; but, on the contrary, God always humbled wicked oppressors.

7 Remember, I pray thee, who ever perished, being innocent? or where were the righteous cut off?

■ Even as I have seen, they that plow iniquity, and sow wickedness, reap the same.

9 By the blast of God they perish, and by the breath of his nostrils are they consumed.

10 The roaring of the lion, and the voice of the fierce lion, and the teeth of the young lions, are broken.

11 The old lion perisheth for lack of prey, and the stout lion's whelps are scattered abroad.

12 Now a thing was secretly brought to me, and mine ear received a little thereof.

15 Then a spirit passed before my face; the hair of my flesh stood up:

16 It stood still, but I could not discern the form thereof: an image was before mine eyes, there was silence, and I heard a voice, saying,

17 Shall mortal man be more just than God? shall a man be more pure than his maker?

18 Behold, he put no trust in his servants; and his angels he charged with folly:

19 How much less in them that dwell in houses of clay, whose foundation is in the dust, which are crushed before the moth?

20 They are destroyed from morning to evening: they perish for ever without any regarding it.

21 Doth not their excellency which is in them go away? they die even without wisdom.

CHAP. V.

1 The harm of inconsideration. 3 The end of the wicked is misery. 6 God is to be regarded in affliction. 17 The happy end of God's correction.

CALL now, if there be any that will answer thee; and to which of the saints wilt thou turn?

11 The old lion perisheth for lack, &c.] The greatest tyrants and their posterity, after long enjoying dominion, are deprived at last of the riches they have acquired by oppression, and driven from their seats of power.

13 In thoughts from the visions of the night, when deep sleep falleth upon men.] We have in this and the three following verses, one of the most awful and affecting descriptions that language is capable of giving; it is a night piece, dressed in all the circumstances of the deepest horror, and cannot be read without awakening emotions of awe and terror.

16 I could not discern the form thereof, &c.] He was not able to discern what it was like.

19 Which are crushed before the moth.] They are so frail, that even a moth flying against them may dash them to pieces.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. IV.

Eliphaz was to blame in condemning Job, as though he was a greater sinner than others; for God often afflicts most those whom he loves best; afflictions are no proof of superlative wickedness or hypocrisy. God is perfectly righteous in all he does: man therefore should humbly acknowledge that he is a weak and corrupt creature before him.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. V.

■ Call now if there be any that will answer thee, &c.] If thou dost not believe me thou mayest enquire of others. Eliphaz endeavours to confirm the opinion and observation of other men, as well as his own; namely, that the anger of God falls only on the head of the wicked.

3 I cursed his habitation.] I predicted his downfall.

22 At destruction and famine thou shalt laugh: neither shalt thou be afraid of the beasts of the earth.
23 For thou shalt be in league with the stones of the field: and the beasts of the field shall be at peace with thee.
24 And thou shalt know that thy tabernacle shall be in peace; and thou shalt visit thy habitation, and shalt not sin.
25 Thou shalt know also that thy seed shall be great, and thine offspring as the grass of the earth.

19 In seven, &c.] This is, in the seventh: Thy troubles cannot be so numerous, but if thou submissively acceptest them, he will deliver thee from them.

23 Thou shalt be in league with the stones of the field, &c.] When thou art in peace and favour with God, no creatures, animate or inanimate, shall hurt thee.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ■ Chap. V.

In this chapter we are taught, that God dispenses all events, and especially all that happens to men, with perfect righteousness, and great goodness; inasmuch that, sooner or later, the wicked are confounded, and the righteous delivered.

BUT Job answered, and said,
2 O that my grief were thoroughly weighed, and my calamity laid in the balances together!

3 For now it would be heavier than the sand of the sea: therefore my words are swallowed up.

4 For the arrows of the Almighty are within me, the poison whereof drinketh up my spirit: the terrors of God do set themselves in array against me.

5 Doth the wild ass bray when he hath grass? or loweth the ox over his fodder?

6 Can that which is unfavoury be eaten without salt? or is there any taste in the white of an egg?

7 The things that my soul refused to touch are as my sorrowful meat.

■ O that I might have my request; and that God would grant me the thing that I long for!

9 Even that it would please God to destroy me; that he would let loose his hand, and cut me off!

10 Then should I yet have comfort; yea, I would harden myself in sorrow: let him not spare; for I have not concealed the words of the Holy One.

11 What is my strength, that I should hope? and what is mine end, that I should prolong my life?

12 Is my strength the strength of stones? or is my flesh of brass?

13 Is not my help in me? and his wisdom driven quite from me?

14 To him that is afflicted pity should be shewed from his friend; but he forsaketh the fear of the Almighty.

15 My brethren have dealt deceitfully as a brook, and as the stream of brooks they pass away;

16 Which are blackish by reason of the ice, and wherein the snow is hid:

17 What time they wax warm, they vanish: when it is hot, they are consumed out of their place.

18 The paths of their way are turned aside; they go to nothing, and perish.

19 The troops of Tema looked, the companies of Sheba waited for them.

20 They were confounded because they had hoped; they came thither, and were ashamed.

21 For now ye are nothing; ye see my casting down, and are afraid.

22 Did I say, Bring unto me? or, Give ■ reward for me of your substance?

23 Or, Deliver me from the enemy's hand? or, Redeem me from the hand of the mighty?

24 Teach me, and I will hold my tongue: and cause me to understand wherein I have erred.

25 How forcible are right words! but what doth your arguing reprove?

26 Do ye imagine to reprove words, and the speeches of one that is desperate, which are as wind?

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VI.

1 Job answered and said.] Job renews his wishes for death, and upbraids his friends with their unkindness, reproaches, and bitter reproofs.

2 O that my grief were thoroughly weighed, and my calamity laid in the balances together!] O that some more equal person than yourself would weigh my complaints and sufferings against each other in the balance of equity, and faithfully determine which of them preponderate!

3 My words are swallowed up.] He wanted words to express his grief.

5 Doth the wild ass bray when he hath grass? &c.] Do you think that I complain without cause?

6 Can that which is unfavoury be eaten without salt? &c.] If it is usual to season things that are insipid, how much more then may we call for something to qualify the bitterness of affliction?

C H A P. VII.

1 Job excuseth his desire of death. 12 He complaineth of his own restlessness, and God's watchfulness.

Is there not an appointed time to man upon earth? are not his days also like the days of an hireling?

2 As a servant earnestly desireth the shadow, and an hireling looketh for the reward of his work:

3 So am I made to possess months of vanity, and wearisome nights are appointed to me.

4 When I lie down, I say, When shall I arise, and the night be gone? and I am full of tossings to and fro unto the dawning of the day.

5 My flesh is clothed with worms and clods of dust; my skin is broken, and become loathsome.

6 My days are swifter than a weaver's shuttle, and are spent without hope.

7 O remember that my life is wind: mine eye shall no more see good.

8 The eye of him that hath seen me shall see me no more: thine eyes are upon me, and I am not.

9 As the cloud is consumed and vanisheth away: so he that goeth down to the grave shall come up no more.

10 He shall return no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.

11 Therefore I will not refrain my mouth; I will speak in the anguish of my spirit; I will complain in the bitterness of my soul.

15 So that my soul chooseth strangling, and death rather than my life.

16 I loath it; I would not live alway: let me alone; for my days are vanity.

17 What is man, that thou shouldest magnify him? and that thou shouldest set thine heart upon him?

18 And that thou shouldest visit him every morning, and try him every moment?

20 I have sinned; what shall I do unto thee, O thou

30 Cannot my taste discern perverse things? I do not think my judgment is so corrupted, but that I can discern what is bad, though spoken by myself.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. VI.

The description Job here gives of his misfortunes, shews, that the most pious, when overwhelmed with evil, may also become impatient: we have therefore need to pray for patience. And whereas Eliphaz, instead of sympathizing with and comforting Job, increased his grief by uncharitable discourses and judgments; let us act contrariwise, and rather treat the afflicted with gentleness, endeavour to alleviate their evils, and comfort them by all the means in our power.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VII.

1 Is there not an appointed time to man upon earth? &c. All labours, punishments, and services in this world, have their ends and releasements; slaves labouring in the field hope for rest at night, and mercenaries look for their hire: but I, after I have faithfully served, have no other recompence but extreme torments, and release from them.

7 O remember that my life is wind, &c. Finding his friends had no little consideration of him, Job here addresses himself to God, representing the wretchedness of his condition, and expostulating with him concerning the continuance of it, and his release from it.

12 Am I—a whale, &c. Am I a monster, that thou settest, &c.

19 Let me alone till I swallow down my spittle. At least for so short a space to give me leave to breathe.

THEN answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,
2 How long wilt thou speak these things? and how long shall the words of thy mouth be like a strong wind?

3 Doth God pervert judgment? or doth the Almighty pervert justice?

4 If thy children have sinned against him, and he have cast them away for their transgression;

5 If thou wouldest seek unto God betimes, and make thy supplication to the Almighty;

6 If thou wert pure and upright; surely now he would awake for thee, and make the habitation of thy righteousness prosperous.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. VII.

We are shewn, in this chapter, the vanity and shortness of life, and the misery of man; that though God dispenses afflictions to us, he does all in goodness and wisdom; he sends evils upon us, to make us sensible of the vanity of the world, and to wean us from it. It is therefore our duty to submit to the will of God; to acknowledge our nothingness and our sins; to intreat him to pity our weakness, and pardon our sins; and give more grace in time to come.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. VIII.

1 Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, &c. Bildad discovers the same principles Eliphaz had done: for though he gives him good counsel, yet he still pursues it, the sense of all antiquity, that God ever prospers the just, and roots out the wicked, how flourishing soever they may be for a season.

2, 3 How long, &c. Why dost thou persist in such unjust assertions, and expostulate so vehemently against thy Maker? Canst thou think the supreme Judge of all the earth will swerve from the rules of equity?

10 Shall not they teach thee, &c. Shall not the histories of former ages instruct thee, and experience justify the truth of my words?

15 He shall lean upon his house, &c. He may boast of and depend upon the greatness and power of his family, but it shall fall well himself.

17, 18 His roots are wrapped, &c. His roots have wreathed themselves thick about the earth, and his head lifts up itself above the highest edifices. But when God plucks him up by the roots, there shall remain no more remembrance that such a man ever lived in that place.

C H A P. IX.

1 Job acknowledging God's justice, sheweth there is no contending with him. 22 Man's innocency is not to be condemned by afflictions.

THEN Job answered and said,

2 I know it is so of a truth: but how should man be just with God?

3 If he will contend with him, he cannot answer him one of a thousand.

4 He is wise in heart, and mighty in strength: who hath hardened himself against him, and hath prospered?

5 Which removeth the mountains, and they know not: which overturneth them in his anger.

6 Which shaketh the earth out of her place, and the pillars thereof tremble.

7 Which commandeth the sun, and it riseth not; and sealeth up the stars.

8 Which alone spreadeth out the heavens, and treadeth upon the waves of the sea.

10 Which doeth great things past finding out; yea, and wonders without number.

11 Lo, he goeth by me, and I see him not: he passeth on also, but I perceive him not.

12 Behold, he taketh away, who can hinder him? who will say unto him, What dost thou?

13 If God will not withdraw his anger, the proud helpers do stoop under him.

14 How much less shall I answer him, and choose out my words to reason with him?

15 Whom, though I were righteous, yet would I not answer, but I would make supplication to my judge.

16 If I had called, and he had answered me; yet would I not believe that he had hearkened unto my voice.

17 For he breaketh me with a tempest, and multiplieth my wounds without cause.

18 He will not suffer me to take my breath, but filleth me with bitterness.

19 If I speak of strength, lo, he is strong: and if of judgment, who shall set me a time to plead?

20 If I justify myself, mine own mouth shall condemn me: If I say, I am perfect, it shall also prove me perverse.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. VIII.

Though what Bildad says in this chapter be true in general; yet he erroneously concluded, that Job was not acceptable to God, because he was in adversity; since, as we have before remarked, God often exposes good people to very great evils, for the exercise of their faith and dependence upon him, and that their resignation to the divine will may be an example to others; but we should also consider, that God dispenses heavy afflictions to his own people, that he may do them good in their latter end, and that they may not be condemned with the ungodly, who will be shut out from his presence for ever.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. IX.

1 Then Job answered and said.] Job allows the force of Bildad's arguments in the beginning of his speech; and very piously adores the justice, wisdom, and sovereignty of the Almighty; but withal maintains, that the being truly religious will not secure us from all calamities, and that afflictions do not always fall upon those who seem most to deserve them.

9 Which maketh Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the chambers of the south.] Those constellations which we see, and those in the other hemisphere.

11 He goeth by me, and I see him not, &c.] He is incomprehensible, as well in his essence, as in his works and judgments.

22 This is one thing, therefore I said it, &c.] I persist in what I at first affirmed, that in this world the godly suffer equally with the ungodly.

21 Though I were perfect, yet would I not know my soul: I would despise my life.

22 This is one thing, therefore I said it, He destroyeth the perfect and the wicked.

23 If the scourge slay suddenly, he will laugh at the trial of the innocent.

24 The earth is given into the hand of the wicked: he covereth the faces of the judges thereof; if not, where, and who is he?

25 Now my days are swifter than a post: they flee away, they see no good.

26 They are passed away as the swift ships: as the eagle that hasteth to the prey.

27 If I say, I will forget my complaint, I will leave off my heaviness, and comfort myself:

28 I am afraid of all my sorrows, I know that thou wilt not hold me innocent.

29 If I be wicked, why then labour I in vain?

30 If I wash myself with snow water, and make my hands never so clean;

31 Yet shalt thou plunge me in the ditch, and mine own clothes shall abhor me.

32 For he is not a man, as I am, that I should answer him, and we should come together in judgment.

33 Neither is there any daysman betwixt us, that might lay his hand upon us both.

34 Let him take his rod away from me, and let not his fear terrify me:

35 Then would I speak, and not fear him; but it is not so with me.

C H A P. X.

1 Job taking liberty of complaint, expostulateth with God about his afflictions. 18 He complaineth of life, and craveth a little ease before death.

MY soul is weary of my life; I will leave my complaint upon myself; I will speak in the bitterness of my soul.

I will say unto God, Do not condemn me; shew me wherefore thou contendest with me.

3 Is it good unto thee that thou shouldest oppress, that thou shouldest despise the work of thine hands, and shine upon the counsel of the wicked?

4 Hast thou eyes of flesh? or seest thou as man seeth?

5 Are thy days as the days of man? are thy years as man's days,

6 That thou enquirest after mine iniquity, and searchest after my sin?

7 Thou knowest that I am not wicked; and there is none that can deliver out of thine hand.

8 Thine hands have made me and fashioned me together round about; yet thou dost destroy me.

9 Remember, I beseech thee, that thou hast made me

23 If the scourge slay suddenly, &c.] When any country is visited by a pestilence, the righteous are not defended from its stroke.

24 The earth is given into the hand of the wicked, &c.] So far are the wicked from feeling the weight of his anger, that they are the princes and judges of the earth. Where will you find a prince that governs his kingdom uprightly?

29 If I be wicked, why then labour I in vain?] I am wicked in the account of God. It is in vain then, to endeavour to vindicate my own innocence.

33 Any daysman, &c.] Any judge to determine our cause; or who may command silence, when necessary.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. IX.

This chapter teaches us, that man cannot be justified before God; that if the Lord were to enter into judgment with him, he cannot answer him one of a thousand; that the power of God is infinite; and that men, being so weak before him, and likewise guilty, must all be condemned in his presence, and beg mercy of him.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. X.

1 My soul is weary of my life, &c.] In this chapter Job still persists in the opinion that his sufferings may justify his wishes that he had never been born, or had died soon after: though those wishes being vain, he acknowledges it is more rational to desire that God would be pleased to intermit his pains awhile, if he did not think quite to remove them.

5 Are thy days as the days of man? &c.] Must thou take time, as we do, to find out the truth, and understand the whole of a business?

me as the clay; and wilt thou bring me into dust again?

10 Hast thou not poured me out as milk, and curdled me like cheese?

11 Thou hast clothed me with skin and flesh, and hast fenced me with bones and sinews.

12 Thou hast granted me life and favour, and thy visitation hath preserved my spirit.

13 And these things hast thou hid in thine heart: I know that this is with thee.

14 If I sin, then thou markest me, and thou wilt not acquit me from mine iniquity.

15 If I be wicked, woe unto me; and if I be righteous, yet will I not lift up my head. I am full of confusion; therefore see thou mine affliction;

16 For it increaseth. Thou huntest me as a fierce lion: and again thou shewest thyself marvellous upon me.

17 Thou renewest thy witnesses against me, and increasest thine indignation upon me; changes and war are against me.

18 Wherefore then hast thou brought me forth out of the womb? Oh that I had given up the ghost, and no eye had seen me!

19 I should have been as though I had not been; I should have been carried from the womb to the grave.

20 Are not my days few? cease then, and let me alone, that I may take comfort a little,

21 Before I go whence I shall not return, even to the land of darkness and the shadow of death;

22 A land of darkness, as darkness itself; and of the shadow of death, without any order, and where the light is as darkness.

CHAP. XI.

1 Zophar reproveth Job for justifying himself. 5 God's wisdom is unsearchable. 13 The assured blessing of repentance.

THEN answered Zophar the Naamathite, and said, 2 Should not the multitude of words be answered? and should a man full of talk be justified?

3 Should thy lies make men hold their peace? and when thou mockest, shall no man make thee ashamed?

4 For thou hast said, My doctrine is pure, and I am clean in thine eyes.

5 But oh that God would speak, and open his lips against thee;

6 And that he would shew thee the secrets of wisdom, that they are double to that which is! Know therefore that God exacteth of thee less than thine iniquity deserve.

7 Canst thou by searching find out God? canst thou find out the Almighty unto perfection?

8 It is as high as heaven; what canst thou do? deeper than hell; what canst thou know?

10 Curdled me like cheese.] Compacted all my members.

14 Then thou markest me, &c.] Thou, who hast formed me, canst not but know whenever I offend.

16 Again thou shewest thyself marvellous upon me.] When I hope there is an end of my troubles, thou sendest more, to fill me with new astonishment and horror.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. X.

Job's piety appears, in the humility wherewith he calls upon the Lord, and in the confession he makes, that God was almighty, and altogether righteous in all his dispensations; his weakness also appears, in expostulating with God for thus punishing him; but this then is a lesson to us to possess our souls in patience, and, when afflicted, to implore God to consider our weakness, and alleviate our misery.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XI.

1 Then answered Zophar, &c.] Though Zophar discourses with great sense, and gives Job exceeding good advice, yet he still maintains the opinion of the other two friends, and insists on it, that he would not have been so miserable if he had not been wicked.

5, 6 Oh that God would speak, &c.] Oh that God would make thee acquainted with the secret reasons that induced him to afflict thee! thou wouldst then be convinced that thy punishment is far from being equal to thy crime.

11 Will he not then consider it?] Will he not punish it?

9 The measure thereof is longer than the earth, and broader than the sea.

10 If he cut off, and shut up, or gather together, then who can hinder him?

11 For he knoweth vain men: he seeth wickedness also; will he not then consider it?

12 For vain man would be wise, though man be born like a wild ass's colt.

13 If thou prepare thine heart, and stretch out thine hands toward him;

14 If iniquity be in thine hand, put it far away, and let not wickedness dwell in thy tabernacles.

15 For then shalt thou lift up thy face without spot; yea, thou shalt be stedfast, and shalt not fear:

16 Because thou shalt forget thy misery, and remember it as waters that pass away:

17 And thine age shall be clearer than the noonday; thou shalt shine forth, thou shalt be as the morning.

18 And thou shalt be secure, because there is hope; yea, thou shalt dig about thee, and thou shalt take thy rest in safety.

19 Also thou shalt lie down, and none shall make thee afraid; yea, many shall make suit unto thee.

20 But the eyes of the wicked shall fail, and they shall not escape, and their hope shall be as the giving up of the ghost.

CHAP. XII.

1 Job maintaineth himself against his friends that reprove him. 7 He acknowledgeth the general doctrine of God's omnipotency.

AND Job answered and said, 2 No doubt but ye are the people, and wisdom shall die with you.

3 But I have understanding as well as you; I am not inferior to you: yea, who knoweth not such things as these?

4 I am as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth upon God, and he answereth him: the just upright man is laughed to scorn.

5 He that is ready to slip with his feet is as a lamp despised in the thought of him that is at ease.

6 The tabernacles of robbers prosper, and they that provoke God are secure, into whose hand God bringeth abundantly.

7 But ask now the beasts, and they shall teach thee; and the fowls of the air, and they shall tell thee:

8 Or speak to the earth, and it shall teach thee: and the fishes of the sea shall declare unto thee.

9 Who knoweth not in all these that the hand of the LORD hath wrought this?

10 In whose hand is the soul of every living thing, and the breath of all mankind.

11 Doth not the ear try words? and the mouth taste his meat?

12 With

17 Thine age shall be clearer, &c.] The rest of thy life shall be more glorious than the sun at noonday.

18 Thou shalt dig about thee, and thou shalt take thy rest in safety.] Thou shalt dig wells of water, and none shall disturb thy tents or thy flocks.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XI.

From the discourse of Zophar we learn, that a good man is always endued with fortitude; that he fears nothing, he rests securely, he lies down without being terrified by any one, his heart is fixed, trusting in the Lord; by which we see, that nothing but a life devoted to God can render a man happy in this world, and make him pass his time in tranquillity, and without fear.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XII.

1 And Job answered, &c.] He accuses all his three friends of entertaining too conceited an opinion of themselves, which had not, yet, allowed them to take compassion on the miserable: he also lets them understand, that he has no need to come to them to learn, but was qualified to instruct them, and denies the proposition wherewith Zophar had concluded his speech concerning the infelicity of the wicked.

■ No doubt but ye are the people, and wisdom shall die with you.] This is sarcastically said: You fancy that you are the only persons of sense in the world; and that when you are dead, wisdom will be no longer found among the sons of men.

13 With

Before CHRIST 1520. 12 With the ancient is wisdom; and in length of days understanding.

13 With him is wisdom and strength, he hath counsel and understanding.

14 Behold, he breaketh down, and it cannot be built again: he shutteth up a man, and there can be no opening.

15 Behold, he withholdeth the waters, and they dry up: also he sendeth them out, and they overturn the earth.

16 With him is strength and wisdom: the deceived and the deceiver are his.

17 He leadeth counsellors away spoiled, and maketh the judges fools.

18 He looseth the bond of kings, and girdeth their loins with a girdle.

19 He leadeth princes away spoiled, and overthroweth the mighty.

20 He removeth away the speech of the trusty, and taketh away the understanding of the aged.

21 He poureth contempt upon princes, and weakeneth the strength of the mighty.

22 He discovereth deep things out of darkness, and bringeth out to light the shadow of death.

23 He encreaseth the nations, and destroyeth them: he enlargeth the nations, and straiteneth them again.

24 He taketh away the heart of the chief of the people of the earth, and causeth them to wander in a wilderness where there is no way.

25 They grope in the dark without light, and he maketh them to stagger like a drunken man.

C H A P. XIII.

1 Job reproveth his friends of partiality. 14 He professeth his confidence in God, 20 and intreateth to know his own sins, and God's purpose in afflicting him.

LO, mine eye hath seen all this, mine ear hath heard and understood it.

2 What ye know, the same do I know also: I am not inferior unto you.

3 Surely I would speak to the Almighty, and I desire to reason with God.

4 But ye are forgers of lies, ye are all physicians of no value.

5 O that ye would altogether hold your peace; and it should be your wisdom.

6 Hear now my reasoning, and hearken to the pleadings of my lips.

7 Will ye speak wickedly for God? and talk deceitfully for him?

8 Will ye accept his person? will ye contend for God?

9 Is it good that he should search you out? or as one man mocketh another, do ye so mock him?

10 He will surely reprove you, if ye do secretly accept persons.

13 With him is wisdom, &c.] That is, with God.

16 The deceived and the deceiver are his.] The hypocrisy of those who deceive others, is as well known to him, as the weakness of those who are deceived.

18 And girdeth their loins with a girdle.] And bindeth them in chains.

22 He discovereth, &c.] No plot can be so secretly carried on but he discovers it, and brings to light that which hath been conceived in the greatest obscurity.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XII.

We are hence taught, that God holds in his hand the soul of every thing that lives; that to him belong wisdom and strength; that no one can resist him; that he humbles the most powerful; that, when he pleases, he defeats the wisdom of the wise, and disposes of all men as he sees fit, even of kings, and of whole nations.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XIII.

4 Ye are all physicians of no value.] Like unskilful physicians, ye exasperate the diseases which ye cannot cure.

7 Will ye speak wickedly for God? &c.] Doth God stand in need of untruths to justify his proceedings? Cannot he be righteous, unless I be wicked?

Will ye accept his person? &c.] Hath he so little right on his side, that you must shew him favour?

9 Is it good that he should search you out? &c.] Will it be to your advantage, think you, that God should strictly examine all you have said?

11 Shall not his excellency make you afraid? and his dread fall upon you?

12 Your remembrances are like unto ashes, your bodies to bodies of clay.

13 Hold your peace, let me alone, that I may speak, and let come on me what will.

14 Wherefore do I take my flesh in my teeth, and put my life in mine hand?

15 Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him: but I will maintain mine own ways before him.

16 He also shall be my salvation: for an hypocrite shall not come before him.

17 Hear diligently my speech, and my declaration with your ears.

18 Behold now, I have ordered my cause; I know that I shall be justified.

19 Who is he that will plead with me? for now, if I hold my tongue, I shall give up the ghost.

20 Only do not two things unto me: then will I not hide myself from thee.

21 Withdraw thine hand far from me: and let not thy dread make me afraid.

22 Then call thou, and I will answer: or let me speak, and answer thou me.

23 How many are mine iniquities and sins? make me to know my transgression and my sin.

24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and holdest me for thine enemy?

25 Wilt thou break a leaf driven to and fro? and wilt thou pursue the dry stubble?

26 For thou writest bitter things against me, and makest me to possess the iniquities of my youth.

27 Thou puttest my feet also in the stocks, and lookest narrowly unto all my paths; thou fettest a print upon the heels of my feet.

28 And he, as a rotten thing, consumeth, as a garment that is moth eaten.

C H A P. XIV.

1 Job intreateth God for favour, by the shortness of life, and certainty of death. 7 Though life once lost be irrecoverable, yet he waiteth for his change. 16 By sin the creature is subject to corruption.

MAN that is born of a woman is of few days, and full of trouble.

2 He cometh forth like a flower, and is cut down: he fleeth also as a shadow, and continueth not.

3 And dost thou open thine eyes upon such an one, and bringest me into judgment with thee?

4 Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean? not one.

5 Seeing his days are determined, the number of his months are with thee, thou hast appointed his bounds that he cannot pass;

6 Turn

12 Your bodies to bodies of clay.] In the Hebrew it is, To the backs of clay your backs; which is interpreted by some, You are thrown on your backs, you are foiled in your arguments.

14 Wherefore do I take my flesh in my teeth, &c.] What can be the reason of these extreme torments which bring me into such distresses, that, methinks, I could tear my flesh with my teeth?

19 Who is he that will plead with me? &c.] The Hebrew runs literally thus, Who is he that will litigate the matter with me? for now I will be silent, and expire: that is, who is he that will bring a charge against me?

27 Thou fettest a print upon the heels of my feet.] Alluding probably to the punishment of slaves that ran away, which was, to beat them severely with a battoon on the soles of their feet; this occasioned great pain, and often putrefaction of the parts.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XIII.

Though we find from this chapter that Job complained too rashly of his afflictions, yet he gives noble tokens of his faith and piety; teaching us, that in the sharpest sufferings, therefore, we should humble ourselves before God, still hope in him, and beseech him not to correct us in anger, who are but dust and ashes before him.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XIV.

5 Seeing his days are determined, &c.] If he were more considerable than he is, yet since he can live but to such a time as thou hast prefixed, beyond which he cannot prolong his days one moment, &c.

6 Turn from him, that he may rest, till he shall accomplish, as an hireling, his day.
 7 For there is hope of a tree, if it be cut down, that it will sprout again, and that the tender branch thereof will not cease.
 8 Though the root thereof wax old in the earth, and the stock thereof die in the ground;
 9 Yet through the scent of water it will bud, and bring forth boughs like a plant.
 10 But man dieth, and wasteth away: yea, man giveth up the ghost, and where is he?
 11 As the waters fail from the sea, and the flood decayeth and drieth up:
 12 So man lieth down, and riseth not: till the heavens be no more, they shall not awake, nor be raised out of their sleep.
 13 O that thou wouldest hide me in the grave, that thou wouldest keep me secret, until thy wrath be past, that thou wouldest appoint me a set time, and remember me?
 14 If a man die, shall he live again? all the days of my appointed time will I wait, till my change come.
 15 Thou shalt call, and I will answer thee: thou wilt have a desire to the work of thine hands.
 16 For now thou numberest my steps: dost thou not watch over my sin?
 17 My transgression is sealed up in a bag, and thou sewest up mine iniquity.
 18 And surely the mountain falling cometh to nought, and the rock is removed out of his place.
 19 The waters wear the stones: thou wastest away the things which grow out of the dust of the earth; and thou destroyest the hope of man.
 20 Thou prevailest for ever against him, and he passeth: thou changest his countenance, and sendest him away.
 21 His sons come to honour, and he knoweth it not; and they are brought low, but he perceiveth it not of them.

CHAP. XV.

1 Eliphaz reproveth Job of impiety in justifying himself.
 17 He proveth by tradition the unquietness of wicked men.

THEN answered Eliphaz the Temanite, and said,
 1 Should a wise man utter vain knowledge, and fill his belly with the east wind?
 2 Should he reason with unprofitable talk? or with speeches wherewith he can do no good?
 3 Yea, thou castest off fear, and restrainest prayer before God.
 4 For thy mouth uttereth thine iniquity, and thou chooseth the tongue of the crafty.
 5 Thine own mouth condemneth thee, and not I: yea, thine own lips testify against thee.
 6 Art thou the first man that was born? or wast thou made before the hills?
 7 Hast thou heard the secret of God? and dost thou restrain wisdom to thyself?

7 For there is hope of a tree, if it be cut down, that it will sprout again, &c.] Job meant, that the body would remain in a state of corruption till the final dissolution of all things, and then it would be raised by the almighty quickening power of God, when this corruption shall put an end to corruption, and this mortal immortality.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XIV.

The use we should make of this doctrine, is, not to be too fond of life, or of this world; to intreat the Lord to pardon our sins, and assist us by his grace; to praise God, that in the gospel we have the hope of a glorious resurrection, a remedy against the vanity of this life, and death itself; and, lastly, that we should be active in the means afforded us, to escape the miseries we are subject to both here and hereafter, and to secure, by a devotedness to God, the possession of a better inheritance in heaven.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON Chap. XV.

1 Then answered Eliphaz, &c.] Eliphaz renews the dispute with more warmth and fierceness than before; but only urges what he at first asserted, namely, that the wicked only are punished by God with such calamities as had now fallen upon Job.

4 And restrainest prayer before God.] By laying aside religion, thou discouragest men from pouring out their prayers before God.

9 What knowest thou, that we know not? what understandest thou, which is not in us?
 10 With us are both the greyheaded and very aged men, much elder than thy father.
 11 Are the consolations of God small with thee? is there any secret thing with thee?
 12 Why doth thine heart carry thee away? and what do thy eyes wink at,
 13 That thou turnest thy spirit against God, and lettest such words go out of thy mouth?
 14 What is man, that he should be clean? and he which is born of a woman, that he should be righteous?
 15 Behold, he putteth no trust in his saints; yea, the heavens are not clean in his sight.
 16 How much more abominable and filthy is man, which drinketh iniquity like water?
 17 I will shew thee, hear me; and that which I have seen I will declare;
 18 Which wise men have told from their fathers, and have not hid it:
 19 Unto whom alone the earth was given, and no stranger passed among them.
 20 The wicked man travaileth with pain all his days, and the number of years is hidden to the oppressor.
 21 A dreadful sound is in his ears: in prosperity the destroyer shall come upon him.
 22 He believeth not that he shall return out of darkness, and he is waited for of the sword.
 23 He wandereth abroad for bread, saying, Where is it? he knoweth that the day of darkness is ready at his hand.
 24 Trouble and anguish shall make him afraid; they shall prevail against him, as a king ready to the battle.
 25 For he stretcheth out his hand against God, and strengtheneth himself against the Almighty.
 26 He runneth upon him, even on his neck, upon the thick bosses of his bucklers:
 27 Because he covereth his face with his fatness, and maketh collops of fat on his flanks.
 28 And he dwelleth in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabiteth, which are ready to become heaps.
 29 He shall not be rich, neither shall his substance continue, neither shall he prolong the perfection thereof upon the earth.
 30 He shall not depart out of darkness; the flame shall dry up his branches, and by the breath of his mouth shall he go away.
 31 Let not him that is deceived trust in vanity: for vanity shall be his recompence.
 32 It shall be accomplished before his time, and his branch shall not be green.
 33 He shall shake off his unripe grape as the vine, and shall cast off his flower as the olive.
 34 For the congregation of hypocrites shall be desolate, and fire shall consume the tabernacles of bribery.
 35 They conceive mischief, and bring forth vanity, and their belly prepareth deceit.

CHAP.

20 The wicked man travaileth with pain, &c.] Is never free from inward torments, but all his life-long is in dread of some greater oppressor than himself.

21 In prosperity the destroyer shall come, &c.] In the most peaceable and prosperous time, he doth not think himself safe.

22 He believeth not that he shall return out of darkness, &c.] When he lies down, he is afraid that he shall be killed before morning, &c.

26 He runneth upon him, &c.] God will suddenly smite him, be he never so well armed.

28 He dwelleth in desolate cities, &c.] He possesseth cities which he hath laid desolate; and houses out of which he hath driven the owners, whose dwellings are become ruinous.

32 It shall be accomplished before his time, and his branch shall not be green.] He shall meet with misfortunes when he little thinks of them; and shall see his children, as well as himself, wither away.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XV.

We learn from hence, that if the wicked prosper for a time, God at length punishes them even in this life, as they have never any rest in their consciences, and the little happiness they enjoy is intermixed with the dread of future evils: this should give us a hatred to sin, and a love to holiness, which only can procure peace and happiness.

C H A P. XVI.

1 Job reproveth his friends of unmercifulness. 7 He sheweth the pitifulness of his case. 17 He maintaineth his innocence.

THEN Job answered and said,
I have heard many such things: miserable comforters are ye all.

3 Shall vain words have an end? or what emboldeneth thee that thou answerest?

4 I also could speak as ye do: if your soul were in my soul's stead, I could heap up words against you, and shake mine head at you.

5 But I would strengthen you with my mouth, and the moving of my lips should assuage your grief.

6 Though I speak, my grief is not asswaged: and though I forbear, what am I eased?

7 But now he hath made me weary: thou hast made desolate all my company.

8 And thou hast filled me with wrinkles, which is a witness against me: and my leanness rising up in me beareth witness to my face.

9 He teareth me in his wrath, who hateth me: he gnashed upon me with his teeth; mine enemy sharpeneth his eyes upon me.

10 They have gaped upon me with their mouth; they have smitten me upon the cheek reproachfully; they have gathered themselves together against me.

11 God hath delivered me to the ungodly, and turned me over into the hands of the wicked.

12 I was at ease, but he hath broken me asunder: he hath also taken me by my neck, and shaken me to pieces, and set me up for his mark.

13 His archers compass me roundabout, he cleaveth my reins asunder, and doth not spare; he poureth out my gall upon the ground.

14 He breaketh me with breach upon breach, he runneth upon me like a giant.

15 I have sewed sackcloth upon my skin, and defiled my horn in the dust.

16 My face is foul with weeping, and on my eyelids is the shadow of death;

17 Not for any injustice in mine hands: also my prayer is pure.

18 O earth, cover not thou my blood, and let my cry have no place.

19 Also now, behold, my witness is in heaven, and my record is on high.

20 My friend scorn me: but mine eye poureth out tears unto God.

21 O that one might plead for a man with God, as a man pleadeth for his neighbour!

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XVI.

1 Then Job answered, &c.] Job here reproves the vanity and obstinacy of Eliphaz, in repeating the same things over again, and still persisting in his inhumanity, though his sufferings called so much for their sympathy and commiseration.

5 But I would strengthen you with my mouth, &c.] But I abhor the thought of such treatment, and would not fail to fortify you with the best arguments I could invent.

7 Thou hast made desolate all my company.] Thou hast not ceased, O God, till thou hast left me neither goods, nor children, nor friends to comfort me.

10 They have smitten me upon the cheek, &c.] The expression, "smitten upon the cheek," in scripture, imports the most contemptuous treatment.

18 Let my cry have no place.] No place wherein it may lie unheard.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XVI.

The criminal excess of Job's impatience should teach us never to murmur, nor abandon ourselves to immoderate grief; but rather give glory to God, and pass sentence upon ourselves, even when he treats us with the greatest apparent severity; for just and right is he.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XVII.

1 My breath is corrupt, &c.] My vital spirits spent, the lamp of life gives but a glimmering and dying flame, just sufficient to make visible the graves which on every side are open to receive us.

C H A P. XVII.

1 Job appealeth from men to God. 6 The unmerciful dealing of men with the afflicted may astonish but not discourage the righteous. 11 Job's hope is not in life but in death.

MY breath is corrupt, my days are extinct, the graves are ready for me.

2 Are there not mockers with me? and doth not mine eye continue in their provocation?

3 Lay down now, put me in a surety with thee; who is he that will strike hands with me?

4 For thou hast hid their heart from understanding; therefore shalt thou not exalt them.

5 He that speaketh flattery to his friends, even the eyes of his children shall fail.

6 He hath made me also a byword of the people; and aforetime I was as a tabret.

7 Mine eye also is dim by reason of sorrow, and all my members are as a shadow.

8 Upright men shall be astonished at this, and the innocent shall stir up himself against the hypocrite.

9 The righteous also shall hold on his way, and he that hath clean hands shall be stronger and stronger.

10 But as for you all, do ye return, and come now: for I cannot find one wise man among you.

11 My days are past, my purposes are broken off, even the thoughts of my heart.

12 They change the night into day: the light is short because of darkness.

13 If I wait, the grave is mine house: I have made my bed in the darkness.

14 I have said to corruption, Thou art my father: and to the worm, Thou art my mother, and my sister.

1 Bildad reproveth Job of presumption and impatience. 5 The calamities of the wicked.

THEN answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,
2 How long will it be ere ye make an end of words? mark, and afterwards we will speak.

3 Wherefore are we counted as beasts, and reputed vile in your sight?

4 He teareth himself in his anger: shall the earth be forsaken for thee? and shall the rock be removed out of his place?

6 And aforetime I was as a tabret.] An old translation has it, And I was as a tabret before them.

8 Upright men shall be astonished at this, &c.] Good men hereafter shall be astonished at the cruel sentence which my friends pass upon me.

16 They shall go down to the bars of the pit, &c.] All these hopes you speak of shall sink down to the bottom of the grave, when you and your friends, as well as I, shall take up your lodging in the dust.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XVII.

From what is here said concerning the instability of human friendship, let us esteem it our highest interest, as well as duty and privilege, to seek and obtain the favour and protection of that God who changes not, who is a friend at all times, and whose mercies endure for ever.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XVIII.

1 Then answered Bildad, &c.] In this chapter Bildad again takes up the dispute, but advances nothing new, though he expresses great indignation at the contempt Job had cast on their wisdom.

C H A P. XIX.

1 Job complaining of his friends cruelty, sheweth there is misery enough in him to feed their cruelty. 21 He craveth pity. 25 He believeth the resurrection.

THEN Job answered and said,
2 How long will ye vex my soul, and break me in pieces with words?
3 These ten times have ye reproached me: ye are not ashamed that ye make yourselves strange to me.
4 And be it indeed that I have erred, mine error remaineth with myself.
5 If indeed ye will magnify yourselves against me, and plead against me my reproach:

15 Brimstone shall be scattered upon his habitation.] Thunder and lightning shall destroy his habitation.
20 As they that went before were affrighted.] As those who saw it were seized with horror.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XVIII.

From this chapter we are led to consider, that if wicked men enjoy prosperity for a season, it passes away at last; that God sends forth his judgments upon their persons, their children, their estates, and all that belong to them, making them an example to others: let them therefore be admonished to shun the crooked paths of sin which lead to misery and ruin.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XIX.

1 Then Job answered, &c.] The purport of this chapter (in which Job replies to Bildad) is to shew that it would be sufficient for him also merely to report the same things, which they had done in ten discourses; and to aggravate their cruelty and want of compassion to him, he adds several new things, which made his condition more deplorable than he had hitherto represented it; but at the same time he declared that he had now a glimmering hope that God would at 25 I know that my redeemer liveth, &c.] These words certainly relate to the resurrection of the body, and a future judgment. That the Jews did believe that the bodies, at least of men remarkably pious should rise again, appears plainly from the translation of the last verse of the book of Job, according to the LXX, which in their version runs thus; "So Job died, being old and full of days:" but it is written, that he shall rise again with those whom the Lord raises up.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XIX.

We hence are taught, that Job, in the midst of his afflictions, trusted in God his redeemer, so should Christians encourage themselves with the same consideration and on every trial, and even in death itself; for these words of Job should raise their minds to a firm and joyful hope of a blessed resurrection in a life to come, when sorrow and sin will be done away for ever.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XX.

7 Yet he shall perish for ever like his own dung: they which have seen him shall say, Where is he?
8 He shall fly away as a dream, and shall not be found: yea, he shall be chased away as a vision of the night.

12 Though wickedness be sweet in his mouth, though he hide it under his tongue;
13 Though he spare it, and forsake it not; but keep it still within his mouth:
14 Yet his meat in his bowels is turned, it is the gall of asps within him.
15 He hath swallowed down riches; and he shall vomit them up again: God shall cast them out of his belly.
16 He shall suck the poison of asps: the viper's tongue shall slay him.
17 He shall not see the rivers, the floods, the brooks of honey and butter.
18 That which he laboured for shall he restore, and shall not swallow it down: according to his substance shall the restitution be, and he shall not rejoice therein.

10 His children shall seek to please the poor, &c.] His children shall have enough to do to pacify the rage of the poor, whom he hath oppressed.

11 Which shall lie down with him in the dust.] He shall carry nothing away with him, when he dies, but his sins.

17 The brooks of honey and butter.] The LXX more properly read, He shall not see the milking of his ewes, the food of honey and butter.

24 He shall flee from the iron weapon, and the bow of steel shall strike him through.] In avoiding a less danger, he shall fall into a greater.

26 All darkness shall be hid in his secret places.] He shall find no place of retreat and safeguard wherein to hide himself.

A fire not blown.] Calamities whose causes are unknown.

It shall go ill with him that is left in his tabernacle.] It shall destroy all that are in his tabernacle; that is, all the rest of his family.

27 The heaven shall reveal his iniquity, and the earth shall rise up against him.] The heaven by thunder, lightning or tempest; shall declare itself his enemy; and the earth by wild beasts, or serpents, or some other way, shall make war against him.

29 This is the portion of a wicked man from God, and the heritage appointed unto him by God.

C H A P. XXI.

1 Job sheweth that even in the judgment of man he hath reason to be grieved. 7 Sometimes the wicked do so prosper as they despise God. 16 Sometimes their destruction is manifest. 23 The happy and the unhappy are alike in death.

BUT Job answered and said,
2 Hear diligently my speech, and let this be your consolations.

3 Suffer me that I may speak; and after that I have spoken, mock on.

4 As for me, is my complaint to man? and if it were so, why should not my spirit be troubled?

5 Mark me, and be astonished, and lay your hand upon your mouth.

6 Even when I remember I am afraid, and trembling taketh hold on my flesh.

7 Wherefore do the wicked live, become old, yea, are mighty in power?

8 Their seed is established in their sight with them, and their offspring before their eyes.

9 Their houses are safe from fear, neither is the rod of God upon them.

10 Their bull gendereth, and faileth not; their cow calveth, and casteth not her calf.

11 They send forth their little ones like a flock, and their children dance.

12 They take the timbrel and harp, and rejoice at the sound of the organ.

13 They spend their days in wealth, and in a moment go down to the grave.

14 Therefore they say unto God, Depart from us; for we desire not the knowledge of thy ways.

15 What is the Almighty, that we should serve him? and what profit should we have, if we pray unto him?

16 Lo, their good is not in their hand; the counsel of the wicked is far from me.

17 How oft is the candle of the wicked put out? and how oft cometh their destruction upon them? God distributeth sorrows in his anger.

18 They are as stubble before the wind, and as chaff that the storm carrieth away.

19 God layeth up his iniquity for his children: he rewardeth him, and he shall know it.

20 His eyes shall see his destruction, and he shall drink of the wrath of the Almighty.

21 For what pleasure hath he in his house after him, when the number of his months is cut off in the midst?

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XX.

From the preceding chapter is inculcated this salutary advice, namely, that we should never place our happiness in the possession of the advantages and good things of this world, but look for it only in the fear and favour of the Lord; and in that holiness, which alone can bestow upon us solid happiness both in this life, and when time shall be no more.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON Chap. XXI.

1 But Job answered, &c.] To bring the dispute to a speedier issue, Job (after a short oburgatory preface) does not any longer content himself with merely denying what they had said, but shews them wherein the fallacy of their reasoning lay, namely, in drawing universal conclusions from particular propositions; and he maintains, that the proceedings of Providence, with regard to the punishment of the wicked in this world, are various, and, consequently, that no general rule can be drawn from thence.

13 In a moment go down to the grave.] They do not lie long languishing on a bed of sickness or pain, but go easily and suddenly to their grave.

16 Lo their good is not in their hand: the counsel of the wicked is far from me.] They cannot make themselves rich and prosperous without God; and therefore far best for me to join with them in their impiety.

Before CHRIST 1520. 25 And another dieth in the bitterness of his soul, and never eateth with pleasure.
26 They shall lie down alike in the dust, and the worms shall cover them.
27 Behold, I know your thoughts, and the devices which ye wrongfully imagine against me.
28 For ye say, Where is the house of the prince? and where are the dwelling places of the wicked?
29 Have ye not asked them that go by the way? and do ye not know their tokens,
30 That the wicked is reserved to the day of destruction? they shall be brought forth to the day of wrath.
31 Who shall declare his way to his face? and who shall repay him what he hath done?
32 Yet shall he be brought to the grave, and shall remain in the tomb.
33 The clods of the valley shall be sweet unto him, and every man shall draw after him, as there are innumerable before him.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Eliphaz sheweth that man's goodness profiteth not God. 5 He accuseth Job of divers sins. 21 He exhorteth him to repentance, with promises of mercy.

THEN Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said,
2 Can a man be profitable unto God, ■ he that is wise may be profitable unto himself?
3 Is it any pleasure to the Almighty, that thou art righteous? or is it gain to him, that thou makest thy ways perfect?
4 Will he reprove thee for fear of thee? will he enter with thee into judgment?
5 Is not thy wickedness great? and thine iniquities infinite?
6 For thou hast taken a pledge from thy brother for nought, and stripped the naked of their clothing.
7 Thou hast not given water to the weary to drink, and thou hast withholden bread from the hungry.
8 But as for the mighty man, he had the earth; and the honourable man dwelt in it.
9 Thou hast sent widows away empty, and the arms of the fatherless have been broken.
10 Therefore snares are round about thee, and sudden fear troubleth thee;
11 Or darkness, that thou canst not see: and abundance of waters cover thee.
12 Is not God in the height of heaven? and behold the height of stars, how high they are!

28 Ye say, Where is the house of the prince? and where are the dwelling places of the wicked? I hear you say within yourselves, What is become of the house of Job, who lived like a prince? What difference is there between him and those wicked men whose dwelling places are destroyed?

31 Who shall declare his way to his face? &c.] The wicked are so bold, that ■ dare reprove them.
34 How then comfort ye ■ in vain, seeing in your answers there remaineth falsehood? How ill then do ye discharge the office of comforters, whose answers have so little truth in them?

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXI.

The use we ■ to draw from hence, is, that ■ prosperity is not always ■ mark of God's favour; nor adversity, of his anger; so we are to look for the punishment of the wicked, and the true reward of the righteous, from the internal state of each; and especially in what shall happen to them after this transitory life is ended.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXII.

1 Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered, &c.] By this reply of Eliphaz, it seems that he ■ neither able to confute Job's argument, nor indeed had attended to the scope of it, but had mistaken him, and imagined that he had accused the divine Providence of injustice, in suffering the wicked to prosper, and the righteous to be afflicted.

6 For thou hast taken a pledge, &c.] Eliphaz had ■ proof that Job had committed any such fault; but only supposes that he had been guilty of some or of all the sins he here enumerates.

8 As for the mighty man, he had the earth, &c.] As for the great and powerful, all thy estate was at his service.

11 Or darkness, that thou canst not see; and abundance of waters cover thee.] Blindness prevents thy seeing how God hath proportioned.

13 And thou sayest, How doth God know? can he judge through the dark cloud? Before CHRIST 1520.

14 Thick clouds are a covering to him, that he seeth not; and he walketh in the circuit of heaven.

15 Hast thou marked the old way which wicked men have trodden?

16 Which were cut down out of time, whose foundation was overflown with ■ flood:

17 Which said unto God, Depart from us: and what can the Almighty do for them?

18 Yet he filled their houses with good things: but the counsel of the wicked is far from me.

19 The righteous see it, and are glad: and the innocent laugh them to scorn.

20 Whereas our substance is not cut down, but the remnant of them the fire consumeth.

21 Acquaint now thyself with him, and be at peace: thereby good shall come unto thee.

22 Receive, I pray thee, the law from his mouth, and lay up his words in thine heart.

23 If thou return to the Almighty, thou shalt be built up, thou shalt put away iniquity far from thy tabernacles.

24 Then shalt thou lay up gold as dust, and the gold of Ophir as the stones of the brooks.

25 Yea, the Almighty shall be thy defence, and thou shalt have plenty of silver.

26 For then shalt thou have thy delight in the Almighty, and shalt lift up thy face unto God.

27 Thou shalt make thy prayer unto him, and he shall hear thee, and thou shalt pay thy vows.

28 Thou shalt also decree a thing, and it shall be established unto thee: and the light shall shine upon thy ways.

29 When men are cast down, then thou shalt say, There is lifting up; and he shall save the humble person.

30 He shall deliver the island of the innocent: and it is delivered by the pureness of thine hands.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Job longeth to appear before God, 6 in confidence of his mercy. 8 God, who is invisible, observeth our ways. 11 Job's innocency. 13 God's decree is immutable.

THEN Job answered and said,
2 Even to day is my complaint bitter: my stroke is heavier than my groaning.
3 Oh that I knew where I might find him! that I might come even to his seat!
4 I would order my cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments.

5 I

tioned the punishment to thy crimes; and the depth of thy afflictions wherein thou art plunged, hath quite taken away all sense from thee.

13 Thou sayest, How doth God know? &c.] Perhaps thou fanciest, that because God is so high, he regards not what is done here below.

15 Hast thou marked the old way which wicked men have trodden? Hast thou forgotten the path followed by the atheistical inhabitants of the old world, who ran licentiously into all manner of wickedness?

20 Whereas our substance is not cut down, &c.] Whereas ■ who believe God's care and providence, are untouched in our estates.

28 Thou shalt also decree a thing, and it shall be established unto thee, &c.] Thou shalt accomplish whatsoever thou designest.

29 When men are cast down, then thou shalt say, There is lifting up, &c.] Thou shalt pray to God also to lift up others who ■ in ■ low condition.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXII.

These instructions flow from this chapter: That man cannot be profitable to God though he does never so much good, but that himself reaps the advantage: that the conduct of God, and the ways of his providence, are always righteous, in whatsoever he suffers to befall the good, or the wicked, and their posterity: and that when sinners fly to the mercy of God in Christ, and seriously repent of their evil ways, he puts ■ stop to his wrath, and lets them see the effects of his love and favour.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXIII.

WH Y, seeing times are not hidden from the Almighty, do they that know him not see his days?

2 Some remove the landmarks; they violently take away flocks, and feed thereof.

3 They drive away the asses of the fatherless, they take the widow's ox for a pledge.

4 They turn the needy out of the way: the poor of the earth hide themselves together.

5 Behold, as wild asses in the desert, go they forth to their work; rising betimes for a prey: the wilderness yieldeth food for them and for their children.

6 They reap every one his corn in the field: and they gather the vintage of the wicked.

7 They cause the naked to lodge without clothing, that they have no covering in the cold.

8 They are wet with the showers in the mountains, and embrace the rock for want of a shelter.

9 They pluck the fatherless from the breast, and take a pledge of the poor.

10 They cause him to go naked without clothing, and they take away the sheaf from the hungry;

6 Will he plead against me with his great power? No; but he would put strength in me.] Would he only plead his power, as his reason for this treatment of me, and say, Because I am God, I will act thus? No, he would rather, of his mercy, employ his power to support me.

10 But he knoweth the way that I take, &c.] God knows the whole course of my life; and when he hath proved me by these afflictions, I doubt not I shall be cleared from these imputations which you lay upon me.

13 But he is in one mind, &c.] He steadily pursues his purpose, nor can any other divert him from it, or hinder it from being fulfilled.

17 Because I was not cut off, &c.] Still he keeps me alive under all these evils which I endure, and will not let me have the favour to die by that hand which strikes me so severely.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXIV.

In order to judge rightly of what Job says in this chapter, and elsewhere, when he calls God to witness his integrity, and that he was willing to be judged by the Lord himself; we must not understand if he pretended to be innocent in all respects before God (for in ourselves we are all guilty sinners), but that he had the testimony of a good conscience, and an upright heart.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXIV.

1 Why, seeing times are not hidden, &c.] But to answer a little what you have so often asserted, if, as you maintain, the Almighty's punishment of the wicked is so visible, why do not the truly virtuous see and acknowledge these open judgments?

15 The eye also of the adulterer waiteth for the twilight, saying, No eye shall see me: and disguiseth his face.

16 In the dark they dig through houses, which they had marked for themselves in the daytime: they know not the light.

THEN answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said, 2 Dominion and fear are with him, he maketh peace in his high places.

3 Is there any number of his armies? and upon whom doth not his light arise?

4 How then can man be justified with God? or how can he be clean that is born of a woman?

5 Behold, as wild asses in the desert, &c.] Part of this chapter (particularly this and the following verses) seem to allude to the wild Arabs, whose profession is rapine, and yet they prosper by it.

18 He is swift as the waters, &c.] To this set of wicked men already instanced, we may also add the pirate, who robs upon the sea, and despises the labour of those who plant vineyards.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXV.

The design of this chapter is, to shew (as before) that it is a very false and dangerous sentiment to believe that men are innocent and acceptable to God, because they are happy in this world; or to pronounce them guilty, because they are unhappy; for God will at the last day render to all men according to their works, and there is no respect of persons with him.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXV.

1 Then answered Bildad, &c.] Bildad, unable to refute what Job had said, advises him to speak more reverently of God.

5, 6 Behold even to the moon, &c.] So inconceivably holy is the Lord of hosts, that he sees defilement even in the brightness of the firmament. How despicable then is man, who in his fallen state is as a worm, that delights in putrefaction!

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXV.

We learn from this chapter, that the power of God is infinite; that he is perfectly righteous and holy; and that man, being impure, cannot justify himself before him; we should therefore humble ourselves in his presence, and patiently submit to all his dispensations.

10. knowledgeth the power of God to be infinite and unsearchable.

BUT Job answered and said,
 2 How hast thou helped him that is without power? how havest thou the arm that hath no strength?
 3 How hast thou counselled him that hath no wisdom? and how hast thou plentifully declared the thing as it is?
 4 To whom hast thou uttered words? and whose spirit came from thee?
 5 Dead things are formed from under the waters, and the inhabitants thereof.
 6 Hell is naked before him, and destruction hath no covering.
 7 He stretcheth out the north over the empty place, and hangeth the earth upon nothing.
 8 He bindeth up the waters in his thick clouds; and the cloud is not rent under them.
 9 He holdeth back the face of his throne, and spreadeth his cloud upon it.
 10 He hath compassed the waters with bounds, until the day and night come to an end.
 11 The pillars of heaven tremble and are astonished at his reproof.
 12 He divideth the sea with his power, and by his understanding he smiteth through the proud.
 13 By his spirit he hath garnished the heavens; his hand hath formed the crooked serpent.
 14 Lo, these are parts of his ways: but how little a portion is heard of him? but the thunder of his power who can understand?

C H A P. XXVII.

1 Job protesteth his sincerity. 8 The hypocrite is without hope. 11 The blessings which the wicked have are turned into curses.

MOREOVER Job continued his parable, and said,
 2 As God liveth, who hath taken away my judgment; and the Almighty, who hath vexed my soul;
 3 All the while my breath is in me, and the spirit of God is in my nostrils;
 4 My lips shall not speak wickedness, nor my tongue utter deceit.
 5 God forbid that I should justify you: till I die I will not remove mine integrity from me.
 6 My righteousness I hold fast, and will not let it go: my heart shall not reproach me so long as I live.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXVI.

1 But Job answered, &c.] Job derides Beldad's great affectation of wisdom, and shews that his discourse was equally mean and impertinent.
 2, 3, 4 How hast thou, &c.] The LXX seem to give these verses a more emphatical meaning than our translation. 2 On whose side dost thou stand to help him? Is it not on his who has a great strength and a powerful arm? 3 Whom hast thou counselled, but him who has all wisdom? Whose follower wilt thou be? Wilt thou not be his who has the greatest power? 4 For whom hast thou uttered words? For him whose breath it is that comes out of thee?
 5 Dead things are formed from under the waters, &c.] The Vulgate reads, The giants groan from under the waters, &c. Shall the Rephaim or manes of the giants be brought forth again from under the waters, with which they were overwhelmed at the flood? Or those wicked souls (giants in wickedness) that have been since gathered to their assembly?
 9 He holdeth back the face of his throne, &c.] The clouds hide from our sight the heavens, which are called his throne.
 11 The pillars of heaven, &c.] The high mountains are beautifully called the pillars of heaven.
 12 He smiteth through the proud.] The proud waves: an old translation renders it, He smiteth the pride thereof.
 13 The crooked serpent.] By "the crooked serpent" is meant the celestial sign called the great dragon.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XXVI.

We are taught from hence, that we ought not to find fault with the works of God, or pry too curiously into his ways; but rest satisfied that he does all things wisely and righteously, humbly submit to his will, and acknowledge his goodness towards us.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXVII.

1 His parable, &c.] The word rendered "parable" signifies an ingenious and elegant sentence or speech: it here denotes that Job pro-

7 Let mine enemy be as the wicked, and he that riseth up against me as the unrighteous.

8 For what is the hope of the hypocrite, though he hath gained, when God taketh away his soul?

9 Will God hear his cry when trouble cometh upon him?

10 Will he delight himself in the Almighty? will he always call upon God?

11 I will teach you by the hand of God: that which is with the Almighty will I not conceal.

12 Behold, all ye yourselves have seen it: why then are ye thus altogether vain?

13 This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of oppressors, which they shall receive of the Almighty.

14 If his children be multiplied, it is for the sword: and his offspring shall not be satisfied with bread.

15 Those that remain of him shall be buried in death: and his widows shall not weep.

16 Though he heap up silver as the dust, and prepare raiment as the clay;

17 He may prepare it, but the just shall put it on, and the innocent shall divide the silver.

18 He buildeth his house as a moth, and as a booth that the keeper maketh.

19 The rich man shall lie down, but he shall not be gathered: he openeth his eyes, and he is not.

20 Terrors take hold on him as waters, a tempest stealeth him away in the night.

21 The east wind carrieth him away, and he departeth: and as a storm hurleth him out of his place.

22 For God shall cast upon him, and not spare: he would fain flee out of his hand.

23 Men shall clap their hands at him, and shall hiss him out of his place.

C H A P. XXVIII.

1 There is a knowledge of natural things. 12 But wisdom is an excellent gift of God.

SURELY there is a vein for the silver, and a place for gold where they fine it.

2 Iron is taken out of the earth, and brass is molten out of the stone.

3 He setteth an end to darkness, and searcheth out all perfection: the stones of darkness, and the shadow of death.

4 The flood breaketh out from the inhabitant; even the waters forgotten of the foot: they are dried up, they are gone away from men.

5 As ceeded in a triumphant way of speech, like one who had silenced his opponents, and had the better of his argument.

2 Who hath taken away my judgment, &c.] Hath so sorely afflicted me, that men cannot judge of my integrity, for they judge only by outward appearance.

5 God forbid that I should justify you, &c.] Never hope that I will yield to your opinion, which I know to be false.

10 Will he always call upon God?] Will he not despair of protection, and therefore cease to call upon his Maker?

18 He buildeth his house as a moth, &c.] He buildeth a magnificent edifice, out of which he is as easily shaken as a moth out of a garment.

19 The rich man shall lie down, &c.] The wicked rich man shall die; but shall not be gathered to the assembly of pious and good souls; he openeth his eyes in the other world, and finds himself quite lost and miserable.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XXVII.

The visible marks of God's justice towards the wicked, here exhibited to our view, should serve to draw us from injustice, covetousness, pride, and the love of the world, to the practice of piety and virtue.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Surely there is a vein for the silver, &c.] The design of Job here, is, to stop the busy enquiry of mankind, who are very wise in other things, but have not wit enough to comprehend the reasons why God does not inflict those punishments upon all wicked men, which falls upon some.

3 He setteth an end to darkness, &c.] He searcheth out the store of darkness, and of the shadow of death; he digs into another world, as it were, for gold and precious stones.

4 The flood, &c.] A flood breaks out from some neighbouring place, and disturbs the mines; but by the hard labour of man they are drained, and leave the place dry again.

5 As

Before
CHRIST
1520.

5 As for the earth, out of it cometh bread: and under it is turned up as it were fire.

6 The stones of it are the place of sapphires: and it hath dust of gold.

7 There is a path which no fowl knoweth, and which the vulture's eye hath not seen:

■ The lion's whelps have not trodden it, nor the fierce lion passed by it.

9 He putteth forth his hand upon the rock; he overturneth the mountains by the roots.

10 He cutteth out rivers among the rocks; and his eye seeth every precious thing.

11 He bindeth the floods from overflowing; and the thing that is hid bringeth he forth to light.

12 But where shall wisdom be found? and where is the place of understanding?

13 Man knoweth not the price thereof; neither is it found in the land of the living.

14 The depth saith, It is not in me: and the sea saith, It is not with me.

15 It cannot be gotten for gold, neither shall silver be weighed for the price thereof.

16 It cannot be valued with the gold of Ophir, with the precious onyx, or the sapphire.

17 The gold and the crystal cannot equal it: and the exchange of it shall not be for jewels of fine gold.

18 No mention shall be made of coral, or of pearls: for the price of wisdom is above rubies.

19 The topaz of Ethiopia shall not equal it, neither shall it be valued with pure gold.

20 Whence then cometh wisdom? and where is the place of understanding?

21 Seeing it is hid from the eyes of all living, and kept close from the fowls of the air.

22 Destruction and death say, We have heard the fame thereof with our ears.

23 God understandeth the way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof.

24 For he looketh to the ends of the earth, and seeth under the whole heaven;

25 To make the weight for the winds; and he weigheth the waters by measure.

26 When he made a decree for the rain, and a way for the lightning of the thunder:

27 Then did he see it, and declare it; he prepared it, yea, and searched it out.

28 And unto man he said, Behold, the fear of the LORD, that is wisdom; and to depart from evil is understanding.

C H A P. XXIX.

Job bemoaneth himself of his former prosperity and honour.

5 As for the earth, out of it cometh bread, &c.] Corn and herbs are produced on its surface, and in its bowels are found sulphur, naphtha, &c.

9 He putteth forth his hand upon the rock, &c.] He digs through the hardest rocks, and undermines the mountains, to find the treasure hid in their bowels.

10 He cutteth out rivers, &c.] If he meet with waters which obstruct his work, he cuts a channel through the rock, to divert their course, and never rests till he hath discovered every thing that may requite his pains.

12 But where shall wisdom be found? &c.] How successful soever man may be in these researches, he must not think to comprehend the mysteries of Providence.

13 Man knoweth not the price thereof, &c.] It is not to be purchased.

22 Destruction and death say, &c.] The meaning is, We have something relating to this question handed down to us by tradition from our forefathers, who are now dead.

28 And unto man he said, Behold, &c.] He imprinted this sense upon the mind of man, that he ought to be a humble adorer, and not a censurer of his secret wisdom.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXVIII.

We may gather from hence, that wisdom is a most precious thing: that God alone is the author of true wisdom, which he gives to all that seek it of him aright, with zeal, humility, and faith; and that it does not consist in knowing all the works of God; but what he has revealed, and how much is necessary for our happiness and an acquaintance with the author of our being.

MOREOVER Job continued his parable, and said,

■ Oh that I were as in months past, as in the days when God preserved me;

3 When his candle shined upon my head, and when by his light I walked through darkness;

4 As I was in the days of my youth, when the secret of God was upon my tabernacle;

5 When the Almighty was yet with me, when my children were about me;

6 When I washed my steps with butter, and the rock poured me out rivers of oil;

7 When I went out to the gate through the city, when I prepared my seat in the street!

8 The young men saw me, and hid themselves: and the aged arose, and stood up.

9 The princes refrained talking, and laid their hand on their mouth.

10 The nobles held their peace, and their tongue cleaved to the roof of their mouth.

11 When the ear heard me, then it blessed me; and when the eye saw me, it gave witness to me:

12 Because I delivered the poor that cried, and the fatherless, and him that had none to help him.

13 The blessing of him that was ready to perish came upon me: and I caused the widow's heart to sing for joy.

14 I put on righteousness, and it clothed me: my judgment was as a robe and a diadem.

15 I was eyes to the blind, and feet was I to the lame.

16 I was a father to the poor: and the cause which I knew not I searched out.

17 And I brake the jaws of the wicked, and plucked the spoil out of his teeth.

18 Then I said, I shall die in my nest, and I shall multiply my days as the sand.

19 My root was spread out by the waters, and the dew lay all night upon my branch.

20 My glory was fresh in me, and my bow was renewed in my hand.

21 Unto me men gave ear, and waited, and kept silence at my counsel.

22 After my words they spake not again; and my speech dropped upon them.

23 And they waited for me as for the rain; and they opened their mouth wide as for the latter rain.

24 If I laughed on them, they believed it not; and the light of my countenance they cast not down.

25 I chose out their way, and sat chief, and dwelt as a king in the army, as one that comforteth the mourners.

C H A P.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXIX.

1 Moreover Job continued, &c.] Job reminds his friends with what reverence his speeches were formerly received, wishing that God would restore him to those happy days, as he never abused his power, but always employed it in defence of the poor and friendless from oppression, and in forcing the wicked to restore what they had violently extorted.

4 When the secret of God was upon my tabernacle.] When it seemed to be God's peculiar care to prosper me and my family.

6 I washed my steps with butter, &c.] Rather with cream; a significative expression, denoting great plenty.

7 When I prepared my seat in the street!] Meaning, when he sat on the bench in the open place, where the people were wont to have their causes heard.

16 The cause which I knew not I searched out.] He did not stay till he was requested to maintain the right of the oppressed, but prevented them by making enquiries by virtue of his office.

18 I shall die in my nest, &c.] I shall die quietly in my own house.

19 My root was spread out, &c.] I was like a tree whose roots extended along the margin of the waters, and whose boughs were perpetually moistened by the dews of heaven.

23 They waited for me as for the rain, &c.] They expected my opinion with the same eager desire that the husbandman doth the showers, after he hath sown the corn.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XXIX.

We have a noble example and lesson set before us here; namely, that they who are rich and in authority, should make use of those advantages, in rendering justice to every one, and, above all, in doing good to the poor, comforting the miserable, and taking the part of those who are wronged.

COMMENTARY

CHAP. XXX.

Before CHRIST 1520. 1 Job's honour is turned into extreme contempt: 15 his prosperity into calamity.

BUT now they that are younger than I have me in derision, whose fathers I would have disdained to have set with the dogs of my flock.

2 Yea, whereto might the strength of their hands profit me, in whom old age was perished?

3 For want and famine they were solitary; fleeing into the wilderness in former time desolate and waste.

4 Who cut up mallows by the bushes, and juniper roots for their meat.

5 They were driven forth from among men, (they cried after them as after a thief;) 6 To dwell in the cliffs of the valleys, in caves of the earth, and in the rocks.

7 Among the bushes they brayed; under the nettles they were gathered together.

8 They were children of fools, yea, children of base men: they were viler than the earth.

9 And now am I their song, yea, I am their by word.

10 They abhor me, they flee far from me, and spare not to spit in my face.

11 Because he hath loosed my cord, and afflicted me, they have also let loose the bridle before me.

12 Upon my right hand rise the youth; they push away my feet, and they raise up against me the ways of their destruction.

13 They mar my path, they set forward my calamity, they have no helper.

14 They came upon me as a wide breaking in of waters: in the desolation they rolled themselves upon me.

15 Terrors are turned upon me: they pursue my soul as the wind: and my welfare passeth away as a cloud.

16 And now my soul is poured out upon me; the days of affliction have taken hold upon me.

17 My bones are pierced in me in the night season: and my sinews take no rest.

18 By the great force of my disease is my garment changed: it bindeth me about as the collar of my coat.

19 He hath cast me into the mire, and I am become like dust and ashes.

20 I cry unto thee, and thou dost not hear me: I stand up, and thou regardest me not.

21 Thou art become cruel to me: with thy strong hand thou opposedst thyself against me.

22 Thou liftest me up to the wind; thou causest me to ride upon it, and dissolvest my substance.

23 For I know that thou wilt bring me to death, and to the house appointed for all living.

24 Howbeit he will not stretch out his hand to the grave, though they cry in his destruction.

25 Did not I weep for him that was in trouble? was not my soul grieved for the poor?

26 When I looked for good, then evil came unto me: and when I waited for light, there came darkness.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXX.

But now] Job having, in the preceding chapter, given us an account of his former splendor, takes occasion here to annex a no less elegant description of the vileness of his present condition; hoping that the consideration of so prodigious a change might at last move his severe friends to some compassion towards him.

Whose fathers I would have disdained, &c.] Whose fathers I disdained to employ in the vilest services.

They have no helper.] They are sufficient to ruin me of themselves, and need no assistance from others.

Thou causest me to ride upon it, &c.] To ride upon the wind, here, is to be tossed about in it like straw; meaning, that he was violently shaken with his afflictions.

Howbeit he will not stretch out his hand to the grave, &c.] However, this is my comfort, that death will end my sufferings, which cannot go beyond the grave.

Without the sun, &c.] Without any beam of comfort.

I am a brother to dragons, &c.] I spend my time in lamentation, like one of those mournful creatures which fill the barren wastes with their doleful cries.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XXX.

The condition to which Job was reduced, ought to comfort those whom God causeth to pass through long and sharp trials; and No. 38.

27 My bowels boiled, and rested not: the days of affliction prevented me. Before CHRIST 1520.

28 I went mourning without the sun: I stood up, and I cried in the congregation.

29 I am a brother to dragons, and a companion to owls.

30 My skin is black upon me, and my bones are burned with heat.

31 My harp also is turned to mourning, and my organ into the voice of them that weep.

CHAP. XXXI.

Job maketh a solemn protestation of his integrity in several duties.

I MADE a covenant with mine eyes; why then should I think upon a maid?

2 For what portion of God is there from above? and what inheritance of the Almighty from on high?

3 Is not destruction to the wicked? and a strange punishment to the workers of iniquity?

4 Doth not he see my ways, and count all my steps?

5 If I have walked with vanity, or if my foot hath hastened to deceit;

6 Let me be weighed in an even balance, that God may know mine integrity.

7 If my step hath turned out of the way, and mine heart walked after mine eyes, and if any blot hath cleaved to mine hands;

8 Then let me sow, and let another eat; yea, let my offspring be rooted out.

9 If mine heart have been deceived by a woman, or if I have laid wait at my neighbour's door;

10 Then let my wife grind unto another, and let others bow down upon her.

11 For this is an heinous crime; yea, it is an iniquity to be punished by the judges.

12 For it is a fire that consumeth to destruction, and would root out all mine increase.

13 If I did despise the cause of my man-servant or of my maid-servant, when they contended with me;

14 What then shall I do when God riseth up? and when he visiteth, what shall I answer him?

15 Did not he that made me in the womb make him? and did not one fashion us in the womb?

16 If I have withheld the poor from their desire, or have caused the eyes of the widow to fail;

17 Or have eaten my morsel myself alone, and the fatherless hath not eaten thereof;

18 (For from my youth he was brought up with me, as with a father, and I have guided her from my mother's womb;)

19 If I have seen any perish for want of cloathing, or any poor without covering;

20 If his loins have not blessed me, and if he were not warmed with the fleece of my sheep;

21 If I have lifted up my hand against the fatherless, when I saw my help in the gate:

22 Then

from what happened to him, they should learn to moderate their complaints, undergo their sufferings with patience, and wait with resignation, in the path of duty, till God shall please to deliver them.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXXI.

I made a covenant with mine eyes, &c.] Do not, I beseech you, any longer look upon these sufferings as an argument of my guilt; for I declare unto you, that I have been careful to avoid ever the occasions of licentiousness, and therefore it cannot be thought that I ever laid a scheme to corrupt a virgin.

For what portion of God, &c.] For I well know that in heaven there is an almighty Being, who created and governs all things; and what must I expect from him, the reward of such impurity?

Let me be weighed in an even balance, &c.] The figure of God's weighing mankind in a balance, we find in many of the best authors; particularly Homer, Æschylus, Virgil, &c.

Mine heart walked after mine eyes, &c.] That is, hath accomplished the lust of mine eyes.

He was brought up with me, as with a father, and I have guided her, &c.] Job here declares that he nourished the fatherless, and maintained the widow's cause.

When I saw my help in the gate.] When Job saw that it was in his power to help in the gate, i. e. in a court of justice.

Before
CHRIST
1520.

22 Then let mine arm fall from my shoulder blade, and mine arm be broken from the bone.
23 For destruction from God was a terror to me, and by reason of his highness I could not endure.
24 If I have made gold my hope, or have said to the fine gold, Thou art my confidence;
25 If I rejoiced because my wealth was great, because mine hand had gotten much;
26 If I beheld the sun when it shined, or the moon walking in brightness;
27 And my heart hath been secretly enticed, or my mouth hath kissed my hand:
28 This also were an iniquity to be punished by the judge: for I should have denied the God that is above.
29 If I rejoiced at the destruction of him that hated me, or lifted up myself when evil found him:
30 Neither have I suffered my mouth to sin by wishing a curse to his soul.
31 If the men of my tabernacle said not, Oh that we had of his flesh! we cannot be satisfied.
32 The stranger did not lodge in the street: but I opened my doors to the traveller.
33 If I covered my transgressions as Adam, by hiding mine iniquity in my bosom:
34 Did I fear a great multitude, or did the contempt of families terrify me, that I kept silence, and went not out of the door?
35 Oh that one would hear me! behold, my desire is, that the Almighty would answer me, and that mine adversary had written a book.
36 Surely I would take it upon my shoulder, and bind it as a crown to me.
37 I would declare unto him the number of my steps; as a prince would I go near unto him.
38 If my land cry against me, or that the furrows likewise thereof complain;
39 If I have eaten the fruits thereof without money, or have caused the owners thereof to lose their life:
40 Let thistles grow instead of wheat, and cockle instead of barley. The words of Job are ended.

CHAP. XXXII.

I Elihu is angry with Job and his three friends. II He reproveth them for not satisfying of Job. 16 His zeal to speak.

SO these three men ceased to answer Job, because he was righteous in his own eyes.

■ Then was kindled the wrath of Elihu, the son of Barachel the Buzite, of the kindred of Ram: against Job was his wrath kindled, because he justified himself rather than God.

3 Also against his three friends was his wrath kindled, because they had found no answer, and yet had condemned Job.

23 For destruction from God, &c.] I was never so void of understanding, as to think I could withstand the Almighty's vengeance; the dread of it terrified me, knowing it was impossible for me to support myself against his omnipotent arm.

26, 27 If I beheld the sun, &c.] He denies his being ever inclined to idolatry, even when he viewed the heavenly luminaries shining in their utmost splendor.

31 If the men of my tabernacle, &c.] His servants would have persuaded him to be revenged of his enemy.

33 As Adam, &c.] Or as men.

34 Did I fear a great multitude, &c.] Septuagint, For I did not fear a great multitude, so not to confess before them, if I suffered a poor man to go out of my door with an empty lap.

40 The words of Job are ended.] Here Job ended his defence.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXXI.

Let us labour with all diligence to possess the principles by which Job's conduct was governed; that we may abhor all impurity, even in thoughts and looks, render justice to all the world, and shew mercy to the miserable; for the unclean, the unjust, the proud, the covetous, the uncharitable, and hypocrites, cannot escape the righteous judgment of God.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXXII.

■ Elihu.] He was the son of Buz, the son of Nahor, who lived in the southern part of Mesopotamia; and, upon the supposition that Job sprang from Abraham, was his distant relation. Elihu passes very judicious censure, not only upon the three friends, but upon

4 Now Elihu had waited till Job had spoken, because they were elder than he.

5 When Elihu saw that there was no answer in the mouth of these three men, then his wrath was kindled.

6 And Elihu the son of Barachel the Buzite answered and said, I am young, and ye are very old; wherefore I was afraid, and durst not shew you mine opinion.

7 I said, Days should speak, and multitude of years should teach wisdom.

8 But there is a spirit in man: and the inspiration of the Almighty giveth them understanding.

9 Great men are not always wise: neither do the aged understand judgment.

10 Therefore I said, Harken to me; I also will shew mine opinion.

11 Behold, I waited for your words; I gave ear to your reasons, whilst ye searched out what to say.

12 Yea, I attended unto you, and, behold, there was none of you that convinced Job, or that answered his words:

13 Lest ye should say, We have found out wisdom: God thrusteth him down, not man.

14 Now he hath not directed his words against me: neither will I answer him with your speeches.

15 They were amazed, they answered no more: they left off speaking.

16 When I had waited, (for they spake not, but stood still, and answered no more)

17 I said, I will answer also my part, I also will shew mine opinion.

18 For I am full of matter, the spirit within me constraineth me.

19 Behold, my belly is as wine which hath no vent; it is ready to burst like new bottles.

20 I will speak, that I may be refreshed: I will open my lips and answer.

21 Let me not, I pray you, accept any man's person, neither let me give flattering titles unto man.

22 For I know not to give flattering titles; in so doing my maker would soon take me away.

CHAP. XXXIII.

I Elihu offereth himself instead of God with sincerity and meekness to reason with Job. 8 He excuseth God from giving man an account of his ways, by his greatness. 31 He inciteth Job to attention.

WHEREFORE, Job, I pray thee, hear my speeches, and hearken to all my words.

2 Behold, now I have opened my mouth, my tongue hath spoken in my mouth.

3 My words shall be of the uprightness of my heart: and my lips shall utter knowledge clearly.

4 The Spirit of God hath made me, and the breath of the Almighty hath given me life.

5 If

Job himself: he thinks he had not managed the dispute with so much calmness, and submission to God, as became his piety.

He justified himself rather than God.] He was more solicitous to defend his own innocence, than to give God the glory, and, by justifying himself, he seemed to accuse God of rigour.

19 My belly is as wine, &c.] The meaning is, like wine put into old bottles, (agreeable to our Saviour's expression in the parable); for their bottles were of leather.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXXII.

We may perceive that Elihu was a wise and understanding man, since he passed a better judgment on the condition of Job, than himself or his three friends had done; blaming Job for speaking favourably of himself, and his friends for having condemned him; which shews us, that we should always speak freely, impartially, and with sincerity, as before the Lord; nor should the regard of men's persons prevent our saying what is to the glory of God and the good of mankind.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXXIII.

■ Wherefore, Job, I pray thee, hear my speeches, &c.] Here Elihu addresses his speech to Job only; and begins to reprehend those passages which he thought were blameable in Job's speeches, particularly his insisting so much upon his integrity.

4 The Spirit of God hath made me, &c.] I am a man as thou art, therefore thou mayest reply freely, without fear of being overcome by my power, or overawed by my greatness, as you apprehend you may be by the power and greatness of God.

JOB, Chap. XXXIV. Ver. 7. 8.

Burder sculp.

What man is like Job who drinketh up scorning like water? which goeth in company with the workers of Iniquity, &c.

^{Before CHRIST 1520.} 5 If thou canst answer me, set thy words in order before me, stand up.

6 Behold, I am according to thy wish, in God's stead: I also am formed out of the clay.

7 Behold, my terror shall not make thee afraid, neither shall my hand be heavy upon thee.

8 Surely thou hast spoken in mine hearing, and I have heard the voice of thy words, saying,

9 I am clean without transgression, I am innocent; neither is there iniquity in me.

10 Behold, he findeth occasions against me, he counteth me for his enemy.

11 He putteth my feet in the stocks, he marketh all my paths.

12 Behold, in this thou art not just: I will answer thee, that God is greater than man.

13 Why dost thou strive against him? for he giveth not account of any of his matters.

14 For God speaketh once, yea twice, yet man perceiveth it not.

15 In a dream, in a vision of the night, when deep sleep falleth upon men, in slumberings upon the bed;

16 Then he openeth the ears of men, and sealeth their instruction,

17 That he may withdraw man from his purpose, and hide pride from man.

18 He keepeth back his soul from the pit, and his life from perishing by the sword.

19 He is chastened also with pain upon his bed, and the multitude of his bones with strong pain:

20 So that his life abhorreth bread, and his soul dainty meat.

21 His flesh is consumed away, that cannot be seen; and his bones that were not seen stick out.

22 Yea, his soul draweth near unto the grave, and his life to the destroyers.

23 If there be a messenger with him, an interpreter, one among a thousand, to shew unto man his uprightness:

24 Then he is gracious unto him, and saith, Deliver him from going down to the pit: I have found a ransom.

25 His flesh shall be fresher than a child's: he shall return to the days of his youth:

26 He shall pray unto God, and he will be favourable unto him: and he shall see his face with joy: for he will render unto man his righteousness.

27 He looketh upon men, and if any say, I have sinned, and perverted that which was right, and it profited me not;

28 He will deliver his soul from going into the pit, and his life shall see the light.

29 Lo, all these things worketh God oftentimes with man,

30 To bring back his soul from the pit, to be enlightened with the light of the living.

31 Mark well, O Job, hearken unto me: hold thy peace, and I will speak.

14 God speaketh once, yea twice, &c.] God reveals himself to man more ways than one, as he sees fit.

19 He is chastened also with pain upon his bed, &c.] Another way is, by painful diseases which God inflicts upon men, and lays them languishing upon their beds of sickness.

23, 24, 25 If there be a messenger, &c.] If the Almighty please to send a righteous messenger, who can explain the reason for the proceedings of Providence, and can persuade the afflicted person to repent, and turn him from the evil of his ways, he shall implore the mercies of God for him, saying, Spare thy servant, O Lord, &c. Some understand this messenger to allude to Christ, who is styled the messenger of the covenant.

27 He looketh upon men, &c.] That converted sinner shall proclaim God's grace to men, and shall propose himself for an example.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXXIII.

The conduct of the Lord towards men is here represented in a noble point of view, likewise the means he uses to withdraw them from their sins: he speaks once and twice unto them with great patience; sends pain and distempers upon them, so as to bring them to the brink of the grave, designing hereby to turn man from the evil he would else do. And if in such a state of affliction they would have recourse to God, and be assisted by the 32 If thou hast any thing to say, answer me; speak, for I desire to justify thee.

33 If not, hearken unto me: hold thy peace, and I shall teach thee wisdom.

C H A P. XXXIV.

1 Elihu accuseth Job for charging God with injustice.

10 God omnipotent cannot be unjust. 31 Man must humble himself unto God. 34 Elihu reproveth Job.

FURTHERMORE Elihu answered and said,

■ Hear my words, O ye wise men; and give ear unto me, ye that have knowledge.

3 For the ear trieth words, as the mouth tasteth meat.

4 Let us choose to us judgment: let us know among ourselves what is good.

5 For Job hath said, I am righteous: and God hath taken away my judgment.

6 Should I lie against my right? my wound is incurable without transgression.

7 What man is like Job, who drinketh up scorning like water?

8 Which goeth in company with the workers of iniquity, and walketh with wicked men.

9 For he hath said, It profiteth a man nothing that he should delight himself with God.

10 Therefore hearken unto me, ye men of understanding: far be it from God, that he should do wickedness; and from the Almighty, that he should commit iniquity.

11 For the work of a man shall he render unto him, and cause every man to find according to his ways.

12 Yea, surely God will not do wickedly, neither will the Almighty pervert judgment.

13 Who hath given him a charge over the earth? or who hath disposed the whole world?

14 If he set his heart upon man, if he gather unto himself his spirit and his breath;

15 All flesh shall perish together, and man shall turn again unto dust.

16 If now thou hast understanding, hear this: hearken to the voice of my words.

17 Shall even he that hateth right govern? and wilt thou condemn him that is most just?

18 Is it fit to say to a king, Thou art wicked? and to princes, Ye are ungodly?

19 How much less to him that accepteth not the persons of princes, nor regardeth the rich more than the poor? for they all are the work of his hands.

20 In a moment shall they die, and the people shall be troubled at midnight, and pass away: and the mighty shall be taken away without hand.

21 For his eyes are upon the ways of man, and he seeth all his goings.

22 There is no darkness, nor shadow of death, where the workers of iniquity may hide themselves.

23 For he will not lay upon man more than right; that he should enter into judgment with God.

24 He warnings and prayers of God's faithful servants, he will have compassion on them, will re-establish them, and give them occasion to praise his power and goodness exerted in their behalf.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES on Chap. XXXIV.

4 Let us choose to us judgment, &c.] Let us agree to examine the business, that we may be able to pronounce a righteous judgment.

6 Should I lie against my right, &c.] This is a continuation of Job's plea, repeated here by Elihu.

7 Who drinketh up scorning like water.] Who, instead of adoring the Almighty, speaks contemptuously of his judgments.

8 Which goeth in company, &c.] i. e. Argues and discourses after the same manner: namely, asserting that it is vain and unprofitable to serve God.

13 Who hath given him a charge over the earth, &c.] He did not receive the government of the world from any above himself.

14 If he gather unto himself his spirit and his breath.] If he recall that spirit or life which he hath infused into them, &c.

20 At midnight, &c.] When least expected, and in the deepest security.

23 He will not lay upon man more than right; that he should not enter into judgment with God.] God doth not afflict man above measure, so that he should have occasion to contend with God.

33 Should

Before
CHRIST

24 He shall break in pieces mighty men without number, and set others in their stead.

25 Therefore he knoweth their works, and he overturneth them in the night, so that they are destroyed.

26 He striketh them as wicked men in the open sight of others;

27 Because they turned back from him, and would not consider any of his ways:

28 So that they cause the cry of the poor to come unto him, and he heareth the cry of the afflicted.

29 When he giveth quietness, who then can make trouble? and when he hideth his face, who then can behold him? whether it be done against a nation, or against a man only:

30 That the hypocrite reign not, lest the people be ensnared.

31 Surely it is meet to be said unto God, I have borne chastisement, I will not offend any more:

32 That which I see not teach thou me: if I have done iniquity, I will do no more.

33 Should it be according to thy mind? he will recompence it, whether thou refuse, or whether thou choose; and not I: therefore speak what thou knowest.

34 Let men of understanding tell me, and let a wise man hearken unto me.

35 Job hath spoken without knowledge, and his words were without wisdom.

36 My desire is that Job may be tried unto the end because of his answers for wicked men.

37 For he addeth rebellion unto his sin, he clappeth his hands among us, and multiplieth his words against God.

C H A P. XXXV.

1 Comparison is not to be made with God, because our good or evil cannot extend unto him. 9 Many cry in their afflictions, but are not heard for want of faith.

ELIHU spake moreover, and said, 2 Thinkest thou this to be right, that thou saidst, My righteousness is more than God's?

3 For thou saidst, What advantage will it be unto thee? and, What profit shall I have, if I be cleansed from my sin?

4 I will answer thee, and thy companions with thee.

5 Look unto the heavens, and see; and behold the clouds which are higher than thou.

6 If thou sinnest, what doest thou against him? or if thy transgressions be multiplied, what doest thou unto him?

7 If thou be righteous, what givest thou him? or what receiveth he of thine hand?

33 Should it be according to thy mind, &c.] God will recompence it if thou dost despise such good counsel; which perhaps thou wilt chuse to do, but so would not I; speak therefore what thy opinion is.

36 My desire is that Job may be tried unto the end, &c.] He desires that the affliction of Job might be continued upon him, till he recanted those answers in which he complained of divine Providence, after the manner of wicked men.

37 He clappeth his hands among us, &c.] "He clappeth his hands," in sign of victory and triumph.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXXIV.

We see in this chapter that God does every thing wisely and justly, and gives account to none, of his ways; he is omniscient and infinitely good; therefore, when he corrects us, we should humble ourselves, beseech him to make known our faults to us, and say to him, If I have committed iniquity, I will do so no more.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXXV.

Thinkest thou this to be right, &c.] How can this agree? And is it not absurd in you to appeal to God's judgment, to be approved of and justified, if in the mean while you contend with him, as though he respected not good or evil works, nor gave them their due reward?

4 Thy companions with thee.] Such are in the like error.

9 By reason of the multitude of oppressions, &c.] The tyranny of the mighty forces the oppressed to cry aloud to God for vengeance; who, though he be not hurt himself by it; yet is touched with a sense of their affliction.

10 Who giveth songs in the night, &c.] Who is able not only to relieve, but also to comfort and give joy in the midst of the saddest affliction.

8 Thy wickedness may hurt a man as thou art; and thy righteousness may profit the son of man.

9 By reason of the multitude of oppressions they make the oppressed to cry: they cry out by reason of the arm of the mighty.

10 But none saith, Where is God my maker, who giveth songs in the night;

11 Who teacheth us more than the beasts of the earth, and maketh us wiser than the fowls of heaven?

12 There they cry, but none giveth answer, because of the pride of evil men.

13 Surely God will not hear vanity, neither will the Almighty regard it.

14 Although thou sayest thou shalt not see him, yet judgment is before him; therefore trust thou in him.

15 But now, because it is not so, he hath visited in his anger; yet he knoweth it not in great extremity;

16 Therefore doth Job open his mouth in vain; he multiplieth words without knowledge.

C H A P. XXXVI.

1 Elihu sheweth how God is just in his ways, 16 and how Job's sins hinder God's blessings. 24 God's works are to be magnified.

ELIHU also proceeded, and said,

2 Suffer me a little, and I will shew that I have yet to speak on God's behalf.

3 I will fetch my knowledge from afar, and will ascribe righteousness to my Maker.

4 For truly my words shall not be false: he that is perfect in knowledge is with thee.

5 Behold, God is mighty, and despiseth not any: he is mighty in strength and wisdom.

6 He preserveth not the life of the wicked: but giveth right to the poor.

7 He withdraweth not his eyes from the righteous: but with kings are they on the throne; yea, he doth establish them for ever, and they are exalted.

8 And if they be bound in fetters, and be holden in cords of affliction;

9 Then he sheweth them their work, and their transgressions that they have exceeded.

10 He openeth also their ear to discipline, and commandeth that they return from iniquity.

11 If they obey and serve him, they shall spend their days in prosperity, and their years in pleasures.

12 But if they obey not, they shall perish by the sword, and they shall die without knowledge.

13 But the hypocrites in heart heap up wrath: they cry not when he bindeth them.

14 The

11 Who teacheth us more than the beasts, &c.] He who takes care of the beasts and birds, will not neglect the human race, if with hearty repentance, a thankful sense of his benefits, and a humble confidence in his goodness, we piously address ourselves unto him.

14 Although thou sayest thou shalt not see him, &c.] Therefore although thou complainest that thou dost not see him appear for thy deliverance, yet do not conclude from thence that he is unrighteous: but go and condemn thyself before him, and then patiently wait for his mercy.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XXXV.

We may hence learn, that God commands nothing, nor forbids any thing but for our good, therefore we ought cheerfully to acquiesce in all his dispensations, and thank him for those sacred records in which our faith and duty are founded, for the means of grace, and the hope of glory; whereas they who reject the gospel of Christ will be punished as objects of the divine displeasure, while the mercy and justice of God will shine forth conspicuously for ever.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Elihu also proceeded, &c.] Having censured some of Job's unwarrantable expressions, Elihu proceeds here to shew, from the nature of God, and the methods of his providence, that if he had, instead of disputing, submitted himself to the divine chastisement, he would have been delivered; and his not discerning the reason of these corrections, ought not to have hindered his humble submission, because we are not able to comprehend any of the works of God which we see every day, and acknowledge to be excellently contrived.

5 God is mighty and despiseth not any, &c.] Though he is mighty, he despiseth not any.

8, 9 If they be bound in fetters, &c.] If he visits them with affliction, it is only to bring them to reflection, and to shew them their sins.

- 14 They die in youth, and their life is among the unclean.
- 15 He delivereth the poor in his affliction, and openeth their ears in oppression.
- 16 Even so would he have removed thee out of the strait into a broad place, where there is no straitness; and that which should be set on thy table should be full of fatness.
- 17 But thou hast fulfilled the judgment of the wicked: judgment and justice take hold on thee.
- 18 Because there is wrath, beware lest he take thee away with his stroke: then a great ransom cannot deliver thee.
- 19 Will he esteem thy riches? no, not gold, nor all the forces of strength.
- 20 Define not the night, when people are cut off in their place.
- 21 Take heed, regard not iniquity: for this hast thou chosen rather than affliction.
- 22 Behold, God exalteth by his power, who teacheth like him?
- 23 Who hath enjoined him his way? or, who can say, Thou hast wrought iniquity?
- 24 Remember that thou magnify his work, which men behold.
- 25 Every man may see it; man may behold it afar off.
- 26 Behold, God is great, and we know him not, neither can the number of his years be searched out.
- 27 For he maketh small the drops of water: they pour down rain according to the vapour thereof.
- 28 Which the clouds do drop and distil upon man abundantly.
- 29 Also can any understand the spreadings of the clouds, or the noise of his tabernacle?
- 30 Behold he spreadeth his light upon it; and covereth the bottom of the sea.
- 31 For by them judgeth he the people; he giveth meat in abundance.
- 32 With clouds he covereth the light; and commandeth it not to shine by the cloud that cometh betwixt.
- 33 The noise thereof sheweth concerning it, the cattle also concerning the vapour.

CHAP. XXXVII.

God is to be feared for his great works. 15 His wisdom is unsearchable in them.

At this also my heart trembleth, and is moved out of his place.

- 2 Hear attentively the noise of his voice, and the sound that goeth out of his mouth.
- 3 He directeth it under the whole heaven, and his lightning unto the ends of the earth.
- 4 After it a voice roareth: he thundereth with the voice of his excellency; and he will not stay them when his voice is heard.

But thou hast fulfilled the judgment of the wicked, &c.] But thou hast maintained the cause of the wicked. All the latter part of this chapter, and most of the next, is either mutilated in the copies, or else the sense is unsearchable.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XXXVII. We are taught from this chapter, that it is our duty, on all occasions, to vindicate the divine Providence, although, at the same time, we may not thoroughly understand the nature, and necessity of those events that come under our observation; but in all doubtful matters, we should suspend our judgment, till that time arrives when God shall judge the world in righteousness.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXXVII.

1. At this time also, &c.] Here continues his discourse concerning the incomprehensible works of God, limiting himself chiefly (as he had done in the foregoing chapter) to his wonders in the clouds; to which at last he joins the amazing extent, brightness, and firmness of the sky, in which the sun shines with a lustre we are incapable of beholding; and thence he concludes, that the splendour of the divine Majesty is infinitely more dazzling, and that therefore we must not pretend to give an account of his counsels.

7. He sealeth up the hand of every man, &c.] His storm putteth a stop to the business of all those who labour in the field.

18. As a molten looking-glass.] The colour of the sky, when clear,

- 6 For he saith to the snow, Be thou on the earth; likewise to the small rain, and to the great rain of his strength.
- 7 He sealeth up the hand of every man; that all men may know his work.
- 8 Then the beasts go into dens, and remain in their places.
- 9 Out of the south cometh the whirlwind: and cold out of the north.
- 10 By the breath of God frost is given: and the breadth of the waters is straitened.
- 11 Also by watering he wearieth the thick cloud: he scattereth his bright cloud:
- 12 And it is turned round about by his counsels: that they may do whatsoever he commandeth them upon the face of the world in the earth.
- 13 He causeth it to come, whether for correction, or for his land, or for mercy.
- 14 Harken unto this, O Job: stand still, and consider the wondrous works of God.
- 15 Dost thou know when God disposed them, and caused the light of his cloud to shine?
- 16 Dost thou know the balancings of the clouds, the wondrous works of him which is perfect in knowledge?
- 17 How thy garments are warm, when he quieteth the earth by the south wind?
- 18 Hast thou with him spread out the sky, which is strong, and as a molten looking glass?
- 19 Teach us what we shall say unto him; for we cannot order our speech by reason of darkness.
- 20 Shall it be told him that I speak? if a man speak, surely he shall be swallowed up.
- 21 And now men see not the bright light which is in the clouds: but the wind passeth, and cleanseth them.
- 22 Fair weather cometh out of the north: with God is terrible majesty.
- 23 Touching the Almighty we cannot find him out: he is excellent in power, and in judgment, and in plenty of justice: he will not afflict.
- 24 Men do therefore fear him: he respecteth not any that are wise of heart.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

God challengeth Job to answer. 4 God, by his mighty works, convinceth Job of ignorance, 31 and of imbecility.

THEN the Lord answered Job out of the whirlwind, and said,

- 2 Who is this that darkeneth counsel by words without knowledge?
- 3 Gird up now thy loins like a man; for I will demand of thee, and answer thou me.

22. Fair weather cometh, &c.] The LXX hath it thus, Out of the north come clouds of golden colour, and there is in them a terrible brightness and glory of the Almighty. This is true of Arabia; and a probable argument that Job was of that country.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XXXVIII. We are here taught, that it is our duty to adore, with profound humility, the ways of the Lord; to confess his power, justice, and goodness, as well as our own ignorance and weakness, and on all occasions to look up to God for wisdom, who alone is able to conduct us through all the dark and intricate mazes of his providence.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XXXVIII.

1. Then the Lord answered Job, &c.] A general silence ensued: when the Almighty appears himself as judge, to decide this great controversy; and convinces Job of his ignorance and weakness. The words here ascribed to God are far superior to any thing we meet with in the most elegant poets, whether ancient or modern, which plainly evinces, that the whole of this sacred book was dictated by unerring wisdom.

2. That darkeneth counsel by words without knowledge.] i. e. That disparages my counsels with his ignorant discourses about them.

36 Who hath put wisdom in the inward parts, &c.] Didst thou give thyself understanding?

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON CHAP. XXXIX.

We hence learn, that God alone governs the world; he is also the fountain of all wisdom; that our knowledge is foolishness, unless it proceeds from a perfect acquaintance with, and reliance on him; let these considerations, therefore sink us deep in humility, and teach us the necessity of a continual dependence upon him.

16 She is hardened against her young ones, &c.] It is observable that the ostrich has a very small share of that natural affection which so strongly exerts itself in other creatures; for upon the least distant noise, or any trivial occasion, she forsakes her eggs or young ones, which perhaps she never returns; or if she does, it may be too late either to restore genial warmth to the one, or preserve the lives of the other.

17 God hath deprived her of wisdom, &c.] She is also inconsiderate and foolish in the choice of her food; swallowing every thing indiscriminately, with the utmost greediness, whether pieces of rags, leather, wood, stone, lead, or iron.

19 Hast thou given the horse strength? &c.] Here follows one of the most lively and beautiful descriptions that was ever penned. In this description, the sacred poet makes all the beauties flow from an inward principle in the creature he describes, and thereby gives great spirit and vivacity to it: here all the great and sprightly images that thought can form of this generous beast, expressed in such force and energy of style, as would have given the great wits of antiquity new laws for the sublime, had they been acquainted with these writings.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON CHAP. XL.

4 Behold, I am vile; what shall I answer thee? &c.] Job, whose great confusion and terror had hitherto kept him silent, now answers with becoming humility, that he was a wretched creature, and unworthy to speak to the Majesty of heaven.

5 Once have I spoken; but I will not answer: yea, twice; but I will proceed no further.] I have said too much already, in speaking only two or three words to thee; but I have done, I will add no more.

23 And hasteth not, &c.] Drinketh at leisure, without fear.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Chap. XL.

We are hence taught, that our most exalted ideas fall infinitely short of the nature of the divine Being; that he is unsearchable in his councils; and that when any thing in creation exceeds our comprehension, it should at once excite in us wonder and love, adoration and humility.

4 Hear, I beseech thee, and I will speak: I will demand of thee, and declare thou unto me.

5 I have heard of thee by the hearing of the ear: but now mine eye seeth thee.

6 Wherefore I abhor myself, and repent in dust and ashes.

7 ¶ And it was so, that after the LORD had spoken these words unto Job, the LORD said to Eliphaz the Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends: for ye have not spoken of me the thing that is right, as my servant Job hath.

8 Therefore take unto you now seven bullocks and seven rams, and go to my servant Job, and offer up for yourselves a burnt offering; and my servant Job shall pray for you: for him will I accept: lest I deal with you after your folly, in that ye have not spoken of me the thing which is right, like my servant Job.

9 ¶ So Eliphaz the Temanite and Bildad the Shuhite and Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according as the LORD commanded them: the LORD also accepted Job.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON Chap. XLII.

1 Then Job answered the Lord, and said.] The foregoing speeches having in so lively a manner represented the power and wisdom of God in his works, awakened Job to a fuller conviction of his error than he had before, and forced him now to submit himself to the great Lord of all, the creator, the disposer, the preserver of the universe; with the profoundest humility confessing, repenting, and begging pardon for his faults; resigning himself entirely to be instructed by him, and resolving never hereafter to complain of or question the equity and goodness of his providence.

4 I will demand of thee, and declare thou unto me.] Let me learn of thee, and do thou instruct my ignorance.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Chap. XLII.

The conclusion of this history affords an illustrious example, whereby we see, that if God afflicts his children to try them, he grants them at length a happy deliverance; and that oftentimes he blesses them in this life, and gives them much more than he had taken from them. We should therefore never be discouraged under our circumstances, but trust in God, imitating the piety and patience of Job, and then we shall find, as he did, that the Lord is full of compassion, and ever ready to give us more than we either desire or deserve.

The Book of PSALMS.

THE ARGUMENT.

The book of Psalms is a collection of spiritual songs and hymns, compiled by several men in several ages: most of them were composed by David, some by Solomon, and one (if not more) by Moses. Some were composed during the captivity, and some after their return. It is probable that some pious persons collected as many of the psalms as they could find, and doubtless preserved them for their comfort in their captivity; and when they returned to Jerusalem, brought them with them; where Ezra ranged them in one collection, in the manner we now have them. The Hebrews sung their psalms with different instruments: the word "psalm," which is Greek, signifies the sound of a stringed instrument of music.

PSAL. I.

1 The happiness of the godly. 4 The unhappiness of the ungodly.

BLESSED is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful.

2 But his delight is in the law of the LORD; and in his law doth he meditate day and night.

3 And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf also shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper.

4 The ungodly are not so: but are like the chaff which the wind driveth away.

5 Therefore the ungodly shall not stand in the judgment, nor sinners in the congregation of the righteous.

6 For the LORD knoweth the way of the righteous: but the way of the ungodly shall perish.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. I.

1 Blessed is the man, &c.] The psalmist here distinguishes the wicked into three different ranks; viz. the man that "walketh in the counsel of the ungodly," the man that "standeth in the way of sinners," and the man that "sitteth in the seat of the scornful." By the "scornful" are meant those who not only neglect, but also scoff at religion, and make mock of that, which of all things in the world is of the greatest importance. Walking or standing in the way of sinners, represents only particular wicked actions; but sitting signifies a fixed, resolute establishment in an habit of wickedness.

3 And he shall be like a tree, &c.] As a tree planted near the water of a perpetual fountain flourishes all the year; so shall the pious man be ever prosperous, and in the issue reap a plentiful fruit of his labours.

4 Like the chaff which the wind driveth away.] The ancient method of winnowing their corn, and as it is now practised in the east, was by throwing it up against the wind with a shovel.

5 Shall not stand in the judgment, &c.] Let them not think to defend themselves when God judges the world.

6 The Lord knoweth the way, &c.] i. e. He approves and highly esteems the way, &c.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Psal. I.

We are taught, in this psalm, that it is the duty of every Christian to remove from the company and disorders of the wicked, and to delight chiefly in the meditation of the law of the Lord; that God knows, blesses, and prospers the righteous; but the wicked shall not escape his vengeance; but, sooner or later, will be plunged into inconceivable miseries.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. II.

Under the history of David, whom God raised to a throne, and established in it, we have also an illustrious prophecy of the kingdom of CHRIST, whom God raised even from the dead, made him the King of glory, and extended his kingdom to the uttermost parts of the earth, notwithstanding all the rage and malice of the powers of earth and hell.

2 The kings of the earth, &c.] The kings and governors of the world are confederated to oppose the designs of God, who has anointed one king over his people; in the same manner Herod, Pontius Pilate, and the rulers of Israel, will conspire against the Messiah, and will endeavour to dethrone him to whom God hath given all the kingdoms of the earth. So the apostles interpreted this psalm; see Acts iv. 27.

3 Let us break their bands asunder, &c.] Let us, say they, shake off all obedience to this new king; we will not have him to reign over us.

6 Yet have I set my king upon my holy hill of Zion.] Notwithstanding all your opposition, I have anointed and set up David, who rules by my authority in the hill of Zion, the place of my peculiar residence: as in future time I will also anoint one of his posterity to sit on the throne of glory, at the right hand of the Majesty on high.

7 I will declare the decree: the Lord hath said, &c.] This is descriptive of the great exaltation of the Lord Jesus Christ, whom God had fore-determined to raise again to life after being dead and buried, and then to crown with glory and honour in the heavens.

8 Ask of me, and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession.

9 Thou shalt break them with a rod of iron; thou shalt dash them in pieces like a potter's vessel.

10 Be wise now therefore, O ye kings: be instructed, ye judges of the earth.

11 Serve the LORD with fear, and rejoice with trembling.

2 O ye sons of men, how long will ye turn my glory

■ I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, &c.] You shall shortly behold the heathen subdued by David; and hereafter all the nations of the earth shall be subjected to the power of Christ.

10 Be wise now therefore, &c.] Submit therefore to the decrees of heaven, for it will be madness to oppose the Lord's anointed.

12 Kiss the Son] To kiss, which is a symbol of love, and a token of obedience, (see 1 Sam. x. 1.) is here put for to love and obey.

And ye perish from the way, &c.] And ye cry, wander, or deviate, from the right way.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Psal. II.

David's confidence, manifested in this psalm, shews us, that whatever men do contrary to the designs of God, is vain; for his decrees will surely come to pass. But we ought more especially to consider this psalm (and indeed many others) as relating to the spiritual kingdom of Jesus Christ, which has been established in spite of all opposition, and will subsist for ever: let us therefore submit ourselves to this glorious King, serve him with fear and joy, and place all our trust in his protection and favour.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. III.

1 Lord, how are they increased, &c.] Lord, how amazing is this change! I who lately triumphed over so many countries, now see mine own subjects in arms against me; and, with mine own son, conspiring to deprive me of both crown and life.

2 Of my soul] i. e. Concerning me, or my life. Selah.] This word signifies an elevation of the voice; and may be applied either to the attention of the mind, or the raising of the voice.

7 Upon the cheek bone, &c.] To smite upon the cheek bone, is sign and term of reproach.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Psal. III.

The instruction here laid down is, that ■■■■ who fears God, may be reduced to great distress; but he nevertheless does not lose his confidence, neither does he fear men; but always depends upon the existence of God, even in the midst of the greatest dangers.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. IV.

4 Stand in awe, and sin not: commune with your own heart upon your bed, and be still. Selah.

5 Offer the sacrifices of righteousness, and put your trust in the LORD.

6 There be many that say, Who will shew us any good? LORD, lift thou up the light of thy countenance upon us.

7 Thou hast put gladness in my heart, more than in the time that their corn and their wine increased.

8 I will both lay me down in peace, and sleep: for thou, LORD, only makest me dwell in safety.

1 David prayeth and professeth his study in prayer. 4 God favoureth not the wicked. 7 David professing his faith, prayeth unto God to guide him, 10 to destroy his enemies, 11 and to preserve the godly.

To the chief Musician upon Nehiloth, A Psalm of David.

GIVE ear to my words, O LORD, consider my meditation.

2 Harken unto the voice of my cry, my King, and my God: for unto thee will I pray.

3 My voice shalt thou hear in the morning, O LORD; in the morning will I direct my prayer unto thee, and will look up.

4 For thou art not a God that hath pleasure in wickedness: neither shall evil dwell with thee.

5 The foolish shall not stand in thy sight: thou hatest all workers of iniquity.

6 Thou shalt destroy them that speak leasing: the LORD will abhor the bloody and deceitful man.

7 But as for me, I will come into thy house in the multitude of thy mercy: and in thy fear will I worship toward thy holy temple.

8 Lead me, O LORD, in thy righteousness because of mine enemies; make thy way straight before my face.

Neginoth, &c.] Stringed musical instruments.

1 Thou hast enlarged me when I was in distress; have mercy upon me, &c.] Thou hast heretofore delivered me out of my troubles and greatest dangers, which makes me hope thou wilt still take pity upon me, and hear and grant my humble petition.

And seek after leasing? &c.] Invent calumnies, and industriously spread lies.

6 There be many that say, &c.] Many are apt to despair; but do thou, O Lord, look favourably upon us, and bless us.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Psal. IV.

We may learn from hence, that the enterprizes formed against the righteous are vain; that worldly men seek only for the advantages of this life, but that the children of God aspire only to obtain his favour, which constitutes both their happiness and security; and fills their heart with more joy, even under the greatest afflictions, than worldly men have in their greatest prosperity.

1 David's complaint in his sickness. 8 By faith he triumpheth over his enemies.

To the chief Musician on Neginoth upon Sheminith, A Psalm of David.

O LORD, rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chasten me in thy hot displeasure.

2 Have mercy upon me, O LORD; for I am weak: O LORD, heal me; for my bones are vexed.

3 My soul is also sore vexed: but thou, O LORD, how long?

4 Return, O LORD, deliver my soul: Oh save me for thy mercies' sake.

5 For in death there is no remembrance of thee: in the grave who shall give thee thanks?

6 I am weary with my groaning; all the night make I my bed to swim; I water my couch with my tears.

7 Mine eye is consumed because of grief; it waxeth old because of all mine enemies.

8 Depart from me, all ye workers of iniquity; for the LORD hath heard the voice of my weeping.

9 The LORD hath heard my supplication; the LORD will receive my prayer.

10 Let all mine enemies be ashamed and sore vexed: let them return and be ashamed suddenly.

Shiggaion of David, which he sang unto the LORD, concerning the words of Cush the Benjamite.

O LORD my God, in thee do I put my trust: save me from all them that persecute me, and deliver me:

10 Destroy thou them, &c.] The LXX read, Judge them.

12 With favour wilt thou compass him as with a shield.] Thou wilt cover and defend him, as with an impenetrable shield, against all the darts of his enemies.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. VI.

There are observable in this psalm, 1. The zeal and confidence with which good men call upon the Lord in their necessities; 2. The fervour, pleasure, and respect, with which they worship him in his house; 3. The aversion God has against sin, especially pride, cruelty, and deceit; and, lastly, The punishment reserved for the wicked, and the protection which God extends to all those who fear and trust in him.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. VI.

Sheminith, &c.] Sheminith signifies eight; and commentators in general are of opinion that this psalm was ordered to be sung to the harp of eight strings. Some grievous disease and malady, from which David had recovered, is supposed to have given occasion to this penitential psalm.

1 O Lord, rebuke me not in thine anger, &c.] David here begs of God that he would be pleased to mitigate his chastisement, and abate of his severity, lest his spirit should be overwhelmed within him, and he sink under his affliction.

3 O Lord, how long? Or, as the other translation has it, How long wilt thou punish me?

5 For in death there is no remembrance of thee, &c.] There I can have no opportunity of doing thee service, the dead being utterly unable to commemorate thy wonderful works, and propagate the memory of them to posterity.

7 Mine eye is consumed because of grief, &c.] This may be taken for the whole visage or countenance.

8 Depart from me, all ye workers of iniquity, &c.] Depart from me, ye wicked, nor maliciously insult my affliction, nor vainly expect my death.

10 Let all mine enemies be ashamed, &c.] The other translation reads, All mine enemies shall be confounded, &c. which seems not so consistent with the sentiments of David, though more applicable to the Messiah.

2 Lest he tear my soul like a lion, rending it in pieces, while there is none to deliver.

3 O LORD my God, if I have done this; if there be iniquity in my hands;

4 If I have rewarded evil unto him that was at peace with me; (yea, I have delivered him that without cause is mine enemy:)

5 Let the enemy persecute my soul, and take it; yea, let him tread down my life upon the earth, and lay mine honour in the dust. Selah.

6 Arise, O LORD, in thine anger, lift up thyself because of the rage of mine enemies: and awake for me to the judgment that thou hast commanded.

7 So shall the congregation of the people compass thee about: for their sakes therefore return thou on high.

8 The LORD shall judge the people: judge me, O LORD, according to my righteousness, and according to mine integrity that is in me.

9 Oh let the wickedness of the wicked come to an end; but establish the just: for the righteous God trieth the hearts and reins.

10 My defence is of God, which saveth the upright in heart.

11 God judgeth the righteous, and God is angry with the wicked every day.

12 If he turn not, he will whet his sword; he hath bent his bow, and made it ready.

13 He hath also prepared for him the instruments of death; he ordaineth his arrows against the persecutors.

14 Behold, he travaileth with iniquity, and hath conceived mischief, and brought forth falsehood.

15 He made a pit, and digged it, and is fallen into the ditch which he made.

16 His mischief shall return upon his own head, and his violent dealing shall come down upon his own pate.

17 I will praise the LORD according to his righteousness: and will sing praise to the name of the LORD most high.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. VI.

We are here taught to pray with David not only to be preserved from the evils of this life, but also for the pardon of our sins, and from the punishments of the life to come. We should have recourse to God, through Christ, with humility and faith, being assured he will grant our requests, and deliver us from every hurtful snare.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. VII.

Shiggaion of David, &c.] Shagah (from whence Shiggaion is derived) is used for delight, or wandering in pleasure. This psalm may therefore be intitled the delight, pleasure, or solace of David. It was written on occasion of some calumnies and false accusations which Cush, one of the same tribe with Saul, had charged David withal.

2 Lest he tear my soul like a lion, &c.] So great is his power, and so implacable his rage, that if thou sufferest me to fall into his hands, I am no more able to oppose Saul, than a lamb to defend itself against a lion.

9 The righteous God trieth the hearts and reins.] Discerneth the most secret thoughts and desires.

11 God is angry with the wicked every day.] Though he delays the punishment of their misdeeds, yet doth he still remember the offence, and increaseth the punishment of those who treasure up for themselves wrath against the day of wrath.

12 If he turn not, he will whet his sword, &c.] If the wicked repent not, God will punish them with the greater severity.

14 Behold, he travaileth with iniquity, &c.] This calumniator hath formed most mischievous designs against both my honour and my life, which shall all miscarry, and deceive his expectations.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. VII.

From this psalm we should learn to have recourse to God, in our wants, with a pure and upright heart; we also find herein, that the malice of the wicked shall come to an end; that if they will not hearken to the voice of God, he will inflict upon them the punishments their sins deserve, and at length bring the evil upon themselves which they designed for others. Hereby God makes known his justice and wisdom, for which also the righteous have reason to adore and praise him with grateful hearts.

COMMENTARY

P S A L. VIII.

God's glory is magnified by his works, and by his love to man. To the chief Musician upon Gittith, A Psalm of David.

O LORD our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth! who hast set thy glory above the heavens.

■ Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings hast thou ordained strength because of thine enemies, that thou mightest still the enemy and the avenger.

3 When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars, which thou hast ordained;

4 What is man, that thou art mindful of him? and the son of man, that thou visitest him?

5 For thou hast made him a little lower than the angels, and hast crowned him with glory and honour.

6 Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet:

7 All sheep and oxen, yea, and the beasts of the field;

8 The fowl of the air, and the fish of the sea, and whatsoever passeth through the paths of the seas.

9 O LORD our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth!

1 David praiseth God for executing of judgment. 11 He inciteth others to praise him. 13 He prayeth that he may have cause to praise him.

To the chief Musician upon Muth-labben, A Psalm of David.

1018. I Will praise thee, O LORD, with my whole heart; I will shew forth all thy marvellous works.

2 I will be glad and rejoice in thee: I will sing praise to thy name, O thou most High.

3 When mine enemies are turned back, they shall fall and perish at thy presence.

4 For thou hast maintained my right and my cause; thou satest in the throne judging right.

5 Thou hast rebuked the heathen, thou hast destroyed the wicked, thou hast put out their name for ever and ever.

6 O thou enemy, destructions are come to a perpetual end: and thou hast destroyed cities; their memorial is perished with them.

Gittith, &c.] The most probable opinion is, that David composed this psalm after his victory over Goliath of Gath; which is very agreeable to the matter of the psalm, and a lively emblem of Christ's conquest over our great enemy the devil.

2 Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings hast thou ordained strength, &c.] That thou shouldest enable the weakest of men to do the greatest things, is enough to confound all the enemies, and to stop the mouths of the most virulent opposers of thee and thy people.

3, 4 When I consider thy heavens, &c.] When I contemplate the immensity of the heavens, and those stupendous orbs which thou hast placed there in the most beautiful order, I am astonished to think thou shouldest condescend to shew such remarkable favour to man, and in particular to me, who am the meanest of my father's house; nay, that thou shouldest advance our natures by means of the Son of man, the great Messiah, whom the world will vilify and reject, exceeds all wonder, and ought to be the subject of our perpetual admiration.

5 Thou hast made him a little lower than the angels, &c.] Thou hast raised man to such a pitch of dignity, and honoured him so highly, that he is but little inferior to the heavenly host; and by the mediation of thine own Son, who shall take our nature upon him, thou wilt crown him with glory and honour.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. VIII.

After the example of David, we ought to consider the marks of the infinite power of God, as we observe them in the heavens, in the stars, and in all the earth, that so we may be led to adore the majesty of God, confess our own meanness, and walk humbly in his sight.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. IX.

Upon Muth-labben, &c.] Most interpreters are of opinion that this word hath a relation to Goliath. But it is evident that this psalm was not composed immediately after David's victory over that giant, from mention being made in it of Sion, which was not then in the hands of Israel; but afterwards, upon some fresh occasion he had to implore the assistance of the divine power, he only recollected and commemorated again that former deliverance.

10 And they that know thy name will put their trust in thee: for thou, LORD, hast not forsaken them that seek thee.

11 Sing praises to the LORD, which dwelleth in Zion: declare among the people his doings.

12 When he maketh inquisition for blood, he remembereth them: he forgetteth not the cry of the humble.

13 Have mercy upon me, O LORD; consider my trouble which I suffer of them that hate me, thou that liftest me up from the gates of death:

14 That I may shew forth all thy praise in the gates of the daughter of Zion, I will rejoice in thy salvation.

16 Higgsaion] This word signifies, It is worthy to be noted, or deserves our meditation.

18 The needy shall not alway be forgotten, &c.] The Lord in due time, will shew that he does not neglect the poor and the helpless, though for the present he may defer to relieve them.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. IX.

His song in which David expresses his piety, joy and gratitude, should stir us up to praise God with all our hearts for the deliverances he grants us, and for his favours to us, and to publish them abroad. The psalmist teaches us besides, that God will render to the wicked according to their works, but that those that fear his name may rely upon him; that he never forsakes those that seek him; and that the expectation of the sorrowful shall not be cut off, or be in vain.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. X.

This psalm is a most lively description of the insolence of wicked atheistical men, when they have power and are in authority, which they abuse to the opposition of those below them, making no conscience of employing the lowest arts to compass their ends.

In the Greek translation this psalm is made a continuance of the foregoing; so that in the Greek, and those who copy them, the number of the psalms differ from those in the Hebrew; the eleventh being reckoned for the tenth, the twelfth for the eleventh, &c. and to make up the number one hundred and fifty, they divide the hundred and forty-seventh into two; they likewise join the hundred and fourteenth and hundred and fifteenth, and, to make up for it, they divide the hundred and sixteenth.

4 God is not in all his thoughts.] That is, by an usual Hebraism, God is not at all in his thoughts.

5 His ways are always grievous; thy judgments are far above out of his sight: as for all his enemies, he puffeth at them.

6 He hath said in his heart, I shall not be moved: for I shall never be in adversity.

7 His mouth is full of cursing and deceit and fraud: under his tongue is mischief and vanity.

■ He sitteth in the lurking places of the villages: in the secret places doth he murder the innocent: his eyes are privily set against the poor.

9 He lieth in wait secretly as a lion in his den: he lieth in wait to catch the poor: he doth catch the poor, when he draweth him into his net.

10 He croucheth, and humbleth himself, that the poor may fall by his strong ones.

11 He hath said in his heart, God hath forgotten: he hideth his face; he will never see it.

12 Arise, O LORD; O God, lift up thine hand: forget not the humble.

13 Wherefore doth the wicked contemn God? he hath said in his heart, Thou wilt not require it.

14 Thou hast seen it, for thou beholdest mischief and spite, to requite it with thy hand: the poor committeth himself unto thee; thou art the helper of the fatherless.

15 Break thou the arm of the wicked and the evil man: seek out his wickedness till thou find none.

16 The LORD is king for ever and ever: the heathen are perished out of his land.

17 LORD, thou hast heard the desire of the humble: thou wilt prepare their heart, thou wilt cause thine ear to hear:

18 To judge the fatherless and the oppressed, that the man of the earth may no more oppress.

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David.

1060. IN the LORD put I my trust: how say ye to my soul, Flee as a bird to your mountain?

2 For, lo, the wicked bend their bow, they make ready their arrow upon the string, that they may privily shoot at the upright in heart.

3 If the foundations be destroyed, what can the righteous do?

5 His ways are always grievous.] Or troublesome: all his endeavours and actions aim only at hurting others.

He puffeth at them.] He despiseth and setteth them at nought, as if he would overthrow them with his breath.

15 Break thou the arm of the wicked and the evil man.] Despoil them of their power to trust and oppress this people.

Seek out his wickedness till thou find none.] Meaning, these wicked men are incorrigible, their malice will never cease till they are turned out.

17 Thou wilt prepare their heart, &c.] Thou wilt dispose their heart humbly to wait upon thee.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. X.

We see here that wicked men often employ both deceit and force to ruin the good, that God lets them alone for a while; but when they think they have nothing to fear, he calls them to account, and takes vengeance of their crimes; while he protects the meek, hears their cries, and delivers them.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XI.

This psalm was composed by David; in all probability it was when he was persecuted by Saul, and was advised by some to seek his safety by flight into the mountains of Judea.

1 In the LORD put I my trust, &c.] It is neither in fortresses, nor friends, that I place my safety; the Lord alone is my defence: why then should you bid me flee away, like a timorous bird, from the snare of the fowler, to your mountains of security?

■ For, lo, the wicked bend their bow, &c.] Behold, you say, the danger, the fowler hath bent his bow, and fitted his arrow upon the string, and has you, ■ bird, always in his eye.

3 If the foundations be destroyed, what can the righteous do.] If the righteous had not God for the foundation of their hope, their case would be truly desperate.

4 The Lord is in his holy temple, the Lord's throne is in heaven, &c.] The world is not governed by chance: but the Lord is the supreme and righteous ruler of all affairs; and no mischief can be

4 The LORD is in his holy temple, the LORD's throne is in heaven: his eyes behold, his eyelids try the children of men.

5 The LORD trieth the righteous: but the wicked and him that loveth violence his soul hateth.

7 For the righteous LORD loveth righteousness; his countenance doth behold the upright.

6 The portion of their cup.] The due measure of their punishment.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XI.

This psalm furnishes us with an example of the confidence which the righteous have in the Lord their God, who is their sure refuge; even when they are in the most hopeless condition; and can see no way to escape: his countenance is always turned towards the upright, but will ever be set against those who love unrighteousness and oppression.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XII.

This psalm, composed by David, is a sad complaint of the corrupt manners of that age, particularly of the court of Saul, in which it was hardly possible to find out a truly honest and sincere man. Some think it aims partly at Doeg, and the false Ziphites who promised David friendship, but most basely betrayed him into the hands of Saul.

4 Who is lord over us.] Who shall call us to an account?

8 The wicked walk on every side, &c.] The wicked will not know which way to turn themselves, for anger and vexation, when they see those persons, whom they vilified, and looked upon with contempt, not only preserved, but exalted to dignity and honour.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XII.

The prayers which David put up to God in this psalm teach us, that when we see iniquity abound, and how little there remains of honesty and sincerity among men, we ought to beg of God that he would deliver us from the evil, and especially from the corruption that reigns in the world.

8 He sitteth in the lurking places of the villages: in the secret places doth he murder the innocent: his eyes are privily set against the poor.

9 He lieth in wait secretly as a lion in his den: he lieth in wait to catch the poor: he doth catch the poor, when he draweth him into his net.

10 He croucheth, and humbleth himself, that the poor may fall by his strong ones.

11 He hath said in his heart, God hath forgotten: he hideth his face; he will never see it.

12 Arise, O LORD; O God, lift up thine hand: forget not the humble.

13 Wherefore doth the wicked contemn God? he hath said in his heart, Thou wilt not require it.

14 Thou hast seen it, for thou beholdest mischief and spite, to requite it with thy hand: the poor committeth himself unto thee; thou art the helper of the fatherless.

15 Break thou the arm of the wicked and the evil man: seek out his wickedness till thou find none.

16 The LORD is king for ever and ever: the heathen are perished out of his land.

17 LORD, thou hast heard the desire of the humble: thou wilt prepare their heart, thou wilt cause thine ear to hear:

18 To judge the fatherless and the oppressed, that the man of the earth may no more oppress.

P S A L. XI.

1 David encourageth himself in God against his enemies.
4 The providence and justice of God.

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David.

1060. IN the LORD put I my trust: how say ye to my soul, Flee as a bird to your mountain?

2 For, lo, the wicked bend their bow, they make ready their arrow upon the string, that they may privily shoot at the upright in heart.

3 If the foundations be destroyed, what can the righteous do?

His ways are always grievous.] Or troublesome: all his endeavours and actions aim only at hurting others.

He puffeth at them.] He despiseth and setteth them at nought, as if he would overthrow them with his breath.

15 Break thou the arm of the wicked and the evil man.] Despoil them of their power to trust and oppress this people.

Seek out his wickedness till thou find none.] Meaning, these wicked men are incorrigible, their malice will never cease till they are turned out.

17 Thou wilt prepare their heart, &c.] Thou wilt dispose their heart humbly to wait upon thee.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. X.

We see here that wicked men often employ both deceit and force to ruin the good, that God lets them alone for a while, but when they think they have nothing to fear, he calls them to account, and takes vengeance of their crimes; while he protects the meek, hears their cries, and delivers them.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XI.

This psalm was composed by David, in all probability it was when he was persecuted by Saul, and was advised by some to seek his safety by flight into the mountains of Judea.

1 In the LORD put I my trust, &c.] It is neither in fortresses, nor friends, that I place my safety, the Lord alone is my defence: why then should you bid me flee away, like a timorous bird, from the snare of the fowler, to your mountains of security?

2 For, lo, the wicked bend their bow, &c.] Behold, you say, the danger, the fowler hath bent his bow, and fitted his arrow upon the string, and has you, a bird, always in his eye.

3 If the foundations be destroyed, what can the righteous do.] If the righteous had not God for the foundation of their hope, their case would be truly desperate.

4 The LORD is in his holy temple, the LORD's throne is in heaven, &c.] The world is not governed by chance; but the Lord is the supreme and righteous ruler of all affairs; and no mischief can be

4 The LORD is in his holy temple, the LORD's throne is in heaven: his eyes behold, his eyelids try the children of men.

5 The LORD trieth the righteous: but the wicked and him that loveth violence his soul hateth.

6 Upon the wicked he shall rain snares, fire and brimstone, and an horrible tempest: this shall be the portion of their cup.

7 For the righteous LORD loveth righteousness; his countenance doth behold the upright.

P S A L. XII.

1 David destitute of human comfort, craveth help of God.

3 He comforteth himself with God's judgments on the wicked, and confidence in God's tried promises.

To the chief Musician upon Sheminith.

A Psalm of David.

HELP, Lord; for the godly man ceaseth; for the faithful fail from among the children of men.

2 They speak vanity every one with his neighbour: with flattering lips and with a double heart do they speak.

3 The LORD shall cut off all flattering lips, and the tongue that speaketh proud things:

4 Who have said, With our tongue will we prevail, our lips are our own: who is lord over us?

5 For the oppression of the poor, for the sighing of the needy, now will I arise, saith the LORD; I will set him in safety from him that puffeth at him.

6 The words of the LORD are pure words: as silver tried in a furnace of earth, purified seven times:

7 Thou shalt keep them; O LORD, thou shalt preserve them from this generation for ever.

8 The wicked walk on every side, when the vilest men are exalted.

P S A L. XIII.

1 David complaineth of delay in help. 3 He prayeth for preventing grace. 5 He boasteth of divine mercy.

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David.

HOW long wilt thou forget me, O LORD? for ever? how long wilt thou hide thy face from me?

2 How long shall I take counsel in my soul, having sorrow in my heart daily? how long shall mine enemy be exalted over me?

3 Consider so secretly contrived, no wicked design can be so artfully dissembled, but it was open before him, and is manifest in his sight.

6 The portion of their cup.] The due measure of their punishment.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XI.

This psalm furnishes us with an example of the confidence which the righteous have in the Lord their God, who is their sure refuge; even when they are in the most hopeless condition; and can see no way to escape: his countenance is always turned towards the upright, but will ever be set against those who love unrighteousness and oppression.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XII.

This psalm, composed by David, is a sad complaint of the corrupt manners of that age, particularly of the court of Saul, in which it was hardly possible to find out a truly honest and sincere man. Some think it aims partly at Doeg, and the false Ziphites who promised David friendship, but most basely betrayed him into the hands of Saul.

4 Who is lord over us.] Who shall call us to an account?

5 The wicked walk on every side, &c.] The wicked will not know which way to turn themselves, for anger and vexation, when they see those persons, whom they vilified, and looked upon with contempt, not only preserved, but exalted to dignity and honour.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XII.

The prayers which David put up to God in this psalm teach us, that when we see iniquity abound, and how little there remains of honesty and sincerity among men, we ought to beg of God that he would deliver us from the evil, and especially from the corruption that reigns in the world.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XIII.

This psalm was composed by David, and relates to some remarkable distress; probably to the rebellion of Absalom.

2 How long shall I take counsel in my soul, &c.] The power of

3 Consider and hear me, O LORD my God: lighten mine eyes, lest I sleep the sleep of death;

David describeth the corruption of a natural man; 4 convinceth the wicked by the light of their conscience; 7 glorieth in the salvation of God.

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David.

THE fool hath said in his heart, There is no God. They are corrupt, they have done abominable works, there is none that doeth good.

■ The LORD looked down from heaven upon the children of men, to see if there were any that did understand, and seek God.

3 They are all gone aside, they are all together become filthy: there is none that doeth good, no, not one.

4 Have all the workers of iniquity no knowledge? who eat up my people as they eat bread, and call not upon the LORD.

5 There were they in great fear: for God is in the generation of the righteous.

6 Ye have shamed the counsel of the poor, because the LORD is his refuge.

2 He that walketh uprightly, and worketh righteousness, and speaketh the truth in his heart.

the enemy is very great, and threatens, like a tempest hanging over my head, every moment to fall upon me.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XIII.

This psalm is very proper for persons in affliction, especially for those that labour under their sins, and are deprived of the sense of the love of God. Such should have recourse to the throne of grace, implore the mercy of God, and beseech him to enlighten and comfort them, that they may, with David, celebrate his mercy, and praise him for his goodness.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XIV.

■ The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God, &c.] The wicked, though not so impudent as to deny openly the being of a God, yet they certainly flatter themselves in secret with the thought that either there is no God, or that he is indifferent with regard to the transgressions of mankind, and will never call them to account for their transgressions.

3 There is none that doeth good, no, not one.] The number of the righteous is inconsiderable, in comparison of the wicked.

6 Ye have shamed the counsel of the poor, because the Lord is his refuge.] Ye have derided and scoffed at those few who were enabled to maintain their integrity and loyalty, to wait patiently upon God, and to trust in him alone for safety.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XIV.

As it was in David's time, so it is now: among professing Christians, few seek God sincerely, and most live in impiety, as if they believed there was no God; we ought therefore to pray to be preserved from such corruption. But we may also observe, that in the worst of times, there are always some faithful and righteous men that fear God, and of whom God will ever be the protector.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XV.

1 Lord, who shall abide in thy tabernacle, &c.] Who shall have the honour to be admitted into thy society, and enjoy all the privileges of a true worshipper of thee?

2 He that walketh uprightly, &c.] Here David supposes God answering him from the holy oracle.

3 He that backbiteth not, &c.] Ragal, here translated to "backbite," properly signifies going to and fro, prying and spying and carrying tales and rumours, and is used for defaming or calumniating.

4 He that sweareth in his own hurt, and changeth not.] He who hath so serious regard for religion, that whatever he promises ver-

3 He that backbicketh not with his tongue, nor doeth evil to his neighbour, nor taketh up a reproach against his neighbour.

4 In whose eyes a vile person is contemned; but he honoureth them that fear the LORD. He that sweareth to his own hurt, and changeth not.

5 He that putteth not out his money to usury, nor taketh reward against the innocent. He that doeth these things shall never be moved.

P S A L. XVI.

David in distress of merits, and hatred of idolatry, fleeth to God for preservation. 5 He sheweth the hope of his calling, of the resurrection, and life everlasting.

5 The LORD is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou maintainest my lot.

6 The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places: yea, I have a goodly heritage.

7 I will bless the LORD, who hath given me counsel: my reins also instruct me in the night seasons.

8 I have set the LORD always before me: because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved,

9 Therefore my heart is glad, and my glory rejoiceth: my flesh also shall rest in hope.

bally (but more especially with an oath) he never fails to perform, how injurious soever it may prove to his private interest.

5 Nor taketh reward against the innocent.] i. e. Whom no bribe can corrupt to condemn the innocent.

Shall never be moved.] Shall never be removed from the favour of God.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XV.

This is a very instructive psalm, and teaches us, that God will not admit all kinds of men into his presence: but only those who walk in uprightness, who are faithful and sincere in their discourse and behaviour; who avoid slander, injustice, and extortion, who love good men, and endeavour to keep a conscience void of offence.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XVI.

Michtam, &c.] This psalm was so intitled, not only on account of the admirable expressions it contains of David's faith and confidence in God, though under the most violent persecutions from Saul, being forced to fly into foreign countries, but because also it contains a prophecy of the resurrection of our Lord Christ from the dead.

2 My goodness extendeth not to thee.] No merits of mine claim thy favour.

4 Their drink offerings of blood will I not offer, nor take up their names into my lips.] I will never partake with them in their abominable pagan sacrifices, stained with human gore, or by swearing by the name of any of their false gods.

5 The Lord is the portion, &c.] The Almighty is the God whom I adore; and while I put my confidence in him, he will support me: "cup" here signifies, inheritance.

6 The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places, &c.] This expression is taken from the custom of measuring land by lines or cords.

7 My reins, &c.] That is, my thoughts.

8 At my right hand, &c.] He is nigh powerfully to assist me.

9 My glory, &c.] My soul.

10 In hell, &c.] By "hell" we are to understand the grave, the place, estate, or depth of death. This is a remarkable prophecy of the resurrection of our Lord.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XVI.

We are here taught, that the righteous are infinitely happy: that God himself is their portion and inheritance; that he keeps himself on their right hand; that they rejoice and praise God continually, in the belief of their own happiness, and that they are convinced that

P S A L. XVII.

1 David in confidence of his integrity, craveth defence of God against his enemies. 10 He sheweth their pride, craft, and eagerness. 13 He prayeth against them in confidence of his hope.

A Prayer of David.

HEAR the right, O LORD, attend unto my cry, give ear unto my prayer, that goeth not out of feigned lips.

2 Let my sentence come forth from thy presence; let thine eyes behold the things that are equal.

3 Thou hast proved mine heart; thou hast visited me in the night; thou hast tried me, and shalt find nothing; I am purposed that my mouth shall not transgress.

4 Concerning the works of men, by the word of thy lips I have kept me from the paths of the destroyer.

5 Hold up my goings in thy paths, that my footsteps slip not.

6 I have called upon thee, for thou wilt hear me, O God: incline thine ear unto me, and bear my speech.

7 Shew thy marvellous lovingkindness, O thou that savest by thy right hand them which put their trust in thee from those that rise up against them.

8 Keep me as the apple of the eye, hide me under the shadow of thy wings,

9 From the wicked that oppress me, from my deadly enemies, who compass me about.

10 They are inclosed in their own fat: with their mouth they speak proudly.

11 They have now compassed us in our steps: they have set their eyes bowing down to the earth.

12 Like as a lion that is greedy of his prey, and as it were a young lion lurking in secret places.

13 Arise, O LORD, disappoint him, cast him down: deliver my soul from the wicked, which is thy sword:

14 From men which are thy hand, O LORD, from men of the world, which have their portion in this life, and whose belly thou fillest with thy hid treasure: they are full of children, and leave the rest of their substance to their babes.

15 As for me, I will behold thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness.

P S A L. XVIII.

David praiseth God for his manifold and marvellous blessings.

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David, the servant of the LORD, who spake unto the LORD the words of this song in the day that the LORD delivered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul: And he said,

I WILL love thee, O LORD, my strength.

The LORD is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer; my God, my strength, in whom I will trust; my buckler, and the horn of my salvation, and my high tower.

that God will not abandon them to the power of death. Though this psalm is applicable to the faithful, yet the latter part of it has been only completely fulfilled in Christ, whom God raised from the dead the third day, to whom likewise belongs blessing and praise for ever and ever.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XVII.

4 Concerning the works of men, by the word of thy lips I have kept me, &c.] The respect I bear to thy commandments hath preserved me from those murderous practices which the violent man would have attempted.

8 Thou wilt hear me, &c.] Thou wert accustomed to hear me.

10 They are inclosed in their own fat, &c.] Their prosperity makes them haughty and proud, and by indulging the appetites of the flesh, they disregard the duties of religion.

13, 14 Deliver my soul from the wicked, which is thy sword: from men which are thy hand.] David here (by a figure) supposes the wicked to be the sword, that is, the instrument of God, wherewith he punished him; and the man of the world to be his hand, with which he smote him.

Thy hid treasure, &c.] That is, worldly goods.

15 I will behold thy face in righteousness, &c.] If I follow after 3 I will call upon the LORD, who is worthy to be praised: so shall I be saved from mine enemies.

4 The sorrows of death compassed me, and the floods of ungodly men made me afraid.

5 The sorrows of hell compassed me about: and the snares of death prevented me.

6 In my distress I called upon the LORD, and cried unto my God: he heard my voice out of his temple; and my cry came before him, even into his ears.

7 Then the earth shook and trembled; the foundations also of the hills moved and were shaken, because he was wroth.

8 There went up smoke out of his nostrils, and fire out of his mouth devoured: coals were kindled by it.

9 He bowed the heavens also, and came down: and darkness was under his feet.

10 And he rode upon a cherub and did fly: yea, he did fly upon the wings of the wind.

11 He made darkness his secret place; his pavilion round about him were dark waters and thick clouds of the skies.

12 At the brightness that was before him his thick clouds passed, hail stones and coals of fire.

13 The LORD also thundered in the heavens, and the Highest gave his voice; hail stones and coals of fire.

14 Yea, he sent out his arrows, and scattered them; and he shot out lightnings, and discomfited them.

15 Then the channels of waters were seen, and the foundations of the world were discovered at thy rebuke, O LORD, at the blast of the breath of thy nostrils.

16 He sent from above, he took me, he drew me out of many waters.

17 He delivered me from my strong enemy, and from them which hated me: for they were too strong for me.

18 They prevented me in the day of my calamity: but the LORD was my stay.

19 He brought me forth also into a large place; he delivered me, because he delighted in me.

20 The LORD rewarded me according to my righteousness; according to the cleanness of my hands hath he recompensed me.

21 For I have kept the ways of the LORD, and have not wickedly departed from my God.

22 For all his judgments were before me, and I did not put away his statutes from me.

23 I was also upright before him, and I kept myself from mine iniquity.

24 Therefore hath the LORD recompensed me according to my righteousness, according to the cleanness of my hands in his eyesight.

25 With the merciful thou wilt shew thyself merciful; with an upright man thou wilt shew thyself upright;

26 With the pure thou wilt shew thyself pure; and with the froward thou wilt shew thyself froward.

27 For thou wilt save the afflicted people; but wilt bring down high looks.

28 For

holiness and righteousness, I shall enjoy the comfort and favour of thy countenance; and when I am delivered out of my troubles, I shall be satisfied with the manifestation of thy majesty and power.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XVII.

David's confidence in God in trouble, shews the advantage good people enjoy, who can in all conditions apply themselves with assurance to God as their protector, knowing that he will restrain the wickedness of those who oppress them. Hence we are taught not to place our happiness in the things of this life, but worldlings do; but pray to be delivered and kept from evil. The last words of this psalm should raise our thoughts to the desire and expectation of eternal life, which the righteous will enjoy after the resurrection.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XVIII.

Having already commented on this sacred and beautiful poem in a preceeding part, we therefore beg leave to refer our readers to 2 Sam. xxii. and shall only take notice of the following verse, which is not there inserted:

1 I will love thee, O Lord, my strength, &c.] I will love thee, O Lord, whom I owe my safety, with the most ardent and passionate affection, as long as life continues.

GENERAL

28 For thou wilt light my candle: the LORD my God will enlighten my darkness.

29 For by thee I have run through a troop; and by my God have I leaped over a wall.

30 As for God, his way is perfect: the word of the LORD is tried: he is a buckler to all those that trust in him.

31 For who is God save the LORD? or who is a rock save our God?

32 It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect.

33 He maketh my feet like hinds' feet, and setteth me upon my high places.

34 He teacheth my hands to war, so that a bow of steel is broken by mine arms.

35 Thou hast also given me the shield of thy salvation: and thy right hand hath holden me up, and thy gentleness hath made me great.

36 Thou hast enlarged my steps under me, that my feet did not slip.

37 I have pursued mine enemies, and overtaken them: neither did I turn again till they were consumed.

38 I have wounded them that they were not able to rise: they are fallen under my feet.

39 For thou hast girded me with strength unto the battle: thou hast subdued under me those that rose up against me.

40 Thou hast also given me the necks of mine enemies; that I might destroy them that hate me.

41 They cried, but there was none to save them: even unto the LORD, but he answered them not.

42 Then did I beat them small as the dust before the wind: I did cast them out as the dirt in the streets.

43 Thou hast delivered me from the strivings of the people; and thou hast made me the head of the heathen: a people whom I have not known shall serve me.

44 As soon as they hear of me, they shall obey me: the strangers shall submit themselves unto me.

45 The strangers shall fade away, and be afraid out of their close places.

46 The LORD liveth; and blessed be my rock; and let the God of my salvation be exalted.

47 It is God that avengeth me, and subdueth the people unto me.

48 He delivereth me from mine enemies: yea, thou liftest me up above those that rise up against me: thou hast delivered me from the violent man.

49 Therefore will I give thanks unto thee, O LORD, among the heathen, and sing praises unto thy name.

50 Great deliverance giveth he to his king; and sheweth mercy to his anointed, to David, and to his seed for evermore.

P S A L. XIX.

1 The creatures shew God's glory; 7 the word, his grace.

12 David prayeth for grace.

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XVIII.

We here see, that whatever extremities those who fear God may fall into, they need never despair of his assistance, for he is their shield and deliverer; but the state of the wicked is woeful beyond conception, for in their distress, the Lord will not hear their cry: this consideration should be a powerful motive to make us avoid sin, and to beg of God to keep us from hardness of heart, and contempt of his word.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XIX.

1 The heavens declare the glory of God, &c.] The heavens, decorated with so immense a number of glorious orbs, in a particular manner proclaim aloud to all the sons of men the infinite greatness, power, wisdom, and goodness of God.

2 Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night, &c.] The constant succession, and the convenient and grateful variation of day and night, furnishes us with perpetual instruction, and a copious fund of praise and thanks to the divine wisdom and goodness.

3 There is no speech nor language, where their voice is not heard.] There is no people or nation in the world where the heavens and the firmament do not declare the glory of God, and display the wisdom of the great designer. This may also be understood as a prophecy of the promulgation of the gospel by the apostles. Speech and language are elegantly put for people and countries; the book of Daniel gives us several instances of it.

THE heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament sheweth his handy work.

2 Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night sheweth knowledge.

3 There is no speech nor language where their voice is not heard.

4 Their line is gone out through all the earth, and their words to the end of the world. In them hath he set a tabernacle for the sun,

5 Which is as a bridegroom coming out of his chamber, and rejoiceth as a strong man to run a race.

6 His going forth is from the end of the heaven, and his circuit unto the ends of it: and there is nothing hid from the heat thereof.

7 The law of the LORD is perfect, converting the soul: the testimony of the LORD is sure, making wise the simple.

8 The statutes of the LORD are right, rejoicing the heart: the commandment of the LORD is pure, enlightening the eyes.

9 The fear of the LORD is clean, enduring for ever; the judgments of the LORD are true and righteous altogether.

10 More to be desired are they than gold, yea, than much fine gold: sweeter also than honey and the honeycomb.

11 Moreover by them is thy servant warned: and in keeping of them there is great reward.

12 Who can understand his errors? cleanse thou me from secret faults.

13 Keep back thy servant also from presumptuous sins; let them not have dominion over me: then shall I be upright, and I shall be innocent from the great transgression.

14 Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O LORD, my strength, and my redeemer.

2 Send thee help from the sanctuary, and strengthen thee out of Zion.

3 Remember all thy offerings, and accept thy burnt sacrifice. Selah.

4 Grant thee according to thine own heart, and fulfil all thy counsel.

5 We will rejoice in thy salvation, and in the name of our God we will set up our banners: the LORD fulfil all thy petitions.

6 Now know I that the LORD saveth his anointed; he will hear him from his holy heaven with the saving strength of his right hand.

4 Their line.] The Greek, and from thence our English translation, reads, Their sound.

4, 5 In them hath he set a tabernacle for the sun, which is as a bridegroom, &c.] A tabernacle, or tent. The espousals of the Jews were made under a tent or canopy, erected for the purpose; to which custom this passage alludes.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XIX.

From this psalm we learn, that God employs two principal means whereby he makes himself known to us, namely, the works of nature, and his word: let us therefore meditate on the marvellous works of the Lord, which manifest his power, wisdom, and goodness; but particularly let us apply ourselves to the reading and meditation of his word, "which is able to make us wise unto salvation, through faith which is in Christ Jesus."

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XX.

This psalm is a prayer for David's success in some great expedition, and seems to have been composed to be sung alternately by the king and his subjects.

1 The name of the God, &c.] The power and grace of God.

7 Some trust in chariots, and some in horses: but we will remember the name of the Lord our God.] We are not intimidated by the numbers and large appointments of our confederate enemies; but to all these we oppose the mighty power of the Lord, who hath heretofore performed such great things for us.

8 They are brought down and fallen: but we are risen, and stand upright.
9 Save, LORD: let the king hear us when we call.

PSAL. XXI.

1 A thanksgiving for victory. 7 Confidence of further success.

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David.

THE king shall joy in my strength, O LORD; and in thy salvation how greatly shall he rejoice!

Thou hast given him his heart's desire, and hast not withholden the request of his lips. Selah.

3 For thou preventest him with the blessings of goodness: thou settest a crown of pure gold on his head.

4 He asked life of thee, and thou gavest it him, even length of days for ever and ever.

5 His glory is great in thy salvation: honour and majesty hast thou laid upon him.

6 For thou hast made him most blessed for ever: thou hast made him exceeding glad with thy countenance.

7 For the king trusteth in the LORD, and through the mercy of the most High he shall not be moved.

8 Thine hand shall find out all thine enemies: thy right hand shall find out those that hate thee.

9 Thou shalt make them as a fiery oven in the time of thine anger: the LORD shall swallow them up in his wrath, and the fire shall devour them.

10 Their fruit shalt thou destroy from the earth, and their seed from among the children of men.

11 For they intended evil against thee: they imagined a mischievous device, which they are not able to perform.

12 Therefore shalt thou make them turn their back, when thou shalt make ready thine arrows upon thy strings against the face of them.

13 Be thou exalted, LORD, in thine own strength: so will we sing and praise thy power.

CHAP. XXII.

1 David complaineth in great discouragement. 9 He prayeth in great distress. 23 He praiseth God.

To the chief Musician upon Ajeleth Shahar, A Psalm of David.

MY God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? why art thou so far from helping me, and from the words of my roaring?

2 O my God, I cry in the daytime, but thou hearest not; and in the night season, and am not silent.

8 They are brought down and fallen, &c.] David here anticipates his triumph, and confidently rejoices in the victory, as if already gained.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XX.

By this psalm it appears, that a nation should pray for the king or prince that God has set over them, and interest themselves in the advantages and deliverances which God grants to their governors.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XXI.

This triumphant psalm is a type of Christ's victory over death, and of the triumph that ensued.

4 He asked life of thee, and thou gavest it him, even length of days for ever and ever.] He desired only to escape with his life when he was encompassed with many dangers; and thou moreover didst promise to prolong his days, and to continue the crown to his posterity for many generations, as thou wilt do to his son Christ for ever and ever. See Rom vi. 9. Rev. i. 18. Heb. vii. 25.

12 Therefore shalt thou make them turn their back, &c.] In the Hebrew it is, Thou shalt make them a butt, a mark to shoot at.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XXI.

This psalm teaches us, that God blesses and defends just and pious kings, who call upon him, and trust in him; whereas he throws down and destroys unrighteous princes, and especially such as oppose the establishment of his kingdom, and the designs of his providence.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XXII.

Ajeleth Shahar, &c.] i. e. The hind of the mountain. David, who was persecuted like an hind by the hunters in the morning, gives a large description of his sufferings; but at the same time, prophetically, a still larger of the sufferings of Christ: and in the conclusion of it recites his exaltation, and the propagation of his gospel to the utmost ends of the earth.

No. 40.

3 But thou art holy, O thou that inhabitest the praises of Israel.

4 Our fathers trusted in thee: they trusted, and thou didst deliver them.

5 They cried unto thee, and were delivered: they trusted in thee, and were not confounded.

6 But I am a worm, and no man; a reproach of men, and despised of the people.

7 All they that see me laugh me to scorn: they shoot out the lip, they shake the head, saying,

8 He trusted on the LORD that he would deliver him: let him deliver him, seeing he delighted in him.

9 But thou art he that took me out of the womb: thou didst make me hope when I was upon my mother's breasts.

10 I was cast upon thee from the womb: thou art my God from my mother's belly.

11 Be not far from me; for trouble is near; for there is none to help.

12 Many bulls have compassed me: strong bulls of Bashan have beset me round.

13 They gaped upon me with their mouths, as a ravening and a roaring lion.

14 I am poured out like water, and all my bones are out of joint: my heart is like wax; it is melted in the midst of my bowels.

15 My strength is dried up like a potsherd; and my tongue cleaveth to my jaws; and thou hast brought me into the dust of death.

16 For dogs have compassed me: the assembly of the wicked have inclosed me: they pierced my hands and my feet.

17 I may tell all my bones: they look and stare upon me.

18 They part my garments among them, and cast lots upon my vesture.

19 But be not thou far from me, O LORD: O my strength, haste thee to help me.

20 Deliver my soul from the sword; my darling from the power of the dog.

21 Save me from the lion's mouth: for thou hast heard me from the horns of the unicorns.

22 I will declare thy name unto my brethren: in the midst of the congregation will I praise thee.

23 Ye that fear the LORD, praise him; all ye the seed of Jacob, glorify him; and fear him, all ye the seed of Israel.

24 For he hath not despised nor abhorred the affliction

1 My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? &c.] With respect to David, here is a mixture both of love and desperation, under some extreme affliction. And with respect to our Saviour, it speaks, in the most expressive manner, the unparalleled anguish and horrors of his soul in that dark hour of the divine dereliction, when, though the union of the divine and human natures was not, it is true, dissolved, yet the influence of the former was suspended, and the powers of darkness were let loose, till the divine vengeance was as it were satiated upon him, and infinite satisfaction made for infinite guilt.

6 But I am a worm, and no man, &c.] The figurative sense is, I bear the scandal and reproach of the deepest guilt, and yet am wholly free from it.

7, 8 All they that see me laugh me to scorn, &c.] This was most exactly and literally fulfilled in our Saviour. Matt xxvii. 39, 43.

12 Strong bulls of Bashan, &c.] Powerful, great, and cruel enemies.

14 I am poured out like water, &c.] I am as weak as water.

15 The dust of death.] The grave, in which the body returns to dust.

16 For dogs have compassed me: the assembly of the wicked, &c.] The psalmist speaks here figuratively: That malicious company have combined together to persecute me, who are as greedy and fierce hungry dogs; they use me most cruelly, and have pierced my hands and my feet. All this was exactly accomplished in the sufferings of the Son of God.

18 They part my garments among them, and cast lots upon my vesture.] This also was literally fulfilled in Christ.

20 My darling, &c.] Some have translated this, My solitary or desolate soul; i. e. forsaken of all.

24 For he hath not despised nor abhorred the affliction, &c.] For that poor despicable person (whom they derided and despised) the Lord hath not disdained to look graciously upon, in his lowest and vilest condition. All that from hence follows is more applicable to Christ than to David.

tion of the afflicted; neither hath he hid his face from him; but when he cried unto him, he heard.

25 My praise shall be of thee in the great congregation: I will pay my vows before them that fear him.

26 The meek shall eat and be satisfied: they shall praise the LORD that seek him: your heart shall live for ever.

27 All the ends of the world shall remember and turn unto the LORD: and all the kindreds of the nations shall worship before thee.

28 For the kingdom is the LORD's: and he is the governor among the nations.

29 All they that be fat upon the earth shall eat and worship: all they that go down to the dust shall bow before him: and none can keep alive his own soul.

30 A seed shall serve him; it shall be accounted to the LORD for a generation.

31 They shall come, and shall declare his righteousness unto a people that shall be born, that he hath done this.

PSAL. XXIII.

David's confidence in God's grace.

A Psalm of David.

THE LORD is my shepherd; I shall not want.

2 He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters.

3 He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.

4 Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

5 Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

6 Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the LORD for ever.

PSAL. XXIV.

1 God's lordship in the world. 3 The citizens of his spiritual kingdom. 7 An exhortation to receive him.

A Psalm of David.

1017. THE earth is the LORD's, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein.

2 For he hath founded it upon the seas, and established it upon the floods.

3 Who shall ascend into the hill of the LORD? or who shall stand in his holy place?

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XXII.

This psalm contains a very plain description of the sufferings and deep humiliation of our Lord. God was pleased that these things should be foretold by David, that when they happened, he might thereby be acknowledged to be the Messiah. How deplorable, then, is the blindness of the Jews, who are scandalized at the cross of Christ: let this strengthen our faith in the Saviour of the world, and excite our joy that God hath now exalted him, after his sufferings, to his own right hand.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XXIII.

1 The Lord is my shepherd, &c.] No shepherd exercises a more tender and constant care over his flock, than the Lord doth over me.

2 He leadeth me beside the still waters.] In like manner Christ, the great shepherd, is said to lead his flock; see Rev. vii. 16, 17.

4 Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, &c.] Though I should be again encompassed with the most dismal dangers, they shall not discourage or terrify me, when I remember that thou art present to protect and defend me.

5 Thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.] David here intimates the abundant plenty and prosperity with which God had blessed him.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XXIII.

This psalm is very proper for the consolation of true believers; and the desire of partaking in these precious advantages, should animate all zealously to embrace a life of piety and devotedness to the service of God.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XXIV.

It is likely that this psalm, composed by David, was appointed to be sung alternately by the king and the people.

1 The earth is the Lord's, &c.] What a favour is this, that the 4 He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully.

5 He shall receive the blessing from the LORD, and righteousness from the God of his salvation.

6 This is the generation of them that seek him, that seek thy face, O Jacob. Selah.

7 Lift up your heads, O ye gates; and be lift up, ye everlasting doors; and the King of glory shall come in.

8 Who is this King of glory? The LORD strong and mighty, the LORD mighty in battle.

9 Lift up your heads, O ye gates; even lift them up, ye everlasting doors; and the King of glory shall come in.

10 Who is this King of glory? The LORD of hosts, he is the King of glory. Selah.

C H A P. XXV.

1 David's confidence in prayer. 7 He prayeth for remission of sins, 16 and for help in affliction.

A Psalm of David.

UNTO thee, O LORD, do I lift up my soul.

2 O my God, I trust in thee: let me not be ashamed, let not mine enemies triumph over me.

3 Yea, let none that wait on thee be ashamed: let them be ashamed which transgress without cause.

4 Shew me thy ways, O LORD; teach me thy paths.

5 Lead me in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my salvation; on thee do I wait all the day.

6 Remember, O LORD, thy tender mercies and thy loving kindneses; for they have been ever of old.

7 Remember not the sins of my youth, nor my transgressions: according to thy mercy remember thou me for thy goodness' sake, O LORD.

8 Good and upright is the LORD: therefore will he teach sinners in the way.

9 The meek will he guide in judgment: and the meek will he teach his way.

10 All the paths of the LORD are mercy and truth unto such as keep his covenant and his testimonies.

11 For thy name's sake, O LORD, pardon mine iniquity; for it is great.

12 What man is he that feareth the LORD? him shall he teach in the way that he shall choose.

13 His soul shall dwell at ease; and his seed shall inherit the earth.

14 The

divine Majesty will vouchsafe to take up his special residence among us, when the whole earth is his, and all the creatures wherewith it is filled!

3 Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? &c.] Who is worthy to appear before him? and who may hope to be admitted to a gracious audience with him?

6 This is the generation of them that seek him, that seek thy face, O Jacob, &c.] These are the genuine people of God. Meaning, that though circumcision separateth the carnal seed of Jacob from the Gentiles, yet he who seeketh God is the true Jacob, is the very Israelite.

7 Lift up your heads, O ye gates, &c.] This is prophetic of Christ's glorious ascension into heaven, having spoiled principalities and powers, and obtained eternal redemption for us.

8 Who is this King of glory? &c.] If it should be asked, Who is this king, whose transcendent majesty we proclaim? Be it known, that it is the Lord, who made and governs the world, and is also the redeemer of his people Israel.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XXIV.

Observe carefully that which is said in this psalm; and since there be none, but those in whom these characters are found, that can enjoy the presence of God, see that you walk uprightly and sincerely before him, calling upon his name, and seeking his face, that so you may receive, as God hath promised by David, "blessing from the Lord, and righteousness from the God of your salvation."

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XXV.

6 They have been ever of old.] All ages have transmitted a memorial of thy compassionate bounty to the miserable.

7 Remember not the sins of my youth, &c.] I am a sinner, and even in my youth went astray from thee: but consider not, O my God, the greatness of my sins, but, for the sake of thy tender mercy, forgive my transgressions.

14 The secret of the LORD is with them that fear him; and he will shew them his covenant.

15 Mine eyes are ever toward the LORD; for he shall pluck my feet out of the net.

16 Turn thee unto me, and have mercy upon me; for I am desolate and afflicted.

17 The troubles of my heart are enlarged: O bring thou me out of my distresses.

18 Look upon mine affliction and my pain; and forgive all my sins.

19 Consider mine enemies; for they are many; and they hate me with cruel hatred.

20 O keep my soul, and deliver me: let me not be ashamed; for I put my trust in thee.

21 Let integrity and uprightness preserve me; for I wait on thee.

22 Redeem Israel, O God, out of all his troubles.

C H A P. XXVI.

David resorteth unto God, in confidence of his integrity.

A Psalm of David.

JUDGE me, O LORD; for I have walked in mine integrity: I have trusted also in the LORD; therefore I shall not slide.

2 Examine me, O LORD, and prove me; try my reins and my heart.

3 For thy loving kindness is before mine eyes: and I have walked in thy truth.

4 I have not sat with vain persons, neither will I go in with dissemblers.

5 I have hated the congregation of evil doers; and will not sit with the wicked.

6 I will wash mine hands in innocency: so will I compass thine altar, O LORD:

7 That I may publish with the voice of thanksgiving, and tell of all thy wondrous works.

8 LORD, I have loved the habitation of thy house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth.

9 Gather not my soul with sinners, nor my life with bloody men:

10 In whose hands is mischief, and their right hand is full of bribes.

11 But as for me, I will walk in mine integrity: redeem me, and be merciful unto me.

12 My foot standeth in an even place: in the congregations will I bless the LORD.

C H A P. XXVII.

David sustaineth his faith by the power of God, 4 by his love to the service of God, 9 and by prayer.

14 The secret of the Lord, &c.] By "the secret of the Lord" is meant, either his favour and providence, or his counsel.

22 Redeem Israel, O God, out of all his troubles.] Nor do I plead mine own private cause alone, but beseech thee to have mercy upon the whole nation, who are lamentably distracted by these divisions, and to restore them to peace and quietness.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XXV.

The use we are to make of this psalm, is, to lift up our hearts to God, as David did, with faith and humility, to pray him to pardon our sins, fill us with divine knowledge, and teach us to walk in his ways.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XXVI.

My reins, &c.] The reins being the most inward parts of the body, are in scripture figuratively put for the inward thoughts.

6 I will wash mine hands in innocency, &c.] This is an expression taken from those washings which were appointed for the priests to use when they approached the altar. This can only be understood of Christ, who knew no sin.

9 Gather not my soul with sinners, &c.] Involve me not in the same punishment with these sinners from whose society I have always separated myself.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XXVI.

We are here taught, that God searches the heart; that the only means of obtaining his favour is, to walk in truth, hate vice, and shun the company of the wicked. We ought also to delight in the worship of God, to praise him, and meditate on the wonders of his love; beseeching him to preserve us from every false way.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XXVII.

1 The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? &c.] The Lord still fills me with the joy of his countenance, what then

A Psalm of David.

THE LORD is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? the LORD is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?

2 When the wicked, even mine enemies and my foes, came upon me to eat up my flesh, they stumbled and fell.

3 Though an host should encamp against me, my heart shall not fear: though war should rise against me, in this will I be confident.

4 One thing have I desired of the LORD, that will I seek after; that I may dwell in the house of the LORD all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the LORD, and to enquire in his temple.

5 For in the time of trouble he shall hide me in his pavilion: in the secret of his tabernacle shall he hide me; he shall set me upon a rock.

6 And now shall mine head be lifted up above mine enemies round about me: therefore will I offer in his tabernacle sacrifices of joy; I will sing, yea, I will sing praises unto the LORD.

7 Hear, O LORD, when I cry with my voice: have mercy also upon me, and answer me.

8 When thou saidst, Seek ye my face; my heart said unto thee, Thy face, LORD, will I seek.

9 Hide not thy face far from me; put not thy servant away in anger: thou hast been my help; leave me not, neither forsake me, O God of my salvation.

10 When my father and my mother forsake me, then the LORD will take me up.

11 Teach me thy way, O LORD, and lead me in a plain path, because of mine enemies.

12 Deliver me not over unto the will of mine enemies: for false witnesses are risen up against me, and such as breathe out cruelty.

13 I had fainted, unless I had believed to see the goodness of the LORD in the land of the living.

14 Wait on the LORD: be of good courage, and he shall strengthen thine heart: wait, I say, on the LORD.

P S A L. XXVIII.

1 David prayeth against his enemies. 6 He bleisseth God.

9 He prayeth for the people.

A Psalm of David.

UNTO thee will I cry, O LORD my rock; be not silent to me: lest, if thou be silent to me, I become like them that go down into the pit.

2 Hear the voice of my supplications, when I cry unto thee, when I lift up my hands toward thy holy oracle.

3 Draw

shall make me afraid? He compasseth me about with his hand in the day of battle, whom then shall I fear?

4 That I may dwell in the house of the Lord, &c.] i. e. That I may perpetually attend upon the service of God in the holy assemblies.

6 And now shall mine head be lifted up, &c.] Now I have felt the happy fruits of loving his dwelling-place; for the Lord hath given me a glorious victory, and made me triumph over all mine enemies on every side.

10 When my father and my mother forsake me, &c.] Though all my friends should abandon me, yet would I hope that the Lord would take me into his care, and not suffer me to perish.

13 I had fainted, &c.] How had it been possible for me to have supported myself under so many troubles and fears, if I had not firmly trusted in thee; that notwithstanding the restless malice of my enemies, I shall enjoy thee in a prosperous and happy condition, even here in this present life.

14 Wait on the Lord: be of good courage, and he shall strengthen thine heart, &c.] Let not thine heart fail thee in the greatest danger, but wait upon the Lord, and confidently expect that in his good time he will relieve thee.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XXVII.

David's assurance shews, that although we should be forsaken by all the world, yet God will never forsake us, if we depend upon him; that nothing but our trust in him, and hope in his promises, can support us in the midst of the troubles of this life; and that therefore we ought to wait upon God only; being persuaded that our expectation shall never be in vain.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XXVIII.

1 Lest, if thou be silent to me, I become like them, &c.] Lest while I confide so entirely on thee, and yet thou takest no notice of me, I appear like one that is abandoned by thee to destruction.

2 Thy holy oracle.] The inmost and most holy part of the temple, in which was the ark of God.

3 Draw me not away with the wicked, and with the workers of iniquity, which speak peace to their neighbours, but mischief is in their hearts.

4 Give them according to their deeds, and according to the wickedness of their endeavours: give them after the work of their hands; render to them their desert.

5 Because they regard not the works of the LORD, nor the operation of his hands, he shall destroy them, and not build them up.

6 Blessed be the LORD, because he hath heard the voice of my supplications.

7 The LORD is my strength and my shield; my heart trusted in him, and I am helped: therefore my heart greatly rejoiceth; and with my song will I praise him.

8 The LORD is their strength, and he is the saving strength of his anointed.

9 Save thy people, and bless thine inheritance: feed them also, and lift them up for ever.

P S A L. XXIX.

1 David exhorteth princes to give glory to God, 3 by reason of his power, 11 and protection of his people.

A Psalm of David.

GIVE unto the LORD, O ye mighty, give unto the LORD glory and strength.

2 Give unto the LORD the glory due unto his name; worship the LORD in the beauty of holiness.

3 The voice of the LORD is upon the waters: the God of glory thundereth: the LORD is upon many waters.

4 The voice of the LORD is powerful; the voice of the LORD is full of majesty.

5 The voice of the LORD breaketh the cedars; yea, the LORD breaketh the cedars of Lebanon.

6 He maketh them also to skip like a calf: Lebanon and Sirion like a young unicorn.

7 The voice of the LORD divideth the flames of fire.

8 The voice of the LORD shaketh the wilderness; the LORD shaketh the wilderness of Kadesh.

9 The voice of the LORD maketh the hinds to calve, and discovereth the forests: and in his temple doth every one speak of his glory.

10 The LORD sitteth upon the flood; yea, the LORD sitteth King for ever.

11 The LORD will give strength unto his people; the LORD will bless his people with peace.

P S A L. XXX.

1 David praiseth God for his deliverance. 4 He exhorteth others to praise him by example of God's dealing with him.

3 Draw me not away with the wicked, &c.] Suffer me not to be involved in the same punishment with those wretches who make no conscience of committing the greatest villainies.

5 He shall destroy them and not build them up.] They shall be utterly overthrown, without even the hope of being raised up again.

9 Save thy people, &c.] Save also, I beseech thee, O Lord, thy people whom thou hast appointed unto thyself; take care of them as a watchful shepherd doth of his flock; and make them victorious over all their enemies, both now and in all future generations.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XXVIII.

We are here taught, in all our wants, to call upon the Lord, lifting up your hands and hearts to him, and to implore his assistance in every exigence; for God will hearken to those who appeal to him, but renders to the wicked according to their works, and will destroy the double minded and deceitful; but will always be the shield of the righteous, and the protector of his people, who fear and obey him.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XXIX.

3 The voice of the Lord is upon the waters, &c.] He makes not only the earth, but the great ocean tremble at that awful token of his presence.

A Psalm and Song at the dedication of the house of David.

I WILL extol thee, O LORD; for thou hast lifted me up, and hast not made my foes to rejoice over me.

2 O LORD my God, I cried unto thee, and thou hast healed me.

3 O LORD, thou hast brought up my soul from the grave: thou hast kept me alive, that I should not go down to the pit.

4 Sing unto the LORD, O ye saints of his, and give thanks at the remembrance of his holiness.

5 For his anger endureth but a moment; in his favour is life: weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning.

6 And in my prosperity I said, I shall never be moved.

7 LORD, by thy favour thou hast made my mountain to stand strong: thou didst hide thy face, and I was troubled.

8 I cried to thee, O LORD; and unto the LORD I made supplication.

9 What profit is there in my blood, when I go down to the pit? Shall the dust praise thee? shall it declare thy truth?

10 Hear, O LORD, and have mercy upon me: LORD, be thou my helper.

11 Thou hast turned for me my mourning into dancing: thou hast put off my sackcloth, and girded me with gladness;

12 To the end that my glory may sing praise to thee, and not be silent. O LORD my God, I will give thanks unto thee for ever.

1 David shewing his confidence in God, craveth his help.

7 He rejoiceth in his mercy. 9 He prayeth in his calamity. 19 He praiseth God for his goodness.

In his temple doth every one speak of his glory.] While his temple remains unshaken by these tempests, and all his pious worshippers there securely sing the praises of his glorious Majesty, saying, "The Lord sitteth," &c.

GENERAL REFLECTION. ON PSAL. XXIX.

We may learn from this psalm, to adore, with reverence and fear, the majesty of God; and should take occasion, from the works of his hands, to acknowledge his infinite power, and reverence him as the ruler and judge of the world.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XXX.

The title of this psalm, in the Hebrew runs thus, A psalm, a song of dedication of the house built by David.

1 Lifted me up, &c.] As out of a pit: a phrase denoting deliverance out of the depths of danger and distress.

2 Thou hast healed me, &c.] Thou hast restored me to my former estate.

12 My glory, &c.] i. e. My tongue.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XXX.

We are here taught, that God makes use of adversity to bring his people to a sense of their duty, that they may acknowledge their dependence on his bounty, and have recourse to him in their distress.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XXXI.

4 Pull me out of the pit that they have laid privily for me, &c.] Mine enemies have now so circumvented me, and by the secret treachery of the Zophites, have brought me into such perplexities, that I am utterly ruined, unless thou vouchsafest to work my deliverance.

5 Into thine hand I commit my spirit.] Our Saviour made use of the words, Luke xxiii. 46. in a more proper and literal sense than they can be applied to David.

6 I have hated them that regard lying vanities : but I trust in the LORD.

7 I will be glad and rejoice in thy mercy : for thou hast considered my trouble ; thou hast known my soul in adversities ;

8 And hast not shut me up in the hand of the enemy : thou hast set my foot in a large room.

9 Have mercy upon me, O LORD, for I am in trouble : mine eye is consumed with grief, yea, my soul and my belly.

10 For my life is spent with grief, and my years with sighing : my strength faileth because of mine iniquity, and my bones are consumed.

11 I was a reproach among all mine enemies, but especially among my neighbours, and a fear to mine acquaintance : they that did see me without fled from me.

12 I am forgotten as a dead man out of mind : I am like a broken vessel.

13 For I have heard the slander of many : fear was on every side : while they took counsel together against me, they devised to take away my life.

14 But I trusted in thee, O LORD : I said, Thou art my God.

15 My times are in thy hand : deliver me from the hand of mine enemies, and from them that persecute me.

16 Make thy face to shine upon thy servant : save me for thy mercies' sake.

17 Let me not be ashamed, O LORD ; for I have called upon thee : let the wicked be ashamed, and let them be silent in the grave.

18 Let the lying lips be put to silence ; which speak grievous things proudly and contemptuously against the righteous.

19 Oh how great is thy goodness, which thou hast laid up for them that fear thee ; which thou hast wrought for them that trust in thee before the sons of men !

20 Thou shalt hide them in the secret of thy presence from the pride of man : thou shalt keep them secretly in a pavilion from the strife of tongues.

21 Blessed be the LORD : for he hath shewed me his marvellous kindness in a strong city.

22 For I said in my haste, I am cut off from before thine eyes : nevertheless thou heardest the voice of my supplications when I cried unto thee.

23 O love the LORD, all ye his saints : for the LORD preserveth the faithful, and plentifully rewardeth the proud doer.

24 Be of good courage, and he shall strengthen your heart, all ye that hope in the LORD.

6 Lying vanities, &c.] Idols and false gods : See Deut. xxxii. 21. Jer. viii. 19, &c.

10 Because of mine iniquity, &c.] Because of the punishment due to mine iniquity.

15 My times are in thy hand, &c.] He means, that his many and sundry events, his troubles and deliverances, his prosperity and adversity, his life and death, were all in the hand and disposal of God.

22 In my haste, &c.] When David made haste to get away for fear of Saul, 1 Sam. xxiii. 26.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XXXI.

We may observe, in this psalm, how David is transported with the sense of God's favours towards those that fear him, and of the greatness of those things he lays up for them. Consider this for your comfort, all you that fear the Lord ; and let it encourage you more and more to love, obey, and please him.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XXXII.

This psalm was composed by David, when the calamities attending the rebellion of his son taught him how fearful a thing it was to offend God, and how much he was beholden to him for mercifully remitting to him the vengeance which his sins deserved.

1 Whose sin is covered.] By the Lord, and not by himself ; for he that covereth his sins shall not prosper : but whose confesseth and forsaketh them, shall have mercy. Prov. xxviii. 13.

3 When I kept silence, my bones waxed old through my roaring all the day long, &c.] Neither by silence nor crying found I ease ; signi-

No. 40.

A Psalm of David, Maschil.

BLESSED is he whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered.

2 Blessed is the man unto whom the LORD imputeth not iniquity, and in whose spirit there is no guile.

3 When I kept silence, my bones waxed old through my roaring all the day long.

4 For day and night thy hand was heavy upon me : my moisture is turned into the drought of summer. Selah.

5 I acknowledged my sin unto thee, and mine iniquity have I not hid. I said, I will confess my transgressions unto the LORD ; and thou forgavest the iniquity of my sin. Selah.

6 For this shall every one that is godly pray unto thee in a time when thou mayest be found : surely in the floods of great waters they shall not come nigh unto him.

7 Thou art my hiding place, thou shalt preserve me from trouble ; thou shalt compass me about with songs of deliverance. Selah.

8 I will instruct thee and teach thee in the way which thou shalt go : I will guide thee with mine eye.

9 Be ye not as the horse, or as the mule, which have no understanding : whose mouth must be held in with bit and bridle, lest they come near unto thee.

10 Many sorrows shall be to the wicked : but he that trusteth in the LORD, mercy shall compass him about.

11 Be glad in the LORD, and rejoice, ye righteous : and shout for joy, all ye that are upright in heart.

PSAL. XXXIII.

1 God is to be praised for his goodness, 6 for his power, 12 and for his providence. 20 Confidence is to be placed in God.

REJOICE in the LORD, O ye righteous : for praise is comely for the upright.

2 Praise the LORD with harp : sing unto him with the psaltery and an instrument of ten strings.

3 Sing unto him a new song ; play skilfully with a loud noise.

4 For the word of the LORD is right ; and all his works are done in truth.

5 He loveth righteousness and judgment : the earth is full of the goodness of the LORD.

6 By the word of the LORD were the heavens made ; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth.

7 He gathereth the waters of the sea together as an heap : he layeth up the depth in storehouses.

8 Let all the earth fear the LORD : let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him.

9 For he spake, and it was done ; he commanded and it stood fast.

10 The

fying, that before the sinner is reconciled to God, he is under a perpetual torture of mind.

6 They shall not come nigh unto him.] i. e. The great waters, and the danger shall not come nigh him.

8 I will instruct thee and teach thee, &c.] Hearken therefore unto me, whosoever thou art that hast any concern about thy salvation, and I will direct thee into the wisest and safest course of life.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XXXII.

This psalm teaches us, that the true happiness of man consists in the pardon of sins, and in the purity of the conscience ; and that this favour is obtained by a sincere and humble confession of sin, and a true return to God, the scripture enjoins.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XXXIII.

1 Rejoice in the Lord, &c.] Praise the Almighty with grateful hearts, triumph in his holy name all ye that love him ; for nothing is more becoming those who observe the law of God, than magnify him who is the author of their being, and who graciously bestows upon them all the blessings of life.

2 With the psaltery, &c.] It may be translated the lute, or viol ; it was a round hollow instrument.

6 By the word of the Lord were the heavens made, &c.] This beautiful verse shews how thoroughly the royal poet entered into the majesty of the Mosaic narration : and the repetition of the sentiment, ver. 9. intimates how peculiarly he was charmed with that noble manner of describing the divine operations.

10 The LORD bringeth the counsel of the heathen to nought: he maketh the devices of the people of none effect.

11 The counsel of the LORD standeth for ever, the thoughts of his heart to all generations.

12 Blessed is the nation whose God is the LORD; and the people whom he hath chosen for his own inheritance.

13 The LORD looketh from heaven; he beholdeth all the sons of men.

14 From the place of his habitation he looketh upon all the inhabitants of the earth.

15 He fashioneth their hearts alike; he considereth all their works.

16 There is no king saved by the multitude of an host: a mighty man is not delivered by much strength.

17 An horse is a vain thing for safety: neither shall he deliver any by his great strength.

18 Behold, the eye of the LORD is upon them that fear him, upon them that hope in his mercy;

19 To deliver their soul from death, and to keep them alive in famine.

20 Our soul waiteth for the LORD: he is our help and our shield.

21 For our heart shall rejoice in him, because we have trusted in his holy name.

22 Let thy mercy, O LORD, be upon us, according as we hope in thee.

PSALM XXXIV.

1 David praiseth God, and exhorteth others thereto by his experience. 8 They are blessed that trust in God. 11 He exhorteth to the fear of God.

A Psalm of David, when he changed his behaviour before Abimelech; who drove him away, and he departed.

I WILL bless the LORD at all times: his praise shall continually be in my mouth.

2 My soul shall make her boast in the LORD: the humble shall hear thereof, and be glad.

3 O magnify the LORD with me, and let us exalt his name together.

4 I sought the LORD, and he heard me, and delivered me from all my fears.

5 They looked unto him, and were lightened: and their faces were not ashamed.

6 This poor man cried, and the LORD heard him, and saved him out of all his troubles.

7 The angel of the LORD encampeth round about them that fear him, and delivereth them.

8 O taste and see that the LORD is good: blessed is the man that trusteth in him.

9 O fear the LORD, ye his saints: for there is no want to them that fear him.

12 The nation whose God is the Lord, &c.] i. e. That nation which worships this Lord, the creator of heaven and earth.

15 He fashioneth their hearts alike, &c.] They are, every one of them without exception, his creatures.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSALM XXXIII.

The best use we can make of this psalm is, by observing, that it is a most just and agreeable duty to praise God, which none but the upright can discharge: that we ought to praise God, because he has created the world by his almighty power; because he governs it wisely and righteously by his providence, and because he is the protector of his people, who are entirely happy in having the Lord for their God.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSALM XXXIV.

This psalm was written by David after his escape from Achish king of Gath. It is very curiously composed, according to the number and order of the letters of the Hebrew alphabet in the beginning of every verse, which is a sufficient proof that it was written after David's escape to some place of safety.

5 They looked unto him, &c.] Through faith, hope, and prayer.

6 This poor man cried, &c.] Here David speaks of himself in the third person; as if he had said, Let all that are in trouble, fix their eyes on me, and excite one another to a cheerful dependence upon God, saying, Behold that man; he was in a poor and miserable condition, and destitute of all human help; but commending himself to the Lord by earnest prayer, the Lord regarded him, and delivered him out of all his distresses.

10 The young lions do lack, and suffer hunger: but they that seek the LORD shall not want any good thing.

11 Come, ye children, hearken unto me: I will teach you the fear of the LORD.

12 What man is he that desireth life, and loveth many days, that he may see good?

13 Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from speaking guile.

14 Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it.

15 The eyes of the LORD are upon the righteous, and his ears are open unto their cry.

16 The face of the LORD is against them that do evil, to cut off the remembrance of them from the earth.

17 The righteous cry, and the LORD heareth, and delivereth them out of all their troubles.

18 The LORD is nigh unto them that are of a broken heart; and saveth such as be of a contrite spirit.

19 Many are the afflictions of the righteous: but the LORD delivereth him out of them all.

20 He keepeth all his bones: not one of them is broken.

21 Evil shall slay the wicked: and they that hate the righteous shall be desolate.

22 The LORD redeemeth the soul of his servants: and none of them that trust in him shall be desolate.

PSALM XXXV.

1 David prayeth for his own safety, and his enemies confusion. 11 He complaineth of their wrongful dealing. 22 Thereby he inciteth God against them.

A Psalm of David.

PLEAD my cause, O LORD, with them that strive with me: fight against them that fight against me.

2 Take hold of shield and buckler, and stand up for mine help.

3 Draw out also the spear, and stop the way against them that persecute me: say unto my soul, I am thy salvation.

4 Let them be confounded and put to shame that seek after my soul: let them be turned back and brought to confusion that devise my hurt.

5 Let them be as chaff before the wind: and let the angel of the LORD chase them.

6 Let their way be dark and slippery: and let the angel of the LORD persecute them.

7 For without cause have they hid for me their net in a pit, which without cause they have digged for my soul.

8 Let destruction come upon him at unawares; and let his net that he hath hid catch himself: into that very destruction let him fall.

9 And my soul shall be joyful in the LORD: it shall rejoice in his salvation.

10 All my bones shall say, LORD, who is like unto thee,

7 The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them, &c.] For similar instances, see Gen. xxxii. 1, 2. and also 2 Kings vi. 17.

16 The face of the Lord is against them that do evil, &c.] This expression denotes the divine anger. See Lev. xvii. 10.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSALM XXXIV.

The excellent lessons contained in this psalm are, that when God grants us a deliverance, or any other favour, we ought not only to thank him for it, but to invite other men to praise him with us; that the Lord never fails to hear and deliver those who call upon him in their distress; that he employs even angels in their distress, and never suffers them to want any thing that is good.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSALM XXXV.

This psalm was composed by David when he was fiercely persecuted by Saul. The impressions may be interpreted not as a prayer, but as a prediction, and may be rendered, Not let them be, but, They shall be, &c.

1 Plead my cause, &c.] That is maintain my cause.

4 That seek after my soul, &c.] After my life.

6 Let their way be dark and slippery, &c.] Not knowing where they are in their flight, and wandering as men in the dark.

10 All my bones shall say, &c.] From my inmost heart, with all my power of soul and body, I will praise thee. This is an hyperbole, expressing his ardor, thee, which deliverest the poor from him that is too strong for him, yea, the poor and the needy from him that spoileth him?

11 False witnesses did rise up; they laid to my charge things that I knew not.

12 They rewarded me evil for good to the spoiling of my soul.

13 But as for me, when they were sick, my clothing was sackcloth: I humbled my soul with fasting; and my prayer returned into mine own bosom.

14 I behaved myself as though he had been my friend or brother: I bowed down heavily, as one that mourneth for his mother.

15 But in mine adversity they rejoiced, and gathered themselves together: yea, the abjects gathered themselves together against me, and I knew it not; they did rear me, and ceased not:

16 With hypocritical mockers in feasts, they gnashed upon me with their teeth.

17 LORD, how long wilt thou look on? rescue my soul from their destructions, my darling from the lions.

18 I will give thee thanks in the great congregation: I will praise thee among much people.

19 Let not them that are mine enemies wrongfully rejoice over me: neither let them wink with the eye that hate me without a cause.

20 For they speak not peace: but they devise deceitful matters against them that are quiet in the land.

21 Yea, they opened their mouth wide against me, and said, Aha, aha, our eye hath seen it.

22 This thou hast seen, O LORD: keep not silence: O LORD, be not far from me.

23 Stir up thyself, and awake to my judgment, even unto my cause, my God and my Lord.

24 Judge me, O LORD my God, according to thy righteousness; and let them not rejoice over me.

25 Let them not say in their hearts, Ah, so would we have it: let them not say, We have swallowed him up.

26 Let them be ashamed and brought to confusion together that rejoice at mine hurt: let them be clothed with shame and dishonour that magnify themselves against me.

27 Let them shout for joy, and be glad, that favour my righteous cause: yea, let them say continually, Let the LORD be magnified, which hath pleasure in the prosperity of his servant.

28 And my tongue shall speak of thy righteousness and of thy praise all the day long.

P S A L. XXXVI.

1 The grievous estate of the wicked. 5 The excellency of God's mercy. 10 David prayeth for favour to God's children.

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David the servant of the LORD.

THE transgression of the wicked saith within my heart, that there is no fear of God before his eyes.

15 But in mine adversity they rejoiced, &c.] But these very men (such was both their inhumanity and ingratitude) could not dissemble the joy they conceived, when the news was brought of any evil that befel me.

21 Yea, they opened their mouth wide, &c.] They now openly and boldly accuse me traitor, and say, So, so, we have found him out: his treasonable practices are discovered, we ourselves are eye-witnesses of it.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XXXV. We may collect in general from this psalm, that God defends good men; that the wicked, and such as persecute the faithful, are exposed to his vengeance; and that the duty of the righteous is to rejoice in God, when his glory is promoted by their deliverance. But we should also remember, as Christians, to love every body, even our enemies, and not to seek revenge, or render evil for evil.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XXXVI.

1 The transgression of the wicked saith within my heart, &c.] His actions sufficiently convince me, that he hath no regard to God, nor will be restrained by the fear of him from doing me the greatest mischief.

5 Thy mercy, O Lord, is in the heavens, &c.] My comfort is, that how great soever his hatred and falshood are, yet thy

2 For he flattereth himself in his own eyes, until his iniquity be found to be hateful.

3 The words of his mouth are iniquity and deceit: he hath left off to be wise, and to do good.

4 He deviseth mischief upon his bed; he setteth himself in a way that is not good; he abhorreth not evil.

5 Thy mercy, O LORD, is in the heavens; and thy faithfulness reacheth unto the clouds.

6 Thy righteousness is like the great mountains; thy judgments are a great deep: O LORD, thou preservest man and beast.

7 How excellent is thy lovingkindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings.

8 They shall be abundantly satisfied with the fatness of thy house; and thou shalt make them drink of the river of thy pleasures.

9 For with thee is the fountain of life: in thy light shall we see light.

10 O continue thy lovingkindness unto them that know thee; and thy righteousness to the upright in heart.

11 Let not the foot of pride come against me, and let not the hand of the wicked remove me.

12 There are the workers of iniquity fallen: they are cast down, and shall not be able to rise.

P S A L. XXXVII.

David persuadeth to patience and confidence in God, by the different estate of the godly and the wicked.

A Psalm of David.

FRET not thyself because of evil doers, neither be thou envious against the workers of iniquity.

2 For they shall soon be cut down like the grass, and wither as the green herb.

3 Trust in the LORD, and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed.

4 Delight thyself also in the LORD; and he shall give thee the desires of thine heart.

5 Commit thy way unto the LORD; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass.

6 And he shall bring forth thy righteousness as the light, and thy judgment as the noonday.

7 Rest in the LORD, and wait patiently for him: fret not thyself because of him who prospereth in his way, because of the man who bringeth wicked devices to pass.

8 Cease from anger, and forsake wrath: fret not thyself in any wise to do evil.

9 For evil doors shall be cut off: but those that wait upon the LORD, they shall inherit the earth.

10 For yet a little while, and the wicked shall not be: yea, thou shalt diligently consider his place, and it shall not be.

11 But the meek shall inherit the earth; and shall delight themselves in the abundance of peace.

12 The wicked plotteth against the just, and gnasheth upon him with his teeth.

13 The

goodness, O Lord, and faithfulness and lovingkindness, are infinitely greater.

9 For with thee is the fountain of life, &c.] Thou art the source from whence all our happiness flows, and which thou art able to supply for ever.

11 Let not the foot of pride come against me, &c.] Let not my proud enemy tread me under his feet.

12 There are the workers of iniquity fallen, &c.] I am confident they shall fall. I plainly see them baffled in this wicked design; it is as certain as if I already beheld it with my eyes.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XXXVI.

The use we are to make of this psalm is, to avoid the sentiments of the wicked, and to cleave to God by a sincere love and holy fear, to the end that we may rejoice in him with the righteous, and glorify his name for the blessings he vouchsafes to bestow.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XXXVII.

1 Because of evil doers, &c.] i. e. Because of the prosperity of evil doers.

6 Judgment, &c.] By "judgment," is here meant, justice and integrity.

8 Fret not thyself in any wise to do evil. Let not impatience and discontent at any time force thee to imitate the wicked, in hopes of meeting, in consequence, with their success.

13 That

13 The LORD shall laugh at him: for he seeth that his day is coming.

14 The wicked have drawn out the sword, and have bent their bow, to cast down the poor and needy, and to slay such as be of upright conversation.

15 Their sword shall enter into their own heart, and their bows shall be broken.

16 A little that a righteous man hath is better than the riches of many wicked.

17 For the arms of the wicked shall be broken: but the LORD upholdeth the righteous.

18 The LORD knoweth the days of the upright: and their inheritance shall be for ever.

19 They shall not be ashamed in the evil time: and in the days of famine they shall be satisfied.

20 But the wicked shall perish, and the enemies of the LORD shall be as the fat of lambs: they shall consume; into smoke shall they consume away.

21 The wicked borroweth, and payeth not again: but the righteous sheweth mercy, and giveth.

22 For such as be blessed of him shall inherit the earth; and they that be cursed of him shall be cut off.

23 The steps of a good man are ordered by the LORD: and he delighteth in his way.

24 Though he fall, he shall not be utterly cast down: for the LORD upholdeth him with his hand.

25 I have been young, and now am old; yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread.

26 He is ever merciful, and lendeth; and his seed is blessed.

27 Depart from evil, and do good; and dwell for evermore.

28 For the LORD loveth judgment, and forsaketh not his saints; they are preserved for ever: but the seed of the wicked shall be cut off.

29 The righteous shall inherit the land, and dwell therein for ever.

30 The mouth of the righteous speaketh wisdom, and his tongue talketh of judgment.

31 The law of his God is in his heart; none of his steps shall slide.

32 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him.

33 The LORD will not leave him in his hand, nor condemn him when he is judged.

34 Wait on the LORD, and keep his way, and he shall exalt thee to inherit the land: when the wicked are cut off, thou shalt see it.

35 I have seen the wicked in great power, and spreading himself like a green bay tree.

36 Yet he passed away, and, lo, he was not: yea, I sought him, but he could not be found.

37 Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace.

38 But the transgressors shall be destroyed together: the end of the wicked shall be cut off.

39 But the salvation of the righteous is the LORD: he is their strength in the time of trouble.

13 That his day is coming.] That the day of his destruction is approaching; so the Chaldee explaineth it, The day of his calamity.

17 The arms of the wicked, &c.] The power of the wicked.

18 The Lord knoweth the days of the upright, &c.] The Lord regardeth and taketh care of the events, whether good or evil, that befall the righteous.

24 Though he fall, &c.] Though God exercise him with temptations, and discipline him with afflictions, &c.

36 Yet he passed away, and lo, he was gone, &c.] Deeply as he seemed to be rooted, and firm as he seemed to stand, (even as a flourishing bay tree in its own proper soil) yet he suddenly disappeared, and perished.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ■ Psal. XXXVII.

We may observe in this psalm, that the character of wicked men is, injustice, malice, hatred of good men, pride, impiety: but, on the contrary, good men walk in uprightness, are meek and humble, love to give, and to exercise charity, and their discourse is full of wisdom and edification. Let this prove both a caution and example to us.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XXXVIII.

40 And the LORD shall help them, and deliver them: he shall deliver them from the wicked, and save them, because they trust in him.

P S A L. XXXVIII.

David moveth God to take compassion of his pitiful case.

A Psalm of David, to bring to remembrance.

O LORD, rebuke me not in thy wrath: neither chasten me in thy hot displeasure.

2 For thine arrows stick fast in me, and thy hand presseth me sore.

3 There is no soundness in my flesh because of thine anger; neither is there any rest in my bones because of my sin.

4 For mine iniquities are gone over mine head: as an heavy burden they are too heavy for me.

5 My wounds stink and are corrupt because of my foolishness.

6 I am troubled; I am bowed down greatly; I go mourning all the day long.

7 For my loins are filled with a loathsome disease: and there is no soundness in my flesh.

8 I am feeble and sore broken: I have roared by reason of the disquietness of my heart.

9 LORD, all my desire is before thee; and my groaning is not hid from thee.

10 My heart panteth, my strength faileth me: as for the light of mine eyes, it also is gone from me.

11 My lovers and my friends stand aloof from my sore; and my kinsmen stand afar off.

12 They also that seek after my life lay snares for me: and they that seek my hurt speak mischievous things, and imagine deceits all the day long.

13 But I, as a deaf man, heard not; and I was as a dumb man that openeth not his mouth.

14 Thus I was as a man that heareth not, and in whose mouth are no reproofs.

15 For in thee, O LORD, do I hope: thou wilt hear, O LORD my God.

16 For I said, Hear me, lest otherwise they should rejoice over me: when my foot slippeth, they magnify themselves against me.

17 For I am ready to halt, and my sorrow is continually before me.

18 For I will declare mine iniquity; I will be sorry for my sin.

19 But mine enemies are lively, and they are strong: and they that hate me wrongfully are multiplied.

20 They also that render evil for good are mine adversaries; because I follow the thing that good is.

21 Forsake me not, O LORD: O my God, be not far from me.

22 Make haste to help me, O LORD my salvation.

2 Thine arrows stick fast in me, &c.] The pains I endure are exceeding sharp, and touch me to the very quick.

4 Are gone over mine head, &c.] Have overwhelmed, like a river, even my very head.

13 But I, as a deaf man, heard not; and I was as a dumb man that openeth not his mouth.] I was so oppressed with the weight of my other afflictions, and of those sins which brought them upon me, that I lay as if I was deaf, and heard not what they said, or as dumb, and could not make an answer.

14 No reproofs.] No arguments to confute his adversaries.

17 I am ready to halt, &c.] In the Greek it is, I am ready for scourges, meaning for correction and punishment.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XXXVIII.

We are here taught, that persons afflicted by distempers, grief, or otherwise, should look upon the evils that befall them, though never so heavy, as the just correction for their sins, and ask pardon of God for them: he will also deliver them, when he finds it most for his own glory and their good. Part of this psalm may allude to the sufferings of Christ, and his meekness under them.

COMMENTARY

To the chief Musician, even to Jeduthun, A Psalm of David.

I Said, I will take heed to my ways, that I sin not with my tongue: I will keep my mouth with a bridle, while the wicked is before me.

2 I was dumb with silence, I held my peace, even from good; and my sorrow was stirred.

3 My heart was hot within me, while I was musing the fire burned: then spake I with my tongue,

4 LORD, make me to know mine end, and the measure of my days, what it is; that I may know how frail I am.

5 Behold, thou hast made my days as an handbreadth, and mine age is as nothing before thee; verily every man at his best state is altogether vanity. Selah.

6 Surely every man walketh in a vain shew: surely they are disquieted in vain: he heapeth up riches, and knoweth not who shall gather them.

7 And now, LORD, what wait I for; my hope is in thee.

8 Deliver me from all my transgressions: make me not the reproach of the foolish.

9 I was dumb, I opened not my mouth; because thou didst it.

10 Remove thy stroke away from me: I am consumed by the blow of thine hand.

11 When thou with rebukes dost correct man for iniquity, thou makest his beauty to consume away like a moth: surely every man is vanity. Selah.

12 Hear my prayer, O LORD, and give ear unto my cry; hold not thy peace at my tears: for I am a stranger with thee, and a sojourner, as all my fathers were.

13 O spare me, that I may recover strength, before I go hence, and be no more.

PSAL. XL.

1 The benefit of confidence in God. 6 Obedience is the best sacrifice. 11 The sense of David's evils inflameth his prayer.

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David.

I Waited patiently for the LORD; and he inclined unto me, and heard my cry.

2 He brought me up also out of an horrible pit, out of the miry clay, and set my feet upon a rock, and established my goings.

3 And he hath put a new song in my mouth, even praise unto our God: many shall see it, and fear, and shall trust in the LORD.

4 Blessed is that man that maketh the LORD his trust, and respecteth not the proud, nor such as turn aside to lies.

5 Many, O LORD my God, are thy wonderful works which thou hast done, and thy thoughts which are to usward: they cannot be reckoned up in order unto thee: if I would declare and speak of them, they are more than can be numbered.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XXXIX.

2 I held my peace, even from good, &c.] I spake not a word, either good or bad.

3 My heart was hot within me, while I was musing the fire burned: then spake I with my tongue.] My sorrows rose to such an height at last, that they could no longer be confined: but burning like a fire, with a vehement heat in my breast, they broke into such expressions as these.

9 I was dumb, I opened not my mouth; because thou didst it.] This is a profession of his present suffering the afflictions which the providence of God laid upon him.

11 Like a moth, &c.] Like a garment fretted by a moth.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XXXIX.

David here teaches us, that God can put a period to our lives when he pleases, and despoil us of all our enjoyments; that we are only strangers and sojourners here below; and the sole remedy for the miseries and vanity of human life is, to have all our expectation in the Lord, to ask his assistance and pardon of our sins, and to submit ourselves with resignation to his holy will.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XL.

The title of this psalm being, Of David a Psalm, and not "A Psalm of David," some interpreters refer this not to the composer, No. 40.

6 Sacrifice and offering thou didst not desire; mine ears hast thou opened: burnt offering and sin offering hast thou not required.

7 Then said I, Lo, I come: in the volume of the book it is written of me,

8 I delight to do thy will, O my God: yea, thy law is within my heart.

9 I have preached righteousness in the great congregation: lo, I have not refrained my lips, O LORD, thou knowest.

10 I have not hid thy righteousness within my heart; I have declared thy faithfulness and thy salvation: I have not concealed thy lovingkindness and thy truth from the great congregation.

11 Withhold not thou thy tender mercies from me, O LORD: let thy lovingkindness and thy truth continually preserve me.

12 For innumerable evils have compassed me about: mine iniquities have taken hold upon me, so that I am not able to look up; they are more than the hairs of mine head: therefore my heart faileth me.

13 Be pleased, O LORD, to deliver me: O LORD, make haste to help me.

14 Let them be ashamed and confounded together that seek after my soul to destroy it; let them be driven backward and put to shame that wish me evil.

15 Let them be desolate for a reward of their shame that say unto me, Aha, aha.

16 Let all those that seek thee rejoice and be glad in thee: let such as love thy salvation say continually, The LORD be magnified.

17 But I am poor and needy: yet the LORD thinketh upon me: thou art my help and my deliverer; make no tarrying, O my God.

PSAL. XLI.

1 God's care of the poor. 4 David complaineth of his enemies treachery.

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David.

BLESSED is he that considereth the poor: the LORD will deliver him in time of trouble.

2 The LORD will preserve him, and keep him alive; and he shall be blessed upon the earth: and thou wilt not deliver him unto the will of his enemies.

3 The LORD will strengthen him upon the bed of languishing: thou wilt make all his bed in his sickness.

4 I said, LORD, be merciful unto me: heal my soul; for I have sinned against thee.

5 Mine enemies speak evil of me, When shall he die, and his name perish?

6 And if he come to see me, he speaketh vanity: his heart gathereth iniquity to itself; when he goeth abroad, he telleth it.

7 All that hate me whisper together against me: against me do they devise my hurt.

8 An

but to the subject of the psalm, i. e. concerning Christ, who, in the language of the prophets, is frequently pointed out under the name of David, which literally signifies the Beloved; see Hosea iii. 5; Jer. xxx. 9 Ezek. xxxiv. 23. and xxxvii. 24. And that Christ is the subject of this psalm, the apostle teaches us, Heb. x. 5, 6, &c.

4 He brought me up also out of an horrible pit, &c.] He hath delivered me out of the greatest dangers.

6 Mine ears hast thou opened, &c.] In the Hebrew it is, Mine ears hast thou bored; alluding to the Jewish custom of boring the ears of those who were willing to become perpetual servants at the jubilee. The Greek interpreters read, A body hast thou fitted to me; i. e. to be a victim to be offered up in sacrifice; which sense St. Paul follows, Heb. x. 5.

7 Then said I, Lo, I come, &c.] This has a direct allusion to Christ, offering himself up as the great atoning sacrifice for the sins of his people.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XL.

We meet with these instructions in this psalm: That the true happiness of men consists in chusing the Lord for their refuge and portion, without seeking it in the things of this world; that we can neither reckon up, nor sufficiently celebrate the mercies of God; and that when we serve and worship him aright, we may call upon him with a full assurance of his assistance.

8 An evil disease, say they, cleaveth fast unto him: and now that he lieth he shall rise up no more.

9 Yea, mine own familiar friend, in whom I trusted, which did eat of my bread, hath lifted up his heel against me.

10 But thou, O LORD, be merciful unto me, and raise me up, that I may requite them.

11 By this I know that thou favourest me, because mine enemy doth not triumph over me.

12 And as for me, thou upholdest me in mine integrity, and settest me before thy face for ever.

13 Blessed be the LORD God of Israel from everlasting, and to everlasting. Amen, and Amen.

1 David's zeal to serve God in the temple. 5 He encourageth his soul to trust in God.

To the chief Musician, Maschil, for the sons of Korah.

1023. AS the hart panteth after the water brooks, so panteth my soul after thee, O God.

2 My soul thirsteth for God, for the living God: when shall I come and appear before God?

3 My tears have been my meat day and night, while they continually say unto me, Where is thy God?

4 When I remember these things, I pour out my soul in me: for I had gone with the multitude, I went with them to the house of God, with the voice of joy and praise, with a multitude that kept holyday.

5 Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted in me? hope thou in God: for I shall yet praise him for the help of his countenance.

6 O my God, my soul is cast down within me: therefore will I remember thee from the land of Jordan, and of the Hermonites, from the hill Mizar.

7 Deep calleth unto deep at the noise of thy waterspouts: all thy waves and thy billows are gone over me.

8 Yet the LORD will command his loving kindness in the daytime, and in the night his song shall be with me, and my prayer unto the God of my life.

9 I will say unto God my rock, Why hast thou forgotten me? why go I mourning because of the oppression of the enemy?

10 As with a sword in my bones, mine enemies reproach me; while they say daily unto me, Where is thy God?

11 Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope thou in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XLI.

■ An evil disease, &c.] This some think should be rendered, A slander, or false accusation.

13 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, &c.] Let the God of Israel be for ever blessed and adored. Let him be blessed throughout all generations, as long as the sun and moon endureth, and even to all eternity.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XLI.

David herein represents the lively sorrow he felt, when he was removed from the tabernacle, by the persecution of his enemies; and the hearty wishes he had expressed to return thither, to the end that he might serve God in it: this example should stir us up to the like zeal and affection for the worship of God, and the assemblies of the faithful.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XLII.

In the Hebrew, the psalms are divided into five books; and here begins the second: all in the foregoing book, except four, have the name of David prefixed to them as their author: and thence the collector thought proper to place them all together. The first part of this second book consists of psalms, directed to the sons of Korah, to be set or sung by them under the chief musician of the tabernacle.

1 As the hart panteth, &c.] The hart does not more eagerly long for the brooks of water to quench his thirst, than my soul does for the happy enjoyment of God in the public assemblies, from whence I am now driven.

2 My soul thirsteth for God, &c.] O how vehemently doth my soul long to be again restored to the liberty of presenting myself before thee in thy tabernacle.

7 Deep calleth unto deep, &c.] I am tossed like one on a tempest-

■ For thou art, the God of my strength: why dost thou cast me off? why go I mourning because of the oppression of the enemy?

3 O send out thy light and thy truth: let them lead me; let them bring me unto thy holy hill, and to thy tabernacles.

4 Then will I go unto the altar of God, unto God my exceeding joy: yea, upon the harp will I praise thee, O God my God.

5 Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God.

P S A L. XLIV.

1 The church, in memory of former favours, 9 complaineth of her present evils, 17 professing her integrity, 24 she fervently prayeth for succour.

To the chief Musician for the sons of Korah, Maschil.

WE have heard with our ears, O God, our fathers have told us, what work thou didst in their days, in the times of old.

2 How thou didst drive out the heathen with thy hand, and plantedst them; how thou didst afflict the people, and cast them out.

3 For they got not the land in possession by their own sword, neither did their own arm save them: but thy right hand, and thine arm, and the light of thy countenance, because thou hadst a favour unto them.

4 Thou art my King, O God: command deliverances for Jacob.

5 Through thee will we push down our enemies: through thy name will we tread them under that rise up against us.

6 For I will not trust in my bow, neither shall my sword save me.

7 But thou hast saved us from our enemies, and hast put them to shame that hated us.

8 In God we boast all the day long, and praise thy name for ever. Selah.

9 But thou hast cast off, and put us to shame; and goest not forth with our armies.

10 Thou makest us to turn back from the enemy: and they which hate us spoil for themselves.

11 Thou hast given us like sheep appointed for meat; and hast scattered us among the heathen.

12 Thou

tuous sea, where the waves rage and swell to such an height, that every billow threatens to overwhelm and bury me in the deep.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XLII.

We may observe, that David had been in extreme distress, having, ■ it were, sunk under the scourges of God; in which condition his soul was almost destitute of comfort; but nevertheless his faith raised and supported him. This example ought to strengthen the righteous in their afflictions, and cause them to hope in God in their greatest bitterness.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XLIII.

3 O send out thy light and thy truth, &c.] O send forth the happy effects of thy favour and faithfulness, and, according to thy promises to those who depend ■ thee, let thy almighty power, in much mercy, lead and conduct me to victory over all mine enemies both spiritual and temporal.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XLIII.

We may learn from hence, that the life of a Christian is of an active nature; and although believers may be often dejected, yet they ought to trust in the Lord, and be glad in the God of their salvation.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XLIV.

It is most likely this psalm was written in the reign of Hezekiah, when the king of Assyria invaded the country, took all the fenced cities, and came before Jerusalem with ■ very large army; in this strait, either Hezekiah, or some other divine person, penned this psalm.

4 Command deliverances for Jacob.] Effect it by thy almighty word, which gives being to, and is ■ law for all things.

11 Thou hast given us like sheep, &c.] Some of us they kill in the pursuit, others they carry away captive.

12 Thou

12 Thou sellest thy people for nought, and dost not increase thy wealth by their price.

13 Thou makest us a reproach to our neighbours, a scorn and derision to them that are round about us.

14 Thou makest us a byword among the heathen, a shaking of the head among the people.

15 My confusion is continually before me, and the shame of my face hath covered me,

16 For the voice of him that reproacheth and blasphemeth; by reason of the enemy and avenger.

17 All this is come upon us; yet have we not forgotten thee, neither have we dealt falsely in thy covenant.

18 Our heart is not turned back, neither have our steps declined from thy way;

19 Though thou hast sore broken us in the place of dragons, and covered us with the shadow of death.

20 If we have forgotten the name of our God, or stretched out our hands to a strange god;

21 Shall not God search this out? for he knoweth the secrets of the heart.

22 Yea, for thy sake are we killed all the day long; we are counted as sheep for the slaughter.

23 Awake, why sleepest thou, O LORD? arise, cast us not off for ever.

24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and forgettest our affliction and our oppression?

25 For our soul is bowed down to the dust: our belly cleaveth unto the earth.

26 Arise for our help, and redeem us for thy mercies' sake.

P S A L. XLV.

1 The majesty and grace of Christ's kingdom. 10 The duty of the church, and the benefits thereof.

To the chief Musician upon Shoshannim, for the sons of Korah, Maschil, A Song of loves.

MY heart is enditing a good matter: I speak of the things which I have made touching the king: my tongue is the pen of a ready writer.

2 Thou art fairer than the children of men: grace is poured into thy lips: therefore God hath blessed thee for ever.

3 Gird thy sword upon thy thigh, O most mighty, with thy glory and thy majesty.

4 And in thy majesty ride prosperously because of truth and meekness and righteousness; and thy right hand shall teach thee terrible things.

12 Thou sellest thy people for nought] We are sold as vile slaves who are nothing worth.

And dost not increase thy wealth by their price.] Our enemies have not so much as yielded thee any acknowledgment, nor paid thee any homage to compensate the loss of thy people.

17 All this is come upon us; yet, &c.] Although this load of calamities is heaped upon us, as we have deserved, yet this comfort is still remaining, that we are not so wicked as to be moved by all this to desert thee, and to violate that covenant by which we are engaged to worship thee alone.

19 The place of dragons, &c.] Those noxious and disagreeable animals that generally hide themselves in dark and inaccessible coverts.

20 If we have forgotten the name of our God, &c.] If we have fallen into idolatry.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XLIV.

As the Israelites acknowledged that it was by the sole power and favour of God that their fathers had been established in the land of Canaan; so it is the same favour that constitutes the happiness and security of nations, and particularly of the church, and the sincere members of it.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XLV.

Shoshannim] Shoshannim; by this are understood, Instruments of ten strings.

A Song of loves.] Shir Jedidoth plainly alludes to the name Jedidiah, given to Solomon by Nathan the prophet, Sam. xii. 25. But the principal parts of this psalm relate to Christ, it being sufficiently evident that the prophet, while he was writing some part of this psalm, was carried quite beyond king Solomon, to the great King, the Lord our righteousness: so that we may say here, as our Saviour doth in another place, "Behold, a greater than Solomon is here;" and this is even acknowledged by the best Jewish interpreters themselves.

5 Thine arrows are sharp, &c.] Thy word, like sharp arrows, shall pierce into the hearts of all those who oppose thy royal authority.

6 Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever, &c.] O God, the great King of kings, and Lord of lords, how weak and tottering are the thrones of all other princes, in comparison with thine, which 5 Thine arrows are sharp in the heart of the king's enemies; whereby the people fall under thee.

6 Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever: the sceptre of thy kingdom is a right sceptre.

7 Thou lovest righteousness, and hatest wickedness: therefore God, thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows.

8 All thy garments smell of myrrh, and aloes, and cassia, out of the ivory palaces, whereby they have made thee glad.

9 King's daughters were among thy honourable women; upon thy right hand did stand the queen in gold of Ophir.

10 Harken, O daughter, and consider, and incline thine ear; forget also thine own people, and thy father's house;

11 So shall the king greatly desire thy beauty: for he is thy Lord; and worship thou him.

12 And the daughter of Tyre shall be there with a gift; even the rich among the people shall intreat thy favour.

13 The king's daughter is all glorious within: her clothing is of wrought gold.

14 She shall be brought unto the king in raiment of needle work: the virgins her companions that follow her shall be brought unto thee.

15 With gladness and rejoicing shall they be brought: they shall enter into the king's palace.

16 Instead of thy fathers shall be thy children, whom thou mayest make princes in all the earth.

17 I will make thy name to be remembered in all generations: therefore shall the people praise thee for ever and ever.

P S A L. XLVI.

1 The confidence which the church hath in God. 8 An exhortation to behold his works.

To the chief Musician for the sons of Korah, A Son upon Alamoth.

GOD is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble.

2 Therefore will not we fear, though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea;

3 Though the waters thereof roar and be troubled, though the mountains shake with the swelling thereof. Selah.

4 There is a river, the streams whereof shall make glad shall never be subverted! Thou shalt reign for ever and ever, and of thy kingdom there shall be no end.

7 Above thy fellows.] This, prophetically, means all true Christians, sanctified by the same spirit, and endowed with the same graces, and who are also made unto our God kings and priests.

9 The queen, &c.] Pharaoh's daughter, but prophetically the church, which is the spouse of Christ.

10 Forget also thine own people, &c.] The meaning of this, when applied to the church, is, Renounce the world, which is as it were thy father's house from whence thou wast taken, and cleave altogether to thy husband, which is Christ, according to the laws of matrimony.

12 And the daughter of Tyre, &c.] This is a prophecy of the subjection which the nations of the earth should pay to the kingdom of Christ, through the preaching of the gospel.

13 The king's daughter is all glorious within, &c.] The daughter of Pharaoh is no less adorned with all excellent quality of mind, than her body is arrayed with rich attire.

15 With gladness and rejoicing, &c.] A lively figure of the church, which men shall enter with joy and exultation, saying, "Hallelujah, let us rejoice and be glad, for the Lord God omnipotent reigneth."

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XLV.

This psalm properly relates to Jesus Christ, the husband and king of the church; herein express mention is made of his divinity, union, and power, with the glory and duration of his kingdom; and that we may share in the blessing of it, we should meekly submit to him as our king and our God.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XLVI.

This psalm was intended to inspire the people with a firm confidence in God, whenever they should for the future be surrounded with dangers, and induce them to return thanks to that omnipotent arm that had saved them in the day of their distress.

Therefore will we not fear, &c.] Since God is our powerful protector, in whom we may safely confide, we will never hereafter be dismayed, but steadfastly hope in God in the midst of the greatest tumults, and the most dangerous commotions.

glad the city of God, the holy place of the tabernacles of the most high.

5 God is in the midst of her; she shall not be moved: God shall help her, and that right early.

6 The heathen raged, the kingdoms were moved: he uttered his voice, the earth melted.

8 Come, behold the works of the LORD, what desolations he hath made in the earth.

9 He maketh wars to cease unto the end of the earth; he breaketh the bow, and cutteth the spear in funder; he burneth the chariot in the fire.

10 Be still, and know that I am God; I will be exalted in the earth.

11 The LORD of hosts is with us, the God of Jacob is our refuge. Selah.

The nations are exhorted cheerfully to entertain the kingdom of Christ.

To the chief Musician, A Psalm for the sons of Korah.

Clap your hands, all ye people; shout unto God with the voice of triumph.

2 For the LORD most high is terrible; he is a great King over all the earth.

3 He shall subdue the people under us, and the nations under our feet.

4 He shall choose our inheritance for us, the excellency of Jacob whom he loved. Selah.

5 God is gone up with a shout, the LORD with the sound of the trumpet.

6 Sing praises to God, sing praises: sing praises unto our King, sing praises.

7 For God is the King of all the earth: sing ye praises with understanding.

8 God reigneth over the heathen: God sitteth upon the throne of his holiness.

9 The princes of the people are gathered together, even the people of the God of Abraham: for the shields of the earth belong unto God: he is greatly exalted.

P S A L. XLVIII.

The ornaments and privileges of the church.

GREAT is the LORD, and greatly to be praised in the city of our God, in the mountain of his holiness.

2 Beautiful for situation, the joy of the whole earth, is mount Zion, on the sides of the north, the city of the great King.

3 God is known in her palaces for a refuge.

4 For, lo, the kings were assembled, they passed by together.

5 They saw it, and so they marvelled; they were troubled, and hasted away.

10 Be still and know that I am God, &c.] Lay down your arms, and no longer molest my people, know that I am the supreme governor of all the world, who have defeated all your designs, and overthrown all your forces.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Psal. XLVI.

We are to learn from hence, that God is the protector of his church; and that even when kings and nations, who are represented in this psalm as floods and torrents, are confederated against them, God renders all their efforts useless, and powerfully delivers it out of their hands.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XLVII.

4 He shall choose, &c.] He hath chosen.

8 God reigneth over the heathen, &c.] He hath made the heathen, who dwell in Sion, to feel his power, and submit themselves unto him.

9 The princes of the people, &c.] The heads of the tribes, with all the people, are assembled together at their solemn feasts, without any fear of invasion from their foreign neighbours; for God (when to attend his services they have left their houses unguarded) hath undertaken their protection: and he is infinitely superior to all other gods which may pretend to be the defenders of the earth.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Psal. XLVII.

This psalm is to be applied to the ascension and kingdom of Jesus Christ our Lord; and that the calling of the Gentiles is foretold therein: it engages us to praise God, and to celebrate his goodness with holy transports; but above all, because he hath chosen us to be his people and his inheritance.

6 Fear took hold upon them, there, and pain, as of a woman in travail.

7 Thou breakest the ships of Tarshish with an east wind.

8 As we have heard, so have we seen in the city of the LORD of hosts, in the city of our God: God will establish it for ever. Selah.

9 We have thought of thy lovingkindness, O God, in the midst of thy temple.

10 According to thy name, O God, so is thy praise unto the ends of the earth: thy right hand is full of righteousness.

11 Let mount Zion rejoice, let the daughters of Judah be glad, because of thy judgments.

12 Walk about Zion, and go round about her: tell the towers thereof.

13 Mark ye well her bulwarks, consider her palaces; that ye may tell it to the generation following.

14 For this God is our God for ever and ever: he will be our guide even unto death.

P S A L. XLIX.

1 An earnest persuasion to build the faith of the resurrection, not on worldly power, but on God. 16 Worldly prosperity is not to be admired.

To the chief Musician, A Psalm for the sons of Korah.

HEAR this, all ye people; give ear, all ye inhabitants of the world:

2 Both low and high, rich and poor, together.

3 My mouth shall speak of wisdom; and the meditation of my heart shall be of understanding.

4 I will incline mine ear to a parable: I will open my dark saying upon the harp.

5 Wherefore should I fear in the days of evil, when the iniquity of my heels shall compass me about?

6 They that trust in their wealth, and boast themselves in the multitude of their riches;

7 None of them can by any means redeem his brother, nor give to God a ransom for him:

8 (For the redemption of their soul is precious, and it ceaseth for ever;)

9 That he should still live for ever, and not see corruption.

10 For he seeth that wise men die, likewise the fool and the brutish person perish, and leave their wealth to others.

11 Their inward thought is, that their houses shall continue for ever, and their dwelling-places to all generations: they call their lands after their own names.

12 Nevertheless, man being in honour abideth not: he is like the beasts that perish.

13 This their way is their folly: yet their posterity approve their saying. Selah.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XLVIII.

2 On the sides of the north, the city of the great king.] The liturgy seems to express it truest, On the north side lieth the city of the great king, i. e. Jerusalem.

12 Walk about Zion, &c.] Make a solemn procession, and go round about the city, blessing and praising God with thankful hearts, who hath preserved you from your enemies that so lately beset you; reckon the towers, and see if there be so much as one of them wanting, and observe if there be the least hurt done to any of them.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Psal. XLVIII.

We are very expressly assured in this psalm, that the church is the dearest thing to God upon earth; that he dwells in the midst of it; that he encompasses it with his protection; and that he will always support and defend it against its combined enemies, and turn all their conspiracies and devices to their own confusion.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XLIX.

4 I will incline mine ear to a parable, &c.] It is not vulgar instruction, but most excellent advice which I have to give you, more to be desired than the skill of restoring the darkest enigmas.

6, 7 They that trust in their wealth, &c.] Though they place such confidence in their wealth, that they think none is able to resist them, yet their weakness is sufficiently apparent, not one amongst them can save his dearest friend from the grave when the almighty demands his soul.

14 Like sheep they are laid in the grave; death shall feed on them; and the upright shall have dominion over them in the morning; and their beauty shall consume in the grave from their dwelling.

15 But God will redeem my soul from the power of the grave: for he shall receive me. Selah.

16 Be not thou afraid when one is made rich, when the glory of his house is increased;

17 For when he dieth he shall carry nothing away: his glory shall not descend after him.

18 Though while he lived he blessed his soul: and men will praise thee, when thou doest well to thyself.

19 He shall go to the generation of his fathers; they shall never see light.

20 Man that is in honour, and understandeth not, is like the beasts that perish.

1 The majesty of God in the church. 5 His order to gather the saints.

A Psalm of Asaph.

THE mighty God, even the LORD, hath spoken, and called the earth from the rising of the sun unto the going down thereof.

2 Out of Zion, the perfection of beauty, God hath shined.

3 Our God shall come, and shall not keep silence: fire shall devour before him, and it shall be very tempestuous round about him.

4 He shall call to the heavens from above, and to the earth, that he may judge his people.

5 Gather my faints together unto me; those that have made a covenant with me by sacrifice.

6 And the heavens shall declare his righteousness: for God is judge himself. Selah.

7 Hear, O my people, and I will speak; O Israel, and I will testify against thee: I am God, even thy God.

8 I will not reprove thee for thy sacrifices or thy burnt offerings, to have been continually before me.

9 I will take no bullock out of thy house, nor he goats out of thy folds.

10 For every beast of the forest is mine, and the cattle upon a thousand hills.

11 I know all the fowls of the mountains: and the wild beasts of the field are mine.

12 If I were hungry, I would not tell thee: for the world is mine, and the fulness thereof.

13 Will I eat the flesh of bulls, or drink the blood of goats?

14 Offer unto God thanksgiving; and pay thy vows unto the most high:

14 Like sheep they are laid in the grave, &c.] They go in droves to their graves, whither death drives them at the close of their days, as a shepherd does his flock, in the evening, to the fold; and then the just, whom they before insulted, shall triumph over them at the morning of the resurrection.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XLIX.

The holy spirit teaches us here, that such as trust in their goods or riches, or are puffed up with their honours and credit, are madmen: that God will overturn all their designs, death will rob them of all their glory; the grave will overwhelm them; and that their riches cannot redeem their souls, nor secure them from death; but that God will redeem from death those that trust in him, and will take them to himself.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. L.

This psalm was not written by Asaph the Levite, contemporary with David, but by another prophet of that name in after-times, who lived in the reign of some pious prince, perhaps Jehoshaphat or Hezekiah, when the people and judges were filled with hypocrisy and formality in religion.

1 The mighty God, even the Lord, &c.] The omnipotent Majesty, the supreme judge of heaven and earth, to whom the greatest kings and potentates are but subjects; the eternal Lord who changes not hath given out his orders, that all the people of the land, from east to west, be summoned to appear before him.

4 He shall call to the heavens from above, and to the earth, &c.] He shall call heaven and earth to be witnesses of the equity of his proceedings.

5 My saints, &c.] That is, all the members of my church, sanctified by my covenant.

7 Hear, O my people, &c.] Here the psalmist introduces God as the speaker.

15 And call upon me in the day of trouble: I will deliver thee, and thou shalt glorify me.

16 But unto the wicked God faith, What hast thou to do to declare my statutes, or that thou shouldest take my covenant in thy mouth?

17 Seeing thou hatest instruction, and castest my words behind thee.

18 When thou sawest a thief, then thou consentedst with him, and hast been partaker with adulterers.

19 Thou givest thy mouth to evil, and thy tongue frameth deceit.

20 Thou fittest and speakest against thy brother; thou slanderest thine own mother's son.

21 These things hast thou done, and I kept silence; thou thoughtest that I was altogether such an one as thyself: but I will reprove thee, and set them in order before thine eyes.

22 Now consider this, ye that forget God, lest I tear you in pieces, and there be none to deliver.

23 Who so offereth praise glorifieth me: and to him that ordereth his conversation aright will I shew the salvation of God.

P S A L. LI.

1 David prayeth for remission of sins, whereof he maketh a deep confession. 6 He prayeth for sanctification.

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David, when Nathan the prophet came unto him, after he had gone in to Bathsheba.

HAVE mercy upon me, O God, according to thy lovingkindness: according unto the multitude of thy mercies blot out my transgressions. 1034.

2 Wash me thoroughly from mine iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin.

3 For I acknowledge my transgressions: and my sin is ever before me.

4 Against thee, thee only, have I sinned, and done this evil in thy sight: that thou mightest be justified when thou speakest, and be clear when thou judgest.

5 Behold, I was shapen in iniquity; and in sin did my mother conceive me.

6 Behold, thou desirest truth in the inward parts: and in the hidden part thou shalt make me to know wisdom.

7 Purge me with hyssop, and I shall be clean: wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow.

8 Make me to hear joy and gladness; that the bones which thou hast broken may rejoice.

9 Hide thy face from my sins, and blot out all mine iniquities.

7 I will not reprove thee, &c.] I have no complaint to make concerning sacrifices; thy burnt offerings, I acknowledge, never fail to be brought both morning and evening to my altar.

21 These things hast thou done, &c.] All this wickedness hast thou committed, and I have forborne to punish thee, but instead of amending thy life, to which my patience should have invited thee, thou hast presumed so much upon my lenity, as to add another sin to all the rest, and imagined that I am ignorant of what is done in secret, or am altogether as well pleased with these things as thyself.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LI.

This psalm teaches us, that the service of God does not consist merely in outward duties, which indeed ought not to be neglected being established by God; but that the true worship which he requires is, to serve him in spirit and in truth, to perform our vows to him, to call upon him, and to do his will from the heart.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LI.

1 Have mercy upon me, O God, &c.] O thou great judge of all the earth, whom I have so highly offended, I cast myself down before thee, and humbly supplicate thy mercy.

4 Against thee, thee only, have I sinned, &c.] O how it afflicts me that I presumed, because I had none to controul me here on earth, to offend thy Majesty, thy all-seeing Majesty, at whose tribunal the highest shall be judged.

5 I was shapen in iniquity, &c.] I acknowledge the corruption of my nature through original sin.

6 The inward parts, &c.] i. e. In the mind or conscience.

7 Purge me with hyssop, and I shall be clean, &c.] The sprinklers, with which they sprinkled the unclean and leprous, were made of hyssop, see Lev. xiv. 6. which occasioned this expression.

10 Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me.

11 Cast me not away from thy presence: and take not thy holy spirit from me.

12 Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation; and uphold me with thy free spirit.

13 Then will I teach transgressors thy ways; and sinners shall be converted unto thee.

14 Deliver me from bloodguiltiness, O God, thou God of my salvation: and my tongue shall sing aloud of thy righteousness.

15 O LORD, open thou my lips; and my mouth shall shew forth thy praise.

16 For thou desirest not sacrifice; else would I give it: thou delightest not in burnt offering.

17 The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit: a broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise.

18 Do good in thy good pleasure unto Zion: build thou the walls of Jerusalem.

19 Then shalt thou be pleased with the sacrifices of righteousness, with burnt offering and whole burnt offering: then shall they offer bullocks upon thine altar.

P S A L. LII.

1 David condemning the spitefulness of Doeg, prophesieth his destruction. 6 The righteous shall rejoice at it.

To the chief Musician, Maschil, A Psalm of David, when Doeg the Edomite came and told Saul, and said unto him, David is come to the house of Ahimelech.

WHY boastest thou thyself in mischief, O mighty man? the goodness of God endureth continually.

2 Thy tongue deviseth mischiefs; like a sharp razor, working deceitfully.

3 Thou lovest evil more than good; and lying rather than to speak righteousness. Selah.

4 Thou lovest all devouring words, O thou deceitful tongue.

5 God shall likewise destroy thee for ever, he shall take thee away, and pluck thee out of thy dwelling place, and root thee out of the land of the living. Selah.

6 The righteous also shall see, and fear, and shall laugh at him:

7 Lo, this is the man that made not God his strength; but trusted in the abundance of his riches, and strengthened himself in his wickedness.

8 But I am like a green olive tree in the house of God: I trust in the mercy of God for ever and ever.

9 I will praise thee for ever, because thou hast done

11 Cast me not away from thy presence, &c.] Deliver me not over to a reprobate mind.

14 Deliver me from bloodguiltiness, &c.] Though I have added the sin of murder to that of adultery, yet let it not, I beseech thee, hinder the grace which I implore.

18 Do good in thy good pleasure unto Zion, &c.] The same mercy I implore for myself, I implore also for all thy people.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Psal. LI.

From this psalm we have the duty of sinners, particularly of those who fall into great sins; which is humbly to acknowledge and confess them, and even publicly before men, when necessary; to implore the mercy of God with true contrition; to beg of him a sincere conversion, by the assistance of his Spirit; and when we have received this blessing from him, to make use of it for our advancement in piety, and the edification of our neighbour.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LII.

For an explanation of this psalm the reader is referred to 1 Sam. xxii. 9, &c.

1 Why boastest thou thyself, &c.] Very far was it from a noble exploit to slay the innocent and unarmed priests, and the helpless women, children, and sucklings. But know, vain man, that the goodness of God, whereby I have hitherto been preserved, will still defend me, for his favour lasts for ever.

4 Devouring words, &c.] i. e. Words promoting destruction.

6, 7 Shall laugh at him, Lo this, &c.] Shall laugh at him, saying, "Lo, this is the man, &c."

9 I will wait on thy name; for it is good before thy saints, &c.] I will patiently expect the accomplishment of thy promises to me: for all thy pious servants have ever found this to be the best and wisest course, to depend on thine omnipotent arm, thine unchangeable goodness, and faithful promises.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Psal. LII.

We may gather from this psalm, that the wicked, and particularly it: and I will wait on thy name; for it is good before thy saints.

1 David describeth the corruption of mankind. 6 He wisheth to see the salvation of God.

To the chief Musician upon Mahalath, Maschil, A Psalm of David.

THE fool hath said in his heart, There is no God. Corrupt are they, and have done abominable iniquity: there is none that doeth good.

2 God looked down from heaven upon the children of men, to see if there were any that did understand, that did seek God.

3 Every one of them is gone back: they are altogether become filthy; there is none that doeth good, no, not one.

4 Have the workers of iniquity no knowledge? who eat up my people as they eat bread: they have not called upon God.

5 There were they in great fear, where no fear was: for God hath scattered the bones of him that encampeth against thee: thou hast put them to shame, because God hath despised them.

6 Oh that the salvation of Israel were come out of Zion! When God bringeth back the captivity of his people, Jacob shall rejoice, and Israel shall be glad.

1 David complaining of the Ziphims, prayeth for salvation. 4 In confidence in God's help he promiseth sacrifice.

To the chief Musician on Neginoth, Maschil, A Psalm of David, when the Ziphims came and said to Saul, Doth not David hide himself with us?

SAVE me, O God, by thy name, and judge me by thy strength.

2 Hear my prayer, O God; give ear to the words of my mouth.

3 For strangers are risen up against me, and oppressors seek after my soul: they have not set God before them. Selah.

4 Behold, God is mine helper: the LORD is with them that uphold my soul.

5 He shall reward evil unto mine enemies: cut them off in thy truth.

6 I will freely sacrifice unto thee: I will praise thy name, O LORD; for it is good.

cruel men and slanderers, receive from God the punishment they deserve; and that in general, they who trust either in their riches or in their cunning, become examples of the just judgment of God, whilst he bestows his favour on those that put their trust in him, and walk in his truth.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LIII.

This psalm is almost a repetition of the 14th, except in the 5th verse, and the omission of the 6th; which makes it probable that there was some new occasion for using this psalm again, though an occasion very like the former. The reader is referred to the 14th.

Mahalath, &c.] Mahalath is supposed to be a wind instrument, of the same sort as Nehiloth. See Psalm v.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Psal. LIII.

We may with too much reason take up the complaints of David at this day, respecting the impiety of the people in our age, wherein there are so few that serve God sincerely, and so many who live as if they believed there was no God; however, in the worst of times, there are always some faithful and righteous men who fear God, and whom he will likewise own, prosper and protect from the power and malice of their enemies.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LIV.

The three first verses of this psalm are a petition of David for deliverance from his enemies, then in full pursuit of him: the fourth begins upon seeing his enemies stop short, in full assurance that God had heard his prayer; the substance of the last verse is, that God had delivered him out of his distress; and that he would now calmly survey those enemies whom before he did not dare to look in the face.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Psal. LIV.

In this psalm, David implores the assistance of God, shews a firm reliance on him, and promises to praise him for ever; therefore prayer should always be our resort in time of danger.

COMMENTARY

P S A L. LV.

1 David in his prayer complaineth of his fearful case. 9 He prayeth against his enemies, of whose wickedness and treachery he complaineth. 16 He comforteth himself in God's preservation of him, and confusion of his enemies. To the chief Musician on Neginoth, Maschil, A Psalm of David.

GIVE ear to my prayer, O God; and hide not thyself from my supplication.

Attend unto me, and hear me: I mourn in my complaint, and make a noise;

Because of the voice of the enemy, because of the oppression of the wicked: for they cast iniquity upon me, and in wrath they hate me.

My heart is sore pained within me: and the terrors of death are fallen upon me.

Fearfulness and trembling are come upon me, and horror hath overwhelmed me.

And I said, Oh that I had wings like a dove! for then would I fly away, and be at rest.

Lo, then would I wander far off, and remain in the wilderness. Selah.

I would hasten my escape from the windy storm and tempest.

Destroy, O LORD, and divide their tongues: for I have seen violence and strife in the city.

Day and night they go about it upon the walls thereof: mischief also and sorrow are in the midst of it.

Wickedness is in the midst thereof: deceit and guile depart not from her streets.

For it was not an enemy that reproached me; then I could have borne it: neither was it he that hated me that did magnify himself against me; then I would have hid myself from him:

But it was thou, a man mine equal, my guide, and mine acquaintance.

We took sweet counsel together, and walked unto the house of God in company.

Let death seize upon them, and let them go down quick into hell: for wickedness is in their dwellings, and among them.

As for me, I will call upon God; and the LORD shall save me.

Evening, and morning, and at noon, will I pray, and cry aloud: and he shall hear my voice.

He hath delivered my soul in peace from the battle that was against me: for there were many with me.

God shall hear, and afflict them, even he that abideth of old. Selah. Because they have no changes, therefore they fear not God.

He hath put forth his hands against such as be at peace with him: he hath broken his covenant.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LV.

This psalm was written by David on a similar occasion with the former; perhaps when Absalom's rebellion was first known, and the royal prophet was forced to fly suddenly from Jerusalem.

6, 7 Oh that I had wings like a dove! &c. Then would I retire to some distant and foreign country, for safety and repose: I would hide me in some secret place, remote from all society, and escape this fierce persecution.

9 Divide their tongues, &c. Divide their counsels, and raise dissensions among them.

15 Into hell, &c. i. e. To the grave.

18 For there were many with me. For ever the angelic powers engaged on my side.

19 Because they have no changes, &c. Because they still continue in their prosperity, &c.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LV.

The example of David shews us, that the faithful will always, more or less, be persecuted by wicked men, and pretended friends; at which times they should apply themselves to God with confidence, and be assured that he will support them, and restrain the malice of those who pursue them unjustly.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LVI.

Jonath-elem-rechokim, &c. A silent dove; or a dove of silence in the remote wood. David intitled this psalm, and compared himself to a dove, probably on account of his frequenting the solitary forests, and because, in the midst of his sufferings, he never mentioned them to Achish, nor begged his assistance against his persecuting

21 The words of his mouth were smoother than butter, but war was in his heart: his words were softer than oil, yet were they drawn fwords.

22 Cast thy burden upon the LORD, and he shall sustain thee: he shall never suffer the righteous to be moved.

23 But thou, O God, shalt bring them down into the pit of destruction: bloody and deceitful men shall not live out half their days; but I will trust in thee.

P S A L. LVI.

David praying to God in confidence of his word, complaineth of his enemies. 9 He professeth his confidence in God's word, and promiseth to praise him.

To the chief Musician upon Jonath-elem-rechokim, Michtam of David, when the Philistines took him in Gath.

BE merciful unto me, O God: for man would swallow me up; he fighting daily oppresseth me.

Mine enemies would daily swallow me up: for they be many that fight against me, O thou most high.

What time I am afraid, I will trust in thee.

In God I will praise his word, in God I have put my trust; I will not fear what flesh can do unto me.

Every day they wrest my words: all their thoughts are against me for evil.

They gather themselves together, they hide themselves, they mark my steps, when they wait for my soul.

Shall they escape by iniquity? in thine anger cast down the people, O God.

Thou tellest my wanderings: put thou my tears into thy bottle: are they not in thy book?

When I cry unto thee, then shall mine enemies turn back: this I know; for God is for me.

In God will I praise his word: in the LORD will I praise his word.

In God have I put my trust: I will not be afraid what man can do unto me.

Thy vows are upon me, O God: I will render praises unto thee.

For thou hast delivered my soul from death: wilt not thou deliver my feet from falling, that I may walk before God in the light of the living?

P S A L. LVII.

David in prayer fleeing unto God, complaineth of his dangerous case. 7 He encourageth himself to praise God.

To the chief Musician, Al-taschith, Michtam of David, when he fled from Saul in the cave.

BE merciful unto me, O God, be merciful unto me: for my soul trusteth in thee: yea, in the shadow of thy wings will I make my refuge, until these calamities be overpast.

2 I

enemy, but contented himself with bewailing in secret the sadness of his condition, and complaining only to God of the cruel proceedings of his inveterate foe. This psalm is also intitled Michtam, A jewel, or a psalm of gold, because it is a commemoration of God's singular care over David in many great dangers, especially at Gath.

8 Put thou my tears into thy bottle, &c. Keep them in remembrance.

13 Thou hast delivered my soul from death: wilt not thou deliver my feet from falling, &c. Thou has so remarkably rescued me from death, when I was in the power of the Philistines, that I ought not to doubt of the continuance of thy preservation of me from the snares which mine enemies lay to entrap me, or from the open violence they use to overthrow me.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LVI.

We see from hence, that in whatever extremity the children of God are, and when even force and cunning are employed against them, they cannot be moved: their trust in God is so full, that they do not fear what man can do unto them; and that even before their deliverance, they rejoice in the Lord, and pay him their vows and thanksgivings.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LVII.

Al-taschith, &c. "Destroy him not:" this psalm is thus intitled that remarkable circumstance of Saul and David being both of them at the same time in the cave, and when (David having so fair an opportunity of destroying his enemy) some of his men offered to dispatch him, the piety and religious resolution of David interposed, forbidding the person, just ready to strike the blow, with "Al-taschith,"

2 I will cry unto God most high; unto God that performeth all things for me.

3 He shall send from heaven, and save me from the reproach of him that would swallow me up. Selah. God shall send forth his mercy and his truth.

4 My soul is among lions: and I lie even among them that are set on fire, even the sons of men, whose teeth are spears and arrows, and their tongue a sharp sword.

5 Be thou exalted, O God, above the heavens; let thy glory be above all the earth.

6 They have prepared a net for my steps; my soul is bowed down: they have digged a pit before me, into the midst whereof they have fallen themselves. Selah.

7 My heart is fixed, O God, my heart is fixed: I will sing and give praise.

8 Awake up, my glory; awake, psaltery and harp: I myself will awake early.

9 I will praise thee, O LORD, among the people: I will sing unto thee among the nations.

10 For thy mercy is great unto the heavens, and thy truth unto the clouds.

11 Be thou exalted, O God, above the heavens: let thy glory be above all the earth.

P S A L. LVIII.

1 David reproveth wicked judges, 3 describeth the nature of the wicked, 6 and devoteth them to God's judgments, 10 whereat the righteous shall rejoice.

To the chief Musician, Al-taschith, Michtam of David.

DO ye indeed speak righteousness, O congregation? do ye judge uprightly, O ye sons of men?

2 Yea, in heart ye work wickedness; ye weigh the violence of your hands in the earth.

3 The wicked are estranged from the womb: they go astray as soon as they be born, speaking lies.

4 Their poison is like the poison of a serpent: they are like the deaf adder that stoppeth her ear;

5 Which will not hearken to the voice of charmers, charming never so wisely.

6 Break their teeth, O God, in their mouth: break out the great teeth of the young lions, O LORD.

7 Let them melt away as waters which run continually: when he bendeth his bow to shoot his arrows, let them be as cut in pieces.

8 As a snail which melteth, let every one of them pass away: like the untimely birth of a woman, that they may not see the sun.

9 Before your pots can feel the thorns, he shall take them away as with a whirlwind, both living, and in his wrath.

10 The righteous shall rejoice when he seeth the 8 Awake up, my glory, &c.] Both with my voice, and with instruments of music will I praise thee.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LVII.

Let us, in all troubles, betake ourselves to God, and hide ourselves under the shadow of his wings, fully persuaded that he will never fail nor forsake us; but to have the same assurance that David had, we must be animated with the same faith, and the same holiness; and, after having experienced the Lord's assistance, praise his holy name, and every-where publish his goodness.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LVIII.

This and the next psalm seem to have been written before the preceding; but all three have the same title, from that remarkable circumstance mentioned in the commentary on the foregoing one.

1, 2 Do ye indeed, &c.] Let me ask that grave assembly of princes and rulers, do you verily think that you have pronounced a righteous sentence against me? You know, on the contrary, that your hearts are fraught with malice and wicked devices to my hurt.

3 Are estranged, &c.] i. e. They alienate themselves from God, justice, and virtue.

5 Which will not hearken to the voice of charmers, &c.] The magicians were wont to charm serpents with music, and draw them out of their holes.

6 Break their teeth, &c.] Take from them all power and means to do hurt.

9 Before your pots can feel the thorns, &c.] Before your pots can feel the heat of blazing thorns, quickly shall he sweep away the wicked.

10 The righteous shall rejoice, &c.] The righteous shall triumph vengeance: he shall wash his feet in the blood of the wicked.

11 So that a man shall say, Verily there is a reward for the righteous: verily he is a God that judgeth in the earth.

P S A L. LIX.

1 David prayeth to be delivered from his enemies, 6 He complaineth of their cruelty, 8 He trusteth in God, 11 He prayeth against them, 16 He praiseth God.

To the chief Musician, Al-taschith, Michtam of David; when Saul sent, and they watched the house to kill him.

DELIVER me from mine enemies, O my God; defend me from them that rise up against me.

2 Deliver me from the workers of iniquity, and save me from bloody men.

3 For, lo, they lie in wait for my soul: the mighty are gathered against me; not for my transgression, nor for my sin, O LORD.

4 They run and prepare themselves without my fault: awake to help me, and behold.

5 Thou therefore, O LORD God of hosts, the God of Israel, awake to visit all the heathen: be not merciful to any wicked transgressors. Selah.

6 They return at evening: they make a noise like a dog, and go round about the city.

7 Behold, they belch out with their mouth: swords are in their lips: for who, say they, doth hear?

8 But thou, O LORD, shalt laugh at them; thou shalt have all the heathen in derision.

9 Because of his strength will I wait upon thee: for God is my defence.

10 The God of my mercy shall prevent me: God shall let me see my desire upon mine enemies.

11 Slay them not, lest my people forget: scatter them by thy power; and bring them down, O LORD our shield.

12 For the sin of their mouth and the words of their lips let them even be taken in their pride: and for cursing and lying which they speak.

13 Consume them in wrath, consume them that they may not be: and let them know that God ruleth in Jacob unto the ends of the earth. Selah.

14 And at evening let them return; and let them make a noise like a dog, and go round about the city.

15 Let them wander up and down for meat, and grudge if they be not satisfied.

16 But I will sing of thy power; yea, I will sing aloud of thy mercy in the morning: for thou hast been my defence and refuge in the day of my trouble.

17 Unto over those wicked men like a great conqueror, who returning with an absolute and complete victory from the slaughter of his enemies, dips his feet in their blood, as he passes over their carcases.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LVIII.

This psalm teaches all who are in public offices, that if they do not administer strict justice, the vengeance of God will overtake them; and that all those, who harden themselves in their wicked ways, and hearken not to the voice of God, are threatened with his vengeance.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LIX.

5 Awake to visit all the heathen, &c.] Appear now for my relief, and punish all those wicked men who call themselves thy people, but are as barbarous, false, and perfidious as heathens.

6 They make a noise like a dog, and go round about the city.] Some lie about my house, ready, like a growling dog, to seize upon me; others (should they miss me there) go round about the city, waylaying me in every corner.

9 Because of his strength will I wait upon thee, &c.] In the liturgy it is, My strength will I ascribe unto thee.

11 Slay them not, lest my people forget, &c.] Not that I desire they should be slain, which though a terrible vengeance, might soon slip out of the minds of my countrymen, whose profit I desire, more than my own private revenge.

14 And at evening let them return, &c.] Let them therefore watch me now as narrowly as they please.

16 But I will sing of thy power, &c.] Whilst I (whom they thought to have devoured) am praising thy power, as I intend to do continually.

17 Unto thee, O my strength, will I sing: for God is my defence, and the God of my mercy.

P S A L. LX.

1 David complaining to God of former judgment, 4 now upon better hope, prayeth for deliverance. 6 Comforting himself in God's promises, he craveth that help whereon he trusteth.

To the chief Musician upon Sushan-eduth, Michtam of David, to teach; when he strove with Aram-naharaim and with Aram-zobah, when Joab returned, and smote of Edom in the valley of salt twelve thousand.

O God, thou hast cast us off, thou hast scattered us, thou hast been displeased; O turn thyself to us again.

2 Thou hast made the earth to tremble; thou hast broken it: heal the breaches thereof; for it shaketh.

3 Thou hast shewed thy people hard things: thou hast made us to drink the wine of astonishment.

4 Thou hast given a banner to them that feared thee, that it may be displayed because of the truth. Selah.

5 That thy beloved may be delivered; save with thy right hand, and hear me.

6 God hath spoken in his holiness; I will rejoice, I will divide Shechem, and mete out the valley of Succoth.

7 Gilead is mine, and Manasseh is mine; Ephraim also is the strength of mine head; Judah is my lawgiver;

8 Moab is my washpot; over Edom will I cast out my shoe: Philistia, triumph thou because of me.

9 Who will bring me into the strong city? who will lead me into Edom?

10 Wilt not thou, O God, which hadst cast us off? and thou, O God, which didst not go out with our armies?

11 Give us help from trouble: for vain is the help of man.

12 Through God we shall do valiantly: for he it is that shall tread down our enemies.

P S A L. LXI.

1 David fleeth to God upon his former experience. 4 He voweth perpetual service unto him because of his promises.

To the chief Musician upon Neginah,

A Psalm of David.

HEAR my cry, O God; attend unto my prayer.

2 From the end of the earth will I cry unto thee, when my heart is overwhelmed: lead me to the rock that is higher than I.

3 For thou hast been a shelter for me, and a strong tower from the enemy.

4 I will abide in thy tabernacle for ever: I will trust in the covert of thy wings. Selah.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXI.

We are instructed from this psalm, to wait for the assistance of the Lord when men harm us, and to remain within the bounds of that moderation which Jesus Christ so expressly recommends to us, in commanding us to love our enemies, and to bless and pray for them.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXI.

This psalm was composed after the death of Saul, when David was advanced to the throne: it was delivered to the master of music in the tabernacle, to be sung upon an instrument of six strings, for so the title "Sushan-eduth" implies.

6 I will—mete out, &c.] This phrase means, dominion: this verse should be thus translated; God graciously promised, that I should rule over Sechem, and be master of the valley of Succoth, i. e. Samaria.

7 Ephraim also, &c.] This should be thus translated, Ephraim furnishes me with valiant men, Judah with men of prudence and wisdom.

8 Moab is my washpot, &c.] By this is meant the lowest degree of slavery: the verse may be thus translated; I will reduce the Moabites to the vilest servitude, I will triumph over the Edomites, and make them my slaves, and the Philistines shall add to my triumphs.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXI.

We may learn from hence in general, that God afflicts people for their humiliation; that the strength and assistance of man is but vanity; and that there is none but the Lord who can help and deliver us in our distress.

5 For thou, O God, hast heard my vows: thou hast given me the heritage of those that fear thy name.

6 Thou wilt prolong the king's life: and his years as many generations.

7 He shall abide before God for ever: O prepare mercy and truth, which may preserve him.

8 So will I sing praise unto thy name for ever, that I may daily perform my vows.

P S A L. LXII.

1 David professing his confidence in God, discourageth his enemies. 5 He encourageth the godly.

To the chief Musician, to Jeduthun,

A Psalm of David.

TRULY my soul waiteth upon God: from him cometh my salvation.

2 He only is my rock and my salvation; he is my defence; I shall not be greatly moved.

3 How long will ye imagine mischief against a man? ye shall be slain all of you: as a bowing wall shall ye be, and as a tottering fence.

4 They only consult to cast him down from his excellency: they delight in lies: they bless with their mouth, but they curse inwardly. Selah.

5 My soul, wait thou only upon God; for my expectation is from him.

6 He only is my rock and my salvation: he is my defence; I shall not be moved.

7 In God is my salvation and my glory: the rock of my strength, and my refuge, is in God.

8 Trust in him at all times; ye people, pour out your heart before him: God is a refuge for us. Selah.

9 Surely men of low degree are vanity, and men of high degree are a lie: to be laid in the balance, they are altogether lighter than vanity.

10 Trust not in oppression, and become not vain in robbery: if riches increase, set not your heart upon them.

11 God hath spoken once; twice have I heard this; that power belongeth unto God.

12 Also unto thee, O Lord, belongeth mercy: for thou renderest to every man according to his work.

P S A L. LXIII.

1 David's thirst for God. 4 His manner of blessing God. 9 His confidence of his enemies destruction, and his own safety.

A Psalm of David, when he was in the wilderness of Judah.

O God, thou art my God; early will I seek thee: my soul thirsteth for thee, my flesh longeth for thee in a dry and thirsty land, where no water is;

2 To see thy power and thy glory, so as I have seen thee in the sanctuary.

3 Because

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXI.

2 That is higher than I.] Which without thy assistance I cannot reach.

4 I will abide, &c.] David here expresses his hopes of being restored to the city where the tabernacle of God was.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXI.

All that fear the Lord may join themselves to David, in praying that God would be their refuge, and secure them from evil; and rejoice in the assurance of his favour and sense of his goodness.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXII.

9 Surely men of low degree, &c.] No confidence is to be placed in them; for as the multitude are vain, giddy, and inconsistent, so those of higher rank are false, deceitful, and treacherous.

11 God hath spoken once; twice have I heard, &c.] i. e. God hath frequently declared.

12 To every man, &c.] i. e. To every good man.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXII.

David teaches us, by his example, that the true and only means of enjoying tranquillity is to trust in God, for all men are vanity itself; that we ought not to set our hearts on worldly things, nor become haughty when we abound in them; and that God, the judge of the world, will render to every one according to his works.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXIII.

1, 2 My soul thirsteth for thee, &c.] My soul thirsteth, O God, for the holy sanctuary where thy Majesty resides; the sacred ark of thy glorious presence can alone satisfy my longings and desires.

3 Because thy lovingkindness is better than life, my lips shall praise thee.

4 Thus will I bless thee while I live: I will lift up my hands in thy name.

5 My soul shall be satisfied as with marrow and fatness; and my mouth shall praise thee with joyful lips:

6 When I remember thee upon my bed, and meditate on thee in the night watches.

7 Because thou hast been my help, therefore in the shadow of thy wings will I rejoice.

8 My soul followeth hard after thee: thy right hand upholdeth me.

9 But those that seek my soul, to destroy it, shall go into the lower parts of the earth.

10 They shall fall by the sword: they shall be portion for foxes.

11 But the king shall rejoice in God; every one that sweareth by him shall glory: but the mouth of them that speak lies shall be stopped.

P S A L. LXIV.

1 David prayeth for deliverance, complaining of his enemies.

7 He promiseth himself to see such an evident destruction of them that the righteous shall rejoice at it.

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David.

HEAR my voice, O God, in my prayer: preserve my life from fear of the enemy.

2 Hide me from the secret counsel of the wicked; from the insurrection of the workers of iniquity:

3 Who whet their tongues like a sword, and bend their bows to shoot their arrows, even bitter words:

4 That they may shoot in secret at the perfect: suddenly do they shoot at him, and fear not.

5 They encourage themselves in an evil matter; they commune of laying snares privily; they say, Who shall see them?

6 They search out iniquities; they accomplish a diligent search: both the inward thought of every one of them, and the heart is deep.

7 But God shall shoot at them with an arrow; suddenly shall they be wounded.

8 So they shall make their own tongue to fall upon themselves: all that see them shall flee away.

9 And all men shall fear and shall declare the work of God; for they shall wisely consider of his doing.

10 The righteous shall be glad in the LORD, and shall trust in him; and all the upright in heart shall glory.

P S A L. LXV.

1 David praiseth God for his grace. 4 The blessedness of God's chosen. 5 His general providence.

To the chief Musician, A Psalm and Song of David.

PRAISE waiteth for thee, O God, in Sion: and unto thee shall the vow be performed.

2 O thou that hearest prayer, unto thee shall all flesh come.

3 Because thy lovingkindness is better than life, &c.] Thy divine grace and favour is more grateful and refreshing to my soul, than food to my natural appetite.

8 My soul followeth hard after thee, &c.] My soul dependeth absolutely and inseparably upon thee, through faith, hope, love, and perseverance.

10 They shall be portion for foxes.] That is, they shall be left unburied, for foxes and beasts to prey upon.

11 Every one that sweareth by him, &c.] That is, they that profess him.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXIII.

We here see that the sense of the grace of God produces an unspeakable pleasure in the hearts of the faithful, and that they fear no evil while protected by him; therefore let us cleave to God alone by sincere love and steady confidence.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXIV.

4 And fear not.] That is, without any danger, and secure from him whom they attack.

6 They search out iniquities, &c.] They exercise all their wit and diligence in these wicked devices.

8 They shall make their own tongue to fall upon themselves, &c.] Their slanders shall recoil upon themselves, and the wicked counsels which they gave shall prove pernicious to the advisers.

3 Iniquities prevail against me: as for our transgressions, thou shalt purge them away.

4 Blessed is the man whom thou choosest, and causest to approach unto thee, that he may dwell in thy courts: we shall be satisfied with the goodness of thy house, even of thy holy temple.

5 By terrible things in righteousness wilt thou answer us, O God of our salvation; who art the confidence of all the ends of the earth, and of them that are afar off upon the sea:

6 Which by his strength setteth fast the mountains, being girded with power:

7 Which stilleth the noise of the seas, the noise of their waves, and the tumult of the people.

8 They also that dwell in the uttermost parts are afraid at thy tokens: thou makest the outgoings of the morning and evening to rejoice.

9 Thou visitest the earth, and waterest it: thou greatly enrichest it with the river of God, which is full of water: thou preparest them corn, when thou hast so provided for it.

10 Thou waterest the ridges thereof abundantly: thou settlest the furrows thereof: thou makest it soft with showers: thou blessest the springing thereof.

11 Thou crownest the year with thy goodness; and thy paths drop fatness.

12 They drop upon the pastures of the wilderness: and the little hills rejoice on every side.

13 The pastures are clothed with flocks; the valleys also are covered over with corn; they shout for joy, they also sing.

P S A L. LXVI.

1 David exhorteth to praise God, 5 to observe his great works, 8 to bless him for his gracious benefits. 12 He voweth for himself religious service to God. 16 He declareth God's special goodness to himself.

To the chief Musician, A Song or Psalm.

MAKE a joyful noise unto God, all ye lands: Sing forth the honour of his name: make his praise glorious.

3 Say unto God, How terrible art thou in thy works! through the greatness of thy power shall thine enemies submit themselves unto thee.

4 All the earth shall worship thee, and shall sing unto thee; they shall sing to thy name. Selah.

5 Come and see the works of God: he is terrible in his doing toward the children of men.

6 He turned the sea into dry land: they went through the flood on foot: there did we rejoice in him.

7 He ruleth by his power for ever; his eyes behold the nations: let not the rebellious exalt themselves. Selah.

8 O bless our God, ye people, and make the voice of his praise to be heard:

9 Which

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXIV.

This psalm shews us, that though the wicked craftily combine to destroy the innocent, yet God will preserve them from their snares; which should fill the righteous with joy and confidence, and engage us to acknowledge the goodness, wisdom, and justice of the Lord.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXV.

God having removed a grievous famine by plentiful showers of rain, David here gives him public thanks for sending them seasonably to his people.

5 By terrible things, &c.] i. e. By miraculous and stupendous things.

8 The outgoings of the morning and evening, &c.] Meaning, the successive course of day and night.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXVI.

We are hence taught, that God was formerly worshipped in Sion, and there hearkened to the prayers that were offered up to him; so he now receives every-where favourably the desires of all those who call upon him, pardons their sins, and loads them with his benefits.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXVI.

David here gives praises to God, inviting all the country to join with him in blessing the divine Majesty, not only for this, but for the deliverance he had formerly vouchsafed to that nation.

3 How terrible, &c.] Meaning, how stupendous and astonishing!

9 Which holdeth our soul in life, and suffereth not our feet to be moved.

10 For thou, O God, hast proved us: thou hast tried us, as silver is tried.

11 Thou broughtest us into the net: thou laidst affliction upon our loins.

12 Thou hast caused men to ride over our heads: we went through fire and through water; but thou broughtest us out into a wealthy place.

13 I will go into thy house with burnt offerings: I will pay thee my vows, 14 Which my lips have uttered, and my mouth hath spoken, when I was in trouble.

15 I will offer unto thee burnt sacrifices of fatlings, with the incense of rams; I will offer bullocks with goats. Selah.

16 Come and hear, all ye that fear God, and I will declare what he hath done for my soul.

17 I cried unto him with my mouth, and he was extolled with my tongue.

18 If I regard iniquity in my heart, the LORD will not hear me:

19 But verily God hath heard me; he hath attended to the voice of my prayer.

20 Blessed be God, which hath not turned away my prayer, nor his mercy from me.

P S A L. LXVII.

1 A prayer for the enlargement of God's kingdom, 3 to the joy of the people, 6 and to the increase of God's blessings.

To the chief Musician on Neginoth, A Psalm or Song.

GOD be merciful unto us, and bless us; and cause his face to shine upon us. Selah.

2 That thy way may be known upon earth, thy saving health among all nations.

3 Let the people praise thee, O God; let all the people praise thee.

4 O let the nations be glad and sing for joy: for thou shalt judge the people righteously, and govern the nations upon earth. Selah.

5 Let the people praise thee, O God; let all the people praise thee.

6 Then shall the earth yield her increase; and God, even our own God shall bless us.

7 God shall bless us; and all the ends of the earth shall fear him.

P S A L. LXVIII.

1 A prayer at the removing of the ark. 4 An exhortation to praise God for his mercies, 7 for his care of the church, 19 and for his great works.

To the chief Musician, A Psalm or Song of David.

LET God arise, let his enemies be scattered: let them also that hate him flee before him.

2 As smoke is driven away, so drive them away: as 12 To ride over our heads, &c.] Or upon our heads, that is, to ride upon us ■ beasts; a figure denoting the most abject slavery, and most servile state: "Through fire and through water" imports extreme danger and afflictions; and by "A wealthy place" we ■ to understand liberty, ease, and plenty.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Psal. LXVI.

We learn from hence, that it is our bounden duty to perform the vows we have made to God while under his afflicting hand; to testify of his goodness towards us; and to remember that if we live in any known or wilful sin, God will not hear our prayer, but withhold his mercy from us.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXVII.

2 Thy way, &c.] That is, thy wonderful providence over us.

4 O let the nations be glad, &c.] O that the nations were so sensible what an happiness it is to be under thy care, that they may rejoice and shout for joy, to know that thou art the governor of the world.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Psal. LXVII.

If God has made ■ objects of his lovingkindness, we should, after David's example, imitate all nations, to whom the fame of his goodness should reach, ■ submit themselves to his government, and trust in his protection.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXVIII.

6 God setteth the solitary in families: he bringeth out those which are bound with chains: but the rebellious dwell in a dry land.

7 O God, when thou wentest forth before thy people, when thou didst march through the wilderness. Selah.

■ The earth shook, the heavens also dropped at the presence of God: even Sinai itself was moved at the presence of God, the God of Israel.

9 Thou, O God, didst send a plentiful rain, whereby thou didst confirm thine inheritance, when it was weary.

10 Thy congregation hath dwelt therein: thou, O God, hast prepared of thy goodness for the poor.

11 The LORD gave the word: great was the company of those that published it.

12 Kings of armies did flee apace: and she that tarried at home divided the spoil.

13 Though ye have lien among the pots, yet shall ye be as the wings of ■ dove covered with silver, and her feathers with yellow gold.

14 When the Almighty scattered kings in it, it was white as snow in Salmon.

15 The hill of God is as the hill of Bashan; an high hill as the hill of Bashan.

16 Why leap ye, ye high hills? this is the hill which God desireth to dwell in; yea, the LORD will dwell in it for ever.

17 The chariots of God are twenty thousand, even thousands of angels: the LORD is among them, as in Sinai, in the holy place.

18 Thou hast ascended on high, thou hast led captivity captive: thou hast received gifts for men; yea, for the rebellious also, that the LORD God might dwell among them.

19 Blessed be the LORD, who daily loadeth us with benefits, even the God of our salvation. Selah.

20 He that is our God is the God of salvation; and unto God the Lord belong the issues from death.

21 But God shall wound the head of his enemies, and the hairy scalp of such an one as goeth on still in his trespasses.

6 A dry land.] That is, which is barren of God's blessing.

7, 8 O God, when thou wentest forth, &c.] What a sublime and noble idea this passage gives us of God! The psalmist has here borrowed his expressions from Deborah's song: see Judge v. 4, 5.

13 Though ye have lien among the pots, &c.] Though ye were formerly obscure and oppressed slaves, tied down to the drudging of brick making and pottery in Egypt, yet you shall now be as glorious as you were then contemptible.

16 Why leap ye, ye high hills, &c.] Boast not of your height and beauty, ye towering mountains, Sion is the hill which God hath chosen to honour with his residence.

18 Thou hast ascended ■ high.] Thou, O God, by the invisible ministry of the heavenly host, hast given us victory over our enemies ■ but the Messiah, who shall be thy sanctuary, will do far more magnificently, when, after conquering death and the power of Satan, he shall ascend in a resplendent chariot, attended by myriads of the heavenly host, to the most exalted seats of happiness, even to thine own right hand ■ the throne of glory.

Thou hast received gifts for men.] This must be understood prophetically, of the gifts of the Holy Ghost, which Christ conferred on his disciples, after his ascension.

20 Unto God the Lord belong the issues from death.] Or, passages. The meaning here is, that he can preserve from death those who are his.

24 They have seen thy goings, O God; even the goings of my God, my King, in the sanctuary.

25 The fingers went before, the players on instruments followed after; among them were the damsels playing with timbrels.

26 Bless ye God in the congregations, even the Lord, from the fountain of Israel.

27 There is little Benjamin with their ruler, the princes of Judah and their council, the princes of Zebulun, and the princes of Naphtali.

28 Thy God hath commanded thy strength: strengthen, O God, that which thou hast wrought for us.

29 Because of thy temple at Jerusalem shall kings bring presents unto thee.

30 Rebuke the company of spearmen, the multitude of the bulls, with the calves of the people, till every one submit himself with pieces of silver: scatter thou the people, that delight in war.

31 Princes shall come out of Egypt; Ethiopia shall soon stretch out her hands unto God.

32 Sing unto God, ye kingdoms of the earth; O sing praises unto the LORD; Selah:

33 To him that rideth upon the heavens of heavens, which were of old; lo, he doth send out his voice, and that a mighty voice.

34 Ascribe ye strength unto God: his excellency is over Israel, and his strength is in the clouds.

35 O God, thou art terrible out of thy holy places: the God of Israel is he that giveth strength and power unto his people. Blessed be God.

P S A L. LXIX.

1 David complaineth of his affliction. 13 He prayeth for deliverance. 22 He devoteth his enemies to destruction. 30 He praiseth God with thanksgiving.

To the chief Musician upon Shoshannim,
A Psalm of David.

SAVE me, O God; for the waters are come in unto my soul.

2 I sink in deep mire, where there is no standing: I am come into deep waters, where the floods overflow me.

3 I am weary of my crying: my throat is dried: mine eyes fail while I wait for my God.

4 They that hate me without a cause are more than the hairs of mine head: they that would destroy me, being mine enemies wrongfully, are mighty: then I rested that which I took not away.

5 O God, thou knowest my foolishness: and my sins are not hid from thee.

6 Let not them that wait on thee, O Lord God of hosts, be ashamed for my sake: let not those that seek thee be confounded for my sake, O God of Israel.

7 Because for thy sake I have borne reproach; shame hath covered my face.

8 I am become a stranger unto my brethren, and an alien unto my mother's children.

9 For the zeal of thine house hath eaten me up; and the reproaches of them that reproached thee are fallen upon me.

10 When I wept and chastened my soul with fasting, that was to my reproach.

28 Hath commanded thy strength, &c.] i. e. Hath established or made thee strong.

30 The multitude of bulls, with the calves, &c.] These expressions describe the fury and insolence of the soldiers, who were like cattle fed in a rich and fat soil.

35 O God, thou art terrible out of thy holy places, &c.] O God, thy dreadful majesty is to be most humbly adored; who out of thy holy sanctuary striketh terror into thine enemies.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXVIII.

The praises of God, here celebrated, should be the matter of our constant imitation; especially when we consider his amazing condescension and goodness towards his church, which has been shewn in all ages: On these considerations, it becomes our duty and happiness to devote ourselves to his service.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXIX.

For the meaning of the word Shoshannim, the reader is referred to psalm xlv.

6 Be ashamed for my sake, &c.] Be discouraged when they see me forsaken by thee, when they see innocence in distress.

11 I made sackcloth also my garment: and I became a proverb to them.

12 They that sit in the gate speak against me; and I was the song of the drunkards.

13 But as for me, my prayer is unto thee, O LORD, in an acceptable time: O God, in the multitude of thy mercy hear me, in the truth of thy salvation.

14 Deliver me out of the mire, and let me not sink: let me be delivered from them that hate me, and out of the deep waters.

15 Let not the waterflood overflow me, neither let the deep swallow me up, and let not the pit shut her mouth upon me.

16 Hear me, O LORD; for thy lovingkindness is good: turn unto me according to the multitude of thy tender mercies.

17 And hide not thy face from thy servant; for I am in trouble: hear me speedily.

18 Draw nigh unto my soul, and redeem it: deliver me because of mine enemies.

19 Thou hast known my reproach, and my shame, and my dishonour: mine adversaries are all before thee.

20 Reproach hath broken my heart; and I am full of heaviness: and I looked for some to take pity, but there was none; and for comforters, but I found none.

21 They gave me also gall for my meat; and in my thirst they gave me vinegar to drink.

22 Let their table become a snare before them: and that which should have been for their welfare, let it become a trap.

23 Let their eyes be darkened, that they see not: and make their loins continually to shake.

24 Pour out thine indignation upon them, and let thy wrathful anger take hold of them.

25 Let their habitation be desolate; and let none dwell in their tents.

26 For they persecute him whom thou hast smitten; and they talk to the grief of those whom thou hast wounded.

27 Add iniquity unto their iniquity: and let them not come into thy righteousness.

28 Let them be blotted out of the book of the living, and not be written with the righteous.

29 But I am poor and sorrowful: let thy salvation, O God, set me up on high.

30 I will praise the name of God with a song, and will magnify him with thanksgiving.

31 This also shall please the LORD better than an ox or bullock that hath horns and hoofs.

32 The humble shall see this, and be glad: and your heart shall live that seek God.

33 For the LORD heareth the poor and despiseth not his prisoners.

34 Let the heaven and earth praise him, the seas, and every thing that moveth therein.

35 For God will save Zion, and will build the cities of Judah: that they may dwell there, and have it in possession.

36 The seed also of his servants shall inherit it: and they that love his name shall dwell therein.

P S A L.

7 For thy sake, &c.] For serving thee, and maintaining thy glory and cause.

8 I am become a stranger, &c.] I am shunned by my nearest relations.

12 They that sit in the gate, &c.] I am condemned by both rich and poor, both high and low.

21 They gave me also gall for my meat, &c.] Rash, here rendered "gall" is an herb bitter as wormwood; see Deut. xxix. 18. What the psalmist here speaks figuratively of himself, was literally done to our Saviour, Matt. xxvii. 34.

23 Make their loins continually to shake.] This implies a yoke of perpetual and insufferable bondage.

27 Add iniquity unto their iniquity, &c.] Let them accumulate their sins.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXIX.

In this psalm the sufferings of Christ, and the overthrow of the Jewish nation are plainly foretold; for the Jews were so audaciously wicked to inflict those punishments on the Saviour of mankind which they themselves experienced from their most spiteful ene-

P S A L. LXX.

David prayeth for God's speedy help and deliverance to the confusion of his enemies, and triumph of the godly.

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David, to bring to remembrance.

MAKE haste, O God, to deliver me; make haste to help me, O LORD.

2 Let them be ashamed and confounded that seek after my soul: let them be turned backward, and put to confusion, that desire my hurt.

3 Let them be turned back for a reward of their shame that say, Aha, aha.

4 Let all those that seek thee rejoice and be glad in thee: and let such love thy salvation say continually, Let God be magnified.

5 But I am poor and needy: make haste unto me, O God: thou art my help and my deliverer; O LORD, make no tarrying.

P S A L. LXXI.

1 David in confidence of faith, and experience of God's favour, prayeth both for himself, and against the enemies of his soul. 14 He promiseth constancy. 17 He prayeth for perseverance. 19 He praiseth God, and promiseth to do it cheerfully.

IN thee, O LORD, do I put my trust: let me never be put to confusion.

2 Deliver me in thy righteousness, and cause me to escape: incline thine ear unto me, and save me.

3 Be thou my strong habitation, whereunto I may continually resort: thou hast given commandment to save me; for thou art my rock and my fortress.

4 Deliver me, O my God, out of the hand of the wicked, out of the hand of the unrighteous and cruel man.

5 For thou art my hope, O Lord God: thou art my trust from my youth.

6 By thee have I been holden up from the womb: thou art he that took me out of my mother's bowels: my praise shall be continually of thee.

7 I am a wonder unto many; but thou art my strong refuge.

8 Let my mouth be filled with thy praise and with thy honour all the day.

9 Cast me not off in the time of old age; forsake me not when my strength faileth.

10 For mine enemies speak against me; and they that lay wait for my soul take counsel together,

11 Saying, God hath forsaken him: persecute and take him; for there is none to deliver him.

12 O God, be not far from me: O my God, make haste for my help.

13 Let them be confounded and consumed that are adversaries to my soul: let them be covered with reproach and dishonour that seek my hurt.

14 But I will hope continually, and will yet praise thee more and more.

15 My mouth shall shew forth thy righteousness and thy salvation all the day; for I know not the numbers thereof.

mies, God, the righteous judge, condemned them to suffer that themselves which they prayed might fall on the heads of their enemies.

COMMENTARY AND REMARK ON PSAL. LXX.

As there is not any remarkable difference between this psalm and the latter part of the 40th, it is therefore probable that David composed it, with a few alterations, as a distinct prayer, to be used by him constantly during the time of any sharp affliction. We shall only add to this, that the word "poor," in the 5th verse, means a person under any oppressive or afflictive circumstances.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXXI.

Be thou my strong habitation, whereunto I may continually resort, &c.] Whensoever I fly to thy almighty protection, do thou always keep me secure as if I reposed myself in an impregnable castle.

7 I am as a wonder, &c.] Because so many and so grievous afflictions have befallen me.

20 Thou shalt quicken me again, &c.] This may be understood not only of David's deliverance out of his troubles, but also of the resurrection.

16 I will go in the strength of the Lord God: I will make mention of thy righteousness, even of thine only.

17 O God, thou hast taught me from my youth: and hitherto have I declared thy wondrous works.

18 Now also when I am old and greyheaded, O God, forsake me not; until I have shewed thy strength unto this generation, and thy power to every one that is to come.

19 Thy righteousness also, O God, is very high, who hast done great things: O God, who is like unto thee!

20 Thou, which hast shewed me great and sore troubles, shall quicken me again, and shalt bring me up again from the depths of the earth.

21 Thou shalt increase my greatness, and comfort me on every side.

22 I will also praise thee with the psaltery, even thy truth, O my God: unto thee will I sing with the harp, O thou Holy One of Israel.

23 My lips shall greatly rejoice when I sing unto thee; and my soul, which thou hast redeemed.

24 My tongue also shall talk of thy righteousness all the day long: for they are confounded, for they are brought unto shame, that seek my hurt.

P S A L. LXXII.

1 David's prayer for Solomon. 18 He bleisseth God.

A Psalm for Solomon.

GIVE the king thy judgments, O God, and thy righteousness unto the king's son.

2 He shall judge thy people with righteousness, and thy poor with judgment.

3 The mountains shall bring peace to the people, and the little hills, by righteousness.

4 He shall judge the poor of the people, he shall save the children of the needy, and shall break in pieces the oppressor.

5 They shall fear thee as long as the sun and moon endure, throughout all generations.

6 He shall come down like rain upon the mown grass: as showers that water the earth.

7 In his days shall the righteous flourish; and abundance of peace so long as the moon endureth.

8 He shall have dominion also from sea to sea, and from the river unto the ends of the earth.

9 They that dwell in the wilderness shall bow before him; and his enemies shall lick the dust.

10 The kings of Tarshish and of the isles shall bring presents: the kings of Sheba and Seba shall offer gifts.

11 Yea, all kings shall fall down before him: all nations shall serve him.

12 For he shall deliver the needy when he crieth; the poor also, and him that hath no helper.

13 He shall spare the poor and needy, and shall save the souls of the needy.

14 He shall redeem their soul from deceit and violence: and precious shall their blood be in his sight.

15 And he shall live, and to him shall be given of the gold of Sheba: prayer also shall be made for him continually; and daily shall he be praised.

16 There shall be an handful of corn in the earth upon

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXXI.

David's confidence in the divine support against the power and malice of his enemies, and his prayer for continual support and protection, affords a lesson to us, to trust in the Lord under the severest trials, and praise him for the mercies we enjoy.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXXII.

Give the king thy judgments, &c.] O God, the supreme judge of the world, bestow, I beseech thee, upon Solomon my son, who is now anointed to sit on my throne, a right judgment in all things, with uprightness and integrity of heart. This may be understood of Christ, the King of glory, and the Son of the Father.

5 They shall fear thee, &c.] This could not be said of Solomon, but only of Christ, of whose kingdom there shall be no end.

9 Shall lick the dust.] Shall prostrate themselves with their faces to the ground, after the fashion of the eastern nations.

16 There shall be an handful of corn, &c.] God shall bless him (namely Christ) with an abundant plenty, in the conversion of multitudes of souls to the Christian faith. Some parts of this psalm delivered in so exalted a strain, that the words had not a full accomplishment upon the top of the mountains; the fruit thereof shall shake like Lebanon: and they of the city shall flourish like grass of the earth.

17 His name shall endure for ever: his name shall be continued as long as the sun: and men shall be blessed in him: all nations shall call him blessed.

18 Blessed be the LORD God, the God of Israel, who only doeth wondrous things.

19 And blessed be his glorious name for ever: and let the whole earth be filled with his glory; Amen, and Amen.

20 The prayers of David the son of Jesse are ended.

P S A L. LXXIII.

The psalmist sheweth that his faith had almost failed him.

23 His trust in God's present support and future favour.

A Psalm of Asaph.

TRULY God is good to Israel, even to such as are of a clean heart.

2 But as for me, my feet were almost gone; my steps had well nigh slipped.

3 For I was envious at the foolish, when I saw the prosperity of the wicked.

4 For there are no bands in their death: but their strength is firm.

5 They are not in trouble as other men; neither are they plagued like other men.

6 Therefore pride compasseth them about as a chain; violence covereth them as a garment.

7 Their eyes stand out with fatness: they have more than heart could wish.

8 They are corrupt, and speak wickedly concerning oppression: they speak loftily.

9 They set their mouth against the heavens, and their tongue walketh through the earth.

10 Therefore his people return hither: and waters of a full cup are wrung out to them.

11 And they say, How doth God know? and is there knowledge in the most high?

12 Behold, these are the ungodly, who prosper in the world; they increase in riches.

13 Verily I have cleansed my heart in vain, and washed my hands in innocency.

14 For all the day long have I been plagued, and chastened every morning.

15 If I say, I will speak thus; behold, I should offend against the generation of thy children.

16 When I thought to know this, it was too painful for me.

17 Until I went into the sanctuary of God; then understood I their end.

18 Surely thou didst set them in slippery places: thou castedst them down into destruction.

19 How are they brought into desolation, as in a moment! they are utterly consumed with terrors.

plishment in Solomon, nor in any one else, till the appearance of the Messiah; of the happiness of whose government, together with the power, extent, and eternal continuance of his kingdom, David here prophesies.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXXII.

As David in this prayer sheweth the goodness and glory of Solomon's wisdom, which was typical of Christ's, and blesteth God for his wonderful works; so we, by faith, should look beyond the transitory things of this world, and set our hearts on heavenly objects, that we may enjoy the blessedness of his kingdom of grace here, and possess the felicity of his kingdom of glory in heaven.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXXIII.

Here begins the third book of psalms, containing seventeen, most of them very disconsolate, and full of bitter complaints. They were chiefly composed by Asaph, who lived in the days of Hezekiah, and called Asaph the seer; see 2 Chron. xxix. 30.

2 My feet were almost gone; my steps, &c.] I began to doubt and stagger in my faith.

3 Their eyes stand out, &c.] They pamper themselves to excess.

9 They set their mouth against the heavens, &c.] They blaspheme God, and speak prophanely of his providence, power, and justice.

10 Therefore his people return hither, &c.] To the following thoughts, and their old opinions.

17 Until I went into the sanctuary of God, &c.] Withdrawing my mind from the world, and the false shews thereof; I was presently 20 As a dream when one awaketh; so, O Lord, when thou awakest, thou shalt despise their image.

21 Thus my heart was grieved, and I was pricked in my reins.

22 So foolish was I, and ignorant: I was as a beast before thee.

23 Nevertheless I am continually with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand.

24 Thou shalt guide me with thy counsel, and afterward receive me to glory.

25 Whom have I in heaven but thee? and there is none upon earth that I desire beside thee.

26 My flesh and my heart faileth: but God is the strength of my heart, and my portion for ever.

27 For, lo, they that are far from thee shall perish: thou hast destroyed all them that go a-whoring from thee.

28 But it is good for me to draw near to God: I have put my trust in the Lord God, that I may declare all thy works.

P S A L. LXXIV.

The psalmist complaineth of the desolation of the sanctuary.
Maschil of Asaph.

O God, why hast thou cast us off for ever? why doth thine anger smoke against the sheep of thy pasture?

2 Remember thy congregation, which thou hast purchased of old; the rod of thine inheritance, which thou hast redeemed; this mount Zion, wherein thou hast dwelt.

3 Lift up thy feet unto the perpetual desolations; even all that the enemy hath done wickedly in the sanctuary.

4 Thine enemies roar in the midst of thy congregation; they set up their ensigns for signs.

5 A man was famous according as he had lifted up axes upon the thick trees.

6 But now they break down the carved work thereof at once with axes and hammers.

7 They have cast fire into thy sanctuary, they have defiled by casting down the dwelling place of thy name to the ground.

8 They said in their hearts, Let us destroy them together: they have burned up all the synagogues of God in the land.

9 We see not our signs: there is no more any prophet: neither is there among us any that knoweth how long.

10 O God, how long shall the adversary reproach? shall the enemy blaspheme thy name for ever?

11 Why withdrawest thou thy hand, even thy right hand? pluck it out of thy bosom.

12 For God is my King of old, working salvation in the midst of the earth.

13 Thou

sensible how short is the felicity of the wicked, and how truly miserable those men are, whose reward is only in this life!

19 How ~~was~~ they brought into desolation, &c.] When on a sudden divine vengeance seizes on them, and, when they least expected it, a final period is put to all their greatness; so that their whole life is nothing more than a dream of happiness, and they pride themselves in a mere imaginary glory.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXXIII.

David, by his example, recommends acquiescence in the divine dispensations respecting the wicked, who, though they prosper for a season, are suddenly involved in destruction: but encourages us to trust in God, who will, in the end, reward the righteous, who submit to his government, and delight in his ways.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXXIV.

2 The rod of thine inheritance, &c.] Which thou hast measured out for thyself as with a line or rod.

3 Lift up thy feet, &c.] To stamp or beat down; or to come and see the desolation.

5 A man was famous according as, &c.] They got fame according to the mischief they did, which they committed with no more remorse than if they had been lopping off the boughs of a tree.

9 We see not our signs, &c.] No tokens of the divine presence.

11 Why withdrawest thou thine hand, &c.] Why puttest thou thy hand under thy garment?

13, 14 Thou

13 Thou didst divide the sea by thy strength: thou brakest the heads of the dragons in the waters.

14 Thou brakest the heads of leviathan in pieces, and gavest him to be meat to the people inhabiting the wilderness.

15 Thou didst cleave the fountain and the flood: thou driedst up mighty rivers.

16 The day is thine, the night also is thine: thou hast prepared the light and the sun.

17 Thou hast set all the borders of the earth: thou hast made summer and winter.

18 Remember this, that the enemy hath reproached, O LORD, and that the foolish people have blasphemed thy name.

19 O deliver not the soul of thy turtledove unto the multitude of the wicked: forget not the congregation of thy poor for ever.

20 Have respect unto the covenant: for the dark places of the earth are full of the habitations of cruelty.

21 O let not the oppressed return ashamed: let the poor and needy praise thy name.

22 Arise, O God, plead thine own cause: remember how the foolish man reproacheth thee daily.

23 Forget not the voice of thine enemies: the tumult of those that rise up against thee increaseth continually.

P S A L. LXXV.

1 The psalmist praiseth God: 4 he rebuketh the proud by a display of God's superintending providence.

To the chief Musician, Al-taschith, A Psalm or Song of Asaph.

UNTIL thee, O God, do we give thanks, unto thee do we give thanks: for that thy name is near thy wondrous works declare.

When I shall receive the congregation I will judge uprightly.

3 The earth and all the inhabitants thereof are dissolved: I bear up the pillars of it. Selah.

4 I said unto the fools, Deal not foolishly: and to the wicked, Lift not up the horn:

5 Lift not up your horn on high: speak not with a stiff neck.

6 For promotion cometh neither from the east, nor from the west, nor from the south.

7 But God is the judge: he putteth down one, and setteth up another.

8 For in the hand of the LORD there is a cup, and the wine is red, it is full of mixture; and he poureth out of the same: but the dregs thereof, all the wicked of the earth shall wring them out, and drink them.

13, 14. Thou brakest the heads of the dragons, &c.] By "leviathan," ver. 14, is meant Pharaoh; and by "the dragons," ver. 13, the Egyptians, or Pharaoh's army, who were broken or drowned in the Red-sea, and their bodies being washed ashore, became food for the wild beasts and birds of the wilderness.

15 Thou didst cleave the fountain, &c.] Meaning, the rock whence the fountain flowed.

19 Thy turtledove, &c.] In scripture the church is frequently represented under the names of such weak, mild, and tame creatures, as are most exposed to injuries and wrongs.

20 The dark places of the earth, &c.] The dreary and desert parts of the country are full of robberies, and are receptacles for thieves.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXXIV.

In the midst of sore trials and persecutions, we are here taught to consider the power and goodness of God in ancient times, and the deliverances he has formerly wrought out for his people; and we should remind him of his promises and covenant, which cannot be altered; for he is the same yesterday, to-day, and for ever.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXXV.

This psalm was composed by Asaph the seer, after the great deliverance, which, by the strange destruction of Sennacherib's army, God gave the good king Hezekiah.

1 Thy name is near, &c.] Thou art near: the name of a person is an Hebrewism, whereby the person is frequently expressed.

3 I bear up the pillars of it.] By "pillars" we may understand, governors or great personages.

5 Lift not up your horn on high, &c.] Be not proud and insolent.

9 But I will declare for ever; I will sing praises to the God of Jacob.

10 All the horns of the wicked also will I cut off; but the horns of the righteous shall be exalted.

P S A L. LXXVI.

1 God's majesty set forth in his signal defence of the church: 11 an exhortation to serve him reverently.

To the chief Musician on Neginoth, a Psalm or Song of Asaph.

IN Judah is God known: his name is great in Israel.

2 In Salem also is his tabernacle, and his dwelling place in Zion.

3 There brake he the arrows of the bow, the shield, and the sword, and the battle. Selah.

4 Thou art more glorious and excellent than the mountains of prey.

5 The stouthearted are spoiled, they have slept their sleep: and none of the men of might have found their hands.

6 At thy rebuke, O God of Jacob, both the chariot and horse are cast into dead sleep.

7 Thou, even thou, art to be feared: and who may stand in thy sight when once thou art angry?

8 Thou didst cause judgment to be heard from heaven; the earth feared, and was still.

9 When God arose to judgment, to save all the meek of the earth. Selah.

10 Surely the wrath of man shall praise thee: the remainder of wrath shalt thou restrain.

11 Vow, and pay unto the LORD your God: let all that be round about him bring presents unto him that ought to be feared.

12 He shall cut off the spirit of princes: he is terrible to the kings of the earth.

P S A L. LXXVII.

1 The Psalmist sheweth what fierce combat he had with diffidence. 10 The victory which he had gained by considering God's great and gracious works.

To the chief Musician, to Jeduthun, A Psalm of Asaph.

I cried unto God with my voice, even unto God with my voice; and he gave ear unto me.

2 In the day of my trouble I sought the LORD: my fore ran in the night, and ceased not: my soul refused to be comforted.

3 I remembered God, and was troubled: I complained, and my spirit was overwhelmed. Selah.

4 Thou holdest mine eyes waking: I am so troubled that I cannot speak.

5 I have considered the days of old, the years of ancient times.

6 I call

6 Nor from the south.] The meaning of the verse is, that deliverance was not to be expected from any of the nations round about.

8 In the hand of the Lord there is a cup, and the wine is red, &c.] This is beautifully imagined. We meet with this allegory in Homer, who borrowed his noblest images and finest thoughts from the sacred writings. "Red" denotes the fierceness of God's wrath.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXXV.

We learn from this psalm, that the wicked, how proud and insolent soever they may be, shall not go unpunished by the Lord, who is the ruler of universal nature; but that his providential care is over the righteous.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXXVI.

4 Thou art more glorious, &c.] Thou, O Sion, art more glorious, &c.

10 Surely the wrath of man shall praise thee, &c.] The fierceness and rage of man shall turn to thy praise; for the end shall shew that the enemy is able to bring nothing to pass; likewise thou shalt bridle their rage, that they shall not accomplish their purpose.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXXVII.

David here celebrates the wondrous interposition of God in favour of his people, and the destruction of their enemies, which should animate us to walk humbly and reverently before him, and to perform the promises made to him in our distress.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXXVII.

2 My fore ran, &c.] Or, My hand was stretched out.

6 I call

6 I call to remembrance my song in the night: I commune with mine own heart: and my spirit made diligent search.

7 Will the LORD cast off for ever? and will he be favourable no more?

8 Is his mercy clean gone for ever? doth his promise fail for evermore?

9 Hath God forgotten to be gracious? hath he in anger shut up his tender mercies? Selah.

10 And I said, This is my infirmity: but I will remember the years of the right hand of the most high.

11 I will remember the works of the LORD: surely I will remember thy wonders of old.

12 I will meditate also of all thy work, and talk of thy doings.

13 Thy way, O God, is in the sanctuary: who is so great a God as our God!

14 Thou art the God that doest wonders: thou hast declared thy strength among the people.

15 Thou hast with thine arm redeemed thy people, the sons of Jacob and Joseph. Selah.

16 The waters saw thee, O God, the waters saw thee; they were afraid: the depths also were troubled.

17 The clouds poured out water: the skies sent out a sound: thine arrows also went abroad.

18 The voice of thy thunder was in the heaven: the lightnings lightened the world: the earth trembled and shook.

19 Thy way is in the sea, and thy path in the great waters, and thy footsteps are not known.

20 Thou leddest thy people like a flock by the hand of Moses and Aaron.

P S A L. LXXVIII.

An exhortation both to learn and to preach the law of God. Maschil of Asaph.

GIVE ear, O my people, to my law: incline thine ears to the words of my mouth.

2 I will open my mouth in a parable: I will utter dark sayings of old:

3 Which we have heard and known, and our fathers have told us.

4 We will not hide them from their children, shewing to the generation to come the praises of the LORD, and his strength, and his wonderful works that he hath done.

5 For he established a testimony in Jacob, and appointed a law in Israel, which he commanded our fathers, that they should make them known to their children:

6 That the generation to come might know them, even the children which should be born; who should arise and declare them to their children:

7 That they might set their hope in God, and not forget the works of God; but keep his commandments:

8 And might not be as their fathers, stubborn and rebellious generation; a generation that set not their heart aright, and whose spirit was not stedfast with God.

9 The children of Ephraim, being armed, and carrying bows, turned back in the day of battle.

6 I call to remembrance my song, &c.] The songs of thanksgiving which I was accustomed to make in my prosperity.

10 This is my infirmity, &c.] This is my affliction, or the time in which Providence hath been pleased to appoint my sufferings.

13 Thy way, O God, is in the sanctuary, &c.] The method of thy providence, O God, is not only perfectly holy and just, but quite out of our reach, nor is thy power inferior.

16 The waters saw thee, O God, &c.] The waters of the Red sea felt this power to the very depths of the ocean, which retreated if terrified by thy presence, and left a dry path in the sea for thy people to pass over.

19 Thy way is in the sea, &c.] Thy way cannot be traced by human knowledge, who made a broad path through the swelling waves, which, as none ever trod before or after, so they cannot trace the footsteps which the waters have overflowed and obliterated.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXXVII.

The use we are to make of this psalm, is to look upon the blessing of God the spring of all the temporal and spiritual goods that may contribute to render us happy, and to pray continually to him (on behalf of ourselves and others) saying, God be merciful to us, and bless us; and cause his face to shine upon us; that we may be all en-

10 They kept not the covenant of God, and refused to walk in his law;

11 And forgot his works, and his wonders that he had shewed them.

12 Marvellous things did he in the sight of their fathers, in the land of Egypt, in the field of Zoan.

13 He divided the sea, and caused them to pass through; and he made the waters to stand as an heap.

14 In the daytime also he led them with a cloud, and all the night with a light of fire.

15 He clave the rocks in the wilderness, and gave them drink as out of the great depths.

16 He brought streams also out of the rock, and caused waters to run down like rivers.

17 And they sinned yet more against him by provoking the most high in the wilderness.

18 And they tempted God in their heart by asking meat for their lust.

19 Yea, they spake against God; they said, Can God furnish a table in the wilderness?

20 Behold, he smote the rock, that the waters gushed out, and the streams overflowed; can he give bread also? can he provide flesh for his people?

21 Therefore the LORD heard this, and was wroth: so a fire was kindled against Jacob, and anger also came up against Israel;

22 Because they believed not in God, and trusted not in his salvation:

23 Though he had commanded the clouds from above, and opened the doors of heaven.

24 And had rained down manna upon them to eat, and had given them of the corn of heaven,

25 Man did eat angels' food: he sent them meat to the full.

26 He caused an east wind to blow in the heaven: and by his power he brought in the south wind.

27 He rained flesh also upon them as dust, and feathered fowls like as the sand of the sea:

28 And he let it fall in the midst of their camp, round about their habitations.

29 So they did eat, and were well filled: for he gave them their own desire;

30 They were not estranged from their lust. But while their meat was yet in their mouths,

31 The wrath of God came upon them, and slew the fattest of them, and smote down the chosen men of Israel.

32 For all this they sinned still, and believed not for his wondrous works.

33 Therefore their days did he consume in vanity, and their years in trouble.

34 When he slew them, then they sought him: and they returned and enquired early after God.

35 And they remembered that God was their rock, and the high God their redeemer.

36 Nevertheless they did flatter him with their mouth, and they lied unto him with their tongues.

37 For

lightened with his knowledge, and that his name may be universally praised.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXXVIII.

■ I will open my mouth in a parable, &c.] I will abundantly inform you of the most remarkable passages of God's providence in former times, which are more worthy your knowledge than the skill of resolving the obscurest mysteries.

5 For he established a testimony, &c.] When God gave the law, he made it a particular injunction, that they should be careful to leave the knowledge of these things as a sacred legacy or inheritance unto their children.

9 The children of Ephraim, &c.] The Ephraimites, though a valiant tribe and excellent archers, ran away, and in a shameful manner were chased by their enemies.

12 Zoan.] Zoan is probably here only another appellation for the land of Egypt, by taking, poetically, a part for the whole.

25 Angels food, &c.] Because it was prepared by the ministry of angels, and sent from heaven, the place of their habitation.

33 Therefore their days, &c.] For which reason he resolved they should never reach the promised land, but should die wandering in the wilderness.

37 For their heart was not right with him, neither were they stedfast in his covenant.

38 But he being full of compassion, forgave their iniquity, and destroyed them not: yea, many a time turned he his anger away, and did not stir up all his wrath.

39 For he remembered that they were but flesh; a wind that passeth away, and cometh not again.

40 How oft did they provoke him in the wilderness, and grieve him in the desert!

41 Yea, they turned back and tempted God, and limited the Holy One of Israel.

42 They remembered not his hand, nor the day when he delivered them from the enemy.

43 How he had wrought his signs in Egypt, and his wonders in the field of Zoan:

44 And had turned their rivers into blood; and their floods, that they could not drink.

45 He sent divers sorts of flies among them, which devoured them; and frogs which destroyed them.

46 He gave also their increase unto the caterpillar, and their labour unto the locust.

47 He destroyed their vines with hail, and their fig-camore trees with frost.

48 He gave up their cattle also to the hail, and their flocks to hot thunderbolts.

49 He cast upon them the fierceness of his anger, wrath, and indignation, and trouble, by sending evil angels among them.

50 He made a way to his anger; he spared not their soul from death, but gave their life over to the pestilence;

51 And smote all their firstborn in Egypt; the chief of their strength in the tabernacles of Ham:

52 But made his own people to go forth like sheep, and guided them in the wilderness like a flock.

53 And he led them on safely, so that they feared not: but the sea overwhelmed their enemies.

54 And he brought them to the border of his sanctuary, even to this mountain, which his right hand had purchased.

55 He cast out the heathen also before them, and divided them an inheritance by line, and made the tribes of Israel to dwell in their tents.

56 Yet they tempted and provoked the most high God, and kept not his testimonies:

57 But turned back and dealt unfaithfully like their fathers: they were turned aside like a deceitful bow.

58 For they provoked him to anger with their high places, and moved him to jealousy with their graven images.

59 When God heard this, he was wroth, and greatly abhorred Israel:

60 So that he forsook the tabernacle of Shiloh, the tent which he placed among men;

61 And delivered his strength into captivity, and his glory into the enemy's hand.

62 He gave his people over also unto the sword; and was wroth with his inheritance.

63 The fire consumed their young men; and their maidens were not given to marriage.

39 He remembered that they were but flesh, &c.] He considered that they would continue only a short time here, would soon moulder into dust, and vanish like a blast of wind.

41 And limited the Holy One of Israel.] They would subject God to their own wills, measure his power by their capacity, and prescribe his works within certain bounds of times, means, and other circumstances.

57 They were turned aside, like a deceitful bow.] Like an ill made bow, which never sends the arrow to its mark, so their minds and hearts being depraved, would turn aside into crooked ways, and not be directed according to the will of God.

64 Their widows made no lamentation.] Their wives oppressed with grief, did not long survive to make any public funeral for them.

66 In the hinder parts.] Namely, with the painful and shameful disease of emroids.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXXVIII.
In this psalm are three things chiefly to be observed; namely, the No. 42.

64 Their priests fell by the sword; and their widows made no lamentation.

65 Then the LORD awaked as one out of sleep, and like a mighty man that shouteth by reason of wine.

66 And he smote his enemies in the hinder part: and put them to a perpetual reproach.

67 Moreover he refused the tabernacle of Joseph, and chose not the tribe of Ephraim:

68 But chose the tribe of Judah, the mount Zion which he loved.

69 And he built his sanctuary like high palaces, like the earth which he hath established for ever.

70 He chose David also his servant, and took him from the sheepfolds:

71 From following the ewes great with young he brought him to feed Jacob his people; and Israel his inheritance.

72 So he fed them according to the integrity of his heart; and guided them by the skilfulness of his hands.

P S A L. LXXIX.

The psalmist complaineth of the desolation of Jerusalem: 8 he prayeth for deliverance, 13 and promisetb thankfulness.

A Psalm of Asaph.

O God, the heathen are come into thine inheritance; thy holy temples have they defiled; they have laid Jerusalem on heaps.

2 The dead bodies of thy servants have they given to be meat unto the fowls of the heaven, the flesh of thy saints unto the beasts of the earth.

3 Their blood have they shed like water round about Jerusalem; and there was none to bury them.

4 We are become a reproach to our neighbours, a scorn and derision to them that are round about us.

5 How long, LORD, wilt thou be angry for ever? shall thy jealousy burn like fire?

6 Pour out thy wrath upon the heathen that have not known thee, and upon the kingdoms that have not called upon thy name.

7 For they have devoured Jacob, and laid waste his dwelling place.

8 O remember not against us former iniquities: let thy tender mercies speedily prevent us: for we are brought very low.

9 Help us, O God of our salvation, for the glory of thy name: and deliver us, and purge away our sins, for thy name's sake.

10 Wherefore should the heathen say, Where is their God? let him be known among the heathen in our fight by the revenging of the blood of thy servants which is shed.

11 Let the fighting of the prisoner come before thee; according to the greatness of thy power preserve thou those that are appointed to die:

12 And render unto our neighbours sevenfold into their bosom their reproach, wherewith they have reproached thee, O LORD.

13 So we thy people and sheep of thy pasture will give thee thanks for ever: we will shew forth thy praise to all generations.

favour of God to and support of the Jews; their sins, frequent murmurings, and ingratitude; and the chastisement which God inflicted on them not only in the wilderness, but in Canaan. These are examples to us, to remember incessantly the great goodness of God to us, and to dread ingratitude, and incurring the severe judgments he pours on those who abuse his favors.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXXIX.

7 For they have devoured Jacob, &c.] They were indeed the instruments of thy vengeance, but executed their commission with such cruelty, that not content with the conquest of Israel, they have endeavoured our total extirpation.

11 Preserve thou those that are appointed to die.] The Septuagint and Vulgate read, Preserve the children of those who have been murdered.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXXIX.

This psalm teaches us, that God does not spare his church when guilty, but sometimes punishes it with great severity; therefore we PSAL. LXXX.

1 The psalmist's complaint. 8 God's former favours are turned into judgments: 14 A prayer for deliverance.

To the chief Musician upon Sholhannim-Eduth,
A Psalm of Asaph.

GIVE ear, O Shepherd of Israel, thou that leadest Joseph like a flock; thou that dwellest between the cherubims, shine forth.

2 Before Ephraim and Benjamin and Manasseh stir up thy strength, and come and save us.

3 Turn us again, O God, and cause thy face to shine; and we shall be saved.

4 O LORD God of hosts, how long wilt thou be angry against the prayer of thy people?

5 Thou feedest them with the bread of tears; and givest them tears to drink in great measure.

6 Thou makest us a strife unto our neighbours: and our enemies laugh among themselves.

7 Turn us again, O God of hosts, and cause thy face to shine; and we shall be saved.

8 Thou hast brought a vine out of Egypt: thou hast cast out the heathen, and planted it.

9 Thou preparedst room before it, and didst cause it to take deep root, and it filled the land.

10 The hills were covered with the shadow of it, and the boughs thereof were like the goodly cedars.

11 She sent out her boughs unto the sea, and her branches unto the river.

12 Why hast thou then broken down her hedges, so that all they which pass by the way do pluck her?

13 The boar out of the wood doth waste it, and the wild beast of the field doth devour it.

14 Return, we beseech thee, O God of hosts: look down from heaven, and behold, and visit this vine;

15 And the vineyard which thy right hand hath planted, and the branch that thou madest strong for thyself.

16 It is burned with fire, it is cut down: they perish at the rebuke of thy countenance.

17 Let thy hand be upon the man of thy right hand, upon the son of man whom thou madest strong for thyself.

18 So will not we go back from thee: quicken us, and we will call upon thy name.

19 Turn us again, O LORD God of hosts, cause thy face to shine; and we shall be saved.

PSAL. LXXXI.

1 An exhortation to praise God. 4 God challengeth that duty by reason of his benefits, and exhorts his people to obedience.

To the chief Musician upon Gittith, A Psalm of Asaph.

We should implore the mercy of God in its behalf, and endeavour to avert his judgments by repentance and turning from our sins, which he will then pardon for the glory of his name, and stop the insults and blasphemies of its enemies.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXXX.

8 Thou hast brought a vine, &c.] Thou once transplantedst us, like a choice vine, out of Egypt into this country.

10 Goodly cedars.] The cedars of God.

11 Her boughs unto the sea, and her branches unto the river.] The empire extended itself from the Mediterranean sea to the river Euphrates.

13 The boar out of the wood, &c.] The king of Assyria, like a wild boar, hath laid it waste.

17 Upon the man of thy right hand, &c.] Upon the king, whom God had endued with courage and resolution to defend them.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXXX.

We have here represented to us the desolation of the Jews, and the sad condition they were in at that time; we should therefore consider, that if such things happened to the Jewish church, we ought not to wonder if the Christian be afflicted and persecuted; especially since Jesus Christ has foretold that it should be so; we should therefore humble ourselves under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt us in due time.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXXXI.

Asaph, who lived in the time of David, is supposed to be the author of this psalm, which seems to have been composed for the feast of trumpets, held on the first day of the seventh month.

SING aloud unto God our strength: make joyful noise unto the God of Jacob.

2 Take a psalm, and bring hither the timbrel, the pleasant harp with the psalttery.

3 Blow up the trumpet in the new moon, in the time appointed, on our solemn feast day.

4 For this was a statute for Israel, and a law of the God of Jacob.

5 This he ordained in Joseph for a testimony, when he went out through the land of Egypt: where I heard a language that I understood not.

6 I removed his shoulder from the burden: his hands were delivered from the pots.

7 Thou calledst in trouble, and I delivered thee; I answered thee in the secret place of thunder: I proved thee at the waters of Meribah. Selah.

8 Hear, O my people, and I will testify unto thee: O Israel, if thou wilt hearken unto me;

9 There shall no strange god be in thee; neither shalt thou worship any strange god.

10 I am the LORD thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt: open thy mouth wide, and I will fill it.

11 But my people would not hearken to my voice; and Israel would none of me.

12 So I gave them up unto their own hearts' lust: and they walked in their own counsels.

13 Oh that my people had hearkened unto me, and Israel had walked in my ways!

14 I should soon have subdued their enemies, and turned my hand against their adversaries.

15 The haters of the LORD should have submitted themselves unto him: but their time should have endured for ever.

16 He should have fed them also with the finest of the wheat: and with honey out of the rock should I have satisfied thee.

PSAL. LXXXII.

1 The psalmist having exhorted the judges, 5 and reproved their misconduct, 8 prayeth God to judge.

A Psalm of Asaph.

GOD standeth in the congregation of the mighty; he judgeth among the gods.

2 How long will ye judge unjustly, and accept the persons of the wicked? Selah.

3 Defend the poor and fatherless: do justice to the afflicted and needy.

4 Deliver the poor and needy: rid them out of the hand of the wicked.

5 They know not, neither will they understand; they walk on in darkness: all the foundations of the earth are out of course.

6 I have

3 Blow up the trumpet in the new moon, &c.] The feast of the new moon (being the first moon in the year) was also proclaimed to the people by the sound of trumpets, and this custom is still observed among the Mahometans.

15 But their time, &c.] That is, But the time of my people.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXXXI.

We may observe very plainly in this psalm, that God is always disposed to load men with his favours; that he offers them grace; that he desires nothing but their welfare and salvation: and that men are miserable, it is because they will not hear his voice, but harden their hearts wilfully; till they are at length abandoned to their impenitency and deprived of the effects of his love.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXXXII.

This psalm was composed by Asaph the seer, in the days of Hezekiah, to admonish the judges of their duty, and to reform the abuses which had crept in their civil judicature.

1 God standeth in] Remember, O ye judges, whose ministers you are, and consider, that as God observes what you do, so he will call you to a strict account, and severely punish you if you judge unrighteous judgments.

Among the gods.] Elohim, gods. This appellation (used to express the Trinity) is given to judges and rulers, to denote that the fountain of their power was from the Most High, and to remind them, in the exercise of their authority, that they were his representatives.

5 The foundations of the earth were out of course.] The foundations of the kingdoms are shaken, which are justice and truth.

6 I have said, Ye are gods; and of all you are children of the most high.
7 But ye shall die like men, and fall like one of the princes.
8 Arise, O God, judge the earth: for thou shalt inherit all nations.

P S A L. LXXXIII.

1 The psalmist complaineth to God of a confederacy among the enemies of Israel: 9 he prayeth against them.

A Song or Psalm of Asaph.

KEEP not thou silence, O God: hold not thy peace, and be not still, O God.

2 For, lo, thine enemies make a tumult: and they that hate thee have lifted up the head.

3 They have taken crafty counsel against thy people, and consulted against thy hidden ones.

4 They have said, Come, and let us cut them off from being a nation; that the name of Israel may be no more in remembrance.

5 For they have consulted together with one consent: they are confederate against thee:

6 The tabernacles of Edom, and the Ishmaelites; of Moab, and the Hagarenes;

7 Gebal, and Ammon, and Amalek; the Philistines with the inhabitants of Tyre;

8 Assur also is joined with them: they have holpen the children of Lot. Selah.

9 Do unto them as unto the Midianites; as to Sisera, as to Jabin, at the brook of Kison:

10 Which perished at En-dor: they became as dung for the earth.

11 Make their nobles like Oreb, and like Zeeb: yea, all their princes as Zebah, and as Zalmunna:

12 Who said, Let us take to ourselves the houses of God in possession.

13 O my God, make them like a wheel; as the stubble before the wind.

14 As the fire burneth a wood, and as the flame setteth the mountains on fire;

15 So persecute them with thy tempest, and make them afraid with thy storm.

16 Fill their faces with shame; that they may seek thy name, O LORD.

17 Let them be confounded and troubled for ever; yea, let them be put to shame, and perish:

18 That men may know that thou, whose name alone is JEHOVAH, art the most high over all the earth.

P S A L. LXXXIV.

1 The psalmist longing for the temple worship: 8 he prayeth to be restored to it.

To the chief Musician upon Gittith, A Psalm for the sons of Korah.

HOW amiable are thy tabernacles, O LORD of hosts!

6, 7 I have said, Ye are gods, and ye are, &c.] I have put my majesty upon you, and raised you to great dignity on earth; but since you have no regard to me nor your office, I will have as little regard to you, for you shall perish like common men, without any respect to your honour, and be thrown down from your seats, like the tyrants and cruel oppressors that have been before you.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Psal. LXXXII.

We learn from hence, that is the duty and interest of magistrates to remember, that although they are set above others, yet they themselves must die one day, and, with the rest of mankind, appear before the supreme Judge, to give an account of all their actions, and whether they had administered justice with uprightness, and as God's vicegerents.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXXXIII.

6, 7, 8 The tabernacles of Edom, &c.] Those warlike nations the Edomites and Israelites who dwell in tents, are engaged in this enterprise; and combined with them are the Moabites, Gebalites, Amalekites, Philistines, Tyrians, and Assyrians.

13 Make them like a wheel, &c.] Unstable as a wheel which is easily precipitated from the lofty mountains: some commentators read, Like thistle-down; which corresponds better with stubble in the next sentence.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Psal. LXXXIII.

We hence see, that God defeats the contrivances of those who seek the ruin of his church, and that he supports it against all the oppositions of its numerous, powerful, and malicious enemies.

2 My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the LORD: my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God.

3 Yea, the sparrow hath found an house, and the swallow a nest for herself, where she may lay her young, even thine altars, O LORD of hosts, my King, and my God.

4 Blessed are they that dwell in thy house: they will be still praising thee. Selah.

5 Blessed is the man whose strength is in thee; in whose heart are the ways of them.

6 Who passing through the valley of Baca make it a well; the rain also filleth the pools.

7 They go from strength to strength, every one of them in Zion appeareth before God.

8 O LORD God of hosts, hear my prayer: give ear, O God of Jacob. Selah.

9 Behold, O God our shield, and look upon the face of thine anointed.

10 For a day in thy courts is better than a thousand. I had rather be a doorkeeper in the house of my God, than to dwell in the tents of wickedness.

11 For the LORD God is a sun and shield: the LORD will give grace and glory: no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly.

12 O LORD of hosts, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee.

P S A L. LXXXV.

1 The psalmist prayeth for mercy: 8 he promiseth to wait God's answer.

To the chief Musician, A Psalm for the sons of Korah.

LORD, thou hast been favourable unto thy land: thou hast brought back the captivity of Jacob.

2 Thou hast forgiven the iniquity of thy people, thou hast covered all their sin. Selah.

3 Thou hast taken away all thy wrath: thou hast turned thyself from the fierceness of thine anger.

4 Turn us, O God of our salvation, and cause thine anger toward us to cease.

5 Wilt thou be angry with us for ever? wilt thou draw out thine anger to all generations?

6 Wilt thou not revive us again: that thy people may rejoice in thee?

7 Shew us thy mercy, O LORD, and grant us thy salvation.

8 I will hear what God the LORD will speak: for he will speak peace unto his people, and to his saints: but let them not turn again to folly.

9 Surely his salvation is nigh them that fear him; that glory may dwell in our land.

10 Mercy and truth are met together; righteousness and peace have kissed each other.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXXXIV.

3 Yea, the sparrow, &c.] It grieves me, O Lord, to see the very birds enjoy that liberty which is denied to me, who am here lamenting my distance from thee, when the sparrows and the ring-doves have their continual undisturbed residence at thy house.

6, 7 Who passing through the valley of Baca, make it a well, &c.] "Of Baca," that is, of mulberry trees, which delight in a dry soil. The meaning is, that though the pious meet with many difficulties equal to the want of water in dry places, they yet overcome them all with the ardency of their zeal, and pass the thirsty valley as cheerfully as if it abounded with pleasant springs; and depending upon God as the fountain of their desires, receive from him the blessing of plentiful and seasonable showers to refresh them in their journey.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Psal. LXXXIV.

The fervent devotion that David shews here, teaches us, that we should wish for nothing with so much earnestness as to serve God in spirit and in truth; that this is the greatest happiness, and sweetest comfort, we can enjoy in this world; and that it is better to pass one day in the house of God, than to possess all possible advantages on earth.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXXXV.

8 I will hear what God the Lord will speak, &c.] I will wait patiently upon the Lord, the judge of the world, for a gracious answer to my prayers.

10 Mercy and truth are met together, &c.] This cannot perfectly agree with any till the Messiah's reign; for the meaning is, that God's 11 Truth shall spring out of the earth: and righteousness shall look down from heaven.

12 Yea, the LORD shall give that which is good; and our land shall yield her increase.

13 Righteousness shall go before him; and shall set us in the way of his steps.

P S A L. LXXXVI.

1 David imploreth God's aid because of his need and religious faith; 5 and of the power and goodness of God.

A Prayer of David.

BOW down thine ear, O LORD, hear me: for I am poor and needy.

2 Preserve my soul; for I am holy: O thou my God, save thy servant that trusteth in thee.

3 Be merciful unto me, O LORD: for I cry unto thee daily.

4 Rejoice the soul of thy servant: for unto thee, O LORD, do I lift up my soul.

5 For thou, LORD, art good, and ready to forgive; and plenteous in mercy unto all them that call upon thee.

6 Give ear, O LORD, unto my prayer; and attend to the voice of my supplications.

7 In the day of my trouble I will call upon thee: for thou wilt answer me.

8 Among the gods there is none like unto thee, O LORD; neither are there any works like unto thy works.

9 All nations whom thou hast made shall come and worship before thee, O LORD; and shall glorify thy name.

10 For thou art great, and doest wondrous things: thou art God alone.

11 Teach me thy way, O LORD: I will walk in thy truth: unite my heart to fear thy name.

12 I will praise thee, O LORD my God, with all my heart: and I will glorify thy name for evermore.

13 For great is thy mercy toward me: and thou hast delivered my soul from the lowest hell.

14 O God, the proud are risen against me, and the assemblies of violent men have sought after my soul; and have not set thee before them.

15 But thou, O LORD, art a God full of compassion, and gracious, long suffering, and plenteous in mercy and truth.

16 O turn unto me, and have mercy upon me; give thy strength unto thy servant, and save the son of thine handmaid.

17 Shew me a token for good; that they which hate me may see it, and be ashamed: because thou, LORD, hast holpen me, and comforted me.

P S A L. LXXXVII.

1 The seat and glory of the church: 4 the honourable distinction of its members.

God's grace shall be so largely spread abroad, that it shall be fully answerable to those large promises which were formerly made by his truth.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXXXV.

In this psalm are these two principal instructions: That God makes his people feel the effects of his wrath for the punishment of their sins; but as soon as he sees his people humbled, he is appeased, and they are delivered; then he pours down upon them his most precious blessings, both temporal and spiritual.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXXXVI.

2 For I am holy, &c.] Or, For I am merciful; that is, I have been merciful to others in their distresses: be thou merciful, O God, to me in mine!

8 Among the gods there is none like unto thee, &c.] Nothing is too hard for thee, nor art thou unwilling to do more kindnesses for us, because thou hast already done so many: but thou dost incomparably excel all those that are worshipped in the world as gods, who are not able so much as to help and preserve themselves. See 1 Cor. viii. 5; 6. 13 The lowest hell.] The grave, or the state of death.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXXXVI.

This supplicatory psalm teaches us, that when we are in affliction and distress, we should call God to our aid, with a firm confidence in his mercy and power, which he always displays towards those that ask it; and that we ought, above all things, to beg of God grace to walk in his ways, continually to pray unto him, and celebrate his praises.

A Psalm or Song for the sons of Korah.

HIS foundation is in the holy mountains.

2 The LORD loveth the gates of Zion more than all the dwellings of Jacob.

3 Glorious things are spoken of thee, O city of God. Selah.

4 I will make mention of Rahab and Babylon to them that know me: behold Philistia, and Tyre, with Ethiopia; this man was born there.

5 And of Zion it shall be said, This and that man was born in her: and the highest himself shall establish her.

6 The LORD shall count, when he writeth up the people, that this man was born there. Selah.

7 As well the fingers as the players on instruments shall be there: all my springs are in thee.

P S A L. LXXXVIII.

A prayer containing a grievous complaint.

A Song or Psalm for the sons of Korah, to the chief Musician upon Mahalath Leannoth, Maschil of He-man the Ezrahite.

O LORD God of my salvation, I have cried day and night before thee:

2 Let my prayer come before thee: incline thine ear unto my cry;

3 For my soul is full of troubles: and my life draweth nigh unto the grave.

4 I am counted with them that go down into the pit: I am as a man that hath no strength:

5 Free among the dead, like the slain that lie in the grave, whom thou rememberest no more: and they are cut off from thy hand.

6 Thou hast laid me in the lowest pit, in darkness, in the deeps.

7 Thy wrath lieth hard upon me, and thou hast afflicted me with all thy waves. Selah.

8 Thou hast put away mine acquaintance far from me; thou hast made me an abomination unto them: I am shut up, and I cannot come forth.

9 Mine eye mourneth by reason of affliction: LORD, I have called daily upon thee, I have stretched out my hands unto thee.

10 Wilt thou shew wonders to the dead? shall the dead arise and praise thee? Selah.

11 Shall thy lovingkindness be declared in the grave? or thy faithfulness in destruction?

12 Shall thy wonders be known in the dark? and thy righteousness in the land of forgetfulness?

13 But unto thee have I cried, O LORD; and in the morning shall my prayer prevent thee.

14 LORD, why callest thou off my soul? why hidest thou thy face from me?

15 I am

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXXXVII.

4 I will make mention, &c.] Taking a survey of all my people, I will add the Gentiles unto them, calling them to the knowledge of me by my gospel, and regenerating them in my church, holding them in the same degree with the Israelites, as true children of my covenant.

7 As well the fingers, &c.] In thee, O city, favoured by the Most High, shall be found multitudes of excellent persons, eminent in their kind; nor shall a continual succession of such be ever wanting, but shall follow each other as water from a perennial spring.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. LXXXVIII.

The Holy Ghost foretels in this psalm, that the pagans, and the most distant nations, should be one day admitted into the divine covenant, and numbered among the worshippers of the true God. This has happened by the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, and is that happiness which we ourselves partake of, and for which we ought to return continual thanks to God.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXXXVIII.

Mahalath Leannoth, &c.] "Mahalath" is the name of a wind-instrument, such as flutes, pipes, &c. and "Leannoth" signifies, by turns, or interchangeably, denoting the manner in which this psalm was to be performed, the fingers alternately answering one another; Maschil is the name of the time to which it was to be sung. Some passages in this psalm may be applied to our Saviour's death, and burial in the grave, and is therefore appointed by our church as part of the service of Good Friday.

10 Wilt thou shew wonders to the dead? &c.] Hasten, O my God, to deliver me, if thou intendest any kindness to me; otherwise I shall presently perish, and then, without the greatest miracle, there is no help for me.

15 I am afflicted and ready to die from my youth up: while I suffer thy terrors I am distracted.
16 Thy fierce wrath goeth over me; thy terrors have cut me off.

17 They came round about me daily like water; they compassed me about together.

18 Lover and friend hast thou put far from me, and mine acquaintance into darkness.

P S A L. LXXXIX.

1 The psalmist praiseth God for his covenant: 5 for his mighty power: 15 for his care of his people: 19 for his promised favour to the kingdom of David.

Maschil of Ethan the Ezrahite.

I Will sing of the mercies of the LORD for ever: with my mouth will I make known thy faithfulness to all generations.

For I have said, Mercy shall be built up for ever: thy faithfulness shalt thou establish in the very heavens.

3 I have made a covenant with my chosen, I have sworn unto David my servant.

4 Thy seed will I establish for ever, and build up thy throne to all generations. Selah.

5 And the heavens shall praise thy wonders, O LORD: thy faithfulness also in the congregation of the saints.

6 For who in the heaven can be compared unto the LORD? who among the sons of the mighty can be likened unto the LORD?

7 God is greatly to be feared in the assembly of the saints, and to be had in reverence of all them that are about him.

8 O LORD God of hosts, who is a strong LORD like unto thee? or to thy faithfulness round about thee?

9 Thou rulest the raging of the sea: when the waves thereof arise, thou stillest them.

10 Thou hast broken Rabab in pieces, as one that is slain; thou hast scattered thine enemies with thy strong arm.

11 The heavens are thine, the earth also is thine: as for the world and the fulness thereof, thou hast founded them.

12 The north and the south thou hast created them: Tabor and Hermon shall rejoice in thy name.

13 Thou hast a mighty arm: strong is thy hand, and high is thy right hand.

14 Justice and judgment are the habitation of thy throne: mercy and truth shall go before thy face.

15 Blessed is the people that know the joyful sound: they shall walk, O LORD, in the light of thy countenance.

16 In thy name shall they rejoice all the day: and in thy righteousness shall they be exalted.

17 For thou art the glory of their strength: and in thy favour our horn shall be exalted.

18 For the LORD is our defence; and the Holy One of Israel is our king.

19 Then thou spakest in vision to thy holy one, and saidst, I have laid help upon one that is mighty; I have exalted one chosen out of the people.

20 I have found David my servant; with my holy oil have I anointed him:

21 With whom my hand shall be established: mine arm also shall strengthen him.

22 The enemy shall not exact upon him; nor the son of wickedness afflict him.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Psal. LXXXVIII.

Those afflicted persons, who fear God, should meditate on this psalm, and not be discouraged when they find fears without, and are troubled within for want of comfort, and also by the terrors they feel in their souls; but they ought to represent to God their sad condition, and wait with patience for his consolation, which he will not fail to give them in his own time.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. LXXXIX.

4 Thy seed will I establish for ever, &c.] These words (as well as the subject matter of the psalm) are too great to have their completion in Solomon, and therefore must relate to the Messiah: the psalmist distinguishes between David's seed and his sons: by the former, he means
No. 42.

23 And I will beat down his foes before his face, and plague them that hate him.

24 But my faithfulness and my mercy shall be with him: and in my name shall his horn be exalted.

25 I will set his hand also in the sea, and his right hand in the rivers.

26 He shall cry unto me, Thou art my father, my God, and the rock of my salvation.

27 Also I will make him my firstborn, higher than the kings of the earth.

28 My mercy will I keep for him for evermore, and my covenant shall stand fast with him.

29 His seed also will I make to endure for ever, and his throne as the days of heaven.

30 If his children forsake my law, and walk not in my judgments;

31 If they break my statutes, and keep not my commandments;

32 Then will I visit their transgression with the rod, and their iniquity with stripes.

33 Nevertheless my lovingkindness will I not utterly take from him, nor suffer my faithfulness to fail.

34 My covenant will I not break, nor alter the thing that is gone out of my lips.

35 Once have I sworn by my holiness that I will not lie unto David.

36 His seed shall endure for ever, and his throne as the sun before me.

37 It shall be established for ever as the moon, and as a faithful witness in heaven. Selah.

38 But thou hast cast off and abhorred, thou hast been wroth with thine anointed.

39 Thou hast made void the covenant of thy servant: thou hast profaned his crown by casting it to the ground.

40 Thou hast broken down all his hedges; thou hast brought his strong holds to ruin.

41 All that pass by the way spoil him: he is a reproach to his neighbours.

42 Thou hast set up the right hand of his adversaries; thou hast made all his enemies to rejoice.

43 Thou hast also turned the edge of his sword, and hast not made him to stand in the battle.

44 Thou hast made his glory to cease, and cast his throne down to the ground.

45 The days of his youth hast thou shortened: thou hast covered him with shame. Selah.

46 How long, LORD? wilt thou hide thyself for ever? shall thy wrath burn like fire?

47 Remember how short my time is: wherefore hast thou made all men in vain?

48 What man is he that liveth, and shall not see death? shall he deliver his soul from the hand of the grave? Selah.

49 LORD, where are thy former lovingkindnesses, which thou swarest unto David in thy truth?

50 Remember, LORD, the reproach of thy servants; how I do bear in my bosom the reproach of all the mighty people;

51 Wherewith thine enemies have reproached, O LORD; wherewith they have reproached the footsteps of thine anointed.

52 Blessed be the LORD for evermore. Amen, and Amen.

1 The psalmist declareth God's providence; 3 he complaineth of human frailty, 7 divine chastisements, 10 and the shortness of life: 12 he prayeth for a due sense of this.

A Prayer of Moses the man of God.

LORD, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations.

Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God.

3 Thou turnest man to destruction; and sayest, Return, ye children of men.

4 For a thousand years in thy sight are but as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night.

5 Thou carriest them away as with a flood; they are as a sleep: in the morning they are like grass which groweth up.

6 In the morning it flourisheth, and groweth up; in the evening it is cut down, and withereth.

7 For we are consumed by thine anger, and by thy wrath are we troubled.

8 Thou hast set our iniquities before thee, our secret sins in the light of thy countenance.

9 For all our days are passed away in thy wrath: we spend our years as a tale that is told.

10 The days of our years are threescore years and ten; and if by reason of strength they be fourscore years, yet is their strength labour and sorrow; for it is soon cut off, and we fly away.

11 Who knoweth the power of thine anger? even according to thy fear, so is thy wrath.

12 So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom.

13 Return, O LORD, how long? and let it repent thee concerning thy servants.

14 O satisfy us early with thy mercy; that we may rejoice and be glad all our days.

15 Make us glad according to the days wherein thou hast afflicted us, and the years wherein we have seen evil.

16 Let thy work appear unto thy servants, and thy glory unto their children.

17 And let the beauty of the LORD our God be upon us: and establish thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands establish thou it.

3 Return, ye children of men.] Return to the dust, of which ye were made.

11 Who knoweth the power of thine anger? &c.] Who, alas! notwithstanding all thy judgments, seriously lays to heart the dreadful effects of thy displeasure!

12 So teach us, &c.] We beseech thee so to influence our minds to consider that our days have a number, thought to us unknown, that the due consideration of the solemn truth may tend to keep us always watchful, that we may not be overtaken by death in a thoughtless state, and an unprepared condition!

13 How long? &c.] How long wilt thou afflict us?

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XC.

This psalm admonishes us, from a view of the vanities of this present life, to seek after a better, and aspire to that immortality which is prepared for us in the heavens by Jesus Christ our Lord; therefore let us beg of God, that while we remain in this world, he would his wings shalt thou trust: his truth shall be thy shield and buckler.

5 Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night; nor for the arrow that flieth by day;

6 Nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness; nor for the destruction that wasteth at noonday.

7 A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand; but it shall not come nigh thee.

8 Only with thine eyes shalt thou behold and see the reward of the wicked.

9 Because thou hast made the LORD which is my refuge, even the most high, thy habitation;

10 There shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling.

11 For he shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways.

12 They shall bear thee up in their hands, lest thou dash thy foot against a stone.

13 Thou shalt tread upon the lion and adder: the young lion and the dragon shalt thou trample under feet.

14 Because he hath set his love upon me, therefore will I deliver him: I will set him on high, because he hath known my name.

15 He shall call upon me, and I will answer him: I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him, and honour him.

16 With long life will I satisfy him, and shew him my salvation.

P S A L. XCII.

1 The prophet exhorteth to praise God, 4 for his works, 6 judgments, 10 and goodness.

A Psalm or Song for the sabbath day.

It is a good thing to give thanks unto the LORD, and to sing praises unto thy name, O most high:

2 To shew forth thy lovingkindness in the morning, and thy faithfulness every night.

3 Upon an instrument of ten strings, and upon the psaltery; upon the harp with a solemn sound.

4 For thou, LORD, hast made me glad through thy work: I will triumph in the works of thy hands.

5 O LORD, how great are thy works! and thy thoughts are very deep.

6 A brutish man knoweth not; neither doth a fool understand this.

7 When the wicked spring as the grass, and when all the workers of iniquity do flourish: it is that they shall be destroyed for ever:

8 But thou, LORD, art most high for evermore.

9 For, lo, thine enemies, O LORD, for, lo, thine enemies shall perish; all the workers of iniquity shall be scattered.

10 But my horn shalt thou exalt like the horn of an unicorn: I shall be anointed with fresh oil.

11 Mine eye also shall see my desire on mine enemies, and be pleased always to grant us his grace, and at all times bestow on us the marks of his bounty, that we may pass our time in happiness and peace.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XCI.

3 Surely he shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler, &c.] He will deliver thee from all unseen dangers.

14, 15, 16 Because he hath set, &c.] The Lord hath declared saying, "Because he hath set, &c."

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. XCI.

The admirable promises herein contained are very proper to comfort and encourage all such as fear God, and to fill them with an unspeakable joy, and an immovable confidence.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XCII.

2 To shew forth thy lovingkindness in the morning, &c.] The sweetest employment in the morning, and pleasantest entertainment at night, is to commemorate and declare to all how beautiful thou art, and how faithful in performing thy promises to those who depend on thy almighty goodness.

10 But my horn shalt thou exalt, &c.] But my power and authority thou shalt raise to a formidable height, and crown that dignity with such undisturbed joy and pleasure, as shall prove, that the pious are not always miserable.

and mine ears shall hear my desire of the wicked that rise up against me.

12 The righteous shall flourish like the palm tree: he shall grow like a cedar in Lebanon.

13 Those that be planted in the house of the LORD shall flourish in the courts of our God.

14 They shall still bring forth fruit in old age; they shall be fat and flourishing;

15 To shew that the LORD is upright: he is my rock, and there is no unrighteousness in him.

P S A L. XCIII.

The majesty, power, and holiness, of Christ's kingdom.

THE LORD reigneth, he is clothed with majesty; the LORD is clothed with strength, wherewith he hath girded himself: the world also is stablished, that it cannot be moved.

2 Thy throne is established of old: thou art from everlasting.

3 The floods have lifted up, O LORD, the floods have lifted up their voice; the floods lift up their waves.

4 The LORD on high is mightier than the noise of many waters, yea, than the mighty waves of the sea.

5 Thy testimonies are very sure: holiness becometh thine house, O LORD, for ever.

P S A L. XCIV.

1 The psalmist calling for justice complaineth of tyranny and impiety. 12 The blessedness of affliction.

O LORD God, to whom vengeance belongeth; O God, to whom vengeance belongeth, shew thyself.

2 Lift up thyself, thou judge of the earth: render a reward to the proud.

3 LORD, how long shall the wicked, how long shall the wicked triumph?

4 How long shall they utter and speak hard things? and all the workers of iniquity boast themselves?

5 They break in pieces thy people, O LORD, and afflict thine heritage.

6 They slay the widow and the stranger, and murder the fatherless.

7 Yet they say, The LORD shall not see, neither shall the God of Jacob regard it.

8 Understand, ye brutish among the people: and ye fools, when will ye be wise?

9 He that planted the ear, shall he not hear; he that formed the eye, shall he not see?

10 He that chastiseth the heathen, shall he not correct? he that teacheth man knowledge, shall not he know?

11 The LORD knoweth the thoughts of man, that they are vanity.

12 Blessed is the man whom thou chastenest, O LORD, and teachest him out of thy law;

13 That thou mayest give him rest from the days of adversity, until the pit be digged for the wicked.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Psal. XCII.

This psalm points out the ways of Providence, and the Lord's conduct towards good and bad men. Let us then remember well, that if wicked and worldly men flourish and are happy, it is but for a little while; but that God destroys them utterly, and roots them out at last: that, on the contrary, he blesses the righteous; that he secures their happiness; and that he makes them prosper, grow, and bear fruit in his church, even unto their old age.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XCIII.

In a more sublime sense this psalm is to be applied to the stability of the Messiah's kingdom, as several of the Jews themselves acknowledge.

5 Thy testimonies are very sure, &c.] Thy fidelity in performing thy promises is unquestionable.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Psal. XCIII.

This psalm points out to us, that God rules with glory and magnificence in an especial manner over his church; and will reign for ever for the good and advantage of his people, and of all those who serve and submit themselves to him.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XCIV.

1 Shew thyself.] Let thy interposition in this cause be made evident to the world, by the righteousness of the decision.

4 Hard things, &c.] Namely, proud and insolent speakers, against men, and blasphemies against God.

14 For the LORD will not cast off his people, neither will he forsake his inheritance.

15 But judgment shall return unto righteousness: and all the upright in heart shall follow it.

16 Who will rise up for me against the evildoers? or who will stand up for me against the workers of iniquity?

17 Unless the LORD had been my help, my soul had almost dwelt in silence.

18 When I said, My foot slippeth; thy mercy, O LORD, held me up.

19 In the multitude of my thoughts within me thy comforts delight my soul.

20 Shall the throne of iniquity have fellowship with thee, which frameth mischief by a law?

21 They gather themselves together against the soul of the righteous, and condemn the innocent blood.

22 But the LORD is my defence; and my God is the rock of my refuge.

23 And he shall bring upon them their own iniquity, and shall cut them off in their own wickedness; yea, the LORD our God shall cut them off.

P S A L. XCV.

1 An exhortation to praise God for his greatness, 6 for his goodness, 8 and not to tempt him.

O Come, let us sing unto the LORD: let us make a joyful noise to the rock of our salvation.

2 Let us come before his presence with thanksgiving, and make a joyful noise unto him with psalms.

3 For the LORD is a great God, and a great King above all gods.

4 In his hand are the deep places of the earth: the strength of the hills is his also.

5 The sea is his, and he made it: and his hands formed the dry land.

6 O come, let us worship and bow down: let us kneel before the LORD our maker.

7 For he is our God; and we are the people of his pasture, and the sheep of his hand. To day if ye will hear his voice,

8 Harden not your heart, as in the provocation, and as in the day of temptation in the wilderness:

9 When your fathers tempted me, proved me, and saw my work.

10 Forty years long was I grieved with this generation, and said, It is a people that do err in their heart, and they have not known my ways:

11 Unto whom I swore in my wrath that they should not enter into my rest.

P S A L. XCVI.

1 An exhortation to celebrate the greatness and majesty of God, 10 and to rejoice in his righteous government.

O Sing unto the LORD a new song: sing unto the LORD, all the earth.

2 Sing

17 In silence.] The place of "silence," i. e. the grave.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Psal. XCIV.

We are assured by this psalm, that God will never forsake his people, and his inheritance; and that, sooner or later, he will take vengeance on those who insult and persecute the faithful.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XCV.

This psalm (as the Jews themselves confess, and the apostle to the Hebrews proves, in the 3d and 4th chapters) relates to the days of Christ, and the Apostle in the epistle before-mentioned, demonstrates that the rest here spoken of, could not be merely that in the land of Canaan, which their forefathers fell short of, by their disobedience to God in the wilderness; but another far better, into which they were to be brought by the Messiah, a far greater captain than Joshua.

9 Tempted me, &c.] Provoked me to anger.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Psal. XCV.

This psalm engages us to render to God, with joy and fervency, the adoration and praises which belong to him, on account of his power and greatness; but above all, because he is our God, and that we have the happiness to be his people; let us, therefore, improve the exhortation of the psalmist, and beware that we harden not our hearts against him, as the Israelites did.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. XCVI.

The prophecy in this psalm, was fulfilled when the Messiah came to dwell among us, and offered eternal salvation to the human race.

all of them shall wax old like a garment; as a vesture shalt thou change them, and they shall be changed:

27 But thou art the same, and thy years shall have no end.

28 The children of thy servants shall continue, and their seed shall be established before thee.

PSAL. CIII.

1 An exhortation to bless God for his mercy, 15 and for the constancy thereof.

A Psalm of David.

BLESS the LORD, O my soul: and all that is within me, bless his holy name.

2 Bless the LORD, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits:

3 Who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases;

4 Who redeemeth thy life from destruction; who crowneth thee with lovingkindness and tender mercies;

5 Who satisfieth thy mouth with good things; so that thy youth is renewed like the eagle's.

6 The LORD executeth righteousness and judgment for all that are oppressed.

7 He made known his ways unto Moses, his acts unto the children of Israel.

8 The LORD is merciful and gracious, slow to anger, and plenteous in mercy.

9 He will not always chide: neither will he keep his anger for ever.

10 He hath not dealt with us after our sins; nor rewarded us according to our iniquities.

11 For as the heaven is high above the earth, so great is his mercy toward them that fear him.

12 As far as the east is from the west, so far hath he removed our transgressions from us.

13 Like as a father pitieth his children, so the LORD pitieth them that fear him.

14 For he knoweth our frame: he remembereth that we are dust.

15 As for man, his days are as grass: as a flower of the field, so he flourisheth.

16 For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more.

17 But the mercy of the LORD is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear him, and his righteousness unto children's children;

18 To such as keep his covenant, and to those that remember his commandments to do them.

19 The LORD hath prepared his throne in the heavens; and his kingdom ruleth over all.

20 Bless the LORD, ye his angels, that excel in strength, that do his commandments, hearkening unto the voice of his word.

21 Bless ye the LORD, all ye his hosts; ye ministers of his, that do his pleasure.

22 Bless the LORD, all his works in all places of his dominion: bless the LORD, O my soul.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. CII.

From the extreme affliction of the captive Jews, their firm trust in God for deliverance, and the manifestation of his glory to all nations, we may be persuaded that God will appear in a more illustrious manner in favour of the Christian church, wherein the glory and splendor of his kingdom will appear.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. CIII.

5 Thy youth is renewed like the eagle's. Eagles moult their feathers often, which might give rise to the vulgar opinion, that they grew young again after they had been old.

15 As a flower of the field so he flourisheth. Though it may flatter the vanity of man to be represented under the beautiful emblem of a flower, yet it must no less mortify his pride to consider that there is still a sharper resemblance in the duration of the emblem under which he is represented.

19 Hath prepared his throne. Hath established it.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. CIII.

This most excellent song of thanksgiving teaches us to bless God, not only with our mouth, but with our whole heart and soul, for all his benefits, but particularly for pardoning our sins, and his infinite mercy in Christ; but that his goodness, great as it is, extends only to those who fear him, keep his covenant, and walk in his ways.

PSAL. CIV.

1 A meditation upon the majesty, power, and wonderful providence of God. 31 God's glory is eternal. 33 The prophet voweth to praise God perpetually.

BLESS the LORD, O my soul. O LORD my God, thou art very great; thou art clothed with honour and majesty.

2 Who coverest thyself with light as with a garment: who stretchest out the heavens like a curtain:

3 Who layeth the beams of his chambers in the waters: who maketh the clouds his chariot: who walketh upon the wings of the wind:

4 Who maketh his angels spirits; his ministers a flaming fire:

5 Who laid the foundations of the earth, that it should not be removed for ever.

6 Thou coveredst it with the deep as with a garment: the waters stood above the mountains.

7 At thy rebuke they fled; at the voice of thy thunder they hasted away.

8 They go up by the mountains; they go down by the valleys unto the place which thou hast founded for them.

9 Thou hast set a bound that they may not pass over; that they turn not again to cover the earth.

10 He sendeth the springs into the valleys, which run among the hills.

11 They gave drink to every beast of the field: the wild asses quench their thirst.

12 By them shall the fowls of the heaven have their habitation, which sing among the branches.

13 He watereth the hills from his chambers: the earth is satisfied with the fruit of thy works.

14 He causeth the grass to grow for the cattle, and herb for the service of man: that he may bring forth food out of the earth;

15 And wine that maketh glad the heart of man, and oil to make his face to shine, and bread which strengtheneth man's heart.

16 The trees of the LORD are full of sap; the cedars of Lebanon, which he hath planted;

17 Where the birds make their nests: as for the stork, the fir trees are her house.

18 The high hills are a refuge for the wild goats; and the rocks for the conies.

19 He appointed the moon for seasons: the sun knoweth his going down.

20 Thou makest darkness, and it is night: wherein all the beasts of the forest do creep forth.

21 The young lions roar after their prey, and seek their meat from God.

22 The sun ariseth, they gather themselves together, and lay them down in their dens.

23 Man goeth forth unto his work and to his labour until the evening.

24 O

sion signifies no more than that the rain falls down on the earth from heaven.

Who walketh upon the wings of the wind. Not he flieth, he runneth, but he walketh, and that on the very wings of the wind, on the most impetuous of elements, roused into its utmost rage, and sweeping along with inconceivable rapidity. In this expression there is an elegance, an emphasis unparalleled in any other writer. How flat are all the lines of profane authors, when compared with this inimitable stroke of divine poetry!

4 Who maketh his angels, &c. Who maketh the winds his messengers, and flaming fire his ministers.

10 He sendeth the springs into the valleys, which run among the hills. Most modern philosophers account for the springs which are found on the tops of hills, not by subterraneous passages from the sea, and percolated or strained through the earth, but by vapour exhaled from the sea and other large collections of waters striking against the summits of those hills, and there received into the several cavities which are as so many basons or cisterns.

17 The stork, &c. Chasidhah, here rendered the stork, signifies also mercy or kindness; and this fowl was probably so named, because it has been remarked of it, that the young ones will feed their dams when they are old.

19 The sun knoweth his going down. This expression is accommodated to the ancient system of astronomy, which supposed that the sun moved round the earth.

GENERAL

24 O LORD, how manifold are thy works! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches.

25 So is this great and wide sea, wherein are things creeping innumerable, both small and great beasts.

26 There go the ships: there is that leviathan, whom thou hast made to play therein.

27 These wait all upon thee; that thou mayest give them their meat in due season.

28 That thou givest them they gather: thou openest thine hand, they are filled with good.

29 Thou hidest thy face, they are troubled: thou takest away their breath, they die, and return to their dust.

30 Thou sendest forth thy spirit, they are created: and thou renewest the face of the earth.

31 The glory of the LORD shall endure for ever: the LORD shall rejoice in his works.

32 He looketh on the earth and it trembleth: he toucheth the hills, and they smoke.

33 I will sing unto the LORD as long as I live: I will sing praise to my God while I have my being.

34 My meditation of him shall be sweet: I will be glad in the LORD.

35 Let the sinners be consumed out of the earth, and let the wicked be no more. Bless thou the LORD, O my soul. Praise ye the LORD.

P S A L. CV.

1 An exhortation to praise God, to seek him and remember his works. 8 His providence over Abraham, 16 over Joseph, 23 over Israel in Egypt, 37 and over his people brought out of Egypt.

O Give thanks unto the LORD; call upon his name: make known his deeds among the people.

2 Sing unto him, sing psalms unto him: talk ye all of his wondrous works.

3 Glory ye in his holy name: let the heart of them rejoice that seek the LORD.

4 Seek the LORD, and his strength: seek his face evermore.

5 Remember his marvellous works that he hath done; his wonders, and the judgments of his mouth;

6 O ye seed of Abraham his servant, ye children of Jacob his chosen.

7 He is the LORD our God: his judgments are in all the earth.

8 He hath remembered his covenant for ever, the word which he commanded to a thousand generations.

9 Which covenant he made with Abraham, and his oath unto Isaac;

10 And confirmed the same unto Jacob for a law, and to Israel for an everlasting covenant:

11 Saying, Unto thee will I give the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance:

12 When they were but a few men in number; yea, very few, and strangers in it.

13 When they went from one nation to another, from one kingdom to another people;

14 He suffered no man to do them wrong: yea, he reproveth kings for their sake;

15 Saying, Touch not mine anointed, and do my prophets no harm.

16 Moreover he called for a famine upon the land: he brake the whole staff of bread.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Psal. CIV.

As it was the psalmist's delightful employment to meditate upon the works, and adore the wisdom of God in the creation; so should we also, form a view of natural things, celebrate his praises, and raise our ideas from them to heavenly objects, the glories of his spiritual kingdom, and admire and bless him for his astonishing grace and mercy in the glorious work of our redemption.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. CV.

4 His strength, &c.] The ark of his presence.
24 He reproveth kings for their sakes.] See Gen. xii. 17. and xx. 3.
19. Until the time that his word came, &c.] Till mention at last was made of him to Pharaoh by one of his officers.

17 He sent a man before them, even Joseph, who was sold for a servant:

18 Whose feet they hurt with fetters: he was laid in iron:

19 Until the time that his word came: the word of the LORD tried him.

20 The king sent and loosed him; even the ruler of the people, let him go free,

21 He made him lord of his house, and ruler of all his substance:

22 To bind his princes at his pleasure; and teach his senators wisdom.

23 Israel also came into Egypt; and Jacob sojourned in the land of Ham.

24 And he increased his people greatly; and made them stronger than their enemies.

25 He turned their heart to hate his people, to deal subtilly with his servants.

26 He sent Moses his servant; and Aaron whom he had chosen.

27 They shewed his signs among them, and wonders in the land of Ham.

28 He sent darkness, and made it dark; and they rebelled not against his word.

29 He turned their waters into blood, and slew their fish.

30 Their land brought forth frogs in abundance, in the chambers of their kings.

31 He spake and there came divers sorts of flies, and lice in all their coats.

32 He gave them hail for rain, and flaming fire in their land.

33 He smote their vines also and their fig trees; and brake the trees of their coats.

34 He spake, and the locusts came, and caterpillers, and that without number,

35 And did eat up all the herbs in their land, and devoured the fruit of their ground.

36 He smote also all the firstborn in their land, the chief of all their strength.

37 He brought them forth also with silver and gold: and there was not one feeble person among their tribes.

38 Egypt was glad when they departed: for the fear of them fell upon them.

39 He spread a cloud for a covering: and fire to give light in the night.

40 The people asked, and he brought quails, and fastidied them with the bread of heaven.

41 He opened the rock, and the waters gushed out; they ran in the dry places like a river.

42 For he remembered his holy promise, and Abraham his servant.

43 And he brought forth his people with joy, and his chosen with gladness:

44 And gave them the lands of the heathen: and they inherited the labour of the people;

45 That they might observe his statutes, and keep his laws. Praise ye the LORD.

P S A L. CVI.

1 The psalmist's exhortation and prayer. 6 He rehearseth Israel's rebellions, and God's mercies.

22 To bind his princes, &c.] To inform his princes, i. e. that the very princes of the country should be under the command of Joseph, and be instructed, and learn wisdom from him.

25 He turned their hearts to hate, &c.] He suffered envy, jealousy, and other evil affections to induce the Egyptians to hate the children of Israel as much as they had before loved and favoured them.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Psal. CV.

From the wonderful providences of God towards his antient people, we ought to trust him at all times, to walk before him in faith, humility, patience, and obedience, being assured from his immutable promise, that he will never fail nor forsake us.

COMMENTARY

Who can utter the mighty acts of the LORD? who can shew forth all his praise?

3 Blessed are they that keep judgment, and he that doeth righteousness at all times.

4 Remember me, O LORD, with the favour that thou bearest unto thy people: O visit me with thy salvation;

5 That I may see the good of thy chosen, that I may rejoice in the gladness of thy nation, that I may glory with thine inheritance.

6 We have sinned with our fathers, we have committed iniquity, we have done wickedly.

7 Our fathers understood not thy wonders in Egypt; they remembered not the multitude of thy mercies; but provoked him at the sea, even at the Red sea.

8 Nevertheless he saved them for his name's sake, that he might make his mighty power to be known.

9 He rebuked the Red sea also, and it was dried up: so he led them through the depths, as through the wilderness.

10 And he saved them from the hand of him that hated them, and redeemed them from the hand of the enemy.

11 And the waters covered their enemies: there was not one of them left.

12 Then believed they his words; they sang his praise.

13 They soon forgot his works; they waited not for his counsel:

14 But lusted exceedingly in the wilderness, and tempted God in the desert.

15 And he gave them their request; but sent leanness into their soul.

16 They envied Moses also in the camp, and Aaron the saint of the LORD.

17 The earth opened and swallowed up Dathan, and covered the company of Abiram.

18 And a fire was kindled in their company; the flame burned up the wicked.

19 They made a calf in Horeb, and worshipped the molten image.

20 Thus they changed their glory into the similitude of an ox that eateth grass.

21 They forgot God their saviour, which had done great things in Egypt;

22 Wondrous works in the land of Ham, and terrible things by the Red sea.

23 Therefore he said that he would destroy them, had not Moses his chosen stood before him in the breach, to turn away his wrath, lest he should destroy them.

24 Yea, they despised the pleasant land, they believed not his word:

25 But murmured in their tents, and hearkened not unto the voice of the LORD.

26 Therefore he lifted up his hand against them, to overthrow them in the wilderness:

27 To overthrow their seed also among the nations, and to scatter them in the lands.

28 They joined themselves also unto Baal-peor, and ate the sacrifices of the dead.

29 Thus they provoked him to anger with their inventions: and the plague brake in upon them.

30 Then stood up Phinehas, and executed judgment: and so the plague was stayed.

31 And that was counted unto him for righteousness unto all generations for evermore.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. CVI.

13 They waited not for his counsel. They were impatient, and murmured, and would not wait till he had shewed what way he intended to relieve them.

15 Leanness, &c. Or a loathing or surfeit.

28 They joined themselves also unto Baal-peor, &c. Not only most shamefully committed whoredom with the daughters of Moab, but embraced their religion, devoting themselves to the service of Baal, whose temple stood on mount Peor, and partaking with them in the sacrifices which they offered unto men.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. CVI.

David, after commemorating, in the foregoing psalm, the divine benefits towards the Israelites, here not only does that, but also

32 They angered him also at the waters of strife, so that it went ill with Moses for their sakes:

33 Because they provoked his spirit, so that he spake unadvisedly with his lips.

34 They did not destroy the nations, concerning whom the LORD commanded them:

35 But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their works.

36 And they served their idols: which were a snare unto them.

37 Yea, they sacrificed their sons and their daughters unto devils.

38 And shed innocent blood, even the blood of their sons and of their daughters, whom they sacrificed unto the idols of Canaan: and the land was polluted with blood.

39 Thus were they defiled with their own works, and went a whoring with their own inventions.

40 Therefore was the wrath of the LORD kindled against his people, inasmuch that he abhorred his own inheritance.

41 And he gave them into the hand of the heathen; and they that hated them ruled over them.

42 Their enemies also oppressed them, and they were brought into subjection under their hand.

43 Many times did he deliver them; but they provoked him with their counsel; and were brought low for their iniquity.

44 Nevertheless he regarded their affliction, when he heard their cry:

45 And he remembered for them his covenant, and repented according to the multitude of his mercies.

46 He made them also to be pitied of all those that carried them captives.

47 Save us, O LORD our God, and gather us from among the heathen, to give thanks unto thy holy name, and to triumph in thy praise.

48 Blessed be the LORD God of Israel from everlasting to everlasting: and let all the people say, Amen. Praise ye the LORD.

P S A L. CVII.

1 The psalmist exhorteth God's redeemed to praise his goodness, 4 his providence over travellers, 10 captives, 17 sick men, 23 seamen, &c.

Give thanks unto the LORD, for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever.

2 Let the redeemed of the LORD say so, whom he hath redeemed from the hand of the enemy;

3 And gathered them out of the lands, from the east, and from the west, from the north, and from the south.

4 They wandered in the wilderness in a solitary way; they found no city to dwell in.

5 Hungry and thirsty, their soul fainted in them.

6 Then they cried unto the LORD in their trouble, and he delivered them out of their distresses.

7 And he led them forth by the right way, that they might go to a city of habitation.

8 Oh that men would praise the LORD for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men!

9 For he satisfieth the longing soul, and filleth the hungry soul with goodness.

10 Such as sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, being bound in affliction and iron;

11 Because

upbraids their ingratitude; which greatly heightens the mercy of God, whose goodness is the more exalted, the more wicked and ungrateful they are towards whom it is exerted.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. CVII.

The fifth and last book of psalms, according to the Hebrew division, begins here with an exhortation to those whom God had delivered from pagan servitude, to acknowledge his singular benefits.

9 With goodness. With good things.

10, 11, 12 Such as sit in darkness, &c. His providence takes care of those who are confined in dungeons, and loaded with fetters, as a just punishment for the crimes they had committed against the express commands of the Most High, and the plain dictates of their own consciences.

11 Because they rebelled against the words of God, and contemned the counsel of the most High :
 12 Therefore he brought down their heart with labour ; they fell down, and there was none to help.
 13 Then they cried unto the LORD in their trouble, and he saved them out of their distresses.
 14 He brought them out of darkness and the shadow of death, and brake their bands in sunder.
 15 Oh that men would praise the LORD for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men !
 16 For he hath broken the gates of brass, and cut the gates of iron in sunder.
 17 Fools because of their transgression, and because of their iniquities, are afflicted.
 18 Their soul abhorreth all manner of meat ; and they draw near unto the gates of death.
 19 Then they cry unto the LORD in their trouble, and he saveth them out of their distresses.
 20 He sent his word, and healed them, and delivered them from their destructions.
 21 Oh that men would praise the LORD for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men !
 22 And let them sacrifice the sacrifices of thanksgiving, and declare his works with rejoicing.
 23 They that go down to the sea in ships, that do business in great waters ;
 24 These see the works of the LORD, and his wonders in the deep.
 25 For he commandeth, and raiseth the stormy wind, which lifteth up the waves thereof.
 26 They mount up to the heaven, they go down again to the depths : their soul is melted because of trouble.
 27 They reel to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man, and are at their wit's end.
 28 Then they cry unto the LORD in their trouble, and he bringeth them out of their distresses.
 29 He maketh the storm a calm, so that the waves thereof are still.
 30 Then are they glad because they be quiet ; so he bringeth them unto their desired haven.
 31 Oh that men would praise the LORD for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men !
 32 Let them exalt him also in the congregation of the people, and praise him in the assembly of the elders.
 33 He turneth rivers into a wilderness, and the watersprings into dry ground ;
 34 A fruitful land into barrenness, for the wickedness of them that dwell therein.
 35 He turneth the wilderness into a standing water, and dry ground into watersprings.
 36 And there he maketh the hungry to dwell, that they may prepare a city for habitation ;

16 He hath broken the gates of brass, &c.] When their case was desperate, he removed the greatest obstacles to make a way for their escape.

27 Are at their wit's end.] In the Hebrew it is, All their wisdom is swallowed up.

38 He blesteth them also, &c.] His blessing extends not to the ground only, but enriches the inhabitants also ; they likewise become fruitful, and grow exceeding populous, together with their flocks and their herds, which, though the people are increased, yet are not diminished.

43 Who is wise, &c.] Whosoever will be truly wise, ought to mark and ponder such passages as those in the divine government, that they may make others, who are less considerate, understand how very kind and gracious the Lord is to those who study to please him and obtain his favour.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Psal. CVII.

The psalmist here praises God for his goodness and merciful providence over his people, and the assistance he vouchsafes to send them when they call upon him in their distress ; which should excite us to humble ourselves for our sins, implore his mercy, and wait upon him for a supply of our wants, and deliverance from every evil.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. CVIII.

The former part of this psalm is nearly the same with the five last No. 43.

37 And sow the fields, and plant vineyards, which may yield fruits of increase.

38 He blesteth them also, so that they are multiplied greatly ; and suffereth not their cattle to decrease.

39 Again, they are diminished and brought low through oppression, affliction, and sorrow.

40 He poureth contempt upon princes, and causeth them to wander in the wilderness, where there is no way.

41 Yet setteth he the poor on high from affliction, and maketh him families like a flock.

42 The righteous shall see it, and rejoice : and all iniquity shall stop her mouth.

43 Whoso is wise, and will observe these things, even they shall understand the lovingkindness of the LORD.

1 David encourageth himself to praise God : 5 whose assistance he prayeth for, 11 in confidence of success according to his promise.

A Song or Psalm of David.

O God, my heart is fixed ; I will sing and give praise, even with my glory.

2 Awake, psaltery and harp : I myself will awake early.

3 I will praise thee, O LORD, among the people : and I will sing praises unto thee among the nations.

4 For thy mercy is great above the heavens : and thy truth reacheth unto the clouds.

5 Be thou exalted, O God, above the heavens : and thy glory above all the earth ;

6 That thy beloved may be delivered : save with thy right hand, and answer me.

7 God hath spoken in his holiness ; I will rejoice, I will divide Shechem, and mete out the valley of Succoth.

8 Gilead is mine ; Manasseh is mine ; Ephraim also is the strength of mine head ; Judah is my lawgiver ;

9 Moab is my washpot ; over Edom will I cast out my shoe ; over Philistia will I triumph.

10 Who will bring me into the strong city ? who will lead me into Edom ?

11 Wilt not thou, O God, who hast cast us off ? and wilt not thou, O God, go forth with our hosts ?

12 Give us help from trouble : for vain is the help of man.

13 Through God we shall do valiantly : for he it is that shall tread down our enemies.

P S A L. CIX.

1 David complaining of the slanders and ingratitude of his enemies devoteth them to destruction ; 21 complaining of his own misery he prayeth for help.

To the chief Musician, A Psalm of David.

HOLD not thy peace, O God of my praise ;

2 For the mouth of the wicked and the mouth of the deceitful are opened against me : they have spoken against me with a lying tongue.

3 They compassed me about also with words of hatred ; and fought against me without a cause.

4 For my love they are my adversaries : but I give myself unto prayer.

5 And verses of the 57th, and the latter part differs little from the eight last verses of the 60th. It was composed by David, who begins it with giving God thanks for his mercy ; as in the 60th psalm he laments the disorder in which he found the affairs of his kingdom when he first ascended the throne.

7, 8, 9] See commentary on Psalm lx. 6, 7, 8.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS on Psal. CVIII.

The use we are to make of this psalm is, that God is worthy to be praised by us, be our trials what they may ; that we should still crave his assistance, grounding our hope upon his word of promise, and relying on his omnipotent arm to accomplish it in due time.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. CIX.

What distress have thousands of serious people felt in reading this psalm ! in which it is generally supposed that David uttered such curses upon his enemies ; and yet when the psalm is rightly considered, it clearly contains the curses of David's enemies upon David ; for the curses are not against many, but one person only.

■ O God of my praise.] Who art the only subject of my praises, and in whom I glory, notwithstanding all the reproaches of mine enemies, in full assurance of thy grace and assistance.

4 I give myself unto prayer.] I pray even for them, and recommend myself to thy protection.

5 And they have rewarded me evil for good, and hatred for my love.

6 Set thou a wicked man over him: and let Satan stand at his right hand.

7 When he shall be judged, let him be condemned: and let his prayer become sin.

■ Let his days be few; and let another take his office.

9 Let his children be fatherless, and his wife ■ widow.

10 Let his children be continually vagabonds, and beg: let them seek their bread also out of their desolate places.

11 Let the extortioner catch all that he hath: and let the strangers spoil his labour.

12 Let there be none to extend mercy unto him: neither let there be any to favour his fatherless children.

13 Let his posterity be cut off; and in the generation following let their name be blotted out.

14 Let the iniquity of his fathers be remembered with the LORD, and let not the sin of his mother be blotted out.

15 Let them be before the LORD continually, that he may cut off the memory of them from the earth.

16 Because that he remembered not to shew mercy, but persecuted the poor and needy man, that he might even slay the broken in heart.

17 As he loved cursing, so let it come unto him: as he delighted not in blessing, so let it be far from him.

18 As he clothed himself with cursing like as with his garment, so let it come into his bowels like water, and like oil into his bones.

19 Let it be unto him as the garment which covereth him, for a girdle wherewith he is girded continually.

20 Let this be the reward of mine adversaries from the LORD, and of them that speak evil against my soul.

21 But do thou for me, O God the Lord, for thy name's sake: because thy mercy is good, deliver thou me.

22 For I am poor and needy, and my heart is wounded within me.

23 I am gone like the shadow when it declineth: I am tossed up and down as the locust.

24 My knees are weak through fasting; and my flesh faileth of fatness.

25 I became also a reproach unto them: when they looked upon me they shaked their heads.

26 Help me, O LORD my God: O save me according to thy mercy:

27 That they may know that this is thy hand; that thou, LORD, hast done it.

28 Let them curse, but bless thou: when they arise, let them be ashamed; but let thy servant rejoice.

29 Let mine adversaries be clothed with shame, and let them cover themselves with their own confusion, as with a mantle.

30 I will greatly praise the LORD with my mouth; yea, I will praise him among the multitude.

18 Like oil into his bones.] Oil, or any other moisture, put upon a bone, will cause ■ miserable corruption therein.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. CIX.

We may learn in general from this psalm, that God protects good men, so his curse usually pursues the wicked, and chiefly those who oppress the innocent, and are hurtful to others: for if the curses in this psalm may even be understood as pronounced by David against others, we must consider him in quality of ■ prophet, and as foretelling the miseries that await the wicked without repentance.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. CX.

1 The Lord said unto my Lord, &c.] This is the decree of the eternal Lord, that the great person whom we expect, and whom I honour as my lord and master, shall be advanced, after his sufferings, to the highest dignity in the heavens, and shall reign with him as king of all the world, till he hath perfectly subdued the most powerful opposers of his kingdom, and overcome death itself, by whom all mankind are conquered.

4 The Lord hath sworn, &c.] The Lord hath unchangeably resolved that thou shalt be a priest as well as ■ king, with full power ■ bless all thy subjects, not only in that age, but even to all eternity.

5 The Lord at thy right hand, &c.] This may be spoken either to God the Father, at whose right hand Christ sitteth, or to the people of God, Christ being said to stand at the right hand of his people. See Psalm cix, 31.

A Psalm of David.

THE LORD said unto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, until I make thine enemies thy footstool.

■ The LORD shall send the rod of thy strength out of Zion: rule thou in the midst of thine enemies.

3 Thy people shall be willing in the day of thy power; in the beauties of holiness from the womb of the morning: thou hast the dew of thy youth.

P S A L. CXI.

The psalmist by his example inciteth others to praise God for his glorious and gracious works.

PRAISE ye the LORD, I will praise the LORD with my whole heart, in the assembly of the upright, and in the congregation.

2 The works of the LORD are great, sought out of all them that have pleasure therein.

3 His work is honourable and glorious: and his righteousness endureth for ever.

4 He hath made his wonderful works to be remembered: the LORD is gracious and full of compassion.

5 He hath given meat unto them that fear him: he will ever be mindful of his covenant.

6 He hath shewed his people the power of his works, that he may give them the heritage of the heathen.

7 The works of his hands are verity and judgment; all his commandments are sure.

8 They stand fast for ever and ever, and are done in truth and uprightness.

9 He sent redemption unto his people: he hath commanded his covenant for ever: holy and reverend is his name.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. CX.

The royal prophet, in this psalm, evidently speaks of the great Messiah his Lord, and the redeemer of the human race; for no other king can, in any sense, be said to sit at God's right hand; nor was there any priest of the order of Melchizedek that could be ■ type of him.

COMMENTARY ON PSAL. CXI.

This psalm is very artificially composed in the original, consisting of as many short metres as there are letters in the Hebrew alphabet, and each of those short metres, or little sentences, beginning with those letters in the same order ■ they stand in the alphabet; the psalm properly begins with, "I will praise the Lord, &c." "Praise ye the Lord" being here only ■ kind of title to it, or a direction to the singers.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. CXI.

We are excited to praise the Lord for his works of creation, providence, and grace; and are taught, that the only true wisdom consists in fearing God, and obeying his commands.

COMMENTARY AND NOTE ON PSAL. CXII.

This psalm seems to be ■ commentary on the last verse of the foregoing, shewing how wisely they consult their own happiness, who do the will of God, and are given to benevolence and hospitality; it is likewise composed in the same manner as the preceding one.

9 Righteousness,

2 His seed shall be mighty upon earth: the generation of the upright shall be blessed.
3 Wealth and riches shall be in his house: and his righteousness endureth for ever.

4 Unto the upright there ariseth light in the darkness: he is gracious, and full of compassion, and righteous.

5 A good man sheweth favour, and lendeth: he will guide his affairs with discretion.

6 Surely he shall not be moved for ever: the righteous shall be in everlasting remembrance.

7 He shall not be afraid of evil tidings: his heart is fixed, trusting in the LORD.

8 His heart is established, he shall not be afraid, until he see his desire upon his enemies.

9 He hath dispersed, he hath given to the poor; his righteousness endureth for ever; his horn shall be exalted with honour.

10 The wicked shall see it, and be grieved; he shall gnash with his teeth, and melt away: the desire of the wicked shall perish.

P S A L. CXIII.

An exhortation to praise God for his merciful condescension to his creatures.

PRAISE ye the LORD. Praise, O ye servants of the LORD, praise the name of the LORD.

2 Blessed be the name of the LORD from this time forth and for evermore.

3 From the rising of the sun unto the going down of the same the LORD's name is to be praised.

4 The LORD is high above all nations, and his glory above the heavens.

5 Who is like unto the LORD our God, who dwelleth on high.

6 Who humbleth himself to behold the things that are in heaven, and in the earth!

7 He raiseth up the poor out of the dust, and lifteth the needy out of the dunghill;

8 That he may set him with princes, even with the princes of his people.

9 He maketh the barren woman to keep house, and to be a joyful mother of children. Praise ye the LORD.

P S A L. CXIV.

The miracles of God's power, when he brought his people out of Egypt, are a just ground of fearing him.

WHEN Israel went out of Egypt, the house of Jacob from a people of strange language;

2 Judah was his sanctuary, and Israel his dominion.

3 The sea saw it, and fled: Jordan was driven back.

4 The mountains skipped like rams, and the little hills like lambs.

5 What ailed thee, O thou sea, that thou fleddest? thou Jordan, that thou wast driven back?

6 Ye mountains, that ye skipped like rams; and ye little hills, like lambs?

7 Tremble, thou earth, at the presence of the LORD, at the presence of the God of Jacob;

8 Which turned the rock into a standing water, the flint into a fountain of waters.

9 Righteousness, &c.] "Righteousness" here signifies alms.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Psal. CXII.

We learn from hence, that they who love and serve God, shall be blessed, and protected from evil; while the wicked shall inherit sorrow, and be disappointed of his hope.

COMMENTARY ON PSAL. CXIII.

The Hebrews call this psalm and the five next by the name of Hallel, or hymns, which they recited at their tables in the new moons and other feasts, especially in the paschal night, after they had eaten the lamb, concluding it with Hallelujah.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Psal. CXIII.

We are hereby excited to praise the Lord continually; and to extol the benevolent providence of the most High, which extends to this lower world, and supplies the want of all its inhabitants: but is peculiarly mindful of his people.

NOT unto us, O LORD, not unto us, but unto thy name give glory, for thy mercy and for thy truth's sake.

2 Wherefore should the heathen say, Where is now their God?

3 But our God is in the heavens: he hath done whatsoever he hath pleased.

4 Their idols are silver and gold, the works of men's hands:

5 They have mouths, but they speak not: eyes have they, but they see not:

6 They have ears, but they hear not: noses have they, but they smell not:

7 They have hands, but they handle not: feet have they, but they walk not: neither speak they through their throat.

8 They that make them are like unto them; so is every one that trusteth in them.

9 O Israel, trust thou in the LORD: he is their help and their shield.

10 O house of Aaron, trust in the LORD: he is their help and their shield.

11 Ye that fear the LORD, trust in the LORD: he is their help and their shield.

12 The LORD hath been mindful of us: he will bless us; he will bless the house of Israel; he will bless the house of Aaron.

13 He will bless them that fear the LORD, both small and great.

14 The LORD shall increase you more and more, you and your children.

15 Ye are blessed of the LORD which made heaven and earth.

16 The heaven, even the heavens, are the LORD's: but the earth hath he given to the children of men.

17 The dead praise not the LORD, neither any that go down into silence.

18 But we will bless the LORD from this time forth and for evermore. Praise the LORD.

P S A L. CXVI.

1 The psalmist professeth love and dutiful service to God for his deliverance: he studieth to express his thankfulness.

I Love the LORD, because he hath heard my voice and my supplications.

2 Because he hath inclined his ear unto me, therefore will I call upon him as long as I live.

3 The sorrows of death compassed me, and the pains of hell gat hold upon me: I found trouble and sorrow.

4 Then called I upon the name of the LORD; O LORD, I beseech thee, deliver my soul.

5 Gracious is the LORD, and righteous; yea, our God is merciful.

6 The LORD preserveth the simple: I was brought low, and he helped me.

pearance of God among them, by that luminous cloud, the token of his presence, which then had no other place for his sanctuary, but stood over the whole camp of Israel, whom he then took for his peculiar kingdom.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Psal. CXIV.

From the wonders wrought by the Lord, in the deliverance of his people of old, we are here exhorted to adore him, and walk humbly in his sight.

COMMENTARY AND NOTE ON PSAL. CXV.

■ They that make them, &c.] To what, but to those idols, shall we compare the makers of them, and those who confide in them? who are mere images of men, having eyes, but do not see that the very brutes are more excellent than such gods, and that the least help is not to be expected from them.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON Psal. CXV.

From the vanity of idols, we are here taught, that God alone is worthy of all our confidence; for he is the defence of his people, who derive all temporal and spiritual blessings from him.

COMMENTARY

7 Return unto thy rest, O my soul; for the LORD hath dealt bountifully with thee.

8 For thou hast delivered my soul from death, mine eyes from tears, and my feet from falling.

9 I will walk before the LORD in the land of the living.

10 I believed, therefore have I spoken: I was greatly afflicted:

11 I said in my haste, All men are liars.

12 What shall I render unto the LORD for all his benefits toward me?

13 I will take the cup of salvation, and call upon the name of the LORD.

14 I will pay my vows unto the LORD now in the presence of all his people.

15 Precious in the sight of the LORD is the death of his faints.

16 O LORD, truly I am thy servant; I am thy servant, and the son of thine handmaid: thou hast loosed my bonds.

17 I will offer to thee the sacrifice of thanksgiving, and will call upon the name of the LORD.

18 I will pay my vows unto the LORD now in the presence of all his people.

19 In the courts of the LORD's house, in the midst of thee, O Jerusalem. Praise ye the LORD.

P S A L. CXVII.

An exhortation to praise God for his mercy and truth.

O Praise the LORD, all ye nations: praise him, all ye people.

2 For his merciful kindness is great toward us: and the truth of the LORD endureth for ever. Praise ye the LORD.

P S A L. CXVIII.

An exhortation to praise God for his mercy. 5 The psalmist by his own experience sheweth how good it is to trust in God. 19 The coming of Christ in his kingdom is expressed.

O Give thanks unto the LORD: for he is good; because his mercy endureth for ever.

2 Let Israel now say, that his mercy endureth for ever.

3 Let the house of Aaron now say, that his mercy endureth for ever.

4 Let them now that fear the LORD say, that his mercy endureth for ever.

5 I called upon the LORD in distress: the LORD answered me, and set me in a large place.

6 The LORD is on my side; I will not fear: what can man do unto me?

7 The LORD taketh my part with them that help me: therefore shall I see my desire upon them that hate me.

8 It is better to trust in the LORD than to put confidence in man.

9 It is better to trust in the LORD than to put confidence in princes.

10 All nations compassed me about: but in the name of the LORD will I destroy them.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. CXVI.

13 The cup of salvation, &c.] It was a custom among the Israelites, in their sacrifices of thanksgiving for any remarkable victory or deliverance, for the father of the family, at the feast which they always made on those occasions, to take a cup in his hand, and use a certain form of blessing, and, having drank, to cause the cup to pass round to all the company: from this custom our Saviour took the ceremony of the holy communion.

15 Precious in the sight of the Lord, &c.] If the Lord suffers his people to be destroyed by their persecution, he gives them a hope full of immortality, which renders their death delightful to him, and the gate of bliss to them.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. CXVI.

We are led from hence to place our whole dependence on the wonted goodness of the Almighty, to be truly thankful to him, and call upon all around to rejoice together with us in his mercy.

COMMENTARY ON PSAL. CXVII.

This psalm, like the 110th, seems to be altogether prophetic of the joy that the world should conceive at the coming of the Messiah, to give salvation to the Jews first, and afterwards to all the nations of the earth, according to his faithful promise. The reflection suggested to us herefrom, is, that we should offer to God a constant tribute of praise for his unbounded and unmerited goodness.

11 They compassed me about; yea, they compassed me about: but in the name of the LORD I will destroy them.

12 They compassed me about like bees; they are quenched as the fire of thorns: for in the name of the LORD I will destroy them.

13 Thou hast thrust sore at me that I might fall: but the LORD helped me.

14 The LORD is my strength and song, and is become my salvation.

15 The voice of rejoicing and salvation is in the tabernacles of the righteous: the right hand of the LORD doth valiantly.

16 The right hand of the LORD is exalted: the right hand of the LORD doth valiantly.

17 I shall not die, but live, and declare the works of the LORD.

18 The LORD hath chastened me sore: but he hath not given me over unto death.

19 Open to me the gates of righteousness: I will go in to them, and I will praise the LORD:

20 This gate of the LORD, into which the righteous shall enter.

21 I will praise thee: for thou hast heard me, and art become my salvation.

22 The stone which the builders refused is become the head stone of the corner.

23 This is the LORD's doing; it is marvellous in our eyes.

24 This is the day which the LORD hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it.

25 Save now, I beseech thee, O LORD: O LORD, I beseech thee, send now prosperity.

26 Blessed be he that cometh in the name of the LORD: we have blessed you out of the house of the LORD.

27 God is the LORD, which hath shewed us light: bind the sacrifice with cords, even unto the horns of the altar.

28 Thou art my God, and I will praise thee: thou art my God, I will exalt thee.

29 O give thanks unto the LORD; for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. CXVIII.

This psalm was composed by David after God had settled him on the throne of Israel as well as Judah, and subdued all his enemies round about him. Several passages of it relate to the Messiah, and were never fulfilled till our great Redeemer was made king of his church.

22 The stone which the builders, &c.] He whom the great men and rulers of the people rejected, is now become our king, to whom we must all join ourselves if we hope for safety: this glorious person is now exalted to be the Lord of all the world, and the foundation of all mens happiness.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSAL. CXVIII.

The Holy Ghost signifies, in this psalm, that the Messiah should be rejected by the elders of the Jews, and notwithstanding that, should become the king and the head of the church, which has been accomplished in Jesus Christ's crucifixion, resurrection and ascension.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSAL. CXIX. ver. 1—32.

5 O let my ways, &c.] O that I may be ever one of those happy men! I have no greater wish than this, that all the actions of my life may be ordered and governed according to thy will.

17 Deal bountifully with thy servant, that I may live, and keep thy word.

18 Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law.

19 I am a stranger in the earth: hide not thy commandments from me.

20 My soul breaketh for the longing that it hath unto thy judgments at all times.

21 Thou hast rebuked the proud that are cursed, which do err from thy commandments.

22 Remove from me reproach and contempt; for I have kept thy testimonies.

23 Princes also did sit and speak against me: but thy servant did meditate in thy statutes.

24 Thy testimonies also are my delight, and my counsellors.

7 D A L E T H.

25 My soul cleaveth unto the dust: quicken thou me according to thy word.

26 I have declared my ways, and thou heardest me: teach me thy statutes.

27 Make me to understand the way of thy precepts: so shall I talk of thy wondrous works.

28 My soul melteth for heaviness: strengthen thou me according unto thy word.

29 Remove from me the way of lying: and grant me thy law graciously.

30 I have chosen the way of truth: thy judgments have I laid before me.

31 I have stuck unto thy testimonies: O LORD, put me not to shame.

32 I will run the way of thy commandments, when thou shalt enlarge my heart.

7 H E.

33 Teach me, O LORD, the way of thy statutes; and I shall keep it unto the end.

34 Give me understanding, and I shall keep thy law; yea, I shall observe it with my whole heart.

35 Make me to go in the path of thy commandments; for therein do I delight.

36 Incline my heart unto thy testimonies, and not to covetousness.

37 Turn away mine eyes from beholding vanity; and quicken thou me in thy way.

38 Stablish thy word unto thy servant, who is devoted to thy fear.

39 Turn away my reproach which I fear: for thy judgments are good.

40 Behold, I have longed after thy precepts: quicken me in thy righteousness.

1 V A U.

41 Let thy mercies come also unto me, O LORD, even thy salvation, according to thy word.

42 So shall I have wherewith to answer him that reproacheth me: for I trust in thy word.

43 And take not the word of truth utterly out of my mouth; for I have hoped in thy judgments.

44 So shall I keep thy law continually for ever and ever.

45 And I will walk at liberty: for I seek thy precepts.

46 I will speak of thy testimonies also before kings, and will not be ashamed.

47 And I will delight myself in thy commandments, which I have loved.

48 My hands also will I lift up unto thy commandments, which I have loved; and I will meditate in thy statutes.

1 Z A I N.

49 Remember the word unto thy servant, upon which thou hast caused me to hope.

50 This is my comfort in my affliction: for thy word hath quickened me.

51 The proud have had me greatly in derision: yet have I not declined from thy law.

52 I remembered thy judgments of old, O LORD; and have comforted myself.

53 Horror hath taken hold upon me because of the wicked that forsake thy law.

54 Thy statutes have been my songs in the house of my pilgrimage.

55 I have remembered thy name, O LORD, in the night, and have kept thy law.

56 This I had, because I kept thy precepts.

7 C H E T H.

57 Thou art my portion, O LORD: I have said that I would keep thy words.

58 I intreated thy favour with my whole heart: be merciful unto me according to thy word.

59 I thought on my ways, and turned my feet unto thy testimonies.

60 I made haste, and delayed not to keep thy commandments.

61 The bands of the wicked have robbed me: but I have not forgotten thy law.

62 At midnight I will rise to give thanks unto thee because of thy righteous judgments.

63 I am a companion of all them that fear thee, and of them that keep thy precepts.

64 The earth, O LORD, is full of thy mercy: teach me thy statutes.

2 T E T H.

65 Thou hast dealt well with thy servant, O LORD, according unto thy word.

66 Teach me good judgment and knowledge: for I have believed thy commandments.

67 Before I was afflicted I went astray: but now have I kept thy word.

68 Thou art good, and doest good; teach me thy statutes.

69 The proud have forged a lie against me: but I will keep thy precepts with my whole heart.

11 Thy word have I hid in mine heart, &c.] I have laid up thy word in my heart, as the most precious treasure.

29 Remove from me the way of lying, &c.] Far be all fraud and falsehood from me, whereby mine enemies contrive to effect my ruin.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON VER. 1—32.

These verses represent the happiness of those who keep the divine commands; let us therefore ask of God to give us grace to understand his holy law, and observe it continually.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON VER. 33—72.

33 Unto the end.] Continually, without intermission.

38 Stablish thy word, &c.] Make good thy promise.

52 I remembered thy judgments of old, &c.] I have called to mind in all foregoing ages, that thou hast suffered good men to fall into great calamities, to make them more illustrious through sufferings; and in this thought I comforted myself.

55 I have remembered thy name, &c.] While others were buried in sleep and silence, I have been meditating on thy goodness, thy power, and thy truth.

57 Thou art my portion, &c.] I do not think myself poor as long as I have an interest in thy love and in thy promises.

61 The bands of the wicked have robbed me, &c.] The Septuagint and Vulgate have it, The cords of the wicked have entangled me.

70 Their heart is as fat as greafe; but I delight in thy law.

71 It is good for me that I have been afflicted; that I might learn thy statutes.

72 The law of thy mouth is better unto me than thousands of gold and silver.

J O D.

73 Thy hands have made me and fashioned me: give me understanding, that I may learn thy commandments.

74 They that fear thee will be glad when they see me; because I have hoped in thy word.

75 I know, O LORD, that thy judgments are right, and that thou in faithfulness hast afflicted me.

76 Let, I pray thee, thy merciful kindness be for my comfort, according to thy word unto thy servant.

77 Let thy tender mercies come unto me, that I may live: for thy law is my delight.

78 Let the proud be ashamed; for they dealt perversely with me without a cause: but I will meditate in thy precepts.

79 Let those that fear thee turn unto me, and those that have known thy testimonies.

80 Let my heart be found in thy statutes; that I be not ashamed.

C A P H.

81 My soul fainteth for thy salvation: but I hope in thy word.

82 Mine eyes fail for thy word, saying, When wilt thou comfort me?

83 For I am become like a bottle in the smoke; yet do I not forget thy statutes.

84 How many are the days of thy servant? when wilt thou execute judgment on them that persecute me?

85 The proud have digged pits for me, which are not after thy law.

86 All thy commandments are faithful: they persecute me wrongfully; help thou me.

87 They had almost consumed me upon earth; but I forsook not thy precepts.

88 Quicken me after thy lovingkindness; so shall I keep the testimony of thy mouth.

L A M E D.

89 For ever, O LORD, thy word is settled in heaven.

90 Thy faithfulness is unto all generations: thou hast established the earth, and it abideth.

91 They continue this day according to thine ordinances: for all are thy servants.

92 Unless thy law had been my delights, I should then have perished in mine affliction.

93 I will never forget thy precepts: for with them thou hast quickened me.

94 I am thine, save me; for I have sought thy precepts.

95 The wicked have waited for me to destroy me; but I will consider thy testimonies.

96 I have seen an end of all perfection: but thy commandment is exceeding broad.

70 As fat as greafe, &c.] This is very improperly rendered in the liturgy, As fat as brawn, because swine's flesh not being eaten by the Jews, they could have no knowledge of brawn.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON ver. 33—72.

That we may enter into these pious sentiments, let us beg of God that he would make us always sensible of the effect of his mercies, that he would support us in all dangers; and, above all, that he would never deprive us of his word.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON 73—104.

73 Thy hands have made me, &c.] As thou hast given me a natural being, so give me a spiritual being in faith and knowledge.

83 Like a bottle in the smoke, &c.] My skin is shrivelled up like a bottle that has been long in the smoke. The reader will be pleased to recollect (as we hinted before) that their bottles were made of leather, see Isaiah ix. 13.

88 Quicken me after thy lovingkindness, &c.] Deal kindly with me, O Lord, and raise me from this forlorn state wherein I lie like a man that is dead.

89 Thy word is settled in heaven.] Thou art eternal, O Lord, and change not; thy promises are like thyself, fixed and settled; though here they seem to suffer many changes, lots, and diminutions.

97 O how love I thy law! it is my meditation all the day.

98 Thou through thy commandments hast made me wiser than mine enemies: for they are ever with me.

99 I have more understanding than all my teachers: for thy testimonies are my meditation.

100 I understand more than the ancients, because I keep thy precepts.

101 I have refrained my feet from every evil way, that I might keep thy word.

102 I have not departed from thy judgments: for thou hast taught me.

103 How sweet are thy words unto my taste! yea, sweeter than honey to my mouth!

104 Through thy precepts I get understanding: therefore I hate every false way.

105 Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path.

106 I have sworn, and I will perform it, that I will keep thy righteous judgments.

107 I am afflicted very much: quicken me, O LORD, according unto thy word.

108 Accept, I beseech thee, the free-will offerings of my mouth, O LORD, and teach me thy judgments.

109 My soul is continually in my hand: yet do I not forget thy law.

110 The wicked have laid a snare for me: yet I erred not from thy precepts.

111 Thy testimonies have I taken as an heritage for ever: for they are the rejoicing of my heart.

112 I have inclined mine heart to perform thy statutes alway, even unto the end.

S A M E C H.

113 I hate vain thoughts: but thy law do I love.

114 Thou art my hiding place and my shield: I hope in thy word.

115 Depart from me, ye evildoers: for I will keep the commandments of my God.

116 Uphold me according unto thy word, that I may live: and let me not be ashamed of my hope.

117 Hold thou me up, and I shall be safe: and I will have respect unto thy statutes continually.

118 Thou hast trodden down all them that err from thy statutes: for their deceit is falsehood.

119 Thou puttest away all the wicked of the earth like dross: therefore I love thy testimonies.

120 My flesh trembleth for fear of thee; and I am afraid of thy judgments.

A I N.

121 I have done judgment and justice: leave me not to mine oppressors.

122 Be surety for thy servant for good: let not the proud oppress me.

9 I have seen an end of all perfection, &c.] I perceive all things come to a speedy end; whereas the wisdom which thou hast revealed to us is eternal, and endureth for ever.

98 Thou through thy commandments hast made me wiser than mine enemies, &c.] By believing and obeying thy commands, I have defeated all the subtle devices of mine enemies, and confounded them.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON ver. 73—104.

David here shews us, that all the evils which the righteous suffer, are so far from making them forsake the law of God, that they engage them to cleave to it more firmly; that this law is most perfect and excellent; and that the sweetness we taste in the knowledge and love of it surpasses all earthly delights. May God give us grace to adopt these sentiments, and confirm us in them more and more.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON ver. 105—144.

105 Thy word is a lamp, &c.] Thy word is my only guide, whose direction I follow in all the dark and difficult passages of my life.

109 My soul is continually in my hand, &c.] I am in continual danger of my life.

120 My flesh trembleth, &c.] I tremble in every part, lest I should, by any disobedience, incur thy severe displeasure.

124 Deal with thy servant according unto thy mercy, and teach me thy statutes.

125 I am thy servant; give me understanding, that I may know thy testimonies.

126 It is time for thee, LORD, to work: for they have made void thy law.

127 Therefore I love thy commandments above gold; yea, above fine gold.

128 Therefore I esteem all thy precepts concerning all things to be right; and I hate every false way.

DP E.

129 Thy testimonies are wonderful: therefore doth my soul keep them.

130 The entrance of thy words giveth light; it giveth understanding unto the simple.

131 I opened my mouth, and panted: for I longed for thy commandments.

132 Look thou upon me, and be merciful unto me, as thou usest to do unto those that love thy name.

133 Order my steps in thy word: and let not any iniquity have dominion over me.

134 Deliver me from the oppression of man: so will I keep thy precepts.

135 Make thy face to shine upon thy servant; and teach me thy statutes.

136 Rivers of waters run down mine eyes, because they keep not thy law.

STZADDI.

137 Righteous art thou, O LORD, and upright are thy judgments.

138 Thy testimonies that thou hast commanded are righteous and very faithful.

139 My zeal hath consumed me, because mine enemies have forgotten thy words.

140 Thy word is very pure: therefore thy servant loveth it.

141 I am small and despised: yet do not I forget thy precepts.

142 Thy righteousness is an everlasting righteousness, and thy law is the truth.

143 Trouble and anguish have taken hold on me: yet thy commandments are my delights.

144 The righteousness of thy testimonies is everlasting: give me understanding, and I shall live.

PKOPH.

145 I cried with my whole heart; hear me, O LORD: I will keep thy statutes.

146 I cried unto thee; save me, and I shall keep thy testimonies.

147 I prevented the dawning of the morning, and cried: I hoped in thy word.

148 Mine eyes prevent the night watches, that I might meditate in thy word.

149 Hear my voice according unto thy lovingkindness: O LORD, quicken me according to thy judgment.

150 They draw nigh that follow after mischief: they are far from thy law.

151 Thou art near, O LORD; and all thy commandments are truth.

126 They have made void thy law.] They have taken away the honour and authority due to it, and have brought it into the utmost contempt.

130 The entrance of thy words giveth light, &c.] When a man doth but begin to be acquainted with thy word, he finds his mind enlightened with such clear and useful knowledge, as directs the most simple how to live happy.

143 Trouble and anguish, &c.] Though involved in the forest straits, yet I do not forsake, but find great consolation in the study of thy commandments.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON VER. 105—144:

From these verses we are taught to take the law of the Lord for our perpetual inheritance, and to make it the joy of our heart; to dread the judgments which he causes to fall upon those who turn away from him; and be assured, that he never punishes those who walk in his fear.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON VER. 145—176.

RESH.

153 Consider mine affliction, and deliver me: for I do not forget thy law.

154 Plead my cause, and deliver me: quicken me according to thy word.

155 Salvation is far from the wicked: for they seek not thy statutes.

156 Great are thy tender mercies, O LORD: quicken me according to thy judgments.

157 Many are my persecutors and mine enemies; yet do I not decline from thy testimonies.

158 I beheld the transgressors, and was grieved; because they kept not thy word.

159 Consider how I love thy precepts: quicken me, O LORD, according to thy lovingkindness.

160 Thy word is true from the beginning: and every one of thy righteous judgments endureth for ever.

WSCHIN.

161 Princes have persecuted me without a cause: but my heart standeth in awe of thy word.

162 I rejoice at thy word, as one that findeth great spoil.

163 I hate and abhor lying: but thy law do I love.

164 Seven times a day do I praise thee because of thy righteous judgments.

165 Great peace have they which love thy law: and nothing shall offend them.

166 LORD, I have hoped for thy salvation, and done thy commandments.

167 My soul hath kept thy testimonies; and I love them exceedingly.

168 I have kept thy precepts and thy testimonies: for all my ways are before thee.

169 Let my cry come near before thee, O LORD: give me understanding according to thy word.

170 Let my supplication come before thee: deliver me according to thy word.

171 My lips shall utter praise, when thou hast taught me thy statutes.

172 My tongue shall speak of thy word: for all thy commandments are righteousness.

173 Let thine hand help me; for I have chosen thy precepts.

174 I have longed for thy salvation, O LORD: and thy law is my delight.

175 Let my soul live, and it shall praise thee; and let thy judgments help me.

176 I have gone astray like a lost sheep; seek thy servant; for I do not forget thy commandments.

PSAL. CXX.

1 David prayeth against his enemy, by whose calumnies he had been driven to reside among strangers.

A Song of degrees.

IN my distress I cried unto the LORD, and he heard me.

2 Deliver my soul, O LORD, from lying lips, and from a deceitful tongue.

3 What peared, I sent up my early cries unto thee, constantly expecting the performance of thy promise to me.

158 I beheld, &c.] It provokes my sorrow to see that there is no faith, nor truth, nor gratitude, in these transgressors.

164 Seven times, &c.] Often; "seven," in scripture-language, is used for many; see Lev. xxvi. 18. 1 Sam. ii. 5. Prov. xxiv. 16. and xxvi. 25.

168 All my ways are before thee.] I know that nothing can be done so secretly, but thou art perfectly acquainted with it.

175, 176 Let my soul live, &c.] O spare my life, and I will devote it to thy praise; send relief, by executing the judgments thou hast decreed against my enemies, O thou watchful guardian of Israel.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON VER. 145—176.

We may observe, that this psalm describes the works of good men; and the excellent prayers interspersed throughout, teach us, that the way to be truly happy, is, to call on God continually, beseech him to enlighten our minds, teach us his law, incline our hearts to obey, take care of us, ever guide us by his providence and holy Spirit, and bring us to glory.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSALMS CXXI. CXXII. CXXIII. We are taught in these psalms, that God watches over his church, that he preserves them in all dangers, and will never forsake them; that princes, magistrates, and private persons, should pray chiefly for the peace of the church, and join their labours to their prayers, by doing their utmost for the good and edification of God's people; and that those who are contemned and persecuted by the wicked, should beg of the Lord to strengthen, support and succour them, believing that he will never forsake his faithful servants, who suffer for his sake.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSALMS CXXIV. CXXV. CXXVI.

CXXIV. This psalm was written by David after some remarkable victory; perhaps over the Philistines, when they spread themselves in the valley of Rephaim, 2 Sam. v. 19. or the Ammonites and their associates, 1 Sam. x. 6, 15, 16.

4 Then the waters had, &c.] They would have over-run all the country like a violent torrent, and we should have been buried in the flood.

CXXV. 2 As the mountains, &c.] As Jerusalem is surrounded with high hills, which make it not easily accessible by any enemies, so the divine Providence encompasses his people who depend on him, to guard and defend them from all dangers, not only now, but in all succeeding ages, to the end of the world.

3 For the rod of the wicked shall not rest upon, &c.] The power of wicked tyrants may heavily afflict the righteous for a time; but they shall not tire out the patience of the righteous, nor cause them to forsake their pious confidence in God.

CXXVI. The permission given by Cyrus to the Jews, to return to their own land, is generally allowed to be the occasion of this psalm, and Ezra to be the author of it.

In the south.] In the Hebrew, In the dry ground.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSALMS CXXIV. CXXV. CXXVI. The instruction we are to derive from hence is, that God is the strength and support of his church, which he will never suffer to be destroyed; that they who fear God, and trust in him, are immovable; for he will regard their weakness, and alleviate their troubles; and that when the righteous have been sufficiently tried and troubled by afflictions, God will make them to rejoice, and cause gladness to succeed to sorrow.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSALMS CXXVII. CXXVIII. CXXIX.

They shall not be ashamed, but they shall speak, &c.] When they shall meet in honourable assemblies, or in courts of justice, they may with honour defend their right against all oppressions, being accompanied by virtuous children.

CXXVIII. This psalm, as well as the former, was composed by Solomon. Some have imagined this was a form prescribed to be used by the Jews at the blessing of their marriages.

3 Thy children like olive-plants, &c.] Thy fear of God shall be rewarded both with temporal and spiritual blessings.

CXXIX. 1 From my youth, &c.] From their dwelling in Egypt.

4 The LORD is righteous: he hath cut asunder the cords of the wicked.

5 Let them all be confounded and turned back that hate Zion.

6 Let them be as the grass upon the housetops, which withereth afore it groweth up:

7 Wherewith the mower filleth not his hand; nor he that bindeth sheaves his bosom.

8 Neither do they which go by say, The blessing of the LORD be upon you: we bless you in the name of the LORD.

P S A L. CXXX.

1 The psalmist in distress prayeth to God, trusting in his mercy for pardon: 5 his own patience in hope: 7 he exhorteth Israel to hope in God.

A Song of degrees.

OUT of the depths have I cried unto thee, O LORD.

2 LORD, hear my voice: let thine ears be attentive to the voice of my supplications.

3 If thou, LORD, shouldest mark iniquities, O LORD who shall stand?

4 But there is forgiveness with thee, that thou mayest be feared.

5 I wait for the LORD, my soul doth wait, and in his word do I hope.

6 My soul waiteth for the LORD more than they that watch for the morning: I say, more than they that watch for the morning.

7 Let Israel hope in the LORD: for with the LORD there is mercy, and with him is plenteous redemption.

8 And he shall redeem Israel from all his iniquities.

P S A L. CXXXI.

1 David professing his humility, 3 exhorteth Israel to hope in God.

A Song of degrees of David.

LORD, my heart is not haughty, nor mine eyes lofty: neither do I exercise myself in great matters, or in things too high for me.

2 Surely I have behaved and quieted myself, as a child that is weaned of his mother: my soul is even as a weaned child.

3 Let Israel hope in the LORD from henceforth and for ever.

P S A L. CXXXII.

1 David in prayer commendeth unto God his zeal to provide a place for the ark. 11 God's promises to him.

A Song of degrees.

LORD, remember David, and all his afflictions:

2 How he sware unto the LORD, and vowed unto the mighty God of Jacob;

3 Surely I will not come into the tabernacle of my house, nor go up into my bed;

4 I will

3 The plowers plowed, &c.] This alludes to that part of Christ's sufferings, when he was scourged, previous to his crucifixion.

6 Let them be as the grass, &c.] This, with the remaining verses, are a prophetic denunciation against the Jewish elders, who with wicked hands put the Messiah to death, and afterwards continued hardened in sin, to their utter destruction, and the final overthrow of their nation.

GENERAL REFLECTIONS ON PSALMS CXXXVII. CXXXVIII. CXXXIX.

We learn from the foregoing, that it is not so much the care which men take, as the blessing of God that causes states, cities, and families to subsist and prosper; that God, as the rewarder of every good work, particularly showers down the spiritual blessings he has promised upon those that love him, after which we ought principally to aspire. These considerations should confirm us in the belief that the church is built upon the everlasting foundation of God's faithfulness and veracity; and that all those who set themselves against it shall have nothing but shame and confusion for their portion.

COMMENTARY AND NOTES ON PSALMS CXXX. CXXXI. CXXXII.

CXXX. 1 Out of the depths, &c.] In my most unfathomable distresses, when I see no end, no period to my troubles, but find myself still sinking lower and lower into them, I never despair of thy mercy, O Lord, but cry unto thee most earnestly to deliver me.

4 That thou mayest be feared.] That thou mayest be revered.

CXXXI. David in this psalm exculpates himself from the charge of affecting the kingdom, of which his enemies accused him.

1 In great matters, &c.] In things beyond the limits of my vocation or capacity.

CXXXII. 3 Surely I will not come, &c.] Saying, Surely I shall not come, &c.

4 I will not give sleep to mine eyes, or slumber to mine eyelids,

5 Until I find out a place for the LORD, an habitation for the mighty God of Jacob.

6 Lo, we heard of it at Ephratah: we found it in the fields of the wood.

7 We will go into his tabernacles: we will worship at his footstool.

8 Arise, O LORD, into thy rest; thou, and the ark of thy strength.

9 Let thy priests be clothed with righteousness; and let thy saints shout for joy.

10 For thy servant David's sake turn not away the face of thine anointed.

11 The LORD hath sworn in truth unto David; he will not turn from it; Of the fruit of thy body will I set upon thy throne.

12 If thy children will keep my covenant and my testimony that I shall teach them, their children shall also sit upon thy throne for evermore.

13 For the LORD hath chosen Zion; he hath desired it, for his habitation.

14 This is my rest for ever: here will I dwell; for I have desired it.

15 I will abundantly bless her provision: I will satisfy her poor with bread.

16 I will also clothe her priests with salvation: and her saints shall shout aloud for joy.

17 There will I make the horn of David to bud: I have ordained a lamp for mine anointed.

18 His enemies will I clothe with shame: but upon himself shall his crown flourish.

P S A L. CXXXIII.

The blessedness of unity among brethren.

A Song of degrees of David.

BEHOLD, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!

2 It is like the precious ointment upon the head, that ran down upon the beard, even Aaron's beard: that went down to the skirts of his garments;

3 As the dew of Hermon, and as the dew that descended upon the mountains of Zion: for the LORD commanded the blessing, even life for evermore.

P S A L. CXXXIV.

An exhortation to God's servants to bless him.

A Song of degrees.

BEHOLD, bless ye the LORD, all ye servants of the LORD, which by night stand in the house of the LORD.

1 Lift up your hands in the sanctuary and bless the LORD.

3 The LORD that made heaven and earth bless thee out of Zion.

P S A L. CXXXV.

1 An exhortation to God's servants to praise him for his goodness; 5 his power, 8 and judgments against his people's enemies. 15 The vanity of idols.
